EDITORIAL Key To Success

This year's Summer Consumer Electronics Show (CES), currently underway in Chicago, is especially notable for the opportunity it presents to further the growing cooperation between the hardware and software segments of the home entertainment industry. For the first time in history, the Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA) will officially participate in the show, joining the National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) and the Consumer Electronics Group/Electronics Industry Assn. in a comprehensive cross-merchandising effort.

With the rise of video, the increasing proliferation of audiophile product and the always improving electronic technology of the industry, cooperation between hardware and software manufacturers is vital to the complete development of the home entertainment concept. Hardware and software manufacturers should mutually benefit from this effort.

Cooperation is the key. With so many alternatives extant, it is important to develop workable methods to effectively expand and enhance the existing markets. The public has shown that it wants what the companies have to offer — it is now up to the home entertainment industry to respond efficiently.

Cash Box recognizes this need for cooperation and applauds the efforts of the RIAA, NARM and the Consumer Electronics Group/Electronics Industry Assn. to drive the message home. The home entertainment industry is standing on the threshold of an exciting new era. It is up to the industry to see that it happens.

MCA, CBS Hike Wholesale Prices For LP Product

by Michael Martinez and Richard Imamura

LOS ANGELES — MCA and CBS have announced wholesale price hikes of 3.5% and three percent, respectively, on both $7.98 and $8.98 list items. The MCA action was effective Friday, June 13, while the CBS price hike is scheduled to become effective June 30.

In line with MCA's seven-tiered price structure, $7.98 list product will wholesale for as low as $4.24 for pure sub-distributors, rack jobbers and one-stops up to a high of $4.53 for normal retail accounts. Prices for $8.98 product will range from a low of $4.77 to a high of $5.10.

Intermediate categories in MCA's pricing structure, listed from lowest to highest, include predominantly subdistributors with some retail accounts; multiple-store chains with a central warehouse; multiple-store chains without a central warehouse, but with central billing and ordering; and small retail chains.

CBS' wholesale increase, according to retail sources, will price $7.98 items as low as $4.23 up to a high of $4.51. Wholesale prices for $8.98 list product will range from $4.75 up to $5.09. CBS' nine-tiered wholesale pricing system charges rack ac-

AFM Meet Will Focus On Fiscal Uncertainties

by Michael Martinez

PORTLAND, Maine — The American Federation of Musicians' (AFM) 83rd annual convention, which began here June 16, is focusing on in-house issues with a particular emphasis on diminishing the organization's financial deficit and securing additional revenues from local branch income to abate future deficits.

The convention, which is being held at the Civic Center here, will also encompass deliberation on about 92 other resolutions entered by delegates, locals and the International Executive board of the federation.

Nominations for four international officers and five executive committee posts are also scheduled business for Tuesday, with secret ballot elections to follow on Wednesday.

But according to Victor W. Fuentealba, AFM president since 1978, who delivered the keynote address Monday, the issue of prime concern will be the federation's $2 million expenditures over income during the last four years.

"We must find a solution to our fiscal problems," Fuentealba told Cash Box.

During the 1979 convention, the federation attempted to increase revenues to the diminished coffers when delegates voted to up the per capita dues from $10 annually to $12. The delegates also voted to begin holding conventions biennially, which the organization reported would save $450,000 each year it is not held.

One measure that is expected to spark ardent debate is a two-part resolution entered by the International Executive Board, which, one, calls for a mandatory two percent work-dues levy. Currently the federation has no such mandate, which in effect, allows each local to apply its own work-dues up to a maximum of four percent. The proposal would require all locals to have work dues of at least two percent and also require that one percent be forwarded to the federation. The remainder would be

Inter-Industry Cooperation Will Be Emphasized At 1980 Summer CES

by Michael Glynn

CHICAGO — The spotlight will be on inter-industry cooperation and cross-merchandising as the Summer Consumer Electronics Show (CES) opens its four-day run here June 15 at the McCormick Place where a record 60,000 electronics and record industry representatives are expected to be on hand.

Underscoring the growing interaction between these two industries, both with a major stake in the home entertainment market, is the fact that the RIAA will for the first time officially participate in the annual CES audio/video cross-merchandising display of hardware and software, jointly sponsored by the Consumer Electronics Group/Electronics Industry Assn. (CEG/EIA) and the National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM).

Now in its fourth year, the cross-merchandising display represents "the continued commitment on behalf of our allied industries to alert retailers to the various possible techniques and opportunities for cross-merchandising records and tapes with consumer electronics products," according to Joe Cohen, executive vice president of NARM.

The display center will be equipped with Sanyo and Panasonic videocassette players, as well as Pioneer LaserDisc and Magnavox MagnaVision videodisc

A&R Function Of Independent Producers Is Growing Among Major Record Manufacturers

By Richard Gold

NEW YORK — As most labels respond to recessionary pressures by cutting back their signings of new artists and streamlining their in-house production staffs, independent production companies are assuming increasingly important roles in developing artists and delivering product to the record companies. Although the trend toward reliance upon independent producers has been emerging for several years, it is now apparent that they have evolved into vital extensions of the labels' artist & repertoire functions.

"We look at ourselves as an A&R department," said Martin Bandier, a co-owner with Charles Koppleman of The Entertainment Company which moved from publishing into record production over four years ago. Bandier said that his company originally decided to enter production in order to provide its writers and writer-artists with a direct outlet for recording. Presently, new artists account for approximately 20% of the firm's productions, Bandier said. "In some instances we pay for finished recordings ourselves and in other cases we make a deal prior to production. We do all of the functions that an A&R department does, with a staff of four producers and tons of writers at our disposal."

Recently, The Entertainment Company produced an album by an unknown group called Heat, spending $75,000 in the process, according to Bandier. "MCA never even saw them or heard them until we delivered the completed album," Bandier said, adding that the label had entered into a "handshake" commitment with the production company on the strength of its established track record. The label's faith in the producers' A&R judgement was rewarded when the single, "Baby (This Love That We've Found)" climbed to #46 on the Cash Box Black Contemporary chart.

The development of undiscovered artists is one of the most important functions of independent production companies, according to Michael Zager, who is a co-owner of Love-Zager Productions, Inc., with Jerry Love. When the company was formed five years ago much of its business came from working with new artists, Zager said, because of a fundamental reality of the music business. "All new production companies start by trying to find unknowns

Singles, Cassettes Up; LPs, 8-Tracks Down During '79

By Richard Imamura

LOS ANGELES — Manufacturers' shipment of singles and pre-recorded cassettes were up, while albums and pre-recorded eight-tracks dropped during 1979, according to figures released by the Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA). Overall, total record shipments (singles and albums) dropped 5.4% from 1978, and total tape shipments also decreased 7.4%.

Total record shipments of 502.2 million units in 1979 represented a dollar valuation (based on list price) of $2.4 billion, down 11.8% from the $2.7 billion generated in 1978 by the shipment of 531.1 million units.

Shipment of singles, including disco 12" product, reached 212 million units for the year, up 11.6% from 1978. As a result, singles revenues for the year jumped 35.8% to $353.6 million. The significant increase in singles revenue was largely due to the higher list price of the 12" product.

On the other hand, shipment of albums during the year dropped 15% to 290.2 million units, down from 341.3 million units in 1978. Likewise, album revenues dropped 16.8% for the year, from $2.5 billion in 1978 to $2.1 billion last year.

Total tape shipments for the year reached 180.8 million units, down 7.4% from the 194.9 million units shipped during 1978. Total tape revenues of $1.2 billion represented a 9.6% drop from the $1.4 billion generated during 1978.

Shipment of cassettes for the year rose 28.9%, from 61.3 million units in 1978 to 78.5 million units last year. Total revenues

Blank Tapes Lead Growing Sales Of Accessories For Record Retailers

by Michael Glynn

LOS ANGELES — Blank audio and video tape, record care products, needles, cartridges, sheet music, songbooks and other general accessory items have become increasingly important to the record retailer's profit picture. From 10-15% of most retailers' sales revenue is now derived from blank tape and other accessories, according to a Cash Box survey, and the markup on such items can range from 30-100% or more.

The survey also indicated that blank audio tape makes up 50% or more of all retail accessory sales, where retailers classified blank tape as an accessory item. Many retailers also noted that although sales of blank video tape is still spotty and sluggish in particular regions of the U.S., they remain optimistic that as VCR population grows, so will the video tape market.

Retailers also noted that the high profit items take up a commensurate amount of floor space to sales, in the vicinity of 10-15%, including wall and rear counter areas. While adding that there were no present plans to expand the amount of floor space devoted to accessories in present outlets, many retailers pointed out that projected stores would have more accessory space.

Important Merchandise

"Accessories are our bread and butter," said Ann Lief, vice president of the 13-store Spec's Music chain in Miami. "Especially so in these times when labels are raising their prices and cutting fewer and fewer deals."

Larry Coulter, accessories buyer for Father's and Sun's of Indianapolis, record wholesaler and owner of the eight-store Karma Records retail chain, stated, "We try to convince retailers that you keep yourself alive on records and make your money off the accessories, if you want to run a profitable store. A lot of retailers overlook the profitability of accessories, which actually take up little floor space."

Coulter added that Father's and Sun's has as much as $55,000 invested in accessories "on an ongoing month-by-month basis," while a large chain, such as the 59-store National Record Mart chain of Pittsburgh, (owners of the Oasis chain as well) has upwards of $1 million invested in accessory stock, according to Jim Grimes, vice president of merchandising.

Better Shelf Life

"Accessories present no inventory problems and have a better shelf life than

NMPA Submits Mechanical Royalty Fee Proposal

By Earl B. Abrams

WASHINGTON — The National Music Publishers Assn. (NMPA) submitted proposed regulations to the Copyright Royalty Tribunal (CRT) last week that would, if adopted, change the mechanical royalty fee from the present 2.75 cents per song to six percent of the suggested retail price of a record, album or tape.

The proposed regulations, the first time such a proposal has been submitted in a specific form, came as the NMPA concluded its direct testimony in the CRT hearings which have been in progress for more than 90 days.

Some notable points concerning the proposed regulations are the adjustment of royalties, requirements of filing notice of intention to obtain a compulsory license and notices of changes in suggested retail list price.

The royalty adjustment calls for each work on a phono record to receive a portion of the six percent of the suggested list price based on units per work, which are determined by the length of the work, divided by the total number of units on the phono record.

The required notice of intention to obtain compulsory license under the proposal must include a statement setting forth the suggested retail list price of the phono record, the titles, copyright owners, and playing times of each work on the record, the share of the phono record attributed to Elektra/Asylum's soundtrack to the Bob Evans/Irving Azoff produced film Urban Cowboy looks like it's going to be one of the biggest records of the summer. After only six weeks on the Cash Box Pop LP chart, the album has shot to #27 bullet, and the two-record set has jumped to #9 bullet on the Country Album chart.

The unique package contains 18 selections comprising 16 newly recorded songs, nine written especially for the film, and runs the gamut of popular music styles — pop, A/C, country rock, mainstream country and straight ahead rock 'n' roll. The diverse LP is the perfect complement to the film that is very much a modern day western.

In the film, John Travolta plays Bud Davis, who escapes the daily rigors of working in a petrochemical plant by turning into an "urban cowboy" on the Houston club scene at night. The plot is based on a feature article written by Aaron Latham for Esquire, and the film is directed by James (China Syndrome) Bridges.

While Bud Davis marries and encounters a host of lovely women and barroom villains throughout the plot, the movie's music is as important as any character in the film. The score was adapted by Ralph Burns and coordinated by Becky Shargo who have taken the score-oriented film to new heights with Urban Cowboy.

"We wanted to create a much more contemporary mood than might be expected in a movie heavily involved in country music," noted Shargo.

And while songs by country music great Mickey Gilley are included on the record, the soundtrack is devoted to songs by pop/country acts Kenny Rogers and Anne Murray, country rock artists Charlie Daniels and Jimmy Buffett, and no holds barred rock 'n' rollers Bob Seger and Joe Walsh.

With other artists such as Boz Scaggs, Bonnie Raitt, Johnny Lee, Dan Fogelberg and John David Souther & Linda Ronstadt on the LP, the record should not only stay high on the charts for weeks to come, but should prove a sign post to the fact that country and pop have more in common today than they ever have before.

RIAA/VIDEO Set To Convene At CES

CHICAGO — More than two dozen charter members were expected at the June 14 Chicago invitational organization meeting of RIAA/VIDEO, the new division of the Recording Industry Association of America. Members of the division include companies or divisions of firms who are manufacturers, or licensed to market, prerecorded videograms — tape or disc — solely in the family entertainment home market.

The charter group was to discuss priority goals; elect a 15 member video council, with a chairman and two other representatives to serve on the RIAA Board of Directors, and decide on a dues structure to fund the first year's activities.

Stanley Gortikov, president of RIAA, and Stephen Traiman, executive director of RIAA, will have parallel responsibility with RIAA/VIDEO.

Charter members of RIAA/VIDEO include ABC Video Enterprises, Allied Artists Video Corp., Blackhawk Films, CBS Video Enterprises, Columbia Pictures Home Entertainment, Digital Video Systems, EMI Videograms, Fotomat Video Operations, Home Theatre/VCI, Magnetic Video, MCA DiscoVision, MCA Videocassette Inc., Music Image, Nostalgia Merchant, Pioneer Artists, Paramount Home Video, RCA Records, RCA SelectaVision Videodiscs, Sony Video Products, Time Life Video, The Video Society, Utopia Video, Video Communications, Inc. (VCI); Goodhue Productions; Films, Inc.; Instant Replay, Video Corp. of America, Video Tape Network, Visual-Records, and WCI Home Video.

CBS, Sony Announce New Pact For Distribution Of Mastersound Series

LOS ANGELES — CBS Records and Sony Industries have pacted for the label's Mastersound audiophile records and tapes to be distributed by Sony's Hi Fi division to its network of audio dealers, a move that will commence at the summer Consumer Electronics Show (CES) held in Chicago June 15-18.

The product line encompasses digitally recorded and mastered discs, half-speed mastered discs and chromium dioxide extended range cassettes. (Cash Box, May 24). All three formats, which carry a suggested list price of $14.98, cover a variety of music idioms including pop, classical and jazz.

Commenting on the collaboration, Joseph F. Dash, vice president and general manager of CBS Masterworks, and also project head of the Mastersound audiophile line, said, "We welcome this opportunity to collaborate with Sony in advancing the Mastersound line.

"Given Sony's excellent distribution network and high reputation for quality products, we are assured that this program will prove very successful," he added.

Frank Leonardi, vice president and general manager of Sony Industries' Hi Fi Division, additionally said, "The significance of Sony's combining efforts with a major recording company is that we have now embarked on a program to support the audiophile with both hardware and software."

Mastersound's June releases include digital recordings on disc and cassette of Stravinsky's Petrouchka (Zubin Mehta conducting the New York Philharmonic), Richard Strauss's Tone Poems (Lorin Maazel conducting the Cleveland Orchestra), Shostakovich's Symphony No. 5 (Leonard Bernstein conducting the New York Philharmonic) and Max Roach's "M'Boom." In addition, the June Mastersound product release includes half-speed mastered discs of Pink Floyd's "Wish You Were Here"; Bruce Springsteen's "Born To Run"; Boston's "Boston"; and Billy Joel's "The Stranger."

The July Mastersound release schedule features digital recordings on disc and cassette of Haydn's "Theresien" Mass (Leonard Bernstein conducting the London Symphony Orchestra); "Music Of The Galaxies" (Ettore Stratta conducting the London Symphony Orchestra); and Prokofiev's Symphony No. 5 (Leonard Bernstein conducting the Israeli Philharmonic); and "Lazar Berman at Carnegie Hall" (a two-disc set not available in cassette form). Also included are half-speed mastered discs of Neil Diamond's "You Don't Bring Me Flowers"; Barbra Streisand's "Greatest Hits Volume II"; Boz Scaggs' "Silk Degrees"; and Electric Light Orchestra's "Discovery."

Seven of the eight digitally recorded Mastersound releases were recorded and edited with Sony PCM equipment.

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Bernadette Peters

Many recording artists labor a lifetime in the studio striving to achieve a perfect balance of elements between production, arrangements, musicians and material. For Bernadette Peters, a show business veteran with over 20 years of experience on stage, screen and TV, that elusive chemistry was present on her very first solo recording experience and the result is an appetizing assortment of musical styles, from MOR to R&B to rock and a Top 40 single, "Gee Whiz."

The resulting success of Peters' self-titled MCA album and single, then, was no mere fluke, according to the effervescent comedienne cum singer. Carefully planned, but not calculated, the project had been in the back of Peters' mind for several years, but it wasn't until she met producer Brooks Arthur that she finally decided the timing was right.

"I've always had an interest in doing my own album, but the right elements never quite jelled together," said Peters. "Then, my agent contacted Brooks Arthur, and after talking for some time, we knew that we wanted to work together."

Arthur brought his considerable production experience, which included work with Janis Ian, Bette Midler and a Grammy Award winning LP by comedian Robin Williams, to the sessions and with three original cast recordings for Broadway musicals under her own belt, Peters was no stranger to the studio. But Peters pointed out that the selection of material for the album had to be perfectly suited to her individual vocal style and musical orientation for the performances to be truly convincing.

"We wanted to keep our integrity and honesty, above all, on this album," stressed Peters. "I didn't want to sing like I came from a place, musically, that I didn't. I grew up on rock 'n' roll and I loved The Crystals and 'He's A Rebel' by the Shangri Las, but it's just one side of my life. Whatever I sing has to be me."

As an actress who has starred in such musical stage productions as Gypsy, George M (for which she won a Theatre Award citation), Dames At Sea, La Strada, On The Town and Mack And Mabel (the latter two of which garnered her Tony nominations), Peters is well known for her theatrical flair. Not surprisingly, she employed her role-playing talents and techniques in the making of the LP.

"Most of the songs were recorded live in the studio, and I would come in a different costume for each particular song we recorded," noted Peters gleefully. "That really helped me capture the exact mood of the song, but it was fun, too."

A teenage love for the music of Tin Pan Alley prompted Peters to turn to the songs of Barry Mann & Cynthia Weill, Neil Sedaka, and Jerry Lieber & Mike Stoller for material, but, ironically, Carla Thomas' "Gee Whiz" was an eleventh hour addition to the project.

"It was my favorite song when it came out in junior high school, but I nearly didn't mention it to Brooks when we began recording the album," said a now-bashful Peters. "But he loved the idea of doing it, and I guess it worked."

Robbie Dupree

Add the name of Robbie Dupree to the list of "overnight sensations" who have been, in fact, honing their craft for many years. Born Robbie Dupuis (of French extraction) in Brooklyn, New York, the young teenager spent much of his spare time in the '50s hanging around street corners with friends emulating the popular a capella doo-wop groups of the day.

"The first music I was exposed to was through people like Vito and the Salutations and Dion and the Belmonts," the 33 year old Elektra recording artist recalls. Of his Brooklyn heritage he proudly states, "It's a very neighborhood-oriented place, which breeds a very special closeness among all types of people."

At the age of 17, Dupree enlisted in the Navy, and while stationed at a land base in Chicago, spent his weekends listening to blues greats like Muddy Waters and James Cotton which inspired him to take up the blues harmonica. Upon his discharge two years later (1966), Dupree pleasantly discovered that blues was a very prevailing musical genre. "Blues had become like pop music," he explains. "All the musicians I used to go see at the Fillmore East, like Paul Butterfield, Taj Mahal, Cream and B.B. King were all considered pop stars."

It was at this time that Dupree formed a blues based aggregation with guitarist Nile Rodgers, now of the popular group Chic. Playing in bars and strip joints all over New York, they even did a tour of prisons which took them from Attica to Sing Sing.

After leaving the blues band, Dupree spent the next three years kicking around New York, before settling in Woodstock in 1971.

Being there afforded Dupree the opportunity of being exposed to people like Todd Rundgren and The Band who were different from the type of musicians he had previously come across. "It was great for a rookie like me to rub shoulders with people like that and gather a reputation for myself."

After playing for the next five years with bands and going nowhere, in 1978, at the age of 31, Dupree actively sought out a solo career for himself with the aid of producers Rick Chudacoff and Peter Bunetta, two pals from his Woodstock days. "For two years we worked on this demo tape which we borrowed money to make, and the musicians and the studios all did it for nothing, just on speculation. Then some 20 odd record companies passed on it which was really agonizing for me, so I thought that maybe it just wasn't right, and I quit the business for awhile."

While working as a carpet layer in Queens early this year, Dupree's musical fortunes changed. "I got a phone call late one night from Al Bunetta (his manager) who told me that Elektra/Asylum had flipped over the tape and wanted to record me."

From this tape, the self-penned "Steal Away" became a national top ten hit. "I always felt that 'Steal Away' was the song which would open the door if any one would," he enthuses.

"After that," he adds hopefully, "it's just up to me to keep the fans happy by continuing to make records that they will like."

Record Outlets Will Play Major Role In Growth Of Home Video, Says Leslie

LOS ANGELES — Although initial distribution patterns for video-cassettes and videodiscs continue to focus on electronics hardware outlets, record retailers will figure prominently in the growth of home video.

This beginning marketing tack applies to the major entertainment conglomerates, including CBS Inc. which recently announced a joint video venture with MGM called MGM/CBS Home Video. However, according to Cy Leslie, president of CBS Video Enterprises Division, this should in no way be construed as an attempt to minimize the role of record wholesalers and retailers in the emerging video field.

Says Leslie: "A brief examination of my own industry background, along with a

Columbia To Obtain Balance Of McCartney LP Catalog By 1983

LOS ANGELES — Columbia Records has begun re-releasing selected albums from the Paul McCartney and Wings catalogs following the transfer of rights from Capitol Records. "McCartney," "Wildlife," "Ram," "Red Rose Speedway" and "Band On The Run" were the first catalog items included in the Columbia re-release.

The balance of the McCartney and Wings catalog will be acquired by Columbia according to the following schedule: "Venus And Mars" in the spring, "Wings Over America" in 1981, and "London Town" and "Wings Greatest Hits" in 1983. All of the catalog items will retain their original packages as Columbia re-releases.

The rights to the catalog are being transferred back to McCartney on a piece-by-piece basis relative to each individual album's original release date, said a Capitol spokesman.

Columbia, which has McCartney signed to a long-term contract, then acquires the rights under systematic arrangement with Capitol, according to Barbara Cook, director of east coast merchandising for Columbia. "Hypothetically, let's say Capitol released 'Wings Greatest Hits' in November of 1978," said Cook. "They would have that record for, say, five years, and our acquirement would correspond directly to the time they first put the album out."

John Eastman of McCartney's management firm of Eastman & Eastman would not comment on the length of time that it would take for each piece of product to be transferred to Columbia from Capitol, but he did say that Columbia has a five-year license to manufacture and distribute McCartney and Wings catalog in the U.S.

reading of my NARM address and the commitment of the CBS Records Group, would have gone a long way toward understanding that my interest is and will be to strongly encourage record industry participation in this new home video market — and this includes record rackjobbers, all of whom are logical conduits to the ultimate service of the retailer and consumer."

Leslie's statement was in response to several prominent record merchandisers who have expressed concern over the projected initial distribution network for MGM/CBS Home Video (Cash Box, June 14).

Pryor Sustains Severe Burns In Freak Blaze

LOS ANGELES — At presstime, comedian Richard Pryor, who was burned over 50% of his upper body in a freak fire in his home June 6, was listed in critical but stable condition at nearby Sherman Oaks Hospital.

Police had reported June 7 that the 39-year-old Grammy award winner had told a doctor that he had been "Freebasing" cocaine when ether used in the process caught on fire and set Pryor aflame.

However, Pryor's doctor denied telling police of such an incident, and Pryor's attorney and professional manager David Franklin said that the accident occurred while Pryor was lighting a cigarette and drinking rum.

While Pryor's condition remains critical, doctors are encouraged by his apparent good spirits. Pryor will be undergoing skin grafting operations within the next few days.

Practising Law Institute To Hold Music Seminar

NEW YORK — The Practising Law Institute (PLI) of New York is sponsoring a seminar on the music business in New York City, June 18-20. Donald E. Biederman, partner in the Los Angeles law firm of Mitchell, Silberberg and Knupp will chair the seminar, which is titled: Legal and Business Aspects of the Music Industry.

Some of the panelists already scheduled include: Martin N. Bandier, executive vice president and general manager, The Entertainment Company; Albert Berman, president, The Harry Fox Agency; Herbert A. Granath, vice president, ABC Video; and Tony Martell, vice president and general manager, Associated Labels, CBS.

The seminars will be held at the N.Y. Sheraton Hotel at 55th and Seventh. For further details phone (212) 765-5700.

ANYTIME, ANYPLACE, ANYWHERE — Key executives of MCA Records and MCA Distributing recently embarked on a major promotional tour in support of the June 20 release of Rossington Collins' debut album, "Anytime, Anyplace, Anywhere." The MCA entourage visited 22 cities in two days to play the new release and introduce the group to radio, retail and the press. Pictured departing in the back row are (l-r): Al Bergamo, president of MCA Distributing; Neil Hartley, vice president of national accounts; John Burns, director of National Sales; Bob Siner, president of MCA Records; Bob Osborn, associate director of album promotion. Pictured in the front row are (l-r) Denny Rosencrantz, vice president of A&R; Rob Senn, director of field operations; Sam Passamano, Sr., executive vice president of MCA Distributing; Santo Russo, vice president of product development; and Beth Rosengard, national director of album promotion.

HEROES — Commodores — Motown M8-939M1 — Producers: John Anthony Carmichael and Commodores — List: 8.98

Commodores are helping pioneer the new A/C era that black music has embarked upon with songs such as the Tuskegee sextet's "Sail On" and Peaches & Herb's "Reunited." The band's LP, especially the title cut, might go down as the classic work of the yet-young genre. Even up-tempo numbers such as "Got To Be Together" and "Celebrate" have a strong easy listening feel to them. A killer crossover record.

THE BLUES BROTHERS — Atlantic SD 16017 — Producer: Bob Tischler — List: 8.98

This LP is the motion picture soundtrack to the upcoming film that follows the exploits of the notorious soul men from Chi town Elwood and Jake. The LP is chocked full of old R&B and rock classics like "Gimme Some Lovin'," James Brown's "The Old Landmark" and novelties like Cab Calloway's "Minnie The Moocher." Stax greats Steve Cropper and Duck Dunn are responsible for the sound, and legends such as Ray Charles and Aretha Franklin join in on the fun, too.

TOMCATTIN' — Blackfoot — ATCO SD 32-101 — Producers: Al Nalli and Henry Weck — List: 7.98

When Blackfoot's debut effort "Strikes" came out last year, all interested parties must have been quite nonplussed when it hung around the charts for months and very unobtrusively went gold. "Tomcattin'" is a superb follow-up to that initial breakout response and should quite easily propel this band to even greater heights. Again, the emphasis is on maximum volume, full-tilt boogie rock performed with conviction and a mind boggling sense of taste and integrity.

VOLUNTEER JAM VI — Various Artists — Epic KE236438 — Producer: John Boylan — List: 13.98 — Bar Coded

Charlie Daniels' Volunteer Jams are now part of Fourth of July tradition in the south, and this musical diary of the event is one of best party records to come out this year. Rowdy performances by Ted Nugent, Henry Paul Band and Papa John Creach highlight this two-record set. However, the Charlie Daniels Band's drunken version of "Amazing Grace" best represents the atmosphere of the affair. For country and AOR programmers.

FOXY LIVE — Foxy — Dash 33016 — Producers: Ron and Howard Albert — List: 7.98

This Miami-based Latino dance band has gone through a lot of changes since "Get Off Your Aahh And Dance" was released in 1976, and this live album features everything from disco anthem "Get Off" to the almost new wave sound of "RRRRRRock." Ish Ledesma and crew prove on this LP that they have survived disco's demise and are alive and dancin' in the '80s. Top tracks on this volatile concert LP are "Sex Symbol" and "She's So Cool."

THE LAST STROLL — Walter Egan — Columbia JC 36513 — Producers: Earle Mankey and Walter Egan — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Egan has come close to stardom before with songs such as "Magnet And Steel" and "Hot Summer Nights," but this LP should be the one to finally break him. Egan, under the production wing of top new wave producer Earle Mankey, injects his California style with some much needed punky enthusiasm on "The Last Stroll," and it pays off nicely. Songs such as "Tuesday Weld," "First Date, Last Date" and "Bad Attitude" rank with his best work yet. For AOR and pop.

SPECIAL EDITION — Five Special — Elektra 6E-270 — Producer: Ron Banks — List: 7.98

This fine young R&B/funk vocal band from Detroit has improved immensely since its promising debut album, and that fact is best evidenced by "Jam (Let's Take It To The Streets)," which is 6:51 of sheer funk'n' joy. "Choosin' You For Me" also shows off the band's abundant vocal skills. The Motor City fivesome is a lot looser in the studio this time around, and the production of Dramatic Ron Banks makes the group's slick and contemporary sound all the more appealing.

GIVE ME A BREAK — The Ritchie Family — Casablanca NBLP 7223 — Producer: Jacques Morali — List: 7.98

These three lovely sisters, who are very much a part of the Can't Stop The Music soundtrack and film, don't take any time to slow down on this LP. All three of the girls possess strong voices and bring fervor to the dance-oriented compositions of Belolo and Morali. Top tracks on this exciting debut are the discofied "Sophistication," the title track and the quiet, lilting "All My Love." For B/C and dancing lists.

SHEER GREED — Girl — Jet/CBS NJZ 36490 — Producers: Chris Tsangarides and Girl — List: 7.98

Girl is a hard rock quintet from the U.K. that is anything but fey and effeminate in its stance. Larger than life metal flaked guitars careening off of steam roller rhythms make for one helluva debut album. An additional strong point lies in Philip Lewis' fullblooded vocalizing, one of the few instances in heavy metal where a lead voice matches the instrumental sonic attack blow for blow. For AOR formats that enjoy pushing VU meters into the red.

FLESH AND BLOOD — Roxy Music — ATCO SD 32-102 — Producers: Roxy Music and Rhett Davies — List: 7.98

Roxy Music is truly the Dom Perignon of rock 'n' roll, as the band still retains more effervescence and class than any number of bands on the current rock scene. While the group has somewhat eschewed its idiomless, avant garde style for a more commercial pop sound, Bryan Ferry still writes songs that are original and unforgettable. Musically, Roxy Music founder Ferry and Phil Manzanera give the band its new progressive pop sheen, and AOR programmers should jump right on it.

MARY BURNS — MCA/Carousel MCA 5122 — Producers: Various — List: 7.98

Mary Burns possesses one of the gruffest, most Southern Comfort-soaked vocal styles to be heard since Janis Joplin. Burns belts out rock songs like "California Radio" and "How Can This Be Love" with the same bluesy conviction of Pearl. However, Burns' gutsy style is uniquely her own in that she has a deeper, richer, more pop-oriented singing style. Top tracks on this fine rock 'n' roll debut are "Living In The City," "Daddy's Eyes" and Joplin's "Move Over."

S.O.S. — The S.O.S. Band — Tabu NJZ 36332 — Producer: SIDI — List: 7.98

This is a superb debut LP from a band that B/C and pop programmers will be hearing a lot from in the future. The LP's first single, "Take Your Time Do It Right" has already shot to #1 on the Cash Box B/C charts and it wouldn't be surprising if the song went Top Ten pop, too. The S.O.S. plays in a melodic contemporary funk/R&B style, and it is taking the ground that Ray Parker first covered a step further. A crossover smash.

CAREFUL — Motels — Capitol ST-12070 — Producer: Carter — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Even though there has been a major personnel change in Motels (Jeff Jourard out, ex-Pop guitarist Tim McGovern in), Martha Davis and the band still serve up some of the most sensual Hollywood new wave around. Songs like "Envy" and "Whose Problem?" sound as if lead vocalist Davis is a taunting Eve handing out the apple to a pogoing Adam. Carter's production is still a little slick for this respected L.A. band, but it is a strong second effort.

"C" — Jimmy Castor — Long Distance LDR 1201 — Producer: Jimmy Castor — List: 7.98

It's been almost a decade since "Trogglodite" came blasting out over the waves, and it's nice to know that Castor still hasn't lost his sense of humor. "The Mummy" is yet another rock/R&B spoof, and it's every bit as fun as the tale of The Butts Sisters. Other novelties on include a side-splitting ode to Godzilla and a raucous sax version of Led Zeppelin's AOR anthem, "Stairway To Heaven."

TONIGHT — France Joli — Prelude PRL 12179 — Producer: Tony Green — List: 7.98

This lovely teenage temptress scored big on the dancing charts last time out with "Come To Me," and on her latest effort, the Montreal thrush delivers a lovely ballad in "This Time (I'm Giving It All I Got)." Other fine cuts on "Tonight" include the lilting "When Love Hurts Inside" and "Tonight," but she really shows off her considerable range on "Stoned In Love." For pop, B/C and dancing lists.

MAX — Max Gronenthal — Chrysalis CHR 1278 — Producer: Rob Fraboni — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Max still hangs on to his jazz roots on his latest LP, but he is now putting out some pretty engaging pop rock. His keyboard-oriented music gets some back-up power from such top rock sessioners as John McFee, Mark Goldenberg and Mike Finnigan, and Max' brilliantly played melodies should appeal to a lot of different formats this time out. Top tracks on this coming out LP include "I've Got Something Here For You," "Have A Good Time" and "Near To You."

MY BEACH — Surf Punks — Epic NJE-36500 — Producer: Dennis Dragon — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

If Dick Dale ever ran into The Ramones, the result would probably sound like The Surf Punks, and they are right in the main curl of the new wave. Dragon (brother of Captain Daryl Dragon) is also an excellent young producer, and while the majority of the music on this LP is written for the gang at Blacks Beach and Hollywood By The Sea, its brand of silly frantic pop should appeal to AOR programmers as well.

MULTIPLAY — The Rivits — Antilles AN 7072 — Producers: Jess Roden And Peter Wood — List: 7.98

Jess Roden and Peter Wood are noted English musicians who have finally put it all together with The Rivits. The band has a '60s meets the '80s pop sound, as the latest technology gives these two British Invasion holdovers a contemporary sheen. Fans of Al Stewart's easy on the eardrums sound should enjoy songs such as "Oo She Do" and "Look All You Like." AOR, pop and even A/C programmers should enjoy this heady but commercial effort.

Biograph To Sue Fantasy Group Over Getz Album

NEW YORK — Biograph Records Inc. has announced today that it will commence an action against Fantasy/Prestige/Milestone/Stax Records for infringement and unfair competition by releasing a set of records containing material belonging to Biograph.

Biograph, which owns all rights to the Dawn catalog, has directed Fantasy to cease and desist from the manufacture and sale of its records called "Stan Getz & Friends," (P-24088), because they contain five tracks of Getz material from the Dawn catalog.

According to Arnold Caplin, Biograph's president, Fantasy has failed to cease and desist from manufacture and sale of the infringing records.

In addition to Fantasy's violation in American territory, Caplin alleges that Fantasy has licensed the sides to a number of major European record companies to be released on LPs in the foreign markets.

Williams Named Promotion VP At EMI America/UA

LOS ANGELES — Dick Williams has been named to the post of vice president of promotion at EMI America/United Artists Records in a restructuring of the department in the wake of Charlie Minor's move to A&M Records last week (see separate story). In addition to Williams, Jack Satter and Chris Hensley were named to positions within the promotion department.

In his new post, Williams will run the promotion department and will report to Jim Mazza, EMI/UA president. Satter, who replaced Williams as national singles promotion director, and Hensley, appointed co-national album promotion director, east coast, will report to Williams.

Williams first joined United Artists in 1970 as a local promotion manager in Memphis. Following various promotion positions at MCA, ABC and Casablanca from 1972-1978, Williams returned to United Artists as national album promotion director.

Satter began his career in the music business in the retail sector, working with Heilicher Brothers from 1966-1970. That year, he joined United Artists as local promotion manager in Minneapolis. He served in a similar capacity in Dallas before being promoted to promotion manager for the southwest region.

Hensley, formerly local promotion manager for the label in the Atlanta market, began his record industry career in a similar position with Elektra/Asylum.

Charlie Minor

Minor Named VP, Executive Director, Promo, At A&M

LOS ANGELES — Charlie Minor has been named to the post of vice president and executive director of promotion at A&M Records. Minor's appointment marks a return to the label after an absence of three years.

In his new position, Minor will run the promotion department. He will report to Harold Childs, senior vice president of promotion and sales.

Minor first joined A&M in 1969 as a local promotion representative in Atlanta. After serving as vice president at ABC, Minor left to form Exeti Records with Jerry Rubenstein. He moved to a position as vice president of promotion at EMI America/United Artists in 1978 after Exeti was acquired by that company.

Speculation that Minor would bring other EMI/UA promotion people to A&M was neither confirmed nor denied by A&M at presstime.

Commenting on Minor's appointment, Childs said, "We are very excited and proud to have Charlie return to A&M. He learned his craft here and became one of the top promotion men in the business. Charlie is the kind of modern promotion executive who can deal with the diversification in radio today. Considering the many types of music found at A&M, his background and knowledge are invaluable to this company."

ON JAZZ

MINGUS DYNASTY ON THE MOVE — The lovely Sue Graham Mingus, wife of the late bassist/composer Charles Mingus, continues to keep the musical legacy of this great jazzman alive in the form of the Mingus Dynasty Band. She dropped by the Cash Box office recently and we talked of current plans for the Mingus Dynasty Band with an occasional pause for fond recollections of the bassist. "Charles left behind so much material; he was very prolific. He wrote over 300 tunes, and when he died we all felt that the body of his music was too important to just let it fade into history. People like Dannie Richmond (drummer) and Jimmy Knepper (trombonist) spent so many years playing Mingus' music it was just natural to keep the spirit going. Up to now we've primarily used alumni, but it's not necessarily going to be like that in the future. The personnel is free floating depending on who has what commitments, but right now the band consists of Hugh Lawson (piano), Jimmy Knepper, Joe Farrel (tenor saxophone), Randy Brecker (trumpet) and Mike Richmond (bass) . . . and, of course, Dannie. I decided we should be placing more emphasis on the bass section, so in addition to Mike Richmond, who's a wonderful player, we're going to be adding Alladar Penge for our next recording at the Montreux Jazz Festival on July 16. Penge is from Budapest and he's an incredible virtuoso; he's one of the few bassists I've heard who can play with the kind of intensity and drive that Charles had. Sy Johnson and Jimmy Knepper will be doing the arrangements for the next album, and the band will undertake a coast to coast tour to support it when it's released in the fall." And what does Sue Graham Mingus think of the interpretations of Mingus' music by Joni Mitchell and by the musicians on the final Mingus albums? "In the case of Joni, it was her idiom and her interpretation of Charles' music, and I think she did a very good job. I like the later Atlantic albums, too. Charles was upset with them because he didn't like the editing. He told them 'I don't like it but you can put it out anyway.' But he was always striving for something better, he was never satisfied. If you've heard what he said to Ihau Mimaroglu about the musicians on those sessions . . ." So the Mingus Dynasty Band continues to meet the bassist's stringent standards. With one excellent album on Elektra ("Chair In The Sky") and more Elektra releases on the way, Charles Mingus' music should bear new fruit for years to come.

TYNER IN PERFORMANCE — Milestone recording artist McCoy Tyner recently performed at the Berkeley Jazz Festival. Tyner was well assisted by drummer Al Foster and bassist Ron Carter. Tyner will be appearing with his own band at the Playboy Jazz Festival in Los Angeles on June 21 and at the Newport Jazz Festival in New York on July 4.

ODDS AND ENDS — Electric bassist Jaco Pastorius, architect of the current Weather Report sound (along with Joe Zawinul and Wayne Shorter) has just signed as a solo artist with Warner Bros. His initial outing for Epic was most impressive, and we look forward to his further explorations of composition and electric bass tonality . . . Warners decided to pass on signing James "Blood" Ulmer, the innovative electric guitarist and composer, but Atlantic is reportedly considering him. His new album will be released shortly on the British Rough Trade label (available as an import), and it should set the pace for the creative synthesis of big beat funk and free jazz extrapolations . . . The most startling affiliation I can conceive of is trombonist Joseph Bowie's Defunkt and Manfred Eicher's ECM label, but reportedly they were close to some sort of deal recently. No confirmation at press time as to whether it'll actually come off, but boy, there's an inspired culture clash — street meets sky . . . Biggest news in jazz (well, sorta jazz, er, black contemporary, uh, progressive — it gets so confusing sometimes) for the summer season is the Quincy Jones/George Benson collaboration on Warners and the new Crusaders on MCA both due out within the next few weeks . . . Rumor has it that MCA is about ready to release a Classic Jazz Series culled

HOUSE OF SPIRIT: "MIRTH" — Pheeroan ak Laff — Passing Through PT-4238 — Producers: Pheeroan ak Laff & Oliver Lake — List: 7.98

With every passing day the role of the drums grows more important in American music, from disco to concert jazz. Drummer Pheeroan ak Laff is uniquely qualified to cover the entire spectrum, from the jazz-funk of Michael Gregory Jackson to the expressive improvisations of Oliver Lake, playing in a style that is alternately funky and impressionistic. From the ceremonial rigor of "Ayin of Love," to the percolating grooves of "America De Sud" and "Jaraws," this is lyrical, colorful music; a delightful blend of dance energy and structural freedom.

SHEILA AND B. DEVOTION — Carefree CAR 38-124 — Producers: Bernard Edwards & Nile Rodgers — List: 7.98

The changing face of r&b is brilliantly depicted in this, the latest and most progressive production from bassist Bernard Edwards and guitarist Nile Rodgers. Building their arrangements around the diaphonous vocals of Sheila, this album employs a greater variety of rhythmic and textural devices than Edwards and Rodgers have yet revealed with Chic. It is both looser and more rocking, allowing Rodgers to stretch out and improvise in a Hendrixian manner, yet never losing sight of the groove.

INFLATION — Stanley Turrentine — Elektra/Asylum 6E-269 — Producer: Stanley Turrentine — List: 7.98

Through the title tracks' contemporary energy to the swingcum-be bop-honky-tonk of "Is It You?" to the lush production of his cover of Dionne Warwick's "Deja Vu," Turrentine remains a most tasteful tenorist. The accessible music offered on this LP is further indication that Turrentine's stylings will be copied by young tenorists for years to come. Other cuts of note are "Don't Misunderstand" and "Song For Donny."

JAZZ ALBUM PICKS

HOW HIGH THE MOON — Randy Weston — Biograph BLP-12065 — Producer: Arnold Caplin — List: 7.98

Randy Weston is one of the great jazz pianists, his style drawn in large part from Duke Ellington and Thelonious Monk. Their influence is much in evidence on Weston's "Loose Wig," "Theme For Teddy" and Monk's "Well You Needn't." With fine contributions from trumpeter Ray Copeland and baritone saxophonist Cecil Payne, these 1956 sessions also show off Weston's fine ballad touch ("Don't Blame Me"), his boplicity ("In A Little Spanish Town") and an earthy bluesiness ("J K Blues"). The charming calypso flavor of "Run Joe" hints at Weston's future use of African elements. An important recording.

MY SONG OF SOMETHING — Nanette Natal — Benyo Music BY 3333 — Producer: Nanette Natal — List: 7.98

Nanette Natal is a brilliant jazz singer with the range and flexibility to improvise on an equal footing with any instrumentalist. From deep Sarah Vaughn warbles and growls, to gossamer percussive flights in the upper register, Natal brings off every mood successfully, be it hard swinging scats, soothing ballads or heel clicking latin. The easy groove of "Let's Just Fall In Love Again" and the synthesizer like bends of the jazz-rocking "Talkie" stand out on this excellent set of original songs.

THURSDAY NIGHT AT THE VILLAGE VANGUARD — Art Pepper — Contemporary Contempo 7642 — Producer: Lester Koenig — List: 7.98

Art Pepper's music on this live LP pays more attention to the small, more subtle nuances of his craft. And on this collection, recorded at the famed New York venue, a clean, sometimes vigorous, interpretation of bluesy be-bop shows Pepper's resilience. George Cables on piano, Elvin Jones on drums and the bass of George Mraz offer an almost transparent, yet entrapping, accompaniment which in turn allows Pepper more room to reflect.

MCA Sets 29-City National Tour For Rossington Collins

NEW YORK — Rossington Collins, the MCA recording group whose personnel include former members of Lynyrd Skynyrd, will launch their first American tour on June 17 at the Tennessee Theatre in Nashville. Their new LP, "Anytime, Anyplace, Anywhere," will ship June 23.

Recently, promoter Alex Cooley of Chesapeake Concerts held a press conference at the Fox Theatre in Atlanta to introduce the members of the group and confirm their plans for a summer tour, which will take them to 29 cities through Aug. 31. The conference, which was broadcast live by WKLS in Atlanta, was highlighted by the presentation of two cuts from the forthcoming LP.

"We are all tremendously excited about the tour," said Cooley during the "Live From The Fox" broadcast. "The Freebird flies again." Rossington Collins includes: Gary Rossington, Allen Collins, and Barry Harwood (guitars); Billy Powell (keyboards); Leon Wilkeson (bass); Derek Hess (drums); and Dale Krantz (vocals).

Filmways And AIP Merge Publishing

NEW YORK — Filmways Pictures Inc. and American International Pictures (AIP) have merged their publishing companies and have formed the Filmways Music Group. Terri Fricon has been named president of the new company, which includes Filmways Music Publishing Inc., Musicways Inc., Harlene Music Publications, and Dijon Music Publishing. The latter two companies were previously owned by AIP.

In her new position, Fricon will oversee the selection of music and scoring of Filmways' motion picture and television product. She will maintain offices at Filmways Pictures' headquarters in Beverly Hills. Fricon joined Filmways in 1975 as vice president in charge of music. She was named president of the division in 1978. Fricon is also the current president of the California Copyright Conference.

CBS spokesmen would not comment on the reported pricing changes.

RCA is the only major manufacturer which has not announced wholesale price hikes.

The Rolling Stones' studio costs for their "Emotional Rescue" LP have exceeded $1.3 million. According to a label source, Arista will post "big losses" for fiscal '79. Leber-Krebs will produce a movie based on the Archies, and a play that spoofs the cults of the '70s called Zen Boogie. According to label head Bob Sherwood, there is a target date of August 1 for Phonogram/Mercury's relocation to New York. STARES AND WHISPERS — Genesis Publications of Surrey, England is set to issue George Harrison's autobiography, "I Me Mine" at the end of June. The book, which is limited to 2,000 numbered, autographed copies (and bound in leather by hand), will cost a paltry 148 pounds. The Iron City Houserockers may open for Ian Hunter at Central Park, and do additional club dates around town. Debby Harry is auditioning for the role of Marilyn Monroe in the movie about Montgomery Clift by Anazi Productions. Everybody in New York with the power to sign (including Ahmet Ertegun) were at Trax for the Mink Deville showcase. Does David Geffen have the edge? We hear Geffen will snatch both Joni Mitchell and Jackson Browne from Elektra, and is actively seeking to sign established acts. Ringo Starr will marry actress Barbara Bach as soon as her divorce is final. Daryl Hall didn't get the part opposite Linda Ronstadt in "The Pirates of Penzance." The masked producer, Joel Dorn, seen huddling with the Neville Brothers, the premier screening of Alive Enterprises' The Roadie attracted the elite of the New York music biz. The film, a successful if unpretentious slapstick comedy, features a credible acting job by Meatloaf.

YESSHMOOZ — Denny Somach, of WYSP in Philadelphia, has just returned from England, where he spent much time with Yes. The group will be the subject of the "Yesspecial," Somach's first "Rock Report," a feature that he produces syndicated for NBC's "The Source." Somach reports that the initial sessions for the group's forthcoming album, tentatively titled "The New Yes LP," had to be scrapped, due to dissatisfaction with producer Roy Thomas Baker. The album finally came together under the aegis of old-time producer Eddie Offord, resulting in a sound that Somach calls identical to the group's "Fragile" and "Close To The Edge" period. This similarity will be reinforced by the cover artwork of longtime collaborator Roger Dean, and by the contributions of new Yesmen Trevor Horn and Geoff Downes (who composed the Buggles) who replaced the departing Rick Wakeman and Jon Anderson. Somach remarked that Horn "sounds more like Jon Anderson than Jon Anderson does." Meanwhile, Jon Anderson has already laid down some tracks with Jack Bruce, and may record a concept album based on "the great works of art," while Rick Wakeman has formed a small Swiss-based label called Moon, for which he has already lined up three to four acts. Wakeman is also set to form The Rick Wakeman Band. During the group's tour of America, a double-live LP will be recorded, finishing up Wakeman's contract with A&M. Somach also reports that while the music newspapers strike has been settled, England is now plagued by a musicians strike, which ensued when the BBC let go of four of its 11 subsidized orchestras. People are now talking about the possibility of a benefit concert by a superband featuring Pete Townsend, Robert Plant and Alexis Koerner, in support of the rock musicians who have been victimized by an affair which many feel does not concern them. Finally, Somach reports that if the resurgence of heavy metal blew your mind, be prepared for the next big thing on Britain's horizon. The comeback of psychedelic music, spearheaded by heavy Doors and Hendrix catalog sales.

RAPPERS TRIBUNAL — Salsoul Records' Joe Bataan, whose single "Rap-O, Clap-O" has been a European hit, recently performed at the Venue, in London, where he was greeted backstage by the Sugarhill Gang. Pictured are (l-r): Master G of the Sugarhill Gang; Bataan; Wonder Mike of the Sugarhill Gang; and Big Bank Hank of the Sugarhill Gang.

EAST COASTINGS DATE BOOK — The Irving Plaza will feature a "2 x 5" night on June 21, featuring the Fleshtones, Student Teachers, Bloodless Pharaohs, Comateens, and Revelons, all of whom appear on the Jem-distributed Red Star album of the same name. Phillip Glass and Polyrock at Hurrah on June 18. R&B legend Rufus Thomas to Tramps on June 24 (with daughter Carla to follow some time in July).

MORE MORE — New wave German chanteuse Nina Hagen is looking for a drummer and keyboardist. Call her management at (213) 278-8715. Sorry to hear that footage of the Undertones has been excised from Shell Shock Rock. Chas Jenkel of the Ian Dury Band is recording a solo LP for UK Stiff before the final mix, "Endless Night," by Graham Parker, was a duet in which Bruce Springsteen's vocals were as dominant as Parker's.

The catalog includes promotional buttons, product stickers, rubber stamps, the "gift of music" logo/slogan guidelines book and camera ready art sheets. Many of these promotional pieces have been designed to allow merchandisers to customize these items with their store name. Four other catalogs are being planned for later this year, with the next one set for August (It will include Christmas/"Give the Gift of Music" promotional materials). To receive the current catalog, contact the NARM office at (609) 795-5555.

Judge To Ponder Goody Arguments, Sets Trial Date

by Richard Gold

NEW YORK — Federal District Court Judge Thomas C. Platt heard pre-trial arguments last week on the applicability of four felony counts in the government's case against Sam Goody Inc. and two of its executives for allegedly dealing in counterfeit tapes. The judge granted both sides until June 26 to present additional papers in support of their arguments, and set September 2 as the tentative trial date.

The government has been pressing to prosecute Sam Goody Inc., George Levy, its president, and Samuel Stolon, its vice president, on one count of violating the Racketeer Influenced And Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO) and three counts of violating the Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property statute (ITSP). The defense is contending that the alleged offenses are copyright infringement misdemeanors (Cash Box, May 10).

In another set of motions, the defense requested Judge Platt to order the prosecution to supply it with material pertaining to the Organized Crime Strike Force's use of one Murray Kaplan to record allegedly incriminating conversations with Stolon. The defense is contending that the prosecution must make public a "communication" which requested wiretapping authority from the Justice Department. The prosecution has already given the defense the "cover sheet" of the wiretapping authorization request, but it is withholding the contested communication. Judge Platt said that he would examine the document in question before rendering a decision.

The defense is also seeking to dismiss the indictments on the grounds of "prosecutorial misconduct," charging that the FBI, Strike Force attorneys, and the RIAA have developed an improper working relationship. The defense argued that the RIAA, in its role as a "trade organization," has been "pushing" the government to elevate the seriousness of the alleged offenses.

Judge Platt expressed skepticism about the defense argument, saying that, "a lot of people would like to see more victims push hard" for redress in criminal cases. "The Kaplan-Stolon conversation might merit investigation," he added, but he emphasized that "nothing has been shown to convince me" that there is an improper relationship between the FBI and the RIAA in the case.

Judge Platt said that he "hoped" to have an opinion on all of the arguments (including a grand jury matter which has not been made public and was the subject of closed hearings June 6 in 30 days.

BMI Honors Top Songs, Writers At Awards Fete

In addition, Barry Gibb, Maurice Gibb, and Robin Gibb, the writers and publishers of "Too Much Heaven" (BMI's most performed song in 1979), were presented with engraved glass plaques to honor their accomplishment.

Other highlights of the ceremony, which was hosted by BMI President Edward M. Cramer and Theodora Zavin, senior vice president of performing rights, included the presentation of four citations to Bernard Edwards and Nile Rogers of Chic. Winners of two awards included Peter Bellotte, Stephen Dorff, Bob Esty, David Foster, Paul Jabara, Michael Jackson, Will Jennings, Richard Kerr, Jeff Lynne, David Malloy, Eddie Rabbitt, and Bruce Roberts.

Ertegun Clarifies New Atlantic Exec Setup

NEW YORK — In order to clarify the new structure of Atlantic Records, Ahmet Ertegun, chairman of the board, has made the following announcements. Mr. Ertegun will remain as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the company. Directly under him and reporting to him is Sheldon Vogel, vice chairman of the board.

Reporting to Vogel is Doug Morris, the new president of Atlantic Records; and reporting to Morris are: Dave Glew, executive vice president/general manager; Henry Allen, president of Cotillion Records; Reen Nalli, vice president and general manager of Atco Records and Custom Labels. Atlantic vice president, Noreen Woods, continues to report to the chairman of the board.

ODE TO THE LIZARD KING — Although the writing style shifts from a simple prose to a mocking rock journalistic approach to that of a defensive friend, Jerry Hopkins and Daniel Sugerman's No One Gets Out Alive, an exhaustive biography of rock 'n' roll shaman Jim Morrison, makes for a rewarding reading experience. The large print, 374-page paperback covers every aspect of the doomed recording artist's life and then some. Parts of the book are of such exacting detail that it at times reads like a day-to-day diary of events in Morrison's life. The authors have also avoided the National Enquirer syndrome that many books of this nature fall prey to, and the utmost attention is paid to relating Morrison's dreams, artistic yearnings and feelings. Accompanied by a late night score of "The End" or "The Music's Over," the book takes on a Gothic horror type presence. Hopkins and Sugerman also drive home the key points of the unpredictable code that the Florida-born rock star seemed to live by — one of which is best expressed in a college acquaintance's quote early in the book that captures many people's impressions when they were around Morrison. "There was a constant feeling of apprehension, a feeling that things were on the brink of lost control." It is that "lost control" that the latter part of the book explores as though the writers were his best friends watching the hallucinogenic pop poet burn out. A great deal of attention in the book is paid to Morrison's artistic loves — the works of Rimbaud, Nietzsche, Celine, Blake, Huxley, foreign films and his own poetry and film creations. Morrison was so greatly influenced by the tormented greats of literature that he ended up naming L.A.'s most revered rock band after a Nietzsche quote — "There's the known and the unknown," says Morrison to a friend who asked him what the band was going to be called, "and what separates the two is the door. Ah wanna be th' dooor." The inner tensions that surrounded the band's career from its rise to local fame as the house band at The Whisky Au Go Go in 1966 to the quartet's final day in New Orleans where Morrison ended up sitting mute and motionless on stage are also revealed. The mystery surrounding the haunted poet's death is another aspect of the book that rock 'n' roll aficionados will read with passion, as all stories about that fateful night in Paris in 1975 are related and analyzed. All in all, No One Gets Out Alive proves to be great summer reading for the mildly interested and a font of information and history for the Lizard King's many fans.

GOOD CRAZINESS — Last year 600 people were stiffed at a Jimmy Buffett show at The Paradise Theatre (then called Rick's Cafe Americain), when the Caribbean rum runner/platinum recorded artist cancelled the gig because he had broken his leg in a softball game. However, in honor of Aspen's 100th birthday and the first birthdays of their children, club owner David Moss and Buffett decided to honor those tickets June 6-7 as the head Coral Reefer himself performed two solo sets accompanied by his acoustic guitar. The loyal multitude had saved their tickets, and to bring even more levity to the gesture, Buffett came out onstage on crutches. The lighting and sound of the two shows was coordinated by a certain Raoul Duke (Dr. Hunter S. Thompson), who carried on a continuous rap with Buffett throughout the set.

ON THE BEAT — Yes, that was Clive Davis down at Madame Wongs East to view minimum wage rock band The Bus Boys. Latest word has it that the black rock band from south central L.A. has turned down offers from Arista and ARC in order to make a deal for friend Roach . . . And the "Boss" Mr. Springsteen, was seen catching Tom Petty's taping of ABC-TV's Fridays June 6 . . . Speaking of Petty, he has embarked on a tour of the midwest, south and east that will last through mid-July. He will take along up-and-coming Columbia act Tommy Tutone for a supporting act . . . Composer Maurice Jarre has been commissioned to score the upcoming television mini-series based on James Clavell's Shogun . . . Even those people with a keen cinematic eye will probably miss two unbilled cameo roles in Paramount Pictures' Roadie. However, if one looks closely, producer Roy Thomas Baker and Todd Rundgren and Utopia manager Eric Gardner can be spotted talking to Allce Cooper in the pre-concert hubub scene . . . Ansley Dunbar has slapped a lawsuit on Journey, after they threw the on-contract drummer out of the band.

ROLL 'EM — American Bandstand father Dick Clark is currently producing three new films for TV — Rollin' Stoned, a comedy about a roadie who works for a top singing star, Up The Garden Path, reported to be about "proxy fatherhood" and Bandstand, The Movie, a teen romance set against the background of two generations of American Bandstand.

STUDIO TIME — L.A.'s Record Plant is really hopping of late. Eagles are in the complex' Studio B checking out cuts for a live album . . . Dan Fogelberg is also reported to have been recording in the same studio . . . Meanwhile Epic's Charlie Daniels, Motown's Bonnie Pointer and Shelter Records' latest signing, Motion Pictures, are working on new projects at The Plant . . . Lani Hall, wife of executive/trumpet player Herb Alpert, has just recorded a new single, "I Don't Want You To Go," and is in at Hollywood Sound with recording artist/producer Allee Willis recording her latest effort . . . George Benson is finishing up his latest project for Warner Bros./Quest at Kendun Recorders Studio D in Burbank . . . Poco is mastering its new single, "Under The Gun," and its second MCA album with producer Mike Flicker at Kendun's Studio III . . . Also in at Kendun is Jerry Doucette, who is recording his third album for Mushroom Records . . . Casablanca recording artist Bugs Tomorrow is recording his second LP for Casablanca at Fidelity studios in Studio City.

RADIO GOES TO SCHOOL — Dwight Case, president RKO Radio; Bob Sherwood, president, Phonogram/Mercury and Kent Burkhart, president, Burkhart/Abrams Consulting, were the opening day guests for UCLA's eight-week extension course entitled "Music On The Radio In The '80s" June 9. In future sessions, the program will provide a forum for leaders in the record industry to examine the influence of radio on their decisions to sign artists and market their product, while major figures of broadcasting will analyze the importance of music programming in the changing market. Executives set to speak in weeks ahead include Bonnie Simmons, national promotion director, albums, Warner Bros. Records; Billy Bass, vice president of promotion and creative services, Chrysalis Records; David Moorhead, vice president, west coast operations, Metromedia, and Tommy Hedges, program director, KLOS-FM/Los Angeles.

TALENT

Todd Rundgren's Utopia

GREEK THEATRE, L.A. — While it's easy to laud Todd Rundgren and his three member band, collectively known as Utopia, for attempting such an ambitious task as their recent elaborate video concert, technical overkill took its toll on the band's stop here.

The longish show's repertoire offered a jumbled mix of Rundgren solo standards and Utopian sci-fi excess, with the accent on excess. Digging out unwieldy dinosaurs such as "The Singring And The Glass Guitar" and the title track from "Ra," Rundgren and co. preferred to bludgeon the crowd with these metallic monsters of pretentious lyrical mush, while the Runt's lilting, unselfconscious pop hits were relegated to an absurd Vegas-like medley. If the quick brush-off wasn't bad enough, Rundgren dropped his cordless mike in the middle, ruining all continuity. That's life, as they say, in Utopia.

A healthy dose of material from the band's latest effort, "Adventures In Utopia," didn't help matters much either, since the videos were only partially effective. All too often, they bordered perilously close to being amateurish, deflating any significant message in such tunes as "Bag Lady." For the most part, they were a gaudy melange of special effects which got tiresome after awhile.

Each member got a crack at "interacting" with a video and pre-recorded soundtrack, such as keyboardist Roger Powell's "Sands Of Arrakis" from his solo LP "Air Pocket." But even that was hindered by the group's dressing in futuristic white uniforms which made them look oddly similar to Devo. "Soldiers of the mind" indeed!

But drummer John "Willie" Wilcox' ridiculous synthesized drum kit, customized to resemble a large motorcycle, really took the cake of the evening. Luckily, the saving grace of the show was Utopia's usually strong ending with the encore "Just One Victory." If this was a victory, though, it was a Pyrrhic one.

Shankar John McLaughlin

THE BOTTOM LINE, N.Y.C. — It would seem that the term commercial is in need of some re-assessment. When violinist L. Shankar and guitarist John McLaughlin led the jazz-raga fusion band Shakti, there was always an air of pressure around the guitarist to move on to the electric music that had been so successful during the days of the Mahavishnu Orchestra. Why? Because Shakti's acoustic sound was not commercial.

Since Shankar and McLaughlin have returned to the acoustic sounds that they love so deeply their music has taken a turn for the better and audience reaction has been enthusiastic. Nearly all of their recent American tour was sold out, and the Bottom Line was no exception. The level of music they improvised was as powerful and joyous as anything I've ever heard.

Shankar is possibly the world's finest violinist, and this New York date re-united him with his long-time drummer, tabla master Zakir Hussain, who is every inch Shankar's equal. They played a program of Indian classical music with its intricate rhythmic cycles, vocal inflections and improvisatory one-upmanship. Hussain plays more melody with his left hand than most funk bass players, and Shankar's level of virtuosity and mirth helped the music achieve the level of pure unconscious interplay that is the mark of true artistry.

John McLaughlin, accompanied only by acoustic guitarist Chris Escoude, seemed happier and more animated than in his previous electric incarnations. His legendary chops are more imposing than ever, but in addition there is a new sense of melodic development and harmonic breadth that made this one of his great performances. It was in every way a return to his jazz roots, and throughout the evening there were suggestions of Django Reinhardt, Tal Farlow, and flamenco and Brazilian music in his songs and improvisations. When he broke into a new arrangement of "Meeting Of The Spirits," with its 7/4 rhythm and urgent melody, there was a happy burst of recognition among the crowd, and his blistering percussive solo more than satisfied.

Even better was an onstage re-union between Shankar, Hussain and McLaughlin, which proved that all the kinetic energy of Shakti was still in place. They plan to do a tour of India in the not to distant future. Why not America? Because It's not comm . . .

Southside Johnny & The Asbury Jukes

GREEK THEATRE, L.A. — When Southside Johnny Lyon ripped into the second of four encores here, "All I Want Is Everything," you somehow had to believe he meant it. The endearingly scruffy New Jersey shore native and his 10 piece band, augmented on this tour by three female backup singers, put more heart and soul into a concert performance than anyone this side of fellow Jerseyite and mentor Bruce Springsteen.

The earnest brew of rock and R&B which they create, including several nods of the hat to such influences as Solomon Burke, Wilson Pickett and Sam Cooke, literally begs you to get up and dance — which is exactly what the crowd did for a large portion of the show. Opening with "I'm So Anxious," it was evident that the exuberant Southside had great difficulty containing himself, even on the spacious Greek stage. By the second number "Talk To Me," he ripped off his well-worn dark leather jacket and omnipresent shades, flinging both to the rear of the stage, and tossed aside his mike stand. It was easy to see by that time that he and the band weren't just here to play — they meant business.

Lyon and the Jukes maintained a smoothly flowing pace throughout, effectively balancing the harder rock numbers such as "Trapped Again" with songs such as Burke's bluesey "Got To Get You Off Of My Mind," then moving to the smoky blues growl of "Why Is Love Such A Sacrifice," as Lyon was backed by the wailing trio.

Totally unfettered by stage props, Lyon would bound to the elevated drum platform, or be joined himself down front by the animated antics of trombone player Richie ("La Bamba") Roxsenberg. Lead guitarist and songwriter Billy Rush, clad in a red one-piece jumpsuit, made a nice visual contrast to Southside's schoolyard attire, but his searing fretwork fit right in, pumping the performance up with each deft solo to new peaks.

After ending with a believable cover of "Only 16" and the raucous, rambunctious "Havin' A Party," the band stepped back on stage for a smoldering version of "The Fever." The audience couldn't get enough, and as everyone danced in unison, the Jukes mellowed out and into "Heart Of Stone" and finally, "This Time It's For Real," Southside's signature piece. All in all, it was a consummate performance from a consummate performer.

Horace Silver

PARISIAN ROOM, L.A. — Distinction is a two-fold description when referring to the jazz stylings of Blue Note artist Horace Silver, as his music is difficult to mistake and because he often stands head and shoulders above most in his use of musical elements.

It is such a melodic, rhythmic and harmonic brew that Silver and his four able sidemen brought with them to the Parisian Room recently that delighted a diverse audience attending. The intimate atmosphere infinitely enhanced the warmth of his music and the personal humor intrinsic in his delivery.

Recently returning from an extensive overseas tour, Silver offered selections from his latest Blue Note LP, "Silver 'n' Strings Play the Music of the Spheres," a double album set done in three parts.

Songs like "The Search For Direction," a piano prelude that highlighted Silver's sensitive balance between composition and improvisation, and "Direction Discovered," a multi-tempo piece laden with funky counterpoints that best heralded the pianist funky-jazz attack.

The often sprawling solos by trumpeter Barry Ries did harken to the same Silver sound of days yore, as did the smooth, always engaging solo work of tenorist Ron Bridgewater.

But it was the tightly knit rhythm section of bassist Todd Collman and drummer Harold White, that served as the cornerstone for Silver's music of constantly shifting textures, sparse chording and frequent, articulate piano soloing.

While the music created an atmosphere best suited for the progressive jazz enthusiast, no one with an ear for creation in progress could say no to Silver's infectious music.

Loudon Wainwright III

MCCABES GUITAR SHOP — Next to being an air traffic controller at Chicago's O'Hare Airport or the publicist for the Ayatollah Khomeini, being a comedian is probably the world's most difficult occupation. And having to make people laugh via voice and a lone acoustic guitar makes the profession doubly hard. However, Loudon Wainwright III has an incredible knack for doing just that.

Wainwright brings a human warmth to songs about babies, drinking and male/female relationships (fulfilling and waning) that make them instantly relatable and unforgettable. For instance, songs like "Rufus Is A Tit Man," an account of baby's fixation with his mother's breasts, and

"Bee-Side," a musical diary of the life of a bumble bee, are original and wonderfully zany sentiments.

Free champagne (distributed in honor of Wainwright's new Rounder LP "A Live One") had been passed out to the crowd of 150 before the show and by the time the bard from Westchester County jumped onstage, the venerable West L.A. folk club had taken on the atmosphere of a living room full of friends.

Wainwright immediately launched into his G chord-oriented set with "You Can't Say No . . . To That Woman" and proceeded to send the enthusiastic crowd into uproar with rib ticklers like "Drinks Before Dinner," "Whatever Happened To Us" and "Mr. Guilty" and his slapstick stage presence.

While many have dismissed Wainwright's material as lightweight, his penetrating observations of modern man, such as "The Man Who Couldn't Cry," rank with some of the best folk material of the past 20 years.

It was also to the veteran performer's credit as an artist that he chose to neglect material from his latest album and concentrate on old classics like "Saturday Morning" and "Be Careful There's A Baby In The House," and brand new material like "Dilated To Meet You" and "The Acid Song."

While Wainwright's eccentric stage manner and heartwarming yet satirical songs will never be too much of a commercial threat he remains one of America's most refreshing and amusing folk talents.

Squeeze

THE WHISKY, L.A. — Like a breath of fresh air from across the cold Atlantic, A&M recording group Squeeze breezed into L.A. and charmed the change right out of the pockets of an appreciative audience like four musical Artful Dodgers. Don't get me wrong — there is no sleight of hand in the five member band's unpretentious, if slightly quirky, performance. But these lads have such a happy-go-lucky stage presence, from keyboardist Jools Holland's circus barker-like introduction of the group to guitarist Glenn Tillbrook's terminal case of the smiles, that it's easy to overlook the fact that they are highly talented, original, popsters as well.

Highlights of the band's spirited set included the tried and true English pop of the U.K. Top 10 hit "Take Me I'm Yours" (from the days when they were still known as U.K. Squeeze), the slightly off kilter rhythms and tongue-in-cheek humor of "If I Didn't Love You" and "I'm Go Go," and the pert pop melodies and wry observations of a seaside holiday in the band's current U.S. single "Pulling Mussels (From The Shell)."

Best-received were the tracks from the "Argybargy" LP, which has been given a healthy promotional push here by the record label, which benefited from the variety of musical influences in the band, such as Holland's rollicking boogie-woogie R&B piano fills (and shameless mugging in brief, but amusing impersonations of Ray Charles), rhythm guitarist Christ Difford's introspective pop/rock intensity to bassist John Bentley bopping beat. This is a band on the move and they are clearly moving up.

players, and a giant screen Advent projection TV. Video Unlimited, MEDA/Media Home Entertainment and U.S. Video will supply pre-recorded videocassette software, with additional video software contributed by WCI Home Video, Home Theatre and Paramount. MCA DiscoVision will supply videodiscs.

"One of the key elements of this year's display will be the promotion of the cross-merchandising aspects for the audio/video marriage," noted Cohen. "We'll also be emphasizing NARM's 'Give The Gift Of Music' campaign by distributing our guidelines manual and catalog of advertising and specialty display items."

To facilitate software cross-merchandising efforts for electronics hardware retailers, NARM has also put together a listing of rackjobbers by state to be distributed at the show to consumer electronics retailers.

Major label involvement in the audiophile mart will also achieve its first exposure in the center, where CBS Master-sound product will be on display, in addition to Crystal Clear recordings. Stan Silverman, NARM director of membership services, will again oversee the exhibit.

"Because our industries are so closely interrelated, it's extremely important to stay on top of all the technological changes," summarized Cohen. "We hope that this display will again point out to retailers in both hardware and software what cross-merchandising can mean to them."

A record 971 exhibitors are expected to converge on three exhibit areas — McCormick Place, McCormick Inn and the Pick Congress Hotel — during the show. McCormick Place will house exhibits for a mix of all product categories, including 40 auto sound exhibits in a new open area on

BASF Plans Int'l Expansion Of Tape, Disc Production

NEW YORK — BASF, the German manufacturer of audio tapes and cassettes, has announced plans to expand its magnetic media production facilities around the world. However, the company said that plans for BASF's Longitudinal Video Recording System (LVR), which was to be marketed by the end of the year, "have been reviewed due to the shift in currency parities incurred since production in the U.S. began to be projected."

The expansion projects are set for Germany, the U.S., France, Brazil and Indonesia. The company said it would invest $108 million in the German projects alone, which will include added video tape and disc pack production capacities, a technology applications lab, and production line efficiencies at its Willstaett works. BASF also plans expansion of magnetic pigment production and development work at its Ludwigshafen complex. According to the company, the projects will be completed within three years and will create approximately 250 new jobs in Germany and about 600 new jobs in other countries.

In explaining its decision not to go ahead with U.S.-based mass production of the LVR system, BASF said that because of a 1.2% rise in the value of the dollar in the past 15 months, compared with a 21.2% decline by the Japanese yen in the same period, "the competitive basis for production in the U.S. had deteriorated significantly."

BASF said that it will work on developing a miniaturized LVR camera recorder and a Longitudinal Digital Recorder (LDR) data system.

the mall levels, while smaller, special interest audio/hi-fi manufacturers will have displays at the Pick Congress Hotel suites. Remaining hi-fi exhibits will be shown at McCormick Inn, across from McCormick Place.

"Every year I say this, but . . . this year's summer CES is going to be the largest show we've ever had," said Bill Glasgow, CES vice president. "All exhibit levels of McCormick place are filled to capacity, and 146 exhibitors will be at the Pick Congress Hotel, while 65 exhibitors will be stationed at McCormick Inn."

Among the other highlights of the show will be the annual Consumer Electronics Design And Engineering exhibition, where a gallery of 109 of "the most innovative new products" in home electronics this year, including audio/visual hardware, stereo/hi-fi components, electronic games, telephone answering devices, home computers and auto sound products, will be on display. The exhibit's products were selected by a panel of editors from major trade and consumer home stereo and electronics publications.

"Contrary to what most people have said about a soft hardware market this year in the home electronics industry, we've had more applications for design and engineering awards this year than ever before," stated Victor Campos, CES director of special projects.

Campos added that this was the first year exhibition judged picked furniture specifically designed for home audio and video entertainment environments. Other products of note on display are a specially designed self-standing rear projection TV system, a mini-component audio system and the first amplifiers specifically designed to drive loudspeakers. He also cited new designs in micro-processors and micro-computers as part of this year's latest electronics innovations.

The series of CES conferences, workshops and seminars begins June 15 with an Auto Sound Conference, running 9:00-11:00 a.m. The following morning, June 16, the CES Video Conference will delve into the outlook for video cassette recorders and disc players, software programming and a presentation on home computers. The keynote speech will be "The Government's Role In The New Uses For Television," by Henry Geller, assistant secretary for communications and information, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Other topics at the conference include "The Videocassette Recorder: The Maturing Market" (Ken Winslow, editor, The Videoplay Report); "The Videodisc: The Emerging Market" (Theodore Anderson, Argus Research Corp.); "Video Programming: Satisfying The Market" (Bob Reed, National Video Clearinghouse); and "Personal Computers: Creating A Consumer Market" (Ray Kassir, Atari, Inc.).

On Monday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m., the CES Retail Merchandising Workshop will be held with Maxwell Sroge speaking on "Mail Order: An Effective Way To Sell" and Bernard Marks of Ad Pix handling the topic "Ten Ways To Avoid Non-Productive Advertising."

Tuesday morning's CES Audio Conference, scheduled to run from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m., will feature three separate topics, including "AM Stereo: The Impact On The Marketplace" (Jerry LeBow, Frank Barth, Inc., a N.Y. advertising firm); "Recent Product Innovations That Will Increase Sales" (Len Feldman, audio consultant); and "Greater Profitability Through Software Merchandising" (John Dale, Fuji Photo Film U.S.A., Inc.).

Films Highlight CES Video Releases; Music-Oriented Product On Upsurge

by Michael Glynn

CHICAGO — Popular contemporary feature length motion pictures will dominate the bulk of new titles highlighted by the major home video software suppliers at the 1980 International Summer Consumer Electronics Show here June 15-18. The show will also see the introduction of a great many classic films, adult-oriented features and, for the first time at CES, a significant number of music-oriented properties for videocassette.

Time-Life Video will debut its first release to be made available via retail outlets, a one-hour live in-concert video featuring Arista recording group The Kinks. Entitled "One For The Road," the video will be released in conjunction with the LP of the same name (Cash Box, June 14). According to Jon Peisinger, Time-Life Video vice president and director of retail marketing, four-color inserts have been placed in Arista LPs as part of the pre-sell campaign and an extensive merchandising campaign has been set to tie-in the video with the two-album set. Banners, streamers, consumer print advertising, and national radio promotions in 20 key FM markets for premiere showings of the video will be part of the campaign. A distribution network for the video will be announced at CES.

MCA Videocassettes is announcing its first "made-for-cassette" music-oriented videocassette, a Loretta Lynn concert special. Entitled "Loretta," the video cassette will be released in conjunction with the video cassette of the Coal Miner's Daughter feature film and the two will be sold together in a unipackage. Other new releases to be featured by MCA at CES include Alfred Hitchcock's The Birds and Frenzy, in addition to The Marx Brothers' Duck Soup. Large scale merchandising, marketing and advertising campaigns, on the trade and consumer levels, will accompany the product releases. MCA also is currently in negotiations for four additional music-oriented videocassette properties.

WCI Home Video is spotlighting its June release of 10 feature length motion pictures at CES, including A Star Is Born, Main Event, The Candidate, Exorcist II: The Heretic, Executive Action, Bonnie & Clyde, Bullitt, Going In Style, Monty Python's Life Of Brian and Dog Day Afternoon. In conjunction with the release, WEA Corp. WCI Home Video's distributor, is offering a 3% discount program on every $1,500 minimum order, which includes a minimum of three units of each title. According to Russ Bach, WEA vice president of sales/marketing development, dealers who buy the program are then eligible to buy the balance of WCI Home Video catalog at a 3% discount, with no minimum restrictions. Additional new releases for WCI Home Video are expected to be announced at the end of June. The company will also display a recently completed 30-minute promotional cassette highlighting new releases.

Paramount Home Video will announce the release of seven new feature length films at CES, including Escape From Alcatraz, North Dallas Forty, Mandingo, Emmanuelle: Joys Of A Woman, Malicious, starring Laura Antonelli, Prophecy and Players. In addition, Paramount will feature ten popular episodes from the Star Trek TV series at the show. The episodes will be packaged in units of two episodes and a national advertising campaign will be set in conjunction with the entire release.

MEDA/Media Home Entertainment is highlighting its four most recent titles at the CES, including the feature film Man From Clover Grove, a live in-concert video entitled "Alice Cooper And Friends," a comedy entitled "Dracula Sucks" and a video incorporating laser light effects, animation and music, "Electric Light Voyage." Scheduled for future release by MEDA are the adult features Pink Flamingos, Sextoons and The New York Erotic Film Festival. According to the company, new merchandising aids — including posters, display cards and pamphlets — will be featured and special preview tapes of MEDA/Media Home Entertainment product will be available to accounts on re-orders. New accounts will receive "match and mate" buttons, which will make them eligible for the product previews. The firm is also announcing a 5% decrease in list prices on product ranging from $24.95 to $59.95.

Columbia Pictures' Home Entertainment Division will announce the release of 30-35 new home video titles, 15 of which will be part of its first major purchase for the consumer video market with Cinema 5. Some of the titles included in the agreement between Paramount and Cinema 5, which calls for exclusive videocassette rights and non-exclusive videodisc rights for Paramount, are The Man Who Fell To Earth, Pumping Iron, Scenes From A Marriage and Gimme Shelter, starring the Rolling Stones.

Finally, Nostalgia Merchant, a leading independent supplier of classic and vintage films and short features, will highlight its most recent releases at the CES. Among the title offered will be "Saturday At The Movies," a compilation of classic trailers and shorts, Topper, starring Cary Grant.

Summer CES Preview

bypassed by many chains in favor of newer, more unique items. Both 1812 Overture and National Record Mart reported dropping music folios, but Nehi (Peaches) reported adding Famous Amos Chocolate Chip cookies this year to their list of accessory items, indicative of the retailers' constant search for new and profitable products.

"We're always investigating new accessories, whether it's lighters or Famous Amos cookies," said Nehi's Paoletti. "We wouldn't carry any perishables, like milk, but cookies are a high impulse item, and we've been very successful with Famous Amos so far."

Nearly every retailer surveyed expressed the feeling that as the consumer is becoming more quality-conscious in regards to pre-recorded music, the record buyer is also becoming more aware of record and tape care techniques and products, which has contributed to a rapid growth in sales of these accessories.

"There is no question that our customers are now more sophisticated and demanding when it comes to sound quality," said Spec's Lieff. "The record buyer wants record care products to take care of his or her investment. We've been selling more protective inner sleeves, outer covers, tape cleaners, demagnetizers, zerostats and other related items than ever before."

Blank tape, however, is still the top-selling non-music item sold through record retailers. According to a Pickwick International blank tape survey presented by executive vice president Scott Young at the NARM convention in Las Vegas (Cash Box, April 5), 22% of all unit purchases in 1979 were for blank audio tape, as compared to 23% for pre-recorded tapes and 17% for singles and 38% for LPs.

"Tape is the biggest dollar accessory item there is and very much on the incline," said Fathers and Sons' Coulter.

Tape sales are so high that in many cases, some retailers now classify it as a separate item and not an accessory. Explained Music Plus' Young, "When you talk about accessories, that's one thing, but blank tape is totally separate and that is how we treat it."

Optimistic about the burgeoning video industry, several of the retailers surveyed have expanded their tape lines to include blank, as well as pre-recorded, videocassettes. Spec's Lieff noted that pre-recorded feature films were "profitable" for

Pioneer LaserDisc To Debut In Four Cities

LOS ANGELES — Pioneer's laser optical videodisc system, Pioneer LaserDisc, will be introduced as a consumer product this month, becoming available in Dallas, June 20; Madison, WI, June 24; Minneapolis, June 27; and Syracuse, July 1. LaserDisc, according to Ken Rai, U.S. Pioneer Electronics Corp. executive vice president, will be introduced into additional markets on a continuing basis until national distribution is instituted before the end of 1981.

The Pioneer LaserDisc videodisc system, which will be featured in the audio/video cross-merchandising exhibit of hardware and software at the 1980 Summer CES in Chicago June 15-18, has freeze-frame, slow motion, individual frame access and stereo sound capabilities.

Suggested retail price for the Pioneer player system is $749, while compatible videodiscs range in price from $24.95, for feature length films, to $5.55 for sports events and educational films. More than 106 programs are currently available on videodisc and major program offerings are planned by a variety of program suppliers, including Pioneer Artists, a subsidiary of Pioneer Electronics.

the chain, but added that the "markups are not very high." She did add that Spec's will continue to handle more and more new titles, as well as blank video tape.

Fathers and Sons' Coulter said that "the biggest problem right now is that many retailers are not aware of what the video picture is going to be in the '80s." He added that "it is tough to convince the retailers because the market is just starting to move."

Slow On Video

Added 1812 Overture's Van Derven, "We've been carrying videocassettes for two years, but the market in Milwaukee has been very slow to respond. We have customers who'll come in regularly for tape but the market hasn't built considerably." He stated that the chain will remain committed to video "as we believe many more people will be staying at home in the next five years and beyond."

While almost every retailer surveyed was unreservedly enthusiastic about the current condition and future prospects for the accessory market, Dr. Bruce Maier, president of Discwasher Inc., a major manufacturer of record care products, provided a more cautionary note.

"While we, as a company, have experienced a very steady, predictable growth pattern, the overall size of the accessory business, I'm afraid, is not what people believe it to be. It certainly isn't an unlimited promised land of profits for the record retailer and the record business will have to be careful not to oversaturate the market and burn it out."

Maier pointed out that for the accessory business to be healthy, the recorded music industry would have to be healthy as well.

ITA Plans To Track Sale of Blank Tapes

NEW YORK — The International Tape Assn. Inc. (ITA) has initiated a statistical program to monitor blank audio tape sales. According to Henry Brief, executive director of ITA, this is a follow-up to the audio/video trade association's previously announced program of collecting data on pre-recorded video cassettes. Brief said that, in time, ITA hopes to supplement these two programs with data on U.S. sales of blank video cassettes and statistics on all other products in the A/V industry for which no reliable statistics currently exist.

When the data collection service in the U.S. is in full operation, Brief said, plans will be made to inaugurate similar efforts by ITA member companies in other areas of the world.

HARTZELL ORGANIZER — Hartzell Custom Products has developed a new full-color and silver packaging design for its Hartzell Organizer line of storage units for cassette and eight-track tapes, 45 and LP records, VHS and Beta format video cassettes. The entire Hartzell Organizer will be displayed at the current CES show.

A DEVADIP DIGITAL — Columbia recording artist Devadip Carlos Santana recently completed work on "Swing Of Delight," the first digital LP ever recorded in northern California. Pictured above with Herbie Hancock (r), who worked with Santana on the LP, Santana celebrated completion of the digital product.

sponsored by the National Assn. of Retail Dealers of America (NARDA) and CEG/EIA. The keynote speech of the seminar, slated to run from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m., will be "How To Maintain Profitability Through Better Inventory Management, Expense Control, Store Operations And Personnel Relations" by Dr. William R. Davidson, Management Horizons, Inc. of Columbus, Ohio.

Communications Panel

Conferences will conclude Wednesday morning with the CES Personal Communications conference, set to run from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. Among the topics to be discussed will be "Citizens Radio: A Marketing And Regulatory Index" (Bernie Appel, Radio Shack); "Scanners: New Technology In A Growing Market" (Byron Crum, Regency Electronics, Inc.); "Feature Phones: A Market Outlook" (James Harter, Superphones, Inc.); "Custom-Owned Telephones: The Cordless Phone And Its Growing Appeal" (Bill Thomas, Pathcom, Inc.); "Telephone Answering Devices: Unique Opportunities In A Stable Market" (Marty Schatz, Record-A-Call); and "Customer-Owned Equipment: Realities And Rules" (Frank Young, American Telephone & Telegraph).

All conferences, workshops and seminars will take place in the Lindheimer Room of McCormick Place.

JVC To Feature Videodisc System

LOS ANGELES — JVC will feature a continuous demonstration of its prototype VHD/AHD videodisc player system at the 1980 Summer Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago, June 15-18. According to Ichiro Shinji, president of JVC, contract agreements have been reached between the company and Thorn-EMI, the London-based entertainment conglomerate, for Thorn to begin marketing pre-recorded videodiscs, as well as establishing facilities to manufacture the disc player. Retail introduction of the disc player is targeted for the end of 1981.

JVC is also introducing 25 new products in the High Fidelity Division, including four stereo receivers, four integrated amplifiers, three turntables, seven cassette decks, five pre-matched rack systems and two tuners, at the Summer CES. Additionally, JVC's Home Entertainment Division will debut five new radiocassette models at the CES, three of which will include metal cassette deck, offering superior sound reproduction. A color TV/radio/cassette deck and portable videocassette recorder are also being introduced at the show.

More Half-Speed Mastered Albums Debut At CES

CHICAGO — Half-speed mastered pop and rock recordings by Bob Seger, Joni Mitchell and Steely Dan will top the list of new audiophile LP releases at the Consumer Electronics Show (CES) here June 15-18. Additionally, in a significant move for the audiophile marketplace, Mobile Fidelity Sound Lab will preview a new line of audiophile quality pre-recorded cassettes in both the high bias and metal particle formats.

Mobile Fidelity Sound Lab

"Night Moves" by Bob Seger, "Thankful" by Natalie Cole and "Aja" by Steely Dan will be among the half-speed mastered recordings previewed by Mobile Fidelity Sound Lab (MFSL) at the CES. All three titles are set for July release by the company.

In the classical area, MFSL will showcase two half-speed mastered recordings from the EMI-Angel catalog, Sir Adrian Boult's "Falstaff: A Symphonic Study" and Andre Previn and The London Symphony Orchestra's "1812 Overture," while in the jazz area, the company will be featuring two records from the Gryphon catalog, Don Sebesky's "Three Works For Jazz Soloists and Symphony Orchestra" and Michel LeGrand And Co.'s "Le Grand Jazz." Also highlighted will be "Citadels Of Mystery" by Bernie Krause.

MFSL president Herb Belkin noted that the firm's introduction of pre-recorded metal particle tape musicassettes would now afford audiophiles with a metal bias tape that will reproduce high frequencies well over normal high bias tapes for the first time, as well as offering extremely low distortion. Belkin also stressed that MFSL's high bias format would present "a significant move" in that area.

In its initial entry into the record care accessory market, MFSL will also be introducing a cartridge alignment device to help combat record and stylus wear.

Nautilus Recordings

Nautilus Recordings of Pismo Beach, Calif. will preview test pressings of three new half-speed mastered pop and rock recordings at the CES, including "Court And Spark" by Joni Mitchell, "Diamonds And Rust" by Joan Baez and "Summer Breeze" by Seals And Crofts. The company will also be featuring Tim Weisberg's "Tip Of The Weisberg," a digitally recorded and mastered LP, and Fleetwood Mac's "Rumours," another half-speed mastered recording. Set for late summer release by Nautilus is Chico Hamilton's "Reaching For The Top," a half-speed mastered jazz recording.

Direct Disk Label

Along with a series of new half-speed mastered releases by such artists as Neil Diamond, Tower of Power, Van Morrison and others to be featured with its general catalog at the CBS, Direct Disk Lab of Nashville will introduce its new floor standing display rack, a new line of posters and hanging jacket displays highlighting both new releases and catalog. According to Direct Disk president Joe Overholt, the new in-store merchandising aids are part of the firm's "aggressive in-store marketing campaign."

Films Lead New Videos

Mysterious Doctor Satan, Nyoka And The Tiger Man, Comedy Classics, which includes four Laurel and Hardy short features, and two Laurel and Hardy films, Blockheads and Swiss Miss. Also available will be Nostalgia Merchant's "Matinee Double Feature" series. The company will unveil new packaging design for home video product, utilizing or styled after original film advertising or promotional artwork.

FEATURE PICKS

QUEEN (Elektra E-46652)
Play The Game (3:23) (Beechwood Music Corp./Queen Music Ltd. — BMI) (F. Mercury)

In the aftermath of its #1 pop/rockabilly tune, "Crazy Little Thing Called Love," Queen returns to its patented high tech, progressive pop sound on the first single from the forthcoming "The Game" LP. Freddie Mercury's breathless falsetto and sweet piano work will attract plenty of Top 40 attention, while Brian May's soaring lead guitar should provide a rush for AOR. A winner.

COMMODORES (Motown M 1489F)
Old-Fashion Love (3:24) (Jobete Music Co., Inc./Commodores Entertainment Publishing Corp. — ASCAP) (M. Williams)

Sturdy bass guitar and drum work provide a solid rhythmic foundation for the first single from the Commodores' new "Heroes" LP, as Lionel Ritchie, Jr. cracks out his distinctive southern lead vocal with excellent high harmony support from the rest of the band.

KISS (Casablanca NB 2282)
Shandi (3:33) (Kiss — ASCAP/Mad Vincent Music — BMI) (P. Stanley, V. Poncia)

Kiss foregoes the fiery heavy metal and pounding rock disco of its last few efforts and exposes yet another side of the group enigma — that of the closet crooners. Arching strings and guitar glissandos set the scene for Paul Stanley's love ode, with lush high harmonies from the rest of the quartet. Smack in the middleground of pop, this is gaining Top 40 attention.

LINDA RONSTADT (Asylum E-46654)
I Can't Let Go (2:41) (Blackwood Music, Inc. — BMI) (C. Taylor, A. Gorgoni)

Bouyant '60s-flavored pop/rock is served up by Ronstadt and co. on the third single from the "Mad Love" LP, as jangling guitars and tambourine set the musical mood perfectly, and the pixieish songstress punches out the climbing vocal with confidence. Ronstadt's multi-tracked backup vocals are a passionate pleasure. Expect heavy pop play for this AOR fave.

GEORGE BENSON (Warner Bros./Qwest WBS 49505)
Give Me The Night (3:52) (Rodsongs — ASCAP) (R. Temperton)

Producer Quincy Jones puts the Midas touch on the title track from Benson's upcoming LP (and the first single on Jones' Qwest label), as the guitarist works the rock steady funk/pop groove for all its worth. Sparkling horn shots and shimmering female backup vocals give the cut a nice polish.

BRAM TCHAIKOVSKY (Polydor PD 2101)
Let's Dance (4:12) (WB Music Corp. — ASCAP) (M. Broadbent)

Tumbling drum rolls and power guitar riffing kick this new pop/rocker from Bram and the boys' "Pressure" LP into high gear, as the band puts the pedal to the metal on this all-out dancer. Searingly high lead guitar solos are short and to the point, and cymbal slashes lend a raucous flavor to this most requested AOR track. Look for pop stations to pick up on this.

LIVINGSTON TAYLOR (Epic 9-50894)
First Time Love (2:41) (Bait & Beer Music — ASCAP) (P. Alger)

Liv Taylor deserves a fate better than the shadow of his brother's reputation, and this new single from the "Man's Best Friend" LP is the ideal vehicle to finally help him establish an identity of his own. Under the sympathetic yet rich production of Jeff Baxter and John Boylan, Taylor's sensitive vocals remain the focus of attention, expressive and easy. For pop, A/C.

MARY BURNS (MCA/Carousel MCA-41260)
California Radio (3:53) (W.B. Music Corp. — ASCAP) (B. Van Winkle)

Pound for pound, veteran rock 'n' roller Mary Burns packs as much raw vocal muscle into her music as any female rocker going today, as this single from her self-titled MCA debut LP testifies. A gritty belter in the classic blues rock mold, Burns boogies beat for beat with the hard workin' guitar and piano on this tailor-made AOR, pop track.

SINGLES TO WATCH

ROY ORBISON & EMMYLOU HARRIS (Warner Bros. WBS 49262)

That Lovin' You Feelin' Again (4:08) (Acuff-Rose Publications, Inc. — BMI) (R. Orbison, C. Price)

The Lonely One teams up with the Blue Kentucky Girl on this tender, plaintive country-flavored duet from the original motion picture soundtrack to Roadie. A gentle rhythm and sweet, placid acoustic guitar backs this team made in country heaven and the result is a pop, A/C sleeper.

JUDY COLLINS (Elektra E-46655)

The Rainbow Connection (3:03) (Welbeck Music Corp. — ASCAP) (P. Williams, K. Ascher)

Collins has a tough act to follow in Kermit The Frog on this cover of the song from The Muppet Movie, but her dramatic soprano brings a sweet resonance to the song. The blue-eyed thrush should warble her way into the hearts of A/C programmers with this cut from the "Running For My Life" LP.

A TASTE OF HONEY (Capitol 4888)

Rescue Me (3:20) (Rhythm Planet Music/Conductive Music, Inc./Big One Music Co. — BMI/ASCAP) (J. Johnson, B. Miller, R. Bautista)

George Duke's bright production is perfect for A Taste Of Honey, capturing the sharp rhythms, handclaps and horn blasts that punctuate this dance affair, while maintaining the thick keyboard textures. Destined for heavy B/C, pop play, this cut from the "Twice As Sweet" LP is highly recommended.

KENNY RANKIN (Atlantic 3663)

Regrets (3:30) (Intersong Music — ASCAP) (B. Wyrick)

Rankin's light, plaintive voice has somewhat limited range, working on spoken/sung numbers such as this tune from the "After The Roses" LP. At his best here, Rankin delivers the warm, heartfelt type of reading that has endeared him to so many female fans.

MAX (Chrysalis CHS 2432)

Rockin' Chair (3:33) (Publisher pending) (M. Gronenthal)

Jazzy muted electric piano work melds nicely with blues/rock bass and lead guitar attack on this unique rock/dancer from the "Max" LP. R&B-influenced backup chorus and the infectious beat could easily spell B/C crossover for this multi-format choice.

SEVENTH WONDER (Chocolate City CC 3207)

I Enjoy Ya (3:42) (Finish Line Music, Inc. — BMI) (J. Williams, C. Willis, W. Beck)

Galloping percussives, smart horn cracks and arching string arrangements help create the exhilarating rhythmic drive of this R&B joy from Seventh Wonder. Already gaining significant momentum on B/C lists, this is also fine for pop, dance lists.

GRAHAM PARKER (Arista AS 0532)

Stupefaction (3:24) (Carbert Music, Inc. — BMI) (G. Parker)

Parker pays homage to the blank generation of L.A. on this cut from "The Up Escalator" LP, putting plenty of bite into the cutting lyric with superb pub rock instrumental backup. Backed with the previously unreleased "Women In Charge," this is for AOR collectors.

JACKIE MOORE (Columbia 1-11288)

Helpless (3:23) (Stone Agate Music Division — BMI) (E. Holland, L. Dozier, B. Holland)

The classic songwriting team of Holland-Dozier-Holland has provided a wealth of material that is easily adaptable to a dance beat, as this single from Moore's "With Your Love" LP shows. Strings weave through the big beat, as Moore's vocals and backup sparkle. A dance, B/C sure shot.

ERIC CARMEN (Arista AS 0506)

It Hurts Too Much (3:53) (Camex Music, Inc. — BMI) (E. Carmen)

It's easy to see Carmen's roots are still in the '60s by this new tune from the "Tonight You're Mine" LP. Adopting an updated Phil Spectorish sound, Carmen employs castinets, a vibrant string backing and a short pungent sax solo on this AOR, pop choice.

RCR (Radio GS 712)

Give It To You (3:45) (Backwoods Music/Sounds Good Music — BMI) (S. Rhodes)

The trio of Rhodes-Chalmers-Rhodes (RCR) dip into a sexy, smoldering R&B groove, with the Rhodes sisters stepping out front to strut their hot vocals with excellent rhythm support and smokey sax. A dancer, this deserves B/C, pop support.

FLASH AND THE PAN (Epic 9-50882)

Media Man (3:39) (Edward B. Marks Music — BMI) (H. Vanda, G. Young)

Brisk electronic rock is served up by Aussie duo Vanda and Young (aka Flash And The Pan) on this cut from the "Light In The Night" LP. High synthesizer peaks accent the tuneful melody, especially on the full chorus, while the filtered spoken vocals maintain the unit's quirky identity. For pop, AOR and DOR.

FATBACK (Spring SP 3012)

Backstrokin' (3:47) (Clita Music — BMI) (J. Flippin, B. Curtis)

Deep, droning bass synthesizer makes for unusual opening to this throbbing funkier from Fatback's "Hot-box" LP, but bass guitar, cowbell percussives and handclaps keep the beat tight for dancing.

ROB GRILL (Mercury 76068)

Where Were You When I Needed You (3:24) (Duches Music Corp. — BMI) (S. Barri, P. F. Sloan)

Former Grass Root Grill should fare better with this building mid-tempo ballad from the "Uprooted" LP than he did with "Rock Sugar." Acoustic guitar blends nicely into a soaring electric lead on the dramatically rising crescendos, and his rich, full vocal should turn on pop, A/C audiences.

CHOCOLATE MILK (RCA PB-12030)

Hey Lover (3:52) (Chocolate Milk Music — BMI) (F. Richard, J. Smith III, A. Castenell, R. Dabon, M. Tio, D. Richards)

Most definitely under the influence of a partyin' groove, Chocolate Milk fires up a bass-heavy rhythm, nicely augmented by background brass and percussives, on this track from the "Hipnotism" LP.

SUSAN COLLINS (Millennium YB-11789)

(Giving Me) Sad Eyes (3:26) (April Music, Inc./Big Winner Music — ASCAP/Blackwood Music Inc./Mitzvah Music — BMI) (S. Collins, J. Kent)

Not to be confused with the Robert John tune, this debut from Collins is a sprightly pop number that builds to a peppy beat with a mix of bright rhythms, strong sax work and understated electronic orchestration. In the pop, A/C pocket.

WGH's Canada Stresses Good Mix Of Music, Talk And News

by Mark Albert

LOS ANGELES — Providing a diversified radio fare with a good balance between music, news and features, WGH/Norfolk, Va. serves its community with one of the most unique formats in the nation. Ranging from features like its recent on-board interviews conducted on the U.S. Navy aircraft carrier Nimitz upon its return from the Indian Ocean to unusual and personal talk programs to daily updated playlists, WGH has found a balance unique to radio — combining the best of Top 40, talk and news magazine formats.

"We offer something for everybody at WGH," says program manager Bob Canada. "When I first came here in 1976, the station was committed to 'more music' and promotions; and the Tidewater communities offer a very diverse and atypical audience.

"In the first place, you have the world's largest naval installation here, and because of that, thousands of Navy wives. You have a large college community, and you also have the Virginia Beach set, along with many other businesses."

WGH's acknowledgement of the naval community was most apparent with its coverage on board the Nimitz, returning to Norfolk after an eight-month stint in the Indian Ocean during much of the recent crisis following the aborted attempt to rescue the American hostages in Iran. The strike force reportedly took off from the Nimitz.

The return of the Nimitz with Battle Group Six was a major event in the Tidewater area, with over 30,000 people waiting to welcome the men home. Canada and his engineer were flown 60 miles out into the Atlantic to meet the ship, and, with a 100 watt transmitter, WGH was the only station in the nation to broadcast live interviews and reports with the sailors and others on board. The only others allowed to greet the Nimitz at sea were President Carter and his entourage.

"We had promoted the return of the Nimitz for a month, and we also promoted the fact that we would be there on board broadcasting from the ship as we neared port," Canada explained. "Wives of some of the men sent me letters and asked me to please deliver them to their husbands."

Among the letters and messages Canada carried on board were approximately a dozen notifications of new sons and daughters for the sailors.

"Any program director needs to be creative," Canada said. "The problem that PDs suffer from today is that too many stations' management does not give them a free hand. When that happens, people become discouraged and withdraw into themselves." (continued on page 42)

FCC Petitions Supreme Court To Reverse Appellate Intervention Ruling

by Mark Albert

LOS ANGELES — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has petitioned the Supreme Court to overturn an appellate court decision that would force the Commission to involve itself in radio program format changes.

Actions supporting the FCC stance were taken last week (June 9) by the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB); the ABC, CBS and NBC networks; Metromedia and the National Radio Broadcasters Assn. (NRBA), who also filed briefs with the Supreme Court.

The FCC has maintained that the marketplace forces and broadcaster discretion should determine format changes. Other groups have argued that when the preservation of a "unique format" is threatened, then the FCC should intercede and preserve the format.

The current case marked FCC and the United States vs. WNCN Listeners Guild does not involve one station or one format. The principle question is whether or not it is the FCC's responsibility to intervene and preserve a format if it is considered to be "unique" in that market.

'Unique Format'

"If a so-called 'unique format' is at stake, the decision to change or preserve that format should still be left to the licensee," stated Dave Saylor, Deputy of General Council of the Broadcast Bureau. Saylor added that the Communications Act does not require regulation of entertainment formats by the FCC and that First Amendment considerations militates against the regulation of formats.

The contention of the NAB, NRBA, Metromedia and the networks is that the courts are ignoring "important statutory and constitutional restraints on government intrusion into broadcast programming."

The WNCN Listeners Guild (which is not affiliated with WNCN/New York) was formed in 1974 by angry listeners who opposed Starr Broadcasting's change of WNCN's classical format to progressive rock. According to WNCN program director Matt Biberfeld, thousands of letters were sent to the FCC demanding that the agency move in and reinstate the classical format as it was 'unique' in that market.

There was and still is more than one classical station in New York and the FCC maintained that it was still up to the marketplace forces to govern format changes.

In June, 1976, Starr Broadcasting sold WNCN to GAF Corp. which reverted back to the station's classical format without FCC intervention. Biberfeld added that 1979 was the first year that the station has shown a profit.

Saylor said that the Supreme Court isn't likely to review the case until the late fall. A final decision may not be forthcoming until 1981.

CMA Fan Fair Kicks Off With Softball And Music City News Awards Show

By Don Cusic

NASHVILLE — An estimated 15,000 fans have registered at $35 a head for Country Music's annual Fan Fair, according to officials of WSM and the Country Music Assn., co-sponsors of the event. This makes it the largest Fan Fair ever.

Fan Fair began with the annual softball tournament, won this year by Warner Bros.' Crazy Wabbits in the men's division and RCA in the women's division. Most valuable players were Tony Naile of Tony Naile Promotions for Warner Bros. and Amanda Willis of Central South Distributors for RCA. The runners-up in the men's division were Tommy Cash's team and in the women's division, Barbara Mandrell's Do-Rites.

During the tournament, a special presentation was made to Mary Reeves Davis, whose softball teams had won the last five consecutive Fan Fair tournaments. She did not have a team in this year's tournament.

The All-Star game, which consists of players from all the teams who are artists and celebrities, saw performers such as Jim Ed Brown, Helen Cornelius, Ronnie Prophet, Dave and Sugar (Dave Roland, Sue Powell and Melissa Dean), Joe Bonsall and Richard Sterban of the Oak Ridge Boys, Ralph Emery, Doug Green, Tommy Cash, Sylvia, Ruby Falls and Rex Allen Jr. showing off their softball prowess.

Nashville Makes Impressive Showing In New York BMI Awards Presentation

NASHVILLE — Country music made an impressive showing recently when the Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI) Pop Awards were held in New York to honor the most performed songs of the year. Nineteen of the 92 songs awarded were Nashville songs, written by writers from Nashville and played, primarily, on country radio.

A delegation of 60 award recipients and BMI staff members from Nashville went to New York to attend the awards presentation, which honored 136 writers and 84 publishers. Bob McDill and Even Stevens were the biggest winners from Nashville, with each walking away with three awards.

Other songwriters who won awards in New York were Dolly Parton, John Conlee, Larry Keith, Steve Pippin, Johnny Slate, Ben Peters, Michael Clark, Tom Crain, Charlie Daniels, Taz DiGregorio, Fred Edwards, Charlie Hayward, Jim Marshall, J.R. On Monday night, after the first day of the softball tournament, the Music City News Awards were held. The show, telecast live, saw the Statler Brothers pick up three awards (vocal group, comedy act and best album) while Marty Robbins won two, including male vocalist and songwriter.

Kenny Rogers won single of the year for "Coward of the County," Loretta Lynn was named female vocalist; Hank Williams, Jr. received most promising male; Charly McClain received most promising female; duet of the year was Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn; Roy Clark was named musician of the year; Charlie Daniel's Band received band of the year; Bill Monroe won the bluegrass award; the Carter family won gospel act of the year; and the PBS' Live From The Grand Ole Opry won the TV program of the year during the awards telecast.

The two-hour show was co-hosted by the Statler Brothers, Lynn Anderson and Ray Stevens with musical performances by Stevens, Dave and Sugar, Lynn Anderson, Moe Bandy, Joe Stampley, Wendy Holcombe, Buck Trent, B.J. Thomas, Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers Band and Charly McClain.

On Tuesday night, a big square dance was held at Municipal Auditorium, site of the Fan Fair musical shows, as the music began to dominate the week-long event.

Charlie Rich, Frederick Knight, Rafe VanHoy, Randy McCormick and Steve Jobe.

Nashville publishers honored included Vogue, Velvet Apple, House of Gold, Pomard, Pi-Gem, Beechwood, Window, Hat Band, Low-Sal, Chriswood, Tree, Debdave, Briarpatch, Irving, Hall-Clement, Hi-Lo, and Two Knight.

First Annual Wild Turkey Jamboree Awards $20,000 In Prize Monies

by Jennifer Bohler

NASHVILLE — After three months of trial and elimination by a network of radio stations across the country, the first annual Wild Turkey Jamboree culminated in Columbia, Tennessee June 7-8 with the selection of three place winners and three honorable mentions.

The purpose of the contest was to select the up and coming talent of the future in country music. From approximately 2,000 entrants sponsored by 20 radio stations, the panel of music-related judges, consisting of Bob Campbell, Country Music magazine, Del Bryant, BMI; Dianne Petty, SESAC; Maggie Cavender, Nashville Songwriters Association, International; and Rusty Jones, ASCAP; believe they have done just that.

The final contest took place during a music jamboree that featured such country artists as Lynn Anderson, Marty Robbins, Merle Haggard, Johnny Paycheck, Asleep at the Wheel, North Star Band, the Nashville Superpickers, and the Carl Tipton Singers, with Merle Kilgore acting as Master of Ceremonies.

The places, winners and their sponsor station as follows: 1st Place and $10,000 — 000 — Cabin Fever — WSAI, Cincinnati, Ohio; 2nd Place and $5,000 — David Head, WHOO, Orlando, Fla.; 3rd Place and $2,000 — Southern Ashe, WPNX, Columbus, Ga.

Three Honorable Mentions and $1,000 each go to Rocky Benton, KIKK, Houston, Texas; Lee Sanchez, WCHY, Savannah, Ga. and Smokehouse, WBKR, Owensberg, Kentucky.

All of the festivities were filmed by Time to Shine Productions, in Nashville, a subsidiary of Nashville Television Productions, Inc. The film will be edited into a 90-minute documentary for the Public Broadcasting Service, and for possible use on pay television and cable systems.

FUND-RAISING TRAIL TO COLORADO — RCA artists Razy Bailey and Sylvia joined singer Cliff Cochran and the staff at KSSS Radio in Colorado Springs, Colo. to put on a benefit concert for a local senior services organization. Co-sponsored by KSSS and the Pikes Peak Civitan Club, the third annual country music show boasted three acts this year after successes with Dave and Sugar in 1979 and the Oak Ridge Boys in 1978. Pictured during intermission are (l-r): Joe Miller, KSSS; Sylvia; Carson Schreiber, RCA Records, Los Angeles; Linda Brown, KSSS; Cochran; Dave Beadles, KSSS; Bailey; Bob May, KSSS; and Jeff Naumann, RCA Records, Denver.

ALBUM REVIEWS

SINGS HANK WILLIAMS — George Jones — Pickwick SPC-3728 — Producer: Not Listed — List: 7.98

The greatest vocalist in country music sings an album of songs by the greatest songwriter in country music. George Jones recorded these Hank Williams songs a number of years ago but this release sounds timely today. Best cuts include "They'll Never Take Her Love From Me," "You Win Again," "I Could Never Be Ashamed of You," and "A House Without Love."

A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE — Tom T. Hall — RCA AHL1-3685 — Producer: Roy Dea and Tom T. Hall — List: 7.98

An interesting cover of Hall sitting in a fancy living room dressed in some funky clothes with a well travelled guitar case, reflects the different sides of Tom T. covered on this album. "People As Crazy As Me" is a jewel, and other great cuts include "The Six O'Clock News," "Me And Jimmie Rodgers" and "I'll Go Somewhere And Sing My Songs Again."

EYES — Eddy Raven — Dimension DL 5001 — Producer: Ray Pennington and Ronnie Gant — List: 7.98

Raven is an excellent singer/songwriter whose songs have hit while he, as an artist, has never broken big. This collection of self-penned numbers (with some help from co-writers David Powelson and Sanger Shafer) gives a good insight into this excellent talent. Best cuts include "Just Leave Me Along," "You've Got Those Eyes," "It Takes A Long Long Time To Say Goodbye" and "Fais Do Do."

FRIDAY NIGHT BLUES — John Conlee — MCA MCA-3246 — Producer: Bud Logan — List: 7.98

John Conlee has developed an impressive following during his short career. He's a country singer's singer and his voice is a classic. Best cuts on this album, which is mostly straight ahead country and therefore pure Conlee, are "Always True," "Friday Night Blues," "Honky Tonk Toys," "Old Fashioned Love" and "What I Had With You."

YOURS FOR THE TAKING — Jack Greene — Firstline FLP 7012 — Producer: Jack Gilmer — List: 7.98

Jack Greene is one of the finest singers in country music with a strong, rich voice that sounds perfect on radio or the juke. This collection, his first new album in several years, contains such gems as "Yours For The Taking," "Sixty Days," "It's Not The End Of The World" and "Devil's Den."

THE COUNTRY COLUMN

URBAN COWBOY — You may have thought Gilley's Club was packed to the proverbial rafters before . . . it should be near impossible to get in the place now that Urban Cowboy has hit the dusty trails and darkened theatre halls across the country. Well, Mickey Gilley worked long and hard to gain this sort of recognition for his substantial honky tonk. As a matter of fact, he's as pleased as punch that his club was selected "Night Club of the Year" by the Academy of Country Music. Noted the affable crooner, "Of course it's still nothin' fancy — just a plain old honky tonk where people can relax, let their hair down and have a good time."

By the way, for you Gilley's Club aficionados, there's a new book on the streets about the club, titled "Saturday Night At Gilley's Club," written by Houston Post music critic Bob Claypool. The book is published by Delilah Communications/Grove Press.

Mickey Gilley

Crystal Gayle will make her Las Vegas debut when she headlines in the Congo Room of the Sahara Hotel July 3-9.

THE NAME GAME — Frontline Records has changed its name to Firstline Records.

ON THE TUBE — The Kendalls are set to appear on Dinah! Check local listings for time in your area . . . Jim Ed Brown and Helen Cornelius taped "Backstage at the Grand Ole Opry" June 6. The show is syndicated, so check local listings . . . Tom T. Hall and Porter Wagoner taped Hee Haw last week. Coming up soon . . . And finally, Bill Anderson and the Po' Folks Band's guest appearance on the daytime soap, One Life To Live is set to air June 19 and 20.

The Music Industry of Memphis (MIM) will be in Nashville June 16. Among the scheduled activities are an ASCAP luncheon and a BMI-hosted cocktail reception.

WHERE DID THEY GET THAT TITLE? Shylo's new single is "God, Guns and Guts," released on their own label, Destiny. Catchy title, huh? It came from a National Rifle Assn. bumper sticker.

The Memphis chapter of NARAS will host a tribute to the Blackwood Brothers June 18 in Memphis. Among their many accolades, the Blackwood Brothers are the only group to have received Grammy nominations every year for 22 years. Additionally, the group has released no less than 117 albums in their time. Larry Gatlin is scheduled to MC the tribute, while De Garmo and Key entertain.

Producer Bob Montgomery is what might be considered a rare bird in the music business. Besides producing such stellar country artists as Eddy Arnold, Razzy Bailey and Kenny Dale, Montgomery has also slipped behind the pop reins to produce Larry Keith's forthcoming pop single for RCA. He also began work on Lobo's next album last week in Muscle Shoals.

MARTY ROBBINS (Columbia 1-11291)

One Man's Trash (Is Another Man's Treasure) (2:58) (Mariposa — BMI) (D. Winters-D. Winters, Jr.)

An up tempo, lively number from Robbins about a lady who has been slighted by another. The melody and chorus are catchy and will light the switchboards brighter than a Christmas tree.

ANNE MURRAY (Capitol P-4878)

I'm Happy Just To Dance With You (3:51) (Maclen — BMI) (J. Lennon-P. McCartney)

This old Beatle's song is given a smooth rendition by Murray. Her treatment assures this record of across the board success in all formats. Country fans will love it too.

CONWAY TWITTY (MCA MCA-41271)

MARGO SMITH (Warner Bros. WBS 49250)

My Guy (2:50) (Jobete — ASCAP) (W. Robinson)

NANCY SINATRA (Elektra E-46659-A)

Let's Keep It That Way (Tree — BMI) (C. Putman-R. VanHoy)

STEVE WARINER (RCA JH-12029)

The Easy Part's Over (3:03) (Jack and Bill — ASCAP) (J. Foster-B. Rice)

This song was a big hit for Charley Pride in the mid-'60s and Wariner's release has all the elements for making this a big hit all over again. This young artist has what it takes to be a star.

GOSPEL NEWS

The Gallop Poll sponsored by the American Research Corp. has just been released and for a mere $1250 anybody can have a copy. Among the more significant (and surprising) findings are that 68.6 percent of the total adult population in the U.S. believes "Christian music is as good in quality as secular or non-religious" and "almost 28 percent listen regularly to Christian music in their homes." The study, titled "Profile of the Christian Marketplace," encompasses seven major areas: radio, television, music, entertainment, publishing, donor giving, consumer behavior and leisure time activities. According to the poll, 6.3 million Americans attended gospel and contemporary Christian music concerts (paid or free) during the last 12 months and 27.9 percent of the adult U.S. population say religious/Christian music is among the records and tapes most listened to in their homes.

ALBUM REVIEWS

WITH MY SONG — Debby Boone — Lamb & Lion LL-1046 —
Producer: Brown Bannister — List: 7.98

This is Debby Boone's "Christian" album that shows not only her fine vocal ability but her allegiance to the Lord. It is convincing and pulls no punches — there's no 'secular' material here. Best cuts include Dylan's "What Can I Do For You," "Morningstar," "If Ever" and "With Every Breath."

STAND BY ME, A TRIBUTE TO MOTHER — The Sensational
Brown Brothers — HSE HSE 1538 — Producer: Larry Blackwell — List: 7.98

There are ten Brown brothers on this album and their sound is a full, spiritual sound that is both moving and emotional. All but one song was written by Nathaniel Brown and his brothers give him solid support with vocals. Best cuts include "Stand By Me," "Hold On And Don't Give Up" and "He'll Understand and Say Well Done."

LOOKING BACK AT THE BEST OF — Dallas Holm — Green-tree R3709 — Producer: Phil Johnson — List: 7.98

This is a greatest hits collection by Dallas Holm, yet it does not contain "Rise Again," his best known number. Still, the album is super strong with material such as "Heart O'Mine," "Jesus Got Ahold O'My Life," "Didn't He Shine" and "Peace Joy and Love." An excellent showcase for this talented singer/songwriter.

INTERNATIONAL DATELINE

Australia

MELBOURNE — Two of Australia's Top Producers, Spencer Lee and Tony Hogarth, have joined forces in a new company, Leo Productions. The company has signed a long-term agreement with Polygram Records for release of its artists, including Delaney-Venn, Ross Ryan, Oi '55 and Liz Wilder. Leo Productions began when Hogarth and Lee purchased Sydney's United Sound Studios with the stated aim of fostering local talent. Coming releases include an album by Delaney-Venn, a power rock trio.

Little River Band guitarist David Briggs, after producing a successful album for Melbourne band Australian Crawl, signed Sydney group MEO 245 to his own label and produced an album for them. He's taken the tapes to America with him on LRB's current tour to sound out interest in the group.

The local music business recently mourned the death of guitarist/songwriter Andy Durant, formerly of the group Stars, who lost a long battle against cancer. Durant, 25, spent his last few months with his family at home, writing songs by which he hoped to be remembered. Stars, who split up several months ago, and Mushroom Records is to release an album of live material by the band.

Missing Link Records, a leading independent label, has released the debut album by dynamic young rock band La Femme, the first group contracted to the label for national distribution under an agreement with 7 Records. La Femme's self-titled album features the band's successful debut single, "Chelsea Kids."

Another Missing Link act, the Boys Next Door, are currently in England where they're working under the name The Birthday Party. They've been getting good airplay on BBC 1 with material recorded in Australia, and are being distributed in the U.K. by independents. A new single is due any week now.

Mi-Sex, the Epic group recently returned from their debut U.S. tour, have released their second album, "Space Race," to rave reviews. Their first, "Grafitti Crimes," went platinum locally and continues to sell well.

Gary Numan, who recently toured with his amazing stage production, says he'll discard the extravagant light show after the current world tour. Apart from the cost of transporting and maintaining the 10-ton set, Numan apparently wants to prove that he doesn't rely on the set to carry his show.

Supertramp, Alpert Top New Additions To A&M Canada's 'Audiophile Series'

MONTREAL — A&M Records Canada will be releasing five new titles in its Audiophile Series of half-speed mastered super discs during the month of July. Among the titles will be "Crisis? What Crisis?" by Supertramp; "Spanish Train and Other Stories" by Chris De Burgh; "Cornerstone" by Styx; "Rise" by Herb Alpert; and "Regatta De Blanc" by The Police.

"The series has been doing exceptionally well," said Joe Summers, A&M Canada director of marketing. "By the end of summer, we anticipate having 19 titles on the market and we're in the process of expanding our merchandising and marketing efforts in response to widespread consumer acceptance."

"Our initial marketing approach was to go directly to the retail trade with such in-store merchandising aids as customized wire racks, header cards, point of purchase displays, etc. Now, our second phase of the marketing strategy will concentrate on building consumer-awareness through consumer-oriented print advertising in hi-fi, stereo and image publications."

Ad Campaign

Summers added that the advertising campaign will include a four panel color insert brochure highlighting the line and featuring new product. Summers also indicated that August releases for the series would include, among other titles, "The Singles Album" by The Carpenters; "Tea For The Tillerman" and "Teaser And The Firecat" by Cat Stevens; "Herb Alpert's Greatest Hits;" and "Nazareth's Greatest Hits."

Supertramp's "Crisis? What Crisis?" is the group's fourth LP to be included in the series, joining "Crime Of The Century,"

"Even In The Quietest Moments" and "Breakfast In America." The group has a large following in Canada, as evidenced by its record breaking tour last year and the fact that it is the only act in Canadian history to have attained the million unit level for two of its albums ("Crime Of The Century" and "Breakfast In America").

"Regatta de Blanc" by The Police is the group's first title to be included in the line and the first time new wave has been showcased in the audiophile format. Alpert's "Rise" is also his first effort to be included in the series. The LP showcases Alpert's international hit, the Grammy winning "Rise" single, which established his comeback as a performer after years of semi-retirement.

BBC Set To Move Into Home Video

LONDON — Under an arrangement with the 3M Corp. covering tape duplication and physical distribution worldwide except the U.S., Britain's BBC is readying to move into the home video field.

Although it's approved, the pact has yet to be sealed because the BBC, after four years of negotiation, has not come to an agreement on residual accords with local talent unions.

The BBC's move into what it prefers to call "video books" for marketing purposes will be under the cassette label of BBC Video. It will function as a division of BBC Enterprises, the commercial arm of the company which is also in charge of program sales in the foreign market.

The 3M agreement covers tapes in all formats, but does not include disks. U.S. videocassette arrangements are still open for negotiation.

Terry Slater

Slater Named To A&R Director Post At EMI U.K.

LONDON — Terry Slater has been appointed A&R director, EMI Records (U.K.), with immediate effect. He will report directly to EMI (U.K.) managing director John Bush, and succeeds Brian Shepherd, who left the company in May.

Slater was also appointed to the EMI Music International Repertoire Committee, formed two months ago and headed by Rupert Perry, A&R vice president, Capitol Records.

Formerly the creative director for EMI Music Publishing, Slater began his career in the music business as a musician and songwriter before joining Capitol in America in 1969 as general manager, Beechwood Music Corp. He returned to the U.K. in 1973 as general manager, Robbins Music Ltd. before joining EMI Music Publishing.

Commenting on the new appointment, Bush said, "Terry's deep knowledge of the business, his close relations with composers and artists and his own artistic flair bring to the EMI Records (U.K.) A&R division a unique combination of qualities promising outstanding success for the future."

Usually very comfortable and luxurious parties, this first one in the '80s resembled the spirit of these days: cold war. It was a beautiful all out loser's night.

from out-of-print and never before released materials from the venerable Decca catalog. For the uninitiated, the Decca catalog contains some of the greatest jazz ever recorded by masters like Louis Armstrong and Duke Ellington, and if all goes as scheduled, there'll be a big release of 18 records followed by another of 21 around July or August — let us pray . . . Another exciting development is the imminent release of a new Max Roach album on Columbia. It will be an all-digital recording of Max's M'Boom Percussion Ensemble with fellow masters Freddie Waits, Roy Brooks, Warren Smith, Omar Clay, and Ray Mantilla.

VINYL PIPELINE — Another herniated disc for my mailman, so without further ado . . . From Columbia's Contemporary Masters Series comes a classic blues date by Count Basie's star vocalist Jimmy Rushing, "Mr. Five By Five," with Jo Jones, Coleman Hawkins, Milt Hinton and Dickie Wells among others. The enormously successful drummer/producer Norman Connors launches "Celestial Sky" by the Starship Orchestra, jazz-oriented funk revolving around pianist/composer Billy McCoy, saxophonist Ralph "Buzzy" Jones and percussionist Darryl Munyungo Jackson with assists from Leon "Ndugu" Chancler and Jean Carn. Bassist Stanley Clarke has a new working band and a new album in the form of "Rocks, Pebbles and Sand" . . . The classy Black Saint label features two new releases. Pianist/composer/teacher Muhai Richard Abrams continues to create new musical forms with "Spiumonesty" featuring George Lewis, Roscoe Mitchell, Jay Clayton, Amina Claudine Myers, Leonard Jones and Yousef Yauzey. The young tenor giant David Murray teams up with the dynamic rhythm team of Fred Hopkins and Steve McCall for "Sweet Lovely" . . . From Warner Bros. comes the latest release from the extraordinary vocalist Al Jarreau, "This Time," with assists from Steve Gadd and Abe Laboriel. Electric bass innovator Larry Graham, who initiated the string popping sound while with Sly Stone, chocks in with "One In A Million You." Vocalist Chaka Khan produces some progressive funk with jazz overtones on "Naughty," with the help of John Clark, Joe Daley, The Brecker Brothers, Willie Weeks, Howard Johnson, Phil Upchurch and Noel Pointer. And the original cast album of "One Mo' Time" captures the musical richness and sassiness of black vaudeville in the '20s, with music by The New Orleans Blue Serenaders with the legendary trumpeter Jabbo Smith . . . From the Muse label comes another excellent organ album, "Good Vibrations" by Groove Holmes with Idris Muhammad and Houston Person. Vibist Charlie Shoemaker swings away on "Blue Shoe," pianist Kenny Barron and guitarist Ted Dunbar wax intimate on "In Tandem," and percussionist Emanuel K. Rahim leads a hard-edged latin ensemble on "Total Submission" . . . From the Pausa label comes "Four Keys" by the remarkable pianist Martial Solal, with Lee Konitz, John Scofield and Niels Henning Orsted-Pedersen. "Open Strings" is a re-issue of one of violinist Jean Luc Ponty's finest European groups, featuring guitarist Phillip Catherine. "Theme" is by the Patrick Williams Orchestra featuring Toots Thielemans, Steve Khan and Tony Levin. "Girl Talk" is vintage Oscar Peterson with drummers Bobby Durham and Louis Hayes and bassists Sam Jones and Ray Brown joining the pianist. Jazz accordion master Ari van Damme joins the vocal quartet Singers Unlimited on "Invitation" . . . The American popular song is the theme of three solo piano releases on Inner City. "Roland Hanna Plays the Music of Alec Wilder," "Al Haig Plays the Music of Jerome Kern" and "Tommy Flanagan Plays the Music of Harold Arlen" . . . Savoy Records (distributed by Arista) has just released four excellent re-issues of vintage materials. "The Black Swing Tradition" features the work of the Fletcher Henderson Orchestra, Mary Lou Williams, Stuff Smith, Buster Bailey, Hot Lips Page and the Buck Ram All-Stars. Basie-ites Frank Foster and Frank Wees are featured on "2 Franks Please" with assistance from Kenny Clarke, Kenny Burrell and Donald Byrd. "Marian McPartland at the Hickory House" follows the pianist's development in 1952-53, with drummer Joe Morello and bassist Vinnie Burke among others. "The Modern Jazz Piano Album" features important early recordings of Bud Powell, Lennie Tristano, Herbie Nichols, George Wallington, Dodo Marmorosa and Horace Silver . . . Finally, from Atlantic, comes the long awaited soundtrack from The Blues Brothers movie with music by Steve Cropper, Duck Dunn, Matt Murphy, Ray Charles, James Brown, Aretha Franklin, Cab Calloway, The Rev. James Cleveland Choir, and, of course, Elwood and Jake. And the Spinners check in with "Love Trippin'" with yeoman support from the Brecker Brothers, Cornell Dupree, John Tropea, Arnie Lawrence and Ronnie Cuber . . . Oops, almost missed the new McCoy Tyner on Milestone, "Horizon," with Al Foster, John Blake and George Adams, one of the pianist's more pleasurable recordings in some time . . . And coming from Muse is "Satisfaction Guaranteed," the latest offering from vocalist Mark Murphy. chip stern

"Whether it is myself or members of the staff, the advantage of WGH is that you are not in any way, shape or form handicapped, hand-tied or stifled from being creative."

Canada's commitment to creative programming to serve the community is also reflected in such features as the George In The Morning Show, a news magazine style program; Canada's own talk show utilizing telephone calls, and Ellery Queen Mystery Minutes.

"The Mystery Minutes are great for soliciting listener participation," Canada explained. "The answer to a crime is contained in the one minute of clues, and listeners are asked to call us with their solutions. They win money or albums."

More off-beat attractions at WGH include the Acuweather service and something known as the "tanning index."

"Acuweather, in my opinion, is the best news service in America," Canada said. "The service delivers accurate weather forecasts, hurricane warnings, all up to the minute, which is extremely vital for this area. The key to this service, besides accuracy, is that it is presented by per-the work for which the compulsory license is sought and the royalty payable.

The notice of change in suggested retail list price requires much of the same information and additional notification of the new list price within 30 days of the change, the new royalty payable and the effective date of the list price change.

Morris Abram, attorney for the NMPA, told the CRT that even if record companies discontinue the use of suggested retail price in business, they could figure one out for purposes of filing an application for compulsory license.

The CRT is charged with reviewing the present royalty fee for mechanical reproductions and to reach a decision before the end of this year. This decision will remain in force until 1987, when the law requires another review.

sonalities in recorded versions, either 20 seconds long or 45 seconds. The Acuweather man, as a matter of fact, gets fan mail delivered here to the station."

Still, one of the more popular features of WGH's programming remains the "tanning index." "We get 20 or 30 calls every day from all types of people who want to know what kind of tan to expect," Canada explained. "People are disappointed if we tell them it's only going to be a five or six kind of day, but are delighted when we report a 'Bo Derek' tanning day."

While music may not be the main fare at WGH, it plays an equally vital role for Canada. Contemporary hits and carefully selected oldies are used more as a supplement to WGH's many special features.

"It's not that music is less important," Canada explained, "but it's the other things that we do that make this station different."

Extensive Research

Because of extensive research, J.J. McKay's Tidewater Top 20 Countdown, which airs five nights a week from 7-9 p.m., is one of the most comprehensive, up-to-the-minute playlists in the country.

Each day, McKay surveys the four leading retail outlets in the area and, from that information, compiles the Top 20 best selling singles and Top 10 best selling albums for that day. Each night, McKay will then play in countdown fashion these Top 20 singles and cuts from the Top 10 albums. In addition, five or six new releases are previewed each night for test purposes.

"AM radio has to inform in every way possible and communicate through every conceivable means with the available audience on AM today," Canada summarized. "It might be news, audience involvement, talk and music or wall-to-wall talk; but it cannot be wall-to-wall music."

"That is the toughest realization that AM has to face today in light of the penetration by FM. You cannot, under any circumstances, expect to play music wall-to-wall on the AM station today and gain any kind of an audience or be competitive."

Game Plan Holds Vegas Show

LAS VEGAS — More than 125 people representing prominent distributors and operators within the coin machine industry attended Game Plan's lavish product showing June 6-8 at The Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas. The two-year-old Chicago-based manufacturer debuted its "Tora Tora" video and "Lizard" pinball game, and representatives from the slot machine community were given a chance to view the company's new microprocessor slot, "Money Machine."

Game Plan hosted the weekend that featured a welcoming cocktail party (June 6), an all-day showing and buffet (June 7) and a farewell brunch (June 8). Game Plan/AES executives Lee Goldboss, Wendell McAdams and Ken Anderson were also on hand to answer questions about the new amusement games.

"There have been several rumors in the industry that Game Plan was going out of the pinball manufacturing business," said Anderson, Game Plan's marketing manager, "But there's never any reason to denounce a rumor verbally. You have to show people. And that's what we've done by holding this showing."

Anderson went on to say that he was very

Robbins Named Co-President Of Atari's Coin-Op Division

SUNNYVALE — Joseph Robbins, most recently president of Empire Distributing, Inc., a division of Bally, has been named co-president of Atari's Coin-Operated Electronic Games Division. The announcement was made June 4 by Eugene Lipkin, president.

Commenting on the appointment, Lipkin said, "Atari's coin-op division has experienced accelerated growth and expansion both domestically and internationally during the past 18 months. I am particularly pleased that Joe has joined me to manage the expanding administration and marketing plan for Atari's coin-op division. His assistance will enable Atari to keep up with the demands of the industry and to devote the creative and business efforts needed to continue our leadership in the marketplace. The outstanding successes of such Atari coin-operated games as Asteroids, Sprint II and Breakout have been instrumental in bringing Atari into the forefront of the coin-operated industry worldwide."

Raymond E. Kassir, chairman and chief executive officer of Atari, Inc. added, "The coin-operated business is growing at a rapid rate. Our engineers have exciting new products in the pipeline and are already blueprinting games for 1982 and 1983. The team of Messrs. Lipkin and Robbins provides us with outstanding management leadership in a highly competitive business," he added.

Robbins has contributed to the growth of the coin-operated amusement industry over the past 34 years and is well known to distributors and operators throughout the world.

He was educated at Yale University in the School of Engineering. After service in World War II he began his career in the industry in 1946 with a Seeburg distributor in New England and with London Music Co. in Wisconsin. In 1955 he joined Empire Distributing of Chicago where he became a partner in 1962, later directing the sale of the company in 1972 to the Bally organization. He continued as chief executive officer at Empire and was elected to Bally's board of directors, serving as chairman of the executive committee. Robbins held these positions until he resigned in 1978.

Stern Expects To Win Approval For Its Seeburg Bid

CHICAGO — Stern Electronics, Inc., under the terms of a $2-million plus plan, has agreed to buy certain of the assets of the Seeburg Corp. (Cash Box, May 31) and begin manufacturing jukeboxes under the Seeburg name. As reported by company president Gary Stern, the proposed acquisition, if approved by a federal bankruptcy judge and a majority of unsecured creditors, will contribute to the continued growth and diversification of Stern Electronics which, since its formation in 1976, has reportedly captured almost 20% of the world pinball market.

Stern foresees no problems in final approval of the agreement and expects the acquisition to be finalized within 60 days. Stern production of Seeburg jukeboxes is planned for as early as September of this year.

Prior to the start of production, the Seeburg operation will be moved to Stern's 280,000 square foot manufacturing facility in Chicago. Solid state components for Seeburg jukeboxes will be provided by Stern's suburban based subsidiary, Universal Research Laboratories, Inc. of Elk Grove Village, which recently relocated into a new 42,000 square foot manufacturing and assembly plant (Cash Box, June 7). The new facility has the capability of being expanded an additional 50,000 square feet, according to Stern.

URL, Inc. also provides solid state components for all Stern pinball games and O.E.M. solid state products to outside companies.

Broaden Market

Stern said the Seeburg acquisition will broaden Stern's marketing capability and contribute to overall company sales. "We have committed some $5 million to the formation of a new jukebox division and anticipate great success for the Seeburg business," he said.

"Because we also manufacture pinball games, the Seeburg jukebox will not have to stand on its own. We will be in the flexible position of responding and adjusting to changing market demands in the coin-operated entertainment industry." Earlier this month, Stern confirmed its intention to begin the manufacture of video games in the summer.

Creation of a new jukebox division will result in the formation of a new Stern jukebox engineering department. However, according to Stern, there will be no major reorganization of company management. Larry Siegal, Stern's vice president of sales/administration, will be directly responsible for overall operation of the Seeburg division. Stephen Kaufman will remain as Stern's vice president of marketing; Ed Polanek will continue as president of Stern's URL subsidiary.

Gottlieb Distributor Appointments Told

CHICAGO — The appointment of four new Gottlieb distributors has been announced by Jack H. Mittel, vice president and general sales manager of D. Gottlieb & Co.

The new distributorships are Continental Divide Distributors, Inc. of Denver, Colo. (with offices also in Albuquerque, N.M.), Philip Moss & Co. in Kansas City, Mo., Game Sales Company of Memphis, Tenn. (a division of Sammons Pennington) and Sammons-Pennington, Nashville, Inc.

"Our new distributors are well known to operators in the areas they cover and these moves have been made to strengthen distribution and enhance sales opportunities for our new game, 'Panthera,' and some very exciting ones to follow," Jack Mittel said of the appointments. "Also, my experience and friendship with Jerry Gordon, Terry Moss, George Sammons, Jerry Porter and Charlie Fite support our high expectations for the job that these industry veterans and their sales and service staffs will do for Gottlieb."

The appointments are effective immediately, according to Mittel, and all Gottlieb distributors will soon receive samples of the company's newest game.

Bally Gets 2nd Patent Grant For Electronic Pins

CHICAGO — Robert E. Mullane, chairman of the board and president of Bally Manufacturing Corp., announced that "Bally has been granted a second major United States patent relating to its electronic pinball games utilizing microprocessor technology. The patented electronic system," he noted, "has been employed in the coin-operated solid-state flipper-type pinball machines manufactured by Bally. In 1979, revenues from sales of flipper-type pinball machines amounted to more than $127,500,000 of Bally's total revenues for 1979 of about $386,200,000.

Suit Filed

"In June of 1978, Bally was granted a United States patent which it believes to be a basic patent in the pinball machine industry," he added. At that time, Bally brought a lawsuit against two major pinball machine manufacturers and certain other defendants in the U.S. District Court in Chicago for patent infringement based on the unlicensed use of the patented invention, and this litigation is currently pending.

"Bally has granted a license to Stern Electronics, Inc., under the patents, and is offering non-exclusive, royalty-bearing licenses under its patents to anyone interested in obtaining the right to use the inventions in their products," according to Mullane.

In conclusion, he stated, "These patent grants are still another confirmation of the company's leadership and innovation in the design and engineering of electronic amusement equipment."

association president James E. Hayes, Melvin Pearlman, AMOA director and chairman of the state association committee, and other prominent meeting participants. OMAA attracted record attendance for the meeting.

Game Plan Hosts Distributor Meet In Vegas

pleased with the attendance, as the company sent out 60 invitations ten days prior to the event, and more than 75% of the manufacturer's distributors were represented at the Las Vegas showing. "We didn't want to hold the showing on such short notice," said Anderson, "but we felt it was mandatory. With the flipper market bad the way it is, the first thing people think when you slow down on pins is that you are going out of business. We're a publicly owned company, so we certainly have the resources, but we also like this business and plan to stay."

Game Plan's latest entry into the pinball market is "Lizard," which is currently being sample shipped to distributors throughout the country. The game features an innovative sound theme that includes a drum beat and simulations of a breathing lizard, rocks falling into water and pterodactyl screams. The game, which features the backglass motif of a gigantic lizard attacking a voluptuous cave woman, is also heightened by an action-packed playfield that consists of a spinner target, a kick out hole on top, a 50,000 point bonus target on the left hand side, four drop targets halfway up the game, and three drop targets on top.

"We've also put extra power into the sling shot and flippers on 'Lizard,'" explained Anderson, "and the sound system and well-laid-out playfield make it high scoring and exciting."

Game Plan also bowed its new "Tora Tora" video at the event. The black and white color overlaid game has an air-sea battle theme.

In "Tora Tora," the player must fire the guns from his fleet of ships at the squadrons of airplanes that are descending and dropping bombs. The squadrons come down in series of two, three and four airplanes at a time. Once a squadron has been shot down, a new squadron assembles. There are four different sequences featuring four fleets and four squadrons in all. However, if the squadron hits all of the ships, the game is over. Each successive sequence becomes increasingly more difficult. In addition, the game also features a random kamikaze plane that dive bombs on the fleets.

"We feel that 'Tora Tora' represents a new image for video in that it doesn't have a space theme," said Anderson. He also explained that the game is in black & white with color overlays, and that although it wasn't ready for the Vegas showing, it would eventually be put out in color.

Anderson also mentioned the enthusiastic turn out for the showing proved the young manufacturer is respected by its distributors, and that they had a lot of confidence in the new product. "When you get this many distributors in one place with ten days notice, you can't help but be encouraged," Anderson added.

CHICAGO CHATTER

Game Plan, Inc. sponsored a new product showing at the Dunes in Las Vegas, June 6-8, to officially unveil the factory's new "Pinball Lizard" pingame, "Tora Tora" video game and the "revolutionary microprocessor slot machine." Factory distribs from throughout the country were invited to attend the three-day gala (see separate story).

NEXT UP FROM Williams Electronics, Inc. is a new standard size pin — "Blackout" by name — which is distinguished for a number of outstanding features including some super graphics and artwork. As we learned from marketing chief Ron Crouse, Blackout has the speech option, only in this case Williams is introducing a foreign language concept. So here we have a talking pin that speaks other than English. Prototypes are in production and domestic shipments should begin within the next couple of weeks. Watch for it. "Firepower," meanwhile, is doing very well.

WITH THE BASEBALL SEASON in full swing, is it any wonder that "Extra Bases" is a feature item at the Midway plant these days. The "finest and best programmed baseball game" is what marketing vice president Stan Jarocki calls it. What's more, it's a high earning piece, as well. On the subject of "Galaxian" — "phenomenal."

"MYSTIC" IS COMING UP SOON from the Bally Pinball Division. As the name implies, the new pin's visual concept portrays the fascinating world of magic. To quote company exec Tom Nleman, "it's the game that does the ultimate magic trick — it makes money appear in the cash box." And how can you beat that.

ATTENTION PHONO OPS. Cary Baker of Ovation Records has a new pop/novelty single that's made to order for jukeboxes. Title is "Who Shot J.R." (from the popular "Dallas" TV series) and the artist is Gary Burbank, a disc jockey from Louisville. The record's already breaking in Chicago, Detroit, Louisville, New Orleans and Nashville. Cary noted. Call him at (312) 729-7300 for jukebox promo copies. He also mentioned that jukebox play contributed very significantly to the success of Joe Sun's "Shotgun Rider" (Ovation), which is beginning to cross over from country to pop in some areas.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

C.A. Robinson's Ira Bettelman, who was in Las Vegas with the rest of famous Bettelman clan for Game Plan's lavish showing June 6-8, said he believes that the manufacturer has some exciting product and that C.A. is eager to put it out on test. Bettelman said he was also anxious to view the new product line at Gremlin's distributor meeting at the end of the month. In other news at the distrib, Bettelman mentioned that it was a pleasant surprise to see the collections on Taito's new "Lunar Rescue" still coming hot and heavy, and that C.A. has just received its first shipment of Exidy's "Targ." Bettelman added that, with the line of manufacturers that his distrib represents, he has never seen so many top machines on the market at once in amusement games business.

TALKED BRIEFLY WITH Jack Sutton of Rowe International, who has just returned to San Francisco after a business trip to Honolulu. On the home front, Sutton maintains that the R 84 Prelude phonograph is selling well and that he has just reordered. Sutton was also in L.A. recently where he tells us he viewed an excellent new video game by Hoie called "Galaxy."

TOURNAMENT SOCCER in conjunction with C. A. Robinson will be hosting "The $25,-000 Los Angeles 'Fun In The Sun' Spectacular" July 4-6 at the Pasadena Hilton. The weekend long event will be the Seattle-based soccer table manufacturer's fourth annual "Fools Of July" celebration and it promises to be the company's biggest and best L.A. event yet. The tournament will be highlighted by a pro clinic, a handicapped women's doubles game and the singles championship, which will take place on July 5. The Pasadena Hilton is located at 150 S. Los Robles, Pasadena Calif. Tournament entrants can call (212) 577-1000 for reservations. Entry fees per player are as follows: $75, championship doubles; $50, championship singles; $50, championship mixed doubles; $30, novice doubles; $20, novice singles; $15 novice mixed doubles and $15, handicapped women's doubles.

EASTERN FLASHES

NYSCMA president Millie McCarthy is rallying New York ops to campaign against a proposed tax increase on coin-operated machines. If passed, the legislation could access an additional $250 fee per machine per year which means, as Millie pointed out, N.Y.C. ops would have to pay the new charge along with the present $50 license fee on pins and $25 jukebox tax. She cautioned that if the bill goes through in the city, it could easily spread statewide and urged ops to contact their legislators. Also working diligently in the campaign are Howard Herman, president of the MAA, attorneys Mel Evans and Ron Koppelman and former senator Tom Laverne. For further details contact Millie McCarthy at (914) 434-5343.

"WE ARE ANXIOUSLY looking forward to the resumption of production of Seeburg phonographs in the not too distant future," announced Tony Yula of Mondial-Springfield. His comment related to the reported acquisition by Stern Electronics, Inc. of the Seeburg jukebox line (Cash Box, May 31). Mondial is currently enjoying outstanding test results with the new Gottlieb "Panthera" pin — and awaiting initial delivery of the factory's "Cicuz" wide-body. Video activity out there centers on Atari's "Asteroids" and Gremlin's "Astrofighter." Tony hopes to have an exciting new Atari piece (as revealed at the factory's Arizona meeting) sometime in July.

Independent Producers Exert Growing A&R Influence With Major Record Manufacturers

tists," observed Zager, "because it has become extremely difficult for an artist to go cold to any major sized record company without the support of a producer or a heavy manager."

Assume Additional Functions

In some cases, independent producers are assuming managerial-type career guidance responsibilities for their artists. Richard Gottehrer, the president of the Instant Records production firm, started his company in 1976 operating with the philosophy that there should be no outside interference with his new artists' careers. "The idea was to produce masters without anybody else's financial support so that nobody could get in the way — and that's still the process," Gottehrer said.

Although Gottehrer's initial success in producing artists such as Robert Gordon and Blondie resulted in production assignments from major labels (he recently produced Joan Armatrading's "Me Myself I" for A&M) he is still deeply involved in the development of unsigned, unrecorded talent. For an unsigned band like Neighbors and Allies (whom Gotthrer's assistant, Ron Ross found on the New York club circuit) Gottehrer will "supply whatever general services are needed," including a living/rehearsal space and equip-

Polygram Pubbery Holds First Int'l Meeting In Florida

NEW YORK — The Polygram Publishing Division recently held its first worldwide conference in Key Biscayne, Fla. The one-week gathering was attended by members of divisional management and over 40 managing directors and financial executives from Chappell and Intersong companies around the world. Discussions among the conferees concentrated on information systems, corporate strategies and long-term planning.

Among the highlights of the convention was a three-day executive educational seminar headed by Richard Meyer, professor of business administration at the Harvard Business School. There was also a special executive educational session at IBM headquarters in Boca Raton.

Other activities included special presentations made by Tom Smits, executive vice president of intersong-international and Ben Hagels, from Polygram's European headquarters corporate planning and organization department on strategic planning. Nicholas Firth, executive vice president of Chappell International, and David Hockman, assistant general manager of Chappell International, both spoke on acquisitions. Special group discussions were also held.

ment. "My feeling about handling a new act is that I'm better equipped to decide what's good or not than anybody at any record company," Gottehrer said. "I bring my new groups along myself, and when I decide that they're ready I'll bring them to a label that will want to be involved with them."

Carl Davis, president of his self-named production company and Chi-Sound Records, said that he often will "act as surrogate father and manager" for his new acts during the initial stages of their development. "I'm taking away and solving the problems that the A&R departments at the major labels go through in dealing with new artists," Davis said. Because he has his own label (Chi-Sound is distributed through 20th Century-Fox, Davis has a certain degree of latitude in making artist placement decisions. For a new act like Merge (for whom Davis has paid all rehearsal, equipment, recording and showcasing costs) Davis will make a deal "with the company best suited for that kind of product." Established artists like Gene Chandler, the Impressions and the Chi-Lites are more likely to be placed on Davis' Chi-Sound label.

A number of other successful independent producers, like Davis, have graduated to heading-up their own custom labels. Jimmy Jenner, the president of Millennium Records (which is distributed by RCA) made the transition motivated by a "desire to have the responsibility from beginning to end, to be involved in all facets of the business on a daily basis." Jenner said that, in his view, record companies have been using independent producers to provide a risk-absorbing "insurance policy" for more than a decade. "I think that some major record companies are losing confidence in the inherent A&R department," Jenner said, "and the production companies provide them with a screening process."

John Luongo, the president of Pavillion Records (which is distributed by CBS) established a reputation for strong production values before he was given the label 11 months ago (Luongo re-mixed The Jacksons' "Shake Your Body Down To The Ground"). In Luongo's view, independent producers provide the majors with "a test market" for untried artists while contributing a vital "street awareness" that many A&R departments lack. "Hit records were never made sitting behind a desk," he said.

On the other hand, Luongo cautioned against producers becoming absorbed by a "star system." In the future, Luongo said, independent producers will have to involve themselves more directly in the post-production "retail, touring and radio levels," that have traditionally been the labels' domain. "Certain producers will have it for a little while but then they'll blow it because they're not making themselves aware of what's happening outside the studio," he said.

Diminishing In-house Production

The consensus opinion of the industry observers interviewed by Cash Box was that the importance of independent producers to the majors' A&R departments has been enhanced by a diminishing number of in-house producers available to work with artist rosters. Jenner observed that "in the force-feeding of our industry what you have is a situation where you are forced to grow bigger, you are demanded to grow bigger, and as you get bigger the attention that you can give to individual acts becomes less available. Using independent producers to give those acts attention has worked in some cases and has failed in others."

In Bandier's view, "the independent producers serve the purpose of focusing on three or four projects, while a major record company can have hundreds of projects going at once. A new artist can't possibly get the type of attention he deserves because of the fact that there are so many other problems that are out there at the major record companies."

In contrast, label representatives tend to minimize the importance of independent producers in the A&R process. Mickey Eichner, vice president of east coast A&R for Columbia Records was emphatic in stating that, "as far as the signing and acquisition of talent goes, it all comes about through the A&R department's talent scouting people and senior management. That has always been the case and will continue to be in the future."

Nevertheless, Eichner acknowledged the fact that independent producers can make valuable contributions to the A&R process. One case in point is the Manhattan's current chart-climbing album, "After Midnight." According to Eichner, Columbia used "two or three producers including a staff producer for the LP. After the whole LP was completed, I wanted a killer hit to top it off, and I thought of Leo Graham in Chicago. I flew in with the group to review some material, we picked 'Shining Star' and it became the smash we were looking for."

Mike Leon, vice president of east coast operations for A&M Records, said that "we're not looking to independent producers to be talent scouts for our company." Leon acknowledged, however, that "the role of the producer has increased in the past few years. We don't have a stable of staff producers, so we constantly look for outside producer talent to add the right spark of creativity to our projects."

The independent producers themselves are divided on the extent to which they should supplement the record companies' responsibilities.

Gottehrer believes that the labels should devote most of their attention to the "complicated" matters of marketing and promotion. "I think labels would rather pay a little more in percentage, and not have the overhead of having a staff of people making records for them. They can't find that many good, experienced producers to work on staff," he said.

Bandier, on the other hand, agrees with Luongo's view that production companies must involve themselves with post-production marketing. His own firm, Bandier said, is "unique" among independent production companies in having a marketing "strike force" which can monitor the distribution of its productions.

"We try to make a record company focus on the fact that a record is their product. We can pinpoint certain problem areas, but, of course, we can't go it alone without the labels."

retained by the local. Locals would not be required to change their work-dues levy if it meets the two percent levy minimum under the proposal.

The second part of the proposal would remove per capita dues paid to the federation and the parent AFL-CIO body on members who are inactive for six months or more during a given year, whether the member continues to hold a union card or not. One federation spokesman likened the proposal to similar provisions in other trade unions, such as the construction industry, whose members may obtain a withdrawal card during inactive periods, which voids dues requirements during such period.

"It's an inequitable situation when you have one musician who may make $10,000 in a year and pays the same thing (dues) as a casual musician working only once or twice a month," Fuentealba commented.

Many in the federation believe that reducing the per capita annual dues on inactive members will save the nation-wide body dollars normally paid the AFL-CIO whether a member is working or not.

Fuentealba said that he expected a healthy debate on the dues item, but that resolutions brought by the locals would also receive consideration.

Each local receives a bloc of votes based on membership, with 10 votes being the maximum for each local. On demand of 30 delegates or 15 locals, a roll call may be ordered on all resolutions aimed at changing AFM laws.

About 1,000 elected delegates representing 604 locals are expected to attend the convention, along with more than 250,000 members of the group. Members from as far away as Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam are expected to attend the convention, which is scheduled to close on Thursday, June 19.
