ON JAZZ

Remembering Miles

Cash Box's New York editor Lee Jeske was one of the few journalists that the late jazz great Miles Davis seemed to get along with and open up to. In his column, Jeske recalls some of his experiences with the legendary trumpet player who died last week at age 65.

MERGE RIGHT, YIELD LEFT: Atlantic Records has combined its ATCO and EastWest divisions into a single unit, ATCO/EastWest. The freestanding division will be headed by chairman/CEO Sylvia Rhone, formerly co-president/CEO of EastWest. The rest of the executive staff shapes up as: Vince Faraci and Harry Palmer, co-presidents; Craig Lambert, executive vice president; and Merlin Bobb, senior vice president. They will be working with a combined staff—a diminished version of the two imprints' previous staffs—while the two labels' artists will retain their separate label identities.

MO' MARIAH. MUCH MO': Mariah Carey's self-titled album debut recently marched to the multi-platinum sales plateau of six million units, sort of topping last month's RIAA list of such things, if you don't count Pink Floyd's ancient Dark Side of the Moon, which sold its 12 millionth copy last month. Right: 12 million. Among the other albums scaling the multi-platinum heights: Michael Bolton's Soul Provider (four million) and Time, Love and Tenderness (two million), C+C Music Factory's Gonna Make You Sweat (three million) and M.C. Hammer's Let's Get Started, Paul Simon's Rhythm of the Saints, Natalie Cole's Unforgettable, With Love and Paula Abdul's Spellbound (two million each).

The platinum list goes like this: the Robin Hood soundtrack, Ice Cube's Amerikkka's Most Wanted, EMF's Schubert Dip, DJ Jazzy Jazz & the Fresh Prince's Homebase, Color Me Badd's C.M.B., Jane's Addiction's Ritual de lo Habitual, and a couple of oldies: Weather Report's Heavy Weather and Elvis Costello's My Aim is True.

Doing the gold album thing were Robin Hood, Homebase, C.M.B., Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers' Into the Great Wide Open, Heavy D & the Boyz' Peaceful Journey, the Geto Boys' We Can't Be Stopped, Dwight Yoakam's If There Was a Way, the Boyz N' the Hood soundtrack, Alice in Chains' Facelift, Doug Stone, Oingo Boingo's Dead Man's Party, 3rd Bass' Derelects of Dialect, Candy Dulfer's Saxuality, Gerardo's Mo' Ritmo, Mark Chesnut's Too Cold at Home and Mason Williams/Mannheim Steamroller's Classical Gas.

COMING SOON: The long-awaited Phil Spector boxed set, Phil Spector Back to Mono (1958-1969), will finally arrive from ABKCO, Nov. 5, all five CDs of it... Two Rooms, a Polydor album in tribute to Elton John and Bernie Taupin, with John-Taupin hits warbled by, among many others, Eric Clapton, Sting, the Who, Phil Collins, Joe Cocker and Sinéad O'Connor. Look for it on Oct. 22.

WRITE RIGHT: Attention songwriters! On Oct. 14, the National Academy of Popular Music begins its fall season of songwriters workshops. Call Bob Leone at (213) 319-1444 for registration information... On Oct. 17, the Los Angeles Songwriters Showcase, a national non-profit organization sponsored by BMI, will hold its 20th anniversary dinner. Such LASS alumni as Stephen Bishop, Karla Bonoff, Barry Mann and David Foster will perform... On Oct. 21, Hal David, Don Was, Marilyn & Alan Bergman and other tunesmiths will gather on Capitol Hill for ASCAP's Washington, D.C. Songwriters' Workshop.

UPS AND DOWNS: Units were down but dollars were stable. That's the bad/good news from the RIAA's mid-year sales statistics report. In the first half of 1990, 424.08 million prerecorded music units left American record stores, while only 377.08 million waltzed out in the same period this year. However, the amount of money spent on those units actually increased a bit, from $3.484 billion to $3.490 billion, suggesting that prices are going ever upwards, which may be one of the reasons why units are going currently downwards.

ALBUMS

■ LITTLE FEAT: Shake Me Up (Morgan Creek 2959-20005-2)

No American rock 'n' roll band sounds quite like Little Feat. Their 12th album is out, and they have never sounded better. Over the last two decades, the band has gone through a few member changes, and reformations. Although the line-up features the same band as the last two albums, the addition of backup vocals and horns on the title track for this new album results in a sound as fresh as when they debuted in 1971. Just good Southern-style rock 'n' roll.

■ A TRIBE CALLED QUEST: The Low End Theory (Jive Records 1418-4-J)

Q-Tip, Ali and Phife have returned with their second album, The Low End Theory. This album by far, is one of the best rap albums I have heard all year. The production is well put together with hard basslines and funky grooves. The lyrics are skillfully written and have a smooth flow to them making a perfect combination. "The Infamous Date Rape," "Butter," "Check The Rhyme" and "Verses From The Abstract" are among the outstanding cuts included.

■ WC AND THE MAAD CIRCLE: Ain't A Damn Thing Changed (Priority Records Inc. CDL 57156)

Give this group their props for this release. WC and the MAAD Circle are definitely givin' up the real with their debut release Ain't A Damn Thing Changed. "We give up tha' real on our album, on our songs people don't die every other sentence, we just tell it like it really is," WC explains. The album covers various topics about living in the South Central Los Angeles district; actually, living in the ghetto anywhere in America.

THE 2-LIVE CREW

■ THE 2-LIVE CREW: Sports Weekend (As Nasty As They Wanna Be Part II) (Luke Records 7 91720-4)

Luke, along with his 2-Live Crew, have topped off the year with their latest release, Sports Weekend. Not losing their touch to cause some controversy, they already have everyone in the rap market buzzing about their latest single, "Pop That Puy" (renamed "Pop That Coochie" for the single version). Just a couple weeks after its release, the song is being requested all over the nation.

■ BARRY MANILOW: Showstoppers (Arista 1867-2)

Barry's 23rd album is a collection of memorable musical moments from Broadway history. This double album features 18 tunes spanning nearly 90 years of music, from "Give My Regards To Broadway" (1904) through "Never Met A Man I Didn't Like" from this year's Tony Award-winning Will Rogers Follies. This slickly produced recording includes guest vocalists Michael Crawford (The Phantom) and Hinton Battle on a version of Guys and Dolls opener "Fugue for Tinhorns"... Hey, I got the horse... Right here! Alternate title for this LP—I Didn't Write The Songs.

■ TEENA MARIE: Greatest Hits (Epic EK 48652)

Epic Records has released a compilation of some of Teena Marie's greatest hits. Included on this 10-song CD are "Lover-girl," "Work It," "Ooo La La La," "If I Were A Bell," "Dear Lover," "Here's Looking At You," "Call Me (I Got Yo Number)," "Cassanova Brown," "My Dear Mr. Gaye" and "Out On A Limb." This CD is a definite must for those admirers of this great vocalist.

■ SYLK SMOOV: "Klientele" (PWL/Mercury/PolyGram CDP550)

Total Track Productions, the production company behind DJ Quik and AMG, bring us yet another talented rap artist named Sylk Smoov. His debut single, "Klientele," is well put together with a couple Barry White samples hanging around the production. "Klientele" is a song talking about getting "props" with the ladies instead of for selling drugs.

PUBLIC ENEMY CAN'T TRUSS IT

■ PUBLIC ENEMY: "Can't Truss It" (Def Jam/Columbia CSK 73870)

Chuck D along with the rest of his crew are back with the single "Can't Truss It," to get the listeners ready for the release of their upcoming album titled Apocalypse '91, The Enemy Strikes Black. Production wise, the song somewhat resembles "Don't Believe Tha' Hype," but lyrically, Chuck has even progressed further in his messages. Also featured is "Move!," a mid-tempo dope-jam, that should have been the single's title.

■ VESTA: "Do Ya" (A&M Records 75021-7289-2)

Vesta has really struck hard with her latest release, "Do Ya." The single has an entirely different feel from her previous single "Special," which found its way to the number one spot on the Cash Box R&B Charts. Instead of being soft and smooth, Vesta has delivered an up-tempo danceable cut that surely will push its way past competition on the radio and in the stores. The track is also featured on her album, Special.

■ ERIC GABLE: "Can't Wait To Get You Home" (Orpheus/Epic ESK 73995)

If you're looking for a nice slow song, "Can't Wait To Get You Home," will fit your needs perfectly. Gable capably lends his smooth vocals to a near perfect production. Although the song somewhat resembles the Earth Wind & Fire classic "That's The Way Of The World," it has its own feel, and shouldn't be overlooked as a future hit. "Can't Wait To Get You Home" is the first single taken from his upcoming Can't Wait To Get You Home album.

■ TARA KEMP: "Too Much" (Giant/Warner Records 4/2-24408)

The female vocalist who previously brought us the club hit "Just Wanna Hold You Tight," has recently released "Too Much." The tune drifts off the up-tempo, clubbish slye that Kemp is best known for. This cut is a slowed-down, ballad with a nice quality sound to it. Look for lots of good rotation on both R&B and Pop radio. The single is also featured on her self-titled album.

■ RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS: "Give It Away" (Warner Bros.-PRO-CD-5042)

This thrash-rap CD single from the album Blood Sugar Sex Magik has plenty of sexual overtones and innuendo. The track has an infectious, industrial funk-rock beat, and a catchy-scratchy guitar lick with two backward solos done in the psychedelic '60s mold. This cut, produced by Rick Rubin, should keep programmers everywhere guessing what radio stations this will play best on. What would you expect from a bunch of guys living in a haunted house?

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ PRINCE AND THE N.P.G.: Diamonds And Pearls (Paisley Park/Warner Bros. 9 25379-2)

HERE WE GO AGAIN: It seems the man with the master plan can't stop creating hits. Prince and the New Power Generation have released the long-awaited Diamonds And Pearls CD. The album is a sleek combination of 13 original Prince songs that guarantee this young musician more platinum records for his growing collection. Maintaining his own distinctive sound, Prince made some adjustments to his already close-to-perfect formula. You can't really point to songs on this album that stand out, because each selection has its own "Prince" sound that makes them all stand out. Well worth a trip to your record store.

EAST

By Lee Jeske

HEY, POLICELADY, YOU WANT AN AUTOGRAPH OR WHAT? Peabo Bryson signs some John Hancocks for fans at Harlem's African-American day parade, as one of New York's finest daydreams about some real police work.

CLUBBING: Every once in a while you just turn around in this wacky city and go, "New York, you're okay." It usually happens after too much liquor, or after an unexpected kind word from a tattered man with a squeegie, or after you've hit the whirlwind of the city and realized that that's why you live here in the first place: Running to the Museum of Modern Art to see Lee Friedlander's nude photos (including a very nude, unidentified Madonna, back in her artist's model days), having superb, wine-soaked meals filled with ripe conversation at Les Halles or Trattoria del Arte, drinking vodka and cranberry juice with a beautiful dark-eyed woman at Coffee Shop until the wee hours, etc.

Or when you've just spent three nights on the town in New York clubs hearing Tony Bennett at the Blue Note, the Grapes of Wrath at Michael's Loft, Big Audio Dynamite II at the Sound Factory, Chuck Brown and the Soul Survivors back at Tramps and Kenny Kirkland at B. Smith's. Three nights! New York, you're okay.

Bennett was the week's hot ticket and, at 50 bucks a pop, also its most expensive. You either like Bennett or you don't, and when he's singing great songs in great voice (as he was here), I do very much. He twirled on his heels, tossed the mike between his hands, grabbed his loyal hometown audience in a very New York embrace, and made the city sparkle. No muss no fuss: a couple of dozen songs nailed on the head over the course of a superb hour.

The Grapes of Wrath was another industry thing and, again, a good group for the room: a big, airy loft with killer views of the Empire State Building. Folk-rock-pop from Canada, a bit Beatlesish sounding in the harmonies, and, again, not half bad with a plate of free burritos and a cold glass of some potent potable or other. How they would hold up in a concert hall is not something I was really thinking about on this night.

BAD II was in another fine space—Chelsea's big booming Sound Factory—and everything I heard sounded good: Serious dance music that just isn't very serious. I love the new album, I really like the sound and texture of Mick Jones' voice, and they rocked things pretty damned handily, especially on their storming cover of Prince's "1999." Serious dance music made the new-fashioned way: sampled up the wazootie. Why not?

Unfortunately, I went on the wrong night—the night before, Joe Strummer, who was in town as the fill-in lead singer of the Pogues (where have you gone, Shane McGowan, a nation turns its bloodshot eyes to you?), showed up for a bit of a Clash reunion. Afterwards, the two old Clashers went to Tramps to catch Chuck Brown, the undisputed Godfather of Go-Go. Who can blame them? I was on the same trail the next night: BAD to Chuck Brown, with a quick stop at Lox Around the Clock for a chocolate egg cream pick-me-up. The Godfather's voice was pretty shot, but his band, with the P-Funk horns in tow, smoked. Serious dance music made the old-fashioned way: live, live, live. Why not?

Oh yes, there was also Kenny Kirkland at B. Smith's, but what does this look like, a jazz column? B. Smith's is a classy midtown restaurant that has unveiled a welcome new music policy. They won't necessarily just concentrate on jazz (Sting discovery Vinx will be there in two weeks), but they won't really rev up until November, when their full-time, second-floor music room is ready.

New York, at times you stink. But at other times—especially during these crisp autumn days we've been having in abundance—you're okay. Now if we can just get back into the October baseball habit...

UK BUZZ

By Chrissy Iley

NO ILLUSIONS: The signs were not auspicious. It appeared I had entered lock-up-your-daughters territory. I'd never seen such an array of screaming drunk nutters as there were walking up the fabled Empire Way to Wembley Stadium. These people were taking Guns N' Roses as serious role models.

Inside the stadium, the mood was thankfully milder—there was a sense of bonhomie. If it was a really mean mob it would not have suffered the hour's delay in the group's entrance. Or tolerated the showing of Bugs Bunny and other such cartoons on the giant video screens that would soon magnify the allegedly nastiest rock act in the world. For self-amusement the audience introduced a variation of the Mexican Wave, the Wembley Pyramid—lads piling up on top of each other's shoulders up to three high—and the Wembley Strip—said lads taking down their bottoms and game ladies ripping off their tops.

When the fun stopped, the serious business began, and it held promise. The quintet dashed on stage fronted by Axl Rose in a mid-calf length kilt and not very well-matching tartan shirt over a bare-midriff tee-shirt with "Martyr" emblazoned on the front. He dashed like a stallion, his long auburn mane whipping the air.

Axl has a customized microphone stand, which resembles the letter A with the bottom half of one leg missing. This he tossed for a roadie to repeatedly, and rather comically, rescue. Guns N' Roses are categorized as heavy metal, but their skill has been to fuse the genre, as well as shades of other forms, with an attitude not seen on a mass scale in this country since punk.

They set the pace alive with the blues boogie of "Mr. Brownstone." Here, somewhat menacing guitarist, Slash (Saul Hudson to his mum, born in Stoke, moved to L.A. aged 11, now 26), leered in the general direction of the floor. His true expression was hidden by his mass of curly hair. Save for the moments when he too dashed maniacally up and down the ramps, Slash was very much a clone of his hero Keith Richards, though I liked the one moment when he posed almost motionless on monitors like a statue of a heroic guitarist.

After about half an hour, the novelty value retreated and the weaknesses of the band began becoming apparent. They have a look-at-us arrogance that is insensitive to crowd moods; they have not learned how to build and maintain dramatic tension, often letting powerful moments slip away in indulgent guitar and drum breaks and Axl's frequent visits to the wings.

It wasn't enough to see Axl go through more costume changes than Madonna. There was a variety of tops, a stars-and-stripes bomber jacket, a camouflage shirt with an MP armband over extra-tight white shorts, topped by a cowboy hat. It was attention-getting, but hardly threatening.

Axl's voice hoarsened, not surprisingly, especially after "My Michelle," the sort of headbanging activity I sensed more of the crowd wished they could be inspired to do more of. They had to be content with chanting along to the hits "Patience" and "Sweet Child O' Mine."

Of the new songs from the Use Your Illusions albums, I particularly liked the teeth-gratingly nasty feel of the song about journalists who have been unkind to them.

Slash, who clearly has ability (even Michael Jackson and Bob Dylan have used him recently), too frequently meandered off into repetitive riffs that might have been fine at a jazz workshop, but dropped the temperature at Wembley.

After more than two hours, Guns N' Roses appeared not so much monsters of rock as toothless tigers. Mothers, you can unlock the doors.

MCA's Marketing Commitments

By Randy Clark & Alex Henderson

IF YOU HAVEN'T ALREADY HEARD of or seen the 20th Century Fox film The Commitments, you probably haven't been out of the house or turned on a television in far too long. The soundtrack on MCA Records has been out for six weeks. Cash Box has watched its ascension up the pop albums chart, and we couldn't help but wonder how this contrived, young, fictitious cast of Irish musicians/actors, performing remakes of classic American soul music from the 1960s and, to a lesser degree, the 1970s, was doing so well with the record-buying public. Sooo... we got MCA Records marketing vice president, Geoff Bywater on the line to see what the strategy was.

ANDREW STRONG
Deco

ROBERT ARKINS
Jimmy

Bywater explained, "The whole thing started from the ground up. The launch started with a tremendous amount of press activity, with three special events we had, starting several months ago when we flew people over to Dublin for a press conference. Anyone who had a role in the business and wanted to see the film got invited to a screening. There must have been 10,000-plus cassettes handed out to people in the industry."

Other events were in New York, Chicago and a special press party at the Hollywood Palace, where soul legend Wilson Pickett (whose hits "In The Midnight Hour" and "Mustang Sally" are on the soundtrack) performed on stage with the young cast members. The word-of-mouth buzz was furthered by the discovery that the cast actually could play and sing with no lip-synching, or professional studio musician backup. The film and soundtrack were then released simultaneously.

Bywater continued, "It opened in maybe six markets—it was a real limited platform launch. After the first weekend, we felt explosive sales—even in markets where the film wasn't showing. That was a reaction to the press and television coverage. By the time the film was on 120 screens, we had sold over 400,000 units." Bywater, who was interviewed on September 26, said that the soundtrack "was over gold. I'd say we're over 600,000 units. We've been averaging 150,000 units a week."

While most of the "MTV Generation" weren't even born when songs like Otis Redding's hit "Mr. Pitiful" or Aretha Franklin's hits "Chain of Fools" and "Do Right Woman, Do Right Man" were released in the 1960s, the soundtrack has fared quite well among younger listeners as well as so-called "baby boomers." In fact, Bywater says that The Commitments' version of Redding's hit "Try A Little Tenderness," which is the soundtrack's current single, is being heavily requested at CHR radio—which certainly has more than its share of "MTV Generation" members.

"I think that initially, it was seen as an upper-demo movie because of the style of the music," Bywater said. "But that quickly changed. The strongest marketing tool we had from the beginning was word of mouth; and as long as we kept feeding the streets with press and television, we could turn around and go to CHR with the soundtrack. It quickly spread to the lower demo as we went to MTV and CHR."

Asked what impact he thought the soundtrack's success would have on MCA's classic soul reissues and on back catalogue, Bywater replied, "Great material is great material, and it transcends time. I think it shows that there's an untapped market out there for this kind of music, but the key thing is that people have to be exposed to it. If you're gonna put a marketing campaign together on a catalogue, doing advertising at retail is not the full story. You've gotta use television and the visual medium to push younger people into record stores and get them exposed to those old classics."

Ordinarily, a soundtrack's sales stem from a film's success. But in this case, Bywater says that the soundtrack's exposure is actually helping to bring a bigger audience to the box office. "It's been a big help," Bywater stressed. "For the amount of MTV exposure and CHR airplay we've had, it would cost Fox an absolute fortune to buy that in spots."

MCA has signed two members of the cast to recording contracts, the 21-year-old Robert Arkins (who portrays The Commitments' manager Jimmy Rabbitt) and Andrew Strong, (lead vocalist, Deco) to separate deals as solo artists. At 16, Strong was by far the youngest member of the cast when the film started shooting in August of 1990, but had been singing professionally when he was only 11. Film director, Alan Parker screened over 3,000 potential band members before deciding on the final cast of 12. Parker also picked the 14 songs on the soundtrack, as well as 52 different songs used as musical cues in the film.

With the soundtrack continuing to rapidly move up the charts, climbing from number 37 to number 14 in the last two weeks and still rising, Bywater said, it's likely to go platinum in the near future. The marketing executive anticipates that when the film is released on video, even more listeners will be exposed to the music—and the soundtrack will continue to triumph at retail. Bywater asserts, "We're 'committed', we'll be working this record well into 1992."

The package contains concert renditions of 15 songs spanning the artist's career and includes "Badge," "White Room" as well as a 13-minute version of "Old Love." The audio tracks on the video were relaid from the DAT masters and affords the same superior quality as on the CDs. Joining Clapton in the "all-live" recording is a remarkable lineup of

Head-bangers beware... AND... guess who's heading out on tour without his band?... SINGLES

■ DERRICK "Still Loving You" (Shiro SR-19311)

The L.A.-based Shiro Records makes its debut with Derrick's "Still Loving You." Smooth and seductive, "Still Loving You" is the type of heartfelt R&B that you don't hear nearly enough of these days. And happily, the production doesn't overshadow Derrick's expressive vocals. For more information on Shiro Records, please contact label president Shiro Gutzie at (213) 656-0144, or 8228 Sunset Blvd., First Floor, Hollywood, California 90046.

Although not quite hip-house, Scotty "D"'s "Hit 'Em With The Beat" is a dance-oriented rap song that should appeal to the hip-house crowd. The melodic song, which has sort of a C&C-Music-Factory-meets-Snap type of flavor, has a chance of being pumped in clubs and would work well on "power radio" formats. It could also inspire folks to jack, jack, jack their bodies on the Chi-Town tip.

ALBUMS

■ BARRY HARRIS: Live At Maybeck Recital Hall, Vol. 12 (Concord Jazz CCD-4476)

Those of us who got hip to Barry Harris by listening to his slammin' solos on Dexter Gordon's classic Blue Note sessions of the 1960s know just how much feeling comes out of homeboy's piano. Thus, it's an acoustic jazz feast hearing the brother unaccompanied on the latest addition to Concord's Live At Maybeck Recital Hall series, which was recorded at that Berkeley, Cali venue in 1990. Harris swings with a passion on "All God's Chillun Got Rhythm" and "Lucky Day," but chills out and shows his lyrical side on "It Could Happen To You" and George Shearing's "She." Duke Ellington said that jazz can either swing or be pretty; Harris does both.

■ DEF JEF: Soul Food (Delicious Vinyl/Island 314-510 120-2)

Yo! L.A.-based hardcore rapper Def Jef kicks the ballistics on his follow-up to Just A Poet With Soul, Soul Food. Homie drops crazy Afro-science on "Voice Of A New Generation," "God Complex" and "Don't Sleep (Open Your Eyes)." Another song to pump is "Cali's All That," which features labelmate Tone "Wild Thing" Loc. Producers on Soul Food are Jef, DJ Mark The 45 King and Delicious Vinyl leaders Michael Ross and Matt Dike. Go, Jef! Pump pump pump pump it up!

■ IMMOLATION: Dawn Of Possession (RC/Roadrunner RCD 9310)

"Into Everlasting Fire," "Dawn Of Possession," "No Forgiveness Without Bloodshed," and "Fall In Disease" are among the pleasant, cheerful song titles on Dawn Of Possession, a 10-song CD from hell. Immolation, a thrash posse on the death-metal tip, goes for the type of growling, throat-in-agony vocals associated with fellow moshers like Cannibal Corpse, Entombed, Deicide and Carcass.

■ FIRST STAR: My Grip Is Like A Cobra (WRAP/Ichiban ICH 1121)

Female rapper First Star is from a certain city on Lake Michigan known for Da Bears, Da Cubs and Da Bulls, deep-dish pizza and thoroughfares named Lake Shore Drive, Michigan Avenue, Clark Street and Diversey Parkway. Da city is Chicago, also known as Da City With Da Big Shoulders, Da Windy City and Chi-Town. Da town, which is my kinda town, is also known for hip-house; but First Star don't be on that tip. Instead, homegirl be a hardcore rapper who ain't afraid to cuss, boast, diss, bug out and put sucka MCs in check. The 11-song CD's highlights include "Diss Is For The suckas," "Ladies Night Out" and "Stop Jockin'." Know what I'm sayin', G?

That's what time it is, homeboys and homegirls. I wanna send a crazy shout out to Homegirl Phyllis Pollack for droppin' dope hip-hop science, and I wanna say what's up to Def MC Gary J. I'm 5000, G. Seeeee ya! Peace...

ON JAZZ

MILES: Let me just say up front that in 15 years of interviewing jazz musicians, no musician was more consistently cooperative and generous to me than Miles Dewey Davis III, the much-feared Prince of Darkness who died on September 28 at the age of 65.

Cooperative? I interviewed him five times, one of those times the day after Gil Evans died while Miles himself was in the hospital (Miles, a most unhealthy man, visited hospitals as frequently as the rest of us visit barbers). If I needed or wanted Miles for an interview, Miles was there. He answered all the questions directly and honestly, although he could be prickly and impatient and intimidating (if you asked him a question, you'd better have been prepared for a question back questioning your own depth of knowledge of the topic you were addressing). If you tried to get too close to him, too friendly with him (something I tried unsuccessfully several times), he'd stare you in the eyeball and say, "You're getting frisky." Frisky he didn't like.

In fact, John Scofield, who toured with Miles for several years, said Miles would say the same thing to him and the other bandmembers when they made the mistake of thinking this guy with the trumpet was just another musician, just another member of the band. Miles travelled separately, often stayed in separate hotels, rarely hung out with the guys in the band. When I asked Scofield who Miles did hang out with on the road, he said he had no idea, but that he suspected he spent a lot of time off by himself.

Miles, I gathered from getting to know him, spent a lot of time off by himself, partly because he went out of his way over the decades to scare off everybody he knew. He struck me, when all was said and done, as a lonely man. Nancy Sinatra once told me that her father was the loneliest man she ever met, and I believed her in an instant. The great and powerful Miles Davis—like the great and powerful Wizard of Oz—always seemed like a lonely man to me.

Generous? Miles, who became a successful painter over the past decade (successful in critical response—his work had style and substance—and successful in terms of big dollars for his stuff) liked to draw while he talked. During one interview, at then-wife Cicely Tyson's Fifth Avenue apartment, he worked furiously on a drawing of three women for the entire hour. When the interview was about to end, Miles handed me the drawing. It was inscribed, "For Jeske, Miles." When I tried to thank him, he waved his hand—he hated being thanked.

During another interview, when he was now in his bachelor pad at the Essex House, he told me about a particularly good concert his band had just done in San Francisco.

"Want to hear it?"

"Sure."

"Got another cassette in that bag?"

"Sure."

"Want a copy of it?"

Miles Davis led me to his bedroom and attempted to figure out how to use his double cassette deck. When he finally had it down, he set the tapes rolling and laid down on his bed. We chatted briefly, but Miles quickly fell into a deep sleep. And there I sat for an hour: in Miles' bedroom, monitoring a tape, looking around at his trumpets and drawings and exercise equipment. Then the phone rang.

"Miles, Miles," I said shaking his foot. "Miles, Miles."

He jumped: "What is it?"

"The phone."

He looked at me with one of his are-you-an-idiot? looks and said, "Well, answer it."

Of course. As he took the call he said, "Tape done?"

"Uh-huh."

"I guess I'll see your ass later."

The last time I interviewed him, he got mad at me—I was getting too frisky—and slammed the phone down on my ear. A month later I saw him at a party and he came across the room and squeezed my arm.

Miles Davis was good to me.

No point in going through the musical history here: This was one of the most important, innovative, influential musicians of the 20th Century. I don't have to tell you that, you know all about that: His trumpet sound (the sound of a man's soul stripped bare), his Birth of the Cool band, his incredible '50s Coltrane-Adderley-Chambers-Philly Joe Jones-Garland/ Evans/Kelly band that went from chord changes to modes, his incredible '60s Hancock-Shorter-Carter-Williams band that went from jazz modes to jazz-funk. He was musically restless and he made it pay off. Over the past decade, he was less restless musically and he let his presentation get tired. He spent the last 10 years playing at being a new gregarious version of his old chalky self, but the music he made was just a coda to the incredible forward-motion run from the mid '40s to the mid '70s.

No point in going through the personal history here: Miles Davis wrote a bitter, mean-spirited, shocking autobiography that stripped away every layer of mystery he had ever cultivated to reveal a paranoid, arrogant, humorless, woman-beating snob. The book was honest and the man who wrote it disappointed me, because the man who wrote it revealed not a morsel of remorse for the damage he had done to people (wives, children, friends, bandmembers) who tried to love him. I'm sorry I ever read it, sorry he ever wrote it.

RHYTHM & BLUES

R&B MUSIC

By Bryan DeVaney

BOYZ N' THE HOOD, the Qwest/Warner Bros. Records soundtrack release from the smash hit film of the same name, has been certified gold by the R.I.A.A., signifying sales in excess of 500,000 units. The soundtrack, assembled under the direction of music supervisor and Qwest Records vice president of A&R, Raoul Roach, features the cutting edge of urban contemporary sounds, including the Top 10 hits, "Just Ask Me To," by Tevin Campbell with a featured rap performance by Chubb Rock and "Growin' Up In The Hood," from the rap group Compton's Most Wanted. The album's current single is "Work It Out" by Monie Love. Other strong tracks included on the soundtrack are "Me and You" from Tony! Toni! Tone!, "Mama Don't Take No Mess," by Yo-Yo, the 2-Live Crew's "Hang It Out" and "Just A Friendly Game Of Baseball" by Main Source.

MTV HAS ADDED A NEW MUSICAL dimension to its weekly line-up with Fade To Black, an R&B-based music series with an eye on funky street beats. The weekly, 90-minute show will premiere Sunday, October 13 at 5:00 p.m. EDT. Inspired by MTV's two-hour Fade To Black tribute special which aired during Black Music Month, the new series will be music video-driven and feature a weekly Top 10 countdown. The music mix, which will be fast-paced, will include artists such as Bell Biv DeVoe, Guy, Whitney Houston, Michael Jackson, Boyz II Men, Vanessa Williams, and Tony! Toni! Tone! Two regular show hosts will co-anchor each episode from the MTV studio and on-site locations.

RJAM/Island Records recording artist Tam Tam was recently feted by executives from Island & PolyGram at a luncheon held in her honor in New York. Tam Tam's first single "Do It Tam Tam," is already out and her album Do It Tam Tam is due October 22nd. Pictured (l-r) are: Nate Smith, president, RJAM Records and Tam Tam's manager; Tam Tam; PolyGram's associate director/product development, Tammy Jordan; Island's creative director/video development, Judy Troillo; and Lislán's senior vice president/marketing, Matt Stringer.

SOUL SUPERSTAR GLADYS KNIGHT: For three consecutive weeks in October, Knight will fill in for regular host Vanessa Williams for some very special editions of The Soul Of VH-1. Two of the episodes will reflect themes from Knight's recently released album, Good Woman on MCA Records, which includes the tracks "Men" and "Superwoman."

On Sunday, October 13 at 6:00-7:00 p.m. (ET) and again at 10:00 p.m., VH-1 will present The Soul Of VH-1: Men. As host, Knight selects the music of some of her favorite men of soul, including hits by Luther Vandross, Stevie Wonder, Prince, Michael Bolton and Bobby Brown.

Columbia recording artist Peabo Bryson takes a moment to sign autographs for some of the many fans who turned out for the African-American Day Parade held recently in Harlem, N.Y. His number one hit "Can You Stop The Rain," was a smash as many onlookers sang along. The float saluting Black music, was sponsored by Sony Music Entertainment Inc.

RAP/DANCE MUSIC

STREET BEAT

By Bryan (B-Style) DeVaney

WATCH WHAT YOU SAY...?!$#@! Almost since the beginning of rap music, there have been many complaints directed at rappers and much controversy surrounding their "discrimination" against women and "promotion" of violence. One of the problems here, is that a lot of the complaints are coming from music critics who get their hands on a tape where women are referred to in an unfavorable way or they hear a couple of x-plicit lyrics. They give a song a listen and the minute some hear that, the song is trashed and accusations are leveled at the artists as being misogynous, disgusting, etc. Who are these people who write that wack crap, and what gives them the right to write about music that they have absolutely no knowledge about. If they did, they would understand the entire meaning of rap. One thing that's overlooked is that rap music is one of the few remaining sources of true expression, and those that can't understand, shouldn't judge it, not to mention write about it and condemn it. If the commercial-happy "rap" critics had their way, rap would die out because the music would lose it's edge in the public eye.

W.C.

A large majority of rappers that are accused of being misogynous and unsuitable to be in the market are from the Los Angeles area. As Priority Records recording artist W.C. stated, "Man, this entire city is fked up, it seems that if you not driving a nice car and have a lot of gold, females won't even talk to you."

"She used to walk in front of me, now she walks behind me, because I said I drive a Benz 190," quoted Ice Cube on "I Ain't Tha 1." The situations are real, the music is real and it's also getting crazy record sales, so how are you going to diss' dat, huh? It would be understandable if nobody listened to it, but it just so happens that most of these artists who kick tha' bolistics are some of the most popular and highest paid rap acts today. Most rap listeners nowadays don't want to hear someone rap about partying and how good they can dance, they want to hear a dope lyricsist flex with some real lyrics that they can relate to.

You still have your commercial artists who crossover on the music charts, and rack up large record sales, but it's not really rap fans that buy it. Commercial rap mainly attracts pop fans. "All those commercial artists can have the term 'rap' because we're taking things back to the roots, hip-hop, real rap," quoted MC Search of 3rd Bass. "Nowadays it's hard to get a record deal if you're hardcore. Everyone wants that commercial, rap/pop artist, because they're scared of hardcore material."

After the recent success of commercial rap, hard-core rap has been put on the back burner because of this "sell-out" material. When the 2-Live Crew first started making records, it wasn't as difficult for them to be "as nasty as they wanted to be," but now they're getting harassed for just petty things. The media often states, "The 2-Live Crew displays nothing but explicit and perverted lyrics. What good does that do for the recording business?" Well, these same "writers" praise albums by rock artists like Guns N' Roses who practically do the same thing. Think about it... Peace out to Luther Campbell, WC and the MAAD Circle, Ice Cube and any supporters of free speech.

TALENT REVIEW

Moody Blues

By Jim Waligura and Mark Albert

UNIVERSAL AMPHITHEATRE, LOS ANGELES—Maintaining a high standard of quality rock and roll music for well over two decades, The Moody Blues again demonstrated why they have long been considered one of rock's premier bands, whether it is on record, or as it was in this case, on the concert stage. Before a mellow Sunday night audience at the Universal Amphitheatre, the group took their fans on a thoroughly entertaining musical journey.

Now, there are more than a few people out there who would like nothing better than to write these "dinosaurs" off. However, this performance certainly proved that the Moody Blues are not yet ready for the museum display floor yet. In fact, a beautiful blending of material from their latest album, Keys Of The Kingdom (Polydor), including the single, "Say It With Love," along with treasured gems from the past, left their adoring fans soaring with delight.

Greeted by the audience with a rousing welcome, the players opened with "Lovely To See You Again," and then proceeded to take off on a course filled with older Moody Blues classics including "Tuesday Afternoon," "Ride My Sessaw," "I'm Just A Singer In A Rock & Roll Band," "Isn't Life Strange" and one of their all-time greats, "Nights In White Satin," as well as more recent favorites like "Your Wildest Dreams," "I Know You're Out There Somewhere" and "The Other Side Of Life."

The Moody Blues are led by guitarist/vocalist Justin Hayward, bassist John Lodge, drummer Graeme Edge and flautist Ray Thomas, who enthralled the audience with his inspired rendition of "Legend Of The Mind." The mainstay of the group, of course, is still Hayward, who delivered sparkling vocals and brilliant guitar work throughout the evening, and has somehow managed to keep his youthful appearance of some 20 years earlier.

A supporting cast worthy of mentioning provided a solid back-up ensemble with dual keyboard players, dual backing vocalists and one additional percussionist.

Absolutely enjoying themselves to the fullest during this show, the Moody Blues transmitted to their fans the same contagious pleasure of performing their music that has endeared them over these many, many years. A great performance by all!

SONGS OF PRAISE

■ KATHY TROCCOLI Pure Attraction Reunion

One of music's most unique voices returns home where she belongs. On her return to Christian music, Troccoli, along with noted producer Ric Wake, delivers an album guaranteed to generate an enormous stir in the ccm arena. Troccoli's vocals are rich and powerful, enhanced further by a bevy of strong material. It's difficult to pick a favorite cut here because they all are outstanding. It's a delight to have this extremely talented singer back in the fold.

Kathy Troccoli

Wayne Watson

■ WAYNE WATSON Home Free Dayspring/Word

Watson continues his line of producing beautifully crafted, lyrically strong songs of the heart and soul. This artist, who has received numerous Dove and Grammy award nominations, deals with the subject of relationships on this project. Embodied here are a number of potential radio hits: "Out Of Control," "If Not For Love," "Freedom," along with the title cut just to name a few.

■ STEVEN WILEY Rhapsody Star Song

Rapper, Steven Wiley, teams up with noted producer Michael Brooks, creating music that infuses the sounds of R&B and jazz with the gospel message. Hot rhythm tracks, samples, and Wiley's strong, cleverly delivered raps, helps to set this record off. Of special note is the treatment given to the Andrae Crouch favorite, "Jesus Is Lord." The grooves on this track will definitely open up some ears.

Steven Wiley

Walt Whitman

■ WALT WHITMAN AND THE SOUL CHILDREN Live And Blessed I Am

This choir once again delivers an album full of highly energized gospel music. The difference between this album and their previous releases is the vocal maturity the choir now possesses. This enables them to tackle more complex material and arrangements, which they handle with ease. Give this album five * stars!

■ REV. JAMES CLEVELAND AND THE LA GOSPEL MESSENGERS Rev. James Cleveland and the LA Gospel Messengers Savoy

This is the last recording of the Rev. James Cleveland before his untimely death earlier this year. Cleveland is in good voice, considering the numerous health problems he was encountering at the time of this recording. Fans of this legendary artist will enjoy his performances on the cuts "Lifting For Me, Pt. II" as well as his patented narrations on "Great Things" and "Always." This double album will definitely be a collectors item.

FEATURE STORY

The "Dope" On The Five Blind Boys Of Alabama

By Tim A. Smith

Clarence Fountain and the Five Blind Boys of Alabama

AFTER OVER 40 YEARS of performing far and wide, the legendary voices of the Five Blind Boys of Alabama, featuring Clarence Fountain, are still charming audiences with their smooth vocal tones and crowd-pleasing showmanship.

Not ones to back away from a challenge, the Blind Boys have joined forces with rapper, Just Unique, on the anti-drug anthem, "No dope, Keep Hope Alive." The single, released on the New Dawn label, has label ceo Marlin McNichols beaming. "We're extremely excited about this record," says McNichols. "We're taking the Blind Boys out of their traditional quintet mode and placing them with the sounds of today's urban/contemporary music, adding a rapper to capture the ears of the kids."

Fountain, leader of the group, felt no discomfort recording music outside the realm for which they're noted. "I'm not into all of these different tags placed on gospel," Fountain states. "This song that we recorded with the rapper, I consider gospel. In my opinion, gospel speaks the truth, and that is what this song speaks. It's the type of song that people have to listen to closely and get into."

The legacy of Fountain and the Five Blind Boys began in the early 1940s when they originally joined together as school boys at Alabama's Talladega Institute for the Deaf and Blind. Since that time, the group has gone on to record numerous hit records, including their all-time classic, "I Can See Everybody's Mother But Mine," as well as star in the Obie Award-winning musical, Gospel At Colonus, an adaptation of the Greek tragedy, Oedipus At Colonus.

"People may not hear our name all the time but we're keeping active," says Fountain. "We've performed before all types of audiences this year. We've performed at the New Orleans Jazz Festival and overseas at the Belgium Blues and Jazz Festival. They do their thing, we do our gospel and the people love it."

The Blind Boys will continue to stay busy behind the release of the "No Dope" single. Trendsetter Productions, along with New Dawn Records, are in the process of setting up a national No Dope, Keep Hope Alive tour for 1992, featuring the Blind Boys, Brothers In Christ, Tony McGil and the Southern California Holy Gospel Choir, Just Unique and other major gospel artists and rappers. They have contracted New York University to set up entrepreneurship and scholarship programs, all tied into the No Dope program, to assist the youth of America in getting a positive start in life.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

By Tim A. Smith

MIKE-E, REUNION RECORDS—Fresh, vibrant, hip, exciting and cool—all describe the personality and talents of the "new kid on the block," guitarist/rapper Michael Wright, better known as Mike-E. He adds his own style of hip-hop flavored rap to this rapidly growing area of Christian music with the release of his debut album on the Reunion label titled, Mike-E And The G-Rap Crew.

Mixing hip-hop along with the sounds of the streets, the album features all original material written or co-written by Mike-E.

With over 15 years experience as a professional musician, this Detroit native has performed or recorded with the likes of Whitney Houston, Little Richard, BeBe & CeCe Winans, Aretha Franklin, Luther Vandross, Tramaine Hawkins and Commissioned.

One of the highlights of Mike-E's career, other than recording his own album, was touring with contemporary Christian artist Michael W. Smith's Go West Young Man tour, on which Mike-E was featured in his own solo set. "It was a new experience for me, performing before audiences that large," Mike-E relates. "As for playing with Michael W., it was cool. To put it in perspective, it's like going from Ashford & Simpson to playing for George Michael. That's how it was for me—going from BeBe & CeCe, whom I had just finished touring with, to playing pop/rock licks with Michael."

Mike-E raps, dances, sings and plays the guitar. His music is hot; his lyrics straightforward. "I'm upfront about the truth. But let's face it, there aren't any backstage passes that will get you into heaven. You've got to enter through the front door."

Susan Ashton

RECORDING NEW-COMER SUSAN ASHTON brings a brand new voice to Christian Music with her debut project entitled, Wakened By The Wind. After a couple of years in the making, the lp lets Ashton convey a thoughtful, transforming message about genuine feelings and true hope.

Characterized by the producing expertise of Wayne Kirkpatrick and Brown Bannister, Wakened By The Wind also features the instrumental talents of Kirkpatrick, Phil Keaggy, Gordon Kennedy, John Hammond and Tommy Simms, to name only a few. Additionally, these talented artists add a touch of finesse to Ashton's warm and emotion-filled voice.

Ashton, the daughter of a Houston pastor, grew up in a Christian home but never dreamed of becoming a professional singer. It wasn't until her acceptance of Christ that she began to feel God calling her into the ministry. "I became a Christian when I was 15, and then about a year later felt that God was calling me to sing," Ashton recalls. "At that time I didn't even know what Contemporary Christian Music was, but I've watched Him open one door after another in bringing me to this place."

Before signing with Sparrow Records, Ashton worked full-time in Houston and sang in various studio sessions on the side. Her big break, however, came when she was selected to accompany reknown recording artist Wayne Watson in a duet, which is featured on his Watercolour Ponies disc. Ashton also contributed her vocals on Dallas Holms' Beyond The Curtain release. It was actually an engineer on the Holms project who took notice of Ashton's potential and put her in contact with Sparrow. As a result, Ashton moved to Nashville and signed a recording contract almost instantly—therefore starting the creative process which ultimately led to her debut release.

"We really wanted to invest in Susan, to spend time nurturing her gift and assisting her artistic development," commented Peter York, vice president, A&R for Sparrow. "We believed it was important to her long-time ministry that we identify just the right songs and production for this first album."

That time of growth and support took approximately two years and allowed Ashton to refine her songwriting ability as well as her vocals. Ashton co-wrote three songs on the disc—"No One Knows My Heart," "Ball And Chain" and "Beyond Justice To Mercy," all of which demonstrate the heart of her message.

"I believe God has given me a message of healing to communicate, that He can bring restoration at any time and in any area of our lives," Ashton states. "What I really want is for others to know what it's like to be completely embraced by Jesus, for the person who has never known a gentle hand or a gentle word, for them to know what that's like."

Ashton's recent release "Benediction" is currently on the airwaves and her Wakened By The Wind project is already making great moves on the album charts. Susan Ashton is an artist on the cutting edge of Christian music and is undoubtedly pressing toward her mark for stardom.

Hot Off The Press...

Riversong recording group, The Lewis Family, has been working on a new release entitled Sweet Dixie Home in Nashville's Cinderella Studio. Sweet Dixie Home features the traditional Bluegrass and Country stylings that have made The Lewis Family leaders in the Bluegrass genre for nearly 40 years. The project is slated for a November release.

Music City Takes A "Giant" Step

James Stroud

JAMES STROUD APPOINTED PRESIDENT OF NEW NASHVILLE LABEL:The effect continues to domino, as yet another label will soon open its doors in Nashville. Giant Records, which currently boasts such pop successes as the platinum-selling group Color Me Badd and the double-platinum New Jack City soundtrack, is a joint venture of Time Warner through its Warner Bros. Records subsidiary and Irving Azoff, owner of Giant Records.

Although Giant Records' current success focuses heavily on the pop arena (Color Me Badd, Tara Kemp and RTZ), the label's Nashville division is expected to take a lean toward straight-ahead country. Of course with today's Country Music becoming so much more versatile, it will come as no surprise if some of the product comes across as being country-crossover material.

Nashville's reknown James Stroud has been appointed to the position of president of the new label division. The announcement was recently made at a press conference and luncheon hosted by Azoff, Warner Bros./Nashville president Jim Ed Norman and Giant president Charlie Minor.

Stroud began his career in the mid-70's with the production of Dorothy Moore's classic "Misty Blue," which sold three million copies and earned him three Grammy nominations. Stroud has also produced such acts as Clint Black, Charlie Daniels, Hank Williams, Jr., Shelby Lynne, John Anderson and Little Texas. Previous to his appointment to Giant, Stroud served as director of A&R at MCA/Nashville and vice president of Capitol/Nashville. Stroud is also the founder of the Writer's Group, the Grammy-winning publishing company which launched the careers of songwriters such as Thom Schuyler, Fred Knoblock and Paul Overstreet.

"I'm excited to be working with Irving Azoff," states Stroud, "and to be a part of Giant, one of the most exciting new labels in the business."

Azoff, former chairman of MCA Music Entertainment oversaw the rise of country artists such as Reba McEntire, Lyle Lovett and George Strait, among others. During his tenure, he revitalized the slumping group into an industry powerhouse. "James is uniquely qualified to lead our move into Nashville," says Azoff. "He is an unequaled success who will be a perfect addition to our team and will have every available resource to make what I know will be a major impact on the Nashville and worldwide music scenes."

Giant Records/Nashville is expected to release its country product debut by the spring of 1992.

CMA Executive Director To Retire

Jo Walker-Meador

SHE HAS SERVED AS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE COUNTRY MUSIC ASSOCIATION SINCE 1960. Recently, Jo Walker-Meador officially announced that she will step down as the trade organization's chief executive at the end of this year. Walker-Meador was the only employee when the organization was formed in 1958, and during her 33-year tenure, the CMA and Country Music have become major forces in the entertainment world.

Walker-Meador plans to stay active in the area of international development as an advisor to various groups interested in promoting Country Music in their territories.

A gala tribute dinner for Walker-Meador, in addition to various moments of recognition during last week's Country Music Week activities, will take place on November 7 at the Opryland Hotel.

Ed Benson, CMA associate executive director since joining the organization in 1979, will succeed Walker-Meador. (Photo credit: Don Putnam)

Roy Rogers Rides Again

TOP COUNTRY ARTISTS SHARE THE RIDE! Happy trails couldn't have been any happier when word got out that the King Of The Cowboys, Roy Rogers, would be recording an album of western tunes for RCA Records. In fact, just about every country music star in the territory volunteered to contribute their vocals on the project. However, only a selected string of top-notch artists actually participated on the album.

The Roy Rogers Tribute project came about in 1988 when talent manager Stan Moress confronted Rogers with the idea to record again at the CMA Awards Show. Along with Moress, Joe Galante, RCA president; and Jack Weston, RCA/Nashville CEO, Rogers was convinced that his singing days were not over. "Their belief in this project and my place in today's music world made this a truly memorable experience for me," Rogers explained.

The collection pairs Rogers with Clint Black, Lorrie Morgan, the Oak Ridge Boys, K.T. Oslin, Restless Heart, Randy Travis, Ricky Van Shelton, Willie Nelson, Emmylou Harris, the Kentucky HeadHunters, Kathy Mattea and Rogers' son Dusty, who actually penned and sung the only tribute to the King Of The Cowboys on the album. Rogers' better-half Dale Evans also joined her favorite cowboy in singing the Rogers' classic "Happy Trails" along with additional well-known entertainers such as Daniele Alexander, Kathie Baillie, Michael Bonagura, Alan Jackson, Holly Dunn, Roger Miller, Reed Nielsen, Marie Osmond, Eddie Rabbitt, Riders In The Sky, Johnny Rodriguez, Marty Stuart, Sweethearts Of The Rodeo and Tanya Tucker.

Produced by Richard Landis, the Roy Rogers Tribute project recently released its first single and video, entitled "Hold On Partner," one of several duets on the album, this with Clint Black, who has often been tagged as the Roy Rogers clone of the 90's.

The non-profit organization is known worldwide for research and treatment of diseases such as cancer, AIDS, diabetes and leukemia. OUT OF THE BOX

■ RESTLESS HEART: "You Can Depend On Me" (RCA 62129)

Producers: Josh Leo/Larry Michael Lee

Writers: Ronnie Rogers/Jimmy Griffin

Restless Heart crosses a taller wall and enters an all new horizon with this spastic-tempoed number. True, these guys have proven themselves to be top-notch when it comes to Country Music's ace groups, but their latest offering from The Best Of Restless Heart project, entitled "You Can Depend On Me," reveals vocal talent stretched to the ultimate. Nailing extremely high notes and spilling out unmatched harmony, Restless Heart hits this cut with all they've got and right on target. A hit on radio will not be a surprise either!

FEATURE PICKS

■ STEVE WARINER: "Leave Him Out Of This" (Arista 2349)

Producers: Scott Hendricks/Tim DuBoise

Writers: Walt Aldridge/Susan Longacre

Whew! This song has all the magic it needs to launch a #1 slot, and it probably won't take long at all to do so. "Leave Him Out Of This" sparks the first release from Wariner on a new label roster, and if this first single is any indication of what's to come from his forthcoming I'm Ready package, we could be on the edge of witnessing a long-overdue "Steve Wariner" success explosion. With all the right words, powerful bridge build-ups and vocal slides, "Leave Him Out Of This" should leave quite a mark on radio, as well as old and soon-to-be Wariner fans.

■ LARRY BOONE: "It Wouldn't Kill Me" (Columbia 73992)

Producers: Steve Buckingham/Marshall Morgan

Writers: L. Boone/P. Nelson/T. Shapiro

The Boone Boom Bounces Back! And much of the boom is due to the result of songs like this one from his new One Way To Go LP. "It Wouldn't Kill Me," with its gentle accoustics and emotional, vocal spills, sounds off immediately with a warm and inviting intro which eventually showcases a singer and writer who's just flat-out good when it comes to making true-rooted Country Music. And that stands true with or without a hat.

■ CLINTON GREGORY: "Satisfy Me And I'll Satisfy You" (Step One SOR-434)

Producer: Ray Pennington

Writer: B. Dees

Look out! Country newcomer Clinton Gregory outdoes himself this time. With his follow-up to "One Shot At A Time," which followed-up "If It Weren't For Country Music, I'd Go Crazy," the Virginia-born, singer/fiddle champion unleashes a tune that's sure to hit harder than his previous releases. In addition to catchy lyrics with a deep-luring melody, "Satisfy Me And I'll Satisfy You" features Gregory topping some vocal tones that have yodel tendencies. This is definitely "Hot Phone" material!

■ MARTIN DELRAY: "One In A Roll" (Atlantic 4225)

Producers: Blake Mevis/Nelson Larkin

Writers: Wood Newton/Martin Delray

Once again, the rhythm obviously got into Martin Delray when he recorded this soulful number. "One In A Roll," which sparks the deep-tone vocalist's current single, presents listeners with an excellent taste of stellar instrumentation, in addition to a performance by Delray that's class-A confident.

■ RAY BENSON: "Four Scores And Seven Beers Ago" (Arista 2340)

POWERFUL ON THE PLAYLIST—Garnering significant radio airplay, Randy Travis' current single release entitled "Forever Together" gains 19 notches after two weeks on Cash Box's Top 100 Singles Chart. Last week's launch into the #51 slot listed Travis' release as one of the "High Debuts," and with 38% of the stations reporting conversions, "Forever Together" shows no signs of slowing down whatsoever. Other stations reporting strong chart movement on Travis include KHOZ-FM in Harrison, AR; WIXX in New Richmond, WI; KWKH in Shreveport, LA and WMDH-FM in New Castle, IN.

Supergroup Alabama rolls through the chart once again as stations such as KFGO in Fargo, ND; WAAC-FM in Valdosta, GA and KRPT in Anadarko, OK report "Then Again" a once-again Alabama favorite of its radio listeners. Such active airplay has moved this latest Alabama release from last week's #46 position to #30 this week, after only two weeks on the Top 100.

Last but certainly not least is country new-group Little Texas, which busts on the Top 100 in a big way. The group's debut single, with a title that certainly compares to their early success ("Some Guys Have All The Luck"), advances from last week's #52 to #39—becoming one of this week's Most Active records. Heavy rotation for the debut single was noted by panel reporters such as WOW in Omaha, NE; WRKZ-FM in Hershey, PA; WXBW-FM in Pace, FL and WKML-FM in Fayetteville, NC.

BEHIND THE MIC—A new concept in country radio programming recently debuted nationwide offering current hits, interviews and concert segments. Hosted by award-winning disc jockey Icahabod Caine of KMPS Radio in Seattle, WA, the hour-long, syndicated radio show features country's top songs, interviews with recording artists and a fantasy concert segment called Center Stage, which airs clips from recent concerts. The show is sponsored by L'Eggs products and will run for 26 weeks with scheduled guests including Garth Brooks, Randy Travis, George Strait, Mary Chapin-Carpenter and Vince Gill.

WMZQ Radio and the Livingston Square merchants recently hosted the 12th Annual Ronald McDonald House Celebrity Auction at Livingston Square in Fort Washington, MD. "We were delighted to work with WMZQ," said Peggy Mills, manager of Giant Shopping Center promotions. "It's because of WMZQ that this fundraiser has grown so much." The Ronald McDonald House serves as a home away from home for critically ill children and their families while they receive special care in nearby hospitals.

For this rodeo put up your boots and get out your bait 98 WSIX-FM in Nashville, TN and Busch Beer present the Kroger Million Dollar Fishin' Rodeo to be held October 10th-13th at Percy Priest Lake in Nashville. In making the announcement, Steve Moore, producer of the event said, "We believe this event will be one of the largest fishing rodeos ever, with the potential for a winner to catch the tagged bluegill worth $1 million." The event will be hosted by WSIX air personality Bubba Skynard. For more information including registration and tickets call 98 WSIX-FM at 615-664-2400.

Barbara Barri of KZLA Radio enjoyed a visit from Mark Miller, lead singer of the country group Sawyer Brown, whose latest single "The Walk" stepped into #3 this week on the Cash Box Top 100 Singles countdown. Miller stopped into promote Sawyer Brown's recent concert in Los Angeles.

ALBUM ACTION THIS WEEK—The current success of Sawyer Brown's "The Walk" single, which edges closer to the top of the single's chart from #4 to #3 this week, has additionally sparked heavy sales reports on their latest album entitled Buick. Accounts such as Valley Road Distribution in Woodland, CA; Warehouse Entertainment in Torrance, CA; and Seaport Record Distribution in Portland, OR note its tremendous selling power. Reports this week leap Buick from #43 to #28 on the Top 75 Album chart, which results in this week's Most Active.

Creating a zone of their own, the Texas foursome made up of Augie Meyers and Dough Sahm formally of the Sir Douglas Quintet, San Antonio neighbor Flaco Jimenez, and Freddie Fender are thundering through the charts calling themselves the Texas Tornados. Their second Epic release entitled Zone Of Their Own debuted last week at #46 and has sailed to #32 this week, garnering this week's Product Pick and Album to Watch. Gone Gold & Past Platinum

GILL, McENTIRE, DAVIS, TRITT, CHESNUTT AND STRAIT spark the latest country artists to garner the gold and platinum belts. Achieving gold album status (signifying sales in excess of 500,000 copies) for the month of August, 1991 were Vince Gill's Pocket Full Of Gold, Reba McEntire's My Kind Of Country, Mac Davis' Greatest Hits and Travis Tritt's It's All About To Change. Most recently, Mark Chesnutt's Too Cold At Home garnered the gold, after being in circulation for 10 months. Achieving platinum status (signifying sales in excess of one million copies) in August, 1991 were George Strait's Beyond The Blue Neon and If You Ain't Lovin' (You Ain't Livin') LPs.

According to a recent release from the Recording Industry Assn. Of America, Inc. (RIAA), Country Music witnessed a two percent increase in sales throughout the year 1990. Those figures are expected to increase drastically by the end of 1991, due to Country Music's accelerated growth within the past few months, including the so-called "Brooks Boom." Rock music continues to have the strongest sales, yet the largest growth is in the urban contemporary format—increasing 4.3 percent in 1990.

RABBITT GOES TEN ROUNDS WITH TONEY! Recording artist Eddie Rabbitt recently sparred with James Toney, middleweight boxing world champion, in Southfield, MI to promote Rabbitt's newly released Ten Rounds LP. Currently, Rabbitt's debut single from the project is at #38 on Cash Box's Top 100 Country Singles Chart.

INDIE INSIGHT

Jeannie C. Riley

HERE'S JEANNIE C., aside from being a great introduction is the title of Jeannie C. Riley's newest album release off the Playback/Laurie Records label. Continuing to bullet after 10 weeks on the Cash Box Top 100 Singles chart, the album's debut release entitled "Here's To the Cowboy" becomes the leading independent single this week.

As for introductions, "Riley is making them again," shall we say. Since the success of the show-promoting hit in the late 60's, "Harper Valley PTA," for which she is probably best known, Riley has released the self-produced Total Woman album, in addition to a collection of gospel recordings, one of which garnered a Dove nomination in 1981. Yet with Riley's last offering being a 1986 release (Jeannie C. Riley), fans from the mid-'80s era are being reawakened to Riley's warmth of song which this new album promises. "Here's To The Cowboy," which flaunts the singer's rippling, traditional vocals, pays tribute to the American western hero who remains loyal to the responsibilities of home and family.

CHECKING OUT THE CHART—Debuting independent artists this week include Art Buchanan, who moves in at #77 with "Honky Tonkin' Around," followed by Kassie Wesley and "Heart Outa Hand" at #78. On down the line is "Keep The Eagle Free" by Ken Artrip; Rick Arnold's "Wild Nights"; "I'm Going Out Of Your Mind" by Dew Watson; and Elo Davis with "I Can Almost Feel That Feeling."

INDIE FEATURE PICKS

■ JASON HAWKINS: "Don't It Ever Rain In Houston" (Fox Fire FF-152)
Producers: Jason Hawkins/Jennifer Foxx
Writer: Pete Ray

What depth! What control! Which direction will this record go? The answer is a definite "up," and much of the credit falls on newcomer Jason Hawkins, who proves once again that he is out to make a positive and hard-hitting impact on Country Music. Hawkins' latest release, entitled "Don't It Ever Rain In Houston," slaps us with a haunting ballad enriched with heart-probing lyrics and a deep-rippling vocal performance.

■ JOSIAH: "(Girls That Look) A Little Like You" (WTM 7729)
Producers: J.C. Weaver/Jack Brown
Writers: Bucky Allred/John Alsip

Another new name on the country scene is this country-rocker who digs deep when it comes to unleashing material with a dash of gut and grind. Josiah flavors up this cut with just the right vocal seasoning—hard-edged and driving. "(Girls That Look) A Little Like You" turns out a country/rock-n-roll tune with instrumental licks that smoke—definitely a touch of spice for the playlist!

■ SCOTT PENNELL: "Pillow Talk" (Killer K-145)

■ ERNIE ASHWORTH: "You Changed A Rolling Stone" (Playback P-1356)

■ TWO FOR THE MONEY: "Playin' It By Heart" (Ridgewood R-3023)

AMOA EXPO: Tales Of The Expected

By Doc English

AMOA EXPO '91 HAD NO SURPRISES, according to most operators; no astounding technology, no jump to another level of imagination, nothing unexpected. Nevertheless, operators liked the equipment they saw, but they bridled and bristled at the high prices. Most kits, once the best buy for your buck, are now commonly $1,400 and $1,500, rarely are there any under $1,000. Ten thousand dollar sitdown games—once unique arcade centerpieces—are too, too common. One operator declined to go to the Vegas show. His reason, "Why should I look at a lot of stuff I can't afford to pay for?" Another, upon being quoted one manufacturer's eye popping, jaw dropping price for a sitdown, responded, "They're not bashful, are they?" Many operators and distributors consider these wildly spiralling prices one of the chief obstacles to the recovery of the industry. More and more the word "budget" is creeping into the operator's conversation—whether he's a far flung arcade chain or a neighborhood mom and pop operation. There was a considerable amount of window shopping at the show, and manufacturers will have to battle for the buck, because you can't buy everything!

Two styles of video dominated the exhibition—four player, 25" monitor, dedicated fighting games and jumbo, arcade sitdowns. American Technos' Wrestlefest, hot going into the show and hotter coming out, leads a potentially strong group of punch, kick, jump, shoot, action games—Data East's Captain America, Sega's Spiderman, Capcom's Captain Commando, Konami's Vendetta and Konami's Sunset Rider. Significantly, Wrestlefest, Vendetta and Sunset Rider will be kits, too. These come highly recommended.

The sitdowns are led by the high earning Atari Steel Talons, a two-player helicopter gunship simulator with Race Drivin' graphics. Operators give this the edge over Namco's Starblade, a single player space war with Race Drivin' graphics. Other entrants in the derby: Sega Rail Chase and Rad Rally, one an Indiana Jones mining car adventure, the other a two-player sequel to Rad Mobile. Taito offered the reasonably priced Double Axle two-player monster truck mayhem. And don't forget Atari Road Riot Deluxe—still topping the charts. The problem? Who can afford them all, and if you could where would you put them all? Knock out a wall and build an addition!

Some significant videos did not fall into these two categories. The systems—SNK NEO-GEO, more solid software, the longer you consider it, the better it looks. An excellent investment. Once in, you can buy four kits for the price of a single kit from another factory. Nintendo Super R—trying to get back on the board with their improved graphics, three game system, and lives rather than time play. Leland Dragon's Lair II—can it recapture the magic of Dragon's Lair? Further adventures to follow. The only upright driver, Taito Double Axle, is priced very right for the street operator. Hit potential. Two from Williams—Super High Impact Football, a sequel to the wildly successful High Impact, both dedicated and with card dispenser and kit; and Terminator 2, double gun action capitalizing on Tee-Two-Mania. Betson's Who Shot Johnny Rock? Chapter two in the Mad Dog McCree story.

Kits. We mentioned some of the top choices already. Others include Sega's D.D. Crew, McO'River's duo—Karate Blazers and a rare vertical Turbo Force; Romstar's King Of The Dragon; and two kits that cop the priced-right award (both under a thousand dollars), Irem's Atomic Punk, a bomb demolition adventure; and Atari's Off The Wall, in the tradition of Arkanoid, Breakout and Warlords. Most operators reacted with conflicting emotions to the kits. They admitted they would be willing to pay the long dollar for a hit kit as high powered as Street Fighter II, but, manufacturers beware, they would not pay that dollar for anything less than the cream!

Redemption was wide open at the show. No clear cut frontrunner. Namco's Golly! Ghost!, a two-player sitdown gun game with a diorama backdrop and a ghostbusters theme, was generously applauded; as was Laser Tron's Bank-It, a Wedges and Ledges concept with a basketball shooter and basket; and I.C.E.'s Hungry Hippo. The lineup included Bromley's The Simpsons's ... Exidy's 4 x 4, Gamco's The Boogiemani, Coastal Pop-a-tic-tac-toe, FABTEK's Clown Around and Leprechaun's Pot Of Gold. Any one of which could emerge as a hit. The reigning king: Data East Hop-A-Tic-Tac-Toe!

Pinball. Very much alive and well represented. Williams' Terminator 2, riding piggyback on Schwartzegger's shoulders; Data East Batman—The Joker's Wild; the goulsh tongue-in-cheek humor of Premier's Class Of 1812 (and you get rap and Tchaikovsky, too); and Bally's Party Zone. With such good product, it's too bad the factories have somewhat undermined their success by hopping aboard the price hiking escalator.

Darts, pool tables, air hockeys, foosballs and music. They seem to rise as video recedes. The instability of video is in sharp contrast to the steadiness of this equipment. Most video fades quickly, needs rotating; these you just plunk down and virtually forget about them. In video we cry out for new themes and new ideas; but in darts, pool and air hockey, and foosball, the game basically remains the same (still six pockets and 15 numbered balls).

Music and compact discs still surge ahead. With the advent of the new technology, no single phonograph dominates anyone—Rock-Ola, Rowe, NSM, Pioneer, Wurliizer—all share a blossoming field.

Operators, shepherd your dollars and buy! There's equipment out there that will make a difference! Would it were cheaper!

AMOA EXPO '91 REVISITED

(As previously reported in Cash Box, this year's AMOA convention in Las Vegas was among the association's most successful to date. There were 782 booths on the exhibit floor, which kept the CB photog quite on the go. Following are some additional shots to those already featured in our previous edition. We must now make room for the numerous post-Expo festivities!)

Williams' Super High Impact, pictured with design team members Ed Boone and John Newcomer, was among the big attractions in the factory's exhibit.

This is Taito's Supersonic Blastman redemption piece, surrounded by Chi op Ed Velasquez, Taito America's Rick Rochetti, Natalie Kulig, Yoshi Suzuki and Emilio Cabrera and CB's George Albert.

Took this shot of a group of ops from Germany and Holland who were quite taken with Sega's Time Traveler"; and they include Michael Baird, Manfred Wege and Nick Hommeron.

Looking so lovely (center) is Leah Bettelman, our hostess at the big C.A. Robinson & Co. party that was held during Expo; and with her are Diane and Stan Jarocki.

Pioneer Laser Entertainment prexy Ted Karasawa proudly posing with the factory's popular PLE CD jukebox in the factory's exhibit.

This photo was taken in the Leland suite as prexy John Rowe explained the new Dragon's Lair II machine to members of the trade press.

Namco's Tom Siemieniec smiles for the CB photog as showgoers obviously enjoy the factory's new Golly Ghost redemption piece!

In the ever-crowded Williams Bally/Midway exhibit, with regional sales chief Lesley Ross, wishing the placard on her right was the real live Arnold.

Here's a shot of the Bromley exhibit, with "Capt." George Gomez (who designed & developed Hawk Avenger), Luran Bromley and Minerva Santiago!

Manufacturers Join Area Ops At Atlas Showing

CHICAGO—Covering the Atlas Distributing, Inc. post-Expo showing was like being back in Las Vegas at the national convention and seeing so many of the industry's major manufacturers! They all came in to participate and assist Atlas executives Jerry Marcus and Ed Pellegrini in demonstrating the full lineup of new equipment that was on display for area operators to examine. It would take an extra paragraph just to identify them so we will let the accompanying photos suffice. Event took place on Thursday, Sept. 19 in the Chicago headquarters of Atlas, at 4500 W. Dickens. Food and beverages were available throughout the day; and, as usual, the hospitality of the house was graciously extended by the Atlas staff to everyone who attended.

What an impressive group! We counted 26 manufacturer reps in this photo alone—you'll recognize them; and we might have even missed a few!

FABTEK's new Clown Around redemption piece, surrounded by Atlas' Jerry Marcus, Konami's Steve Kaufman, FABTEK's Frank Ballouz and Nintendo's Mike Minor.

Showing off the new Karate Blazers is Leprechaun prexy Bill Cravens (r) with Ted Wiederanders.

Among the featured pins on the floor was Gottlieb's 1812, pictured with Premier's Mike Vrettos, general manager of the amusement game division.

At the wheel of Taito America's Double Axle is the firm's marketing manager Natalie Kulig—looking as lovely as ever!

Marc Kahan, president of Just For Fun family amusement centers, posin' with Atari's Jim Newlander and Atlas's Jerry Marcus.
