EDITORIAL Coast To Coast Club Revival

The club scene, until recently written off as dead, is not only in the midst of a heavy revival, but spawning a number of signed, sealed and successful acts.

The success of Chicago Rockford area's Cheap Trick, in addition to a growing interest back into basic pop/rock music, may have been the catalysts for the resurgence, but clubs are alive and thriving on both coasts.

Recent signings in Los Angeles of club-oriented groups include the Knack, 20/20 and the Motels while in New York, the Shirts, Laughing Dogs and Susan came from a similar circuit. Chicago has recently been the presenter of the Shoes (Zion, Ill.), and Gambler while Greg Kihn and the Rubinoos claim the Bay area as home. New England worked the northeast coast clubs.

One key factor going for these artists has been their preparation and execution of well-engineered strategies to achieve label contracts. Most did not get discovered at some amateur or "hoot" night, but consciously worked at gaining a following in their particular region. Under the auspices of small management firms, these acts played date after date building momentum and acquiring label interest and a general buzz before making a deal.

As the club scene continues to grow, as stated in a recent L.A. Times two-part series, more and more fresh talent is being exposed. This same growth pattern is happening in New York and other metropolitan areas and the label's are very aware of it.

Looking back at the Beatles' club heritage, we can only hope for more unique, fresh music to emerge in the near future.

A few million miles went into the making of this music.

Willie and Leon, they've been there, on the road. The road, that wound down, through hot, no-shade tree streets, past morning coffee-cooking cafes. Then on through the cold canyons of cities with people clattering about like bright tin cans on a string. The road, with often remembered friends. And stranger's One mile at a time. faces peering out of smoke-filled rooms, hitched-rides on dusty pickup trucks, warm beer and ladies that smelled of old roses. "One for the Road," the new double album from Willie Nelson and Leon Russell. Listen to it, and if by chance there comes a tear, it's just a speck of dust in your eye...from the road.

LP, Tape Sales For 1978 Pass $4 Billion Mark

NEW YORK — Manufacturers' sales of phonograph records and pre-recorded tapes in the U.S. rose by 18% in 1978, pushing the industry's dollar volume over $4 billion for the first time. Unit sales, however, were up only four percent, according to figures recently released by the Recording Industry Association of America.

With dollar volume stated in terms of list price value, sales in 1978 amounted to $4.1 billion, compared with $3.5 billion in 1977. Unit sales of records and tapes in 1978 came to 726.2 million, compared with 698.2 million the previous year.

The most dramatic percentage increases in both dollar and unit volume were registered by pre-recorded cassette tapes. Dollar sales of these tapes soared 80% to $449.8 million in 1978 from $249.6 million in 1977, while unit sales rose 66% to 61.3 million from 36.9 million in the previous year.

LP Unit Sales Down

The leveling-off of growth in the record business was dramatically illustrated by the fact that unit sales of record albums declined one percent from 344 million in 1977 to 341.3 million in 1978. Dollar volume of record sales, however, rose 13% from $2195.1 billion in 1977 to $2473.3 billion in 1978.

Unit sales of single records, including 12-inch singles, stayed even at 190 million, but dollar volume increased by 6.2 percent from $245 million in 1977 to $260.3 million in 1978.

Eight-track cartridge tape sales amounted to $948 million in 1978, up 17% from the 1977 total of $811 million. Unit sales rose 4.9% from 127.3 million in 1977 to 133.6 million in 1978.

Total unit sales of pre-recorded tapes, both cassette and eight-track, rose to 194.9 million in 1978 from 164.2 million the previous year. Tape sales were up to $1.39 billion from $1.061 billion in 1977.

NARM Lends Assistance For BMA Program

by Aaron Fuchs

PHILADELPHIA — A ten-point program of support for the BMA by NARM was the highlight of the meeting entitled "Professional Opportunities: How They Are and How They Should Be." The panel, moderated by Stanley Gortikov, president of the RIAA, included Steve Gold, head of Far Out Productions; Elliott Franks, of the National Association of Black-Owned Broadcasters (NABOB), and Joe Cohen, executive vice president of NARM, who outlined the program.

NARM's program included the following points: an open invitation to BMA retailers to attend NARM's regional meetings; an invitation to the BMA to select an unspecified number of scholarship winners to participate in NARM's Retail Management Certification program; an invitation to the BMA to select "as many students as you can find" to participate in NARM's ten-week "on the job" internship programs in retailing and rack jobbing (see Cash Box, June 16); the preparation of a "how to" manual outlining the procedures by which retailers may deal with banks in securing loans and a commitment by NARM to fight for an amendment to a law that prohibits record wholesalers from applying for Small Business Administration loans.

White House Hosts Black Music Night

by Joanne Ostrow

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter hosted more than 800 guests, including top brass of the record industry and government officials, on the South Lawn of the White House June 7 for an evening of dinner and entertainment honoring the Black Music Association.

From the moment President Carter emerged to greet the gathered guests until hours later when he and Rosalynn joined the crowd on its feet singing the gospel standard, "Jesus is the Answer," the

Publishing Companies Continue Expansion As Disco Opens New Market For Catalogs

by Joey Berlin

LOS ANGELES — Sluggish recorded music sales the first part of this year have not slowed the growth of music publishing companies, according to a Cash Box survey of leading publishing companies. But many publishers expect to suffer income cutbacks in six to 12 months when mechanical payments for the period come in.

Two-thirds of the publishing companies surveyed are aggressively seeking out new writers, with the other companies traditionally working with limited writing staffs. Not one company reported any cutback in professional managers. In fact, most companies have added or will add professional managers this year.

Opinion was mixed on the amount of studio activity and the difficulty of getting covers on existing copyrights, but a number of publishers pointed to the disco boom, as well as TV and film music, as areas for growth. And others cited an increased willingness on the part of self-contained artists to do covers.

"We are finding more artists, even singer/songwriters, looking for covers as hit singles," says Roger Gordon, vice president/general manager of Chappell Music's west coast division. "And it's also getting easier to get covers because people are pulling disco cuts out of our older catalog. Right now we're doing disco-oriented demos from 'The King & I' and 'The Sound Of Music.'"

"I don't know how long it'll last, but right now the disco market is wide open for older songs."

Chappell handles the Stigwood Group publishing, which, led by the Bee Gees has been very successful for them recently. "The Bee Gees had incredible success last year, saturating the pop market, and this

BMA Founders' Conference Unites Black Music People

by Aaron Fuchs

PHILADELPHIA — A sense of progress towards achieving concrete goals and coordinating diverse elements of the entertainment field characterized the Black Music Association's Founders' Conference, which was held at the Philadelphia Sheraton Hotel June 8-11.

Over 1,000 BMA members and their guests attended the convention. They represented a broad cross-section of the industry, including record manufacturers and retailers, radio people and recording artists. At seminars organized by the BMA's four sub-divisions — communications, merchandising, performing arts and recording — they heard plans and proposals that were developed in accord with the BMA's aim of becoming "a guiding force in the economic growth of black music" while "enhancing black music and black people in the music industry."

In an exclusive interview, BMA President Kenneth Gamble told Cash Box, "I think that the conference was very inspirational, and I have a very strong sense of accomplishment. We succeeded at the conference in that we got the information from every segment of the music industry. We now have to find out both the long and short-term goals, approach the problems and correct them systematically."

"We may not have a convention next year," Gamble added. "Our plans now are to break down to seven different regions for closer contact with the more individualized needs of people in each region. I know that I personally will be visiting each region.

"Another priority," continued Gamble, "will be to become financially self-sufficient. We are now in the process of hiring professional fund raisers; we will attempt to develop some endowments; and we have plans to produce some benefit concerts and albums." This thoughtful, moderate attitude was representative of the one that prevailed at the meetings, which were occasionally punctuated by more vociferous reactions like that of Source president Logan Westbrook's assertion that "we must bite the hand that feeds us," vis-a-vis the BMA's relationship to the white corporate structure.

Concrete Plans

Although the BMA's initial goal was to collect information, news of solidly substantial plans and programs emerged from virtually all seminars. LeBaron Taylor, who moderated a seminar entitled "Becoming A Record Industry Executive," reported that he would immediately make available a list of 75 job openings within the industry. Moderator Calvin Simpson reported at the cooperative merchandising seminar (see story, page 32) that the BMA would embark on a program to educate retailers and would endeavor to secure more advertising and promotional money from manufacturers for black dealers and merchandisers.

He also revealed that Jim Tyrrell would formally function, in a "one on one" year we're having major success with them in the country field. But we're also looking for new writers more than ever," adds Gordon. "When we stop doing that we may as well close our doors."

But some companies prefer to work with a small number of writers. Warner Bros. Music is one such company, maintaining only 12 or 13 writers with a relatively large professional manager staff trying to get maximum mileage out of the catalog.

"We haven't limited our writing staff because of economic reasons, but as the most effective way to do business," explains Mel Bly, president of Warner Bros. Music. "This way we can work together on song construction and refinement in our demo studios. If you are organized, understand your own catalog and are creative in making demos you make your own breaks. We have weekly staff meetings on what's going on in the studios so we can stay on top of our opportunities."

Bly doesn't believe the record sales slump is affecting recording activity, but he does expect to feel its effect with lower income in the months ahead.

UA Music

United Artists Music has an active writer development program and has recently added to its manager staff, with three on the west coast, two in the east, two in Nashville and a vice president of motion picture music.

"If record companies cut costs by cutting the number of releases, it'll definitely affect publishers," notes Frank Banyai, UA Music executive assistant to the president. "But we haven't noticed this happening yet."

In case the labels do cut back, UA Music has become more active in a number of areas that could make up for the loss and get them a bigger piece of the smaller pie.

PolyGram Policies For '80s Outlined At Directors' Meet

by Richard Imamura

LOS ANGELES — Growth in a world marked by shifting demographics and spiralling costs was the main topic of discussion at the PolyGram Record Operations (PRO) managing directors' meeting held June 9-14 in Palm Beach, Fla.

Approximately 100 executives from PolyGram and its affiliated companies (representing 35 countries) attended the meeting.

Addressing the topic "The Challenge Of The Eighties," Dr. Werner Vogelsang, PolyGram Group vice president and president of Polydor International, pointed to the end of the post-war baby boom and the current drop in birth rates in industrialized nations as evidence that "the biggest group of consumers in our business today" will only become smaller in the coming decade.

Therefore, Dr. Vogelsang explained, continued prosperity for PRO, and the music industry in general, will only be possible if research and analysis are "able to develop successful and meaningful countermeasures to safeguard continuous and profitable growth."

One possible option, Dr. Vogelsang pointed out, would be the development of the Third World and Eastern European markets, especially China and the USSR.

Business Ethics

Dr. Vogelsang also stressed the importance of business ethics in the competition on the world market. Urging his associates to "use a positive attitude by developing further progress and making decisions on the basis of true convictions," Dr. Vogelsang then emphasized that "to work for our own development makes a lot more sense than to work against others."

However, on the subject of bootleggers and piracy, Dr. Vogelsang was not so charitable, identifying them as a top priority problem to be solved in the coming decade. "This phenomenon should get our full attention and preparedness to fight it and kill it, wherever and whenever we discover it," Dr. Vogelsang stated.

"We have to protect under all circumstances, the rights of our artists, of our recorded repertoire, of copyrights," Dr. Vogelsang went on to say, "because they are the truly basic elements of our business and success."

Worldwide Cooperation

Shifting the emphasis to the international market, Pieter Schellevis, PolyGram Group vice president and president of Phonogram International, stressed cooperation throughout the worldwide organization.

Terming this cooperation "The Creative Link," Schellevis offered the following five recommendations to the assembled executives:

1) "To aim for greater selectivity of artist releases and to promote these releases in the most efficient and effective ways possible;

2) "To maximize promotional expenditures to the fullest, with allocations made in the most effective way to insure optimum results;

3) "To develop new strategies for maximizing artists' international potential, with particular emphasis on those artists who are already popular in individual territories;

4) "To give important international projects priority over normal day-to-day local projects, and

5) "To have record company management work in close cooperation with the direct marketing divisions, which can produce substantial additional volume in many repertoire fields."

MCA, GRT Settle ABC Tape Dispute

LOS ANGELES — MCA Records and Distribution has acquired the ABC Records tape licensing agreement from the GRT Corp. of Sunnyvale, Calif.

Under the terms of the settlement, GRT sold its rights under a former licensing agreement with ABC Records to MCA for an undisclosed amount of cash and other considerations. MCA also agreed to buy from GRT the existing inventory of ABC tapes now in GRT's catalog and will buy from GRT's manufacturing facilities at least 2 million tapes a year for two years.

In addition, GRT has ended its lawsuit against MCA over the licensing dispute, which arose from MCA's acquisition of ABC Records earlier this year.

Effective immediately, all of the tapes will be marketed under the MCA Records label, with all distribution handled by MCA Distribution Corp.

GRT, however, is continuing its litigation against ABC Records and ABC, Inc., claiming that the sale of ABC Records to MCA breached an existing licensing agreement between GRT and ABC.

Reno, Metz Decline Audiofidelity Offer

NEW YORK — The planned acquisition of Midsong International, Inc. and Rapp/Metz Management by Audiofidelity Enterprises, Inc. (Cash Box, June 9) apparently will not be completed. However, Midsong and Rapp/Metz have indicated they will continue with their plans to merge their operations.

Referring to the aborted Audiofidelity takeover talks, Bob Reno, president of Midsong, commented "They made us an offer, and we didn't feel it was advantageous at this point to take it." The offers, as reported Atlantic's Sister Sledge is one of the leading exponents, along with The Pointer Sisters and The Jacksons, of the "family that plays together makes hit records together" philosophy. The four sisters are currently serving up some of the most exciting music around, and their latest chart successes prove that the listening public is also getting into the family spirit.

The sisters' recent "We Are Family" LP has risen to the #3 spot on the Cash Box Pop Album Chart and #2 on the Cash Box Black Contemporary Album Chart. The LP's title tune is presently riding at the #2 bullet position on the Pop Singles Chart and #6 on the Black Contemporary Chart. Sister Sledge's earlier hit from the new LP, "He's The Greatest Dancer," rose to the top of the Black Contemporary Singles Chart, #8 on the Top Singles Chart and, backed with "We Are Family," garnered the #1 position on the Cash Box Disco Chart.

One reason for Sister Sledge's success is that they appeal both to the pop and disco markets. "We Are Family" is a disco oriented song that relies heavily on the girls' gospel roots, and "He's The Greatest Dancer" is a breezy, discofied, teenage number. "Disco is the heaviest thing around today," says Kim Sledge. "A year ago you could get by with R&B ballads. Today, disco is it. If you want to get people's attention, first, you have to do disco; then you can give them more of you."

The group, sisters Debbie, 24, Joni, 22, Kathi, 20 and Kim, 21, began harmonizing together at the Second Macedonia Church in Philadelphia, their hometown. After working as background singers for Gamble and Huff at Sigma Sound studios and an abortive start with a local record company, Sister Sledge signed with Cotillion in 1973.

The sisters have recorded with a multitude of producers in several musical genres, ranging from straight-ahead disco to techno-funk, but they didn't truly come into their own until they hooked up with producers Bernard Edwards and Nile Rodgers of Chic for the "We Are Family" LP. "They were really prepared for us," offered Kim Sledge. "We were especially impressed by the 'We Are Family' tune. It seemed to express exactly what we have been trying to project as an act."

Pinball, Video, Enclosed Dance Floors Being Used To Attract Customer Traffic Into Stores

by Leo Sacks

NEW YORK — The nation's record retailers have begun to explore new and improved ways to promote their stores as neighborhood entertainment centers with the introduction of such attractions as pinball machines, the expanded use of video presentations, and the construction of enclosed areas for the classical and disco consumer to shop in.

This sort of ambience, many retailers contend, helps to promote the concept of the record store as the ideal place for the consumer to while his time away.

For atmosphere, record buyers in New York, for example, have their choice of Big Hit Oldies, with its selection of vintage LPs and 45s, old magazines, and pinball machines. At Bleecker Bob's Golden Oldies young men and women model punk regalia and sample the sounds of independently produced singles by their new wave heroes for hours at a time. In Los Angeles, there's Rhino Records, where testy customers vie for the status of making any one of the store's three consumer indexes — "Worst Customer of the Month," the "Up and Coming List," and the prestigious "Worst Customers Hall of Fame." And then there's the Peaches chain where in several American cities, "We are the entertainment," according to David Kastens, vice president of sales and promotion for the company.

Perhaps the most significant step that several of the nation's record retailers have recently taken to promote their stores as entertainment centers is the introduction of enclosed areas for disco consumers to dance in while they shop. The newest of these outlets is the three-month old Sound Warehouse store in the Montrose area of Houston, where 2,000 of the location's 12,000 square feet is set aside for a dance floor that's surrounded by a complete selection of disco product. The room's features include glitter balls, track lighting, four-channel stereo, and four speakers suspended from the ceiling.

"We felt that disco was a big enough seller to merit its own area," said Steve Summy, store manager for the freestanding site. "To sell disco product, you've got to play it, since there are so many new artists that need the exposure. In its own area, disco music can saturate the listener from the time we open until we close. And it sets the mood for people to shop in. People who dig disco should have a similar environment in which to shop."

In-House DJ

The Big Ben chain's La Brea store in Los Angeles takes a similar approach in the merchandising of its disco-oriented product. The outlet employs a full-time DJ who spins records from the late afternoon into the late evening. The DJ, housed in a mini-Big Ben tower, interacts with his audience the way a radio jock would with his listeners, according to Rick Lawrence, assistant vice president of the chain, and

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Teena Marie

Every now and again, a new singer will emerge with a voice that is simple and unadorned, yet so versatile, emotive and unpretentiously charming that it has an almost universal appeal. That description easily fits Gordy/Motown recording artist Teena Marie, whose debut album, "Wild And Peaceful," and single, "I'm Just a Sucker For Your Love," are steadily growing in popularity with R&B and pop audiences alike.

The petite, 19 year old native Californian, who has been on the Gordy label for nearly 3½ years now, began singing professionally at the age of eight, performing for the first time at the Castaways in Los Angeles. T.V. commercials, weddings, local musicals and the like followed. Encouraged, but never pushed by her parents, she developed her unique vocal style naturally.

At the age of 13, she formed her first of many bands, with brother Tony on bass and cousin Chris on drums. Both are still in her backup group, named after the album, as well as her sister, who sings background vocals.

Although Teena stated that "being with Motown has been a dream since my sisters brought home their first records by the Supremes and the Four Tops," her signing happened quite by chance. After playing everything from Top 40 to jazz with a series of groups, she ran into a gentleman who introduced her to Motown producer Hal Davis. After an audition for Davis, he brought her to label chairman Berry Gordy, who liked what he saw and heard enough to offer her a starring role in a movie he was making at the time. Unfortunately, the picture was shelved, but Gordy signed Teena to his own label.

Teena went through several producers for her LP, but none really pleased her. "It was basically a trial and error process," said Marie. "I became very discouraged because each one of them wanted to change the music and arrangements to the point where no one was very happy. They didn't know how to direct me so I didn't respect what they were doing."

The turning point came when she bumped into another new Motown artist, Rick James, in the company's offices over a year ago. He showed interest in producing her, but she was still skeptical, finally relenting at her manager's request. The results, with James writing much of the LP's material, were more than satisfying.

"Creatively, he has gotten into just what I am," said Marie brightly. "In essence, I feel we're an extension of each other. It was almost a marriage, which I think you have to have. I think that's why I like the album so much, because it really is me."

The intuitive link between the two artists is evident in such songs as "Deja Vu," which James expanded into a song from a poem that Teena wrote.

"When I heard the song for the first time, I cried. It's almost scary, how we seem to think along the same lines. He really is like a brother to me. After he produces my next album, he wants me to produce on my own. He gives me the confidence and direction I don't always have."

Teena's goal now, besides cutting her next LP and touring, is "to leave a message behind in my music." No doubt she will.

Robert John

With the fast-rising hit single, "Sad Eyes," Robert John has re-established a career that has been characterized by stunning success and a long period of dormancy.

John is best-known for his 1971 recording of "The Lion Sleeps Tonight." The song, originally a hit for the Tokens in 1961, sold well over a million copies as a single on Atlantic Records. Unfortunately, attempts to follow "The Lion Sleeps" with another single were unsuccessful, and John was also entangled with managerial problems.

"Everything went wrong," the singer/songwriter recalls. "I was faced with total disillusionment, and I withdrew into a sort of self-exile. I didn't record any records for the next five years because I was afraid of making a deal."

During that time, John was under contract as a staff writer for Jobete Music, but, in order to support his wife and four children, he also worked for the post office and worked construction near his home in Long Branch, on the New Jersey shore. Several of his songs were recorded, but John remembers the period as one where "not much was happening."

Yet it wasn't the first time that John had been out of the music business after having a hit record. In 1958, when his name was still Bobby Pedrick, John was 12 years old and signed to a contract with Big Top Records. He had a few hits, including "Pajama Party," and appeared on American Bandstand and at Alan Freed concerts. When his voice changed, though, his days as a teen idol were over, and he eventually got a job as production manager for a New York advertising agency.

John's first comeback happened in 1968, when he recorded a single and an album for Columbia titled "If You Don't Want My Love." Later that year, John and his songwriting partner, Mike Gately, signed with Famous Music, and their songs were recorded by such artists as Lou Rawls and Blood, Sweat & Tears.

John's second comeback began in 1977 when he made a singles deal with Ariola Records. He recorded a song called "Give A Little More" which reached the 80s on the pop charts. More importantly, it was heard in 1978 by Jim Mazza, the newly named president of EMI America Records, at a disco in Florida. Mazza then authorized Don Grierson, vice president of A&R for EMI America, to see if he could make a deal with John.

"At that point," John says, "I wanted to make an album, anyway. I don't really consider the album on Columbia, because that was so rushed. So I flew out to California and began recording with George Tobin. I slept on his couch, and we really went nuts, getting the right material and the right people."

One of those people was Mike Picirillo, who co-produced the album and wrote material for the album. "Everybody was supportive, and once we completed the deal with EMI America, we really began to cook. The album is pretty much straight pop, which is what I think is needed to get a hit now, especially after being away so long." And if "Sad Eyes" keeps moving up, he'll have that hit.

ARTIST PROFILE

Volatile Rocker Reed Holds His Ground Despite Setbacks

by Mike Glynn

LOS ANGELES — During his nearly 15 years in the music industry, Lou Reed has stood as perhaps the most uncompromising, if somewhat erratic, pioneers of a consistently compelling and provocative strain of urban rock 'n' roll. Recognized as one of the most important influences in rock, Reed's street-tough sensibilities and hard-nosed musical stylings were in part responsible for giving birth to the attitudes and approach of the so-called "new wave."

However, his influence extends even farther beyond those parameters. Although tagged by the media as "the godfather of punk," his musical and lyrical visions encompass the bittersweet triumphs and tragedies of love as well as brutally realistic scenarios of life amidst society's outcasts.

Now, with his new album on Arista Records, "The Bells," Reed has found a hauntingly effective mix of the two strains. His sentimental renderings of city life and romance are nowhere more apparent than on his just-released single from the LP, "City Lights."

Good Reviews

Reed, who has been in and out of favor with critics throughout his career, now seems to be enjoying an upswing in popularity and is genuinely pleased with critical reaction to the "The Bells."

"The label is very buoyed by responses from reviewers," said Reed. "Even those who I've never really gotten along with. More importantly, I feel, the people are still out there for me."

Reed began building a loyal cult following when he first started the seminal rock/avant-garde unit, The Velvet Underground, in 1966 with the classically-trained John Cale, who at the time was playing electric viola with LaMonte Young's experimental group in New York City.

After attending school at Syracuse University, where he first came in contact with

NARM Board Recommends Change In Cassette Package

by Charles Paikert

NEW YORK — The NARM Board of Directors has adopted a resolution recommending that manufacturers package cassettes in eight-track package size in order to facilitate display and sales of the configuration, which is one of the fastest-rising sales items in the record industry.

Harold Okinow, president of Lieberman Enterprises, who introduced the resolution, said that consumer sales trends for tape product indicate "relentless progress towards cassettes." The resolution, Okinow stated, "is an essential step to keep the cassettes from being locked up. Sales are hurt drastically by keeping the product behind glass, and we felt that conforming to the eight-track package would be the simplest way of solving the problem."

Production Problems

Okinow conceded that switching cassette packaging to conform to eight-track standards "would pose production problems, no question about it." However, he noted that record merchandisers have been pressing for the change for the past three years, and, he said, cassette sales are now up to 45% of the tape market and "it's becoming a larger and larger portion everyday."

Okinow also pointed out that retail stores wouldn't have to change their fixtures if cassettes were packaged like eight tracks. And, he said, "the first company to do it will have a tremendous market advantage."

Barry Bergman, president of Record Bar, and also president of NARM this year, commented, "It makes sense, and it helps everybody, particularly the racks. Keeping product locked up, as cassettes are now, just plain hurts sales. I would hope the manufacturers begin looking into this immediately, and I would be real disappointed if some sort of change were not pretty far along by Christmas."

BACK TO THE EGG — Wings — Columbia FC36057 — Producers: Paul McCartney and Chris Thomas — List: 8.98

There is plenty of pop flash and rock 'n' roll thunder on Wings' latest offering. And for those who think McCartney's voice isn't what it used to be, check out the highs and lows he puts out on "After The Ball/Million Miles." Sensationally produced and beautifully packaged, this LP will be at the top of pop lists for months to come.

CANDY-O — The Cars — Elektra 5e-507 — Producer: Roy Thomas Baker — List: 8.98

The Cars debut album, which is still near the top of the charts, was an astounding first effort. The group has it all — commercial appeal, a sardonic witty lyric attitude, a tight streamlined rock sound and the brains to pull the whole thing off inventively. The Cars are the sound of the '80s and the new LP will have AOR and Top 40 programmers moving in stereo once again.

COMMUNIQUE — Dire Straits — Warner Bros. HS 3330 — Producers: Jerry Wexler and Barry Beckett — List: 8.98

The Straits were a left-field hit with "Sultans Of Swing," but now Mark Knopfler's jazzy guitar runs are some of the most recognizable in rock 'n' roll. "Communique," like the first LP, is chock full of those snakey Dylanesque ballads that seem to put everybody in an introspective mood. The title cut could make a nice follow up to "Sultans." For AOR and Top 40.

SILENT LETTER — America — Capitol SO-11950 — Producer: George Martin — List: 7.98

This LP is a natural for the turntable on those lazy summer afternoons. The golden vocals of Bunnell and Beckley are given bright and sympathetic production treatment by George Martin as the boys, once again, extoll the virtues of the simple life. "Tall Treasures" and "1960" are the highlights on an LP that should receive across the board attention.

SWEENEY TODD — Stephen Sondheim — RCA CBL2-3379 — Producer: Thomas Z. Shepard — List: 13.98

This is the original cast recording of the play about the demon barber of Fleet Street whose victims somehow end up as meat pies. The vocal and musical arrangements are, fittingly enough, beautiful and foreboding. The play swept this year's "Tony" awards and the original cast recording is pretty good proof why both critics and playgoers alike find it so special.

NILS — Nils Lofgren — A&M SP 4756 — Producer: Bob Ezrin — List: 7.98

By far his best album to date, Lofgren's teaming with ace producer Bob Ezrin seems to be the winning combination for America's most underrated guitarist/songwriter. The overall feel harks back to classic Grin tracks with a touch or two of the brute force exhibited by his "A&M Authorized Bootleg" release. Tracks like "Steal Away" and "No Mercy" should give "Nils" instant AOR, cum Top 40 acceptance.

NAKED CHILD — Lee Clayton — Capitol ST11942 — Producer: Neil Wilburn — List: 7.98

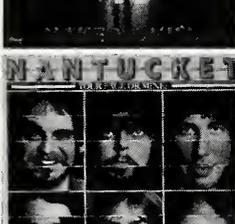

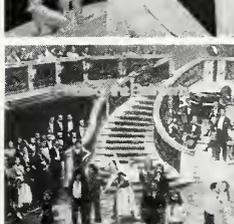

Clayton's half spoken, half sung singing style and his dramatic phrasing make one immediately think of Dylan. However, his engaging brand of rock 'n' roll is uniquely his own. Cuts like "Jade Virgin," "I Ride Alone" and "A Little Cocaine" are highlights on an arresting and poetic LP. Pay close attention to the lyric sheet on this one.

YOUR FACE OR MINE — Nantucket — Epic JE 36023 — Producers: Tony Reale and Nantucket — List: 7.98

Lead singer Larry Uzzell has a central casting rock 'n' roll singer's voice. His overpowering vocals are perfectly augmented by a hot, loud and Boston band. Searing guitar rhythms, letter-perfect high harmonies and travelling band lyrics are the band's virtues and AOR programmers will find the album a good add. "Hey, Hey Blondie" and "Is It Wrong To Rock 'n' Roll" are key cuts on the record.

WHATCHA GONNA DO WITH MY LOVIN? — Stephanie Mills — 20th Century T-583 — Producers: James Mtume and Reggie Lucas — List: 7.98

Stephanie Mills' little girl voice carries a lot of feeling with it. And on this mixed bag of dancin' numbers and acoustic ballads, she displays why she is one of the most appealing vocalists in R&B music today. The album's feature cut is an earthy funkathon called "Put Your Body In It." Wade Marcus' horn and string arrangements nicely embellish Mills' sensuous singing voice.

THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT — The Who — MCA 2-11005 — Producers: Sydney Rose and The Who — List: 11.98

"The Kids Are Alright" is the soundtrack to the upcoming movie which chronicles, through film and music, the history of one of rock music's most renowned bands. This is a greatest hits package and features vintage performances by The Who in places as diverse as the studios of "The Smothers Brothers" television show and "Woodstock." This is a classic LP and AOR will revel in it.

VOULEZ-VOUS — ABBA — Atlantic SD 16000 — Producers: Benny Andersson & Bjorn Ulvaeus — List: 8.98

Long awaited, and finally here, is the new album by Sweden's most successful international corporation. The production by Bjorn and Benny is of their usual breathtakingly sterling quality with a slightly more heavy emphasis on Euro-rock disco this time. Lyrics have that stunning prosaic quality that's an ABBA trademark and those vocal harmonies once again set their sound apart by a mile from the common herd. For a variety of formats.

FREQUENCY — Nick Gilder — Chrysalis CHR 1219 — Producer: Peter Coleman — List: 7.98

This Canadian rocker with the munchkiny voice has finally put it all together on the brilliantly produced "Frequency" LP. Majestic synthesizer settings and galvanizing guitars give way to some of the most vigorous rock workouts heard this year. Gilder is a unique vocalist and AOR and adventuresome Top 40 programmers will turn up "Frequency."

LABOUR OF LUST — Nick Lowe — Columbia JC 36087 — Producer: Nick Lowe — List: 7.98

The pure popper is back with another collection of fun, intelligent pop songs. His rapier wit is especially piercing on "American Squirm," an account of sexual revenge. This Englishman is one of the leaders of a movement that put some bite back into late '70s pop music, and "Labour Of Lust" is the perfect pick me up for those who have an ailing rock 'n' roll spirit.

MICK TAYLOR — Columbia JC 35076 — Producer: Mick Taylor — List: 7.98

This lone Stone offers up the quintessential rock guitarist's album on his first solo effort. There are gutsy slide workouts, mournful blues meanderings, soothing acoustic passages and straight ahead, chunka chunka rhythms on this finely crafted LP. Taylor's voice is surprisingly pleasant and AOR programmers will enjoy this bid at staying "respectable."

RHAPSODIES — Rick Wakeman — A&M SP 6501 — Producer: Tony Visconti — List: 11.98

Anyone who can re-arrange Tchaikovsky's "Swan Lake" and re-name it "Swan Lager" has got to be either a hopeless buffoon or a major genius... Rick Wakeman is both and hence the charm of this, his latest release. A four-sided effort, Wakeman plows into a variety of styles ranging from Gershwin to honky tonk. A veritable never-a-dull-moment album which fully illustrates that keyboard expertise can be both dynamic and fun simultaneously. For AOR to MOR formats.

PITFALLS OF THE BALLROOM — Cooper Brothers Band — Capricorn CPN0026 — Producer: Gary Cape — List: 7.98

Although the label and the cover give one fears about hearing yet another Southern rock band, this LP is a pleasant surprise. The Cooper Brothers sound is akin to Poco and the Grateful Dead. They display brilliant musicianship, masterful high harmony ability, and a flair for strong hooks on this fine LP. A good add for AOR and Top 40.

CHAMELEON — ELEKTRA 6E-190 — Producer: Don Mizell — List: 7.98

Chameleon is a group that serves up a special brand of jazz tinged funk. A fuzzy synthesized bass sound and punctuating horns power the sextet on the LP. The boys have a lot of fun on record, and those who are partial to party music with a primal beat will find this collection hard to resist. "Get Up" and "Mysteryso" are the LP's top tracks.

AIRBORNE — Columbia JC 36076 — Producers: Keith Olsen and David Devore — List: 7.98

As sleek as Boston and as musically capable as any symphonic rock band, Airborne comes up with an unusually good debut album. Piercing high harmonies are augmented nicely by power chord climaxes, which fans of sophisticated heavy metal just love to sink their musical teeth into. The "Lady Knows Best," "No Exception to The Rule" and "Life In The City" are the album's finest selections.

MERCHANDISING

WHAT'S IN-STORE

LOVE THE LP, HATED THE . . . During the late sixties and early seventies, greatest hits samplers were common on the record marketplace. In this decade, they have leveled off and given way to TV albums picking up the demand. However, these packages are now re-surfacing, not directly, but as soundtracks. "Rock & Roll High School" on Sire was released last month featuring The Ramones, Nick Lowe, Devo and others. Warner Bros. has just entered with "Over The Edge" featuring some great tracks from Cheap Trick, Van Halen, Hendrix, Vallerie Carter, Little Feat, and again The Ramones. However, the most impressive array of artists can be found on an Arista import released in England a few weeks ago. The film called "That Summer" features a soundtrack with Ian Dury, Elvis Costello, Patti Smith, Boomtown Rats, Nick Lowe, Mink De Ville, The Ramones again and many more.

All of these collections are excellent reflections of contemporary pop culture. Displaying these LPs prominently and showcasing the titles contained inside should result in on the spot impulse sales. Any one of these albums very well could be "Nuggets Vol. II."

A POLITICAL MOVE? — Jimmy Carter has left the big store in Washington D.C., to assume directorship of Peaches in Orange, Conn. Really, it's true. . . . Sheik Hertooti dropped by Peaches/Oklahoma City to give away a tankfull of gas.

STATE OF PACIFIC ARTS — Stressing that "we can support and work our records," Rick Orr of Pacific Arts Records has announced a month-long push on Michael Nesmith's new LP "Infinite Rider On The Big Dogma." 28 distribution points for the growing independent are involved with a variety of contests backed up by post cards, posters, T-shirts and stand-ups. Nesmith is currently producing the new Fresh album and is planning a tour in late summer.

SPYRO GYRANETICS — MCA and Infinity field merchandisers are busy these days working a strong store promotion on Spyro Gyra, Licorice Pizza, Warehouse, Pickwick, and Music Plus are all giving away a three-song EP free to all customers. The EP is the soundtrack to a video being supplied to outlets with playback equipment. Display and in-store play contests, limited edition 7" picture discs, and posters are also being offered. According to Russell Cooper of MCA, one of the accounts had to open up their warehouse on Memorial Day to fill re-orders on the album. . . . Looks like the new Elton John is being worked as an LP listing for $3.98, less than a regular disco single.

CUSTOMER QUOTE OF THE WEEK — Cut-out. . . does that means there's something wrong with it?

REGIONAL BREAKOUTS — Pamela Neal in Philly. . . Roy Loney off to an immediate start in San Francisco and L.A. . . . Lord Taylor in Miami. . . Michael Nesmith in the south. . . Mary McCaslin in Boston. . . Devo Top Ten on the west coast. . . Manhattan and "Alien" as well as 999, Nick Gilder, and Nightlife Unlimited breaking in L.A.

BIG DEAL — There were some big doings with Alta Dist. in Arizona, Smitty Department Stores, KNIX radio, and UA/Capitol with Kenny Rogers' "Gambler" LP. 13 Smitty stores set up elaborate gambling displays in prominent store areas. Over 20,000 customers entered the contests to win 10 trips to Las Vegas, all expenses paid, plus $400 in gambling money. It climaxed with a three-hour live remote on KNIX where a winner was announced every 15 minutes. 300 T-shirts were also given away to a packed house with two trip winners present at the drawing.

A NIGHT OF LIVING DREGS: Personnel from Radio Doctors, 1812 Overture and Peaches in Milwaukee were all treated to a special Dixie Dregs' performance before the Dreg's regular concert appearance in Milwaukee. WLPX also gave away tickets to listeners for the pre-concert affair. The Milwaukee folks were also joined by retail, radio, and press people from the Chicago area.

BAY/PACIFIC PACT — Bay Records of Alameda, Calif. is now being distributed by Pacific Records and Tapes of Emeryville, Calif. in the San Francisco/Bay Area and Seattle/Washington area. Bay Records is a folk/country label with 19 releases featuring artists from the Bay and Seattle area.

AND FINALLY — There is a lone gas pump sitting in the middle of Tower/Hollywood's prominent display area. A sign on it reads, "Real Life Ain't This Way." A closer inspection will also reveal the dollar read-out on the price per gallon is $.00. California dreamin'.

Palmer, Third World, Gibsons Top Island' Summer Releases

by Richard Imamura

LOS ANGELES — With the summer and fall release schedule nearly finalized, Island Records will reveal a more diverse talent lineup than it ever has in the past. "We have been building up for the past five months and we are finally ready," says label president Marshall Blonstein.

Once known as a reggae label, Island's new releases will reflect the growing range of acts and styles that have been assembled. "Island is not a one or two act label anymore," Blonstein adds. "We've done our best to establish a broader range."

Heading the first group of releases,

Espy Named GM For Scotti Bros. Publishing

LOS ANGELES — Kim Espy was named to the post of general manager of the publishing division of Scotti Brothers Entertainment Inc. Concurrently with his appointment, Espy signed exclusive contracts with six writers — Mark Holden, Don Cugini, Andy DiTaranto, John D'Andrea, Guy Hemric and Tony Papa — and entered into a long-term publishing contract with the Addrissi Brothers.

Writer's Workshop

Espy will also direct the operation of Saber Sound Studios, a 16-track recording facility that recently opened in Santa Monica, Calif.; and has established a writer's workshop, consisting of informal sessions with as many as 15 writers to discuss the needs of the publishing division and Scotti Brothers Records artists.

The companies under the Scotti Brothers publishing umbrella are Scott-Tone Music and Saber Tooth Music.

scheduled for June 22, will be LPs by Robert Palmer, Third World and the Gibson Brothers — each representing not only a different style, but also different nations.

Englishman Palmer's LP, "Secrets," will include 11 songs — some hard rock and some soft, Palmeresque rock. "We are very excited about this LP," Blonstein states.

In addition, Blonstein explains that a single, "Bad Case Of Lovin' You," will be released from the LP, with a U.S. tour to follow in August.

Third World's new LP, "The Story's Been Told," will represent the latest evolution of their Jamaican "reggae d'funk" style — a fusion of African, Jamaican and American Black inspirations. Possible singles from the LP include the title cut, "Talk To Me" and "two or three others," according to Blonstein.

Third World's fourth LP on the Island label, the release of "The Story's Been Told" will also be accompanied by a press and promotional brochure explaining the story told by the illustrations on the group's album covers. Created by Tony Wright, the cover art on the LPs "Third World," "96" In The Shade," "Journey To Addis" and now, "The Story's Been Told," relate a specific tale that will be explained fully in the brochure, says Blonstein.

Rounding out the June 22 releases will be the Gibson Brothers' LP "Cuba," featuring their disco hit of the same name. Hailing from the West Indian island of Martinique, the Gibson Brothers' French-influenced style will also be featured on a second single set for release off the LP. Titled "You Better Do It," the single will be released

Ordover Named Head Of Columbia House Division

NEW YORK — Benjamin Ordover has been appointed president of the Columbia House Division, one of the nation's leading direct marketing organizations.

Ordover has been executive vice president of Columbia House for the past year. He joined Columbia House in 1972 as vice president of marketing.

Ordover succeeds Cornelius F. Keating, who was appointed a CBS Group president last week.

SEEING IS BELIEVING — Three highlights of the past week in New York: Rod Stewart's four sold-out nights at the Garden. This was, without question, the biggest pop music event to hit town in a long, long time. Stewart is definitely a grassroots star and could easily have sold out four more shows. Playing with a superb band, Rod put on an incredibly athletic, energetic show that mixed his current disco-tinged material with rock classics and even blues standards like "Shake Your Money Maker" . . . The Who movie, "The Kids Are Alright," was recently premiered, and it's very good. Brutally honest, introspective, unpretentious, and full of great music . . . The Plasmatics played at CBGB's, and despite their limited musical ability, they drew overflow crowds. Why? Lead singer Wendy Orleans Williams, a former Times Square stripper, does outrageous things on stage, many of them while not wearing any clothes. Punk goes porn . . . And SRO.

LOVE THE CHILDREN — Beach Boys lead singer Mike Love, a supporter of the Save the Children foundation, recently met Ferris Satala, a Hopi from New Mexico, and Pearl Archuleta, an Apache from New Mexico, when they landed in New York as part of the agency's exchange program.

that young white males are flocking to buy, while the "real thing" continues to be ignored. This brand of criticism has finally gotten under Belushi's skin, and he exploded in a recent (6/7/79) interview with Steve Bloom in the Soho Weekly News. Seemingly bewildered, Belushi responds to the accusations by saying, "It's just weird, why should I do these things? What am I, fucking Al Jolson? . . . I like doing it for fun . . . As for other people — I think there's a certain amount of jealousy, you know, because I've been on television, I've had a number one record and a big movie hit." Turning to the financial exploitation issue, Belushi said, "I wanted to make sure that everybody got their publishing rights on it. People don't understand — I got no money for "Soul Man" in terms of publishing. All the money went to the artists that did it or their publishing companies or their estates. And I tried to make sure that it at least went to their old ladies. A lot of people like Butterfield will take somebody's song and say they didn't know. I didn't want to do that." Referring to an article in the Boston Real Paper that claimed Belushi and Aykroyd originally wanted Roomful of Blues as a backup band, until Roomful pulled out on them, Belushi responded, "It's a lie. We considered them, but we also considered Delbert McLinton's backup band and the Lamont Cranston band . . . Asked about the alleged quote by Roomful's Duke Robillard, who, after playing with Belushi at the Lone Star Cafe, supposedly said, "You couldn't sing your way out of a paper bag, Belushi," the Samurai bluesman snarled, "I don't believe he ever said that to me. But if Duke had ever said that to me I would have punched him in the nuts. I would've ripped his lungs out and he knows it" . . . If this is what happens when Belushi does blues, what's in store for the New Wave when the Stink Band, with Belushi on drums, hits CBGB's? Guest stars including James Brown, Aretha Franklin, Cab Calloway, Ray Charles, Lightnin' Hopkins and John Lee Hooker.

NAMES IN THE NEWS — Neil Diamond, who will play the lead role in the film remake of "The Jazz Singer," also is reported to be thinking about finding time to write down his memories of the Brill Building days in New York . . . Muddy Waters, a firm believer that a rolling stone gathers no moss, married 25-year-old Marva Jean Brooks recently. Eric Clapton was present for the ceremony. Waters is 65 . . . Patti Smith is currently residing in Detroit. Why? . . . Stevie Wonder graces Dan Hartman's new single, "Hands Down," with harmonica licks. The record will be out by July 4th . . . What's one of the great all-time summer songs? "In The Summertime" by Mungo Jerry, of course. From England, word is that Mungo has reformed and will go on tour. Lead singer Ray Dorset will have his own single, "Dancin' In The Street," out on Polydor U.K. . . . The Osmond Brothers' new single, "Emily," was produced by Maurice Gibb . . . Randy Vanwarmer is putting a band together in Woodstock and hopes to be on the road by the fall . . . First Choice will do several dates on that mammoth Village People tour that exhausted Gloria Gaynor. And Sister Sledge opens for the V.P. at the Garden, June 29 . . . Peter Frampton's solution to the gas crisis — he bought his own station in Westchester County . . . Pauline Conboy, a New York fashion designer, has expanded her business to include fashion consulting for an increasingly fashion-conscious record industry . . . Jay Thomas, morning man at WXLO-FM in New York, landed a part on "Mork and Mindy" as the counterman in an Italian deli.

NEW YORK NOTES — The line-up for the August 11 Kool Jazz Festival at Giants Stadium in the Meadowlands has been set, and it could be one of the largest soul/disco concerts ever, with stars including Chic, Aretha Franklin, Ashford & Simpson, The Bar-Kays, Rose Royce and Peabo Bryson . . . If you're near 42nd St. around lunchtime this summer, there will be live music every Monday, Thursday and Friday at Bryant Park, behind the Public Library at 5th Avenue and 42nd St. Bandleaders such as Joel Kay, Sonny Land, and Clem DeRosa will lead dixieland, disco, jazz, and Broadway stage bands . . . A new country music venue has opened up in the Village. It's called City Limits and is located at 125 Seventh Ave. South at 10th St.

THE DOCTOR'S IN — Stopping by the Cash Box offices, Motown representatives announced the release of "Dr. Strut," the debut LP for the label's new jazz division. Pictured here are (l-r): Mel Albert, vice president and general manager, Cash Box; Bonnie Goldner, Motown trade liaison, and Lee Young Sr., vice president of creative services, Motown, who signed Dr. Strut to the label.

WHAT'S NEW AT XANADU? — Don Schlitten, an uncompromising jazz producer who heads Xanadu Records, last week was in Los Angeles recording his latest find: Peter Sprague, a 23-year-old guitarist from San Diego. While in town, Schlitten stopped by the Cash Box office to discuss the Sprague LP and various other Xanadu projects currently available or in the works. In the former category, Schlitten said the just released "Flute Talk," which pairs Xanadu regular Sam Most with Joe Farrell and which is available in both direct-to-disc and regular LP configurations, should appeal to "people who like music to stimulate their minds." As a producer, he said he found the no-tape direct-to-disc process extremely rewarding from a creative standpoint because it allows even the most subtle nuances of the instruments to shine through crisply and clearly. Schlitten was also excited about the upcoming four-volume live "Xanadu At Montreux" set, which will be included in the label's August release. Recorded at last year's Montreux Festival, the LPs chronicle an evening of inspired music from such Xanadu artists as Sam Noto, Sam Most, Ted Dunbar, Al Cohn, Billy Mitchell, Barry Harris, Sam Jones and Frank Butler. What makes the package especially interesting, according to Schlitten, is that it captures the players in a variety of settings — from solo performances to duos, trios, quartets and so on, culminating in a full-blown jam session. While Schlitten is best known for his recordings of post-bebop, mainstream sessions, he feels that the Sprague LP is a fine example of contemporary fusion or crossover jazz. "Peter's album includes swinging jazz, classical interludes and flashes of elegant Spanish guitar, which is fusion in the true sense of the word," according to Schlitten. The LP, which is slated for October, consists of all original material by Sprague, who is joined by pianist Mike Wofford, bassist Bob Magnusson and drummer Jim Plank. Says Schlitten: "Peter's approach to music is summed up in the album's title, 'Dance Of The Universe'."

JAZZ ALBUM PICKS

EYES OF THE HEART — Keith Jarrett — ECM-T-1150 — Producer: Manfred Eicher — List: 9.98

The marathon man of solo jazz piano teams up nicely with sax man Dewey Redman, bassist Charlie Haden and drummer Paul Motian on this LP, which was recorded live in 1976. This is vintage Jarrett, and his moods are as pensive and cerebral as ever on this three sided set. The 32:54 title tune will more than satisfy the Jarrett fanatics who are looking for something from his vast archives.

DREAMER — Caldera — Capitol ST-11952 — Producers: Eduardo del Barrio and Jorge Strung — List: 7.98

Caldera is one of the tastiest jazz conglomerations to come along in the past few years, and "Dreamer" further illustrates why. The band's music, which relies heavily on Latin and middle eastern rhythms, is at full progressive-jazz throttle on the LP. The breakneck changes of "Rain Forest" are especially engaging, and fans of John McLaughlin should give a listen to "Himalaya."

PART OF YOU — Eric Gale — Columbia JC35715 — Producer: Ralph MacDonald — List: 7.98

Eric Gale puts his talented fingers to work in several different musical settings on "Part Of You." A fine assemblage of studio greats including Harvey Mason, Steve Gadd and producer Ralph MacDonald augment Gale's distinct guitar runs and melodies. His style ranges from mellow acoustic ballads to hot R&B flavored jazz licks, and fret fans should enjoy.

FUTURE TALK — Urszula Dudziak — Inner City 1066 — Producer: Michal Urbaniak — List: 7.98

This is a most unusual album in that the group is headed by a singer, but there are no words on any of the cuts! Instead, Dudziak is dazzling with her electrified scatting and her expert fusion band, headed by electric violinist Michal Urbaniak. Top cuts are the lively "Kasia's Dance" and "Roxanna." The rather gothic rendition of "Chorale For One" and the title cut, a voice-only solo by Dudziak.

MCA Initiates Campaign For Who LP

LOS ANGELES — MCA Records has embarked on a comprehensive marketing campaign in support of the two-record soundtrack album for the motion picture "The Kids Are Alright," featuring a history of The Who from the years 1965 through 1978. The set is their first domestic greatest hits package and includes a 20-page booklet with historical facts about the band as well as never-before published photographs.

The campaign, which has been divided into two phases, will encompass all electronic and print media. Initiated June 15, in coordination with the release of the single "Long Live Rock" from the LP, national print advertising will head off the campaign for a 90-day period, displayed in more than a half dozen national music publications. Local print will run in conjunction with both radio and television buys. During this period, a dozen major markets will be covered.

Two series of 60-second radio spots will be utilized, with one spotlighting the LP's release as a soundtrack package with the other showcasing the set as the group's first domestic greatest hits package. Print and radio advertising will also be scheduled in response to developments in airplay on AOR and Top 40 and sales patterns.

A specially-designed television spot, featuring Ringo Starr as announcer, will be run both locally and nationally and is available for retail in-store promotion. Promotional tie-ins for the LP include cloth patches with stick backs displaying the British Union Jack, "Long Live Rock" pins and T-shirts announcing the album. Various LP giveaways will also be used.

Point of purchase materials will feature

Berry Pleads Guilty To Income Tax Evasion

LOS ANGELES — ATCO recording artist Chuck Berry pleaded guilty in Los Angeles federal court June 11 to charges of evading nearly $110,000 in income taxes in 1973.

The 52-year-old singer, who chose to plead guilty in Los Angeles federal court rather than go to trial in his hometown of St. Louis, admitted reporting joint income with his wife in 1973 of $374,982, when in fact his taxable income was $589,555.

Barry, who was indicted one month ago by a St. Louis federal grand jury, paid nearly $190,000 in federal income taxes for 1973, but according to the government, should have paid more than $298,000.

In addition to the tax evasion count, Berry was also accused with two counts of making false statements in his 1973 return. However, those charges will be dropped by the government after Berry is sentenced July 13.

BALDRY INKS WITH EMI AMERICA/UNITED ARTISTS — Long John Baldry recently signed with EMI America/United Artists Records. His debut album for the label, "Baldry's Out," has already been shipped in Canada, where it has been certified gold, and will be released in the U.S. later this month. He will be touring the U.S. during the late summer. Pictured at the signing are (l-r): Joe Petrone, EMIA/UA vice president of marketing; Jim Mazza, EMIA/UA president; Long John Baldry; and Don Grierson, EMIA/UA vice president of A&R.

four-color 2'x3' soft Who catalog posters, 3'x3' album announcement posters, four-color dimensional wall and hanging mobiles and four-color standups.

"In the first phase of the campaign, we will try to follow the movie opening around the country as close as possible," said Sam Passamano, Jr., MCA director of marketing. "And that portion of the campaign should run nearly two months, during which all of the major markets will be covered. Through phase two, we'll pick up on any local and regional markets we may have missed in the first phase."

However, Harry Anger, senior vice president of marketing for Polydor, and chairman of NARM's manufacturer advisory committee, said such a change, if implemented, would be "at least a year away." Anger agreed that cassettes were "the fastest-growing aspect of our market," but, he added, "how do we implement the change — that is the question."

Favorable Reception

The manufacturers on the advisory committee, Anger reported, gave the resolution a "favorable reception." And Polydor, Anger said, is presently examining the proposal, "reviewing our options to see where we stand."

Joe Cohen, executive vice president of NARM, commented that, by eliminating the jewel box from cassette packaging, the price of production "might even be lowered, rather than increased." Cohen stressed that, whatever method is finally agreed upon, "we have to do something to make the cassette more merchandisable."

Audiofidelity Offer

in Cash Box, included an agreement that Midsong and Rapp/Metz would receive a controlling share of stock in Audiofidelity.

The nearly completed Midsong and RAPP/Metz merger, Reno said, "is an eventuality I'm looking forward to within the next two weeks."

Under the proposed arrangement, Stephen Metz would be chairman of the board, Joseph Rapp would be president of the management firm, and Reno would be president of the records and music publishing division.

EWF Album Is Gold

NEW YORK — ARC/Columbia recording artists Earth, Wind & Fire's latest LP, "I Am," has been certified platinum by the R.I.A.A.

SURVIVAL SUNDAY II — June 10 was a beautiful, sunny and hot Sunday afternoon at the Hollywood Bowl, where more than 18,000 gathered despite the intense heat to protest against nuclear energy. The mix of short music sets and speeches was reminiscent of an anti-war rally, with many of the stars who were active 10 years ago again devoting their efforts to spearhead a political movement. Sponsored by the Southern California Alliance For Survival, Survival Sunday II featured Jackson Browne, John Denver, Lily Tomlin, Peter, Paul & Mary, Joan Baez, Robin "Mork" Williams, Gil-Scott Heron, Graham Nash, Melissa Manchester, John Hall, John Sebastian, Holly Near, Jocko (Sha Na Na) Marcellino, and just as many speakers, led by Ralph Nader. The heart of the event was the overflow crowd, which proved its anti-nuke desires just by showing up, but there were musical highlights just the same. Baez' "Diamonds And Rust," "Teach Your Children" with Nash supported by Browne and Sebastian, Manchester playing for the first time with her whole family on stage (including her father David, a Metropolitan Opera bassoonist), and Peter, Paul & Mary's closing set climaxed by the whole cast on stage for "Blowing In The Wind" were some of the magic moments that rewarded the sizzling crowd for its support.

A NEW TOM WAITS? — It's like George Burns giving up cigars, but Tom Waits has quit smoking. The unique singer/songwriter and Hollywood street-legend has been off tobacco for four weeks and says "I've got it licked." Now his friends are saying Waits may take on a new image in light of his changed habits. The proof should be in his next E/A LP, which he will cut this summer. Unfortunately, his recording schedule will prevent him from going to England's Knebworth festival in August, where Led Zeppelin is set to reemerge and has asked Waits to introduce them. Look for Tom to appear in an animated short in the fall, around the time he'll hopefully be out on his next tour. But without cigarettes, he's going to have to come up with a new stage act.

SUNSHINE IN CASABLANCA — Celebrating the signing of a production deal between Casablanca Record & FilmWorks and the Sunshine Group are (l-r): Larry Harris, senior vice president and managing director, Casablanca; Walter Kahn, president, Sunshine Group; and Neil Bogart, president, Casablanca.

NEW RELEASES — It's been a big month for Elektra/Asylum. With new LPs from Carly Simon and the Cars already out and Joni Mitchell's "Mingus" and "Live Killers" by Queen on deck, E/A should be one hot company this summer . . . "Only Make Believe," the second A&M album from Leroy Bell and Casey James, is almost ready and it features guest appearances by Jeff "Skunk" Baxter and the Seawind horn section. The duo is already doing well on the charts — they wrote all three cuts on Elton John's new mini-album (produced by Leroy's uncle Thom) . . . Boz Scaggs' next is due later this summer. His producer is Pablo Cruise's Bill Schnee . . . Jim Messina's self-produced Columbia solo debut is on the August release schedule, finally . . . Tom Scott's next LP is due in August, too. Meanwhile, the saxman is in Chicago working on the Blues Brothers film . . . Jules and the Polar Bears new album will be called "Phonetics," and the summer release will feature a phonetically written lyric sheet . . . Blondie, which has split with its manager, has finished its followup to "Parallel Lines," but it won't be called "Eat To The Beat" . . . Phil Ramone is producing Al Jarreau's next album . . . It's Bassey's third Bond theme . . . Japan has come up with a fine disco track, "Life In Tokyo," produced by Giorgio Moroder. Red vinyl British import copies of the record arrived last week . . . Bay area singer/songwriter Lenny Anderson has come out with "The Ballad Of Dan White," with lyrics like "Poor little Danny, the jury slapped his wrist and sent him to bed."

STUDIO TRACKS — According to a recent visitor to his British studio, Stevie Winwood has a couple of tracks underway for his next album and "they're just what you'd hope for. The lyrics he wrote are optimistic and he's singing like a kid again." The only problem, our source reports, is that he's taking his time with the project, so don't look for it any time soon . . . Sylvester Stallone is in the studio with Maynard Ferguson working on the soundtrack to "Rocky II" . . . The Filmways/Heider mobile units are busy, as usual. Mobile unit 1 is back in Hollywood after completing overdubs on what looks like the last Little Feat LP. Mobile unit 1 recently recorded overdubs of the USC Marching Band for a track on the upcoming Fleetwood Mac album. And Mobile unit 2 was at the

DISCO BREAKS

DISCO SHOW PREMIERES — Steppin' Out, a nationally syndicated disco radio program, will premiere in 90 markets the weekend of June 16. Produced by Golden Egg, Steppin' Out consists of three hours of taped disco music punctuated by artists introducing their songs. The first show will feature Gloria Gaynor, Peaches & Herb, Gino Soccio, Sylvester and others. KIIS-FM in L.A. will air the show June 17, 7-10 p.m. with WCAU-FM in Philadelphia, 96X Miami, WBOS Boston, Z93 Atlanta and other stations broadcasting Steppin' Out at various times during the same weekend. Says Peter Hartz, associate producer and former disco editor at Cash Box, "I want DJs to know we're very receptive to having them become Steppin' Out reporters." Interested DJs and anyone else can contact Peter at (213) 475-0817.

WHAT NEXT — DISCO MARIACHIS? — Dee Joseph of Butterfly Records recently returned from Acapulco, where she enjoyed her "first vacation in two years." Dee reports that the discos there play all the latest releases because club owners don't wait for their American licensees to supply them with product. Instead, the owners fly to New York every two months and make their own selections. Baby-O's is reportedly the hottest disco in town, while Boccaccio's and UBQ cater to the beautiful people and Plus One attracts a younger, rollerskating crowd. Donna Summer and Saint Tropez are current favorites in the resort spot. Says Dee, "I heard disco everywhere I went. They even play it in restaurants."

FROM THE OOPS FILE — An earlier column, while reporting that disco had invaded Broadway in the form of Gottu, a new musical previewing this month at the Minskoff Theater, incorrectly mentioned that the original cast recording would be on the Mercury/Phonogram label. Wrong. The star of the show, Aria artist, Robin Beck, has a release of her own on that label. But the original cast album will be out in midsummer on Casablanca.

PROLETARIAN CHIC — The French have given us discotheques, boutiques, boites, and bidets. Now, Paris' hottest disco, Le Palace, introduces proletarian chic. Owned by former hair-tease Fabrice Emaer, Le Palace is located in a working-class neighborhood, but still manages to draw a jet set crowd. Egalitarian Fabrice, however, maintains an open-door policy (for five francs) with the result that Princess Caroline and Paloma Picasso have been spotted rubbing shoulders with punks and plumbers at the disco. It may be only a matter of time before New York's trend-conscious Studio 54 follows suit with "Welfare Mothers' Night."

VERY SPECIAL OLYMPICS — Tramps disco in Washington, D.C., will close its doors to the public June 16 from 3-6 p.m. in order to honor the 50 participants in the Special Olympics from the D.C. area. Tramps manager Michael O'Harro has scheduled a full

REVIEWS

DADDY DEWDROP — The Real Thing — Inphasion/T.K. Disco — TKD 153 — 12"

Unusual, slow-paced vocals nicely contrast with frenetic rhythm. Effective use of echo chamber and synthesizer. Minor-keyed melody creates eerie effect. Cow bell solo break wild and totally original, if not unique. A Randy Sills "concept mix" consisting of easy intro and "outro." Time: (A) 7:40, (B) 6:13

TATA VEGA — Get It Up For Love — Motown — 65187-D — 12"

Socially conscious lyrics emphasize the message of the song. Tata Vega's raw, sexual voice well matched with ooh-ooh chorus. Keyboard work is first rate. Motown claims to be the originator of the disco sound and with this release it continues to lead the way. Time: (A) 5:56, (b) 6:01. BPM: 122

BARBRA STREISAND — The Main Event/Fight — Columbia — AS 625 — 12" — Promo

It was of course inevitable. After Dionne Warwick, Johnny Mathis and Helen Reddy entered the disco sweepstakes, could Barbra be far behind? The sound, from the soundtrack, is Broadway with a heavy beat. The romantic, hummed intro creates the false impression that this cut will be "Evergreen, Part II." Surprise! After a few more moans, Barbra breaks into the most danceable tune since the Charleston. Penned by Paul "Last Dance" Jabara, listen for this one at next year's Academy Awards. FEATURE PICKS

THE WHO (MCA MCA-41053)

Long Live Rock (3:58) (Towser Tunes, Inc. — BMI) (P. Townshend)

The Who play with all the tumultuous energy and the studied abandon they are known for on this single from "The Kids Are Alright" soundtrack LP. Roger Daltrey gives the pipes a good workout here, while Pete Townshend bends notes out of his guitar effortlessly. A sure summer hit for AOR and pop.

HOT CHOCOLATE (Infinity 50,016)

Going Through The Motions (3:54) (Finchley Music Corp. — ASCAP) (E. Brown)

Pulsing synthesizer and keyboards drive the deep beat of this followup to "Every 1's A Winner," adding a hypnotic disco rhythm. The vocals here are truly commanding, especially on the hook. Well-mixed and produced, this track looks like it's headed to the top of both pop and disco lists.

THE CARS (Elektra/Asylum E-46063)

Let's Go (3:32) (Lido Music, Inc. — BMI) (R. Ocasek)

In true Cars fashion, this song opens with a crash, moving into a streamlined pop rocker, filled with a futuristic combination of synthesizer blips, handclaps and crunching guitar chording. The first single from the new "Candy-O" LP, this should move rapidly into the Top 40.

PATTI SMITH GROUP (Arista AS 0427)

Fredrick (3:01) (Ninja Music) (P. Smith)

This, the first single from the "Wave" album, smokes with subtle, dynamic instrumentation, fueled by a prominent piano line, synthesizer touches and steady drums. Smith's voice is in fine form here, making this a most accessible cut for Top 40. Hitbound.

THE KNACK (Capitol P-4731)

My Sharona (3:58) (Eighties Music/Small Hill Music — ASCAP) (D. Fieger, B. Averre)

Slamming drums and rock steady, building guitar work open the debut single from this exciting new band. Already causing a good deal of radio interest, this song is an odds-on bet to gather a lot of AOR and Top 40 attention. Watch out for this band to take off.

TERRY MACE (Mercury 74072)

Love Receiver (3:33) (Warner Bros. - /Tamerlane/Front St. Music — ASCAP) (T. Mace, Wright)

Throbbing bass runs headlong into a slinky synthesizer line, pounding drums and slashing guitars, adding a sleek rock edge to Mace's powerful pop vocals. A strong sleeper, AOR and Top 40 should check this out.

L.T.D. (A&M 2142)

Dance 'N' Sing 'N' (4:08) (Almo Music Corp./McRovscod Music — ASCAP/Irving Music, Inc./McDorsbov Music — BMI) (J.L. Osborne, J. Riley)

Punchy horns, syndrum highlights and smooth bass and guitar progressions, behind a slick bed of strings, push up the funk vocals. B/C, dance lists will take note.

PATRICK GAMMON (Motown M 1465F)

Cop An Attitude (2:58) (Gammarock Musik GmbH/Jobete Music Co., Inc. — ASCAP) (P. Gammon)

A flavorful funk-R&B track, with an intriguing mix of snapping bass, wirey electric guitar and a slinky vocal chorus. The song follows an unusual offbeat pattern that separates it from the standard funk fare. For B/C formats.

SINGLES TO WATCH

THE CHARLIE DANIELS BAND (Epic 8-50700)

The Devil Went Down To Georgia (3:35) (Hat Band Music — BMI) (C. Daniels, F. Edwards, J. Marshall, C. Hayward, T. Crain, T. DiGregorio)

Thundering piano and Daniel's trademark screaming fiddle work stand out in front of pounding drums and screeching guitar. An engaging narrative story line brings this track together. Destined for heavy AOR-pop play.

VOYAGER (Elektra/Asylum E-46055)

Halfway Hotel (3:58) (Panache Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (P. French)

A trilling piano line opens up this immediately ear-catching pop number. Similar to 10cc in their musical and lyrical approach here, Voyager provides a refreshingly different sound. A must-add for AOR, with a good shot at pop lists.

COOPER BROTHERS BAND (Capricorn CPS-0325)

I'll Know Her When I See Her (3:20) (Tamiami Music — ASCAP/Oboe Maestro Music — CAPAC/U.S. rights to Welbeck Music Corp. — ASCAP) (R. Cooper)

A light, jazzy guitar riff moves this easy pop song to a swaying beat. Breezy vocals, sax work and swelling strings make this a sweet little cut. Solid Top 40.

JOHN TRAVOLTA (RSO RS 930)

Sandy (2:30) (Stigwood Music, Inc. — Unichappell Music Admin./Ensign Music Corp. — BMI) (L. St. Louis, S. Simon)

Summer is upon us and the soundtrack from the motion picture "Grease" delivers another tune for those hot afternoons on the beach. Travolta's yearning vocals will sell this one.

CARILLO (Atlantic 3589)

She Takes The Night (3:15) (Kyknos Cantos Music, Inc./Vindaloo Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (F. Carillo, L. Spagnuolo)

Grinding, wailing riff rock is featured here, as raw guitar work, steady snare and high hat back Carillo's gritty vocals. Energetic lead guitar and synthesizer splashes sound just right for AOR and pop play.

THE TUBES (A&M 2149)

Love's A Mystery (I Don't Understand) (3:29) (Earmark Music/Irving Music, Inc./Pseudo Songs — BMI) (Rundgren, Spooner, Steen, Prince, Welnick, Cotten, Anderson, Waybill)

Producer and co-writer Todd Rundgren puts his indelible stamp on this full blown ballad, but the Tubes really bring it to life. The band plays it straight and the song works. Top 40 take note.

JUST US GIRLS (Epic 8-50733)

Time Warp (3:45) (Druidcrest Music, Inc. — by perm. of Hollenbeck Music, Inc. in U.S. and Canada — BMI) (R. O'Brien)

Don't be fooled by the name, this instrumental version of the "Rocky Horror Picture Show" tune features some of the finest sessionmen in the business. A true AOR/pop romp, this should please a variety of audiences.

LOU REED (Arista AS 0431)

City Lights (3:07) (Metal Machine Music — BMI/Almo Music Corp./Hilmer Music Pub. Co. — ASCAP) (L. Reed, N. Lofgren)

From "The Bells" LP, this track finds Reed in a gentle, reminiscent mood, with unique, jaunty instrumentation, backing deep vocals. This cut should bring Reed back to pop, AOR lists.

KATE TAYLOR (Columbia 3-11017)

It's The Same Old Song (3:17) (Jobete Music Co., Inc. — ASCAP) (E. Holland, L. Dozier, B. Holland)

Taylor gives a nice reading of the old Motown classic, backed by a strong chorus, swinging guitar chording and a sharp sax solo. A good followup to "It's In His Kiss," this should garner some pop play.

LOUISIANA'S LE ROUX (Capitol P-4736)

Feel It (3:20) (Screen Gems-EMI Music Inc./Lemed Music Co. — ASCAP) (R. Roddy, J. Pollard)

From the "Keep The Fire Burnin'" LP, bouncy organ is complemented by staccato drumming, lean, jumpy bass, neat guitar and high, muscular vocal work. Pop programmers will want to give this one a listen.

CITI (De-Lite DE-914)

Roller Disco (3:50) (Via Rita Music/Roll Away Music — BMI) (L. Gonzalez, D. Ogrin)

If the "roller disco" fad should catch on and spread, this track could easily be it's anthem. String-backed instrumentals skate along at a nice clip, as horns swell around the hook. Nice effects and good vocals make this a strong dance cut.

BILL LABOUNTY (Warner/Curb WBS 8856)

Dancin' Tonight (4:12) (Captain Crystal Music — BMI) (B. LaBounty, M. Johnson)

Co-written with Michael Johnson, this track has a smooth, airy feel, backed with light acoustic guitar work, building on the chorus. Smokey, aching vocals are augmented perfectly with bluesy sax. For A/C and pop formats.

DOUCETTE (Mushroom M 7042)

Nobody (3:27) (Champignon Music — ASCAP) (J. Doucette, D. Maxwell)

Lush arrangements, featuring ringing piano and sharp synthesizer, mix easily with the pounding drum beat and crystal clear vocals, making this cut a shimmering pop outing. Doucette shows his growing strength as a songwriter here. For pop and AOR.

MILLIE JACKSON (Spring SP 197)

A Moment's Pleasure (4:12) (Muscle Shoals Sound Pub. Co., Inc. — BMI) (G. Jackson)

The title track from Jackson's new LP showcases the singer's deep, soulful voice in a thick, steady funk instrumental setting. The narrative introduction is a real attention-grabber, and B/C formats will surely be interested.

JAPAN (Ariola 7756)

Life In Tokyo (3:30) (Chadwick Nomis Ltd. — BMI) (D. Sylvan, G. Moroder)

Co-written and produced by disco ace Giorgio Moroder, this track maintains a pleasing balance between a crisp disco beat, laden with synthesizer, and pop vocals. The unique combination could bring this song pop as well as disco play.

Communications Rewrite Main Topic At Black Music Association Seminar

by Cookie Amerson

PHILADELPHIA — The effect on the proposed Communications Act rewrite bill (HR 3333) on black americans was a major topic of discussion at the Black Music Association's Communications seminar, held June 9-10 here.

Eugene Jackson, president of the National Black Network, said the proposed legislation would have a negative impact on black broadcasters. "The passing of the rewrite bill would have a detrimental effect on the black broadcaster," he said, "because there would be no regulations to govern anything relating to equal opportunity practices at broadcast outlets."

Jackson's assessment was echoed by representatives from a number of political pressure groups. A spokesman for the Fair Play Committee, a Washington D.C.-based watchdog organization, said passage of the bill would reduce black employment opportunities in the broadcast industry and discourage minority ownership of stations.

The announced topic of the meeting was Job Security: A Vanishing Reality. Jackson, in his remarks, tied career security to on-the-job performance, stating, "Black excellence is the key to job security. I urge you all to maintain the highest standard of professionalism within your positions."

Jackson went on to say that black radio must be more responsive to the needs of the black community. As a first step, he suggested that black radio help to educate the public about the effect of HR 3333. As an additional gesture, Jackson then donated $100 to the BMA, to be used for sending out telegrams, urging stations across the country to run public service spots asking the public to write area Congressmen or State Senators about their opposition to HR 333.

Rod McGrew, vice president of the BMA's communications division, served as moderator of the seminar. Other speakers included Pluria Marshall, president of the National Black Media Coalition; Elliott Franks, president National Association of Black Owned Broadcasters; J.D. Black, president of The Young Black Programmers Coalition; and Nolan Bowie, executive director of the Citizens Communication Center.

Audits & Surveys Folds Trac 7

NEW YORK — Audits & Surveys, the New York based research firm, has left the radio ratings service business. The firm's Trac 7 methodology involved computer-assisted telephone interview service (CATI).

"We leave the syndicated radio ratings business with regret, but with the conviction that the industry will ultimately benefit materially from the substantial investment we have made in developing a new generation of methodological and technological procedures," said Richard Lysaker, president of Audits & Surveys.

The firm originally dedicated four computers and 110 CRT's primarily to Trac 7, which enabled it to go beyond existing interviewing methodology. However, according to Lysaker, the price of the service could not be reduced without compromising the quality.

"Unfortunately, a premium product demands a premium price, and this encountered industry resistance," offered Lysaker.

Trac 7 was the product of an industry feasibility study conducted by Audits & Surveys. The firm's methodology was approved by an RAB technical committee as the type of day by day telephone interview procedure which best served the industry's current requirements.

Cole Industries Purchases RAM

LOS ANGELES — The RAM Research Company, a San Diego based radio ratings service and music research specialist, was recently purchased by Cole Industries. Cole Industries is a diversified company involved primarily in the lumber business.

According to Andrew Hargarter, a RAM spokesman, the firm is the second largest company in the country — after Arbitron Radio — in terms of the number of Top 100 markets surveyed, station and agency subscriptions, or revenues generated from radio research. The firm has over 220 radio ratings service clients throughout the country.

Arista's Lou Reed Holds His Ground

one of his prime literary influences, urban poet Delmore Schwartz, Reed had moved back to New York and took a job writing and recording for Pickwick Records under a variety of names. He continued his interest in poetry, giving readings in Greenwich Village, where he ran into Cale.

Boost From Warhol

Joining forces with bassist Sterling Morrison and drummer Maureen Tucker, Reed and Cale played coffeehouses around the Village as The Velvet Underground and soon aroused the interest of pop-art guru Andy Warhol. Warhol incorporated the band into his flashy media show, The Exploding Plastic Inevitable, and introduced German model Nico to the group.

The Velvets recorded their first album in 1967, marked by Warhol's banana illustration on the cover, and the LP yielded at least three classic cuts — "Heroin," "I'm Waiting For The Man" and "Venus In Furs." "Heroin" was to later become a standard in Reed's repertoire during his solo career.

Nico left the band in 1967, before "White Light/White Heat" was released, and the group left Warhol soon after. The group's popularity began to diminish and in 1969, Cale departed. The band resurfaced in New York in 1970 with Doug and Billy Yule, who replaced Tucker, and it enjoyed a short-lived resurgence of interest. More importantly, that same year they recorded one of their best LPs ever, the highly-acclaimed "Loaded," which contained two other solid Reed hits, "Sweet Jane" and "Rock And Roll."

Goes Solo

Disappointed with the direction of the Velvets and their lack of mass acceptance, Reed left the band to embark on a solo career. After a promising debut album for RCA in 1971, utilizing a variety of English studio musicians, Reed hooked up with David Bowie, who oversaw production on one of Reed's most commercially successful albums to date, "Transformer." The LP yielded a top AM hit, "Walk On The Wild Side," which managed to squeak past the censors and provide a capsule distillation of the Reed ethos for the masses.

An emotion-filled concept piece, "Berlin," followed in 1973. It chronicled a stormy marriage and its eventual dissolution into drugs, violent sex and finally, suicide. But the record also contains some of Reed's most tender moments, as in the title track, once again pointing to the juxtaposition in Reed's work between the strength of love and weakness of humanity. Dissappointingly, "Berlin" never caught on commercially.

However, the following two LPs, a live set, "Rock And Roll Animal" and the next studio album, "Sally Can't Dance" — both released in 1974, were solid sellers for the artist, although he was disappointed in them artistically. "Sally" went to the top of the album chart and "Animal" became an AOR staple. Another LP from the same session in which "Animal" was recorded was shipped in 1975, as well as the electronic debacle, "Metal Machine Music," later that year, which met with staunch opposition from the press and the public. The next studio grouping, 1976's "Coney Island Baby," was a vast improvement musically and picked up sales for Reed, but it was his last record, besides the obligatory "best of" package, for RCA.

Another era in Reed's career began in 1976 when he signed with Arista. His first album for the label, "Rock And Roll Heart," caught the volatile artist in a lighter mood, and he went out on an unusual tour, backed by a wall of flashing TV screens.

Riveting Performer

Live performing has always been one of Reed's fortes and during his tenure with Arista, his concerts have provided him not only with a showcase for the best of his material from his Velvets and solo periods, but a platform for some of his most somber as well as his outrageous statements. Reed enjoys developing a personal rapport with "his people" and his shows certainly have allowed him the chance to do so.

"There are those of us who consider performing to be play," indicated Reed. "I remember when I couldn't play my music loud because the people next door would bitch. Now I can go someplace and people pay to see me play. That's not work; that's play. Perfecting your music, whether in a live or studio context, is like searching for the perfect wave. It's gotta be fun."

And fun is what Reed had during the taping of his double-LP live set, "Take No Prisoners," which was recorded during his 1978 engagement at the Bottom Line in New York City. On the album, Reed delivers a stirring mixture of old and new material, complete with aggressively effective instrumentation and laced with several revealing narratives, monologues and off-hand remarks to the crowd replete with all of the humor, wit and invective that Reed could muster up. Saying that the LP "is as close to Lou Reed as you're probably going to get," Reed sees it as a departure from the usual live recording in that it was rawer and more spontaneous while following the sequence of the actual performance.

"On 'Take No Prisoners,' that was really Lou with the band at home in New York, talking to the band and the people," Reed pointed out. "The album was fun, for me and the audience. There is something there that will amuse and offend everyone. What the hell, though, you can't be serious all the time."

Unfortunately, the album received little or no radio play, due to the nature of the lyrics, and failed to chart. But Reed still staunchly stands behind it, defending the honesty and sheer fun of the record.

"I was wild over 'Take No Prisoners,'" Reed said. "I know it didn't get any airplay, but what a great thing to fight for, to get that album on the air. Richard Pryor comes out with an album and Warner Bros. brought out this ad, saying 'The First Amendment Guarantees...' Now, I'm not saying I'm as funny as Richard Pryor, but then again Richard Pryor doesn't play guitar."

As far as support for "The Bells" goes, Reed related that "the company is now 200% behind me." In spite of the many setbacks he has received over the course of his career, Reed is now looking to the future with confidence and determination, proving, as he has in the past, that it's hard to keep a good artist down for very long.

"You can't say enough about positive thinking," said Reed in a moment of reflection. "I think you influence things by thinking down. I know, it's happened to me before. But I really believe you can will things to happen. And I do want things to happen."

Island Sets Releases

before the end of the year.

Future releases on Island will continue to reflect the growing diversity of the label's artist roster. Scheduled for release the first week in July, Grace Jones' new 12" single, "On Your Knees," will finally give the disco personality a musical identity to go along with her already well-established personal image.

Still further in the future, tentatively September, Island will continue its momentum with the release of a Bob Marley LP, "Survival," and an as yet untitled debut LP by Jess Roden, a singer who was once offered the lead singing role with the Jefferson Starship.

New Concepts Attracting Retail Customers

the result becomes a terrific in-store merchandising tool.

"The DJ will play our sale product plus our hot new releases, tell you what they cost, and rap about them," Lawrence said. "We like to think that every so often we can actually break a record in the store, providing it's played enough, before a particular station may have ever added it. His presence encourages people to hang out, learn what's new, and eventually purchase that 12-inch disc."

Piped-In Radio

One of the most successful instances of an in-store disco promotion occurred last month when radio station KDAY in Los Angeles was piped into the Big Ben store from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. in a non-stop salute to Casablanca disco product. Some 1,500 people jammed the store, while another 1,000 waited outside just to get in. "People were literally pressed wall-to-wall," Lawrence said. "In an economically depressed community such as this, what a better place is there for kids to hang out in than a record store?" The evening's success, he added, was enhanced by such prizes as a stereo set for the best-dressed couple, as well as T-shirts and LPs.

At the Peachtree site of Oz Records and Tapes, the presence of 20 pinball machines and the regular showing of current video tapes (and the "Wizard of Oz" every Sunday afternoon) is reason alone for consumers to shop at Peaches, said Marylou Webb, who manages the store. "The fact that people know these forms of entertainment are here is a big plus for us. People know that they can shoot ball here or watch a tape, and then buy a record."

'Proper Balance'

Webb, who used to promote jazz LPs nationally for Arista and CTI, stressed that video tapes must be run after four different LPs have been played "so that a proper balance is maintained at all times." She added that the visual impact of the video tape was phenomenal. "Not only do the kids eat it up, but the adults who come into the store with money to spend but don't know what they want to buy are often swayed by an effective tape."

The Peaches chain's involvement with video presentations is directly related to its effort to build an identification with the record buyer, said Kastens. "Setting up a tape alone without the reinforcement of other media doesn't get the desired results you're after," he said. "It's got to be part of the total promotion. Ideally, it should be used in conjunction with an artist's appearance or some other sort of promotion, such as a giveaway contest."

Kastens also emphasized the lure of the chain's "Star Tracks," which borrows from Mann's Chinese Theatre's concept of star imprints in Hollywood. The gimmick, initiated at the chain's flagship store in Atlanta, has now been incorporated on the sidewalk in front of each Peaches store.

Free Records!

"We're like a coffeehouse without the coffee," said Jeff Gold, manager of the Rhino Records shop in Westwood. "We're high-strung and play esoteric music — it's the perfect environment." Among the store's more communal features are its bins full of free records that boast as many as 50 titles in a given day, Gold said. "A lot of times when we're buying people's collections, and we can't even give them a dime for the record, they'll just donate it to the box," he said. Gold also called attention to Rhino's listening booth, "which is a rarity in these parts."

Pinball Wizard

For Blecker Bob (whose Golden Oldies store has a misleading name because it specializes in new wave and import music), stocking jukeboxes and pinball machines were a great way to sell records in the early to mid-70s. "I used to deal in old 45s," he said, "so people would buy a jukebox and then fill them up with singles from my store. Of course, in those days if you could afford a jukebox you could afford a pinball machine, so they went hand in hand."

But nowadays, he said, records sell themselves, "and you don't need gimmicks to stay in business. The pinball machines I keep in the store are really for my own amusement, especially when there's a lull in business, because they're so relaxing. It's the poor man's golf. They might bring some traffic off the street, but they certainly have nothing to do with selling records."

In contrast, pinball provides a steady traffic flow at Jimmy's Music World's Flushing, N.Y. location, where two machines are situated in between the store's 7-inch and 12-inch singles counters. "Singles make up a good part of our business," said Ish Cuebas, who manages the store. "It pacifies the kids when their parents come to shop, and plenty of adults come in on their lunch hours to shoot ball and then shop for a record. The machines are always watched over, so there's never any trouble. It's a very controlled situation."

Dissenting View

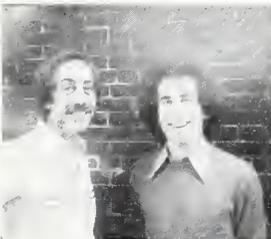

The entire concept of the record store as an entertainment center is disputed by Linda Kroecker, assistant store manager for the Record Theatre's store in the Parma Heights section of Cleveland. She insisted that encouraging teens to hang out in record stores was a foolhardy thing to do. "Young kids who hang out tend to get in trouble," she said, "and that has the potential to turn older shoppers away. Teens just aren't conducive to the right atmosphere. Pinball machines, in particular, attract the kind of group that likes to dwell, which is when the probability of getting ripped off is the greatest. Record stores have to keep up an image, we're selling to the general public."

The concept of bringing the record store to the consumer is a new twist to the story that was devised last January by Everybody's Records in Portland in association with Double Tee concert promoters. The idea of the program is to sponsor concerts by developing artists and then sell the artist's latest LP at the show, usually for $4.99. A provision of the program is that each LP can be refunded within 30 days if it's not to the customer's liking.

Langford Stephens

Francisco, presently a middle of the road station, is rumored to be changing its format to serve the black community. Sonny Buxton is expected to be named general manager of the station.

MUSIC DIRECTOR PROFILE — Langford Stephens, music director at WDAO in Dayton, was a late starter in radio by some standards. He was in his first year of college before he made up his mind to pursue a broadcasting career. Stephens, who was attending Norfolk State University, explained, "One day I was sitting around listening to the radio when I happen to hear a friend of mine who I went to high school with. I thought to myself, 'That's what I want to be — a radio announcer.'" At that point, Stephens enrolled at Tidewater Broadcasting School, and then upon completion of the course, went out searching for employment. "I went to WHIH, which was at that time a black formatted station in Norfolk, where I immediately met with resistance from the management. But through persistence, and the programmer Scotty Andrews thinking that I was good, I was finally hired. My first day on the job was a little startling, because the person who was to sit with me during my first time on the air did not show up. The entire ordeal did not really hit me until the announcer before me explained what I was supposed to do, showed me where things were, and said 'Alright, it's yours,' and left. I didn't think of calling the PD or anything, but went on the air, which turned out fine." Stephens stayed at WHIH from 1968 to 1973; during that time, the station changed its format from black to Top 40. When he left that station, he got back into black radio at WLOK in Memphis, where he stayed for about nine months before he went to WABQ, in Cleveland. While he was at that station, he enjoyed his first opportunity at programming when the PD left. After leaving WABQ, Stephens spent about six months at WJMO in Cleveland, doing production and serving as the relief announcer. Then Stephens decided to accept a PD slot at WUSS in Atlantic City. Finally he left WUSS and dropped out of broadcasting for about eight months, then went to WDAO in Dayton as an air personality, where he was later promoted to music director.

SONDERLING SEEKS TO SELL WOL UNDER DISTRESS — Sonderling Broadcasting is seeking to sell WOL in Washington D.C. to a minority purchaser under the FCC distress sale policy. In order that there is no delay in the FCC's review of the upcoming Sonderling/Viacom merger, Sonderling has set up terms which would permit completion of the merger and split-off before WOL has been sold. If the merger is completed, WOL will not be included in any properties to be acquired by Viacom, and the amount of consideration received by Sonderling shareholders will not be affected.

WIGO IN ATLANTA HAS LICENSE REVOKED BY FCC — The FCC has revoked the license of WIGO in Atlanta due to repeated broadcast of information relating to local gambling activities. The problem reportedly revolved around religious programming in which ministers gave out information that related to the city's illegal numbers games and boasted of its ability to predict the winning number.

RAGAN HENRY PART OF HISTORY MAKING MERGER — The Combined Communications merger with Gannett Corporation was approved last week by the FCC, making it the largest communications merger in the history of the United States. Part of that deal was Gannett's sale of its Rochester television station to a minority owner. Broadcast Enterprise Network, of which Ragan Henry is the principal stockholder. The station, WHEC-TV, becomes the first major market VHF network affiliated TV station to be owned by a minority. The station was sold for $27 million.

CHERYL TYRELL TO HEAD A&R AT T-ELECTRIC — Though Jim Tyrrell has made no formal announcement regarding the formation of his new record label, T-Electric, he has mentioned that his daughter, Cheryl, will be in charge of A&R for the label.

LABEL CHANGES — David Banks has joined RSO Records to head up its black division . . . Al Edmondson, who headed the black division at A&M Records, has left that company.

Is There Money In Africa BMA Panelists Say 'Yes'

by Aaron Fuchs

PHILADELPHIA — The emergence of Africa as a valuable market for the music industry was the central topic of the seminar entitled "Tapping the International Market: A Plumbing Problem." The seminar, moderated by LeBaron Taylor, vice president of black music marketing for CBS and vice president of the recording division of the BMA, featured Curtis White, an attorney whose firm, Hayes and White, works with the FCC; Percy Sutton, head of Inner City Broadcasting Corp. and Percy Sutton International; Tamiko Jones, international recording artist; Frank Welzer, vice president of business development for CBS Records International; and Ray Pitts, manager of artist marketing for CBS International.

White noted that profits can be made in the African market if one is willing to surmount the absence of a formal distribution network, the high cost of records due to the lack of domestic pressing facilities, and the possibility of government censorship of product and control of the airwaves. White said that those problems could be offset by the construction of a satellite system; the pressing need of many African governments for foreign exchange and the willingness of the African population to purchase records even at a cost that equals a week's worth of wages per album.

CBS Initiative

Welzer pointed out that CBS was committed to developing "a full record company" in Africa, encompassing manufacturing and distribution. He noted that the largest market in Africa, Nigeria, has a population of one million, "who would sooner buy an LP than a loaf of bread," and that a hit record can sell 200,000 units there. Welzer reported that the African market was receptive to disco, soul, rock, and reggae. Welzer cited the second largest black music market in Africa as South Africa, with Lagos, Nigeria and Nairobi, Kenya as especially lucrative African areas.

According to Welzer, England "has been and probably will be" the largest European market for American black music, but he also cited an increasing interest in countries like Russia and Hungary in jazz. "Our marketing philosophy," concluded Welzer, "is don't give music labels like 'black music' or you'll only limit your market."

Percy Sutton called Nigeria a "new frontier for black music." Sutton said that a study he'd conducted assessed Nigeria's record buying population at 12 million. Percy Sutton International is in the process of building Nigeria's first domestic record pressing plant. The plant, which will have the capacity to press between five and eight million records yearly, has a sanction from the Nigerian government. Sutton has also received a sanction from the Union Bank of Nigeria for a system of consistent royalty payments to artists regardless of a change in government. Sutton concluded his remarks by saying, "be aggressive in Africa."

Tamiko Jones, who, in addition to being a recording artist, publishes Blues and Soul Magazine and is a consultant to Sutton's project, described Africa as "another market for blacks who feel like they are being pushed out of the American market." She also advised artists to overdub their songs in other languages, even if phonetically.

Merchandising Seminar Provides Dealers With A Forum To Vent Gripes

by Aaron Fuchs

PHILADELPHIA — A qualified endorsement of the one-stop coop advertising system and a commitment to upgrade the education of the black retailer were the central themes of the BMA Convention seminar entitled "Cooperative Merchandising: The Realistic Alternative?"

The seminar, moderated by Calvin Simpson, vice president of the BMA's marketing and merchandising division, included Jim Tyrrell, president of JRT Records; Ernie Leaner, president of Ernie's One Stop; Ray Macklin of Ray's Music Library, and Eddie Gilreath, national sales manager, black music, for Warner Brothers.

Macklin and other retailers under the Record Library banner endorsed their relationship with the Philadelphia-based, one stop-run umbrella organization in which small black retailers, in exchange for a quasi-franchise relationship with Richman Brothers, earn coop money for advertising they could otherwise not afford (see Cash Box, April 14). "Coops need more respect," said Macklin. "Just because I'm Music Library doesn't mean that I've lost my identity or that I can't buy anywhere else. Since we've started coop merchandising, our sales have increased 50%."

Simpson took issue. "Do we really need Jerry Richman?" he asked. "It seems to me that we should be asking ourselves how we can create ultimate independence." Coop advocates admitted Simpson's assertion was valid, but maintained the coop system is the best method of achieving the goal of independence.

Dealer Education

The coop issue aside, the seminar touched on most of the issues that small black retailers must deal with, including that of education. According to Jim Tyrrell, who is active in the BMA's marketing and merchandising division, "We've started a dealer's assistance program which is designed to teach you how to run a retail business." Tyrrell also revealed that he was in the process of developing an outline for retailers on "how to put a package together for a small business loan."

One question that could not be answered was "Can I know how much advertising I can get from one-stops in return for my business?" "Advertising money is not given out on everything," said Ernie Leaner, "nor is it given out equally to every one-stop. In fact, if you're a black one-stop, pop product dollar is unavailable to you."

Bruce Webb of the Philadelphia-based Webb's Department store raised several questions that went unanswered. For instance, he asked how certain stores in his area are able to sell a $7.98 list record for the same price that they charge for budget product. "I'd also like to know what the future of the seven inch is," said Webb. "With the manufacturers' emphasis shifting to the higher priced 12" record, I have a lot of one-dollar customers, whose business I may lose."

Robert Thatcher of the Fort-Wayne based Tallman One Stop, asked, "How can I quicken my return authorization?" He added, "Unless you have an open account, you have no leverage with the manufacturers."

It was these unanswered questions, combined with moderator Simpson's insistence that "the manufacturer is not the problem," that caused some retailers to leave the convention feeling that their needs had not been addressed.

"Most of the people I talked to were not happy with the attitude of 'the companies are doing all they can,'" said Webb, a mem-

CLASSICAL CLIPS

NEW YORK — The big news this week is that Angel has raised its list price on all new full-line releases to $8.98. At the same time, the label has also hiked the list on its entire Seraphim catalog, encompassing 325 titles, to $4.98. However, a label spokesman said that Angel will not go to $8.98 across-the-board this year.

The $8.98 list applies to all six albums in Angel's June release. Bearing a new SZ prefix, they include recordings of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 2 by Mstislav Rostropovich and the London Philharmonic (SZ-37294); Mozart's Violin Concertos Nos. 2 and 5 by Vladimir Spivakov and the English Chamber Orchestra (SZ-37511); a Spivakov recital (SZ-37574); Bartok's Music For Strings, Percussion and Celesta/Miraculous Mandarin Suite by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra (SZ-37608); Brahms' Serenade in A/Haydn Variations by Sir Adrian Boult and the London Philharmonic (SZ-37648); and Richard Strauss' "Die Schweigsame Frau," featuring Theo Adam, Alisa Burmeister, Jeanette Scovotti and the Staatskapelle Dresden (SZ-CX-3867 — three discs). The Strauss and Tchaikovsky recordings are also available in quad.

Angel is not the first American label to raise its list price to $8.98; London has been $8.98 across-the-board since April, with its Treasury budget series pegged at $4.98. Neither RCA or Columbia, however, has immediate plans to raise its list price, and Philips and DG, which are imported from Europe, are unlikely to raise their list to $9.98 until the domestic majors have gone to $8.98.

McEWEN TO LEAVE LONDON — Terry McEwen, executive vice president of London Records, who has worked for the label and its parent company, Decca, for 30 years, has announced that he will be leaving the company on June 30, 1980. He will then take up a post as "observer" with the San Francisco Opera Company, preparatory to becoming general director of the opera company on January 1, 1982. During the intervening year and a half, he says, he will learn "the details of running an opera house" from the current general director, Kurt Herbert Adler.

The only practical theater experience that he has ever had, says McEwen, was as an opera singer during his student days in Montreal. However, he adds, "I was in an opera house watching performances and learning about them for 35 years."

McEwen joined Decca Records in England in 1950, working in the company warehouse and later becoming an LP salesman. Because of his knowledge of French, he was transferred to France in the early '50s. He traveled extensively in Europe and worked with such artists as Kirsten Flagstad and Herbert Von Karajan. After a few years, he returned to London and became Decca's classical promotion manager. In 1959, he was transferred to New York to become head of London Records' classical division. He was appointed a vice president of London in 1973 and became executive vice president of the company in 1978.

McEwen's career in the classical record business has involved him in the recording careers of such artists as Renata Tebaldi, Joan Sutherland, Sir Georg Solti, Regina Resnik, Vladimir Ashkenazy, Zubin Mehta and Lorin Maazel. In more recent years, he has been closely associated with tenor Luciano Pavarotti, with whom he has appeared on television . . .

HISTORICAL BACH — The Smithsonian Institution has released three sets of records on the Smithsonian Collection label. Including a wide range of works by J. S. Bach, the recordings feature performances on historical instruments in the Smithsonian Collection. "Six Sonatas for Violin and Harpsichord & Two Sonatas for Violin and Basso Continuo" is a re-release of the original 1969 recording which won Stereo Review's "Record Of The Year" award. The performers include violinist Sonya Monosoff, harpsichordist James Weaver and gambist Judith Davidoff. A set of the complete Brandeburg Concerti are performed by the Aston Magna Festival Orchestra on 28 baroque instruments, 16 of them originals. "Six Partitas for Solo Harpsichord" is performed by James Weaver, who plays the Johannes Daniel Dulcken harpsichord of 1745. Each of the Bach sets is priced at $17.98, plus a postage and handling fee of $2.29 per order . . . Two more opera reissues in DG's mid-priced Privilege series: a La Scala "Traviata" featuring Renata Scotto and a rare recording of Weber's "Oberon" with Birgit Nilsson and Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, conducted by Rafael Kubelik . . . Lorin Maazel and the Cleveland Orchestra have been awarded the Deutsche Schallplattenpreis for their recent recording of Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 for CBS Records . . . A Philips recording of a Brahms lieder recital by soprano Ely Ameling has won the Edison award, Holland's highest record award . . . Phonogram International has signed pianist Bella Davidovich, who recently emigrated to New York from the Soviet Union. Her first three records on Philips will be released in August . . .

CLASSICAL ALBUM REVIEWS

DVORAK: Symphony No. 8. Czech Philharmonic Orchestra, Vaclav Neumann, conductor. Pickwick Quintessence PMC 7-119. List: 3.98

This is a Dvorak Eighth to treasure. Neumann seems to have an instinctive empathy for the music of his countryman, and his orchestra never fails to supply the right touch where it's needed. An added bonus is the relatively recent vintage of the recording, which was made in 1973. Steve Vining is to be commended for his excellent remastering from the original Supraphon album.

HANDEL: CONCERTI GROSSI. La Grande Ecurie et la Chambre du Roy, Jean-Claude Malgoire, director. Columbia/Odyssey Y4 35234. List: 15.98

In contrast to the rather freewheeling approach to baroque music that has ironically come in with the popularity of original instruments, Malgoire's approach to this music is strictly regulated, precise and well-articulated. The reissue dates from 1976 and features superb sound quality.

SESAC Institutes Program Of Developing Young Writers

by Bob Campbell

NASHVILLE — SESAC is the smallest performing rights society and has traditionally been associated closely with gospel music (particularly in Nashville). But SESAC, under the direction of president Norman Weiser, has instituted an aggressive program designed to attract new writers in all fields of music by increasing its visibility and publicizing the many services offered by the society.

In Nashville, SESAC recently hired Dianne Petty, former ABC Music vice president here, as director of country music. In addition, Dave DeBolt was hired as public relations director; Jim Black was named director of gospel music; and SESAC expanded its office space some 800 square feet.

In her thirties with a decade of publishing experience under her belt, Petty talked with Cash Box recently and discussed SESAC's goals of establishing a reputation as a company with young management which intends to develop a new generation of writers. Petty stressed the experience of the SESAC executives in all fields of music, and said her publishing background will enable her to still function as a publisher within SESAC in Nashville.

Young Staff

"The central crux of the new direction for SESAC is that the directors of SESAC in the New York, Los Angeles and Nashville offices are all in their thirties or younger and have publishing backgrounds, artist management backgrounds, radio background and experience in all phases of the music business," Petty said. "There are many areas in which we can be of service to writers and publishers. I think it is a positive thing that I have a publishing background because I not only have a first-hand knowledge of the problems of writers, but I also have an overall understanding of the industry and how it functions. We are here to educate writers. I know what songs are happening, I know what acts are happening, and I know who produces them. These are important pieces of information for a young writer.

"I am going to still function as a publisher here," Petty added. "We will help our writers exploit their catalog and also get involved in promoting records. We have nine field representatives with broadcasting backgrounds who have direct communication with radio people."

Petty believes the smaller size of SESAC is an advantage because of her accessibility to writers, especially the young writer. Petty's basic goal is to sign and cultivate young, talented writers in Nashville.

RCA Mounts Big Merchandising Push For Parton

NASHVILLE — A comprehensive marketing program — including contests for both retailers and customers, various merchandising devices, a special video presentation and a tour later in the year — has been mounted by RCA Records in support of Dolly Parton's "Great Balls Of Fire" LP.

Currently bulleting up the Cash Box Country Albums chart at #17, "Great Balls Of Fire" was preceded by "You're The Only One," a single cut from the LP. Released to build interest in the LP, "You're The Only One" is bulleting on the Cash Box Country Singles chart at #9.

Accompanying the release of the LP was a heavy ad campaign. Encompassing ads

STATLERS RECEIVE NARM AWARD — Phonogram, Inc./Mercury Records president Bob Sherwood flew to Nashville recently to present the Statler Brothers with the NARM award he had accepted for them at the NARM convention earlier in the year. The award honors the platinum LP, "The Best of the Statler Brothers," as the Best Selling Album by a Country Group for 1978. Pictured (l-r) are: Jerry Kennedy, vice president/A&R, country, Phonogram, Inc.; Don Reid, Phil Balsley, Lew DeWitt, and Harold Reid of the Statler Brothers and Sherwood.

SESAC Institutes Program

tion," Petty said. "Any writer has access to come and sit down with me. I had an open-door policy as a publisher, and I have an open-door policy as a performance rights representative. SESAC is working on a five-year plan to develop writers. I am here to build writers. I am going to start with what activity we have now, and I am going to support writers like Jerry Gillespie, Charley Black and Ronnie McDowell, but my overall goal is to find and develop new talent and direct them career-wise. For instance, I will try to find which publisher is best for them. It is kind of like being a marriage broker between writer and publisher.

As an example of how Petty intends to capitalize on her experience as a publisher, she said her role at SESAC will involve devoting a great deal of time to developing writers and their songs.

Cultivation

"Writers are cultivated and nurtured, and I am going to be spending a great deal of time doing this," Petty said. "I might hear a song for a certain artist, and I plan on calling the publisher and asking what is being done with the song. I am not going to get in anybody's way. I want to add to, not take away. The size of SESAC gives us a little more time to be involved. There is a lot of room for new growth and new ideas. SESAC is in a program of being a more aggressive organization on the street, and I am part of that."

SESAC differs from ASCAP and BMI in that it tracks the three major trade magazine charts and pays a flat rate depending on a song's position in any two of the three trade magazines. Petty feels this system benefits a young writer whose first couple of songs, for example, only reach the bottom portion of the chart. Petty also said SESAC rates are adjusted and raised every two years, and that the current rates will be raised on Oct. 1.

One of the big selling points which Petty believes is in her favor are the additional services offered by SESAC.

"We do have some personal services that the other two societies don't have," Petty said. "We represent writers and publishers in sub-publishing in foreign companies. We have our own mechanical licensing division, and we collect mechanicals for publishers. When a record is recorded and released, we get the notification from the record company. They have to request a mechanical license from SESAC.

"We also collect synchronization monies," Petty added. "A license has to be procured from SESAC before a song can be used in films or television. It is laid out so a person can be a writer, have his own publishing company and not have to deal with 20 different people to collect his money. This is a service organization, and I just believe it is the best place for a young writer."

RCA Mounts Big Push For Parton

on both the regional and national levels, the campaign has and will continue to include radio and print — both consumer and trade.

On the retail level, merchandising aids include "Great Balls Of Fire" buttons, terry cloth T-shirts, posters of various sizes, streamers and small stand-ups for in-store display.

Special Dolly Parton picture discs will be issued on a limited level. The single was also shipped in limited quantities on peach marbled vinyl, with a label color-keyed to the vinyl.

Along with the merchandising thrust will be a series of "Great Balls Of Fire" contests through retailers and radio, featuring Amberlight gas grills, "Great Balls Of Fire" LPs and Parton's catalog product as prizes.

RCA inventory clerks and salesmen will utilize the gas grills in retail outlets for displays during the course of the contest to tie in with a local radio station. In an interesting cross-merchandising twist, "Dolly" displays will be assembled by Amberlight for use by selected retail gas grill accounts.

In addition, an RCA Records intra-company display contest offering gas grills as prizes is scheduled to run concurrent with the consumer contest.

Further promotion of the LP will be attempted through several video/listening parties to be held in several markets, utilizing a special production showing Parton performing many of the cuts from the LP.

Finally, the promotion for the LP will peak with a nationwide tour by Parton. Set to tour Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Hong Kong and Japan from July 7-Aug. 1, Parton's domestic tour will commence shortly after.

Maher Inks Publishing Deal With ATV Music

LOS ANGELES — Nashville producer Brent Maher has entered into a co-publishing association with ATV Music for his own Blue Ouil Music company. Under the terms of the agreement, Maher will seek out songwriters with available publishing and will also be serving as a non-exclusive producer for ATV Music Productions, to develop a number of recording artists for major label commitments.

THE COUNTRY COLUMN

Ronnie Prophet was recently the guest of honor at a party celebrating his 10 years of performing at the Carousel Club on Printers Alley in Nashville. Sponsored by his record label, Cachet, Prophet received a rather unusual gift from one of the guests — Nashville Sheriff Fate Thomas. According to Thomas, since the singer had already received the key to the city jail on several occasions, this time he would be the first recipient of something new and rather unusual — the keyhole to the city jail.

Warner Bros. recording artist Rex Allen, Jr. has signed an exclusive worldwide booking and management contract with the Tulsa-based Jim Halsey Company.

"Mr. Autry," a cut from the Statler Brothers' latest LP, "The Originals," is a tribute to their favorite singing cowboy, Gene Autry. Having heard what big fans they were of his, Autry sent them each for Christmas this past year an autographed copy of his autobiography. After reading it, they decided to do the song.

Ovation Records has relocated its Nashville office to 803 18th Ave.

Dawn Chastain had mixed emotions about missing the ill fated 191 flight from Chicago to Los Angeles a few weeks ago when she had to cancel her reservations at the last minute. Dawn and her mother, Sharon, were enroute to L.A. for a concert appearance, when the singer's grandfather died, and they had to cancel the trip.

Singer Nat Stuckey wrote and performed "Success Has Made A Fool Out Of Me," which will be used as background music in the movie "D.J.," which will be released this summer.

Don Williams has signed a personal booking agreement with Dick Blake International, Inc.

Tom T. Hall and the Storytellers will perform at the Jamboree in the Hills July 14 and 15, in Wheeling, West Virginia.

Roy Clark will make his first British concert appearance July 12 when he and the Oak Ridge Boys headline at London's Dominion Theatre. The Roy Clark/Oak Ridge Boys Show in Britain is the last leg of a three-country tour which begins in early July at the Montreux International Jazz Festival. Appearing with Clark and the Oaks will be Clarence "Gatemouth" Brown; American fiddle champion Jana Jae; banjoist Buck Trent; and banjo world champion Jim Henley.

CAN'T TAKE NO FOR AN ANSWER . . . When Charlie Daniels and Band appeared at the Greek Theatre a few weeks ago, one might say they appeared before a capacity crowd of die-hard fans. So enthusiastic was that bunch, that they refused to believe that the concert was over. They were still insisting on encores after official announcements from Greek management, a personal appearance and appeal from Daniels and obvious signs of sound equipment removal. The lot of them eventually carried their pleas of encore to the Charlie Daniels band bus, some even lying down in front of it. And where was Charlie? He was oblivious to the goings on out front — he was busy backstage talking with the family of Western author Louis Lamour (who's written about 300 novels set in the Old West).

Epic artist Ronnie McDowell recently performed for the Broadcasters Promotion Association Convention in Nashville at the Opryland Hotel.

Margo Smith and several businessmen from her hometown, New Carlisle, Ohio, formed a partnership in the New Carlisle Finance Company. Margo is vice president in charge of installment loans and is on the board of directors.

Casablanca Records is hoping to find a home in the country market for "It's Too Late," the backside of Cher's latest pop single, "Wasn't It Good."

ON THE ROAD . . . Roy Head, Rick Nelson, Mel Tillis, Johnny Rodriguez, Joe Stampley, Tammy Wynette, Freddy Fender, Kenny Rogers and Dottie West, Rex Allen, Jr., the Bellamy Brothers, Donna Fargo, Con Hunley, T.G. Sheppard, Margo Smith, Jana Jae, Jody Miller, and Ray Price.

Following true "Family Tradition" style, Hank Williams, Jr. performed two shows at the Exit/In last Tuesday night. Following in his famous father's footsteps since he was eight years old, Hank Jr. has seen and done a lot in his 30 years. He's been on the road for 22 years, and was, by his 16th birthday, acknowledged as one of the biggest stars ever in country music. He had a million-selling album ("Your Cheatin' Heart," the soundtrack to the movie of the same name) and two Grammy nominations before he turned 16. He was the youngest winner of a BMI Songwriter's Award at 16, and at 18, he teamed with Johnny Cash to do a show in Detroit that grossed more than $100,000 in a single night, which still stands as the single biggest money-grosser in the history of country music.

MUSIC EXECS GET INTO DIFFERENT RACQUET — More than 140 persons, many in the music business, participated in the sixth annual Music City Tennis Invitational in Nashville recently. The tournament raised more than $10,000 for the Vanderbilt University Children's Hospital. Stretching over a three-day period, many involved with the tournament described the event as a "three-day tennis party." Showing their best form before the tournament (l-r) are: Tom Collins, president, Pi-Gem/Chess Music, Inc. and member of the planning committee for the tournament; Frances Preston, vice president, BMI and honorary chairman for the tournament; Columbia artist Bobby Bare; Monument artist Larry Gatlin; and Helen Farmer, special projects director, CMA and co-chairman for the tournament; Epic artist Marshall Chapman and Roy Wunsch, director, marketing, CBS Records, Nashville; and Wesley Rose, president of Acuff-Rose Publishing and co-chairman of the tournament, Charles Critchfield, and Wade Pepper. Critchfield and Pepper won.

DAVE & SUGAR (RCA PB-11654)

Stay With Me (2:38) (Chinnichap Pub. — BMI) (Jimmy Pennington)

Under the production of Jerry Bradley, Dave & Sugar has enjoyed a high degree of success with their orchestrated, bright singles. This record is also upbeat, and should continue the group's pattern of high chart activity.

JANIE FRICKE (Columbia 3-11029)

Let's Try Again (3:33) (Texas Red Songs — BMI) (D. Steagall)

Janie Fricke is blessed with a beautiful, sensitive voice, and she is at her best on tunes like this soft love ballad. Janie is still building a national following, and this single should bolster her radio appeal.

GEORGE JONES (Epic 8-50684)

Someday My Day Will Come (2:30) (Window Music — BMI) (E. Montgomery/C. Ryder/V. Haywood)

Regardless of his personal problems, George Jones is one of the all-time great country singers. He is one of the few artists who can make a mediocre song sound exceptional. With good or above average material like this new single, George should chart high.

SERVED LIVE — Asleep At The Wheel — Capitol-ST-11945 — Producers: Ray Benson and Chuck Flood — List: 7.98

The kings of Texas swing have developed another solid package of big band material that could make even the staunchest non-dancer get up and do some toe-tapping and finger-snapping. From a performance at the Austin Opry House in Austin, Texas, the group has culled a live album full of energy and spice and lots of sassy horns. The package includes some lively between-number patter preceding the song "Am I High?" and a rendition of "God Bless The Child" that would make Billie Holiday proud.

RANDY BARLOW — Randy Barlow — Republic-RLP-6024B — Producer: Fred Kelly — List: 7.98

Randy Barlow and producer Fred Kelly have fashioned an album with an overall commercial appeal that can find a home in the easy-listening market as well as the country field. Soft ballads are the dominant factor of the album, and Barlow's silky vocals carry them through. Especially pretty is "Lay Back In The Arms Of Someone," by songwriting duo Nicky Chinn and Mike Chapman. The 12-song package also contains Barlow's current single "Sweet Melinda."

Nevada Gaming School Offers In-Depth Training Courses For Coin Industry

CHICAGO — Nevada Gaming School, Inc., now in its seventh year, is a prime source of instruction for coin machine mechanics and service technicians. The school's facilities, composed of classrooms, shop and office space, are housed in a building occupying over 15,000 square feet of space at 3100 Sirius Road, which is in a business area just minutes away from the famous Las Vegas Strip.

The school is certified by Bally Manufacturing Corp. as its official training center for coin machine technicians and, for this reason, it is equipped with the latest Bally machines for training purposes and demonstration use in classroom study. In the course of instruction students work on both electromechanical and electronic machines such as "Eight Ball," "Strikes & Spares" and "Evel Knievel" as well as video products like "Sea Wolf" and "Rotation." Since jukeboxes are also included in the curriculum, various Rock-Ola and Seeburg models are provided.

"In-depth instruction is given in the area of electronics as related to the proper maintenance and repair of all electronic amusement machines," according to the school's director Stan Braaten. "Areas from the basic structure of matter through logic circuits are taught on a level which enables the student to fully comprehend the more complex advanced lesson material. Students graduating from this course are considered apprentice electronic/video coin machine technicians," he added, "with the knowledge and ability to develop into highly skilled technicians."

Placement Service

A world-wide placement service, which helps students find jobs in their own community, on luxury cruise ships or "around the world," is available to everyone who successfully completes the course. Individuals attending Nevada Gaming Schools from out of state are given assistance in finding a place to live and in some cases temporary employment, as Braaten pointed out. The time spent at the school could range from as little as seven weeks to as long as 28 weeks, he said.

Nevada Gaming School is authorized to participate in the Government Loan & Grant Programs and is also approved under the Veterans Educational Benefits Program. Tuition can be arranged on a "pay as you go" basis, if necessary.

"For once the person looking for something different has a choice," noted

Braaten. "Nevada Gaming School has made it possible for an alternative to the two-year and four-year colleges, resulting in excellent job opportunities and a high paying career."

Further information about the courses may be obtained by contacting Stan Braaten at Nevada Gaming Schools, Inc., 3100 Sirius Ave., Las Vegas, Nevada 89102 or phoning (702) 873-2345.

Grand Slam Action In Atari 'Baseball'

SUNNYVALE — Atari Baseball offers players the challenge, excitement and competitive spirit of America's favorite sport as portrayed realistically in the play theme of the factory's newly released video game. The game has a variety of pitches or swings to choose from and total control of speed and direction with the popular Trak Ball plus the accompanying sound of the cheering crowd, which adds to the realism. The game accommodates two players in competition against each other or one player who competes with the computer.

Players select from four different batting or pitching strategies in the same manner as the popular Atari "Football." The batter may choose a right or left full swing or bunt; the pitcher a fastball, change-up curve or knuckle ball and the action begins as the ball reaches the plate. As the batter connects, sending the ball flying into right field, amidst crowd cheers, the offense uses the Trak Ball to control the runner to first base while defense uses it, and the control but-

Bally Manufacturing Introduces Its First Wide Body Pinball Game, 'Paragon'

CHICAGO — "We are very excited about this game and are certain it will soon be a favorite among operators and players alike," said Paul Calamari, director of sales for Bally's Pinball Division, in announcing the release of "Paragon," the factory's first entry in the wide body pinball market. The "supersize" four-player all electronic flipper contains several innovative features never before found on any flipper, he added.

Paragon contains a three-coin entry door with two-quarter slots and one dollar slot for the soon to be released Susan B. Anthony dollar coin. "This has been a much requested feature from operators for a long time and Bally is proud to be the first manufacturer to offer it," Calamari continued. "It will allow operators a new variable vending structure never before possible."

Another exciting new feature on Paragon is a group of four In-Line "Valley of Demons" drop targets, situated one behind the other to provide a new and challenging excitement for the player. These targets not only score points and multiply the bonus but they also spot the center playfield letters P-A-R-A-G-O-N for points and special.

Paragon comes with a unique sound package that has individual, reverberating sounds and tones for each scoring increment so that players will know immediately how high the point value or bonus is from each feature hit.

Other features of the game include two extra flippers, additional Waterfall Drop Targets and Waterfall Lane, Beast's Lair Save-A-Ball Ramp, Golden Cliffs and Paragon Saucer Features. Bally's famous artwork is depicted in the dramatic illustrations and design of the machine's cabinet.

International Amusement Trade Fair To Be Held In Frankfurt, Germany

FRANKFURT — The International amusement and vending trade fair for coin machines will be presented by the Association of German Coin Machine (VDAI) Industries January 17-19, 1980 at the trade fair exhibition grounds in Frankfurt, Germany. The Frankfurt event will be a world premiere inasmuch as the international range of amusement and vending machines will be presented for the first time together under one roof.

The VDAI considers this new fair in Frankfurt as the opportunity to best illustrate the role of the entire spectrum of coin machines on the market, to present its

Game Plan Bows First Upright Pin

CHICAGO — "Sharpshooter" is the name of the new pinball machine released by Game Plan, Inc., and it is the first model in the upright category produced by the noted manufacturer of cocktail table pingames.

Graphically, the machine's illustrations and artwork depict a western scene complete with gun wielding cowboys, saloon girls and the dominating figure of the sharp shooting sheriff. In addition there is a sound system that reproduces with exciting realism the sounds of galloping horses, a six shooter, etc. during the play process.

The Sharpshooter playfield abounds in skill shots and numerous options for advancing scores. Making the S-H-A-R-P lanes, the S-H-O-O-T-E-R targets or the kickout hole will advance bonus 2, 3, 4 or 5 times. After scoring the 5X bonus, if the player activates either all of the letters in SHARP or SHOOTER, a special is earned; a special earns one credit and beating "highest score" earns 3 credits. For added challenge, matching the last two numbers of the score to the numbers that appear on the backglass after the game is over rates one credit.

vast possibilities and to give incentives for investments.

Approximately 120 exhibitors from all over the world are expected and an exhibition area, of considerable size, will be available in Hall 1. Those invited to attend are industrial companies, wholesalers as well as suppliers, and technical publishers.

Management of the fair has been assigned to Heckmann Ausstellungen KG Wiesbaden, a company which has demonstrated great success in the organization and presentation of international specialist trade fairs.

The union of amusement and vending machines under one roof will certainly influence the number of visitors in a positive way. Approximately 5,000 trade people are expected. The publicity concept is providing for both an intensive worldwide direct-mailing and advertisement in trade journals.

Frankfurt is a prime location for several reasons. The trade fair exhibition grounds with their favorable infrastructure, the large number of international hotels, and the excellent commuter system are among the advantages of this site.

ton, to move outfielders to catch and throw the ball.

Baseball has a very effective new coinage option whereby one coin per player is charged for the first inning and one coin per inning thereafter, so that participants will be encouraged to try a full nine-inning competition. The skill level of the infield can be adjusted to four different settings, which changes the overall time per inning. When there is only a half inning left of play, a warning sound signals that the game is almost over and more coins can be added.

In pointing out the many appealing features of the game and its high earnings potential, Atari's national sales manager Frank Ballouz stressed that, "With the growing popularity of baseball and our excellent field test results, we feel confident that Atari Baseball will attract high play activity. It's available for the best of the season and encourages world series competition along with the pros."

The new model will be available through Atari's distributor network.

COIN MACHINE

CHICAGO CHATTER

"Hot Hand," the newest pingame from Stern Electronics, Inc., is in delivery, as announced by marketing vice president Stephen Kaufman. Initial reaction has been "excellent," he said, and this model marks the first time Stern has included a novelty feature on a pinball machine. What's more, "we call it Harry Williams' machine," Steve told us, since it is the product of the prominent coinbiz patriarch and, expressing the sentiments of everyone at Stern, "it's great having Harry Williams on our design team."

ATTENTION PHONO OPS: Jukebox promo copies of the new Vic Damone single "Lifestyle/How Did She Look" on Rebecca Records is currently available by contacting Ben Arrigo at Glenn Productions & Promotions, 157 W. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019.

CHICAGO RECENTLY PLAYED HOST to two major conventions, namely, the National Restaurant Show at McCormick Place, which drew an estimated 100,000 people into town; and the just concluded summer Consumer Electronics Show, also in McCormick Place. Latter focuses on home product and various coinbiz firms who are interested in this market attended as observers, for the most part, with some hosting hospitality suites rather than exhibits.

TOM NIEMAN, director of marketing of Bally's Pinball Division, is all raves over the factory's first wide body — or should we say "supersize" — pinball machine "Paragon." It tested out in grand style, he said, "income is terrific, the playfield is loaded with exciting features and Bally is going all out to promote the machine."

FROM THE CASH BOX MAIL BAG: Wichita Falls, Texas operator David Bock who, at 25, has more than eight years in the coin machine business, was profiled in his local daily by columnist Marjorie Parker. The interview centered on Bock's penchant for pinball machines, stressing that he "enjoys playing new games but would rather fix them." He and his dad operate Lone Star Music, Inc., which they purchased about eight years ago, but his expertise as a mechanic began developing before that when his father, Jack, owned a similar operation in east Texas so David's early training was on mechanical machines. However, after some basic service courses, he made the transition to electronics and is most enthusiastic about the current crop of machines which "can do just about anything" and will "eventually talk to you." The popularity growth of pinball, he said, can be attributed in part to promotion and the prevalence of such "celebrity" models as "Playboy," "Charlie's Angels," "Superman," et al. . . In April of this year, Lone Star suffered considerable losses as a result of a tornado which struck the area (Cash Box, June 9) but is well into recovery, we're happy to report.

EASTERN FLASHES

The recently held $3000 Tournament Soccer foosball championship, for novices, drew a "fantastic" turnout, according to John Ard of Rowe-Syracuse — and players from as far away as Tampa, Florida and neighboring states like Ohio, Maine, Massachusetts and Maryland. Event took place at the New York State Fairgrounds and was co-sponsored by Rowe International and Syracuse Vending. There was a good deal of media coverage, too, as John mentioned. In the sales spotlight at Rowe-Syracuse are Atari's "Video Pinball," "Basketball" and "Superman;" TS tables; Gottlieb's "Count-Down" and Rowe phonos, which are "always very good sellers," as John pointed out. At present the new Gottlieb "Pinball Pool" is testing out quite well. John noted that he's planning an Atari service school for sometime in mid-September.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS IS booming these days, as noted by Bob Haim of R. H. Belam. He singled out a number of very popular pieces including Cinematronics' "Starhawk," Exidy's "Star Fire," Atari's "Basketball," "Superman" and "Space Riders," to name a few. The Belam-Florida office, he said, is doing superbly with Williams "Flash" and looking forward to delivery of "Stellar Wars." The ever travelin' Shane Brakes, concluding his current "round the world and a half" trip, was enroute to California as we went to press.

ATTENTION SUN WORSHIPPERS: "How To Get A Great Tan" ("without frying") is a new Bantam book written by Roger Sharpe, managing editor of Gentlemen's Quarterly but most noted in coinbiz for his "Pinball" book and his personal enthusiasm for the machines. The new book sells for $1.99 and contains the step by step procedures for acquiring a "great tan" safely and effectively. In researching the book Rog consulted with two noted physicians.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

Atari's "Basketball" and "Baseball" have arrived at C.A. Robinson and are being accepted with gusto, according to Hank Tronick. He mentioned that Stern's new solid state four player, "Hot Hand," is one of the best games that Stern has produced to date. Another game that Tronick seemed excited about is Gremlin's "Head-On." "We're having difficulty keeping them in stock, as they are going out as fast as they are coming in," offered Tronick. In addition, he said that the distrib was proceeding with an expansion program and is expecting to add sales and administrative personnel.

OSCAR ROBINS, SALES MANAGER at Portale Automatic sales, said that things are moving well at the distrib, and, that despite it being late in the season, there is still strong arcade activity. In other game activity, Gremlin's "Head On" continues to move extremely well at Portale, and it will also be introducing the new "Rock Ola 477" in mid-July. Robins added that the distrib currently has a prototype of Gottlieb's "Totem," complete with new sound board, on the showroom floor. The game will not be released until August.

CIRCLE INTERNATIONAL HELD a service school on the new Seeburg Phonograph on June 12. Bob Zeising of the factory conducted the school and according to Portale's John Scavarda, the event was well attended. The hot items at the distrib are "Flash" and "Head On."

NAMA Publishes Illustrated Sanitation Handbook For Vending Operators

CHICAGO — A 60-page Handbook On Sanitation for vending operations personnel has been written and published by the National Automatic Merchandising Association. Authored by veteran NAMA public health and safety counsel David E. Hartley, the manual was described by NAMA president G. Richard Schreiber as "the most comprehensive vending sanitation manual ever compiled."

Chapters trace the history of sanitation regulations and practices for vending machine operations and range from recommended practices for each type of vending machine to maintaining sanitary conditions at vending locations, machine installations, shop repair and food transportation. Servicing hints and extensive illustrations are part of the manual.

Introduced at the NAMA Western Convention in April, the handbook met with such favorable response that a second printing had to be scheduled after less than two months, according to the association.

Hartley said the primary audience includes route service personnel, supervisors, mechanics and installation specialists but noted that vending company managers, client management personnel and public health authorities also will benefit from the publication.

Comprehensive Programs

Hartley further pointed out that NAMA has operated extensive vending machine and food service location sanitation programs for more than 25 years and these include machine certification, research, publications and educational activities for vending companies and public health officials.

NAMA members may obtain single copies of the handbook for $10 and non-members may purchase copies for $15 each. Quotations for larger quantities can be obtained by contacting NAMA at 7 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois 60603.

Supertramp

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NYC — Riding high on a number one album, "Breakfast In America," A&M recording artists Supertramp kept a sold-out Garden crowd well-entertained for over two continuous hours. While there were some slow spots in their performance, they provided enough variety and enough songs with solid hooks and roaring energy to satisfy the most jaded rock 'n' roller.

Although Supertramp naturally focused on their latest album, they did dip into their catalog to make up the rest of their show, and the earlier songs provided an interesting contrast to the current ones. In "Even In The Quietest Moments," the title cut from a previous album, Roger Hodgson's high, silky, almost childlike vocal, combined with his clear acoustic guitar and John Helliwell's bittersweet clarinet, furnished a neat change of pace. And "Dreamer," from the 1975 release, "The Crime Of The Century," came across as a precursor of the group's current style, with its steady, rhythmic chording on electric piano and organ.

The hypnotically repeating keyboard patterns, which are a hallmark of the group's style, strongly recall the work of avant gardists like Philip Glass and European synthesizer bands like Kraftwerk and Tangerine Dream. This was especially evident in such tunes as "Child Of Vision" from "Breakfast In America," where the rhythmic pounding of keyboards and sax showed an affinity with sections of Glass' "Einstein On The Beach."

Nevertheless, this influence on Supertramp's music, whether conscious or not, has little to do with their appeal to a young rock 'n' roll audience. That appeal is firmly anchored by luscious harmonies, evocative, vaguely rebellious lyrics, and the intense vocals of both Hodgson and fellow keyboardist Rick Davies, who together write all of Supertramp's songs.

Among the show's highpoints were a flawless rendition of the band's hit single, "The Logical Song" which reproduced most of the studio effects from the album; a tightly structured performance of the LP's title cut, with Davies sharp-edged vocal mirroring the brittle, drum beat; and the same musician's superb electric piano solo in "Goodbye Stranger." The group also performed "Give A Little Bit" from "In The Quietest Moments," but the combination of two acoustic guitars sounded a bit hollow in the cavernous Garden.

Beach Boys

UNIVERSAL AMPHITHEATRE, L.A. — Summer's here!

And who could better open the summer season at the Universal Amphitheatre than the Beach Boys. For 18 years they've represented Southern California surf music to the rest of the world, adding new hits to an evergrowing list of classics, and their weeklong sell-out proved they're as popular as ever.

This time they shared the stage with a giant sailboat prop that carried a quartet of extra musicians — and ran through two dozen golden oldies mixed with songs from the group's current "L.A. (Light Album)." Opening with "California Girls" and "Sloop

John B." Mike Love and his gold microphone led the Wilsons (Carl, Dennis and Brian) and company through all of their biggest hits. Most prominent throughout the course of the show were frontmen Love and Carl Wilson, drummer Dennis and keyboard players Bruce Johnston (who re-joined the group to produce their new album) and "Captain" Daryl Dragon, one of the extras on board the ship.

With material like "Little Deuce Coupe," "God Only Knows," "Be True To Your School," "Help Me Rhonda," "Wouldn't It Be Nice" and "I Get Around," the Beach Boys had the hometown, opening-night audience in a frenzy through most of the show. "Sumahama" and "Lady Linda" from the new album fit well into the cavalcade of pop hits. Apparently the Beach Boys are one act that has maintained headliner status for nearly two decades, and still summon up as much on-stage energy as when the sixties were just beginning. After Dennis Wilson brought Christine McVie out and sang "You Are So Beautiful," the group came back to send the crowd home happy with a sing-a-long version of the ultimate good time song, "Good Vibrations," "Barbara Ann" and a fitting climax, "Fun, Fun, Fun."

Dionne Warwick

CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK — After an absence of seven years, Arista recording artist Dionne Warwick returned to the New York stage for a one-night show at Carnegie Hall. Commenting to the sold-out house, Dionne explained that her hiatus from the recording scene was for one reason: She had waited till I was proud to give you something that you'd be proud to receive." And this night certainly exemplified that.

Warwicke is one of the most graceful performers around. The way she holds herself onstage, her careful choice of words in describing a song and her obvious sincerity all help to create an appealing personal appearance. She dedicated the concert to the Shirelles, indicating that it was this group who made it possible for her to first walk out on stage. Warwicke then sang the upbeat "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow," which received an immediate response from those who had followed her career through the years.

Her show ranged from a medley of songs by this past year's Grammy nominees to a 30-minute, 23-song Bacharach-David set of tunes. Dionne sang one new song straight from the lyric sheet, explaining that the words were coming from her heart and she wanted it to be perfect. In the same respect, she needed no help on "I Know I'll Never Love This Way Again," her latest single ballad.

Dionne also sang two songs from her newest album which was produced by Barry Manilow. She did "The Letter," an old Box Tops tune done up in a rousing rock 'n' roll style, and "Deja Vu," an Issac Hayes-penned tune. The fine arrangements of these songs is a tribute to the collaboration of Warwicke and Manilow.

A song called "All The Time" was the best received tune of the night. Warwicke was asked by the audience to repeat it. After catching her breath, she gladly consented.

The Dionne Warwicke story continues. She is better now than she ever was. Her promise to never stay away from New York for so long again gives one reason to hope that, with renewed strength and material, she will be at the forefront of today's recording scene.

Kate Bush, Peter Gabriel, Steve Harley

HAMMERSMITH ODEON, LONDON — Twenty-year old star prodigy Kate Bush culminated her European and UK tour with three nights at the Hammersmith Odeon. Billed 'Kate Bush And Friends For Bill,' the concert was a charity gig in aid of the dependents of Bill Duffield, Bush's lighting engineer who died in an accident recently. 'Friends' included established solo rock performers, Peter Gabriel (ex-Genesis vocalist) and Steve Harley (ex-Cockney Rebel.) who provided a powerful refrain during Bush's magnificent theatrical extravaganza.

Few performers can sustain such a high level of pure rock theatre as Bush does; with countless costume changes, dance, mime, stage-effects and music, all molded together with her catalytic energy, Bush performs a diverse myriad of audio-visual tableaux. This new artist has a fantastic genius for giving each of her self-penned songs a life all of their own. For almost two hours she kept the capacity audience riveted to the performance and delivered the sort of stage magic rarely experienced at standard rock concerts but more usual during a Broadway musical.

The first half of the show featured Bush alone, conducting her circus with dance and mime and rendering material from her two LPs "The Kick Inside" and "Lionheart." Highlights here included "Kashka From Baghdad," "Oh England My Lionheart" and "In Search Of Peter Pan." Bush's dance movements have a range as wide as her vocals: stalking, leaping, strutting and flitting across the stage, she held the audience spell-bound with her theatrical grace.

The second half of the show began with Gabriel and Harley slinking on stage dressed as rogue private detectives, undressing to reveal their normal stage personas and then the pair launched into a duo of Bush's second hit single "The Man With The Child In His Eyes," from "The Kick Inside." The audience remained ecstatic while Gabriel continued performing solo, delivering a simple one-man-and-his-piano rendering of "Here Comes The Flood," from his first solo LP. After Gabriel's performance, Harley retained the stage himself and sang some of his past hit material which included "Come Up And See Me." His familiar cockney drawl drove the audience wild, while Gabriel and Bush joined in at the side.

Overall, Bush proved that she has elevated herself to star status almost overnight by simply being able to project her songs through combining several stage mediums underneath a theatrical umbrella. Her impending onslaught into the American market should bring her superstardom status as rapidly as Europe has given it to her.

Emmylou Harris

CONSTITUTION HALL, WASHINGTON, D.C. — There've been some changes since Emmylou first wowed audiences at tiny local nightspots. She appeared in a huge hall this time, dressed in black satin with fringe instead of blue jeans, and in her sixth month of pregnancy. But she charmed them again, not only with a long lineup of favorite songs but with the admission that Washington is "the hometown of my heart."

She got off to a masterful start, alone onstage singing Dolly Parton's "To Daddy." Then her range of vocal textures was further showcased on the melancholy "My Songbird," on which she was joined by Ricky Skaggs' polished mandolin and harmony.

As the Hot Band came onstage, she let loose with "Easy From Now On" and Willie Nelson's "Sister's Coming Home." On a more buxantious "Ooh Las Vegas" and "Two More Bottles Of Wine," Emmylou moved and danced much more freely than in the old days.

Sharon Hicks and Cheryl Warren, the White Girls, helped out on backup harmonies. They were especially strong on "Hello Stranger" and "Sorrow In The Wind" (and also appeared as the concert's openers with their father Buck White, mixing country and bluegrass tunes).

In a brief departure, but a great show of her pure voice, Emmylou sang what she called "lounge music," a lovely, slow rendition of "Here, There and Everywhere." Then, "back to reality" as she said, her terrific harmony got lengthy applause after Rodney Crowell's "Leaving Louisiana In The Broad Daylight."

Two deserved standing ovations closed her performance, with the sorrowful "Boulder To Birmingham" and a raucous "Down On The Bayou" among several encores.

Horslips

THE WHISKY, L.A. — DJM recording group Horslips remains one of the true undiscovered gems on these shores, a green emerald to be precise, as this polished quintet hails from the Emerald Isle. Despite two fine recent albums, last year's "Aliens" and their latest, "The Man Who Built America," the American record buying public has had problems coming to terms with the traditional Irish strain of music that has influenced their own compositions.

However, Horslips is still a far cry from fellow compatriots the Chieftains, as they deliver no-nonsense rock 'n' roll, with the celebratory feel of the jig and reel tossed in for good measure. The band's two sold-out nights here, wrapping up their three-month U.S. tour, proved that there are still solid believers in this country who perceive them as much more than a mere "ethnic act."

Delving into the opening chords of "Trouble," the audience was swept away onto the exuberant tide of the intriguing, dynamic melody line, with Jim Lockhart adding a swelling overlay of organ. "The Power And The Glory" followed, highlighted by some outstanding mandolin work by Charles O'Connor. Other set standards were "The Man Who Built America," the title track from the LP "Loneliness," their latest single, "The Book Of Invasions, Part 1" and "New York Wakes."

The audience anticipated a full-out Dubliners jam, as Charles O'Connor began some teasing fiddle work during "Invasions," but the band broke back to a 4/4 rock beat, powered by Johnny Fearn's gliding guitar playing. Barry Devlin, on bass, and Eamon Carr, on drums, held down an invigorating, steady rhythm section. Horslips left the stage after delivering a well-rounded sampler of their extensive talents, winning over the uninitiated and satisfying their fans. Hopefully, on their next trip to the States, the band will be playing an even larger venue, so a larger audience may be introduced to their music.

LATIN PICKS

MI TIERRA Y YO — Cheo Feliciano — Vaya JMUS69 — Producer: Cheo Feliciano

Cheo stands out in everything he has done and this album is yet another example of his talent. He swings on most of the cuts and then turns deftly to this romantic side. The album is backed mostly by the Fania All Stars. Honorable mention goes to Ruben Blades and musical director Johnny Pacheco. All cuts are great. Should go high on Latin charts.

LA CHARANG — 76 EN EL 78 — Charanga 76 — TR-139X — Producer: Ira Herscher

This is the band's fourth album since joining the T.R. family. It comprises eight cuts including an updated version of "El Reloj," a song that has been a hit several times before, and features all members of the band including the romantic voices of Hansel Martinez and Raul Alfonso. The sound of the album is described as "ultra modern." The arrangements were written by people such as Gonzalo Fernandez, Frank Bello (keyboard player with the band), and Ira Herscher, who along with Gonzalo co-produced the album. A magnificent album for the charanga generation.

OLGA GUILLOT — Oasis OA323 — No Producers

Veteran singer Olga Guillot has been around for some time. After an absence of a few years she has come up with a sparkling album of romantic love songs. Olga Guillot's voice is in great form throughout this album and at first listening it will become evident why she has become a superstar all over Latin America. All ten sides are excellent, so this album should not be overlooked in any Latin retail store.

The stage has been set for the Fania All-Stars' 7th Annual concert at Madison Square Garden, to take place on Saturday, June 23, 1979 at 8 p.m.

Each year thousands of salsa music fans pack the Garden to see their favorites perform under one large roof. This year is no exception as the list of performers grows and changes.

Artists who will be performing that night include special guest Celia Cruz, Tito Puente, Eddie Palmieri, Ray Barretto, Johnny Pacheco, Roberto Roena, Papo Luca, Hector LaVoe, Ruben Blades, Willie Colon, Ismael Miranda, Pete "El Conde" Rodriguez, Luigi Texidor, Adalberto Santiago, Santos Colon, Yomo Toro, Pupi Logarreta and Los Hijos Del Rey. Extra added attraction will be Ismael Quintana and Richie Marrero, performing in their first major concert together since joining forces on their new album titled "Jessica." The concert will introduce Ray Rodriguez, performing for the first time at the Garden, playing songs from their "Survival" album. Johnny Pacheco, who has been musical director of the Fania All-Stars for a number of years, will fulfill the same role this time. Also, Louie Ramirez will add his own "magical touch" to the evening's proceedings.

The production this year will be bigger and better than ever with a great deal of attention being given to the visual effects.

Columbia Records is releasing a new album by the Fania All-Stars, titled "Crossover," to coincide with the group's Madison Square Garden appearance.

CBS Records International star Julio Iglesias, who is one of Europe's and South America's most popular recording stars, will perform at Madison Square Garden on Saturday evening June 16th at 8 p.m. For the first time ever in the history of the Garden, the concert will be beamed live via satellite to the national TV stations of Argentina, Chile and other Latin and South American countries. Julio's latest CBS album, "Emociones" is number one on the Latin charts and altogether he has sold over 20 million albums worldwide receiving 26 Gold Records. He recently starred in his first motion picture, "Todos Las Dias," which also stars Carol Lynley and is now playing in New York.

Julio was born in Madrid and took up singing while recovering from an injury he received while playing for the professional soccer club, Real of Madrid. This was the beginning of a career that has spanned the world and made him one of the most popular recording stars ever. Julio records his albums first in Spanish and then rerecords them in Portuguese, French, Italian and German. "Emociones" has already gone platinum in South America and is due for release shortly in Europe in these other languages. In Spain the album sold over 100,000 copies the first week.

Julio travels extensively and so calls no country his home, but at the moment his favorite residence is his house in Florida with a private port and "seafood farm." He is currently building his own recording studio in this house and will try to devote as much time there as possible.

Belmont Racetrack drew a crowd estimated at about 30,000 people when Willie Colon appeared there backed by a 28 piece orchestra. The people were most receptive to Willie's singing vocals. He performed material from his current Fania album titled "Solo." Hector LaVoe also received a marvelous reception from the crowd.

Ralph Mercade Management will be supplying the talent for Las Fiestas Patronales del Barrio '79 taking place in New York. Lined up are Angel Canales, Jose Fajardo, Bobby Rodriguez, Ray Rodriguez, Conjunto Libre and Ricardo Marrero.

Mrs. Monique Peer, president, has announced the appointment of Mr. John Fitzgerald as controller of United States operations for the Peer-Southern Organization.

Mr. Fitzgerald succeeds Mr. Edward Villar who is to be based in Buenos Aires (Argentina) as Latin-American administrative director for Peer-Southern.

Hector LaVoe will be the recipient of no less than four DIPLO Awards. These awards are sponsored by three publications, "Farandula," "Estra," and "Hits Musicales," and are equivalent to the Grammys. He will get an award for Best Album ("Comedia," Best Visiting Orchestra, The Mon Rivera Award and the Tito Rodriguez Award. The awards ceremony will take place June 17 at the Roberto Clemente Coliseum.

In order that his next salsa album be his best yet, Ray Barretto has decided to wait until July before going into the studio, when La Tierra Recording Studios will change over from 16 to 24 track facilities. Ray believes that this changeover will mean an improvement in the sound of his album and those to follow.

The Latin NY Music Awards will be called the Latin NY Music and Entertainment Awards in the future due to the fact that Izzy Sanabria has decided to add many new categories to this year's event, which will take place July 8 at Avery Fisher Hall.

Schellevis concluded by emphasizing the importance of continuing PRO's vitality by maintaining a highly competent executive and middle-management staff — for hit records are often as dependent on board meetings as they are on recording studio sessions, he said.

Narrowing the focus to the American market, PolyGram executive vice president Irwin Steinberg explained a new ten-year plan to the gathered executives. Steinberg explained that in the coming decade, PRO will emphasize the discovery and development of new artistic talent.

10-Year Program

"Our past acquisition program speaks for itself," said Steinberg. "both that which we acquired and that which we chose not to acquire. The discovery and development of our first ten-year program will be preserved and accelerated to the maximum in the midst of a cost explosion and increased competitive pressure."

Steinberg also discussed the changing nature of the American music industry, which now requires a greater volume of business to be done if a record company is to achieve a reasonable rate of return on its investment. Based on studies conducted by PolyGram's financial experts, Steinberg reports that in order to realize an acceptable rate of return and pre-tax profits, a fully-staffed record company in the United States would have to have a net volume of approximately $100 million.

"The $100 million would permit the theoretical record company to break even domestically, with its profits flowing from foreign royalties," said Steinberg.

"This theoretical company reflects the impact of the 100% return privilege, the servicing of more than 7,000 radio stations, increasingly rapid increases in the cost of vinyl, absorbing higher royalty rates for both the artist and publishing company, and compensating for the general increase in business costs attendant to every business organization in America today," Steinberg concluded.

A final highlight of the directors' meeting was a speech by former Secretary of State, Dr. Henry Kissinger. Following his speech, which focused more on world politics rather than the music business, Dr. Kissinger was presented with the nine Karajan Berlin Philharmonic Beethoven Symphonies (autographed by conductor Herbert von Karajan) and the first complete edition of Mozart's works, 114 LPs assembled in 16 boxes.

BPI Denies Reports Of Quitting 'Spoiler' Study

LONDON — Claims by a London evening newspaper that the British Phonographic Industry (BPI) has abandoned plans for the introduction of a 'spoiler' signal on pre-recorded tapes and records to discourage home-taping were firmly denied.

BPI director general John Deacon emphasized that research is continuing and technical experts are still trying to find ways of introducing an inaudible signal on pre-recorded software that will effectively make it impossible to transfer a program of music onto a blank cassette.

Unacceptable Noise

As Deacon explained, "Any effect on the playing quality of a pre-recorded record or tape would be clearly unacceptable. However, we always realized that this was an extremely difficult problem to solve and research will continue until a system is perfected.

"With the amount of money that the record industry is now losing due to income taping there is obviously no question of us abandoning the search."

CINDY & ROY JOIN WEA INTERNATIONAL — Recording artists Cindy & Roy recently signed with WEA International for European distribution. The duo's debut single, "Can You Feel It," is rush-releasing throughout Europe and will be followed by their LP in July. Pictured standing are (l-r): Roy Waldman; Nesuhi Ertegun, president, WEA International and Walter Kahn, president, The Sunshine Group. Seated in the front row is Cindy Hund.

SYDNEY — Festival promotions officer Ian Hook landed himself in some hot water recently when he wore (in public) a Stiff Records, T-Shirt bearing the slogan, "If it ain't Stiff, it ain't worth a ———." Hook was arrested and charged with displaying an obscene object in public — and had the T-shirt confiscated by the police as evidence. . . . Visiting British pop band Smokie made use of some free time between concerts to re-mix their next single at the EMI studio complex near Sydney. They were sufficiently impressed to say they'd be back again early next year to record an album.

Regular records, one of the dozens of independent labels to spring up over the past couple of years, has signed a distribution deal with Festival, making it the first "indie" to enter the general marketplace. Most of the independents to date have concentrated on limited edition singles and EPs, more in an effort to expose otherwise unacceptable (to the majors) acts. Regular's Mental As Anything, however, has received an offer from England's Virgin Records. Regular also plans to pick up the options on several albums that were passed over by the majors.

Epic Records has signed studio group Flash and the Pan, better known as Harry Vanda and George Young of the '60s pop group The Easybeats. Vanda and Young have established themselves as top producers, working out of Alberts Studios in Sydney, making records with people like John Paul Young, AC-DC and The Angels. Flash and the Pan's debut self-titled album on Epic has already received a great deal of FM airplay, initially through KSAN. Previously available only on import, the album has already shipped 100,000 units, according to reports here.

PARIS — "Outlandos d'amour," Police's first album with A&M Records, is already in the Top 30 of the American album charts and they've had single successes in France with "Can't Stand Losing You" and in Holland with "So Lonely." Their current single "Roxanne," at No. 12 in the British charts this week, seems set to consolidate their success in Europe in the very near future. When Police arrived in Paris last month for their first concert in France, they were escorted from the airport to their hotel by four ladies in police uniforms riding motorcycles. A&M group chairman Jerry Moss timed his visit to Paris to coincide with the Police concert. In their agenda this year, there is a second tour in the States which will be followed immediately by another capacity, as an advisor to small black retailers.

In the "Professional Opportunities" seminar, Joe Cohen of NARM outlined a concrete 10-point program of support for the BMA, while at the seminar entitled "Job Securities," moderator Rod McGrew reported that plans would be underway for the possible unionization of black disc jockeys (see separate stories).

Challenges For Blacks

Three themes predominated throughout the conference; the need to educate the black professional; the coming to terms with the inequities of being a black professional in a white-dominated industry; and the need to adapt in a time characterized by change and flux.

The issue of education predominated in the seminars, "Tapping the International Market," (see separate story) merchandising, and "Becoming A Recording Executive: The Challenge of Blacks In The Recording Industry." According to moderator LeBaron Taylor, vice president of black music marketing for CBS, "In my position, I receive about 25 resumes a week, and I was convinced that there was a need to address blacks who want to move up in the industry. The seminar covered everything from writing a resume, to making the best possible personal appearance, to how to deal with a "headhunter" (a person from an employment search firm). In addition, the imminent formation of a women's committee to assist black women in the specific problems they face in the industry was announced at this seminar.

The problems of racial inequity dominated the performing arts seminar entitled "Black Concert Promoters: Getting A Fair Deal." Moderator Smokey Robinson reported that the central issue was the contention by black concert promoters that, while they have been entirely responsible for exposing new black talent, once that talent "makes it," the black promoter can no longer get a "date" on him. Dick Griffey, head of Solar Records and a concert promoter concluded that "it is not a problem of promoters or managers, it is ultimately the act's responsibility." He added that the United Black Concert Promoters would be meeting with Robinson in one week for further discussions.

Disco Metaphor

The issue of disco as a racial metaphor was raised a number of times in the general session, "Black Music In the '80s." Disco was variously charged with serving as a function for segregating radio playlists and with pushing black R&B artists out of both the radio and retail picture (see separate story).

Finally, the theme of coping with change in a fluctuating market/economy was repeatedly brought to bear. In a dramatic keynote speech, Earl Graves, publisher of Black Enterprise, noted that "for black Americans to obtain their fair share of any industry is a hard, uphill struggle today, and because this nation is in the midst of a big swing to the right, it's going to get harder, not easier, in the future."

Graves noted that the Bakke decision was worsening matters, giving many businesses "a sort of legal excuse to wait . . . and do little or nothing in the way of special efforts to find, hire, and promote blacks.

"Despite all this," Graves continued, "total sales for the top 100 black businesses in America broke the billion-dollar barrier last year, a 17% increase over the previous year." He urged the BMA to use its communications expertise to make sure that the black consumer market is made aware of which corporations make major purchases from minority businesses.

At the "Becoming A Recording Industry Executive" seminar, Larkin Arnold urged aspiring professionals to "realistically recognize that there is a decreasing number of record company jobs available and that the requirements for hiring are becoming more stringent."

At the "Black Music In the '80s" seminar, disco figured as an agent of change as promotion men, programmers, and marketing people were warned that too much emphasis on disco could cost them their R&B base, while, at the merchandising seminar, fear was expressed that the more expensive disco disc could kill the seven-inch single, the lifeblood of the small black retailer.

The conference was also notable for the number of stars who both attended and participated. Besides Smokey Robinson, Jerry Butler and Chuck Brown who have already been mentioned, the attendees included such artists as McFadden and Whitehead, Stevie Wonder, Gene Chandler, Don Covay, Norma Jean, and members of the Dramatics. The conference was also spiced with performances by Bob Marley and the Wailers and the Emotions.

NARM Lends Assistance To BMA

Among the other points in the NARM program were an invitation to the BMA to select members for free registration at the 1980 NARM convention; the commitment of merchandising support for Black Music Month and "a recognition of the value of those tools to stimulate impulse buying;" the allotment of space in the NARM newsletter for a BMA column to be used as a sounding board, for BMA activities and related issues; the pledge to combat retail sales of white label promo copies "as a measure of NARM's support for the artist as well as the retailer;" providing BMA members with NARM's bar coding study and progress reports on all other NARM research studies; and, "for the first time in NARM's 21-year history," according to Cohen, a reduction of NARM's $400 membership fees for qualifying members ("whose volume falls under a certain level") to $150. Cohen closed by emphasizing, "Let us know your needs."

In other speeches, Steve Gold urged that the record industry rectify the inequities of 20% expenditures on black music versus 35% sales of black music, arguing that, if expenditures were commensurate with sales, black music could become 50% of business.

Dealers Air Gripes At BMA Merchandise Meet

ber of the BMA's corporate government, marketing and merchandising division. "People want to know how some stores can sell almost an entire catalog's worth of albums at prices less than our cost unless they're getting some kind of deal from the manufacturers. What about the seven-inch single? Black retailers need that quick turnover, and why didn't any of the one stops take a stand? The lack of seven-inch sales will hurt their volume, too.

"In addition, because the panel was so heavy with one stops, there was no advice given to dealers on how they can buy direct from branch distribution. These are issues I will be addressing to the BMA in the coming weeks. And while I think that the conference was a great success, I think that the small black retailer is going to be on his own for a couple of years, and his survival will continue to be difficult."

White House Salutes Black Music

message was clear. "The purpose of the Black Music Association is to preserve, protect and perpetuate black music on an international basis," Carter said in a welcoming speech. And he congratulated the BMA for spending its first birthday party at the White House.

The place BMA chose to mark its organization is appropriate, Carter said, referring to the founders meeting in Philadelphia over the weekend. "If George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Ben Franklin had heard this music then, our country could have avoided a lot of heartache and division," the President quipped.

Of course the political subtleties of the event were not lost on the press corps. It was reported in both papers here that Carter's recent low credibility among blacks gave the White House extra incentive in opening its doors to black music-makers and lobbyists for the social event. As Martin Luther King III told a reporter: "It may have helped the administration in terms of getting support from the Black Music Association, which has a very large constituency."

But Carter's comments focused on the music and its contributions to American culture. Black music, the president said, expresses the pain, suffering and alienation blacks have felt historically — the sense of being outcast in one's own nation." But "hope, unity, religious faith, vision and beauty are also expressed in forceful terms."

Carter noted the "transcendent effect" of black music on other nations. He called the genre an "avenue for friendship and understanding that has been effective when politicians could not succeed."

Perhaps most importantly, Carter said black music offers "a mirror of what's wrong with our country and offers a guide in terms of what our country ought to be."

All-Star Lineup

Toward the close of his remarks, the President commented on the power of black music which he has felt personally, as a young boy and in recent years. (He added that he wouldn't embarrass the other states by counting how many great black musicians have come out of Georgia.) But the power of an individual's voice can be "incredible," he said. When Leontine Price sang "The Lord's Prayer" recently, "chills went down my spine" and "tears ran down my face" at the beauty of her high notes, the president said.

Then, again congratulating the new trade association (which proposed the White House event), President Carter took a seat on the grass at the foot of the outdoor stage and settled in to watch an array of outstanding performers. His guests were seated at picnic tables but mingled freely even during the performance.

First on the lineup was Sara Jordan Powell, leading gospel singer, who held the crowd's rapt attention with her rendition of "Amazing Grace." The president rolled up his sleeves and stretched out on the lawn to better appreciate her performance.

The famous Carter grin broke out as the next performer took over, dancing and singing his trademark tunes: Chuck Berry, still limber after some 24 years before audiences (never before at the White House). Berry ran through, "Johnny B. Goode," "Roll Over Beethoven," "Hail, Hail Rock 'n' Roll," and "Oh Carol," which he converted for the occasion to "Oh Amy" and slithered across the stage in his familiar duck walk. After his 10-minute session, Berry told Cash Box, "I just want to shake the president's hand, I feel like a kid." About the BMA, Berry voiced optimism. While the state of black music today is "sound," he said, the new organization will "bring more attention to black music and bring black music into more harmony with itself."

Billy Eckstine, who President Carter noted is a longtime friend, took the audience back a few years with some standards like "Everything I Have Is Yours," in a medley of oldies. Eckstine has performed for the Carters at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. before, during the Christmas season in 1977, and he seemed at home singing his 1940s favorites.

The youngest performer of the evening, Evelyn "Champagne" King, age 18, turned the mood to disco during her segment. In a hot pink dress and with unlimited energy, King belted out the title tune from her recently released LP, "Music Box."

The final performance of the evening, by two-time Grammy Award winner Andrea Crouch, had the entire crowd standing by the end. Singing "We're Going to See The King" and "Jesus Is The Answer," Crouch whipped the audience into a spiritual crescendo. The Carters joined in the singing and clapping and Andrea Crouch called the gathering spot "The White House Church."

Other Luminaries

The audience was sprinkled with other luminaries, from the ranks of government, the radio and record industries and the White House staff, and of course, the national news media.

Among the black musicians spotted in the crowd were Barry White, Patti LaBelle, Joe Williams and Curtis Mayfield. Record industry execs on hand for the South Lawn fete included Bruce Lundvall, Joe Smith, Cecil Holmes, Paul Smith, Marv Stuart, Dick Griffey, Phil Walden, Logan Westbrook, Barry White and George Albert, publisher of Cash Box.

Music Publishers Expanding

For example, the company has hired a full-time disco consultant.

"He's going through our catalog and re-demoing older songs to get disco covers," says Banyai. "We have a lot of disco potential with our catalog of standards, and we're even looking for single song deals with new writers of disco material."

"And we're more active in promoting film and TV music, with (motion picture music VP) Danny Crystal and one of our west coast professional managers working this area. We're also planning to go after advertisers to use our compositions in their campaigns."

"Our business doesn't seem to have been affected by the sales slowdown," says Jay Lowy, VP/GM of Jobete Music. "There seems to be a tremendous amount of recording being done. Jobete has always had one of the biggest writing staffs and we're always looking for new writers."

"There doesn't really seem to be much change in the publishing scene this year," Lowy summarizes. But other major publishing executives see things differently.

Irwin Mazur, director of west coast operations for April/Blackwood Music, believes there is a definite decrease in the number of acts in the studio now, but he says the drop in recording activity has not been bad for business.

"It's only affected us in how many acts and producers we are servicing, but it hasn't seemed to affect the number of covers we're getting," Mazur says. "We used to put together a two or three page list of producers and studios, and that list has been drastically reduced."

But Mazur adds that April/Blackwood is still looking for new writers and has increased its professional manager and office staff from four people two years ago to 10 today, including a director of TV and film music.

Bigger Fish

"Major acts are returning to looking for hit songs as opposed to doing everything themselves," says Mazur. "So getting covers has become like fishing in a lake. The fish are bigger, but there are fewer fish in the lake."

Mazur believes the biggest problem facing music publishers today is "attorneys who attach record company numbers to publishing deals. Labels deal in dollars and publishing companies deal in pennies. Publishing has been a veiled, clouded area of the music industry and many lawyers look for unrealistic big advance payments from us. A hit song may earn big bucks over the years, but revenues aren't that great out of the box."

Billy Meshel, VP/GM of the Arista Music Publishing Group, supports Mazur's complaint. "It makes me sick the way certain businessmen, accountants, managers and lawyers deny writers the skill and expertise of music publishers by thinking 'music publishers do nothing anyway, so we'll do nothing, too.' When you write and record your own material that's your bread and butter, but getting covers is the extra cream on top — and some of these people are preventing writers from getting that cream."

Meshel says Arista's publishing division is doing very well thanks to the diversity of its writers, and blames any slump other companies are experiencing on the sameness of their repertoires.

"Two years ago we had nothing," notes Meshel, "but we got involved with some good people and now we're not so desperate to add more writers. There are three times as many covers on the charts now as five years ago, so we're really happy with the way things look."

Herb Eiseman, president of 20th Century-Fox Music Publishing Companies, says getting covers is easier today because a number of artists who aren't songwriters have broken through and singer/songwriters are doing more covers. But 20th isn't looking to expand its writers roster.

"We've always been very selective and kept a very small stable of writers," comments Eiseman. "We haven't slowed down or accelerated our signings. But we did recently acquire the Johnny Mercer catalog, and if we get other catalogs we are negotiating for we may add some to our professional manager staff."

"But 20th is different from most publishing companies in that we have the consistent flow of themes from films like 'Alien.' It's nice to have that base."

Starting From Scratch

Most publishers aren't so lucky. On the other side of the spectrum from 20th is the Infinity Music Group, which is trying to build a publishing company from the ground up.

"We're looking for a big spurt in the beginning," reports VP/GM Jay Morgenstern. "We've signed half a dozen writers already and are also going after catalogs. We'll definitely be adding staff as our business builds. We'll be opening a Nashville office as soon as we find the right staff."

Other publishers are aggressively seeking out new writers to re-energize aging catalogs. Sam Trust, president of ATV Music Group, feels his company is in that position.

"For a long time the backbone of this company has been the Beatles catalog and we feel we're approaching saturation there," Trust indicates. "So we're going after new young writers more than we have in a long time."

Trust also agrees with other publishers who expect to feel an income pinch beginning in six months due to the recent slump period. But ATV plans to maintain its professional staff at its current level.

Screen Gems

"What we're doing to overcome the current business slump is get even more aggressive in signing writers and going after covers," reports Lester Sill of Screen Gems/Colegems/EMI. "Getting covers has been difficult since self-contained groups came in a few years ago, but it doesn't seem any more difficult now than six months ago. We just try and stay with a young street-oriented professional staff and a talent acquisition staff which looks for groups."

At Almo/Irving Music, the talent acquisition effort is now focusing on writer/producers, according to executive VP Lance Freed. "We are trying to get a better balance in our writing staff between pure writers and writer/performers. But we've discovered a great way to stay on top of what's going on in the business is to sign producers who write for the artists they work with, such as David Foster and Skip Scarborough."

"Overall, it seems that our writers are getting more songs covered than ever, but we don't plan to add any managers in the near future," says Freed.

MCA Music has undergone a major expansion of its writing and professional manager staffs in the past year, even though MCA is less affected by slumping record sales than most publishers due to its substantial movie and TV income.

"MCA has added to its own writing staff and acquired ABC's," says Leeds Levy, vice president/executive assistant to the president at MCA Music. "So in the last year we've hired about eight new managers and are looking to add a new one on the west coast."

"With records crossing over in every direction now, between pop, disco, country, R&B, etc., full-line publishers are trying to have their writers work in universal forms so any kind of artist can cover it. The trick is to find that good song, that's the bottom line," concludes Levy. "If a song is good, you'll get some action."

Dear Art Dept.

I got a test pressing from the factory of our new album but they sent two single-sided discs, so I decided to stick them together. I got my super glue out, lined the two records up and stuck them, but I got it wrong and when I tried to play it the hole in the middle didn't fit. I tried to pull it apart but the record broke, so I ended up throwing it on the fire. After about 5 minutes of vinyl-smoke filling the room I picked it up and threw the whole thing out into the garden.

Anyway, the next day I took some photos and I thought it might be a good idea to use the burnt record as part of your advertising campaign. Let me know what you think.

All the best,

Paul McCartney

DEAR PAUL

WE GOT YOUR IDEA AND FEEL WE MAY BE ABLE TO WORK IT IN SOMEWHERE. BUT THINK THAT OUR CAMPAIGN SAYS IT ALL.
