A&M: Testing Indy Resiliency

The recent announcement by A&M Records that the label would set up a warehouse and branch operation to service the west is definitely a blow to independent distribution, but indies are used to operating in a continual state of flux. And they generally bounce back to land on both feet.

The obvious reaction by independents is one of concern due to the successes of the A&M line, but most were not surprised by the move. One indie noted that it would have hurt much more if the label had switched distributors instead of going to an internal system.

Last fall, when Casablanca joined the Phonodisc distribution family, indies reacted with the same sense of loss. But ironically, at the same time ABC Records moved back into a branch-independent program to cover some of the lost volume. This type of balancing act may now be in the offing from another record company, but there is no immediate label to fill this void.

The negative part of this move is the tonnage to be lost by independents, which they live upon. But the positive aspect is that the indies will continue to have Motown, a consistently strong label, and the opportunity to work some of the others that much harder, which is good for the overall industry.

A&M now maintains branch operations in the southeast and New England, in addition to the recently-announced west. We have no hint of what is to happen in the midwest for the company, but most assuredly a similar change-over is in the planning stages.

Independents most hurt by the A&M move are the pure distributors. But the recent trend for indies is to diversify to cover all bases, and without a doubt, this trend will continue and become even more prevalent.

FOUNDATION TO HONOR ERTEGUN — A luncheon hosted by CBS Records Division president Bruce Lundvall was recently held to launch the 1978 Humanitarian Award Dinner of the T.J. Martell Memorial Foundation for Leukemia Research. This year's event will honor Ahmet Ertegun, chairman of Atlantic. The dinner will be held on April 15 at the Waldorf Astoria in New York. Pictured at the luncheon are (l-r): Lundvall; Floyd Glinert, vice president of Shorewood Packaging; Dr. James Holland, director of the cancer center of Mt. A&M's Distribution Change 'A Serious Loss,' Indies Say

by Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — A&M Records' switch from independent to branch distribution in the western U.S. will be a "serious loss" to the five indies who will lose the line sometime in mid-April, according to one of those indies.

The consensus among the five distributors is that their operations will suffer, but they will attempt to make up the loss by the addition of new lines or increased business with existing accounts.

A&M's new west coast facility, A&M Pacific Distributing Inc., will service Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Denver and Phoenix. Currently, Record Merchandising distributes A&M in Los Angeles, M.S. Distributors has A&M in San Francisco, WM (Western Merchandisers) in Denver, Alta Distributors in Phoenix and Sound Record and Tape Sales in Seattle.

Independent distributors in the various markets almost unanimously have said the A&M's move will hurt their operations.

Distributors' Reaction

"Of course it will hurt us," said Sam Marmaduke, president of Western Merchandisers.

"But when you're an independent distributor, you come to accept those changes. It's a serious loss," Marmaduke said, "and we hate to lose it, but we'll get by. We got ABC back and that helps. We will just try to get some others back to help make up the loss."

"What really would have hurt," said Nevin

WCI Releases Final Financial 1977 Statement

NEW YORK — Warner Communications Inc. has released its official sales and earnings statements for 1977, revealing that operating revenues for recorded music and music publishing rose 31% to $532,359,000 from $406,062,000 for the year-earlier period.

Operating income for WCI's music divisions increased 23% to $84,041,000 from $68,299,000 in the prior year.

In addition, WCI reported that its domestic record operations had a revenue gain of 29% in 1977, while WEA International posted a revenue increase of 41%.

Steven J. Ross, chairman of WCI, called the music division's performance "record-setting" and "outstanding." WEA International, he added, "is rapidly increasing its penetration of overseas markets."

BMI Pacts With Public B'casters

NEW YORK — Broadcast Music Inc. (BMI) has signed a new contract under provisions of the 1978 Copyright Law with the Public Broadcasting Service and National Public Radio. Under the pact, 500 American public radio and TV outlets will have legal access to the music licensed by BMI.

The contract is retroactive to January 1, 1978, and expires in 1982. Adjustment for BMI fees will be made annually, based on the broadcasters' use of the licensing organization's catalog.

Further details on the pact were unavailable at presstime.

ASCAP, the nation's other major performing rights organization, has been deadlocked in its negotiations with PBS and NPR. The Copyright Royalty Tribunal is slated to hear the case on March 7. Bernard Korman, ASCAP counsel, said, "We anticipate that the tribunal will determine a reasonable fee at that time."

Capitol, ABC, A&M Moving Toward Bar Coding On LPs

by Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — Capitol Records, ABC Records and A&M Records have become the first manufacturers to make significant strides toward the implementation of bar coding within the record industry.

Capitol and ABC recently applied for and received their manufacturer designation numbers from the Universal Product Code (UPC) Council, which gives both companies the ability to institute bar coding at any time. A&M has applied for numbers, but has not yet been granted any.

These three are the only major manufacturers to take this step since the recording industry was accepted into the UPC system last fall (Cash Box, Oct. 29, 1977).

As the coding system is set up, the UPC Council must assign a manufacturer designation number to each record company before it can go ahead with its bar coding plans. This number consists of five digits, the first half of the 10-digit number used in the UPC system. The remaining five digits are used at the discretion of the manufacturer for purposes such as product identification. (As established last fall, the last of the 10-digits is reserved for configuration identification.)

ABC Records "could go with it tomorrow," according to Bill Grady, ABC's director of production. "We are all prepared to go with bar coding," he said, "but we are waiting for a Warner Bros. or a CBS or a Capitol to go first. We don't feel we should be the first."

Grady did say, however, if ABC decides the time is right, "We could go with it tomorrow, on new releases only."

More To It

Capitol Records, the only other manufacturer which has been granted manufacturer identification numbers by the UPC Council, technically could implement bar coding on LPs soon but won't, according to Bill Robertson, director of management information services at Capitol.

"Everybody is trying to get as much progress as possible to report by the NARM convention," he said, "but we haven't made a decision as to when to start coding."

Robertson, along with Harold Okinow, vice president of Lieberman Enterprises, and Louis Kwiker, president of Music Stop, Inc., will be part of a panel on bar coding at next month's NARM convention. The seminar session, "Bar Coding: Its Impact and Opportunities," will be Sunday, March 19 and have Dr. Shelley Harrison, president of Symbol Technologies, as chairman.

"There's a lot more to it than just putting a code on an album jacket," Robertson said. "It may not happen until the first of the year, but maybe by the end of 1978 we will start

Lowery/Mercury Product Pact Ended Amicably

by Mark Mehler

NEW YORK — Mercury Records and Lowery Music, which last April announced a major production agreement, have "parted company," according to Bill Lowery, president of the independent production and publishing firm.

Lowery told Cash Box that "contractual problems" had cropped up after the deal was consummated. He noted that the problems were related to the inclusion of one artist under terms of the contract, which called for Lowery to produce a minimum of three LPs over the first year, to be released on the Mercury label with a Lowery logo (Cash Box, April 23, 1977).

"It was an amiable thing," Lowery said of the termination of the arrangement. Rather than hassle out the contractual difficulties, Lowery said, "we mutually decided to forget the whole thing."

Two singles, however, were released under the deal, Lowery added. One was by the Atlanta-based Younguns, the other was by pop/R&B artist Peggy Scott. Neither record, according to Lowery, made much impact at the radio or retail level.

"We (Lowery and Mercury) really tried," he said. "But it was disappointing."

Jud Phillips, Mercury's director of southern A&R, said that both parties, being "pros," had realized that "the arrangement was not working out," and that the termination of the contract was accomplished amicably.

'Disco Inferno' Reappears On Chart With Boost From 'Sat. Night Fever'

by Joey Berlin

LOS ANGELES — The Trammps' "Disco Inferno" is currently enjoying a chart resurrection as a result of its inclusion on the year's top hit album thus far, "Saturday Night Fever." The Cash Box Top 100 Singles chart this week lists "Disco Inferno" at number 70 with a bullet.

The single, from the album of the same name, entered the pop chart April 9, 1977 at number 85 with a bullet, but fell off in mid-May after reaching the number 70 position late in April. "Disco Inferno" did better on the R&B Singles chart, starting its ascent at number 88 last March 5 and reaching the top five in April. It remained on the R&B chart until falling off late in July.

But now the immense popularity of "Saturday Night Fever," coupled with a new promotion campaign by Atlantic Records, has brought "Disco Inferno" back on the pop chart. The song has bulleted for the past three weeks.

"'Saturday Night Fever' has been turning a lot of people on to disco music who really weren't aware of it before," explains Tom Hayden, who directs national disco promotion for Tom Hayden and Associates. "That includes record company people. Record companies have been naive about disco's potential for years and it took a smash hit like 'Saturday Night Fever' to wake them up. The album and the film's success is why Atlantic re-released 'Disco Inferno.'"

Radio stations have apparently responded to the increased popularity of disco music. Stations WTIx and WNOE in New Orleans and Y100 in Miami added "Disco Inferno" to their playlists this week. And radio station researchers in Jacksonville, Memphis and Miami report strong sales for the single in those areas.

According to an Atlantic spokesman, the label is conducting an in-store promotion campaign for the Trammps on the west coast, including stickers on the "Disco Inferno" LP cover making reference to "Saturday Night Fever." On the east coast, the group recently played Brooklyn's Odyssey 2001 disco — the site of the filming of "Saturday Night Fever" — where "Disco Inferno" dance contests were held.

Publishers Move To Protect Elvis Presley Catalog Rights

by Joey Berlin

LOS ANGELES — The publishing companies administering the copyrights on much of the Elvis Presley catalog have informed concert promoters around the country, through BMI, of their intention "to protect the dramatic performing rights" they hold over the Presley catalog. In a letter dated Feb. 1 sent to 250 promoters, BMI notified its licensees that they "are restricted from permitting live public performances . . . of more than three" of the Presley songs administered by Chappell Music Company and Hudson Bay Music Company.

The letter is part of an attempt by the owners of the Presley copyrights to prevent "Elvis impersonators" from violating the publishing companies' dramatic performing rights. A spokesman for Alan, who has been performing a "tribute to Elvis" for the past five years, called the letter "an attempt to deprive Alan of his right to sing Elvis."

"It's the same thing as someone doing an unauthorized recording version, except here we are talking about a dramatic performance," explains a source inside one of the publishing companies involved. "The publisher has a special grand right — a dramatic performing right — to protect his property. A publisher who would agree to have the songs that he controls used indiscriminately would not be a very good administrator. We just want to protect the dramatic rights to our copyrighted songs."

Chappell Music administers most of the Presley catalog up to 1972, which is owned by the Elvis Presley Music Company and the Aberbach brothers. Hudson Bay Music administers the Presley copyrights after 1972. The two companies have decided to seek legal remedies to protect the copyrights they administer.

A spokesman for BMI notes that the performing rights society is not directly involved in protecting dramatic performing rights. He points out that the new copyright law says performing rights societies license only non-dramatic musical works on behalf of the copyright owners.

"We are not restricting anyone," says Alan Smith, BMI licensing vice president. "The two publishing companies came to us and asked us to alert our licensees that they

While it is unusual for a record company to have two national publicity offices, Kliefner noted that Atlantic wants artists and media people based on the west coast to be able to deal with someone in their territory who is responsible for national publicity. As an additional measure to

Industry Members Discuss Piracy With Admin Group

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The recording industry's liaison committee met Feb. 9 with representatives of the Carter administration at the White House to discuss strategies for dealing with record piracy and industry involvement with anti-drug and other social programs.

This is the first time the group met with the administration since it was established as a result of last September's industry

Sills Discusses LP Projects; May Record With Sutherland

by Ken Terry

NEW YORK — Despite her recently announced decision to retire from singing in 1980, Beverly Sills has not slowed down her activities in the least. In fact, because she wants to fulfill all her obligations as a performer and a recording artist by that date, the 48-year-old soprano is busier than ever.

Besides her starring role in the Metropolitan Opera's current production of Massenet's "Thais," Sills is involved in several recording projects, including a possible collaboration with Joan Sutherland in Strauss's "Die Fledermaus." In addition, she has a weekly TV program called "Lifestyles," and she is preparing to assume her duties as co-director of the New York City Opera in 1980.

Contrary to recently published trade reports, Ms. Sills will not make any more recordings after 1980. In an exclusive interview, she told Cash Box that, "I never like to record anything unless I'm going to perform it. Since I won't be performing anymore, what's the point?" She added that administrating the City Opera will absorb most of her time.

Ms. Sills pointed out that she still owes EMI/Angel "a lot of operas and a lot of single records, and I'm trying to get them all done." However, she added, "I'm not searching for projects, and EMI cannot exchange me for anything (with another label in return for use of one of its exclusive artists). I will not do any more projects than I've agreed to do for them. I will not record for any other company. I just want to fulfill my obligations, period."

'Merry Widow' LP

Earlier this month, Ms. Sills and other cast members of the San Diego production of Lehar's "The Merry Widow" finished taping the operetta for EMI/Angel. The LP will include all of the music, but none of the spoken sections. Conducted by Julius Rudel, director of the New York City Opera, the album will feature, besides Ms. Sills, Alan Titus, Henry Price, and Giynnis Fowles.

All of the singers on the recording are in the cast of "The Merry Widow" which will open at the New York City Opera the first week of April. Not entirely as a coincidence,

Soundtrack Due For Cal. Jam II

LOS ANGELES — Negotiation for a soundtrack album from the upcoming California Jam II currently is under way among the labels whose acts will take part in the March 18 concert. CBS, however, may have the inside track for the LP since four of the scheduled eight acts are CBS artists.

Although the name and some of the musicians involved have changed, The Jefferson Starship remains as one of the few rock groups to survive for more than a decade as a strong force in popular music.

The band originated in 1965 when Paul Kantner and Marty Balin got together in San Francisco to form an electric folk band called the Jefferson Airplane. With the help of Grace Slick, whose powerful vocals gave the group its first hit with "Somebody To Love" in 1967, the band made six albums and rock history.

After the release of the sixth Jefferson Airplane album, "Volunteers," in 1970, Kantner began work on a solo album, "Blows Against The Empire." Using the name Jefferson Starship for the first time, Kantner enlisted the help of members of the Airplane and others including David Crosby, Jerry Garcia and David Freiberg. The album was nominated for the Hugo Award, a science fiction literary accolade.

Although Jefferson Airplane continued to record and tour until 1972, the diverse interests of the group members began to split the band. Marty Balin left in 1970 and Jack Casady and Jorma Kaukonen formed Hot Tuna. After the release of Slick's solo album, "Manhole," she and Kantner formed a new band utilizing the name Jefferson Starship.

In addition to Slick, Kantner and Balin, the band members are Craig Chaquico on lead guitar, John Barbata on drums and Pete Sears and David Freiberg alternating on bass and keyboards.

Two of the group's albums, "Red Octopus" and "Spitfire," have been certified platinum.

New Faces To Watch

Gene Cotton

While studying political science at Ohio State University in the early '60s, Gene Cotton gradually realized he was spending increasingly more time at folk clubs in front of an audience than he was spending behind a poly-sci textbook.

"I don't remember any specific day that I decided to go into music for a career," Cotton says. "I just remember doing more and more music in the folk clubs and getting a good response."

While still in school, Cotton joined a popular midwest folk group and recorded a song titled "Surfin' in Bermuda," which he says was an attempt "to capitalize on the folk/rock stuff that was happening at the time." The record did well in the New England states, he says, until the word got out that it was impossible to surf in Bermuda because of its reefs.

So, for a while at least, Cotton returned to school.

"I didn't finish school because if I had finished I could have said, 'Well, if I don't make it in music I can just go teach,'" he says. "I've always been one to burn bridges behind me, so I didn't give myself any options by quitting in my last semester."

Still, Cotton's interest in politics did not disappear in the smoke of his college career. After leaving school he traveled from his hometown, Columbus, Ohio, to Greenwich Village, where he played the folk club circuit with a repertoire that included a number of political and social commentary tunes. But with the coming of the Beatles, the popularity of folk music began to wane and Cotton moved first to Miami, and then to Nashville, in hopes of building a career in pop music. While living in Nashville, Cotton recorded his first two solo albums, "For All The Young Writers" and "Rain On" and produced his first hit single, "You've Got Me Running."

But after a while, Cotton, who describes his brand of music as "mellow, acoustic-oriented pop," began to feel out of place in the capitol of country music, so last spring he decided to move to Los Angeles, a city which he believes is more in tune with his music. "If you want to be a surfer you don't move to Tucson," Cotton says.

The move from Nashville to Los Angeles also closely paralleled a change of record labels for Cotton, who recently signed with Ariola Records, which will soon release his new LP "Save The Dancer," containing his current single "Before My Heart Finds Out." And Cotton's description of the LP's title tune and the mention that the flip side of his single is a song about McCarthyism is evidence enough that he has still not strayed completely from his musical roots.

"When a nation goes through a war or trauma," Cotton says, "I conceive this image of a bomb dropping and smoke rising with rubble lying all around and a lot of crying and agony. But then, as the smoke is clearing, you hear this music and see a guy dancing and helping people up — taking them by the hand and leading them away from the disaster. There have always been people like this who have led us to higher ground — whether it be Buddah or Jesus or Martin Luther King. I think of these people as dancers, and I somehow want to believe that within each of us is the ability to be a dancer."

Peter Brown

It's hard to picture the musician behind "Do You Want To Get Funky With Me" as a reclusive artist, painstakingly perfecting his music alone in his suburban bedroom. But that's exactly the case with Peter Brown, a young Chicagoan who is making a considerable impact on the national pop, disco and R&B scene.

Yet, Brown claims, he "never listened to black stations until they started playing 'Do You Want To Get Funky.'" Sound hard to believe? That's only the beginning. Brown, author of "Fantasy Love Affair" and "You Should Do It," spent nearly six years as a member and, later, as musical director of a baton twirling corps. Then again, considering that there were over 100 girls in the corps, known as the Jorgensen Rangerettes, and only a handful of young men, maybe the subject matter of Brown's songs shouldn't come as a surprise.

Brown describes his experience with the Rangerettes as "hectic, competitive, but musically rewarding. To join the corps I had to learn keyboards real fast. Then as director I had to concentrate on arrangement, a good flow of songs, even choreography. All together, it was an excellent preparation for musical discipline and creativity."

After high school, Brown attended the Art Institute of Chicago with the hope of becoming a commercial artist. He concentrated on sculpture, painting and photography, but soon decided the art world was not destined to provide his livelihood. "It seemed easier to become a musician than to become a commercial artist," Brown reflects today.

So Brown, still with the baton twirling corps, concentrated on perfecting his musical ideas at home. He constantly experimented with drums, keyboards, a synthesizer and a four-track recording unit. His break came when one of the girls in the Rangerettes introduced him to producer Cory Wade's brother. Brown soon met Wade, and began sending demo tapes from his Chicago bedroom to Wade's production offices in Florida.

When Brown sent Wade the four-track demo of "Do You Wanna Get Funky With Me," Wade told him to get down to Florida immediately. By the time Brown arrived, TK Records had agreed to release the record on its Drive label. Wade and Brown then went to the studio, where they added an additional 20 tracks to the song, which was rush-released as a 12-inch single in spring, 1977. By summer, the song, re-edited as a seven-inch single, had raced to the upper reaches of all the national trade charts. And Peter Brown started listening to black radio stations.

Brown's debut album on Drive, also titled "Do You Wanna Get Funky With Me," is currently emulating the single's success on the Cash Box R&B album and Top 200 album charts.

The next step for Brown is touring, something he hasn't done since his days with the Rangerettes. He's now assembling a band in Chicago, and hopes to be out on the road by spring. If the warm reception that has greeted one of TK's hottest new acts since KC And The Sunshine Band is any indication, there should be a lot of funky fans waiting to meet Peter Brown in the flesh.

Variety Seen In South's Rock But Boogie Bands Prevail

by Mark Mehler

NEW YORK — In the beginning, there were the blues, born in the south. Later, there was rock 'n roll, which also came from the south, courtesy of Elvis Presley, Little Richard, Jerry Lee Lewis, and others. Then, after the "British invasion" had subsided, the Allman Brothers, who came out of the south and stayed there, heralded a rebirth of "southern rock" in the late '60s and early '70s.

Today, many of the major southern "boogie bands" of six or seven years ago are either non-existent or relatively quiet. The Allman Brothers are no more, although there remain various Allman spinoff groups, including Sea Level, built around the Allman Brothers' rhythm section. Lynyrd Skynyrd no longer exists, although survivors of last October's tragic plane crash plan to form a new group with a new name.

Z.Z. Top and the Marshall Tucker Band are very much alive, but both bands recently took extended vacations from recording and performing, and have not been heard from for several months. However, Marshall Tucker is about to record a new album.

Profound Changes

The comments of record company spokesmen who have been involved in the "southern rock" movement suggest that in 1977, the region and its musicians underwent profound musical changes.

Lenny Petze, vice president of A&R for Epic, which currently has several southern rock bands on its roster (including Wet Willie, Charlie Daniels, Nantucket, and Molly Hatchet), asserted that the label did not view any of these groups as "southern boogie" groups. Wet Willie, Petze said,

Manufacturers Granted Court Judgments Vs. 7

NEW YORK — Default judgments have been granted in Federal District Court in Concord, New Hampshire, against a group of defendants accused by four record companies of unfair competition, state anti-piracy violations, and consumer law violations. The charges stemmed from the marketing of pirated versions of sound recordings owned by the plaintiff labels: Capitol, MCA, RCA, and Warner Brothers.

The seven defaulting defendants have been permanently enjoined from reproducing or selling any unauthorized duplications of recorded performances on those labels. Hearings are scheduled to determine the specific damages to be awarded to the plaintiffs.

The defendants include Consolidated Industries Inc., Save Mart Inc., George Noble, SoundOut Ltd., Richard Lynch, Ronald Morf, and National Music Corp.

Morf and National Music Corp. are currently defendants in two multi-million dollar lawsuits brought in U.S. District Court in Connecticut by RCA and Atlantic.

which had been considered almost an archetypal southern band, has experienced a change in music style since moving from Capricorn Records to Epic. This shift toward a slicker pop style, according to Petze, stems largely from the songwriting "influx" of Mike Duke.

"Every band we sign is based on individual creative judgment," said Petze. "There is no more a southern sound at CBS than there is a midwest movement with Cheap Trick, REO Speedwagon, and Kansas... we just don't break down our artists that way."

Divergent Styles

Mike Hyland, who has been with Capricorn since the label was founded, pointed to a pronounced trend toward divergent musical styles below the Mason-Dixon line. Southern fusion jazz, Hyland said, which dates to the Hampton Grease Band in the early 1970s, has become much more popular in the region today. The Mike Green Band out of Atlanta was cited by Hyland as a leader in current southern jazz-fusion.

Mike Clark, assistant to Bill Lowery in Atlanta, agreed wholeheartedly that "the southern boogie movement is not what is happening in the area now."

The Bill Lowery Group currently is producing only one band that can be characterized as "boogie." The group is called Eric Quincy Tate. Clark described how difficult it was to interest record labels in leasing masters by boogie groups, and noted that he is therefore playing down this aspect in trying to promote Eric Quincy Tate. "So far we've been unable to secure them a record contract," Clark said. "Record companies say, 'Not another southern boogie band!'"

RCA To Launch Blitz Supporting Starship LP

NEW YORK — RCA Records plans to launch an extensive merchandising and marketing campaign to support the Feb. 27 release of the Jefferson Starship's new album, "Jefferson Starship Earth."

The album, on the Grunt Records label, will be the object of an intensive trade and consumer magazine ad campaign, as well as a full-scale point-of-purchase merchandising effort by RCA. Retailers will receive 22" by 22" poster reproductions of the album cover, mobiles, window displays, stickers and streamers.

The initial focus of RCA's campaign will be the first single from the new album, "Count On Me." Retailers will be given special display material for the single, RCA announced.

In addition, RCA has prepared a special Starship package for record salesmen and radio and press personnel.

Managers Series

Swartz's Goal As Manager Is Security For His Artists

NEW YORK — When Murry Swartz formed Great Eastern Management with Larry Magid and Allen Spivack of Electric Factory Concerts, the founders were seeking to fill a void in management services in the Philadelphia area.

"So much talent has come out of Philadelphia," exclaimed Swartz, "but very little representation ever took place here. It seemed as if so many acts never really reached their potential, in many cases for managerial reasons. They just never had the proper direction."

With the exception of Richard Pryor, who resides in Los Angeles, the Great Eastern roster, which includes Patti LaBelle, Grover Washington, Jr. and Dexter Wansel, is comprised entirely of Philadelphia-based artists.

Manager's Functions

Swartz's assessment of management functions covers a wide range of artist needs, from contacts with booking agents and promoters to advice and feedback on live performances, and consultation on the direction an artist should take when a new album goes into production. Swartz also feels that a manager is responsible for an artist's basic financial security, and often for other types of security as well.

"Having been with the group Labelle for 16 years (prior to which it was called Patti LaBelle And The Bluebelles), Patti just never functioned as a solo artist," Swartz explained. "That in itself is a monumental step for someone who has always shared the stage. I think it was a case of instilling confidence from the very beginning."

Swartz says that the hurdle was overcome by surrounding Patti with fine musicians, and assuring her that she was backed by an efficient organization. Now, he says, "She has more confidence as a solo artist than she ever had in any of her group relationships."

LaBelle signed for management just about the time her debut solo album on Epic Records was released, which left Swartz with the task of intelligently packaging her concert appearances. "With the group Labelle, there was a tremendous amount of stage production," he pointed out. "We formed a new concept, which was that Patti was going to go out and basically be a singer. We stressed quality sound, lights and a clean stage, coupled with her tremendous energy as a performer."

A similar concept guided the pre-production discussions leading to the current sessions for LaBelle's new album, which will probably be titled "Tasty." While Swartz pointed out that the material for the LP was selected with at least two probable commercial singles in mind, there won't be anything gimmicky about any of the tracks. "She's a mature woman," said Swartz, "and she just doesn't need to try and mess with that kind of thing."

LaBelle's New Following

While the group Labelle's audience was dominated by white Top 40 listeners, Swartz noted a change in Patti LaBelle's following. "It seems that our base right now is a black audience, at least 70% to 80%."

Swartz said that this shift did lead to

Keith Carradine's 2-Careers Create Unique Balancing Act

by Jeff Crossan

LOS ANGELES — Keith Carradine has been spending a lot of time lately working on his juggling act.

No, Carradine hasn't traded his singing and acting careers for the circus spotlight — rather, those two professions have kept the 28-year-old so busy lately that he has come to consider his dual-career "a juggling act."

"I wish it could always be like this," says Carradine, the son of veteran character-actor John Carradine and a brother of David Carradine, another singer/actor member of the Carradine clan, who recently starred as Woody Guthrie in the film "Bound For Glory." "I mean this is really great. 'The Duellists' came out six weeks ago, the album came out two weeks ago and 'Pretty Baby' is coming out in April. It's sort of a blitz."

Carradine's coming-out blitz consists of two new films, "The Duellists" and "Pretty Baby," in which he plays major roles, and his second album for Elektra/Asylum Records, titled "Lost And Found." And although Carradine is excited about the current flurry of activity, he's also quick to point out that it is difficult to find the time to keep up with two demanding professions.

Not Enough Time

"It's getting to the point where there just doesn't seem like there's enough time," he says. "It takes three or four hours to just read a script and right now I have no time to read. I'm rehearsing from noon until five and putting this band together for the tour. Then I take time for dinner. After dinner we work on the background vocals. So right now, music is taking up all my time. What I'm trying to do is say 'alright, no movies now — the next six months is just music.'"

Because Carradine's work in films must now take a backseat to his music, it is ironic to note that it was his acting career that first allowed him to showcase his talent as a singer/songwriter in the 1975 film "Nashville." Carradine played the part of a member of a popular folk/rock trio, a role which won him the Academy Award for best song for his tune "I'm Easy."

And although Carradine had been playing guitar and writing songs for a number of years before he was cast in "Nashville," he says he had never actively pursued a career in music. Still, he recognized the opportunity that the film offered.

Exposure Offered

"I was aware of the fact that if the film was a success a large number of people would be exposed to what I do musically," Carradine says. "I didn't feel that it was going to be anything special for me. I just felt that there were a lot of people doing music and we were all going to get a shot."

Carradine's shot paid off. Shortly after the film's release he was signed by E/A and his first LP, "I'm Easy," was released — Carradine was an actor/musician — or was that a musician/actor?

"I used to tell everyone I was an actor/musician, in that order," Carradine says. "Now, it depends on when you ask me. Right now I'm a musician/actor because I'm putting together a band and we're going on tour and I've got a new

East Coastings/Points West

EAST COASTINGS — VIDEO IS HERE — The record companies haven't exactly been stumbling over each other to tap the burgeoning home video market, which is expected to open up full scale in 1979. But a number of entrepreneurs are gearing up for the anticipated video boom, including Visiondisc Corp. in New York. Starting Feb. 27, the company will begin taping live entertainment performances at Les Mouches, a Manhattan disco, as part of a package consisting of six one-hour video cassettes and videodiscs. Singers Mercedes Hall and Mary Lou Williams will be among the artists featured.

FILM-FLAM — The soundtrack for "The Buddy Holly Story" will be released on the American International Records label, distributed on Epic. Gary Busey, who plays Buddy Holly, and Don Stroud and Charley Martin-Smith, who portray the Crickets, will handle vocal duties on the album. The movie is slated for May 20 release. . . Thom Bell will compose and arrange the music for an upcoming film called "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh," which is described as an "astrological comedy." . . . Moving on to the tube, a new series spotlighting southern musicians, "Southern Love Affair," will premiere in selected southern stations March 7. Tim McCabe of Atlanta hosts and produces the show, which will feature artists like Brick, William Bell and Beaver-teeth . . .

MORE ON THE SCREEN SCENE — Rod McKuen has been appointed as script supervisor and musical coordinator for "The Unknown War," a TV series focusing on battles waged on the Eastern European front during World War II. One of McKuen's last musical endeavors also involved a battleground of sorts, namely the volleys fired between anti-gay citrus queen Anita Bryant and outraged gay and non-gay civil libertarians. McKuen's contribution was a song called "Don't Drink The Orange Juice" on a mail order record called "Slide . . . Easy In." The album's cover features a man's arm reaching into an open can of a Crisco-like substance labeled "disco," and was not available for in-store merchandising.

HUMAN POTENTIAL MOVEMENTS — The Human Growth Foundation, a Minneapolis-based organization dedicated to finding cures for children afflicted with growth disorders, is steaming mad about Randy Newman's "Short People." So mad, in fact, that the group's president, John Dickey, issued a statement accusing Newman of having "seriously hampered HGF's progress in helping children with growth disorders" and "not understanding the anguish of children who suffer through nicknames of 'midget,' 'shorty,' 'shrimp,' and now, 'short people.'" . . . Also in Minnesota, a state senator has introduced a bill reminiscent of the Luddite movement of the 19th century, when angry laborers smashed the machines that were taking away their jobs. Seems the lawmaker is a musician and wants to ban the "electric drum" that can reproduce the percussive sounds of a drum and rhythm section. Kraftwerk, however, has not been persuaded to do any lobbying. . . Chick Corea, as any true fan knows, is into Scientology. Now, if a fan wants to know more about L. Ron Hubbard's message to mankind, he or she can send $3 to Chick Corea Productions and receive "info on Scientology." Among the other available items are an autographed picture of Chick and "info on musical equipment the group uses."

NAMES IN THE NEWS — Sandy Pearlman, manager of Blue Oyster Cult, is huddling with The Clash in England. . . The studio schedule for Freddie Hubbard's new album, reportedly a back-to-roots departure from his recent offerings, has been set back a month due to illness. . . Harry Chapin is in New York working on a new album. . . Ron Delsener and Bill Graham were seen checking out the Studio 54 layout very, very carefully. . . Reports are circulating that Howard Stern may open up a new disco in the Times Square area. . . Helping the Bottom Line celebrate its fourth anniversary last week were David Bromberg, Phoebe Snow, Loudon Wainwright, Dion Happy Traum, and, in the audience, Billy Joel. . . Record Plant owner Roy Cicala has purchased a new remote recording truck, and Eddie Korvln, owner of Soho's Blue Rock studio, has upgraded his operation with a new console, speaker system, and tape machines. . .

Brown Sugar, perhaps the world's only all-girl Afro-English trio, has signed on with Request Record's Demand label. . . Joe Walsh is working on his new solo album with Bill Szymczyk in Florida. . . Carole Bayer Sager and Marvin Hamlisch have collaborated on a special song for the Oscar awards titled "Come Light The Candles." . . Cab Calloway will make an appearance on the Grammy Awards show, along with, among others, Natalie Cole, Crosby, Stills & Nash, Crystal Gayle and Andy Gibb. . . Peter Kaminsky moves from managing editor of the National Lampoon to director of Label 21, 21st Century Communications' new record label. . . Leon Russell, along with his wife Mary, will make his first New York appearance in a long, long time February 24 and 25 at Radio City Music Hall. . . Boston's long awaited and much delayed new album will be delayed even longer because of the severe snowstorms in Beantown. However, Ken Terry, Cash Box's intrepid east coast editor, managed to hear two cuts that might go on the new album at the CBS huddle in New Orleans. He reports that the sound is "similar in style and quality" to the group's multi-platinum first album.

JUST YOGURT — French disco guru Cerrone just can't stay out of trouble. During a visit to Cash Box, he recalled that two minutes of his first U.S. release on the Cotillion label, "Love In C Minor," had to be edited out because they were considered "too erotic" for virginal ears. The European cover of his next album, "Cerrone's Paradise," featured a nude female model — posing with a refrigerator and various foods, including a little pile of white stuff that was misconstrued as cocaine. "To think," Cerrone chuckled, "that it was really yogurt!" Cerrone's latest LP, "Supernature," is a fantasy exploring what might happen if pollutants

WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM LIVE — The Tubes — A&M SP-6903 — Producers: Pete Henderson and Rikki Farr — List: 9.98

The Tubes are exciting — even without the benefit of the band's outrageous stage show. This well-recorded and well-designed double-LP package manages to convey the Tubes' unique verve and audacity for those who have never seen the group's no-holds-barred show. The LP features new songs as well as such Tubes classics as "Don't Touch Me There" and "White Punks On Dope." Sure to be an AOR favorite.

DRASTIC PLASTIC — Be-Bop Deluxe — Harvest SW-11750 — Producers: John Leckie and Bill Nelson — List: 7.98

This British quartet, featuring singer/songwriter Bill Nelson, has combined stark, surreal lyrics with some of the most accessible techno-rock music yet produced to create a fascinating LP. Bowieish visions of despair ("driving through the city like a razor across its face") are well matched with a variety of synthesizers reminiscent of Kraftwerk on cuts like "Electric Language," which show the potential of techno-rock. For AOR playlists.

STREET ACTION — BTO — Mercury Records SRM 1 3713 — Producers: BTO — List: 7.98

BTO is back and they're takin' care of business as usual. On this, the band's first album offering since their recent reformation with new member Jim Clench on bass, BTO holds fast to the driving rock sound that characterized their previous recordings. Only on "Madison Avenue," a multi-layered tune with jazz and soft rock overtones, does the band stray from its rocking roots. For Top 40 and AOR formats.

STARGARD — MCA MCA2321 — Producer: Mark Davis — List: 7.98

The much anticipated debut album from this extraterrestrial trio will certainly bring these ladies to the foreground in the recording industry. Sparkling, well blended vocals and harmonies prevail on this disc and compliment the variety of material nicely. Highlights, in addition to the theme from "Which Way Is Up?," include "Three Girls," a musical introduction to the group, the astral-travel sounds of "The Force" and "Disco Rufus." For R&B and pop formats.

SCARABUS — Ian Gillan Band — Island ILPS 9511 — Producers: Ian Gillan Band — List: 7.98

Anybody who thinks heavy-metal rock 'n' roll has lost its energy need only listen to this album to see how wrong they are. The former Deep Purple lead singer and his band lay down ten driving tracks that will soon be heard on AOR stations nationwide. Gillan's singing has developed much of Roger Daltrey's exuberance on the band's second American LP. "Twin Exhausted" is an especially hot cut.

HEAD EAST — A&M SP-4680 — Producer: Jeffrey Lesser — List: 7.98

If you've been listening to the mellow sound, you better turn the volume down before you lay the needle on this one — mellow music this is not. From beginning to end, Head East's latest LP is designed to put your speakers to the test with a rousing collection of real rockers, replete with pulsating rhythms, gut-grabbing guitar work and plenty of gritty vocals. In fact, the only non-rocker here is "Dance Away." For AOR and Top 40 stations.

LIVE — Frank Marino Mahogany Rush — Columbia JC 35257 — Producer: Frank Marino — List: 7.98

New technology has made it possible for groups to capture the live feeling of their concerts without sacrificing audio quality. That's especially important here, to a band who has made significant regional impact, but so far escaped truly national acclaim. Yet their supportive following continues to grow and, on this album, gives every indication of becoming an even larger gathering. Should get considerable AOR airplay.

BEFORE THE DANCE — Orleans — ABC AA-1058/2 — Producers: John & Johanna Hall, Larry & Lance Hoppen & Wells Kelley — List: 7.98

Unlike some double-pocket collections gleaned from dusty tape vaults, this album bristles with well-preserved energy, though none of it is new material. Yet, like many bands, Orleans recorded a quite respectable body of work before their discovery by Top-40 radio narrowed their commercial focus and launched a solo career for John Hall. This is a well-balanced package representing a very palatable potpourri of styles.

ROMEO AND JULIET — Alec Costandinos And The Synchronic Orchestra — Casablanca NBLP 7086 — Producer: Alec Costandinos — List: 7.98

Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou, Romeo? — Probably down at the local disco steppin' out to Shakespeare's latest sonnet. That's right, Romeo and Juliet have now made their rendezvous on record with Alec Costandinos producing. Shakespeare laid down the lyric line and Costandinos performed the musical marriage. So shake a leg William, before old desire doth in his deathbed lie. For disco-oriented formats.

WAITING FOR COLUMBUS — Little Feat — Warner Bros. 2BS 3140 — Producer: Lowell George — List: 9.98

This first live effort for Little Feat is no little feat at all. The four sides of funk rock, sprinkled with jazz overtones, include new versions of such Little Feat standards as "Dixie Chicken/Tripe Face Boogie" and "Willin'," as well as 15 others. The Tower Of Power Horns add a delightful lift to the already tightly-knit swing-boogie band, making sure these Feats don't fail you now. For AOR playlists.

VAN HALEN — Warner Bros. BSK 3075 — Producer: Ted Templeman — List: 7.98

Van Halen seems to have all the right elements going for it: A classic rock lineup featuring a dynamic lead singer (David Roth); a lead guitarist capable of Jimi Hendrix-like intensity and a rhythm section which enables the group to ride the rail between punk and conventional heavy metal/high energy rock. The L.A.-area group already has a following both from its local appearances and its recent hit single which, combined with the powerful music here, should help push this LP high on the charts.

UNTIL NOW — Bobby Arvon — First Artists FA-4001 — Producer: John Lombardo — List: 7.98

This singer/songwriter will remind many people of Barry Manilow, and he's a good bet to achieve similar success. The title track, which is currently #59 on the pop singles chart, is a fine example of Arvon's powerful singing voice on one of his most moving compositions. The slower-tempo tunes are the strength of this debut album, and they should fare well on MOR and pop playlists.

SUNRISE — Buddah BDS 5697 — Producers: Bruce Johnston and Lewis Merenstein — List: 7.98

Excellent instrumentation, bright pop hooks and interesting lyrics will garner a lot of attention for this quartet's debut album. Sunrise's brand of rock 'n' roll is right for a variety of AOR and pop playlists, especially cuts like "Don't Ask Now" and "I Found My Love." Domenic Chicchetti's keyboard work stands out, although all the players have their moments.

HONKY TONK MASQUERADE — Joe Ely — MCA 2333 — Producer: Chip Young — List: 6.98

Several of the songs on Ely's second album have the ring of instant classics, from the celebrative "I'll Be Your Fool" to the lamenting "Because Of The Wind" to the rollicking "Fingernails." Steel guitar is used extensively here and, to a lesser extent, an accordion, but Ely, like Waylon and Willie, is one of those rare singer-songwriters who transcends categorization. If the album is reserved for country playlists only, a lot of listeners will miss out on a superb work.

FIRST FIRE — Tortoise/RCA BYLI-2677 — Producers: Matt McCauley and Fred Molin — List: 7.98

This trio sounds a lot like America, another soft-rock trio which has achieved considerable success with songs much like those included on First Fire's debut album. This Colorado Springs group's songs alternate between celebrating life's simple pleasures and recounting love's trials and tribulations. There's real pop potential here, especially on "Love At First Fire."

EASY LIVING — Sonny Rollins — Milestone M-9080 — Producer: Orrin Keepnews — List: 7.98

Master sax player Sonny Rollins keeps rollin' along — adding another album to his already impressive list of top-flight jazz LPs. With backup musicians like George Duke and Tony Williams, Rollins runs through a variety of jazz styles — from up-tempo numbers to ballads to calypso — and makes each one sound like his specialty. Songs like Stevie Wonder's "Isn't She Lovely" make this a good bet for pop crossover.

ROUND THE BACK — Cafe Jacques — Columbia JC 35294 — Producer: Rupert Hine — List: 7.98

These continental gentlemen take themselves and their music quite seriously and deliver it with mathematical precision. This sophisticated album features multi-layered harmonies and instrumental passages that give the LP a dreamy, airy feeling. Though the arrangements are tight and follow the melody line, it is the ascending ambience of free-form flight that gives this group its character. Will do well on AOR — and has pop potential, too.

FOCUS CON PROBY — Focus — Harvest ST-11721 — Producer: Yde de Jong — List: 7.98

Focus is joined on this album by P.J. Proby, but the music the combination has come up with is not very similar to the pop songs both recorded a few years back. At times this LP demonstrates the potential of jazz-rock fusion, such as on "Wingless," which features some stunning guitar work by Eef Albers. But overall, the combination of jazz, rock, pop and classical influences suffers from, strangely enough, a lack of clear focus.

Fantasy (3:46) (Sagfire Music — BMI) (M. White/E. delBarrio/V. White)

The elements all come together on this second single taken from the "All 'N All" LP. With keyboard action, horns, sweeping strings and funky guitars, this tribute to escapism has a good shot for R&B and pop lists. Excellent vocals.

Rocket Ride (3:04) (Kiss/Kick-A-Rock Music/Rock Steady Music — ASCAP) (A. Frehley/S. Delaney)

Here's a kicker for all you fire-eaters who want a little blast. Taken from the "Kiss Alive II" album, this cut features grinding heavy guitar and driving rock beat, flashy solo and competent vocals. Pop shot.

LEIF GARRETT (Atlantic 3466)

Put Your Head On My Shoulder (2:49) (Spanka Music — BMI) (P. Anka)

This single taken from the "Leif Garrett" album is a heart-throb remake of a hit by Paul Anka. The production job by Michael Lloyd is excellent. The beat is gentle and lifts nicely to the chorus. Pop pick likely.

ATLANTA RHYTHM SECTION (Polydor 14459)

Imaginary Lover (3:59) (Low-Sal, Inc. — BMI) (Buie/Nix/Daughtry)

A gentle beat, solid chorus and guitar work distinguish this cut taken from the forthcoming "Champagne Jam" album. With a lyric about "private pleasure" and effective vocals, this song has strong Top 40 potential.

JOHNNY MATHIS/DENIECE WILLIAMS (Columbia 3-10693)

Too Much, Too Little, Too Late (3:00) (Home-wood House Music — BMI) (N. Kipner/J. Vallins)

Taken off Mathis' upcoming album "You Light Up My Life," this track features a classy vocal marriage of Johnny and Deniece and a lyric about ending a relationship. The arrangement is clean and simple. The hook tumbles nicely. Pop and R&B choice.

JONI MITCHELL (Elektra/Asylum E-45467)

Jerlcho (3:25) (Crazy Cow Music — BMI) (J. Mitchell)

This song about the difficulty of making and keeping a friend is taken from the "Don Juan's Reckless Daughter" LP. The mood is moderate and deliberative. Joni's voice sparkles above Jaco Pastorius' bass work. Nice acoustic guitar licks. AOR and pop playlist walls ought to tumble.

ELVIS COSTELLO (Columbia 3-10696)

Watching The Detectives (3:42) (Plangent Vision) (E. Costello)

A subtle reggae beat and a sinister James Bond/Secret Agent guitar provide the backdrop for this tale of how media violence deadens our emotions. With the classic line "She's filing her nails while they're dragging the lake," Elvis may make late night viewers take notice.

SINGLES TO WATCH

JOAN ARMATRADING (A&M 2018)

Warm Love (3:02) (Irving Music — BMI) (J. Armatrading)

Joan's sound is distinctive. This second single from the "Show Some Emotion" album possesses an inventive love lyric, gentle and melodic string arrangement and Ms. Armatrading's soaring voice. Excellent addition to pop playlist.

SANTA ESMERALDA 2 (Casablanca NB 913)

The House Of The Rising Sun (3:58) (Al Gallico Music — BMI) (A. Price)

Santa Esmeralda returns with a cover version of another Animals' hit from the mid-'60s. The track features swirling Spanish guitar work, splashy horns, the dancing disco bass drum and convincing caller vocals by Jimmy Goings.

KOOL & THE GANG (De-Lite 1596)

Slack Superchick (3:25) (Delightful Music/Gang Music — BMI) (B. Brown/Kool & Gang)

With a high-stepping dancing beat, horns of funk, snappy guitars, cowbell, and jumpy, razzzy vocals, this cut from the album "The Force" ought to be a killer on the R&B chart.

THE VIBRATORS (Columbia 3-10685)

Baby Baby (3:23) (Blackwood Music — BMI) (I. Carnahan)

Taken from the "Pure Mania" album, this cut features an upfront drum mix, excellent combination of fuzzy rhythm and single-note lead guitars and a tight catchy hook. Possible pop shaker.

DAVE LOGGINS (Epic 8-50509)

One Way Ticket To Paradise (4:49) (Leeds Music/Patchwork Music — ASCAP) (D. Loggins)

This title track off Loggins' latest LP blends together solid background vocals and sound effects to create a sound reminiscent of "Please Come To Boston." Loggins' strong vocal talent should make this a likely MOR and pop playlist addition.

SWEET (Capitol P-4549)

Love Is Like Oxygen (3:46) (Sweet Publishing/WB Music — ASCAP) (Scott/Griffin)

There is something indisputable about a lyric which goes: "Love is like oxygen/Get too much and you get high/Not enough and you're gonna die." The strong hook, stepping beat, excellent fuzzy guitar work and soaring vocals ought to make pop radio take notice.

MARY MacGREGOR (Ariola 7677)

I've Never Been To Me (3:34) (Stone Diamond Music — BMI) (R. Miller/K. Hirsch)

This song to a woman who "curses her life" has a strong contemporary lyric which is sensitively rendered by Mary's bright and engaging voice. The chorus is melodic and catchy making the track a good pop playlist pick.

BILLY PRESTON (A&M 2012)

I'm Really Gonna Miss You (2:59) (Irving Music/WEP Music — BMI) (B. Preston)

This second single taken off the "A Whole New Thing" album has a tasty mix of electric and acoustic piano and horns for emphasis but Billy's voice is the real smile. Pop and R&B chart chances.

SEA LEVEL (Capricorn CPS-0287)

That's Your Secret (2:59) (Stoned Individual Music — BMI) (R. Bramblett/D. Causey)

This first single from the "Cats On The Coast" album is a strong example of "fusion rock" and a likely bet for pop acceptance. Nice guitar and keyboard work.

THELMA HOUSTON (Tamla/Motown T54292)

I Can't Go On Living Without Your Love (3:40) (Gold Forever Music/Stone Diamond Music — BMI/Holland-Dozier-Holland Music — ASCAP) (E. Holland/B. Holland)

Taken from Ms. Houston's "Devil In Me" album, this track is a heart wrecker. Stirring Motown orchestration rides beneath Thelma's soulful voice. Good R&B to pop crossover potential.

SAMMY HAGAR (Capitol P-4550)

Turn Up The Music (3:10) (The Nine Music/Big Bang Music — ASCAP/BMI)

Do what the boy says for a rocking good time. Taken from the "Musical Chairs" album, this cut has Hagar's characteristically driving guitar work, strong hook and romping vocals. A strong candidate for rock 'n' roll radio.

ROCKETS (Tortoise International/RCA JH-11207)

She's A Pretty One (3:20) (Conquistador Music/Dynamited Mice Music — ASCAP) (J. Badanjek)

This track from the "Love Transfusion" album is a strong rocker, complete with searing guitar work, piano pound and excellent lead and background vocals. The combination is a solid pick for pop playlists.

LENNY WILLIAMS (ABC 12345)

Look Up With Your Mind (3:33) (Screen Gems-EMI Music/Traco Music — BMI) (F. Wilson/J. Wieder)

On this third single from his "Choosing You" LP, the ex-lead singer of Tower Of Power shows his vocal ability with his best effort to date. The smooth funky orchestration makes this cut a must for R&B playlists.

BRAINSTORM (Tabu/CBS ZS8 5502)

We're On Our Way Home Part 1 (3:27) (Interior Music/Irving Music — BMI) (G. Kent)

On this track taken from the "Journey To The Light" album, Brainstorm has a strong Detroit sound characterized by tight background harmonies and fluid lead vocals. Likely to continue its move on R&B charts.

LALOMIE WASHBURN (Parachute RR 508)

My Love Is Hot (Caliente Un Amour) (3:35) (Skydiver Music — ASCAP) (L. Washburn/F. Capek)

A good remix has brightened the rocking Latin beat on this title cut single from Lalomie's latest album. The tight arrangement by Gene Page coupled with Lalomie's hot vocals make this a strong R&B contender.

Cinema Concepts Uses Movie Houses For Disc Promotions

by Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — With the help of Cinema Concepts Inc., the movie theatre is developing into one of the fastest-growing vehicles for record promotion.

Al Schoenberger, who heads the three-and-a-half-year-old firm, said the business is constantly attracting more artists and record companies and is now at the point "where the record companies are coming to us, rather than us going to them."

Their promotional effort centers around a film short of an act, sometimes supplied by the record company, the manager, or Cinema Concepts, performing a song from the album being promoted.

'Does Sell Records'

"We have trackable sales results," Schoenberger said, "and have seen that this approach does sell records. In one city, where one of these was being shown, the artist's record sold out at the local retailer before the distributor could replenish his supply."

Schoenberger's job not only includes finding a film audience of record-buying age group, but also matching the particular artist involved with an appropriate film.

"We use only the top grossing movie houses in each area and first run films," he said. "'Annie Hall,' for instance, is doing very well right now, but it's not first run. We go only with the top new films."

Several Artists

Cinema Concepts has done projects for

Bob Seger, Joan Armatrading, Parliament, Alan Price, Roger Daltrey among others, and currently is working on one with Electric Light Orchestra.

The Roger Daltrey film, for instance, featured him singing the title song from his most recent MCA album, "One Of The Boys." But rather than just footage of him with a microphone, there were cuts back and forth to Daltrey in scenes related to the song, some of which showed him dressed as an English punk rocker.

"This was not one you would show to a very general audience," Schoenberger said. "We coupled it with 'Julia' and some other 'R'-rated movies because that was the most receptive audience for that particular film."

With Joan Armatrading and Alan Price, however, the clips were aimed at a larger, middle-of-the-road audience, consisting primarily of the artists' rendering songs.

The emphasis in the promo clips is not advertising, he said, but entertainment. "Since we run these in the top theatres with first run films such as 'Star Wars' and 'Close Encounters of the Third Kind,' they really have to be high quality entertainment. The approach is definitely soft-sell."

"In some cases," he said, "people have actually given their applause after one that is really good, which is unusual considering these are basically commercials."

Soft-Sell

Schoenberger explained that the films of

Basic Music Business Survival Course Features Interviews With Executives

by Mark Mehler

NEW YORK — A "Basic Music Business Survival Course," encompassing 40 half-hour videotaped interviews with major record industry figures, will be offered at the New York Hilton, April 10-14.

The 40 videotapes were prepared by Practical Learning For The Arts, Inc., a six-month old non-profit firm headed by Ron Zalkind. The videotapes include interviews with such record executives as Jack CRAIGO, Bruce Lundvall and Walter Yetnikoff of CBS; Jerry Wexler of Warner Brothers; Lou Simon of Polydor; Bob Reno of Midsong, and John Betancourt of RCA. Also featured are discussions with personal manager Dee Anthony, booking agent Frank Barsalona, music attorney Elliot Hoffman, composer Aaron Copeland, and publishing executive Irwin Robinson. Together, the tapes cover nearly every aspect of the record business, from A&R and artist development to publishing, marketing, distribution, performing and "funding."

Along with the telecasts, registrants at the New York Hilton session will receive a 140-page booklet, "All About The Music Business," which briefly outlines each interview, and contains various charts and graphs of interest to students of the industry.

Zalkind, a former Juilliard student and classical conductor, also heads the profit-making Zadoc Institute For Practical Learning, which currently offers night school courses in the music business.

Crash Course

He sees the videotapes fulfilling two possible functions: providing a crash course or "career guide" for outsiders interested in entering the record industry; and serving as educational tools that major labels can use in training new branch personnel. CBS and Phonodisc have both approached Zalkind about purchasing videotapes for this purpose.

Aside from their use by individuals or record labels, Zalkind eventually hopes to market the videotape series through other outlets. A contract was recently signed with Warner Cable TV in Columbus, Ohio; the firm's pay-TV subscribers will be offered the complete 40-show series with PLA getting a percentage of sales. While other broadcast entities have indicated an interest in purchasing all or some of the videotapes, Zalkind said he has been concentrating most of his energies on potential record industry clients. A screening of several tapes at the recent MIDEM session, Zalkind notes, may result in an invitation to Musexpo To Be Held Next Fall In Miami, Fla.

NEW YORK — The fourth annual Musexpo '78 will be held November 4-8 in Miami Beach, site of the 1977 session. However, to accommodate the growing number of participants, the headquarters will be moved from the Doral Hotel to the Konover (Hyatt) Hotel. The Konover's facilities include a 1,000-seat theatre, and several ballrooms and meeting rooms which will be made available to companies wishing to showcase their artists.

Participants in this year's Musexpo will include representatives of record labels, publishers, independent producers, radio and TV programmers, managers, artists, distributors, retailers, and recording studio managers. They will have the opportunity during the four days of the event to negotiate acquisitions, trade merchandise, and promote their own companies and catalogs.

Change For Grammys

LOS ANGELES — For the first time in the history of the televised Grammy Awards, this year's ceremony will spotlight winners of the 39 non-telecast Grammy categories. The pre-telecast presentations will be taped and winners who are on hand for the ceremony will be introduced to the television audience during the course of the program. The awards show airs live on the CBS-TV network on Feb. 23 at 9 p.m.

Spinners Show No Signs Of Slowing Down After 22 Years

by Joey Berlin

LOS ANGELES — The Spinners are one of R&B's top groups, known internationally for their soulful exuberance and style. And a quick look at the quintet's future plans and recent activities shows they are not about to slow down after more than 20 years in the spotlight.

The group is particularly excited about a song they recorded with Elton John for his next LP. The tune is called "Are You Ready For Love," and Spinner John Edwards says, "It's Elton like you've never heard him before." It was produced by Thom Bell, who has been the Spinners' producer since they have been with Atlantic Records.

The Spinners first got together with John during one of their four tours of England. A fifth tour is slated for later this year. The group is currently in the midst of a national mini-tour, including dates in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Atlanta and New York.

While in Los Angeles, the Spinners took time out to tape a number of television shows, such as "Dinah," "Merv Griffin," "Jim Nabors," "American Bandstand" and a new variety series, "The Chuck Barris Rah Rah Show." They also participated in a promotion sponsored by radio station KKTT (the Kat).

"The winner of the Kat contest got to go out to dinner with the Spinners," reports Edwards. "Her name was Debby Jones, and we went to her house and sang our latest single, 'Easy Come, Easy Go,' in her living room. The poor girl had a terrible cold, but she kept a stiff upper lip, and everything worked out."

On another front, the group is negotiating for a possible summer replacement series on network television. They are also working on a possible soundtrack deal for a motion picture.

The Newest Spinner

Some thought the Spinners might have difficulty replacing Philippe Wynn when he left the band 13 months ago. But John Edwards has moved right in and the group has enjoyed continued success. Their latest album, "Spinners 8," is in its third month on the Cash Box R&B Album chart.

"It's one thing to find a replacement, but it's another thing to find a guy who fits," says Spinner Pervis Jackson. "And John Edwards fits the Spinners. He has our kind of personality and he sure can sing. We did have to teach him to dance, though."

In fact, all the Spinners, Billy Henderson, Henry Fambrough, Bobbie Smith, Jackson and Edwards, spend a lot of time working on their dance routines. "We spend long hours going over choreography, especially on new songs," says Jackson. "There's usually a whole lot of stumbling at first, but within a couple of days we've got the routine down and it becomes a matter of polishing

NAB President Warns Of Danger In Pending Rules

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Association of Broadcasters must fight an array of battles against forces which, the organization believes, are trying to erode the freedom and profits of the industry. The loss of any one of these battles before the courts, federal agencies, or Congress, could have a "domino-like effect."

This assessment was made by NAB president Vincent Wasilewski in a speech to the Federal Communications Bar Association, in which he gave a rundown of pending or recently considered proposals affecting the industry.

Wasilewski said communications lawyers "must get involved" and the NAB president encouraged them to assist in the industry's proceedings.

Defeat of the performance royalty proposal remains one of NAB's top priorities, he said. Other problems on the horizon include broadcast advertising restrictions currently sought by citizens groups; proposals that a percentage of gross advertising revenues be used to support public broadcasting, and to pay FCC license fees; and potential programming restrictions on records whose lyrics make reference to sex, ethnic groups, or stereotypes of women, the elderly, and various minority groups.

"The broadcasting profit picture," Wasilewski said, "although solid, is not as uniformly rosy as portrayed by some. It would be much worse if all these restrictions proposed were implemented."

Arbitron, WQRK Reach Settlement

LOS ANGELES — The Arbitron Company has reached a settlement in its litigation against WQRK-FM, Norfolk, Virginia in a case involving the unauthorized use of copyrighted audience data. The case is part of Arbitron's ongoing effort to pursue all cases of illegal and unauthorized use of its copyrighted data.

Under the terms of the agreement, WQRK admitted its employees copied Arbitron data without authorization in a "memorandum" which was mailed to sales representatives, agreed to pay Arbitron compensatory damages and dropped its counterclaims against Arbitron.

RKO Promotes Sholin

LOS ANGELES — Dave Sholin, music director for KFRC in San Francisco, has been named national music coordinator for the entire RKO radio chain. In making the announcement, Dwight Case, president of RKO radio, commented that, "Dave has shown an exceptional record of success with respect to the trends and variations in the music business. We wanted the best person for the job and we are fortunate that he is already with us."

Drake-Chenault Goes On The Air In Guam

LOS ANGELES — Drake-Chenault's adult contemporary format, Contempo 300, is now on the air in Guam via KUAM (AM).

Guam is a U.S. trust territory 6,300 miles from the United States mainland. KUAM was recently purchased by Bob Berger (KHVH, Honolulu) and is managed by Jon Anderson.

Rather To Speak At Luncheon For Asher

NEW YORK — CBS News correspondent Dan Rather will be the principal speaker at a testimonial luncheon honoring W. Richard Asher, president of CBS Records International. The luncheon will be held at noon on Feb. 24 at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

WCFL Picks Radio Arts

LOS ANGELES — WCFL in Chicago has selected Radio Arts, Inc., to provide consulting and programming services to the 50,000 watt station. The station is still developing its non-musical ingredients to go with the MOR music service.

"Radio Arts was chosen after an extensive search for the best available adult music programming source," noted William Lemanski, station general manager, "and they emerged as clearly the most qualified programmers in this area."

Radio Stations Join Leukemia Campaign

NEW YORK — Over 80 radio stations across the country have been set to participate in the sixth annual Fight Leukemia Day broadcast, scheduled to air February 25-26. The event, designed to raise money to combat leukemia, will originate from KIIS in Hollywood, California.

PROMOTION IN MOTION

TO KNOW NEW YORK IS TO LOVE IT — Outside Studio 54, the New York cops had brusquely cordoned off the street, where a large contingent of AFM members was picketing the disco for not using live musicians. Three scruffy kids from downtown were trying to score some invitations to the party within.

The state of New York was throwing a bash kicking off the "I Love New York" campaign, designed to attract out-of-town visitors to the Big Apple.

In the lobby, Margaux Hemingway, granddaughter of the late Ernest Hemingway and noted covergirl, was giving a TV newswoman tips on how to avoid crow's feet. On the disco floor, there was a strange combination of New York state officials, Beautiful People, and record people. It was easy to distinguish between them: The state officials all had the dour faces of guys down to their last nickels, and all had brought their wives; the Beautiful People were smiling, and had no trouble getting served at the bar; and the record people were all crowding around the Beautiful People. It was a typical New York Saint Valentine's Day Party, complete with busboys with pink-painted faces and glazed eyes.

Salsoul Records participated in the promotion with the introduction of a 7" cover version of the "I Love New York" theme. Salsoul also premiered its 12" disco disc (b/w "New York Is My Kind Of Town").

Salsoul president Joe Cayre expressed his pleasure at being chosen to help the city get back on its fiscal feet.

In addition to national distribution of the single, the state has already launched a print and TV ad campaign, stressing the gifts of Broadway.

While most of the Studio 54 revelers remained skeptical of New York's future, they did not apparently concern themselves with those thoughts on this cold night. Saint Valentine's Day is a time to concentrate on more romantic matters.

Back on the street, it was the same. On the other side of 8th Avenue, a skinny Puerto Rican kid stood on the sidewalk, calling to a girl perched at a window above. "Happy Valentine's Day, Rosa," he yelled. He slipped on the ice, and she laughed, but he was undaunted. "Rosa," he cried. "I love you."

ON THE STREET — Bill Staton left CTI for national promotion slot at RCA . . . At intermission of a recent ELP concert in Philly, Sonny Fox of WYSP taped an interview with Carl Palmer, in which Palmer discussed his feelings about the first half of the show and what the group planned to do in the next half. Radio Arts Develops Adult Format For WCFL

NEW YORK — WCFL in Chicago has pact-ed with Radio Arts Inc. for consulting and programming services. Radio Arts has developed a customized version of its nationally-syndicated adult MOR format, "The Entertainers," for use at WCFL.

The music portions of the new format began airing last December, although non-musical elements are still being developed, according to William Lemanski, general manager of WCFL.

In a related development, the Burbank-based syndicators also announced the debut of "Sound 10," a new adult contemporary format, combining current popular adult hits with adult oodies. Among its features, said Radio Arts president Larry Vanderveen, are "hit match programming" (a means of focusing listener attention), and "pyramid power play" (a rotation system designed to maximize the effect of his product play).

record out. Music is what I'm concentrating on. If I'm off the road reading scripts then I'm an actor/musician."

Carradine's tour to promote his new LP is scheduled to begin Feb. 24 in Boston and to end in Los Angeles on March 31. Currently Carradine is concentrating on polishing his performance of the new songs from the album with his newly-formed four-piece band. He calls the LP, which has one side labeled Lost and the other labeled Found, "a semi-concept album."

"The idea of grouping lost songs together and found songs together came when we were listening to a playback one night," Carradine says. "There have been times when I've been listening to an album and thought that I would like to make a tape of all the down songs and a tape of all the up songs so I can hear what I want depending on the mood I'm in. So I thought why don't I just do that on the record? If somebody wants to listen to down stuff then let them have it."

Brief Hiatus

Although Carradine is scheduled to begin work on a new film, "Old Boyfriends," with scriptwriter Joan Tewkesbury soon after he finishes his tour, he says he is looking forward to a brief hiatus from all the activity — a hiatus which he believes will benefit his career.

"There's going to be a dry spell because I'm not going to be touring or doing an album or working on a film," Carradine says. "But I think that's ideal because it gives people a chance to absorb the one thing and then you kind of fade from their consciousness a little before you come back with something else. Chappell's Diston Dies

NEW YORK — Leo Diston, a longtime employee of Chappell Music Publishing, died last week at age 70.

Diston started his publishing career at Chappell as a song plugger in 1935. Later he moved to the firm's professional department, where he worked until his retirement in 1974.

Diston then became a consultant to the company, working with record labels in the special product and premium area, as well as getting involved with the Chappell catalog as it is used in radio and TV commercials.

posure, you can be used up in two or three years."

Still, Carradine is not worried that his current blitz will offer him too much exposure. Carradine is happy with the way his juggling act is coming along.

"Now that these projects are completed and out there — the films and the album — I think they will be mutually beneficial," he says. "If people know me from the films and like me, then they will probably be more interested in my records — and vice versa."

POINTS WEST — ONE LUMP OR TWO? — RCA's Dave And Sugar stopped by Cash Box while in Los Angeles to perform at the Palomino. The trio, whose last single "I'm Knee Deep In Love" hit the top spot on the Cash Box Top 100 Country Chart, will soon have a new single followed by an LP, due in late spring. On their recent tour with Charley Pride they said they encountered an unusual reaction to their music on more than one occasion. "People have been coming up to us and saying, 'I don't like country music, but I sure like you,'" according to Vicki Hackeman, half of Sugar with Sue Powell. For this reason, they are confident they will not only continue their country success, but increase their pop following as well. Dave Rowland said he thinks Dave and Sugar's influence has helped other country groups. "For a long time," he said, "there was only the Statler Brothers. Everything else was single artists. But now the country group is coming back." Dave And Sugar have made recent appearances on Dinah!, the Jim Nabors Show and the American Music Awards and will be heading to Europe for some concert dates, topped off with an appearance at England's Wembley Festival, where last year the group was named "Most Promising International Act." Also up for the CMA's Best Group prize, Rowland said, "We will keep working hard until we win. We would really like to win the CMA award . . . So would the Eagles, the Oak Ridge Boys . . ."

IT COULD HAVE BEEN WORSE — Rufus keyboardist Kevin Murphy went in for some root canal work recently and if that isn't painful enough, while hovering over Murphy's orifice, the dentist dropped a syringe-type instrument down his throat. Murphy was rushed to the emergency ward of a nearby hospital where an attempt was made to remove the object. In the process, the tool got stuck for a while in his esophagus. He eventually got back on his feet enough to play with the band, but needless to say, he hasn't done much singing in a while. . . Al Green, while in town for a concert at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, showed up at the Cornerstone Baptist Church and delivered a sermon to the throngs who anticipated his guest appearance. Green usually shows up at a neighborhood church whenever he comes to a city for a show. . . Janus group Kayak has signed with BNB Management. . . Ken Kragen, vice president of Management III and personal manager of Kenny Rogers, among other people, will marry Kathy Worthington, a real estate agent with Jack Hupp Realty. The wedding will take place April 22 at the Bel-Air Hotel in Los Angeles with Rogers as best man. The Rev. James Davidson, singer John Davidson's father, will preside, as he did over Rogers' own marriage recently. . . Warren Zevon's third LP for Elektra/Asylum will be produced by Jon Landau. We hope this means Jon is finished working on Bruce Springsteen's new Columbia album and we can expect that shortly. . . In honor of both B.J. Thomas' opening at the Roxy and California's deluge, MCA Records handed out complimentary raincoats at the gig. B.J.'s latest single is "Everybody Loves A Rain Song."

SANDS OF TIME — A time capsule has been sunk in the pool area at Las Vegas' Sands Hotel and includes various pieces of memorabilia from the 1970s to help future Sands customers get a feel for what the period was really like. Some of the articles that went into the capsule are the racing silks of Seattle Slew, the left foot of R2-D2, a pair of Jimmy Durante's pants as well as tapes and menus from the Sands. As an illustration of the music of the day, a copy of Meco's "Star Wars And Other Galactic Funk" was included. The capsule will be raised Dec. 15, 2002 on the 50th anniversary of the hotel. . . In response to rumors of their impending breakup due to musical differences and the band's recent inactivity, lead singer Alvin has firmly stated Alvin And The Chipmunks will continue as a musical unit. He added, however, there will be some changes of direction for the group which has acquired several gold records over the years. Alvin says the famous trio will take over as the leading voice of what he describes as "rodent rock" and, as a result, the band will change its name to Angry Alvin And The ChimPunks. Their first album in several years, due shortly, is tentatively titled "Never Mind The Chest Nuts, Here's The ChimPunks."

TELEVISION TRANSITION — Two more popular television personalities are attempting the crossover into pop music. Jon Walmsley, who plays Jason Walton on the CBS series "The Waltons," has cut a record with Johnny Pierce producing and is now shopping for a label deal. And Diana Canova, who appears regularly on ABC's Soap, has finished a demo and is hopeful of landing a recording contract. Some of the Eagles have been said to like her singing style. . . Several thousand miles away, Capitol's Little River Band set an attendance record in its native Australia. LRB performed in a free concert on the steps of the Sydney Opera House, drawing 80,000 people, topping the previous record of 57,000, set by Fleetwood Mac and LRB on their last tour of Aussie land. . . Banjoman Larry McNeely, who has just finished his first album and is waiting for the right label deal, is also at work on the music for an upcoming TV movie or series pilot. . . Marsha and Neil Diamond became parents on Valentine's day. Micah Joseph Diamond arrived at 8 lb. 9 oz. at Cedars Sinai Hospital. Neil and Marsha will probably soon be hearing a different kind of "beautiful noise." . . While down in Orange County for a show at the Huntington Beach Golden Bear, Rick Danko was joined on stage by fellow Band member Levon Helm, who helped Rick on a rousing version of the Band classic "The Weight."

TID-BITS — Lou Rawls was seen by millions last week who watched the Leon Spinks Show (originally scheduled as the Muhammad Ali-Leon Spinks World Heavyweight Championship). Rawls sang the National Anthem before the fight began, then sat in Ali's corner to watch the bout. . . Maureen McGovern has signed with Epic and will have her first album out in about three weeks. The single from the album, "We'll Never Have To Say Goodbye Again," has already been released. . . The Helen Reddy/Kim Fowley LP is almost finished. We've heard ELO's Jeff Lynne has written one song especially for this album. . . Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers' new album (no title yet) is due March 17, as is Mickey Newbury's "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" . . . Richard Torrance has a new album coming, which is said to be more heavily rock oriented than his past folk-tinged records. . . RCA has a new recording

Grammy Nominee Irene Kral Reflects On Significance Of NARAS Award

by Alan Sutton

LOS ANGELES — What is the impact of a Grammy nomination on an artist's career?

Does being nominated for the recording industry's highest award mean increased album sales? Additional bookings? Greater artistic freedom?

These questions were put recently to singer Irene Kral, who racked up her second nomination in as many years for best performance by a jazz vocalist. Her answers gave some insight into what the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences achievement awards mean to an artist.

For starters, Kral pretty much discounted the nomination's impact on record sales, saying only that "it helps build enthusiasm among the people who work the record." She did say, however, that a Grammy nomination adds credibility to an album in the eyes of radio stations which may be considering programming it.

Kral went on to say that the nomination does give the artist a feeling of personal accomplishment. "Whether or not you win, the nomination is recognition of your work," she said, adding that it was especially gratifying this year to be nominated along with artists the caliber of Carmen McCrae, Al Jarreau, Joao Gilberto and Helen Merrill.

Kral stressed that what distinguishes her two Grammy-nominated LPs — "Krai Space," which is the current nominee, and "Where Is Love" — from her other recordings is that she selected the material for them herself. In her opinion, this is the only way to go.

"In the past," she said, "the company told me what to record and the records died as a result. On the last two, I did what I wanted to do and then sold the tapes."

"I've found that sometimes A&R men have no idea what's going on and are afraid to commit themselves. Things would be a lot easier if they would just leave the artist alone."

Credits Broadbent

According to Kral, much of the credit for her recent success should go to Alan Broadbent, who played piano on both the nominated albums. "I've worked with some excellent musicians in my career, but in Alan I found someone who is really a kindred spirit," she said. "His approach to accompanying is just what I was looking for and he's also a great arranger."

Interestingly, Kral said the person she's learned the most from in her 30 years as a singer has been a fellow Grammy nominee, Carmen McCrae. "I've known Carmen ever since I was a teenager in Chicago and she was working opposite Jackie & Roy (Jackie Cain and Roy Kral, Irene's sister-in-law and brother, who have performed together professionally since 1949 as Jackie & Roy). She's been a tremendous inspiration as well as a good friend."

ON JAZZ

The long-awaited reactivation of the Candid jazz line is now a reality. Manufacturing and distribution of the line will be handled by GRT through its Janus Records division, and the LPs will carry the Barnaby label. Barnaby, owned by Andy Williams, consists mostly of Cadence masters (including Candid) which Andy bought some years ago. The music on the Candid-Barnaby series was supervised by Nat Hentoff, and the recordings dating from the early '60s feature many of the budding stars of the time. The first release features "Out Front" by Booker Little with Eric Dolphy and Max Roach; "Toshiko-Mariano Quartet" with Charlie Mariano & Toshiko Akiyoshi; "Charles Mingus Presents Charles Mingus" by the 1960 Mingus Quartet, featuring Eric Dolphy and Ted Curson;

"Rights Of Swing" by Phil Woods with a strong eight-piece band; "The Straight Horn Of Steve Lacy;" and "New Horn In Town" by trumpet man Richard Williams.

JAZZ ALBUM PICKS

THE MAD HATTER — Chick Corea — Polydor 6130 — Producer: Chick Corea — List: 7.98

Corea certainly explores Wonderland in every conceivable manner here. And just as the mood shifts constantly, so does the quality of the music. There is some tremendous playing here ("Humpty Dumpty") and then there are short, almost throwaway pieces. The vocals are a minus throughout. Joe Farrell, on the other hand, stands out in each spot. Interesting, creative but sometimes a bit too cute. Still this should be a strong sales performer and a solid bet for Jazz Chart Top Ten.

LET'S DO IT AGAIN — Roy Ayers — Polydor PD-1-6126 — Producer: Roy Ayers — List: 7.98

"Let's Do It" is solid evidence of Ayers' maturity as a vocalist. He displays versatility and scope on material ranging from mellow, string-laced tunes such as the title track and "Melody Maker" to the unbridled disco sound of "Freaky Deaky." In addition to handling the lead vocals, Ayers plays vibes and piano. Bernard "Pretty" Purdie's exquisite drumming and string arrangements by William Allen add color and texture to the compositions, most of which belong to Ayers.

BUDDY TATE MEETS DOLLAR BRAND — Chiaroscuro 165 — Producer: Hank O'Neal — List: 7.98

A strange meeting this! Tate is a veteran tenor star with enough drive and inventiveness to dominate any quartet date. He does that here. Brand, the South African pianist, is more identified with "new music" (although he is capable of much more) and had a big hit with his "Capetown Fringe" album of last year. In reality, they don't play together very often; but Cecil McBee, on bass, holds it all together, and the results are a very nice Buddy Tate album with an occasional interlude of piano.

INSIGHTS — Toshiko Akiyoshi-Lew Tabackin Big Band — RCA AFL-1-2678 — Producer: Hiroshi Isaka — List: 7.98

Toshiko really steps forth as a composer on her latest album. "Studio J" is, for the most part, a straight-forward swing bebop number, while "Sumie" revolves around a gentle flute/clarinet ensemble. The major composition, though, is the 21½-minute "Minamata," which occupies all of side two, in which Toshiko covers a variety of moods, giving each of the band's sections and individuals a chance for plenty of blowing. Jazz programmers should jump on this one immediately.

DON'T LOOK BACK — Nat Adderley — Inner City 2059 — Producer: Nils Winther — List: 7.98

This is Nat's current band augmented by reedman Ken McIntyre and a percussionist. Adderley and keyboard player Onaje Allen Gumbs are the standout soloists and the music (all original) is quite contemporary throughout. Mood and tempo are well sustained throughout, and the leader's own "Funny, Funny" has a good airplay groove to it. There is little connection with the type of music that Cannonball featured, and that in itself is a credit to the leader.

WAVES — Terje Rypdal — ECM 1-1110 — Producer: Manfred Eicher — List: 7.98

Norwegian guitarist Terje Rypdal has returned with a more commercial jazz/fusion sound that utilizes both a keyboard computer and a Ringmodulator played by Palle Mikkelborg to provide a full-bodied backdrop to his superb guitar work. A fine blend of musical moods that combine to create a total environment for the listener. Likely for jazz and AOR lists.

Bowling, Bynum Share NSAI Songwriter Of Year Award

by Bob Campbell

NASHVILLE — Songwriters here honored their peers on Valentine's Day, selecting Roger Bowling and Hal Bynum, co-writers of Kenny Rogers' "Lucille," as winners of the Nashville Songwriters Assn. International's (NSAI) Songwriter of the Year award in a glittering dinner and show. 25 other songwriters, whose songs had received the largest number of votes from NSAI members voting on "The Songs I Wish I Had Written" for 1977, were presented achievement awards.

Nashville's leading songwriters came out to the Sheraton South Hotel here to attend the ceremonies. Leaders in the music, business and political arena, including Nashville Mayor Richard Fulton and his wife, paid their respects to the cream of the crop of Nashville songwriters.

Newly elected NSAI president Bob Jennings, director of publicity for Acuff-Rose Publishing, presided as master of ceremonies and introduced featured speaker Jimmie Davis, former Louisiana governor, singer, author of "You Are My Sunshine" and member of the Country Music Hall of Fame. Davis entertained the audience for an hour with recollections of his early days in the music business and stories of his experiences as a poor young man in Louisiana. Davis closed his address with a tribute to the lasting value of songs and to his friend Pee Wee King, who wrote the immortal "Tennessee Waltz."

First Collaboration

Success is no stranger to Bynum and Bowling, whose first and only collaboration resulted in "Lucille." Voted the Country Music Association's Song of the Year and Single of the Year, "Lucille" was certified gold by the RIAA. Both writers have had scores of songs recorded, and Bowling has watched 14 of his tunes hit the charts over the past few months.

Bowling, who said, "I think I will have to wake up tomorrow to realize what this award means . . . it hasn't sunk in yet," lives in the small town of Dillard, Ga. He first came to Nashville in 1970, but soon recognized he needed more experience in the songwriting business.

Looking Back

"I came here for three months in 1970," said Bowling following the awards dinner. "But I realized I wasn't turning out good songs, so I left and didn't return until 1974. I needed to get away and look harder at the business. I worked on my craft and learned how to write. I was ready when I came back."

Although Bowling always felt "Lucille" was a hit, he noted that it had been turned down several times before getting recorded. "Hal and I finished it in July of 1976," Bowling said. "But it was turned down at least 10 times. Actually, I've never had a hit song that wasn't turned down."

Some of those songs that proved to be hits for Bowling are Billie Jo Spears' "Blanket On The Ground," Kenny Rogers' "While The Feeling's Good," Freddie Hart's "I'd Like To Sleep Until I Get Over You" and George Jones And Tammy Wynette's "Southern California."

A native Texan, Bynum's career began back in 1954 when, as a teenager, he wrote "I'm Hot To Trot," which was recorded by Terry Fell. Bynum moved to Nashville in 1968. He wrote Jim Reeves' "Nobody's Fool" and Johnny Cash's "Papa Was A Good Man." Over 150 recordings have

by Bob Campbell

NASHVILLE — On a hot summer night in Peoria, Ill. seven years ago, Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn's husband, Mooney, were sitting around eating watermelon and discussing the idea of forming a talent agency. Out of that casual conversation was born United Talent, Inc., an agency formed here in 1971 solely to represent Twitty and Ms. Lynn. Since that time, United Talent has grown to include a roster of 28 artists and a steady growth rate of 50 percent each year of operation. In 1977, the agency secured almost $6 million worth of bookings for its artists.

It seems the race is on in the Nashville music industry to compete with or outdo anything Los Angeles or New York has to offer. The lure of crossover records by country artists has spawned a virtual stampede by producers, record companies, managers and talent agencies. But Jimmy Jay, a former interior decorator, talent buyer, concert producer, longtime associate of Twitty and general manager of United Talent since its inception, places strong emphasis on the reputation of United Talent as a genuine country talent

WHO IS THAT?

She's got one of the most powerful singles of the year... that's obvious from the first listen.

But who is Janie Fricke? Where does a fully developed talent like this come from?

Up until recently, Janie Fricke was known in Nashville circles as "the best." She's sung on countless commercials and hit records recorded in Nashville.

Then, about a year ago, she began making records with Johnny Duncan; at first anonymously, later with label credit.

She went on to record a single all by herself ("What're You Doing Tonight?").

And that brings us up to date.

The new Janie Fricke single "Baby It's You" is from her stunning forthcoming album, "Singer of Songs."

It's clear to everyone who hears "Baby It's You" that Janie Fricke is a super talent with a giant hit on her hands.

"BABY IT'S YOU."

JIM ED BROWN & HELEN CORNELIUS (RCA PH-11220)
I'll Never Be Free (2:51) (Music Of The Time Pub./Valando Music Division — ASCAP) (B. Benjamin/G. Weiss).

The matching of the material with the Jim Ed and Helen sound is what has made this duo a consistent chart act. They simply sound great on this older tune. Produced by Bob Ferguson.

JANIE FRICKE (Columbia 3-10695)
Baby It's You (2:42) (Sawgrass Music — BMI) (T. Gmeiner/J. Greenbaum)

This single can't be confined to any musical category and if CBS has a major crossover artist in 1978 it is sure to be Janie Fricke. This cut offers clear, crisp vocalizing with good background harmonizing. Produced by Billy Sherrill.

JERRY FOSTER AND TENNESSEE TORNADO (Monument 45-242)
The Fifties (2:04) (Jack & Bill Music — ASCAP) (Jerry Foster/Bill Rice)

Jerry Foster and Bill Rice are not only top Nashville writers, but genuine nice guys. Rice currently has a vocal out on Polydor Records and with this rocker about the '50s, one of Jerry Foster's dreams come true.

JACK PARIS (50 States FS-58)
Lay Down Sally (2:50) (Stigman Music Inc./Unichappell Music — BMI) (E. Clapton/Levy/G. Terry)

The Eric Clapton version of this song is currently in the Top 20 of the Cash Box pop chart and country programmers should favor the Paris cut with its funky guitar work.

PATSY CLINE (4 Star 5-1033)
Life's Railway To Heaven (2:48) (4 Star Music — BMI) (W.S. Stevenson)

Country listeners have always enjoyed Patsy's vocal work and this master pulled from the 4 Star vault is a reminder that too many years have passed without some product available. Should do very well at jukebox level.

LORETTA LYNN — Out Of My Head And Back In My Bed — MCA MCA-2330 — Producer: Owen Bradley — List: 6.98

Loretta Lynn is one of those people who give country music a good name. She sings with conviction, a respect for lyric and just happens to possess a perfect country voice. Loretta works with straight country material which tells a solid story. And she projects total credibility in each song she sings. Several of the ten cuts here are outstanding. "His Lovin' Told Me He Was Gone," "God Bless The Children" and "Spring Fever" are representative of the best in country music.

BOB LUMAN — Proud Lady — Polydor PD 1-6135 — Producer: Jim Vienneau — List: 6.98

Bob Luman started out singing rock 'n roll music down in East Texas back in the late '50s. And he once had a million-selling pop record with "Let's Think About Living." He's been singing country music since the early '60s and hasn't slowed down a bit. A dynamic stage performer, Luman channels that energy on vinyl and has turned in a strong first album for Polydor Records. Included in this well-rounded package are his recent single, "The Pay Phone," as well as "Let Me Love Him Out Of You" and the thoughtful "Jesus Was A Country Boy."

JOE ELY — Honky Tonk Masquerade — MCA MCA-2335 — Producer: Chip Young — List: 6.98

Joe Ely taps his musical toe to the beat of six-packs, neon nights and hard-knuckle honky tonks. Ely comes from west Texas and his music reflects the core of that singular culture. Out there "good ole boys" still like to pick up their ladies on Saturday night and hit a roadhouse for some downhome drinkin' and dancin'. And Ely captures that "live" flavor in his recordings. Sit down with a cool one and listen to "Honky Tonk Masquerade," "Because Of The Wind" and "Tonight I Think I'm Gonna Go Downtown."

CRYSTAL GAYLE — I've Cried The Blue Right Out Of My Eyes — MCA MCA-2334 — Producer: Owen Bradley — List: 6.98

MCA has pulled out a collection of singles and assorted cuts recorded by Crystal back in 1970-71 in the formative stages of her career. Produced by Owen Bradley, these songs show the early, untouched style of Ms. Gayle. This is an interesting album in that it contrasts the raw vocals of Crystal then with the seasoned vocalist she is today. Some of the songs are dated, but much of the material is good. Loretta Lynn's "I've Cried The Blue Right Out Of My Eyes" is the best song on the album.

Come down home to Bob Luman country.

That's where you'll find the smooth, satisfying sound that's already made hits out of "I'm a Honky Tonk Woman's Man," "Pay Phone," and his latest single, "Proud Lady." And they're all right here on his new album. So come on down, y'hear? 🎶

"Bob Luman." Featuring the hit single "Proud Lady." His debut album on Polydor Records and Tapes.

COUNTRY ROUNDUP

Universal Pictures has slated a spring production schedule for the movie adaptation of Loretta Lynn's autobiography, "Coal Miner's Daughter." According to the MCA artist's personal manager, Dave Skepner, "The film will cover Loretta's life from the age of 13 to 25, encompassing her first meeting with Mooney and their growing together. Those early years of marriage, child rearing and becoming a success in country music were good times, but were also times of conflict. This picture will portray the conflicts as well as the good times." It has been announced that Ms. Lynn's book will be published in Great Britain by Granada Publishing Ltd. The book has sold nearly 2 million copies in the United States. Also, Loretta's new album, "Out Of My Head And Back In My Bed," is her 37th solo album.

MCA artist Joni Lee is in the middle of a tour of military bases which has taken her to Hawaii and soon will take her to Alaska. After completion of the military tour, she will return to the midwest for a few appearances.

Mercury's Statler Brothers are back on the road again with ABC's Barbara Mandrell, and they are drawing capacity crowds everywhere they appear. In a recent appearance at Augusta, Ga.'s Bell Auditorium, the show drew an advance sellout for the first time in 22 years. The last person to sell out Bell Auditorium in advance was the late Elvis Presley in 1956, a year which belonged to Presley.

Jacky Ward appeared on WAVE-TV's "The Morning Show" recently in Louisville, Ky. where he sang his new single, "A Lover's Question." The Mercury artist also shared his recipe for Texas shish-kabob. Ward will be touring the next few weeks in the midwest.

ABC's Roy Clark is off for London this next week where he will tape a guest appearance on "The Muppet Show." When he returns, Clark plans to relax a few days at his home in Tulsa, Okla. and attend dedication ceremonies for the new Roy Clark Elementary School there. Clark will open March 9 at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas for a two-week stand.

True Records artist Leon Everette may be the only entertainer with Red Skelton in his fan club. Everette's fan club presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butcher, are good friends of the comedian and sent him one of Everette's albums. Skelton not only liked the album, but joined the fan club.

Roni Stoneman, member of "Hee Haw," is serving as membership chairperson for the Tennessee Association for Retarded Citizens and has recently taped some commercial television spots for a Texas Chevrolet dealership.

RCA's Paul Craft, who has a new single, "Teardrops In My Tequila," will appear March 7 and 8 at New York City's Lone Star Cafe. Craft is the writer of Linda Ronstadt's "Keep Me From Blowing Away."

Graphic artist Brad Whitfield will be presented with a Diamond Award by the Nashville Advertising Federation at ceremonies in the Opryland Hotel, Feb. 17 because of his creative design of Billy Carter's business card. Except for Carter's name printed near the bottom of the card, it is plain with only a used pop top from a beer can placed at the top of the card.

Charlie Dick, former head of promotions for Gusto Records, has joined Caprice Records as head of public relations.

Hairtrigger Music and Arjuna Productions have announced that Michael Wheeler has entered a management agreement with writer/singer Lore. Wheeler previously represented Jimmy Buffett.

MCA's Jerry Clower, who has a comedy album, "On The Road," on the market, will appear on the televised Feb. 23 NARAS Show. Along with Minnie Pearl, Clower will present two Grammy Awards.

RCA's Dickey Lee appeared Feb. 16-18 at Trader Dick's in Memphis, Tenn. Lee's new single is "Love Is A Word."

Tom T. Hall taped the Jim Nabor's Show Feb. 10 for his second trip in a month to the west coast. Earlier he had taped some Chevrolet truck commercials.

According to Gusto's Red Sovine, when he went in to the studio to record Eric Clapton's "Lay Down Sally," the song took a little preparation. "It's the first song I've ever had to count with to know where my intro comes in," Red said. "With country songs, I've always just started in when it felt natural."

UA Signs Rich To Multi-Album Deal

LOS ANGELES — Country artist Charlie Rich has signed a long-term, multi-album agreement with United Artists Records. Rich is currently recording his debut album for UA in Nashville with producer Larry Butler.

The pact adds Rich to United Artists' roster of country artists which includes Kenny Rogers, Crystal Gayle, Dottie West, Billie Jo Spears and Doc Watson. Rich comes to UA following the most successful year ever for the label's country division.

Rich began his recording career with Sun Records, where he wrote and recorded the hit, "Lonely Weekends" in 1965. Rich's recording of "Mohair Sam" was his first crossover onto the pop charts, but it was the 1973 hit, "Behind Closed Doors," and the platinum certified "The Most Beautiful Girl," that gave the greatest boost to his career.

Included among Rich's music industry awards are a 1973 grammy for Best Country Male Vocalist, 1974 Entertainer of the Year, Country Music Association awards for Single and Album of 1973, and American Music Awards in 1974 for Favorite Pop Album and Country Single.

Commenting on the signing, UA Records president Artie Mogull said, "In bringing Charlie Rich to the label, our position as the strongest contender in the country field today is an established fact. It is with a great deal of pride and pleasure that everyone at United Artists Records welcomes Charlie Rich."

Macgregor Single Out

LOS ANGELES — Ariola Records recording artist Mary Macgregor has released the fifth cover version of Ron Miller's "I've Never Been To Me."

Selman Appointed At Alamo Village Music

NASHVILLE — Clarence R. Selman has been named director of operations for Alamo Village Music, a subsidiary of Celebrity Management, according to an announcement by CMI president Robert D. Bray.

Selman has been part of the music scene in Nashville since 1961. Prior to joining Alamo Village Music, Selman served as general manager of Jim Reeves Enterprises for seven years. He also served as general manager of Buckhorn Music, working simultaneously for both companies from 1970 to 1971. He held the same position with Tom T. Hall's Hallnote Music Company and Toy Box Recording Studio, from its inception in 1971 to January, 1978, working simultaneously for both Buckhorn and Hallnote for five years.

"I feel that Clarence Selman is the best song man in town, and he is going to greatly enhance our overall ability to offer total service under one roof to an ever-growing music industry," Bray said.

THE COUNTRY MIKE

There's a new country station on the air in Montgomery, Alabama. WLWI claims to be the first full-time, live country station in Montgomery. The station made its debut Jan. 16 with Big Jon Anthony as PD and morning announcer. Here's the rest of the lineup: Don Day middays; Sam Faulk afternoons; Dave Gregory evenings; and Shirley Annette all night. WLWI has also announced the appointment of Ley Garnett as news director. Garnett was most recently at WAME/Charlotte. Big Jon Anthony will take music calls at 205-264-7392.

A few weeks ago we reported that WBAM/Montgomery would be putting their FM on the air in the near future. Since then there have been some problems with WLWI filing a petition with the FCC questioning WBAM's financial stability. It's being handled by lawyers in Washington right now and no one is saying very much about it. But there should be more developments in the near future.

MUSIC DIRECTOR PROFILE: Ken Loomis has been music director at WAXX/Eau Claire for about a year now. He started at the station three years ago as the all-night jock and has moved up steadily ever since. This was Ken's first full-time radio job out of college. Currently he is holding down the 9-noon air slot in addition to the music duties. One factor that has contributed to Ken's rapid promotion at WAXX is that he was the first jock in the station's history to pull number one ratings in the 4-8 p.m. time slot.

Last week, people in Kansas City were dumbfounded by some guy in the prestigious plaza area giving away a bunch of two dollar bills. When local television reporters asked him who he was and why he was giving the money away he evaded their questions by giving the reporters two dollar bills. After a couple of days, NBC had a report about this guy on their nightly news. Come to find out, the moneyman was none other than KCKN's new morning man John Leslie. We talked with KCKN program director Chris Collier about the stunt. He says it was one of the best promotions they've done since he's been there. They ended up giving away about $500 in two dollar bills. Collier says they tied it in on the air by recording the serial numbers from all the bills. Once an hour the jock reads off a serial number. If the listener has received one of the bills and hears his serial number on the radio, KCKN will exchange the two dollar bill for a hundred dollar bill. It's a great example of spending very little money for a lot of publicity.

SHORT MENTIONS . . . Bob Brandon is the new midnight-6 jock at WAME/Charlotte. . . Is KXOX/St. Louis going country??? . . . WIRE's Leo Shannon is vacationing in Daytona Beach. . . The album of the week at KPUB/Pueblo is the new Tom T. Hall. . . KLAC's Dick Haynes is in the process of recovering from recent surgery. We hope you have a speedy recovery, Dick.

There are more changes at WHK/Cleveland this week. Shelly Harper has been promoted to promotion director and Pam Zilenziger has been hired as the new program assistant. No official word yet on Ron Jones' replacement as program director.

Here's the latest lineup at KFBQ/St. Joseph, Missouri: program director Bob Orf 7-10 a.m.; Gil Johnson 10-3; Terry Steven 3-7; Brent Harmon 7-midnight; and Bill Price all night.

There was a typographical error on the country singles chart involving a misplaced bullet last week. Ava Barber's "Bucket To The South" moved from 79-56 bullet last week. The bullet was inadvertently left off. The record continues to gain momentum this week as it jumps to 48 bullet.

Dene Hallam is the new PD at WEEP/Pittsburgh. Hallam comes to WEEP from WFBC/Harrisburg.

WHOO/Orlando has a new all night jock. Rick Mitchell comes to Orlando from Haines City, Florida, where he was working at WMAN. Mitchell replaces Greg Wallace who left WHOO for health reasons.

WINN/Louisville bought a full-page ad in the Saturday afternoon edition of the Louisville Times Scene Magazine last week. It's a very clever idea. Among other things WINN was able to promote upcoming concerts, their latest ARB results, an article on Ronnie Milsap and WINN's efforts to get the people of Louisville through their worst winter storm.

The Williams family is deeply appreciative to those who sent flowers, cards, and kind thoughts during their recent loss.

agency. "In every interview I've ever done, sooner or later the questioning gets right down to what do you think of the crossover, the broadening of country music," said Jay, who grew up in the tiny town of Avalon, Wis. (pop. 80) where his father was a railroad man. "I can see where the Conway Twitty's and the Loretta Lynn's haven't changed a bit, and they are making more money year after year. It has nothing to do with crossing over because Conway and Loretta don't cross over. But their income and popularity are growing each year.

'Country Agency'

"I don't think there is an artist in our agency who has crossover records," Jay added. "We are a country agency, and I'm proud of it. What I'm seeing are young people coming to concerts to hear country-pop music. They aren't there to hear country-pop music. You can judge and feel that by the song selections and which songs receive the biggest applause. When somebody makes a lot of noise, it is easy to get on the bandwagon with them. My philosophy is this: Whatever your bag is, hang in there with your bag because that is what made you and got you there to begin with."

Even though United Talent books country artists and Jay plans to maintain that policy, he recognizes the tremendous change and growth which has marked country music in recent years. In the talent business, Jay said, the increased sophistication of booking contracts provides a striking example of the growing country music market.

'More Service'

"As a booking agent, the only thing I've got to offer is more service to the artist," said Jay, whose office includes eight, full-time booking agents. "Service is the biggest word I can use. Where I've seen a change is in trying to provide more of these services to the artists. Back when we started in 1971, the proper kit we sent with a contract was a black and white picture and a bio. Now we are more sophisticated. We send four by five transparencies for color ads, we have to furnish well-laid-out fact sheets and, in general, more tools. We have to hand out more publicity because the news media finally has accepted country music, and they will print more of these things.

"Up until two or three years ago, very few artists ever demanded sound and lights," Jay continued. "Now that is part of the show. That is part of the negotiated contract. Four years ago, no one in Nashville had ever heard of a rider in a contract. Now there are many riders demanding what we need the day of a show, things like power supplies and so forth. Also, from the time I came to Nashville, it was not unusual for artists to still be playing high school auditoriums, VFW clubs and National Guard armories. Now we are playing places like the Capitol Center in Largo, Md. which seats 18,000 people, and places like the Aladdin in Las Vegas."

Larger Hotels

In dealing with the larger hotels and arenas, Jay has noticed an interesting attitude on the part of management.

"I find that people like the Aladdin or other sophisticated places are used to working with huge agencies where one man can't give them an answer," Jay said. "They feel it is very refreshing to work with an agency such as ours because we can sit around a table and give them decisions there without dragging and holding things up for months. Nashville agents are allowed to make decisions."

SONGWRITER OF THE YEAR — In a glittering Valentine's Day Dinner and Awards Show, The Nashville Songwriter's Association, International (NSAI) honored Roger Bowling and Hal Bynum, co-writers of Kenny Rogers' "Lucille," as its 1977 Songwriters of the Year. More Variety In South's Rock; But Boogie Bands Still Alive in southern rock, particularly in the music of "country rock" bands like Marshall Tucker and the Atlanta Rhythm Section. However, pure country artists like Dolly Parton, Ronnie Milsap, Johnny Paycheck, and Crystal Gayle, who have crossed heavily into pop, are still commanding more consumer attention in the south than any kind of rock.

Finally, noted Mike Clark, southern pop bands like Starbuck, which in the past had been more successful in the north than in the south, are now finding widespread acceptance among urban and rural audiences back home. Starbuck, a keyboard oriented group who use synthesizers and marimbas, have left Private Stock and Lowery is discussing their future with other labels.

Mike Hyland notes that what "southern boogie" is left today is probably not quite as "raw" as it was in the Allman heyday, or in Skynyrd's early days. There are, of course, exceptions. Molly Hatchet, who are handled by Pat Armstrong, Skynyrd's former manager, have made a concerted effort to become "the next Lynyrd Skynyrd." This they have done through red-neck antics like taking apart a recording studio (Cash Box, February 11). In addition, Sea Level, (composed of three former Allman Brothers Band members), Dickey Betts (on his solo efforts), Elvin Bishop, and Charlie Daniels all carry on the "southern boogie" tradition.

Southern Rock Lives

"Southern rock is definitely not dead," Hyland stated. "We are continuing to seek boogie bands that are musically solid, bands that have five or six cats who can play, and can blow a crowd away. Not bands formed in some guy's garage, where they just go out and find somebody to play bass, for example. A band can be frantic, but it has to be good." Stillwater is one example of a new Capricorn band that plays traditional southern rock, and yet has drawn a major commitment from the label, Hyland said.

Finally, he mentioned the hundreds of southern rockers who, while not signed to labels, continue to survive in the south by playing bars and small nightclubs.

"People always have loved southern music. That doesn't change. It's probably the no-bullshit attitude of the musicians. Here, most audiences are still made up of people who don't like to dress fancy or act fancy. They wear cowboy hats, and like having a good time. They also feel very strongly about their home, about the south."

NARAS Throwing Lavish Party For 20th Grammys

LOS ANGELES — To celebrate the 20th birthday of the Grammy Awards, the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences will gather over 3,000 members of the recording industry at the Biltmore Hotel on Feb. 23 following the CBS-TV live broadcast of the awards show at the Shrine Auditorium.

All six of the hotel's banquet facilities have been reserved for the celebration, with separate rooms reserved for devotees of jazz, country, classical, disco and Latin music. Count Basie And His Orchestra, four-time Grammy winners and 1978 nominees, will perform in the Biltmore Bowl, the hotel's night club and ballroom.

A $200,000 sound system and disco environment donated for the occasion will be installed in the Crystal and Colonnade Rooms. Over a dozen technicians will be on hand to operate such exotica as a six-color computerized laser machine developed by Heinz Gisel of Switzerland and capable of projecting laser images in almost any design, including laser-beam handwriting or picture images. It will be the first time the device will be operating in the U.S.

Feist To Discuss Role Of Trade Association

LOS ANGELES — Leonard Feist, president of the National Music Publishers Association, will discuss the role and responsibilities of a trade association in a copyright industry, at the California Copyright Conference Dinner Meeting on Feb. 28 at the Sportsmen's Lodge in Studio City.

A-MAZE-ING — Capitol recording artists Maze recently pacted with Associated Booking Corp. for worldwide representation. They will embark on a cross country tour March 10. Swartz' Goal As Manager Is Security For His Artists minor problems on the concert tour in some markets. "Not all white promoters know how to promote a black artist," he explained. "They don't have the research facilities, they don't have the guy in the street. I've seen promoters take dates on Patti, and simply put her into a newspaper column ad with a grouping of events. They never even think about hitting black radio or the black press early on." Swartz pointed out that many promoters of black concerts still have a long way to go in taking crossover, various black radio formats and ticket buying patterns of the black concert audience into account when promoting black artists.

He emphasized, however, that LaBelle's tour was instrumental in stimulating sales on the album, and preparing the way for her return into many markets. Her next U.S. tour, which will be scheduled to allow for a European tour beginning in early summer, will continue to concentrate on 3000 to 4000 seat halls. If demand warrants it, extra dates may be added, but Swartz would rather stay out of larger venues at this point in LaBelle's solo career.

Designing Stage Set

Many similar concepts have been applied to Grover Washington, the young saxophonist, whose next tour will feature a simple, yet hopefully effective, stage set. "The intention here is not to compete with rock and roll, but to give a clean appearance that will really add to what's happening on stage." Washington and his band will perform on a white carpet, with all cables and hardware hidden to accentuate a subtle use of lighting.

While Washington is in litigation over his recording contract with Kudu/CTI Records, Swartz' major concern is the negotiation of a new contract for the artist. As Swartz sees it, one of the issues in the new deal will be the financial question. "The ultimate thing a manager can do for an artist is set him up for life. If you can give him the security of knowing that when his cycle ends (if it ever does) he won't be out there like a professional athlete in his '30s, not able to generate the big money any more, you have given him the freedom of selectivity. If an artist can be selective in what he does, because he's not pressed for the bucks, then he can maintain a certain level of creativity.

Swartz, who has always lived in Philadelphia, gained much of his music industry experience as one of the co-principals of Queen Booking, where he handled the appearances of Sammy Davis, Jr., Aretha Franklin, Gladys Knight & The Pips, the O'Jays, Richard Pryor and many other top black attractions from 1964 to 1975.

RHYTHM AND BLUES

Frank and Maurer Examine Future of Roadshow Records

by Carita Spencer

LOS ANGELES — Freddie Frank and Sid Maurer, president and co-president, respectively of Roadshow Records, are two "old friends" with new ideas about their future business endeavors. Roadshow has been in existence for five years, but has in the past year or so experienced a number of new developments within its structure, which have contributed to the company's "finally coming into its own."

Roadshow began four years ago as a label distributed by Scepter Records with its first single "Do It Till You're Satisfied," by B.T. Express, the group which gave the label a gold album and two million-selling singles in the first year. They eventually left Scepter, placing B.T. Express with Columbia Records for distribution. (The group's records continue to bear the Roadshow logo in addition to the Columbia imprint.)

Roadshow then entered into a distribution arrangement with United Artists and in affiliation with Moon-Dock (a company formed by Frank and Maurer's Desert Moon production company in association with producer Jeff Lane) signed Brass Construction to UA in October 1976. Since then, Frank and Maurer have been instrumental in putting together the foundation for what they term "the re-establishing of Roadshow under a strong distributorship."

"We are a company within a company," says Frank; "we promote, market and manage our acts. We have our own marketing arm and a full staff of people out in the market place. We are completely different. Roadshow is a positive, young, aggressive company that doesn't believe that we can't do what the big guys can do."

First Act

The first act signed to Roadshow under the UA arrangement was Enchantment, a five-man vocal unit from Detroit. The group's second album on Roadshow, "Once Upon A Dream," is currently #12-bullet on the Cash Box R&B chart and #68-bullet on the pop chart. The single, "It's You That I Need," is #13-bullet, R&B and #57-bullet on the pop chart.

"They are in the process of moving onto the second rung of the ladder," says Maurer, who, through Roadshow's management arm, helped the group develop a visual show. "The first album launched them and following that, going on the road formed and shaped them. This second album exemplifies their potential. And they will be making television appearances shortly and there is a major tour in March and April."

Also On Roster

Also on the Roadshow roster is gospel singer Shirley Caesar whose first release is "First Lady." According to Frank, Roadshow is making a tremendous commitment to gospel music this year. They recently purchased the entire Hob catalog for distribution which contains some recordings by Caesar, James Cleveland and others.

Other Ventures

Morning, Noon & Night and Winners are two self-contained groups of musicians recently signed along with singer-songwriter Billy Kirkland. Just signed to a Roadshow logo deal with Ariola Records is a "futuristic group" called The Force which, in Frank's words, is a "major undertaking on our part." Mark Radice, another singer-songwriter formerly with UA, is currently preparing a new album for a "logo situation," but at present is not signed to a label. Roadshow recently purchased a master of a group from Canada, which will be their "first venture into rock 'n roll." Vehicle, as the group is called, had a great deal of success in Canada and Frank hopes this will spread to the U.S.

Frank termed the recent signing of Tina Turner to the company "a good marriage," saying that Tina wanted to be with a company that could really communicate her music rather than take it for granted.

"Tina came to us through Mike Stewart, a former president at UA, who represents her. She felt that we were aggressive enough and we also felt that there was a firm spot in the growth of this company for us to both mutually do what we have to do to

THE RHYTHM SECTION

Heatwave will have a new album released in March entitled "Central Heating" on Epic Records. The group will embark on a nationwide tour which will coincide with the LP release.

Columbia Records announces a new LP from vocalist Marlena Shaw entitled "Acting Up." Meanwhile, Marlena will perform at the University of Las Vegas on February 26 where she will be honored by the student body of the institution as well as city officials of Las Vegas, where she resides.

Additionally, the debut single by Brainstorm has been released on the Tabu label which is distributed by Columbia. The tune is titled "We're On Our Way Home" from their "Journey To The Light" album which is due in March.

Motown recording artist Germalne Jackson's third album for the label entitled "Frontiers" has been released. The vocalist/bassist wrote and produced a number of tunes on this offering in conjunction with producers Michael McGlory and Hal Davis. "Castles of Sand" is reportedly a noteworthy cut.

Smokey Robinson has a newly released LP on Tamla Records. "Love Breeze" was

Songwriters Hanks And Grey Mine 1st Gold For 'Back In Love Again'

by Peter Hartz

LOS ANGELES — After a ten year collaboration, songwriters Len Ron Hanks and Zane Grey feel they are reaching their stride. With material already recorded by Jerry Butler, Oscar Brown Jr., Thelma Houston, L.T.D. and Tavares among others, the songwriting team expects 1978 to be a breakthrough year.

"We are just beginning to really break the ice," said Grey in an interview with Cash Box. "Our song 'Back In Love Again' (as performed by L.T.D.) is our first gold single. Everybody is happy who worked on the project. The album 'Something To Love' is L.T.D.'s first gold album and it is also producer Bobby Martin's first gold album since he began his association with A&M Records. Now, Len Ron and I are concentrating on getting some more."

Hanks and Grey began their collaboration in Chicago. "Chicago was a boiler room for talent at the time," said Hanks. We were in a workshop for three or four years. I was a professional musician working with the Chi-Lites and Staple Singers, but when I quit working as a musician that is when Zane and I buckled down and got serious about writing.

"Our writing is into a lot of different things," added Grey. "We are trying to write meaningful songs and make people dance. We are working on up-tempo things."

Hanks and Grey credit Jerry Butler with helping them further their careers. In 1973, they presented five demo songs to Butler in Chicago. He was interested. Later, Butler provided Hanks and Grey with assistance, enabling them to come out to California and the marketplace.

'Faith In Us'

"Jerry had faith in us. He arranged advances from Chappell Music and also gave us money from his own pocket. It was Jerry who told us to get material together and take it to L.T.D. We took our songs to Bobby Martin and he liked 'Back In Love' and 'If You're In Need,' also is on the L.T.D. album.

"Things are going well," Grey continued. "Don Sorkin is doing a fine job managing us. We have a deal with Bobby Martin that all the songs which he does not want automatically go to Irving-Almo and they work the songs.

"After years of working together," Hanks said, "our songs are getting harder and harder to turn down. Our edges are getting smooth. I think it's going to be a good year."

Hanks and Grey have five songs on Jean Terrell's new album which is coming out in February and also a few tunes on the new L.T.D. album which is currently in the studio.

make her a super entertainer.

"We are a full line record company," he continued. "We develop acts before United Artists performs their services to the acts. We establish acts in regions in which we have regional sales and promotion people, and once we complete the first execution, UA moves in and takes advantage of the situation. We create a little action and they move in."

Even though the company has experienced success with their present situation, Frank contends that people still aren't aware of Roadshow as a "record company" with its affiliate publishing companies (Triple "O" Songs, Inc., "O" Songs, Inc., Desert Moon Songs, Ltd., and Desert Rain Music, Ltd.), management firm (Desert Moon Enterprises) and their art studio.

"In the next year we plan to put everything under one roof," explains Frank. "We will uniform everything under the Roadshow banner. Any act that emerges will be on Roadshow and signed directly into the family and we will be constantly developing new projects."

"There is a tight union between our organizations," says Maurer. "One end of our operation helps the other to see that we take advantage of every possible opportunity. We are diversifying and growing and for that reason we are establishing a Roadshow group of companies as a parent company. We are a small but energetic bunch of folks here and I think we will be making important statements this coming year as to why we're even in this business. We've proven that we can produce hit acts. Freddie has a genius ear for hearing what is right for the marketplace."

He continues, "We are marketing our product properly, we're managing groups we think are right for us and we're just growing, we're happy and we're ready!"

produced by Robinson with some contributions from Jerry Butler and contains the upcoming single "Why You Wanna See My Bad Side."

The Originals, formerly with Motown, have signed to Fantasy Records. Their debut album, "Another Time, Another Place," will be released in March.

Another former Motowner, Martha Reeves, of the Vandellas fame, also recently signed to Fantasy and will have an album in March. No title at print time, but some cuts include: "Free Again" and "What Are You Doing For The Rest Of Your Life?"

Fantasy recording artist Stanley Turrentine's itinerary for the month includes a date at New York's Avery Fisher Hall on the 27th. Upcoming engagements include Players in Westport, Connecticut, March 2-3 and the Village Gate in New York, March 10-11.

New releases from Capitol Records this month include "Sunburn," the third album on the label from Sun, the diversified group from Dayton, Ohio. The LP consists of eight original and new tunes. One, which has been termed "irresistibly danceable," is appropriately titled "Dance (Do What You Wanna Do)." Also the inimitable Bill Cosby is back with an all-spoken word comedy LP, "Bill's Best Friend." This 21st effort by Cosby contains the epic "Roland And The Rollercoaster," a nine-minute-plus monologue about his childhood in the projects back in Philadelphia.

Look for a new album from The Floaters sometime in the not too distant future.

"Stay" from the "Street Player" album by Rufus And Chaka Kahn is being released as a single, and "Look Up With Your Mind" is the new single taken from the "Choosing You" LP by Lenny Williams.

Sonny Rollins will be appearing at Pauls Mall in Boston, March 1-5.

Ray Barretto, Mongo Santamaria and Cal Tjader will appear in concert at Madison Square Garden, March 15.

This month's "Blizzard? What Blizzard??" award goes to Jay Stovall, lead guitarist with Hologram recording artists Machine. Stovall is being commended for his unprecedented journey by taxi from Valley Stream, Long Island to the Record Plant recording studio in New York in order to make scheduled recording sessions during the February 6 snowfall which dumped mountains of snow on the east coast. Congratulations, Snowball, I mean Stovall!

Tuesday Plans Study

LOS ANGELES — The broadcast division of Tuesday Productions has begun a major research project to chart the perceptions of radio programming. A questionnaire is being mailed to key program directors in the top 100 S.R.D.S. markets. The project is expected to be completed in approximately six weeks.

Retail Sales Off For Month Of January

NEW YORK — Retail sales for January dropped 3.1%, the steepest decline in more than 13 years according to figures released by the Commerce Department.

The unexpected plunge was attributed to severe weather conditions and the prolonged coal strike.

"It's really a never ending process," adds Edwards. "We add a little step here, improve our coordination — the polishing is continual."

Continual Touring

The touring is continual as well, as the Spinners are a top attraction abroad as well as at home. Last summer they made their first tour of Japan and received the same kind of reception they are used to in America.

The group discovered the Japanese interest in most American forms of entertainment was quite strong. They were guests of honor at a baseball game, and were surprised to find many Japanese with a thorough knowledge of American pop music.

"They go back past Bill Haley," says Jackson. "You can converse with people over there about things like Leadbelly and the history of R&B." Both Jackson and Edwards found Japanese collectors with copies of their early solo recordings that couldn't be found in the U.S.

Credit Atlantic

All the Spinners give Atlantic Records much of the credit for their successes of recent years. They also credit Aretha Franklin with leading them to Atlantic.

"Aretha spoke so highly of Atlantic that we had to check them out," says Jackson. "And she was right. Anytime we have any kind of problem, or something comes up, we can always go over to Atlantic and they'll help us come up with a solution. In fact, we just re-signed with them."

The group also credits producer Thom Bell with bringing consistency to their act. "He's the first producer we've had who has concentrated exclusively on the Spinners sound," says Jackson. "He knows what he wants and how he wants it done. He brings the material to us, wherever we are, so we can learn it before we go into the studio."

Seattle, Bell's home for the past few years, is becoming a new recording center, according to many observers, and the Spinners say Bell is responsible. "After the Philly sound, the New York sound, the Memphis sound, etc.," says Edwards, "Thom is creating the next new sound up there — the Puget sound."

The Spinners will be returning to Seattle in the near future to record songs for a new LP. But they indicate the songs won't be used for a while because their next album will be a greatest hits collection.

And what's in store for the Spinners after their ninth and tenth albums for Atlantic? "We don't know for sure," says Edwards, "but we plan to be around for a long, long time."

return next year with the complete package. He will also be making presentations at the National Entertainment Conference of college buyers this week, and at the RIAA meeting during the 1978 NARM Convention in New Orleans in March.

College Market

"I see the heart of our business eventually being the colleges," said Zalkind, who last year ran a series of programs at Temple University in Philadelphia. "They can be used as part of a lecture series, or regular coursework. We are interested in having the record companies contribute scholarship money, which might go toward student workshops... there is also the possibility of using the videotapes for public service or fundraising activities."

Zalkind notes that one of his aims is to make PLA a self-sustaining organization, rather than a charity-child of the record companies. The firm has raised a total of $50,000 in donations, with most of it coming from CBS.

In addition to his numerous record business dealings, Zalkind has held preliminary discussions about launching a similar educational videotape series on the sports industry.

Hoenic Signs With WB

LOS ANGELES — Michael Hoenic has been signed to a long-term recording contract by Warner Bros. Records. Hoenic has completed work in his Berlin studio on his first solo album, "Departure From The Northern Wasteland," which he composed, performed and produced. Hoenic has been involved in electronic music for more than eight years and has previously worked with Agitation Free, Tangerine Dream and fellow Berliner Klaus Schulze.

LOS ANGELES — Weed Bros. Productions has moved its corporate headquarters to 6464 Sunset Blvd. here.

Cinema Concepts Uses Movie Houses For Record Promos

artists rarely involve a voice-over or heavy promotional plugging. Instead, the artists do their songs, and their performance is followed by a shot of the album's cover and the name of the record company.

When a record company decides they want to use Cinema Concepts for theatre promotion, they give a list of markets they want covered, then Schoenberger and his company take over.

'Theater Choices'

From there, they decide which theatres in various cities would be best and try to coordinate the theatres with the currently available films. Based on demographics, they decide which film would be most likely to attract people who would buy the artist's album.

"There is sometimes an overlap in audiences. For example, a 55-year-old woman may go to see 'Saturday Night Fever,' which is definitely not the average age for that film. But that same woman, because she is at the movie, is likely to go out and buy a record," Schoenberger said.

Fees

Record companies pay Cinema Concepts $100 a week per theatre used, which the company uses to rent the theatre. Schoenberger likened the fee to buying time on television. This fee is in addition to the production cost of the film short, which averages from $10,000 to $20,000 and is paid for by the record company.

Siegel To M.C. NARAS New York Celebration

NEW YORK — Joel Siegel, a WABC-TV news correspondent, will host the annual Grammy Awards celebration of the New York chapter of NARAS on February 23 at the New York, New York disco.

Siegel will M.C. the presentation of awards in the over three dozen categories not featured on the two-hour live TV show. That show will air the same evening, emanating from the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles.

Calif. Rec. Distrib. Appointments Set

LOS ANGELES — California Record Distributors, national distributors for Creative World Records, have announced the following distributor appointments: Action Distributors of Cleveland in the Michigan-Ohio area; House Distributors in the Kansas City-Chicago area and Orwaka Distributors in the Denver area.

"We work very closely with managers, record company people and artists on these and we think they have really helped break some artists, particularly Al Jarreau and Bob Seger, from local followings into national figures," he said.

One of the reasons these work better in theatres than they would on television, is that "the mood is built on entertainment," according to Gary Richman, one of Schoenberger's associates. "People come ready to enjoy themselves. They see the artist on a big screen and they can get more of a feel of what the artist is about, then decide for themselves whether they want to buy the album. And at theatres, they don't get up and walk to the refrigerator."

College Communities

In general, the theatres selected are near colleges and shopping centers, so there are retail outlets available. Schoenberger also said record companies sometimes use the promo clips to support concert tours, sometimes even as a substitute for a tour. "When it's just a five-minute clip on one song, you aren't giving away the whole concert. It's like a preview of coming attractions."

Since movie-goers average in the same 18-34 age group as record buyers, he said they don't have to rely heavily on demographics. "We just know what the top grossing films are and play off of common sense in selecting the right film for the artist."

NARM Members Sent Music Awards Ballots

NEW YORK — Retailers, rack jobbers, and one-stops who are regular members of NARM have received their 1977 NARM Award ballots. Members will select the nation's best selling product in 19 categories. The awards will be presented at the annual banquet on March 22 in New Orleans.

One innovation in this year's awards will be the presentation of four citations to new LP artists. In previous years, only one new artist was so honored. The change reflects NARM's belief that the development of new artists is today a top priority in the industry.

Moogtown Adds Studio

NEW YORK — West End Sound Recording Studio, a new recording facility, has been added to Moogtown Productions' music industry operations. Moogtown currently includes Moogy Music publishing company and Moogtown record production company.

BAD BOY IN STUDIO — United Artists recording group Bad Boy was in a Los Angeles recording studio recently finishing up their second LP for the label, "Back To Back," which is scheduled for release in March. Pictured (l-r) are: Steve Grimm of Bad Boy; keyboardist Barry Goldberg; Lars Hanson of Bad Boy; Claude Pepper of Wha-Koo; Joe La Vie and John Marcelli of Bad Boy and Earl Slick, ex-David Bowie guitarist.

Angel plans to release the album April 2. According to Ms. Sills, it took only three days to capture the performance on tape. "The cast had performed it together in San Diego and had made the television show," she explained, "and we recorded it with the cast that we're going to do it in New York with. So of course we were already rehearsed, and the New York City Opera Orchestra and I have done so many 'Merry Widows' together that we can't even count them. Julius Rudel and I have also done many of them together, so the ingredients all fit."

Other Projects

Also in the works at the moment are recordings of Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" and Verdi's "Rigoletto," and a duet album with Sherrill Milnes, all scheduled for completion this summer. Ms. Sills' role in "Don Pasquale" will be her last at the Met, and she was released at her request from doing 17 performances of Gilda on the same stage.

Ms. Sills said she had decided not to do "Rigoletto" at the Met "because by the time I had been scheduled to do that, in 1979 and 1980, I will already be very much involved with the City Opera administration. So I won't be performing any more 'Rigoletto's.' But of course I have done 'Rigoletto,' so it's not a question of my learning something just to record it."

Ms. Sills might record another solo recital album. "I've been looking at some French repertoire that I haven't recorded, and I may do that." She might also make another LP with Andre Kostelanetz, since their collaboration on "The Music Of Victor Herbert" proved a big success.

Sutherland And Sills

The most exciting possibility in Beverly Sills' future as a recording artist is the chance that she and Joan Sutherland might record "Die Fledermaus" together. In September of 1980, the two singers are scheduled to star in the San Diego Opera production of the operetta, alternating between the roles of Adele and Rosalinda in successive performances. Ms. Sills has never recorded either role, and she has been discussing the idea of recording the San Diego production with Ms. Sutherland.

The only obstacle is the fact that, while Ms. Sills records exclusively for EMI, Ms.

Sutherland is a London recording artist. However, Ms. Sills notes, "The possibilities of recording it are certainly on the minds of both London and EMI. We'll certainly get something on a piece of acetate for posterity. But it'll be a lot of fun. We're both having a lot of giggles talking about it."

Why Record In Europe?

Noting that "The Merry Widow" was the first major operatic work to be recorded here in some time, Ms. Sills said she would like to see more opera recordings made in the U.S. "They used to be," she recalls, "but I guess the prices became very high here in contrast to those paid to European musicians, and that's why all the operatic recordings were moved to Europe. I think the gap is closing now. Inflation isn't a United States ailment, it's a worldwide ailment. I think that the time is coming when American musicians' prices will be competitive with the European musicians'."

Ms. Sills denied that recordings were done in Europe because so many top singers live there. "If they can come to sing in our opera houses, they can come and record for our record companies." She also noted that a number of the best-selling artists are American, including herself, Leontyne Price, Sherrill Milnes, Shirley Verrett, Marilyn Horne, Grace Bumbry, and Martina Arroyo. "Milnes and myself and Leontyne are probably three of the best-selling artists in the world today. So if we're involved in (recording) projects, I think it can be done over here."

CLASSICAL CLIPS

NEW YORK — Leonard Bernstein, who was the first American ever to conduct at La Scala, returned to Milan's opera house February 10 with the touring Vienna State Opera for a performance of Beethoven's "Fidelio." The cast included Gundula Janowitz, Rene Kollo, Hans Sotin, Berndt Rundgren, Lucia Popp, and Adolph Dallapozza. Two weeks ago, a Bernstein-led performance of "Fidelio" was televised live from the stage of the Vienna State Opera in Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France, Italy, Belgium and Portugal. DG is recording the same production of "Fidelio."

Meanwhile, DG won 31 international

CLASSICAL ALBUM REVIEWS

TCHAIKOVSKY — Violin Concerto In D; MENDELSSOHN — Violin Concerto In E Minor — Henryk Szeryng, violin, Concertgebouw Orchestra, Bernard Haitink, conductor — Philips 9500 321 — List: 8.98

While Szeryng has not specialized in the romantic concerto repertoire, he certainly has the technical equipment and the temperament for it. His clean, dry sound cuts through the gushiness of the Tchaikovsky opus, while he endows the Mendelssohn's solo part with commendable warmth. The Concertgebouw provides a solid and frequently exciting backdrop.

STRAVINSKY — The Rites Of Spring — New York Philharmonic, Zubin Mehta, conductor — Columbia XW 34557 — List: special price.

This performance has a certain wild, abandoned quality that sets it off from most others. Moreover, Mehta is working with a vision of the whole work that unites its many disparate sections. The rendition's only weak point is the beginning of Part II, where the orchestra sounds too subdued.

TCHAIKOVSKY — Symphony No. 4 — Berlin Philharmonic, Herbert Von Karajan, conductor — DG 2530 883 — List: 8.98

This album should be a big favorite with audiophiles, due to the exceptional brilliance of its production and the wide dynamic range of the sound. The performance itself is supercharged with tension and romance. Many admirers of Von Karajan will not buy this because they already own one of the conductor's earlier versions of the same work; nevertheless, it is a top contender among recordings of Tchaikovsky's Fourth.

Atari Bows Procedure To Alleviate Problem Of Damaged Merchandise

SUNNYVALE, CA — Atari has initiated a new procedure to assure that games shipped arrive at their destination in good working order. Tip-N-Tell is a visual indicator which will be placed on the game cartons to show if a game has been mishandled or dropped in shipment.

Tip-N-Tell is a heavy cardboard label in day-glow red with a specially designed arrow cutout covered with clear plastic adhesive material. The bottom portion of the arrow is filled with bright blue sand. This is placed on the carton with the arrow pointing up. A metal strip that holds the sand in the bottom portion of the arrow is then removed. The blue sand will flow to the top portion of the arrow if the carton is tipped in any direction to a 90 degree angle or more. If this happens, a special adhesive material holds the sand in the top part of the arrow; thus the Tip-N-Tell will show if the carton has been mishandled in any way.

Stop concealed damage

"We believe that the use of Tip-N-Tell in shipping of Atari games will help to alleviate the reported problems of concealed damage," reports Frank Ballouz, national sales manager. "In addition to being able to detect mishandling, these indicators on our cartons will make the freight companies more aware of the importance of proper handling of the games in shipment."

In a related announcement, Atari recommended the use of Nu-Look Products for the cleaning maintenance of their pinball games. "Our pinball engineering department has tested the Nu-Look products for cleaning playfield glass and rubber and found them to be excellent," said Frank Ballouz. "We found that their products are most effective in cleaning the games without harming the graphics or the playfield surface." Samples of Nu-Look products will be supplied with Atari games in the near future.

'Longer Life'

Nu-Look products are nonflammable and contain no petroleum products which may be harmful to the paint and wood finish of the playfield. There are no solvents or abrasives to scratch or damage the finish. These products are specifically designed to clean pinball games and help to maintain the condition of the game for longer life and earning potential.

There are three basic cleaning products in the Nu-Look line that are recommended: the playfield cleaner formulated to thoroughly clean the carbon and dirt buildup on the playing surface; the rubber cleaner will keep playfield rubbers clean, as well as extending their life by keeping the rubber from drying and cracking; the glass cleaner is nonstreaking and repels fingermarks. Nu-Look also has a new product, Guardian, that is a plastic coating for painted surfaces which is designed to deter peeling on the backglass, wood and metal surfaces.

"Operators have reported high satisfaction with Nu-Look products on Atari pinball games. We feel they are superior and should be used to maintain our games for a longer, higher earning life," said Ballouz.

Personality Profile:

Al Hughes: A Man & His Music

by Frank Manners

CHICAGO — Why would anyone want to repair jukeboxes for a living? "I was hungry," reflected Al Hughes, "besides, I like to fix things." By day, Hughes is music mechanic at Empire Distributing Inc., Chicago; by night, founder, owner and lone employee of Al's Juke Service.

In 1955 Hughes made his inauspicious debut in the jukebox business. Up from South Carolina, trained in electronics through the veteran's program, Al heard that Chicago had a robust job market. He tried TV repair first, but rejected it. Then he answered a newspaper ad for a technician at Rock-Ola Manufacturing and thus began a 10-year marriage. Al repaired, inspected, troubleshooted and assembled.

In 1965, a new opportunity knocked. A Chicago operator's south side service man died so Hughes was solicited for the job. He took it and pounded the pavement for six years, until racial tension erupted into riots. Working the south side streets was tantamount to guerilla combat. He prudently decided to seek inside employment. Floyd Babbitt, Empire Distributing's music supervisor said, "come on over" and Hughes did. He gave the operator five weeks notice, but when the op didn't find a replacement, Hughes sublet the job. He paid a man to fill in so he could join Empire.

Inside Vs Outside

When Hughes started at Empire in 1971, he also established an outside repair service, 6:30 p.m. to midnight, seven days a week, to supplement his income. Outside and inside are two different worlds. Outside service resembles melodramatic theater. To the operator and location, every breakdown is a life and death emergency. Hughes recalls countless occasions when an operator would cajole and plead, "My best stop is down. Run over now before you go home, before you eat. It's only around the corner." When Hughes arrives, after a 10 mile expedition in which he can find no parking, the location owner greets him grousing, threatening to dump the phonograph in the street if it doesn't work. The service man must smooth his ruffled feathers with sparkling public relations and deft salesmanship while he repairs the machine. Later Hughes presents the bill, and the operator dodges payments. The 24 carat location suddenly nets only $12 a month, and he can't scrape up the money yet.

Hughes wants to make it perfectly clear that not all operators or location owners are so tightfisted or belligerent. Many treat the service man with generosity and respect like a doctor making a house call or the cavalry to the rescue.

Nevertheless, one usually remembers

the distasteful incidents more vividly. Once a location owner rang at three in the morning for service, and Hughes explained, "I've got to sleep." The location owner retorted, "I don't give a (expletive deleted) about your sleep. I've got customers here until 4 a.m." Sadly, the mechanic must do these night marish calls to retain the account.

'Test Your Mettle'

Inside work, however, doesn't present such problems. Hughes likes it better because of the regular hours and pay and orderly routine. The work is more challenging. The operators bring in machines no one else can fix so one can test his mettle. In addition, working indoors with two other music technicians in a full service department is a valuable learning experience. If one man is stymied by a repair, then the others can lend their expertise.

Hughes' profession requires an understanding wife and he has one — Eleanor. It's not easy to let a husband frequent taverns with the constant temptation of liquor and women to lead him astray. Hughes has two children as well, Albert Jr. and Linda.

Only one activity occupies Hughes' time as much as music — radio communication. He owned a C.B. before it was fashionable, and operates a ham radio too. In fact, nothing tickles his fancy like a ham fest, which is the amateur radio operator's version of a flea market. The doings parallel Christmas on State Street, and offer a refreshing respite from hunching over an ill-tempered jukebox.

Interstate United Corp. Reports 2nd Quarter Revenues And Earnings

CHICAGO — Interstate United Corp. here reported second quarter revenues of $77.76 million, up from $67.92 million during the similar period the previous year. Earnings for the period ended Dec. 11, 1977 were $935,000, or 32 cents per share, as compared with $772,000, or 27 cents per share last year.

For the six months ended Dec. 11, 1977 revenues were $146.16 million, up from $128.92 million in the similar period a year ago. Earnings for the first half were $1.9 million, or 65 cents per share, compared with $1.45 million, or 50 cents per share, in the previous year.

Peter A. Tullio, president and chief executive officer, said that the improvement in net earnings at a greater rate than the revenue increase was due to emphasis placed on getting a better return on sales by the company's management this year. "The coffee profit program we emphasized during the past year has shown positive results this fiscal year despite some softening in sales in our steel industry accounts," he said.

Tullio also reported that Interstate United had been advised by its stock transfer agent, after elimination of duplication between tendered shares and guarantees of delivery, approximately 2,250,000 of its shares (about 77 per cent) had been purchased by Hanson Industries pursuant to Hanson's tender offer.

Tullio said Hanson's acquisition of Interstate was "greeted enthusiastically by all levels of management within the company. Our strongest asset, the people we employ, are confidently looking forward to Hanson ownership as a positive and healthy step in our corporate growth and development," he said.

Interstate United Corporation also indicated that it has been requested by Hanson to call a shareholder's meeting prior to the end of March to consider Hanson's proposed corporate combination which would result in Hanson acquiring the remaining equity interest in Interstate United. The Hanson proposal would result in shareholders, other than Hanson, receiving $10 per share for their Interstate stock. Interstate noted that its board of directors would meet to consider the proposal during the next few weeks and that it was currently preparing proxy material for submission to the Securities and Exchange Commission, which is expected to be mailed to Interstate shareholders several weeks prior to the meeting.

Interstate United Corporation is one of the nation's largest professional food management organizations serving more than 3 million meals daily to business and industry, hospitals, schools, colleges, stadiums and recreation centers in 40 states. The Chicago-based company has some 13,000 employees and operates at more than 18,000 sites from coast to coast.

Rosenquist Named GM Havatampa's Vending

TAMPA, FLA. — Larry J. Rosenquist, 36, has been named general manager of Havatampa Corporation's Vending Division. He is responsible for the Tampa Bay, Orlando and Lakeland vending facilities, and for coordinating policy and procedures for vending operations located throughout the company's wholesale centers.

"Larry Rosenquist has experience in all facets of vending and food service operations," commented Owen Field, president, "and his appointment represents another step in our program of identifying and attracting proven professional managers for key positions throughout our operations."

Prior to joining Havatampa, Rosenquist spent 13 years with Servomation Corp., a retail vending firm which also operates industrial cafeterias.

CHICAGO CHATTER

What better way to open this week's column than with the announcement of the Feb. 9 arrival of 7 lb. 8½ oz. Stephanie Kaufman, born to Stephen and Shella Kaufman. Proud dad, of course, is marketing director at Stern Electronics, Inc. Our congratulations.

MIDWAY MFG. CO.'s service manager Andy Ducaj just confirmed a visit to Toronto, Canada where he will conduct a March 10 service school at New-Way Sales Company. A Bally school will be held on the preceding day and New-Way's Paul Janda expects a full turnout at both sessions. . . . Our conversation with Midway's director of sales Larry Berke centered on the factory's recently released "Clowns" game, which is selling extremely well.

GLOWING REPORTS ON "CLEOPATRA" have been pouring in at the D. Gottlieb & Co. Northlake factory. Firm's vice president of marketing Marshall Caras notes that there have been countless comments about the "high degree of reliability" of Gottlieb's first solid-state pinball machine — and, needless to say, everyone at the factory is mighty proud. Firm's field service engineer Dick Finger has been repeatedly drawing SRO crowds at the various service schools he's conducted and his current schedule is taking him all across the country.

DATELINE PHOENIX, home of Mirco Games, Inc. (and a place where many a Chicagoan would like to be at this point a blizzard winter season). Anyhow — firm's Bernie Shapiro tells us the factory has expanded its facilities and is gearing for a very productive year. The newly intro'd "Super 21" arcade game is being very well received and Bernie also mentioned that overseas business has picked up considerably. Mirco's Dick Raymond, who is based in Germany, came into home office very briefly for a board meeting. Look for some more new equipment, coming soon from Mirco.

NOTING THAT "romance is in the air" at C. A. Robinson & Co. in Los Angeles, the distrib's Hank Tronick items that "Doc" Lofaso of the video service department and Irene Morris, popular parts sales person at Robinson, recently announced their engagement and are planning to wed on April 1 — "no foolin'!" Getting back to serious business, Hank boasted a winning trio of solid-state pins in Bally's "Eight Ball," Stern's "Stingray" and Atari's "Airborne Avenger" — soon to be a foursome with Bally's outstanding new "Power Play!"

WHILE "HOT TIP" continues in the fore as Williams Electronics, Inc., the factory is prepping prototypes of a follow-up model, the "Lucky Seven" solid-state 4-player. Watch for it!

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

Exidy marketing vice president Paul Jacobs hit the road this week to "touch bases" with the firm's distributors in the midwest. Paul will be in Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and possibly a few other cities, he said. He's currently promoting Exidy's latest game, "Circus," and said a couple of new pieces will be testing shortly. Without getting into specifics, he noted that the games will be introduced at the Florida state association show slated for April 7-9 in Orlando.

THE NEWS OUT OF C.A. ROBINSON CO. this week is that the surprise pinball of the year thus far has been Stern's "Sting Ray." Records have been substantial, according to the distrib's sales force, and operators report excellent collections and great reliability. Namco's "Shoot Away" is also stirring up quite a lot of excitement. It seems that members of L.A.'s finest have been stopping by frequently to sharpen their shooting eye on this realistic large screen skeet shooting game. Meanwhile, the more vain men in blue have been having their pictures taken in the new Polaroid "Face Place" coin-operated portrait studio which C.A. Robinson is supplying to the trade.

ATARI WILL BE HOSTING a series of service schools in the east during March. Three schools will be held at the firm's new eastern office in Piscataway, New Jersey March 1-2, 6-7 and 8-9. The seminars will cover all aspects of video and pinball game electronics, troubleshooting and repair. The sessions are open to distributors and operators in the northeast and each two-day school will be limited to 50 people. Fred McCord, seminars manager, and Dave Tucker, field service representative, will be conducting the seminars. While noting the excellent response to Atari service schools in the past, McCord said, "This year we plan to have even more service seminars. We are increasing our field service staff and our capability to help operators and technicians better understand the repair and maintenance of Atari games through service seminars." Additional service schools are scheduled for various parts of the country in the next six months.

EASTERN FLASHES

Wurlitzer's C. B. Ross was on hand at the So. Carolina state meeting, to join Ron Rood and Jerry Reeves at the Southern Dist. exhibit, which displayed the current Wurlitzer phono line. Thankfully enough, he scheduled his return flight to No. Tonawanda one day early and was lucky enough to get back before the storm hit. Weather permitting, C. B. will be doing quite a bit of traveling over the next several weeks and his plans also include attendance at as many state association meetings as possible. He was recently in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada visiting with the good people at Dons Vending Ltd., one of the newly appointed Wurlitzer distributors — and enjoying the warm hospitality of company president Stan Dons and sales manager Frank H. Trembley (in the cold Canadian climate). . . . American Shuffleboard displayed its popular line of American Eagle home shuffleboards in the 9, 12 and 14 foot models at the NSGA (sporting goods) show in Houston, to a very receptive audience, as we learned from Sol Lipkin. Quite a bit of business was written at the show. On the subject of coin-operated shuffleboards, "We're backed up to our necks," Sol said, not only because of the big demand for them but because production and delivery were hampered by the spell of bad weather which forced the factory to close down for about 2½ days. They're now trying very hard to catch up and hoping the weatherman will co-operate. . . . During the critical days of the northeastern storm, when employees were unable to get to work, Al Kress of Coin Machine Distributors, Inc. in Peekskill, managed to make it to the office, accompanied by a staff of little helpers — namely, his four kids, ages 10, 9 and the 5-year-old twins. . . . The new Bally "Power Play" is really taking off at Robert Jones Int'l. — Syracuse, according to Jack Shawcross, and Rock-Ola phono sales are "ahead of last year." Also in the spotlight are Midway's "Clowns" and Exidy's "Circus."

Latin Picks

LA RAZA LATINA — Orchestra Harlow — Fania JM-00516 — Producer: Larry Harlow

This album is about the Latin culture in music. Starting with the African roots the music made its way throughout the Latin countries and finally arrived in New York, due to the migration of many Spanish speaking people to the U.S. Harlow really excels in this album with 40 top musicians in the Latin jazz field. His four part "Salsa Suite" takes in drum charts to Latin jazz. The vocal choruses are superb. Honorable mention goes to Larry Harlow, Louis Ortiz and Marty Sheller for collaborating on their arrangements for this excellent album.

AQUI ESTA LINDA — Linda Leida — TR 127X — Producer: Federico Pagani

A Cuban-born vocalist debuts with this album for T.R. Records. On this album Linda is accompanied by the spicy Conjunto Candela. A lot of heavy salsa and a taste of authentic Caribbean "guaguanco" went into the making of this album. Linda's personality highlights not only her singing skills but her abilities as an overall performer in salsa today. Should go high on Latin charts.

RALPHY SANTI Y SU CONJUNTO — TR 132 — Producer: Marty Sheller

A sensational brand-new album. The hit single "Ansia" selected from this album gives one the slight taste of a classical melody or an old danzon favorite, modified into a swinging salsero's dancing tune. As the Pepsi-Cola-style logo tells you, the "good taste makes you come alive"; the same is used on the album cover bringing out Ralph's taste in salsa rhythms, reliving the Latin-soul beat. Look for this masterpiece album with excellent arrangements by Marty Sheller.

EL SAN JUAN — Angel Canales & Sabor — TR 125 — Producer: T. Rodriguez II

Angel Canales has named this LP "El San Juan." He originates the sounds of his exquisite group of musicians, named Sabor. Angel Canales is a "Star" among the Latin community. The reason is that Angel projects a different style in his singing by extending syllables through clusters of notes, creating a personalized form of scat. Angel has changed the traditional form used by other Latin vocalists. His orchestra sounds more jazzy than Latin on this album.

SUBLIME — Orchestra Sublime — TR 131 — Producer: Ira Herscher

TR Records have successfully recorded the best in charanga sounds, such as in the past with Orchestra Novel and Charanga 76. Now they bring you their latest album "Orchestra Sublime" with their original charanga sounds. Throughout the LP, you will hear the continuous charanga tunes, with original versions of a danzon, "Mujer Borinquena," and a definite international hit, entitled "Caracas," in dedication to Venezuela. A must in Latin bins.

SMOKIN — La Siete Potencias — TR 126 — Producer: Carlos de Jesus

This is an album of new blood on the Latin scene. Louie Sanchez, bandleader and vibe player, wrote four of the tunes on this LP. Then there is Julio Cesar Perez, lead vocalist, who wrote the lyrics to three of the tunes. Honorable mention must go to Mike Vinas, bass player, for his strong solid funkified performance on bass. One powerful cut on this LP is the "Continental," memories of Cal Tjader's Latin jazz sound.

prizes for recordings released during 1977. The Glulnl/Chicago Symphony version of Mahler's Ninth and a recording of Verdi's "MacBeth" under Claudio Abbado's direction won three awards each, while Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau's Hugo Wolf lieder series, a set of early Mozart quartets by the Amadeus Quartet, and the Eugen Jochum reading of Wagner's Die Meistersinger were all double award winners . . .

BUDGET CASSETTE BOOM — Columbia Records has just released its first budget cassettes. Drawn from the catalog of the Odyssey budget series ($3.98 list), as well as from the specially-priced Masterworks set of Beethoven symphonies recorded by Szell and The Cleveland Orchestra, the 50 cassettes in this initial release feature such names as Walter, Richter, Ozawa, Bernstein, Schippers and Rampal. Mike Kellman, director of product management for Columbia Masterworks, pointed out that, at $4.98 list, these budget cassettes will be competitive with top-of-the-line classical albums. So far, he said, dealer acceptance of the new line has been "fine" . . .

ROSTROPOVICH RE-SIGNS — Conductor and cellist Mstislav Rostropovich has just signed a new recording contract with EMI. Terms of the contract call for 24 albums, including a complete recording of Shostakovich's opera, "Katerina Ismailova." Also in the works are more Tchailkovsky LPs following Rostropovich's recent traversal of that composer's symphonies.

PETERS POPS SEVEN — Peters International, Inc. has released seven albums in their new classical series. Featured artists include pianists Charles Rosen, Peter Basquin and Vincenzo Balzani, conductor Nicolas Flagello, trumpeter Andre Bernard, horn player Daniel Bourgue, oboist Pierre Felt, and the Choir Of Monks from the Abbey of Saint Pierre de Solesmes . . .

Last November's "space concert" at the Hollywood Bowl was so successful that the concert production firm of Wolf & Rissmiller has assembled a touring show that duplicates the original production . . . KFAC radio was honored at the gala Viennese Opera Ball at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel on February 18 . . .

strengthen Atlantic's west coast office, Klenfer said, the label will also be adding another publicist in Los Angeles.

Both publicity offices will work with the various media based across the country to gain maximum coverage for artists on Atlantic and its affiliated labels, and will not be limited by any geographic boundaries. Publicity staff members will work especially closely with U.S. touring artists to insure local awareness of each act and to coordinate coverage with the home offices.

Since he is based at the home office, Ginsberg will have a number of extra administrative duties. Nevertheless, he and Cooper will have the same degree of responsibility for implementing national publicity campaigns.

Ginsberg comes to Atlantic from RCA Records, where he was manager of press and information for the past seven years. While with that label, he worked with such acts as David Bowie, John Denver, Hall & Oates, Waylon Jennings and Dolly Parton, as well as most of the label's pop artists.

Cooper was most recently director of creative services at Little David Records (including Monte Kay Management and Clerow Productions, Inc.), a position he held for five years. In that capacity, Cooper worked with Flip Wilson, George Carlin, The Modern Jazz Quartet, Kenny Rankin and Franklyn Ajaye.

New Peaches Outlet Opened Outside D.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Nehi Distributors, owners of the Peaches record retail chain, opened a new store February 10 in suburban Rockville, Maryland.

The 20,000-square-foot outlet is located in a shopping center, and will compete directly with Bialek's Discount Records in White Flint Mall, and with a nearby Korvettes unit.

The Peaches opening will be supported by heavy TV, radio, and newspaper advertising, and appearances by recording artists.

The reaction of local Washington retailers to the Peaches move was mixed. Kenny Dobin, buyer for the 15-store Waxie Maxie chain, said he was "concerned" but not worried by the new competition. "They may have a lower shelf price and more national buying power," Dobin said. "But there's only so much business they'll be able to take from the market."

Peaches had confirmed last summer that it planned to open a Rockville store by late 1977 (Cash Box, August 20).

Industry Committee, Carter Admin. Meet For First Time In Washington

meetings with President Jimmy Carter (Cash Box, Sept. 24, 1977).

Piracy Problems

Much of the two-hour discussion revolved around record and tape piracy. Industry leaders talked with Justice Department representatives about ways of bringing more piracy cases to trial. Justice officials said efforts would be centered around stricter interpretation of existing laws, as opposed to the enactment of new legislation.

They also asked the record industry committee to list the biggest offenders of piracy statutes and said a more effective method of enforcement would be to stop forewarning pirates. Until now, the Justice Department has issued warnings to persons under investigation for piracy. Now they said they will proceed with investigations without giving warnings with the hope this will result in a higher conviction rate.

Attending the meeting, on the industry side, were: Stanley Gortikov, president of RIAA; Bruce Lundvall, president of CBS Records Division; Jerry Moss, chairman of A&M Records; Joe Smith Chairman of Elektra/Asylum Records; Phil Walden, president of Capricorn Records; Clarence Avant, president of Tabu Productions; and Ed DeHart, Washington representative of RIAA.

Representing the Carter administration were: Richard Reiman, associate director, Office Of Public Liaison; Steve Selig, special assistant, Office Of Public Liaison; Bob Naleson, associate director, domestic policy staff; John Keeney, deputy assistant attorney general, criminal division, Department of Justice; Tom Beard, Democratic National Committee; Bob Weidner, Department of Justice; Marianne Tighe, National Endowment; Dr. Peter Borne, special assisare going to protect their dramatic performing rights in the Presley area. We were just being nice guys by letting our licensees know that this is coming."

If the publishing companies are successful in their efforts to prevent performers from using more than three Elvis songs in a concert, it will be a serious blow to a number of acts currently capitalizing on the public appetite for Elvis-associated shows. Alan, for example, intends to bring an expanded Elvis tribute show, called "Elvis Fever," to the Aquarius Theater in Los Angeles in May for an extended run.

"Nowhere does Alan pretend he is Elvis," says Alan's manager, Chet Actis. "He merely pays careful and sincere tribute to one man's life and music. A gold lame suit doesn't make it a dramatic performance. That's just the same as staging and lighting a performance."

BABYS DO DOUGLAS — Chrysalis recording artists The Babys performed their current single, "Isn't It Time," during a recent taping of the Mike Douglas Show at the Las Vegas Hilton. There was a brief discussion of postal matters, most of which pertained to the necessity of manufacturers' receiving the special fourth class rate. This applies most directly to mail order record clubs, which do several million dollars in business by mail each year.

Record industry representatives also talked in a non-partisan way about how they could help the administration with anti-drug campaigns, which Tom Bear is heading, and the project for the disadvantaged proposed by Bill Milliken.

RSO Records Names Hutson To Bolster Int'l Operations

by Peter Hartz

LOS ANGELES — In an effort to duplicate on an international scale RSO Records' domestic success with the Bee Gees, Player, Andy Gibb and Eric Clapton, among others, RSO Records is initiating a supportive international marketing and promotion program to be coordinated with Polydor. Al Coury, president of the label, recently announced the appointment of Mike Hutson to the newly-created post of managing director of RSO international operations. In addition, Brian O'Donoghue was named to the managing directorship of RSO Records U.K.

"We have two main goals," said Hutson in an interview with Cash Box. "First, we have superstars here in America who are not yet achieving the international sales commensurate with their stature as artists.

I intend to correct this. Secondly, RSO Records is going to be visible in the international marketplace to an extent not achieved in the past. We will be looking and listening."

Hutson stressed that the key to success for RSO in the international marketplace is a strengthened relationship with Polydor, RSO's international distributor.

"It is inevitable that you put your own house in order first. This is what RSO Records has done during the last 18 months under the leadership of Al Coury. Because of this focus, working with the international licensees has not been a high priority. This is the situation I intend to change. I am setting up an organization in London which can feed merchandising materials to our RSO label managers in the major territories. Polydor has just put on a marketing man who is going to be concentrating just on RSO product. We are saying to Polydor, 'OK, we are going to give you all the tools to market RSO product that until now you have been lacking.' RSO never had the machinery to accomplish this before.

Merchandising Tools

"I am going to have videotapes of our artists and advance copies of new Bee Gees albums, taped interviews with Andy Gibb for local radio, special posters we are making for licensees, copies of the merchandising we did for 'Sgt. Pepper.' I will be bringing John Stewart to different countries for promotion. Andy Gibb is going to spend his 20th birthday in Europe doing promotion visits. These are things we have not done before. I am going to get the Polydor promotion person who goes to RTE in Paris as excited about Player as we are here."

Hutson, based in London, intends to work closely with Brian O'Donoghue in building a strong RSO operation in England.

"Historically, RSO Records has been associated with London," Hutson said. "The first area one looks to outside of the United States is the U.K. Brian will be handling the day-to-day operations of the company in England while I will oversee all of the international operations. What happens in England affects what happens in Europe and by establishing a strong base of operations in London, RSO will be able to reach out to the other international markets. We are going to be there, helping our licensees get the most out of the marketplace.

'New Priority'

"Talent acquisition is an important new priority. We have had a low profile internationally. However, with this new departure for RSO Records, we are going to be visible in important talent centers like London. Al Coury recently signed several acts to the roster and we intend to be signing more. In addition, international groups who are interested in the United States will now know that another alternative is available.

"We feel we have just scratched the surface. The potential of the product is strong and growing. We are interested in developing this product in a better way. The birth of RSO international is the first step."

Hutson began his career at NEMS before moving to Chappell Music where he ran the Lowery Music subsidiary and soon established his own interest in publishing and production. He then became creative services manager at United Artists Music before joining Ian Ralfini at the inception of the Anchor label as general manager of publishing. He remained with Anchor for three years and became general manager of the record company. Hutson then moved to the United States and joined Arista, most recently holding the position of director of product management for the label.

Brian O'Donoghue, the new managing director of RSO Records U.K., has been associated with the Robert Stigwood Organisation since the late '60s when he was involved in many projects including the promotion and presentation of both the original "Jesus Christ Superstar!" LP and the follow-up London cast album. In 1973, he became head of promotion and subsequently became manager for RSO artist Paul Nicholas. In 1977, O'Donoghue was named director of RSO Records.

Butterfly Enters Deals

LOS ANGELES — Butterfly Records has recently entered into international licensing agreements in 11 countries in addition to Hispavox, Spain and RCA Records of Canada, announced A.J. Cervantes, president of the label.

Included in the licensing agreements are EMI: Electrola, Germany; CGD, Italy; Sound of Scandinavia, Scandinavia; Basart, Holland; Discos Fuentes, Columbia; Velvet Records, Venezuela; Hong Kong Records, Ltd., Hong Kong; EMI: Pathe Marconi, France; Gallo, South Africa; Gamma, Mexico and EMI: Australia, Australia.

According to Cervantes, Butterfly held off most of its foreign licensing until MIDEM. "With five albums on the charts, Butterfly Records was incredibly well-received at the convention."

The countries will distribute all Butterfly's product to date including THP Orchestra's "Two Hot For Love," "Je T'Aime" LP by Saint Tropez, "Love" by P.J. and Bobby, "Blue Sailor" by Cheryl Dilcher, "Tuxedo Junction" by Tuxedo Junction and "On Such A Winter's Day" by Grand Tour.

"Our strategy in waiting until the label reached its present level of visibility as opposed to entering into licensing agreements at inception proved remarkably successful, and we believe that we have attained the finest licensees around the world to distribute Butterfly product," Cervantes said.

French Price Increase

PARIS — The new retail price of a single goes from 12.60 Frs. to 13.90 Frs. ($3) which represents an increase of 9.8%. But the most spectacular price rise affects the albums with an increase of 11.2% going from 39.20 Frs. to 45.70 Frs. ($10) and the cassettes with the same increase.

Dissatisfaction

This important price rise is the first one since October 1976, but some industry observers have expressed dissatisfaction with the price increase, saying that the high cost of records will certainly stop the good record sales of last year. On the other hand, many wholesalers and retailers are complaining about their taxes which remain the highest in the world, standing at 33% of the retail price.

Carrere And EMI Sign

LONDON — EMI's Group Repertoire Division has signed a deal with French label Carrere, owned by French music businessman Claude Carrere, to distribute the label in the U.K. and Ireland. This is an extension of a deal signed last year in which Harvest issued "Black Is Black" by La Belle Epoque. The Carrere label will appear on its own logo, and first releases will be singles from Helen Davis with "Satisfaction," and disco version of the Stones hit, and Sheila B. Devotion with "Singing In The Rain."

Where In The World . . .

Benson will perform in seven Japanese cities.

He opens the second leg of the tour in Brisbane, Australia on March 17.

The show closes out in New Zealand with two shows at the Opera House in Wellington, March 25, and Her Majesty's Theatre in Auckland on March 26.

The tour will then spread to Europe, with dates still to be announced.

The Beach Boys, newly signed Caribou recording artists, have set a major concert tour in Australia-New Zealand, February 26-March 18. The group will also stop off in Honolulu on their return to the U.S. to perform a one-night concert at the H.I.C. Arena on March 20.

INTERNATIONAL

Motown Licensees And Jobete Sub-Publishers Meet

LOS ANGELES — Motown Licensees and Jobete sub-publishers from the world's major music markets recently attended an international meeting in England. Over 60 participants from 26 countries were welcomed by a filmed greeting from Motown's chairman Berry Gordy. The meeting was chaired by international vice president Ken East and Motown's president Barney Ales, who was accompanied by executive vice president and general manager of marketing, Mike Lushka and Derek Church, director of creative service, with Lee Armstrong and James Fisher from Motown international.

Birth Of Motown

A highlight of the meeting was a film hosted by Smokey Robinson showing the birth of Motown, illustrated by early acts along with current headliners like the Commodores and High Inergy and a preview of new product on the label for 1978. Also at the meeting, delegates heard the theme and title track from the forthcoming Stevie Wonder album "The Secret Life Of Plants" scheduled for release later this spring.

Other product previewed included new signing Cuba Gooding, ex-lead singer with Main Ingredient; 5th Dimension; Fresh; Fantasy Hill; 21st Creation; and Switch. There was also material from new albums by Jermaine Jackson, Tata Vega, and Smokey Robinson. Ken East also announced a European April tour of the Commodores with a new Motown signing, Three Ounces Of Love.

Strong Emphasis

Strong emphasis on international cooperation between Motown licensees was a major point of discussion; continued cross-fertilization of ideas regarding marketing, sales and promotion was stressed. These subjects of common interest were illustrated with presentations from various world areas: Einar Jemtland spoke for Scandinavia; Max Brunner for Europe; Shoo Kaneko for Japan; Myrian Avanzi for Brazil; David Wyatt for Australia; and Alan Fitter for the U.K.

Jay Lowy, vice president and general manager for Jobete Music Co., Inc., spoke on the planned expansion and activities of Jobete.

Toronto Symphony Bows In People's Republic

SHANGHAI — The Toronto Symphony Orchestra arrived in Shanghai Feb. 4, as part of their three-city, 13-day tour of the People's Republic of China.

The tour, which has already brought the orchestra to Peking, and which will later see them visit Canton, is part of a cultural exchange between Canada and the People's Republic. Last year, the Shanghai Ballet Orchestra visited Canada.

The TSO is expected to play sellout performances before an estimated 40,000 people while in the People's Republic.

Local television carried the Shanghai concert, and national television broadcast the opening TSO show in Peking, guaranteeing audiences estimated to be in the millions.

ATV Sign Publishing With Lambert & Potter

LONDON — Peter Phillips, managing director of ATV Music, has announced the acquisition of Dennis Lambert and Brian Potter's publishing companies — Lambert & Potter, Touch Of Gold Music and Natural Songs — for sub-publishing. Included in this deal will be the hit American single by Player "Baby Come Back." ATV has also joined forces with Leslie Bricusse to publish the music from the West End stage show "Kings and Clowns."

'New Wave' Category Proves To Be A Stylistic Catch-All

by Kirk LaPointe

TORONTO — "I am not a new wave artist," says Private Stock recording artist Robert Gordon. "I am just a new artist. People have this term 'new wave' kicking around, and they pin it on me and every other guy whom they can't find a label for. I don't mind it, but you'd figure someone out there would find a new name for my music."

Gordon's problem with categorization is a situation indigenous to the music industry. Record companies, radio stations and the press all have differing opinions on what exactly new wave is. "When radio stations say they're playing new wave music, they're actually playing music by rather unique artists that defy descriptions or categorizations easily," says Joe Owens, national promotional director for CBS Canada.

"New wave music has taken on an entirely different meaning," says Nancy Krant of CHUM-FM, Toronto's leading FM rock station. "It used to be the second rush of punk bands coming from Britain, that were both punkish and musical. Now, we're classifying some pretty odd bands under new wave, like Elvis Costello, Eddie Money, Meat Loaf and Clover. New wave now means fresh, energetic music."

"Radio claims to be playing new wave," says Jean-Marie Heimrath of Polydor Records. "But they're really just playing commercial music. If they really had guts, they'd back up the new wave movement and play the Sex Pistols and some of the harder bands."

But John Parikh, creative director at Q 107(CILQ-FM), claims that the "hard-edged" music is too visceral for airplay. "We've been playing all of the more musical stuff, like Costello and Gordon. But the production standards of some of the albums are not up to scratch. The musical approach is also too simplistic and primitive for our listeners. When you try to reach a specific audience, you cannot afford to alienate listeners by playing an offensive piece of music. We aren't playing the Sex Pistols, not because of the lyrics or the politics in their music, but because it's far too brutal on the senses. Our audience just wouldn't stand for it for a prolonged period of time."

Parikh says that the station received requests for Sex Pistols music when the album first was released, "but the excitement has died down a lot since Christmas. People were curious at first, but now they're more interested in hearing music from the new wave movement, not noise."

But Bruce Heyding, the music director at CFNY-FM in Toronto, feels that the other two rock stations are missing the point. "We play the Pistols, and the other bands like the Jam and the Diodes, not because we like it, but because we feel an audience should be exposed to every new angle in music. It really isn't for us to decide how much new wave music our listeners should be hearing. We haven't had any complaints about our policy, and I don't think the other stations would get them either. A radio station should turn people on to music, not turn them away from it, or keep them from it. New wave is not a fad. It looks like it may make it."

Parikh agrees, saying, "New wave is likely here to stay, but in a refined form. I know it isn't just a fad, and that we should pay attention to any new music coming out, and we have. We've been playing the Costello album since it was available by import. But when the production standards aren't good, you're discrediting the station by playing music, and you're insulting your listeners."

For The Record

It was mistakenly reported (Feb. 4) that Island Records signed a European distribution deal with EMI Records, to take effect in 1981, when Island's current licensee contracts in Europe expire. Island has signed a licensing deal with EMI for the U.K. only, and the agreement does not affect Europe in any way.

Canadian Notes

Bruce Cockburn, True North recording artist (on Island in the U.S.), has completed an immensely successful tour of Quebec, which included 14 concerts in ten cities, almost all to sellout crowds. His double live album, "Circles In The Stream," has been released this month by Island in the States . . . CBS is releasing the debut album by Zon in late February. The disc will be the first domestic issue by CBS this year . . . Randy Bachman recently released his first solo album "Survivor" on Polydor Records. The album features work by Burton Cummings, Jeff Poco, Tom Scott, and numerous session musicians . . . Harmonium is in Los Angeles, working on their next album for CBS Disques. Capricorn recording artist Garfield is headed off on a 60-date American tour, which will see him open for a variety of acts in medium-sized halls . . . Andre Gagnon is in the midst of a cross-Canada tour. His last album, "Neiges," was the largest selling Canadian album in 1976. His latest record, "Le Saint-Laurent," is selling well in Canada, with an American release due shortly. A New York public relations firm has been hired to promote Gagnon, considered to be the finest classical-pop composer in the country . . . John Ellison's single, "I Think I'm Falling In Love," has been remixed and edited for AM radio, and will be released by GRT later this month. Ellison will soon embark on a cross-country tour to promote the single . . .

seeing some coded product on the market."

Other major manufacturers, including Atlantic, CBS, MCA, RCA, Motown, Polygram, Warner Bros., United Artists, Elektra/Asylum, 20th Century-Fox, RSO and Casablanca, have not yet applied for manufacturers numbers.

Many Waiting

Most said they are studying the implications and potential problems before applying for their numbers and also waiting to see what the others will do.

One of the obstacles to industry-wide implementation of the coding system is the problem of agreement among manufacturers. "It would be a lot easier if we all sat down and said, 'OK, let's go ahead with bar coding,'" said a spokesman for one label.

"But of course that's anti-trust, so it can't be done," he said.

Another problem was raised by a spokesman for another label, who said, "Look what would happen if a certain manufacturer came out and said, 'We are going to start bar coding.' If there are artists on that label who are opposed to having these symbols on their jackets, it could become a selling point for a company not involved with coding. They could say 'Come with us and you won't have to put those symbols on your albums.'"

New Label Has Artists On Staff

NEW YORK — TPI Records has been formed by Terry Phillips, an independent producer and former president of Perception/Today Records.

One unusual aspect of the new company is that some of its artists help run it. Singer/songwriter Jeannie Brittan, for instance, handles promotion and assists with sales for TPI, and TPI artists Brian McDonald and Scott Johnson will handle A&R and assist in promotion and sales in the New England and Baltimore/Washington areas, respectively.

Other acts on the TPI roster are Sinbad, Canyon, Both Worlds and Larry Young, Jr.

Independent distributors who have been lined up to handle the label so far include Apex-Martin, Pickwick, MS, Aquarius, Zamoiski and Chips. The first two album releases will be "Orchestra Julian — Latin Fire," cut in Caracas, Venezuela, and "Don'tcha Hide It" by Both Worlds.

The fact that no method has been established for coding cartons, cassette and 8-track tapes was brought up by another manufacturer's spokesman. "You could put out LPs with coding, but what about the cartons they are shipped in? That's your distributor level and bar codes won't help him yet. Or what about tapes, the other 40 percent of your business? These are real concerns we have to deal with before we proceed with it."

Art Whitmore, who is in charge of bar coding for Polygram Group labels, said one of that company's biggest concerns is UPC's compatibility with EAN, the European coding system. Because of Polygram's large international business, Whitmore said a lack of compatibility of the two systems could be a major drawback.

"But I understand there is a software package available which will make the systems compatible," Whitmore said. "So we intend to continue participating in NARM's bar coding meetings and possibly within the next couple of months we will apply for our numbers from the UPC Council."

The majority of those who have not applied for numbers said they are waiting to see what information comes out of next month's NARM meeting. Almost all, however, said they think the potential savings bar coding offers is worth pursuing and despite some potential problem areas, most are trying to eliminate those problems in order to move ahead with coding as quickly as is feasible.

Carlin To Manage Satril Music Pub.

LONDON — Carlin Music recently signed a new publishing administration contract with the Satril Music Company providing for the management of the Satril Music catalog worldwide. In the U.K., Carlin Music will work on all areas of management and administration including promotion and exploitation.

In overseas territories, the Satril catalog will be subpublished by various publishing houses, territory by territory. Both Satril and Carlin will negotiate with overseas publishers, and in this respect the Satril catalog will be treated independently from Carlin's general catalogs. Satril's current overseas subpublishing contracts will remain in full force and effect.

The new deal with Carlin follows the recent change of distribution for the Satril Records label from Pye to WEA in the U.K.

A&M's Distribution Change 'A Serious Loss,' Indies Say

St. Romain, manager of WM's Denver branch, "is if A&M had gone to another distributor. I'm not excited about it, because we have had a really good relationship with the A&M people. We have a lot of other lines so we'll just have to try to pick up the loss from them."

A spokesman at Record Merchandising in Los Angeles said, "It's a very important line, but you do what you've got to do. We will be going to the (NARM) convention in New Orleans next month and we will definitely try to pick up some other lines there. All you can do is wish them well."

Lee Weimer, vice president/manager of Alta Distributors, said, "It's not going to be pleasant; we are losing a lot that we've had as a distributor since the inception of the label. But it isn't a death blow. We'll make out."

WMPS Format Slated For Change In March

NEW YORK — Plough Broadcasting Company's WMPS in Memphis will change its format from contemporary to country, effective in March.

In a joint statement, WMPS/WHRK vice president and general manager Tom Kroh and PBC president Wayne Hudson said the growth of FM and the "splintering" of contemporary formats were factors in their decision.

In addition, they said that country music programming will "best enhance" the news and service image of station.

Craig Scott, national operations manager for PBC, will supervise WMPS programming. Scott moved from the Plough stations in Chicago to company headquarters in Memphis last year.

CBS, RCA Contribute To Scholarship Fund

NEW YORK — CBS Records and RCA Records have each contributed $20,000 to the NARM Scholarship Foundation, establishing endowment funds in memory of Goddard Lieberman and Elvis Presley, respectively. Both scholarships will be presented at the Foundation Dinner on March 21, as part of the 1978 NARM Convention in New Orleans.

New Distrib To Handle Pop, Country Product

NEW YORK — King Record Distributors has opened an office in Gulf Breeze, Florida. The new firm plans to specialize in pop and country product, and has hired a six-man promotion team.

Milt Salstone, president of M.S. Distributors, said A&M's move would have a greater effect on M.S. than most other distributors.

"A lot of the distributors on the west coast are vertical operations; they are rackjobbers or one-stops or both. It will hurt us more because we are a pure distributor. But it's going to be a loss to all of the independent distributors."

New Warehouse

A&M's warehouse central is located at 9500 El Dorado Ave. in Sun Valley, just outside Los Angeles. In addition to the warehouse, A&M will open sales offices in each of the other four cities. The label already has branches in Boston (since October 1974) and Atlanta (since November 1975). The Atlanta operation, Together Distributors, is shared with Motown Records.

Roy Ayers Ubiquity Starbooty

CONCERTS BY THE SEA, REDONDO BEACH — Roy Ayers' recent week-long stint at this posh jazz club on the pier at L.A.'s Fisherman's Wharf served a two-fold purpose. First, it was a tune-up for an upcoming 60-day concert tour. Second, it was a chance for Ayers to further groom his backup group, Ubiquity/Starbooty, for a career of their own on Elektra Records.

Ubiquity opened the set with the title track to their debut "Starbooty" LP, a rollicking jazz-funk tune with multi-layered instrumentation and simple yet effective lyrics. Next was "Love Is Love," an earthy, lowdown ballad about the vicissitudes of love. On the latter number, Merry Clayton's gritty vocals were neatly juxtaposed with the more delicate stylings of Karla Vaughn.

"Spread It" featured some dazzling solo work by saxophonist Justo Almarino, who cut loose several times while the rest of the band maintained the throbbing disco beat.

Throughout the opening segment of the show, the seven-piece band exuded a festive, party spirit without lapsing into excess. It was evident, too, that Ubiquity is capable of a high level of musicianship. However, it was the addition of Ayers' magnetic presence that really warmed the crowd.

An outstanding vibist, Ayers has enjoyed immense popularity in the '70s while developing exciting new sound effects through the use of electronics. His many Polydor albums, on which he is a featured vocalist as well, have reached a wide rock, jazz and R&B audience.

Ayers immediately launched into a vibes solo as a prelude to "Search-in," which also featured keyboardist Philip Woo on synthesizers. After announcing that he intended to send them home with a "music hangover," Ayers charmed the audience into scat-singing along on several subsequent tunes. He returned to the vibes only infrequently during the remainder of the set, relying instead on his highly choreographed vocals and superior showmanship to carry him through.

As an added bonus, Ayers previewed material from his new "Let's Do It" LP. "Freaky Deaky," a highly infectious disco number, got things jumping at the usually demure venue.

In the end, it was Ayers' charismatic personality that the crowd responded to as much as Ubiquity's finger-popping blend of rock, jazz and R&B sounds. The challenge now is for the group to develop an entertaining character of its own.

Rick Nelson Jay Boy Adams

THE ROXY, L.A. — Despite a well-publicized complaint made a few years ago in "Garden Party" about having to play "the old songs," Rick Nelson showed no aversion to them here in a set which was liberally sprinkled with his early rock 'n' roll hits.

While some recording artists who gain notoriety through other mediums end up trying to overcome that image, it is clear Rick Nelson has no battles with Ricky Nelson, once famous as a member of "America's favorite family — The Nelsons."

This was demonstrated by the footage from "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" used to open the show. Little Ricky Nelson appeared in some scenes with brother Dave followed by a segment in which a teen-aged Rick sang one of his early hits to screaming fans. This segued to Rick and the Stone Canyon Band on stage doing "I'm Walkin'," the song from the film clip.

Throughout the evening, whether it was answering questions about where Dave or Wally are today, or singing "She Belongs To Me," "Travelin' Man" or "Hello Mary Lou," Nelson made no attempt to ignore his past.

That may be because he is so confident about his present and future. With the new songs from his "In Takes" album as a springboard, Nelson may raise his profile as a strong force in popular music.

He hasn't abandoned the country-rock style he helped pioneer, but his stance is slightly more rock now than it has been in recent years. "I Wanna Move With You" and "You Can't Dance" reflect his early rock roots, while his version of Brenton Wood's "Gimme A Little Sign" shows he can handle R&B as well.

Nelson's distinctive, easy-going vocal style is used most effectively on ballads, particularly the new "Wings," which emphasizes the importance as the years go by of self-fulfillment as opposed to peer or public acceptance.

Toward the end of the show, however, he showed his early association with Sam Phillips' Sun Records with a couple of solid rockers which he belted out with surprising power.

Opening the evening with an aggressive country-rock set was Atlantic recording artist Jay Boy Adams. Although his portion was a relatively short 35 minutes, he packed into that period a half dozen lively well-constructed songs in an Eagles-meet-Allman Brothers style which should put him at the forefront of those newcomers destined for success.

Chick Corea Herbie Hancock

CARNEGIE HALL — It was an evening of celebration. Chick Corea and Herbie Hancock, who parlayed their forms of jazz/rock into commercial success, returned to the purity of the acoustic piano in a remarkable duet concert at Carnegie Hall in New York.

The awesome talents of both men were more than enough to turn the concert into a critical success. Their genius, in fact, was evident in the broad scope of their repertoire, which included Miles Davis' "Somebody My Prince Will Come," George Gershwin's "Liza," and Bela Bartok's "#7 Ostinatos."

In addition, the pianists played selections from their individual repertoire notably Corea's Schoenberg-influenced improvisations and Hancock's landmark "Maiden Voyage." Their interplay throughout the concert was marked by an overriding sense of respect, humor, and delicacy. When it was appropriate, though, they built vibrant, clashing structures.

But often it seemed as if their enormous respect for each other prevented a truly inspired assault upon their material. This was underscored when each played a solo selection. Only then did the tension and ferocity which marks their best work emerge unfettered. Corea was especially impressive during his complex improvisations, while Hancock displayed a dearth of ideas in some of his.

Overall, the concert was pervaded by a tremendous feeling of joy. There was no doubt that Hancock and Corea were having uninhibited and creative fun on stage. And the appreciative audience was honored to welcome them home to New York and to their musical beginnings.

Charley Pride Dave And Sugar

CIVIC AUDITORIUM, HUNTSVILLE, ALA. — 8000 Alabama folks showed up here recently on a blustery Friday for an evening of country music with RCA's Charley Pride and Dave And Sugar.

Pride hit the stage running. He took the audience through an 80-minute, well-paced show of old hits, new hits and other popular songs which have laced his career. Dressed impeccably in a tailored, dark, three-piece suit, Pride seemed well at ease with this Alabama crowd. Moving from one end of the stage to the other, Pride told jokes and anecdotes in between performing hits like "Mississippi Cotton-Picking Delta Queen," "Snakes Crawl At Night" and "Is Anybody Going to San Antone?"

Acoustics were excellent in this cavernous arena, and Pride's deep baritone blended well with his road band. Country audiences have a well-honed ability to separate truth from fiction. They can spot a phony a mile off. But part of Pride's enormous appeal is his obvious sincerity and ability to make an audience a part of his show. He works to please a crowd. In turn, people feel he is one of them. For example, Pride explained that he had been trying to drop "Crystal Chandeliers" from his show, but audiences kept requesting the song so he had to keep it in his repertoire. Naturally he sang the song to the crowd's delight.

At one point he invited the show's opening act, Dave And Sugar, back on stage to join him. Dave and his two lady singers provided beautiful harmony for Pride on a couple of songs, and then Pride let the group sing "The Door Is Always Open" as a solo. Towards the end of his set, he reached back and sang the old Hank Williams song "Kaw-Liga," which was an early hit for Pride. He closed his act with his more recent hits "She's Just An Old Love Turned Memory" and "I'll Be Leaving Alone."

Charley Pride was once considered a rarity as a black country artist. Now, however, he is simply a well-respected star and consistent, polished performer. He has long since proven he holds a deep understanding, appreciation and talent for this business of country music.

The opening act, Dave And Sugar, are moving steadily towards top stardom. They are consistently on the charts with each single, and they are building a wider base of fans with each appearance. Dave, along with Sue and Vicki, presented a 40-minute, well-rehearsed show of melodic ballads. Musically and personally, they project a compatible, attractive image. As headliners in their own right, audiences will see more and more of this fine group.

Freda Payne

LAINIE'S ROOM, THE PLAYBOY CLUB, L.A. — It is always gratifying to catch a performer in just the right venue for his or her style. Freda Payne's recent two-week engagement in Lainie's Room at the Playboy Club was just such a match of artist and atmosphere.

Payne is a sultry, sensual songstress, and sexuality is as important to her act as it is to the Playboy Club. Lainie's Room in particular is exactly the right intimate setting for her mix of ballads, showtunes, disco and upbeat numbers. Only her musical accompaniment, a relatively un-inspired quartet, prevented Payne from delivering a completely satisfying set. But despite this drawback, Payne proved herself to be one of the outstanding contemporary female vocalists.

Entering through a side door, Payne opened her set belting out "Love Magnet" as she seductively floated through the audience, dressed in a sheer, provocative outfit. Once on stage, the Capitol recording artist displayed an excellent vocal range, clear and rich but also capable of reaching huskier tones when necessary. When she sang "Master Of Love" off her latest album, "Stares And Whispers," her rendering in both French and English had the unusually passive crowd drooling.

With most of the audience unfamiliar with her recent material, Payne included a series of medleys and imitations which were more accessible to casual music listeners. One by one, Payne evoked images of Eartha Kitt, Lena Horne, Ella Fitzgerald, and even Judy Garland (singing "Over The Rainbow") with surprising success. A rousing version of "Carousel" freed her from the constrictions of imitation and demonstrated the singer's notable range.

But Payne was at her finest while performing selections that were her own. Her rendition of her biggest selling single thus far, "Band Of Gold," was punchy and effective, and garnered the greatest audience response of the night.

The abundant talent Payne displayed during the course of her show raised the question of explaining the artist's less than dazzling sales record in recent years. One is forced to conclude that the failure to decide on a coherent repertoire has prevented Payne from establishing herself as a major artist in any musical category.

Aztec Two-Step Franklin Micare

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Aztec Two-Step put on a multi-faceted show for an appreciative audience. Most of their performance consisted of a skillful blend of delightful melodies, and the kind of harmonies that only come from a longtime musical association.

Rex Fowler and Neal Shulman, who are Aztec Two-Step, have achieved a personal rapport that translates into an unusually warm and intimate stage show.

The two did most of the songs off their new RCA LP, "Adjoining Suites," which is their second for the label. It is like their previous LPs in the sense that it is highly "personal," and incorporates folk, bluegrass, MOR, rock, and blues influences.

A 1960's folksiness is evident in "John Gary," while "You And I" is highly reminiscent of an MOR group from that era called The Classics Four. And few groups today can equal the superb harmonies of "Brand New."

The group's one weakness might lie in the fact that the light, breezy approach to all their tunes, after about 45 minutes, begins to sap some of the life out of their live performance.

Overall, however, it was an engaging show, topped by a Barry White takeoff that was considerably more tasteful and amusing than other recent Barry White imitations.

Opening the proceedings was Private Stock's new discovery, Franklin Micare. In a half-hour acoustic set Micare displayed a flair for songwriting and arranging, as well as guitar-playing skill and a sense of humor. His major drawback is his voice, which is not up to the job of conveying the lyrical content of his songs.

PETER BROWN

He's no fantasy.

FACT: Peter Brown is 1978's man to watch. Add to "Do You Wanna Get Funky with Me" (the industry's first Gold 12") his new hit, "Dance With Me" and FANTASY LOVE AFFAIR is something to talk about.

FACT: And the critics are talking. On the album, "A near-perfect blend... progressive rock meets progressive soul in a brilliant synthesis." On the single, "Dance With Me... a TK Klassic... a sure crossover." Vince Aletti, Record World.

FACT: The trades saw it coming. Among his other awards in '77, Record World named Peter Brown the #1 New Male Vocalist, R&B Singles.

FACT: Peter Brown will be on tour in late Spring '78.

OPEN YOUR EARS.
CLOSE YOUR EYES.
WATCH THE MOVIE.

"It was a time of darkness, my friends the Fifth Millennium. Our heroes... the roguish sort, but decent as they come in such indecent times—the Astral Pirates, swift and cunning and not above a bit of well-meaning larceny. Their leader is Althal, a simple-hearted rogue who hardly suspects that he and his pirates shall be the ones to bring music back to the galaxy!"

Lenny White, former member of Return To Forever... considered one of the world's greatest drummer/percussionist/composers... has created music that is a vision, visions that are musical, jazz that incorporates the power of heavy metal rock and hard rock that is inspired by the improvisation of jazz. The Adventures of Astral Pirates is a fusion of the elements. You're invited to be a part of the explosion.
