A Momentous Beginning

We, at Cash Box, want to express our thanks and appreciation to Joe Smith of Elektra/Asylum and Phil Walden of Capricorn for serving as the catalysts and organizers of the meeting between the federal government and the record and music industry. The meeting was a first in creating a rapport between our industry and the administration. It could not have been done without the efforts of these two individuals and the cooperation of the White House.

The gathering was also an important step in giving our industry recognition as a law-abiding and worthy contributor to the cultural art of music for the world.

The music industry delegates who attended are some of the most dignified and respected executives to represent any industry in this nation. Bruce Lundvall, CBS Records; Jerry Moss, A&M Records; Bhaskar Menon, Capitol; Steve Diener, ABC Records; Alan Livingston, 20th Century; Irwin Steinberg, Polygram; Lewis Coutolenc, RCA; John (Mike) Maitland, MCA Records; Artie Mogull, United Artists; Stanley Gortikov, RIAA; Clive Davis, Arista; Ken Gamble, Phila. International and Clarence Avant, Tabu Productions, have contributed their valuable time to this endeavor.

A most sincere appreciation also goes to the government officials involved in the meeting: Margaret Costanza, assistant to the President; Steve Selig, special assistant in the office of public liaison; Richard Reiman, associate director, office of public liaison; Christian Chatman, deputy assistant secretary of state for education and culture affairs; Leonal Castillo, commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service; Robert Malson, assistant director, domestic policy staff, and Steve Simmons, associate director, domestic policy staff.

Most of all, our heartfelt thanks to President Carter for his tremendous understanding, and we are deeply indebted to him for giving our industry the recognition and our first introduction for a future relationship with the administration.

Select what you want in a record cleaner.

Convenience in use and storage.

You shouldn't need a separate shelf, elaborate motions or an act of Congress to clean your records. A comfortable, hand-held instrument that works best on a rotating turntable is ideal.

Effectiveness against micro-dust.

Tiny, invisible dust particles hide in delicate record grooves and can be ground into the vinyl. Only a slanted (directional) fiber using special ultra-small fiber tips can scoop up, rather than rearrange, this micro-dust contamination.

Effectiveness against chemical contamination.

Fingerprints and vapor-borne oils will deposit into channels of a record groove. Such contamination hides from adhesive rollers and all dry cleaning systems. Only a special fluid plus micro-fibers can safely remove such audible, impacted deposits.

Total removal of contamination/fluid.

Capillary action—the lifting of fluid by small fiber surface tension—is totally effective. You want to get contamination off the record, along with any fluid traces.

Lasting construction.

You want quality. A record cleaner can last a lifetime. A plastic wonder can crack into oblivion—or you can purchase the hand-rubbed elegance of milled walnut befitting the rest of your audio system.

Ultimate economy.

The value of a truly fine record cleaner is justified by the cost of replacing your record collection. Fifteen dollars is a small investment in long-term protection.

All of the above.

DISCWASHER, the Superior Record Cleaner.

See the finer audio dealers for a demonstration.

Phonodisc Now #3 Branch Oper. With Casablanca

by Gary Cohen

LOS ANGELES — The switch from independent distribution to Phonodisc by Casablanca Records will solidify Phonodisc's position as the third largest branch operation, according to share-of-market data assembled by Cash Box. At the same time, independent distributors that lost Casablanca but pick up ABC will actually increase their market share.

On the other hand, independent distributors that lose Casablanca and do not replace the line will lose anywhere from 15% to 35% of their business. Casablanca, according to sources at the distributors, was the third largest independent distributed label, behind A&M and Motown, and just ahead of Arista.

Phonodisc, which last year acquired distribution rights to RSO Records and this year picked up Island and Monument, with Capricorn reportedly set to join the fold, has now become the third largest branch operation, albeit a distant third, behind

Capricorn To Join Phonodisc Distrib.

LOS ANGELES — A distribution agreement between Capricorn Records and Phonodisc has been finalized according to a source close to the negotiations. A formal announcement of the arrangement is expected this week.

The first product to be released under the new agreement will be the new album by Black Oak and "Mindbender," a single by Stillwater. The source reported that Phonodisc will aid Capricorn in merchandising and sales, but the Macon-based label is planning extensive expansion in promotion.

ABC Records To Make Changes In Their Distribution

LOS ANGELES — In answer to recent reports concerning the possibility of ABC Records changing its current distributor setup, Steve Diener, the label's president, announced that there are, in fact, some changes being considered and others already underway.

Maximize Sales Effectiveness

"In recent months we have been taking a close look at the best way to maximize our sales effectiveness based upon the current market situation, our artist roster, our recent successes, and those of other labels. Very positively, we feel the time is right for us to utilize a network which will include both a team of top aggressive independent distributors coupled with our own branches in certain parts of the United States — namely, the New York and Los Angeles branches."

Other Labels And Distributors Offer Comments

by Dave Fulton

LOS ANGELES — Industry reactions to the new distribution deal between Casablanca and Phonodisc generally concluded that the future of independent distribution would not suffer, while people lauded Neil Bogart, president of Casablanca, for his success and for the partial sale of his company.

Both Parachute and Millennium Records, currently under the Casablanca distribution umbrella, reiterated their stance that they would follow with the new move.

Regan Comments

Russ Regan, president of Parachute, said, "Parachute goes right along with the Casablanca family. We will be distributed by Phonodisc. I originally went with Casablanca because of Neil Bogart and

Interworld Buys A. Schroeder Pub. In Million $ Deal

LOS ANGELES — Interworld Music has purchased the Aaron Schroeder Music Companies in a multi-million dollar deal which transfers the entire Schroeder catalog, including copyrights to songs by Bacharach & David, Gene Pitney and Randy Newman, over to Interworld.

The Interworld purchase involves the transfer of thousand of copyrights in the Schroeder-owned January, Arch and Sea Lark pubberies as well as the acquisition of eight foreign companies.

Companies purchased in the deal include: A. Schroeder-Basart B.V. of Holland; A. Schroeder Music Pty. Ltd., Australia; A. Schroeder Music Ltd., Japan; A. Schroeder Music Publishing Company Limited, England; A. Schroeder Musikforlag Aktiebolag, Sweden; Schroeder Musikverlag G.M.B.H., Germany; Editions Musicales A. Schroeder S.A.R.L., France and Edizioni A. Schroeder Music, Italy.

Schroeder Music was formed in January, 1960, with tunes by such writers as Gene Pitney and Bacharach & David.

Songs contained in the Schroeder catalog include: Gene Pitney's "Hello Mary Lou"; Bacharach and David's "24 Hours To Tulsa"; Jimi Hendrix's "Foxy Lady"; Randy Newman's "I Think It's Gonna Rain Today"; Tony Macaulay's "Love Grows Where My Rosemary Goes"; Al Kooper's "Jolie"; and Barry White's "You're The First, The Last, My Everything."

Aaron Schroeder, who wrote 18 songs for Elvis Presley, including "It's Now Or Never," says he plans to focus his creative energies on all areas of songwriting including pop, television and Broadway. He also announced plans to become involved in record production.

Albums In CBS 'New Acts' Campaign Selling In Increased Numbers As Dealers Laud Plan

by Alan Sutton and Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — Participating dealers across the country this week voiced unanimous praise for CBS Records' ongoing campaign to break records by new artists (Cash Box, Aug. 20). And what's more, in response to the liberal retail incentives offered by CBS, they have been ordering the featured albums in significantly greater quantities than they would have otherwise.

Thus it appears that CBS has realized one of the major aims of the program, which was to place the albums in substantial numbers at the retail level in order to take full advantage of broader-based support resulting from radio airplay, advertising and promotion.

"We've got a lot more records out there than we normally would have," said Ed

Hynes, director of sales and artist development for CBS. "We're averaging approximately a third more records on the initial orders."

The remaining question, then, is whether the record company's developing artists program will be effective in helping to break new acts.

Taking Hold

Preliminary signals suggest that the campaign, which was launched in August following the CBS convention in London, is already beginning to take hold. For example:

— Albums by Ram Jam (#67), Lake (#85), Crawler (#109), Karla Bonoff (#120) and Rex (#175) are currently bulleting on the Cash Box Top 200 Album Chart.

— Many of the releases are getting regular airplay nationwide.

— A growing number of dealers report that they have begun reordering particular releases included in the campaign.

— CBS has started moving into certain markets with advertising support and in-store merchandising displays to capitalize on mounting airplay and sales.

So far, CBS has offered additional retail incentives — including five months dating, instead of the usual 60 days, and a special discount on initial orders — on about 20 Columbia, Epic and Associated Labels releases.

In addition, four months after receiving the new releases, dealers have the oppor-

CASH BOX

Though they've been performing professionally nearly all their lives, it was not until 1977 that mass public recognition and acceptance came to Jeanette, Wanda and Sheila Hutchinson, collectively known as the Emotions. In fact, the Columbia recording group has established itself as one of the year's top new record-selling attractions.

The group's debut album for Columbia, "Flowers," was certified gold early this year. The follow-up album, "Rejoice," matched that achievement, and the most recent single release from that album, "Best Of My Love," took a rapid climb to the number one position on the Cash Box Top 100 Singles chart, beginning a three-week occupation of the top spot on August 20. Gold certification for the single came on August 2, and it was less than a month before the album "Rejoice" achieved platinum certification.

In 1968, the Emotions signed their first recording contract with Stax Records, remaining with the label until its dissolution in 1975. At that time, Maurice White, leader of Earth, Wind & Fire and a long-standing fan of the group, arranged for them to be signed to Columbia with himself as producer. The remaining history of the Emotions is documented in the ears of their devoted fans.

WEA Stresses Realistic Orders, Individual Customer Approach In Year-End Program

by Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — Warner/Elektra/Atlantic Corporation last week began its year-end marketing program which includes not only discounts to customers on more than 200 top WEA albums, extended dating and in-store merchandising techniques, but also a newly developed profile of each account which WEA executives hope will result in more accurate orders.

Henry Droz, executive vice-president of WEA, said, "This is the first time we have had anything that comprehensive. We've developed a profile of the account so that when a salesman goes in to call on a customer, he has a complete history of that account.

"This means he has year-to-date orders, what a customer did under our summer program, what he did under last year's fall program and what they did for the whole of last year, so they have the tools to work out intelligent orders."

Titled "WEA's Year-End Marketing Program," the details were announced officially September 10 by Droz to more than 600 attendants at the company's national convention in Miami.

Discounts

One of the other major parts of the program is discounting of more than 230 albums in the WEA catalog including, Droz said, "all of our hot chart items.

"We haven't taken out any of the super blockbusters from the program. You'll find 'Rumours' in there, you'll find the Eagles. You'll find every hot chart item unless it was just released very, very recently — then it's not included. The new Linda Ronstadt album, for instance, was just shipped, so it's not included. But every major chart item is."

An extended schedule for payments is also one feature Droz thinks will help make

by Jeff Crossan

LOS ANGELES — An unestablished recording artist or group today may have a better chance of being heard on the radio and subsequently gaining popular acceptance if their music is of the soft-rock variety.

The emergence and increasing popularity of the soft-rock or mellow radio format in a time of constricting playlists is currently providing record companies with their most accessible inroad to the airplay necessary to help the labels break new acts — new acts with a mellow sound, that is.

Led by pioneers of the format, KNX-FM in Los Angeles and WKTU in New York, a growing number of soft-rock stations across the country are basing their programming decisions primarily on the sound of the music rather than the name of the artist or the sales or chart action of the record. And unlike most other radio formats which allow only a few records to be added each week, soft-rock stations often add as many as 25 new tunes in a seven-day period.

Laid Back Sound

The sound that soft-rock programmers seek is laid back and designed to fill the middle ground that once existed between progressive rock and MOR formats. KNX refers to its format as "the mellow sound" and features major acts such as Jackson Browne, Rita Coolidge, Cat Stevens, Joni Mitchell and The Beatles.

At KNX, the station most often credited with developing the format under the guiding hand of program director Steve Marshall, the subjective decision making is left to music director Michael Sheehy, who says he programs to an environment.

"We do everything on the basis of sound," Sheehy says. "There are some stations that don't even listen to the music. They don't care what the record sounds like ... all they really care about is whether or not it makes it on the charts. We're programming to an environment as opposed to saying, 'Well, this is top 40 so we better play it regardless of what type of music it is."

Marshall elaborates. "The charts and research all have their place," he says. "We consult the charts but the bottom line is how the record sounds. Our feeling at KNX is

Ray Charles Returns To Atlantic/Atco

NEW YORK — Ray Charles has returned to Atlantic Records by way of a distribution deal between Atlantic and Charles' record company, Crossover Records. Under the terms of the agreement, Atlantic will distribute all Crossover product in the U.S. The records will bear the Atlantic label with a Crossover logo.

"True To Life," Charles' new album set for late September release, will be the first Crossover album distributed by Atlantic.

Charles first recorded for Atlantic between 1954 and 1959, when classics such as "I Got A Woman" and "Hallelujah, I Love Her So" were released. Charles has recorded for Crossover since 1973, recording at his R.P.M. International Studios in Los Angeles.

Twenty years after his first Atlantic recording, Charles continues to be a major figure in contemporary music. He received a 1975 Grammy for his recording of Stevie Wonder's "Living For The City," and was nominated for a Grammy one year later for his performance with Cleo Laine in "Porgy & Bess."

Hall Of Fame

Charles' classic "I Got A Woman" was nominated for the NARAS Hall of Fame in 1976, the same year that Charles was inducted into the New York Songwriters' Hall of Fame.

New Faces to Watch

Lisa Dal Bello

Few people have such exciting birthdays as Lisa Dal Bello. But two things happened to the vivacious Canadian in May of this year. Lisa became 19, and her recording contract with MCA became a reality. Though she admits that she "never took it that seriously, to tell you the truth," it was clear to everyone except her that good things were in store for the comely Italian.

She credits her parents' "incredibly neat taste in music" with giving her a solid background. They were prone to playing such people as Aretha Franklin, Ray Charles, Lou Rawls and Otis Redding, and a precocious Lisa caught the musical bug early on, writing her first musical compositions when she was 12.

One year later she submitted a demo to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and a round of guest appearances on local Canadian TV talk shows followed, eventually leading to commercial studio work. At 16, she met James Gang leader and current member of Law, Roy Kenner, who she says, "has given me incentive all along to continue my music pursuits." They met while both were working on a weekly Canadian TV series called "Music Machine." The performing group which they were a part of each week concentrated on a specific period in music which gave Lisa an invaluable background.

She was then asked to join the Bobby Vinton Show, a weekly variety program originating from Toronto, giving her national Canadian exposure and the chance to do a Toronto showcase that led to her contract with MCA.

Lisa came to L.A. in January to record her first album of self-written compositions, where she shared writing credits with her producer, David Foster, and Roy Kenner. The experience taught her a lot. As she relates it, "I came here really naive about the recording industry and the way it operates. When we started recording, there were some ego problems and a lot of difficulties with engineering and production. It took seven months to get it all happening. But now I'm glad so much went wrong. I was 18 when I got here and I feel like I'm leaving about 38. I've learned a lot and met some really nice people."

Foster was responsible for contracting top-notch session players such as Pops Popwell, David Carlton, David Paich, Mike and Jeff Porcaro and Tom Scott, which gave Lisa's first effort the solid instrumental background that most debut albums lack. Now, she is putting together a band in Toronto and is anxious to tour. "God, I love it," she says of performing live. "In TV if you make a mistake, you can always re-do it. But live, you are under the gun and have only one chance to prove you can do it."

'Shaun Cassidy' Gold

LOS ANGELES — Shaun Cassidy's debut album for Warner/Curb Records, "Shaun Cassidy," has been certified gold by the RIAA.

Dollar Brand

Dollar Brand's "Capetown Fringe," currently bulleting at #24 on the Cash Box Top 40 Jazz Album chart, was recorded in the city from which its name was taken over three years ago. "Nobody wanted it," laughed the Capetown-born pianist. "Would you believe that?" Actually, the long search for an American distributor for the album, which ended when Chiaroscuro/Audiofidelity became interested, was a repeat performance of the situation that Brand faced when he first took the record to African companies. No one saw the potential, so he was forced to release it on his own label, Sun Records. The title cut became a national hit in South Africa.

Dollar Brand, or Abdullah Ibrahim (his Muslim name), explained that the album actually represents something much older. "The whole sound, the melody line, the rhythm, the whole structure, basically comes from traditional African music, which is thousands of years old," he said.

According to Brand, it's because American jazz and African music spring from the same tradition that he was introduced to jazz at an early age. Born Adolph Johannes Brand in 1934, he took up piano at the age of seven, growing up with the music of great boogie-woogie pianists like Albert Ammons and Meade Lux Lewis, and maturing with the sounds of Ellington, Basie, Parker, Dizzy and Monk. The Jazz Epistles, a group he formed with Hugh Masakela, became one of the most popular jazz groups in South Africa.

Dollar Brand first came to the United States for the 1964 Newport Jazz Festival, beginning a series of appearances that attracted the attention of Duke Ellington, who arranged for Brand to record in the United States, and had him take the piano chair with the Ellington Orchestra for one east coast tour. Yet, Brand rejects the "limiting, unwritten laws" of the official "jazz scene," choosing to go it on his own and maintain the freedom to play whatever he pleases.

Along with his wife, vocalist Bea Benjamin, and six other players, Brand will be touring Europe in October, returning for a U.S. tour at the end of the month. Also on the year's agenda are tours of Africa and Asia, with a U.S. college tour possible in late spring.

Investor Trio Drops Plan To Refloat Wallichs

LOS ANGELES — Charles and Diane Schlang and Edward Barsky of Kester Marketing here have reportedly abandoned their plan to refloat the sagging Wallichs Music City chain, Cash Box has learned.

According to a source close to Wallichs' management, Charles Schlang, who had been chief operating officer since last May 2, when Kester pumped $30,000 in short-term loans into the ailing chain, told a meeting of the Wallichs board on September 19 that he was calling it quits.

However, Schlang's announcement has no bearing on the proposed buyout by In-spokesman for Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn, Mich., said Ford refused an opportunity to testify until they see how the hearings progress; American Motors spokesmen were unavailable for comment.

Broadcasters Criticise Current Prices

The panel of broadcasters claimed that American consumers are prevented from buying AM-FM car radios because of the high prices charged by automobile manufacturers. The broadcast representatives were Donald Thurston, chairman of the board of the National Association of Broadcasters, Matthew Coffey of National Public Radio, Robert Herpe of the National Radio Broadcasters Association, Dr. Philip Rubin of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and J.T. Whitlock of the Kentucky Broadcasters Association. While each group came armed with points of personal interest in arguing the AM-FM car radio case, all left with praise for the GM offer as presented by William Thompson, senior vice-president of GM.

In his testimony, the NAB's Thurston said the committee "has the duty and the

by Jeffrey Weber

LOS ANGELES — While the logistics of taking an American group overseas require a certain set of mental gymnastics, the same is true for European groups on tour in the United States. Until most recently, Connie Pappas was handling all stateside management coordination for John Reid, Inc., a British management firm. This involved tour for an English group, or any European group, should initially be set around the release of an album. "It is much different than promoting an American group that can go on the road for three weeks, come home, go out again and continually build it up. It is a major expense bringing an act over here, so after you decide when the album is going to come out, the first date of the tour should be scheduled six to eight weeks after the album's release in the states. This gives the record company enough time to have all their promotional devices together, all their marketing tools coordinated, and it gives them enough time to have the saturation airplay that is needed. If there isn't an obvious single on the album, it gives the label enough time to putting together domestic tours for acts under the Reid umbrella, the most prominent of whom was Elton John. Starting with Rocket Records in 1974, Pappas began working on many items for John, and soon the need for a stateside management firm for John's concert coordination became evident, and in September of that year John Reid Inc. was formed in the U.S. with Pappas at the helm. Queen, Kiki Dee, and Carole Bayer Sager were soon added to the roster with Pappas' responsibilities for stateside tours growing in proportion.

Callas Dies At 53; Revived The Art Of Bel Canto Singing

NEW YORK — Maria Callas, one of the greatest opera singers of all time, died recently at the age of 53 at her home in Paris. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Although the quality of Callas' voice itself was not universally admired, the soprano's superb musicianship and intensely dramatic stage presence evoked critical raves around the world throughout her career. It was her dynamic interpretations of roles in bel canto operas by Bellini, Donizetti and Rossini, in fact, that brought these 19th century works back into the standard operatic repertoire. Today, they are staples of such renowned singers as Joan Sutherland, Beverly Sills, Teresa Berganza and Marilyn Horne.

Callas made her debut at the Arena of Verona, Italy in 1947, singing the title role in Ponchielli's "La Cioconda." She first sang at La Scala in Verdi's "Aida," and made her U.S. debut in 1954 as Norma with the Chicago Lyric Opera. Two years later she sang the same role for her debut at the Metropolitan Opera. Her last operatic appearances were also at the Met, in a 1965 production of Puccini's "Tosca."

Callas recordings were issued in the U.S. by Angel Records.

Harr Joins Peer-Southern — Richard Harr joins the professional staff at Peer-Southern Organization as national promotion director. He previously was national secondary promotion manager for Salsoul Records. Prior to Salsoul, he worked out of the New York sales branch for RCA Records.

Keepnews Named At CBS — Peter Keepnews has been appointed manager, jazz and progressive publicity at CBS Records. He comes to CBS from The New York Post where he was a staff reporter for three years. He spent five years as a free-lance jazz writer and critic for a number of major publications. Keepnews is a contributing editor for Jazz Magazine and was formerly a contributing editor for Downbeat.

Fassert Appointed At ABC — ABC Records has announced the appointment of Chuck Fassert as national director of marketing, special markets. He was previously national sales and promotion coordinator, special products, a position he held since 1974. He initially joined ABC Records in 1969, and was responsible for east coast regional sales. He was also pop promotion director for Sussex Records from 1971 to 1974.

CBS Names Condak — Henrietta Condak has been appointed art director of Masterworks according to an announcement made by CBS Records. She has won numerous awards for her cover designs from The New York Art Directors Club, The Society of Illustrators, The American Institute of Graphic Arts, and Graphic Press and Communication Arts Magazine. In addition, she was nominated for a Grammy Award for Also Sprach Zarathustra.

Wardlaw Joins Winter — Sandy Wardlaw has joined Norman Winter/Associates as an account executive. She has been in public relations work for several years in Hollywood and prior to that, worked for Motown Records in Los Angeles. For the past two years she was associated with Howard Brandy's Public Relations firm in Beverly Hills.

Scivoletti To Mercury — Phonogram, Inc./Mercury Records has announced the appointment of Susan Scivoletti as publicist east coast for Phonogram. She will be based in Mercury's New York office, the new home office for the publicity department.

Artists On The Air

Frankle Avalon and Annette Funicello will star on "Dick Clark's Good Old Days: From Bobby Sox to Bikinis," set to air Tuesday, October 11 as an NBC Big Event. The show will also feature several music, TV and movie personalities from the late 1950s and early 1960s.

Kenny Rogers and Crystal Gayle will appear October 7 on NBC's Midnight Special and October 10 on the Country Music Association Awards. Rogers also will appear Oct. 3 on the Tonight Show and Oct. 7 on the Dinah Shore Show. Gayle will make an appearance Oct. 4 on the Merv Griffin Show.

Lelf Garrett will guest on Dick Clark's "American Bandstand" Oct. 1 and Charo will appear the following week on Oct. 8.

Nell Diamond will have his own television special Nov. 17 entitled "Free Man in Paris." It will air on NBC.

The last television special taped by Elvis Presley prior to his death will be aired on Oct. 3 on CBS-TV. Simultaneously, RCA will release a double album set from the show.

First NARM Regional Meet Draws A Good-Sized Crowd

by Mark Mehler

PHILADELPHIA — The new management of the National Association of Recording Merchandisers, encouraged by the turnout of nearly 100 people at the first NARM regional meeting here last week, hopes to implement several major new programs over the coming months.

Joe Cohen, NARM's recently-appointed president, expressed gratification with the results of the Philadelphia meeting, which featured a lecture by marketing consultant David Rachman on "the problems of managing a record store," as well as one-to-one sessions between area dealers and their manufacturer vendors. As hoped, a number of Philadelphia-area retailers and distributors brought along several of their middle management personnel who had never before participated in NARM activities (Cash Box, August).

Cohen saw these regional sessions as the first of a series of new programs geared to grass-roots-level retailers and distributors. Among projects currently under consideration is a "retail management course," featuring six days of comprehensive training in the workings and manning of record stores; this will lead to the awarding of NARM certification. In addition, NARM plans to provide brochures serving as primers on how to start a record retail business from scratch. Another pro-

New Pickwick Ad Policy Results In $1 Higher Price

by Charles Palkert

NEW YORK — Pricing guidelines affecting all retail accounts in the Pickwick Retailing Division resulted in Discount Records advertising an unusually high sale price in the St. Louis market last week.

Discount, which has three stores in the St. Louis metropolitan area, advertised 21 front-line $6.98 list-price albums, including the latest LPs by the Brothers Johnson, Daryl Hall and John Oates, and Rita Coolidge, at a sale price of $4.99 in the St. Louis Dispatch. Bob Seger's "Live Bullet" album, carrying a $7.98 list price, was advertised for $5.99. Normally, Discount's sale price is $3.99 for $6.98 list and $4.99 for $7.98 list.

The one-dollar sale price increase for the St. Louis Discount stores apparently occurred because the stores had reached the maximum number of albums they could advertise at the "deep discounting" sale price of $3.99 under a new guideline issued by Pickwick's Retailing Division.

The guideline initiated at the end of August varies on an individual basis for all Pickwick retail accounts, including Musicland, Discount and Aura Sound stores, as well as leased departments.

"The only guideline," commented Grover Sayre, director of retail leasing for Pickwick, "is the number of items the stores can offer at a certain low price on an everyday basis, and those are changed from time to time depending on the competition."

According to David Blaine, district manager for Pickwick in St. Louis, the guideline "so far has had no measurable adverse effect on business." Blaine also emphasized that "the product that we advertise most heavily and that has the most valuable impact for us we'll continue to run at $3.99 and $4.99 (for $7.98 list LPs)."

The price guideline resulted when the Musicland and Record Divisions of Pickwick merged in June. At that time, Pickwick management systematized the price guidelines already in effect at Musicland stores. Subsequently, each store manager was issued a price guideline sheet from Pickwick headquarters in Minneapolis authorizing a specified number of albums which can be advertised at various price tiers.

"It encourages managers to choose featured product more carefully than in the past when they had unlimited guidelines," Blaine said.

EAST COASTINGS — CENTRAL PARK ENCOUNTER — One of Rolling Stone's first official activities following the moving of its headquarters to New York City was a Central Park softball game with the staff of WNEW-FM. Well, augmented staff, anyway. Witnesses of the event Monday evening report that so many industry people were on hand to play for WNEW that many willing contestants never left the bench. WNEW regulars on the field included starting pitcher Robln Sagon, Ramon Plaza, the newsroom's own "Dave Kingman," who hit two solid homers, reliable music director and catcher Tom "Yogi" Morrera, along with sales manager Mike Kakoylnnis, salesman Mike Brandt, engineer Joe Aiel, familiar air personalities Richard Neer, Dave Herman, Pat Dawson, Al Bernstein, and spiritual leader Vin Scelsa. Pinch-hitters and would-be ringers included Miami Steve Van Zandt, AWB's Hamlsh Stuart & Steve Fer, Atlantic's Dave Glew, Tunc Erlm and Steve Leeds, CBS' Mike Pillot, Dick Wingate and Rich Bloom, Capitol's Irwin Sirota, and A&M New York's own Michael Leon, outfitted by Her-man's and Zabar's. The Stone roster consisted of captain and pitcher Lucy Gilburg, with Bill Klein, Ken Klein, Michael Aron, Howard Kohn, Bob Sebac, Susan Weil, Carol Webber, Beth Filler, Charlie Rice, David Banjo and Dave Marsh on hand. WNEW's wide margin of victory (20-4) must be looked upon as a reflection of their heavy reinforcements. As a result of the game, challenges came in from the E-Street Band and New Jersey's favorite Anglo-Teutonic ensemble, Nektar, so the Stone team will have plenty of opportunities to work up their chops for next year's inevitable rematch.

BUDDY HOLLY SALUTE — A number of rock celebrities were on hand in Britain recently for Buddy Holly Week and a concert tribute staged by Paul McCartney, featuring the Crickets, Holly's original backing group. Pictured (l-r) are: Ron Wood, Mick Jagger, Tony Barrett, manager of the Eddie Cochran fan club, and Paul McCartney.

THE FOUR FOREVER — With rumors of a new Capitol Beatles' reissue compilation afoot, it looks like the wave of Beatlemaniac nostalgia is far from subsiding. A new addition to the flow is a 200-page volume entitled "The Beatles Forever," recently released through the Cameron House. Nicholas Schaffner, the author, writes songs as well as books and articles, and has been a performer on the cafe circuit in New York. The characteristic that emerges most clearly through the book, however, is his intense fanaticism about the Beatles. The book's hundreds of illustrations are culled from Schaffner's personal collection of Beatle paraphernalia, including many domestic and foreign single picture sleeves and LP covers, countless interesting photographs, trays, buttons, patches, banks, stickers . . . there's no end. The more attractive collectibles are featured in a four-page color section. As a chronicle, the book is extremely thorough and exacting in its treatment of details in chronological order, with documentation of all the stages of the Beatles' group and individual careers that are covered. The book is also full of Schaffner's subjective analyses of the music — these are left to the taste of the individual reader.

READY TO HAPPEN — Good news for Animal lovers: Alan Price will entertain at Avery Fisher Hall this Halloween . . . Tom Walts will give a concert at the Beacon Theater October 15 . . . Cissy Houston's Private Stock album is due for release at the end of September, while New York club performer Franklin Micare's Joel Dorn-produced album for the label will be released in October . . . Back to the Shirts: Lead vocalist Annie Golden will appear in the cinema version of "Hair," but not the Broadway musical. At this point, it's heavily rumored that the band will be signed by EMI for England and the States . . . Portrait Records will release Dragon's debut album in October . . . Greg Kimmelman visited Cash Box last week to present a plaque on behalf of Jet Records, in appreciation of the success of ELO's largest selling album to date, "A New World Record." Jet is expected to make its York landing official shortly . . . Eddie Money has been signed to Columbia through Bill Graham's Wolfgang Productions . . . Dave Mason band members Mike Finnegan and Jim Krueger will also be recording solo albums for Columbia . . . J.B. Carmicle, east coast general manager of Cash Box, came back with positive reports after attending a performance by Cotillion/Atlantic recording artists Sister Sledge at Town Hall last week. Especially impressive was their version of Stevie Wonder's "As," which will be their new single . . . "Consequences" is the title of the first album by ex10cc members Lol Creme and Kevin Godley, featuring the revolutionary sounds produced by the new electronic device they developed themselves, the Gizmo. In England, it's a three-record boxed set . . . ABC recording artists the Dramatics are off on a national tour.

BABY COME BACK — In addition to showcasing the talents of the young, loud and sometimes snotty, New York's CBGB's has reflected the nostalgia of the new wave by hosting artists who made their names in years past, including the Box Tops' Alex Chilton, the Monkees' Peter Tork, and most recently, Screamin' Jay Hawkins, who was featured on a double bill with The Shirts this past weekend. Way ahead of his time when he scored a hit with "I Wanna Put A Spell On You" in 1954, Hawkins beat out Alice Cooper by over a decade with onstage stunts such as emerging from a coffin, etc. Basically a bluesman with a tremendous set of pipes, he often complained that the hit left him with a stigma that he was unable to shake off whenever he attempted to go commercial with anything less macabre. Now getting involved in blues, rock and funk, Hawkins will perform some of his old bits in full regalia for an upcoming motion picture released through Paramount; but onstage, his rendition of "I Wanna Put A Spell On You" will be enhanced only by the subtle suggestion of a red cape. Hawkins does have a voice he can depend on . . . A Little Bit More Trivia: Gary Loizzo, now engineering at Pumpkin Studios in Oakland, Illinois, was formerly with the American Breed . . . Jim Peterik, signed to Epic Records, was lead vocalist of the Ides Of March . . . Our Error: Cliff Davles, drummer with Ted Nugent, never went by any other name. Dick Morrissey, the erroneous a/k/a, is actually a reed player who is featured on a new LP released through Atlantic's Embryo label . . . Derek St. Holmes, second guitarist and vocalist for the Ted Nugent group, will be recording a solo album.

WEDDING BELLS — They aren't breaking up that old gang in the case of Lynyrd Skynyrd,

Gary and bride Martha Millen walked down the aisle to "Here Comes The Bride" as played by Skynyrd's keyboardist Billy Powell, with best man Ronnie Van Zant and ushers Allen Collins, guitar, and Deal Kilpatrick, road manager, following close behind. At the reception, attended by Skynyrd producer Tom Dowd and his wife, as well as by SIR Productions head Peter Rudge, music was provided by Austin Nichol, a band led by Ronnie's younger brother, Johnny Van Zant. (That's three bands in the family.)

POINTS WEST — WINDY CITY WELCOME — We reported last week that Stillwater's truck with all of their equipment inside had been stolen after a recent show in Chicago. This week there is good news and bad news. Yes, they've found the truck and no, they haven't found the equipment. The group had been looking at used trucks in Atlanta when they got a wire from Chicago police telling them that they had located their truck. The wire included the incidental information that the group not only owed the city money for storage but also four days worth of parking tickets from the spot theives had picked to store it informally. It's still a grand old town . . . The "Winner of a Day with Alan O'Day" turned out to be previous KTNQ winner Barbara Nichols, who had attended the same elementary school as Alan. Besides the "appetizers" provided by the O'Day album she received, Barbara also was treated to a barbecue for ten cooked by Alan himself . . . Talk about southern hospitality, California style, Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey asked the Marshall Tucker band to watch the Dodger/Atlanta Braves game from first baseline box seats, then proceeded to blast a home run over the wall for old boot camp buddy Toy Caldwell in a game that the local boys graciously dropped to Atlanta . . . The Atlantic cover-up has been exposed! The billboard that is a facsimile of the most recent Yes release is not an exact duplicate. The Pacific Outdoor sign folks do not like exposed buttocks no matter how well formed, so the tush-baring gentleman that adorns the cover now sports Bermuda shorts . . .

PHOTO PARADE — The upcoming double album of Beatles material that Capitol plans to release on Oct. 10 will feature the photography of Richard Avedon in a romantically textured shot framed with gold-leafed lettering. The album is simply titled "Love Songs." . . . Meanwhile, over at Columbia, Boz Scaggs has selected photography by Rolling Stone shutterbug Annie Leibovitz for his forthcoming album due just before Christmas. The single "Hard Times" will precede it . . . Tim Welsberg is at work on his new album in Sausalito's Record Plant with guests Dave Mason, Dan Fogelberg and Mick Jagger stopping by to help the first day. He has ordered a specially-made solid-gold flute for his album to be hand-delivered in an unmarked case . . . Gordon Lightfoot expects to release his "Endless Wire" after the first of the year with Lenny Waronker at the board. At his recent appearance at the Troubadour, Arlo Guthrie was on hand with his wife, Jackie, who had been a Troubadour waitress some ten years ago . . . A Loggins and Messina double-live LP taken from recent vintage concerts will be released mid-October . . . Foster Sylver's solo project, "Sugar Land," will be out in a couple of months with production by the rest of the Sylvers and some well-known session folks on hand to play. And, though he was flattered by the proposal, he's had to return a ring to a lovesick ten-year-old girl who had mailed him a one-carat diamond ring to show that she cared. Her mother was glad to have it back . . . Earth, Wind & Fire will embark on a three-month tour following their next release due within the month . . . Leonard Cohen's album is being done in collaboration with Phil Spector, his first production project in a while. Titled "Death Of A Ladies Man", the LP will feature guests by Jonl Mitchell and Bob Dylan and is due out in a month . . . Due any day now is a two-record set of Grateful Dead material from their Warner Bros. days titled "What A Long Strange Trip It's Been." Indeed . . . Whimsical columnist Erma Bombeck has an album due out on Warner Bros. Oct. 1 titled "The Family That Plays Together Gets On Each Other's Nerves." . . . Quincy Jones in New York scoring the film version of "The Wiz" and writing original music for principals Diana Ross, Michael Jackson, Lena Horne and Richard Pryor . . . Producer David Kershenbaum at work here in town on "The Best of Joan Baez" due out on A&M soon . . . Jackets are already being printed for an upcoming 2-LP Elvis set that will be released in time for Christmas.

BACKHANDED BOOST — Alan of "A Tribute to Elvis" fame says that the first thing he remembers about singing at the tender age of eight was his mother telling him he sounded as bad as Elvis. Meanwhile, his extended Las Vegas engagements continue to sell out . . . Speaking of sound, those attending Linda Ronstadt's Universal Amphitheatre shows have noticed a considerable improvement. It's no accident. Manager Peter Asher demanded in writing that they be allowed to use their own system, which produced the clearest, sweetest sounds heard in the Universal City hills for a long time. Opening night celebrities besieged booker Danny Bramson the following day for the same treatment when they appear there . . . Frankl Valli's new solo album is just about ready and is his seventh, and not his first, as erroneously printed here . . . By the way, last week's picture of Tom Werman with Cheap Trick should have mentioned that he was their producer and not a group member . . . Our Rolling Stone Special source tells us that Donny Osmond will play the part of Jann Wenner in the upcoming TV extravaganza . . . Portrait vice-president and general manager Larry Harris is rehearsing his professorial tonalities for a class he will conduct at USC entitled "Music and The Recording Industry: Practical and Business Aspects." The Wednesday night sessions begin Oct. 12 . . . A persistent rumor is that producer Richard Perry is about to launch his own record label . . . Stephen Bishop is contemplating sunglasses at last after the crew at a Dubuque, Iowa, Big Boy Restaurant recognized him and pressed him for autographs . . . Kudos to Freda Payne, who is the proud mother of a newly-born baby boy, born at Cedars-Sinai just prior to the birth of her new album due Oct. 19 . . . Likewise to Jorge Dalto, keyboard man and vocalist for the George Benson band, whose wife delivered an 8 lb. boy in New York recently . . . The Dwight Twilley band's Phil Seymour recovering in Tulsa from the extraction of two wisdom teeth . . .

LOVE TO MAKE WAVES — The Beach Boys' Mike Love has formed a musical group called Waves (not to be confused by the Polydor group of the same name) to do a series of benefit concerts this month to aid the Transcendental Meditation movement. Fellow Beach Boy Al Jardine will join the group consisting of Ron Altbach and Charles Lloyd and the group plans an album release as well as a TV documentary of the October dates.

Midwest Concerts Increase Exposure For Rock Music

by Charles Palkert

Last week, in the first of a two-part series examining this summer's concert season, we looked at the burgeoning role of state fairs as rock music venues. In the second part, we take a look at the season as a whole, the expansion of rock concert venues in the midwest, and the trend-setting role of large theme parks as new venues for summer rock concerts.

NEW YORK — Two trends emerged as particularly significant during the 1977 summer concert season: the unprecedented success of large-scale outdoor concerts in midwestern markets, and the increasing number of rock and pop acts who appeared at large theme entertainment parks across the country.

In addition, an unusually large number of superstar acts went on tour this summer, including Peter Frampton, Fleetwood Mac, Steve Miller, Pink Floyd, Crosby, Stills And Nash, Bob Seger, Emerson, Lake And Palmer, and Yes.

There were also some notable summer cancellations. The most prominent was the Led Zeppelin tour, which was curtailed by the unfortunate death of Robert Plant's son, and the Bob Marley tour, cancelled because of a soccer-playing injury to Marley's foot, which resulted in several operations.

Perhaps the biggest one-day stand-out of the season was the Grateful Dead's Labor Day weekend outdoor concert in English-town, New Jersey, which attracted a festive crowd of approximately 150,000 people. Another large outdoor event, a free concert given by the Beach Boys, took place in nearby Central Park in New York and was attended by an estimated 100,000 people.

Midwest Prominence

Three cities in the midwest — Milwaukee, Chicago, and Kansas City — stood out as the focus of considerable concert activity, drawing top name groups and record-breaking crowds to outdoor stadiums.

Peter Frampton, Steve Miller, Styx and Rick Derringer attracted 58,000 people to Kansas City's Arrowhead Stadium, while Pink Floyd drew 60,000 to Milwaukee's County Stadium, and 67,000 fans to Soldiers' Field in Chicago.

Other venues in Milwaukee and Kansas City contributed to the summer concert upsurge. Alpine Valley, a new outdoor amphitheatre in Milwaukee, featured such acts as

Streetside Adds A Store

NEW YORK — Streetside Records, a major St. Louis retailer, has scheduled the opening of a second store for October 1 in suburban Webster Grove, Missouri.

The new 4100-square-foot store will feature a separate full-line classical section with an open stereo and headphones available for customer use.

Jack Bronzman, owner of Streetside, commented that his second store marks the beginning of further expansion, and will also give Streetside "more clout with the record companies."

Bronzman also noted that he felt St. Louis has "a lot of room for expansion, because it's a large geographical area without a lot of dense population centers."

ALBUM REVIEWS

LOVE YOU LIVE — The Rolling Stones — Rolling Stones Records COC 2-9001 — Producer: The Glimmer Twins — List: 11.98

The venerable Rolling Stones have somehow managed to survive against incredible odds the assault upon their position as the uncrowned kings of rock and roll. And if any album of theirs can be said to be the definitive one, this is surely it. The selection of material, the live settings and the inclusion of two previously unrecorded tunes makes this album not only a must for Stones fans, but an essential primer for anyone seeking to understand why the Stones and rock music are synonymous.

BABY ITS ME — Diana Ross — Motown M7-89OR1 — Producer: Richard Perry — List: 7.98

Perry's direction from the control panel gives Diana the full-bodied instrumental support that helps her deliver those scintillating vocal messages with such spine-chilling precision. It's a lush full setting and one that Ms. Ross is fully capable of working in. Artists of her stature should be challenged and this material makes her stretch for us in a work of power and feeling.

ROUGH MIX — Pete Townshend & Ronnie Lane — MCA 2295 — Producer: Glyn Johns — List: 6.98

The greatly anticipated solo album by the Who's Pete Townshend has become a joint effort with Small Faces exile Ronnie Lane. Clearly, having a jolly good old time was part of the plan because these two are positively playful much of the time. But whether serious or not, the music is an AOR programmers' answer to a gray day. Guest appearances by John Entwistle, Charlie Watts and Eric Clapton don't hurt.

SEND IT — Ashford & Simpson — Warner Bros. BS 3088 — Producer: Nicholas Ashford and Valerie Simpson — List: 6.98

"Letting Go" has never seemed such a viable concept as on the title track of this sparkling new offering by this dramatic duo. The power of positive energy makes this album vibrate with the potential force of rational thinking and emotional sincerity. If they weren't such good musicians, they would make a dynamic team of pop psychologists, stressing the importance of actively dealing with life's many challenges.

THE BEST OF TAVARES — Capitol ST-11701 — Producer: varlous — List: 6.98

Taken from the years 1973 to the present, these Tavares chart-toppers should bring back a bundle of memories. Disco helped spread the Tavares fame far and wide, and its hard to imagine who, except the infirmity-ridden, could resist the urge to tap a foot, snap a finger, or clap hands at the infectious rhythms contained inside this record jacket. Even anti-disco fanatics cannot escape the captivating magic of the Tavares spell. As they say, "Check It Out."

SAY IT IN PRIVATE — Steve Goodman — Elektra/Asylum 7E-1118 — Producer: Joel Dorn — List: 6.98

For an artist such as Steve Goodman, who has maintained primarily a cult following in the past, it is ironic that his most accessible album to date is titled "Say It In Private." The composer of the classic "City Of New Orleans" has come up with some of his best songs yet in "My Old Man," "Daley's Gone" (a tongue-in-cheek chronicle of the life of Chicago's Mayor Daley), "You're The Girl I Love" and a cover of the Mary Wells' hit "Two Lovers." The latter two should gain Goodman Top 40, AOR and MOR airplay.

COME GO WITH US — Pockets — Columbia PC34879 — Producer: Verdine White — List: 6.98

This band projects an aura of excitement that seems to promise them a rich future. From the opening cut to the final track, these eight gentlemen blend their diverse musical backgrounds into a high-powered collective that is adept at a variety of styles from jazz to standard R&B. Their liberal use of horns and multi-part vocal harmonies give their music a pep and vitality that should assure them crossover airplay.

CARDIAC ARREST — Cameo — Chocolate City/Casablanca CCLP-2003 — Producer: Larry Blackmon — List: 6.98

As a self-appointed spokesman of funk, Larry Blackmon heads up a tight little octet with a playful attitude and a sophisticated delivery of primarily disco-oriented material. Naturally, R&B airwaves and disco floors were the first ones to feel the throb of Cameo but the vibrations have not been contained there, as Cameo has spread across the land and steadily worked up the pop chart. Their effective treatment of both up-tempo and slower songs should keep them there awhile.

A DIAMOND IS A HARD ROCK — Legs Diamond — Mercury SRM-1-1191 — Producer: Eddie Leonetti — List: 6.98

This high-decibel heavy-metal band takes its moniker from the "glamorous gangster with class" who earned underworld notoriety earlier this century. Whatever attributes the original mobster may have had, some of his characteristics passed on to this aggressive, tough no-nonsense band. Their stance has been softened somewhat this time out, implying only a greater sense of variety and musical ability and not an indication of their divorce from the primitive-power roots that launched them.

AJA — Steely Dan — ABC AB-1006 — Producer: Gary Katz — List: 7.98

Yet another Steely Dan tour has collapsed but until we can see them in the flesh, this album is an excellent way to bide the time. The ambitiousness of this work never takes away from its overall smoothness, and the music pours out of the speakers like a gently flowing audio stream. This is high-quality, finely textured stuff and Messrs. Fagen and Becker have assembled around them a superb supporting cast in a graceful and artful work that is par excellence.

RINGO THE 4TH — Ringo Starr — Atlantic SD 19108 — Producer: Arif Mardin — List: 7.98

Watching each of the former Beatles develop in their own individual direction over the years has been as entertaining as it has been enlightening. By far, the most unpredictable has been Ringo, and those that thought they had a bead on him had better look again. One thing is for certain: Ringo is having a great time here as he lends his distinctive vocals and his pounding drum kit to a set that a number of his more instantly recognizable friends contributed substantially toward.

THE STRANGER — Billy Joel — Columbia JC 34987 — Producer: Phil Ramone — List: 7.98

Billy opens with an up-tempo slap at social climbing that fades into the sobering title tune which is particularly riveting with a lyric sheet in your hands. The stranger to whom he refers is a shadow of Everyman and we've all had to face that part of ourselves that we usually like to forget. Billy's thoughtful and wry comments on a variety of topics are a welcome addition to the somewhat over-commercial songs that vie for mass attention these days. Piano man, do your stuff.

MENAGERIE — Bill Withers — Columbia JC 34903 — Producer: Bill Withers, Clarence McDonald, Kenl Burke & Clifford Coulter — List: 7.98

When the film "Looking For Mr. Goodbar" begins to play in theatres across the country, the alert ear will identify the vocalist who sings "She Wants To Get Down" as Bill Withers, whose work on vinyl is as irresistible as the discos that the film's central character haunts night after night. However, this is not a soundtrack album, but a solid collection of individually crafted songs, each of which is treated with loving care as an entity in itself.

THE SHOW MUST GO ON — Four Tops — ABC AB-1014 — Producer: Lawrence Payton — List: 6.98

The vocal superiority of the seasoned Four Tops is once again the dominant factor in this new offering from the high-powered quartet. The musical arrangements seem tailor-made to their singing style and the session men complement that collective vocal skill with a rich undercurrent of sound. Though many of the numbers are dance tunes, the departure from a standard disco beat on many tracks is a fresh and welcome innovation.

GOLDEN EARRING LIVE — Golden Earring — MCA 2-8009 — Producer: John Krulek — List: 9.98

Golden Earring is captured live in this two-record package of ten selections performed in European concerts. Definitely aimed at those who like their music in full doses, no tune here is less than five minutes in length and all are well-tailored musical constructions whose passages are fueled with rising action and satisfying crescendo conclusions. Excellent for headphones, wee-hour radio and freeway tie-ups.

DELUSIONS — First Choice — Gold Mind/Salsoul GZS-7501 — Producer: Baker-Harris-Young Productions — List: 6.98

The unstoppable success of the hit single "Doctor Love" has focused popular attention on this tempting trio once again. This collection naturally has a hefty helping of rhythmic dance numbers with a couple of smoky sway numbers to appease the romantics, and a fine version of Stevie Wonder's "Love Having You Around," in a pleasing package of music with the Philadelphia sound and a universal beat.

NOT FAR FROM FREE — Don Harrison — Mercury SRM-1-1185 — Producer: Ken Scott — List: 6.98

This time out, the spotlight that Harrison rightly deserves does not have to be shared since Harrison has left behind his former associates to record this striking album on his own, with able support from producer Ken Scott and session men that leave him plenty of room. Don's voice, a sensitive and emotive instrument, is finally given the artistic range and musical backdrop it has longed for. Even his compositions seem to burst with lyrical pride and new hopefulness.

INTOXICATION — Rory Block — Chrysalis CHR-1157 — Producer: Roger Watson & Rory Block — List: 7.98

Rory Block's debut LP for Chrysalis is a R&B-flavored collection of sizzling and spirited tracks. Rory was born white but she oozes forth such a soulful delivery as to forever lay to rest color boundaries that help categorize music but sometimes serve to stifle across-the-board acceptance. This is an album that defies easy labelling but invites repeated listening.

ALBUM REVIEWS

LOVE YOU LIVE — The Rolling Stones — Rolling Stones Records COC 2-9001 — Producer: The Glimmer Twins — List: 11.98

The venerable Rolling Stones have somehow managed to survive against incredible odds the assault upon their position as the uncrowned kings of rock and roll. And if any album of theirs can be said to be the definitive one, this is surely it. The selection of material, the live settings and the inclusion of two previously unrecorded tunes makes this album not only a must for Stones fans, but an essential primer for anyone seeking to understand why the Stones and rock music are synonymous.

BABY ITS ME — Diana Ross — Motown M7-89OR1 — Producer: Richard Perry — List: 7.98

Perry's direction from the control panel gives Diana the full-bodied instrumental support that helps her deliver those scintillating vocal messages with such spine-chilling precision. It's a lush full setting and one that Ms. Ross is fully capable of working in. Artists of her stature should be challenged and this material makes her stretch for us in a work of power and feeling.

ROUGH MIX — Pete Townshend & Ronnie Lane — MCA 2295 — Producer: Glyn Johns — List: 6.98

The greatly anticipated solo album by the Who's Pete Townshend has become a joint effort with Small Faces exile Ronnie Lane. Clearly, having a jolly good old time was part of the plan because these two are positively playful much of the time. But whether serious or not, the music is an AOR programmers' answer to a gray day. Guest appearances by John Entwistle, Charlie Watts and Eric Clapton don't hurt.

SEND IT — Ashford & Simpson — Warner Bros. BS 3088 — Producer: Nicholas Ashford and Valerie Simpson — List: 6.98

"Letting Go" has never seemed such a viable concept as on the title track of this sparkling new offering by this dramatic duo. The power of positive energy makes this album vibrate with the potential force of rational thinking and emotional sincerity. If they weren't such good musicians, they would make a dynamic team of pop psychologists, stressing the importance of actively dealing with life's many challenges.

THE BEST OF TAVARES — Capitol ST-11701 — Producer: various — List: 6.98

Taken from the years 1973 to the present, these Tavares chart-toppers should bring back a bundle of memories. Disco helped spread the Tavares fame far and wide, and its hard to imagine who, except the infirmity-ridden, could resist the urge to tap a foot, snap a finger, or clap hands at the infectious rhythms contained inside this record jacket. Even anti-disco fanatics cannot escape the captivating magic of the Tavares spell. As they say, "Check It Out."

SAY IT IN PRIVATE — Steve Goodman — Elektra/Asylum 7E-1118 — Producer: Joel Dorn — List: 6.98

For an artist such as Steve Goodman, who has maintained primarily a cult following in the past, it is ironic that his most accessible album to date is titled "Say It In Private." The composer of the classic "City Of New Orleans" has come up with some of his best songs yet in "My Old Man," "Daley's Gone" (a tongue-in-cheek chronicle of the life of Chicago's Mayor Daley), "You're The Girl I Love" and a cover of the Mary Wells' hit "Two Lovers." The latter two should gain Goodman Top 40, AOR and MOR airplay.

COME GO WITH US — Pockets — Columbia PC34879 — Producer: Verdine White — List: 6.98

This band projects an aura of excitement that seems to promise them a rich future. From the opening cut to the final track, these eight gentlemen blend their diverse musical backgrounds into a high-powered collective that is adept at a variety of styles from jazz to standard R&B. Their liberal use of horns and multi-part vocal harmonies give their music a pep and vitality that should assure them crossover airplay.

TURNIN' ON — High Inergy — Gordy/Motown G6-978S1 — Producer: Kent Washburn, Al Willits, Dee Ervin & Jimmy Holiday — List: 6.98

Aided by a red hot single, "You Can't Turn Me Off (In The Middle Of Turning Me On)", High Inergy no doubt has a real winner in this scintillating selection of vocally exquisite material. Though the slower moving ballads are tastefully done, it is the faster paced tunes that show off this saucy quartet's talents in the best light. One listen will tell you that this group is appropriately named.

WHAT COLOR IS LOVE — Dee Dee Sharp Gamble — Philadelphia International/CBS PZ 34437 — Producer: varlous — List: 6.98

Ms. Gamble's alternately whispery and full-bodied vocals give her a dramatic range of possibilities which she uses with superb efficiency in adding delicate audio shadings to her material. The repertoire here makes maximum use of the multifaceted talents of this singer while the carefully built arrangements surround her unique voice with a lush but not gaudy setting. Forgive the pun, but Gamble seems a sure bet.

MAGAZINE — Sherbet — MCA MCA-2304 — Producer: Richard Lush & Sherbet — List: 6.98

This Australian quintet has yet to make a major impact in this country, but unlike their fellow countrymen Abba, Sherbet has both a pop/MOR appeal and the ability to rock with the best of them. Their soft-toned harmonies smooth the rough edges when the rock gets gritty but the overall mood is one of studied balance and control. Their sophistication and their clear-eyed appeal should convince even the terminally cynical in one listening.

CYCLES — Redbone — RCA AFL1-2352 — Producer: Linda Creed & Jerry Goldstein — List: 6.98

The album cover artwork is a wry hint at what to expect from several of the American Indian-flavored rhythm treatments that are the percussive background of the opening numbers. But that is only one facet of this jazz-tinged, R&B highlighted album with gospel harmonies and enough rock to keep things peppy. In spite of the various individual elements, the overall result is amazingly cohesive and should meet widespread support.

GONE TO EARTH — Barclay James Harvest — MCA MCA 2302 — Producer: Barclay James Harvest & David Rohl — List: 6.98

Even to the non-religious, the "Hymn" that opens this grand new album has a chilling effect. Unquestionably, this is BJH's finest work, recalling the best of the Moody Blues, a thought one comes to even before the ironically titled song that ends side one — "Poor Man's Moody Blues." But BJH is hardly a cheap imitation of their fellow subjects of the Crown. After 11 years together, they are above compromise and produce an elegant symphonic sound that continues to gain wider support.

MAGIC IS A CHILD — Nektar — Polydor PD-1-6115 — Producer: Nektar & Jeff Kawalck — List: 6.98

Nektar is another band whose skill and sophistication so far exceeds their popular reputation and commercial acceptance as to call serious questions of cultural taste to mind. But they haven't abandoned their polished intelligent approach to musical composition just to get a hit going. Nektar is a group of serious musicians and this album is once again representative of their high standards.

IN CONTROL — The Controllers — Juana/T.K. 200,001 — Producer: Frederick Knight — List: 6.98

TALKING HEADS '77 — Talking Heads — Sire/Warner Bros. SR 6036 — Producer: Tony Bongiovi, Lance Quinn & Talking Heads — List: 6.98

Primarily because some of their best performances were at CBGB's, this band has been tagged with the "punk" label, which fits them about as well as a tux at the beach. They are indeed young, but they are literate and witty writers and favor tightly arranged melodies and smooth harmonies. An interesting and highly appealing band that bears watching.

BEACHED — Ricci Martin — Epic PE 34834 — Producer: Carl Wilson & Billy Hinsche — List: 6.98

Dean Martin's other son, Ricci, was on his way to becoming a cameraman when he started fooling around on the piano a couple of years ago and discovered that a well of musical ideas lay untapped within him. Beach Boy Carl Wilson noticed too, and after a family gathering, Wilson convinced Martin that they should get into a studio to lay down tracks. That spontaneous encounter led to this pop-flavored work, showcasing Martin's smooth vocals with just enough bite.

Father's & Sun's Ups Prices; Other One-Stops Holding Line

by Mark Mehler

INDIANAPOLIS — Father's and Sun's one-stop operation has informed its retail customers of a price hike of five cents on $6.98 list albums and three cents on $7.98 list LPs, effective September 19. The new prices are $3.85 on $6.98 list LPs and $4.43 on $7.98 list LPs. Tape prices on $7.98 list product, however, have been lowered from $4.70 to $4.65. This is the company's first increase in 2½ years.

Don Simpson, buyer for Father's and Sun's, noted that "any major one-stop has to give ample thought to raising prices to meet manufacturers' increases." This was in reference to distributor price hikes instituted by WEA and Capitol earlier this year. Other major manufacturers, however, have yet to follow suit.

Simpson further cited increases in the company's cost of doing business, notably in payroll and capital expansion needs.

The reaction of other large one-stops around the country over the eight months since the WEA price hike has varied. Some, like Peter's One-Stop in Boston, have instituted dual pricing structures for WEA product and other product (Cash Box, January 29, 1977). Peter McDermott of that one-stop explained that dual pricing allows him to recoup some of his cost increase and at the same time "be fair to my customers," who are generally smaller retailers already hard-pressed by high overhead costs. "I worked in retail some years ago," McDermott indicated, "and I feel for these guys."

Another eastern one-stop owner said he has held the line in prices over the past year and hoped to continue doing so, at least until other labels hiked their subdistributor price. CBS was heavily rumored last winter to be considering such a move, but has not yet done so.

Bill Leaner, manager of Ernie's One-Stop in Chicago, said he believed most one-stops, like his own, were simply waiting for new developments, such as a CBS wholesale price rise. "It's just a feeling I have," he hinted, "but I think there will be some CBS action in the next month."

Jerry Richman, of Richman Brothers in Philadelphia, said he has thus far held off raising his prices a few cents to cover the manufacturers' increases. However, he lamented, "If we don't do something soon, we're going to be in big trouble."

Richman and other one-stop operators pointed out that they must maintain their small margins in order to meet their other expenses. If the across-the-board hikes to $7.98 list price ultimately cut into unit LP sales, it will be all the more crucial to maintain margins, they said.

Schwartz Bros. Posts Income, Sales Rises For Three-Month Period

NEW YORK — Schwartz Brothers, Inc., a Washington, D.C.-based distributor and rack jobber and owner of the 17-store Harmony Hut retail chain, reported that net income for the three-month period ended July 31 rose to $16,737 from $12,319 for the year-earlier period.

Sales for the three-month period totaled $5,984,780, up from $5,305,037 for the same period last year.

Schwartz Brothers' net income for the six-month period ended July 31 increased to $47,782 from $31,148 for the year-earlier period. Sales for the six-month period rose to $12,196,263 from $10,536,529 last year.

Schwartz Brothers reported increased profits in its retail operation with the same number of stores it had last year. Also, the company announced that the closing date of its fiscal year has been changed from December 31 to January 31.

Sager 45 Promo Features Mailed Eviction Notices

LOS ANGELES — Elektra/Asylum Records has initiated a new promotion for Carole Bayer Sager's single, "You're Moving Out Today" which features mailers designed as eviction notices.

Lou Maglia, E/A's national singles sales director, originated the idea to help push the single in the United States. Earlier this year, the song went to number six on the British charts and sold more than 250,000 copies, according to E/A.

The mailer is a standard eviction notice form signed by Carole Bayer Sager informing the recipient of other songs she has written and that the single is now available in the U.S.

Maglia and E/A's art director Tony Lane put together the forms in collaboration.

London Appoints Sales Director, Picks Distributor

NEW YORK — London Records has announced the appointment of Charles Schicke as director of sales and distribution for the label.

Schicke, in addition to controlling all phases of sales activity, will continue his responsibility for special projects. He joined London in 1973 after serving as national sales manager at Epic Records, and earlier as national promotion manager for Columbia Masterworks and director of special services for Columbia's special projects.

In addition, London has named Jim Burns as Schicke's administrative assistant. Burns joined the label as an accountant in 1969.

In another development, Western Merchandisers, Inc., which recently took over M.S. Distributors' Denver operation, has been tapped as London's distributor in that market. M.S. formerly handled the label there.

Picks of the week

CHICAGO (Columbia 10620)

Baby, What A Big Surprise (3:04) (Polish Prince — ASCAP) (Cetera)

Peter Cetera continues to be the songwriting standard bearer with this pop ballad. Frequent repetition drives the memorable chorus home, while classically influenced strings, brass and vocals lend a stately touch. A strong initial single from "Chicago XI" for pop radio.

THE SYLVERS (Capitol 4493)

Any Way You Want Me (2:40) (Rosy — ASCAP) (Sylvers, Sylvers)

The Sylvers achieved top 20 pop chart status with "High School Dance," in the summertime, no less! Here they've gotten a bit more adventurous by writing and producing their own record, and the result is light bubblegum that would be at home on any pop or R&B playlist.

JEFF LYNNE (Jet/UA 19116)

Doin' That Crazy Thing (3:25) (Unart/Jet — BMI) (Lynne)

ELO apparently doesn't provide enough of an outlet for Jeff Lynne's craziness, evidenced by his first solo single. Using catch phrases from disco and other jive for lyrics, Lynne has tamed a riot of different sounds into a cohesive record that defies categorization. Something new from one of the wildest imaginations heard on top 40.

RAM JAM (Epic 50451)

Keep Your Hands On The Wheel (2:45) (Adbredar — ASCAP) (Millius, Graves)

Ram Jam and producers Katz and Kasanetz became heroes when they broke into top 40 radio with the unusual, hard-rocking interpretation of Leadbelly's "Black Betty." This cut from the subsequently released album is more in the Rolling Stones' type of rock and roll groove, with the same sizzling guitar work that made the last record.

HELEN REDDY (Capitol 4487)

The Happy Girls (3:58) (Almo/Irving/Buggerlugs — ASCAP/BMI) (Reddy, Fowley, Mankey, Henn)

Following up one single success from what has proved to be a fruitful pairing of Reddy and producer Kim Fowley, this "Ear Candy" cut exhibits the influence of co-writer Reddy on the lyric. A series of situations is used to tell a story in the form of a ballad with a haunting chorus.

SANTANA (Columbia 10616)

She's Not There (3:19) (Al Gallico — BMI) (Argent)

The classic Rod Argent/Zombies song retains much of the sense of magic and mystery in this interpretation by Santana. The Latin percussion serves only as a slight embellishment, while the organ and Carlos Santana's screaming, emotive guitar solos dominate. Literally a hot record.

ROGER DALTRY (MCA 40800)

Avenging Anne (3:11) (April — ASCAP) (Pratt)

This well-known Andy Pratt song has been the favorite of FM programmers since the release of Daltrey's solo album "One Of The Boys." Macho Roger didn't choose to sing in the first person as a woman, as was Pratt's novel approach, but it's a great song in an energetic, rocking performance.

CAT STEVENS (A&M 1971)

Sweet Jamaica (3:03) (Colgems-EMI — ASCAP) (Stevens)

Cat Stevens has a way of putting across a hymn to his beloved that no one else can match, and this selection from "Izitso" is a classic example. Shifting from ballad to folk dance moods, he always squeezes emotion from every word. For single and LP-oriented stations.

RUSH (Mercury 73958)

Closer To The Heart (2:52) (Core — ASCAP) (Lee, Lifeson)

English folk acoustic guitars and chimes open this selection from "Farewell To Kings." Very like a Led Zepelin number in terms of structure, timbres, and the role of the lead vocalist, this is a strong song that could capitalize on Rush's large concert following.

EMOTIONS (Columbia 10622)

Don't Ask My Neighbors (3:33) (Unichappell — BMI) (Scarborough)

Having scored one of the year's most enduring number one records with "Best Of My Love," the Emotions are in the perfect position to expand their following by showing many sides of the album "Rejoice." This cut slows down the tempo for a sultry, almost tropical mood, showcasing the vocals in a cloudy, reverberant environment. Instant crossover.

CROSBY, STILLS & NASH (Atlantic 3432)

Fair Game (2:46) (Gold Hill — ASCAP) (Stills)

Even though they first parted ways about six years ago, the unique combination that was Crosby, Stills & Nash was never replaced, and they proved it by coming back with a top ten single and a platinum album. This second selection combines a snappy Latin rhythm, neatly interlocking harmonies, and layers of Stephen Stills' thoughtful acoustical guitar work.

JAMES TAYLOR (Columbia 10602)

Your Smiling Face (2:43) (Country Road — BMI) (Taylor)

Taylor returned to the upper reaches of the Cash Box Top 100 Singles chart with his mellow version of "Handy Man," and he's riding the streak with this second upbeat selection from "JT." Some whimsical vocal gymnastics that add the crucial personal touch, and station adds should flood in.

THE BABYS (Chrysalis 2173)

Isn't It Time (3:23) (Jacon/X-Ray — BMI) (Conrad, Kennedy)

An understated, classic rock piano phrase sets the mood for this first single from the group's second album, "Broken Heart." The frequent shifts from a ballad feeling to surging, orchestral rock are handled with ease by lead vocalist John Waite. Beautiful charts for the horns and strings, and an overall impressive production by Ron Nevison. Already showing lots of top 40 potential.

THE JACKSONS (Epic 50454)

Goin' Places (3:27) (Mighty Three — BMI) (Gamble, Huff)

High-speed travel is one of the highs of which rock songs are often the subject, and this high-stepping song about jet flight has all the thrills of a first takeoff. Gamble & Huff's songwriting and production, combined with the Jackson's performing talent, continue to sound like the perfect formula.

PATTI LABELLE (Epic 50445)

Joy To Have Your Love (3:15) (Raydio — ASCAP, Polo Grounds/Gospel Birds — BMI) (Parker, Cohen, Ellison)

This selection from her first solo album proves that Patti LaBelle has a more than powerful enough voice to go it on her own. The chorus of this tune is catchy, but the record's most exciting moments come when Ms. LaBelle stretches out long, sinewy notes of incredible duration. Aimed at pop and R&B stations.

THELMA HOUSTON (Tamla/Motown 54287)

I'm Here Again (3:50) (Jobete — ASCAP, Stone Diamond — BMI) (Wakefield, Sutton, Sutton)

Building from a dreamy, harp-laden melody into a harder disco rhythm, this song from Ms. Houston's album "The Devil In Me" sounds a great deal like the song and arrangement that brought her to recognition early this year. "Don't Leave Me This Way." She sings up a storm, so it's all a question of public acceptance of a fairly obvious follow-up.

THE HUES CORPORATION (Warner/Curb 8454)

Telegram Of Love (3:14) (Jimi Lane/Ensign — BMI) (Holmes)

With the rhythm guitar marking out the beat with Morse code accuracy, this tight singing trio takes off on a variety of harmonic combinations. For disco and R&B airplay at the initial stages. This happy record could cross into other areas.

THE CONTROLLERS (Juana/TK 3414)

Somebody's Gotta Win, Somebody's Gotta Lose (3:49) (Every-Knight — BMI) (Camon)

From the album "In Control," this waltzing ballad belies the mechanistic quality of this group's name. With its clear and relaxed lead vocal, this record presents blues in a big-city style that will catch on with R&B stations.

ROSIE (RCA 11090)

The Words Don't Matter (3:32) (David Lasley/Lana Marrano/Sunbury — ASCAP) (Lasley, Marrano)

An easygoing ballad from a smoothly-blended group of vocalists. The lyric and harmony of the chorus constitute an impressive hook, and the vocal arrangement provides pleasant changes for the record's duration. With pop, easy listening and R&B possibilities, this single could draw attention to the album "Last Dance."

CORYELL/MOUZON (Atlantic 3420)

Rock 'N Roll Lovers (4:02) (Mouzon — ASCAP) (Mouzon)

The guitar/drum pairing that infused energy into the 11th House made a welcome move when they got back together for their latest album. This bluesy shuffle derives melodic interest from the guitar. Mainly for FM stations.

PLEASURE (Fantasy 803)

Let Me Be The One (3:30) (Funky P.O./At-Home — ASCAP) (Brewster, Pleasure)

Built on frequent chorus repetitions, this single exhibits disco potential without being overbearing in terms of bassy rhythms. The best features are improvisations by the lead vocalist and an a capella coda that highlights the chorus in its last statement.

RICHARD HELL & THE VOIDOIDS (Sire/WB 1003)

Blank Generation (2:40) (Automatic — BMI) (Hell)

This title cut from the former Television bassist's new album features his vacantly ravenous vocal and a strong chord progression. Hell's cleverest touch is leaving blank spaces for the word "blank."

IAN TAMBLYN (Cream 7719)

One Of These Days (3:59) (Manda/Butter — BMI) (Tamblyn)

A ballad orchestrated for piano and strings only, reinforcing its bittersweet mood. Tamblyn is a sensitive vocalist, and though his lyrics are a bit heavy on the philosophy, they do a good job of expressing a complex emotion. For varied formats.

WALTER MURPHY (Private Stock 166)

Could It Be The Music (3:28) (RFT — BMI) (Murphy)

Having made his major impact with rearranged classics, Murphy makes a radical departure with this original song, mainly a vocal performance rather than an instrumental. It's a funky tune, sung by a large chorus of vocalists and elaborately orchestrated. Could benefit by Murphy's disco track record in the eventual attainment of airplay.

JIMMY BRISCOE AND THE BEAVERS (Wanderick/TK 70001)

Invitation To The World (3:45) (Sherlyn/Wanderick — BMI) (Kyser)

A call to unity delivered at a frenzied pace by Briscoe. His clear lead vocal is the distinguishing feature, while the lyric and chorus are reminiscent of some of the Isley Brothers' work. For disco and R&B stations.

DANNY KIRWAN (DJM/Amherst 1025)

Let It Be (2:29) (Maclen — BMI) (Lennon, McCartney)

Formerly a central guitar figure in Fleetwood Mac, Kirwan has veered in musical directions that are quite different from what that group was and what they have become. This is a reggae version of the familiar Beatle song, vocalized in a relaxed style by Kirwan. Not quite the thing for the American top 40 audience, but an interesting item, especially for FM progressives.

THE CHI-LITES (Mercury 73954)

If I Had A Girl (3:30) (Josiah — BMI) (Hurtt)

From their album "The Fantastic Chi-Lites," this is the kind of syrupy love song that is expected from this Chicago-based singing group. Falsetto harmonies and a melodic string section, along with a plaintive harmonica solo, are the distinctive features of this R&B-oriented single.

DISCO FRITZ AND HIS SAUERKRAUTS (Pausa 705)

The Yodel Thing (I Like Gemutlichkeit) Part 1 (2:45) (Gammarock — BMI) (Kuebler, Evans)

Yodeling and oom-pah are two musical forms indigenous to Switzerland, so they usually sound best echoing against an Alpine ridge. Here's a disco record that uses both motifs, with echo effects provided by the modern studio. Novelty records have to be downright silly to make it, and this one fills the bill.

MILLIE JACKSON IS FEELIN' BITCHY AND EVERYBODY'S LISTENING.

Millie Jackson's back with a mouthful. She's talking up a storm and singing her soul off. And everybody is starting to listen.

They've been listening at hundreds of stations around the country. "If You're Not Back In Love By Monday" is climbing up the charts. The response is getting bigger and hotter and very beautiful.

Everybody's listening, and the message is this. There's no holding back a lady that's feelin' bitchy.

CBS Jazz Series To Feature 'Live' Parker, Davis

LOS ANGELES — Rare live recordings of Charlie Parker and Miles Davis as well as some previously unreleased material by Gerry Mulligan will be issued as part of Columbia Records' new Contemporary Masters Series.

According to Bruce Lundvall, president of CBS Records, the series is designed to showcase "an important musical era which was not fully documented at CBS — jazz in and surrounding the fabulous forties and fifties, one of the most innovative periods in music — in fact, a period which has had a strong influence on the great progressive artists of today."

Some of the Parker and Davis live recordings, made by amateurs on unsophisticated equipment, have been unavailable to the majority of record buyers, usually appearing in poorly mastered discs.

The initial release in Columbia's new series will include two single LPs and one double album featuring Charlie Parker, one Miles Davis LP recorded live in 1949 at the Paris Festival International, one album spotlighting Gerry Mulligan's work as an arranger, plus volumes two and three of the Lester Young Story, both two-record sets.

The single albums will carry a list price of $7.98, while the double albums will list for $8.98.

Columbia plans to support the Contemporary Masters Series with print and radio advertising as well as in-store displays. Future releases in the series will feature, among others, Duke Ellington, Dizzy Gillespie, Bud Powell, Lee Konitz and Clifford Brown.

three exceptional modern trumpet players: Ted Curson, Bill Hardman and Jimmy Owens. Max Roach, Brown's partner, will be a special guest.

Philly Joe Jones and Red Garland are both signed to Galaxy and will record their first album, with bassist Ron Carter added, shortly.

Yusef Lateef moves from Atlantic to CTI. The great reedman is taking time out from his busy teaching schedule for an extensive tour over the next few months.

A dozen new titles of the Japanese Riverside series have been imported here by Fantasy and should be in the shops shortly.

New York's rock club, "The Other End," begins Monday jazz sessions with the likes of Bob Dorough, Earl Coleman and the Jackie Paris-Anne Marie Moss group.

Clubs, concerts and stuff: legendary guitarist, Bill DeArango concertizing at the New York Jazz Museum; Warren Vache, young trumpet star, at Crawdaddy from September 26; Marian McPartland is back at Bemelmans Bar at the Hotel Carlyle; Bobby Hutcherson set for an east coast tour beginning shortly; Phil Woods will headline a new Festival in Guerneville, California at which Alan Broadbent and Irene Kral will also star.

Long tall Dexter Gordon returns next month for an extensive tour, beginning with a concert at Avery Fisher Hall November 6. The concert, which will be recorded by Columbia, will be a split show with a medium-sized band arranged by Slide Hampton for the first set and Dexter and "guests" for part two. Guests who are already slated to appear include Stan Getz, Max Roach and Sonny Stitt. Dexter's next Columbia, "Sophisticated Giant," ships on October 17.

Columbia will also ship the Contemporary Masters LPs about the same time. While much of the Charlie Parker and Lester Young material has been previously available, the Gerry Mulligan and Miles Davis albums are largely unknown even to collectors. The Miles is from a Paris concert in May 1949 with James Moody, Tadd Dameron and Kenny Clarke; the Mulligan ("The Arranger") contains Gerry's charts for Gene Krupa and Elliot Lawrence from the '40s, as well as big band performances under his own leadership from 1957

Last but certainly not least, the 20th annual Monterey Jazz Festival drew a reported 30,000 paid admissions on the weekend of September 16-18.

JAZZ ALBUM PICKS

BUNDLE OF JOY — Freddie Hubbard — Columbia JC 34902 — Producer: Bert DeCoteaux — List: 7.98

Backed by strings, horns, voices and a studio full of superb musicians, Hubbard's trumpet comes through with assertive clarity of tone and direction. The high caliber of his contribution to the trumpet-harp duet on the delicately reflective "Portrait Of Jenny" should silence those purists who lately have accused Freddie of going "pop." While aiming for broader commercial appeal, Hubbard nevertheless maintains a brilliant level of musicianship.

IT'S NECESSARY — Jimmy Smith — Mercury SRM-1-1189 — Producer: Lola Smith — List: 6.98

Since 1956, Smith has been the best known and most influential jazz organist. This album features him in a live setting from his own Jimmy Smith's Supper Club in Hollywood, California doing three Smith originals and four tunes by other writers. Smith takes the subtle approach here, often preferring to tease the audience with understatement, rather than overwhelm them with the obvious.

LOVE EYES — Art Webb — Atlantic SD 18226 — Producers: Jerry Schoenbaum and John Lee — List: 6.98

In his second offering from Atlantic, Art Webb's flute is still skipping down a bright, vibrant road. Lush production numbers abound, and the addition of strings and vocals to the musical ensemble does not alter the attention focus as Webb's lyrical virtuosity transcends all barriers with carefree delight. A wonderfully intensive showcase for Webb. Subject to AOR and jazz lists. Warp factor: Well, at least it tracks...

ECLYPSO — Tommy Flanagan — Inner City 3009 — Producers: Weber & Winckelmann — List: 6.98

Twenty years ago, Tommy Flanagan made a trio LP with Elvin Jones on drums which has achieved legendary status. Now we have a reunion, and the music seems destined for a similar reception. With the exception of the leader's title track, the program consists of jazz classics by Parker, Rollins and Dameron among others. The music flows effortlessly through the pianist's fingers, and Jones and George Mraz on bass lend inspirational support. A super piano trio.

AN EVENING WITH LOUIS ARMSTRONG — CNP Cresendo 11001 — List: 8.98

A Pasadena concert, circa mid-50s, by Louis and his all-stars of the time, with Trummy Young, Billy Kyle and Ed Hall. There is fine playing by everyone and superb singing by Pops and Velma Middleton. Much of the show is fairly standard for this group, but there is plenty of inspiration here. The audience enjoyed everything, as will the listeners to this fine double album.

MOVIN' UP — Don Patterson — Muse 5121 — Producers: Siebert & Cole — List: 6.98

On the surface this appears to be another routine organ combo, but the presence of the fiery Richie Cole on alto and Vic Juris on guitar liven up the proceedings considerably. Cole steals the album whenever he is on, and his two originals are among the best things here. Juris is consistent and inventive each time out. Organist Patterson tends to play too long, but on the Cole lines and Horace Silver's "Room 608," he cooks well.

P E R S P E C T I V E

INTRODUCTION

As a glance at the Cash Box Top Forty Classical Album chart will show, opera is an extremely important part of the classical music business. On the most recent CB classical chart (September 24 issue), the RCA recording of Gershwin's "Porgy & Bess" was number one; and there were 16 complete opera recordings and five recital albums, together comprising more than half of the chart entries. The results were similar for the Top Forty Classical Albums listed in the 1977-78 Anniversary Edition of Cash Box: 15 of the entries were complete opera recordings and five more were recital LPs.

By all accounts, the biggest single factor in the opera success story is the long-lasting loyalty of opera buffs to their favorite singers. Although many buyers of opera sets are obsessed collectors who will do anything to plug up a hole in their dikes of vinyl, fans form the largest group of opera lovers. When a diva like Renata Scotti or John Sutherland signs autographs in a record store, it is the hard-core fans who stand in line, waiting to see, touch and talk to their idol.

With the name of one of these top stars on its outside cover, the success of an opera recording is practically assured. A superstar can push the sales way above average for a classical record, and will ensure the set's longevity. And, according to several record company executives interviewed for this special issue, even if you don't employ recording of an opera with all its appeal to collectors, you cannot succeed without a "name" in its cast.

Because operas are so expensive to record, an individual manufacturer cannot afford to put out very many of them in a given year. However, the top international singers would like to record as much as possible, and some of them have esoteric tastes. Therefore, while they can command more money from a record company if they are willing to sign an exclusive contract, very few opera stars today have such contracts with the manufacturers. Instead, they tend to record for two or more companies.

This is very unlike the situation that pertained 20 years ago, when three companies had the majority of great opera singers locked up. Nowadays, free to employ almost anyone they can afford for operatic projects, more companies have focused a greater part of their energy in this field.

The result has been good for the whole industry. Artists have more freedom to do what they want; A&R departments can collect casts that make the most sense for particular opera recording, and, above all, more opera is being sold than ever before. As one executive put it, "We're always looking at our competitors, but the more good things that are done, the better it is for the entire industry. We all somehow benefit."

Opera recordings have one peculiar quality which sets them off from most other kinds of LPs: Regardless of advances in the state of the sonic arts (which are of secondary importance to opera buffs) they tend to continue selling steadily year after year, sometimes for decades. Therefore, it should be remembered, as the manufacturers display their operatic wares on the following pages, that some of these records are going to be with us for a long time.

Ernest Gilbert:

RCA Releasing Unusual Number Of Opera Albums

RCA Records released more opera recordings last year than they did in any one of the past 15 years. Since January alone, the label has issued new versions of Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," Barber's "Vanessa," Weber-Mahler's "Die Drei Pintos," Giordano's "Andrea Chenier," Gershwin's "Porgy & Bess," Montemezzi's "L'Amore dei Tre Re" and Gounod's "Faust."

Part of the reason for the unusually large release schedule has been RCA's commitments to its European affiliates. "Die Drei Pintos," for example, was licensed from a German affiliate, while the soon-to-be-released "La Perichole" by Offenbach is coming from Erato, a French affiliate.

However, RCA itself is strongly committed to the opera field. Its own major opera projects, which this year included such works as "Porgy & Bess," "Andrea Chenier" and "L'Amore dei Tre Re," often run up costs in the six-figure range; nevertheless, the company views opera as a worthwhile investment, because it accounts for a high proportion of RCA's bestselling classical records.

Ernest Gilbert, director of merchandising for RCA Red Seal, pointed out that the success of almost any standard opera with a big-name cast is guaranteed by the worldwide demand for such recordings. "An internationally cast opera can be guaranteed international sales. You can't expect that from, say, an American orchestra. (Leonard) Bernstein probably sells well in Europe, but most American orchestras and conductors don't have the ability to sell through internationally the way an opera does." Gilbert added that, with an opera set, "you can expect 50% of your sales in Europe."

Another reason for the strong sales of opera recordings, Gilbert suggested, is their longevity. For instance, he said, it might seem to make more sense on the surface to record three symphonic discs than to record a three-LP opera set, which can cost 50% more. "But when you look at it 20 years later, and that opera is still plugging along in the catalog, and any of the symphonic things have been deleted, it makes you stop and wonder. Opera sales are very continuous."

Consequently, Gilbert noted, RCA rarely deletes an opera from its catalog, even if the sound quality of an older recording is not up to today's standards. "When you come to a Bjoerling or a Milanov, sonic considerations don't mean anything. Anyone who gets into opera discovers Bjoerling."

While RCA does not yet have a release schedule firmly set for this year, a few projects have been completed and others are already in the works.

This month, RCA is releasing a new version of Verdi's "Requiem," featuring Leontyne Price and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra & Chorus under Sir Georg Solti's direction. Gilbert is going to run out and buy everything he recorded. For the true opera buff, sonics are nice; but of all considerations, it is the least."

By the same token, Gilbert thought that RCA's bestselling operas of this year, including "Porgy & Bess," "Andrea Chenier" and "La Forza del Destino" (in that order), "will sell forever." Comparing them with such recordings as the Milanov/Bjoerling "Il Trovatore" and the Peerce/Warren "Rigoletto," Gilbert said, "If you take 20 years for 'Chenier,' it will probably equal

Jim Frey:

DG Focuses Increasingly On Italian Opera: Forays Into Offbeat Areas Have Paid Off

Deutsche Grammophon released five complete opera recordings last year, including Puccini's "Tosca," Verdi's "Macbeth," Rimsky-Korsakov's "May Night," Nicolai's "The Merry Wives of Windsor" and Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus." According to Jim Frey, vice president in charge of DG's American operations, this constituted a heavier-than-normal release schedule for the import label.

Asked why DG has begun placing increased emphasis on opera recordings, Frey replied, "because we don't have a (complete) opera catalog, and because it sells. When you consider that we've recorded the 600 Schubert lieder and almost every string quartet and symphony (in the standard repertoire), it (opera) is a natural direction. We have always had a good deal of German opera, but I think we're just getting very heavily into what most Americans refer to as opera, which is Italian."

Frey emphasized the fact that DG has not avoided the opera field in the past. For example, he noted, "we did the first 'Wozzeck' and the first 'Lulu' and the second complete 'Ring' cycle." However, he said, it wasn't until about five years ago that the company decided to make opera one of its top priorities.

"I think that, if we want to be a full, major classical line in the world, we've got to have a complete opera catalog," Frey commented. "And that's our intention."

New Releases

Two of the five operas which DG plans to release within the next year, Frey said, will again be Italian. Scheduled for mid-October is a new version of "Simon Bacconegra," one of the less often recorded items in the Verdi repertoire. The principals in the recording are Mirella Freni, Jose Carreras, Piero Cappuccilli, Nicolai Chiaurov and Jose Van Dam. As on this year's "Macbeth," Claudio Abbado will conduct the forces of La Scala.

The other Italian opera will be a "La Traviata" with Ileana Cotrubas, Placido Domingo and Sherrill Milnes. Carlos Kleiber is the conductor. No release date has yet been set for this recording.

In addition, DG is currently working on a new recording of Tchaikovsky's "Pique Dame," which scored a hit for Columbia last year. Mstislav Rostropovich will conduct it, and his wife Galina, will be one of the principals.

Once again adventuring into a little-known area, DG will also unearth an early Mozart opera called "Mitridate Re di Ponto." Principals on the recording will be Cotrubas, soprano Arleen Auger and tenor Werner Hollweg, with Leopold Hagar conducting the Salzburg Mozarteum Orchestra. The fifth release in DG's opera schedule has yet to be determined.

Unexpected Success

One reason why DG is willing to put its money on operas outside the standard repertoire this year is that it worked for the label last year. "'Macbeth' did what we thought it would do and was the bestseller," explained Frey, "but with the other two — one a Russian opera ('May Night') and the other a real native German opera ('Merry Wives') which is popular in Germany but nowhere else in the world — the response was a lot more than we expected."

But still, why not just select standard operas with proven track records? "Well, there seems to be a couple of kinds of opera that sell really well," Frey responded. "One of them, of course, is a standard repertoire work with a good-name cast, and that of course is the most expensive to do. With something like 'May Night,' on the other hand, first of all there is no other recording of it; it's an interesting work; and you're able to approach it without necessarily having to deal with super names. However, with some of the unfamiliar works, you get a good name because they like the music, and they'll do it."

"So you have a much lower cost and you're not the 26th 'Tosca.' You're the only 'May Night,' and it happens that you pick right, you get a good reaction to it. If you pick wrong, then you know why the opera was never recorded before."

Frey added that, "with an unknown opera, you really have to be first, unless it's a phenomenon. Because if you're second and the first recording is any good, people have got it already, and that's enough."

Opera sales tend to taper off dramatically over time, Frey pointed out; but once they reach a stable level, usually after about three years, they tend to do very consistently. "Opera is your biggest investment with your longest-term payoff, especially if you keep an opera in the catalog for 10 to 12 years.

"The one trick in the classical music business is getting that record which has big initial sales and then holds. We need that both in symphonic music and in opera. Your disaster in a classical LP is the recording that does fairly well in the first six months, and three years from that date it's dead. You have to recover more than (you can recoup in) three years."

Frey stressed that fact that sales of some symphonic and other instrumental recordings are just as consistent as those of successful opera sets. As an example, he noted that Herbert von Karajan's version of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, recorded in 1962, has now sold 1.2 million copies internationally, "which is right up there with pop sales."

One promotional avenue which maximizes opera, as well as other classical sales, Frey said, is television broadcasts. "Anything like that helps because it gets out to the broader spectrum of people. The real classical buff finds his music: he goes to the theater or listens to his classical radio station. The average person is not opposed to classical music, but doesn't know where WQXR is, says 'Oh, that's what Boheme is' when he sees it on TV. He says to himself, 'I've known that tune for a long time and I really like it' and probably buys an album."

"Also seeing it on national television with personalities known to them as people takes some of the stuffiness out of opera. I think people are afraid of it sometimes. We sometimes still have the image of the wife dragging the husband to the Met and him sleeping through the whole thing in the box, from the cartoons."

what these other recordings did in their first 20 years; but now they're going into their second 20 years. I can't imagine they'll ever be cut out of the catalog. They're too great."

Gilbert predicted that some people might be surprised that "Chenier" outsold "La Forza," which he said is a more popular opera. "But I think the chemistry of the casting on the 'Chenier' (featuring Placido Domingo, Renata Scotto and Sherrill Milnes) is what pushed it over."

While RCA does not yet have a release schedule firmly set for this year, a few projects have been completed and others are already in the works.

Among RCA Records' releases this month are Verdi's "Requiem," featuring Leontyne Price and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra & Chorus under Sir Georg Solti's direction. Gilbert classified the Requiem as an opera because he believed that this religious work will appeal mainly to fans of Verdi and Puccini. To support his contention, he noted that a good rendition of "Libera me" from the Requiem can be "hair-raisingly theatrical."

"La Perichole," which Gilbert said was Offenbach's most popular opera after "Tales Of Hoffman," will be released here in October. " 'La Perichole' comes on the heels of what seems to be a real Offenbach renaissance," Gilbert commented, "and it seems that the queen of the renaissance is Regine Crespin, and we have her cast as Perichole." The recording's other principal is tenor Alain Lombard; backing the singers is the Strasbourg Philharmonic and the Chorus of the Opera du Rin.

Other releases which may be licensed from RCA's French affiliates this year include a "Cosi fan tutte" with Frederica Von Stade and Keri te Kanawa; and a Vivaldi opera recording that stars Victoria de los Angeles and Marilyn Horne.

Fans 'Smell' New Releases

What does it take to promote a new opera recording? Where dedicated fans are concerned, Gilbert said, not very much. Opera buffs, he noted, can almost "smell" a new release before it comes out: listings in the Schwann catalog and consumer magazine reviews are enough to spread the word. When an unfamiliar work like "Die Drei Pintos" is released, however, it is necessary to do a great deal of promotion, according to Gilbert. "I don't think there's a ready-made audience for those things."

On the other hand, Gilbert pointed out, opera lovers are very open to recordings of out-of-the-way operas. This was proven, he said, by the success last year of two Massenet operas, "Esclarmonde" and "La Navarraise." "These operas are not the pinnacles of lyric opera," Gilbert noted. "Yet both sold very well. We did extremely well with 'Navarraise.' You have to consider it's a one-record opera, and therefore inexpensive to own; but, nonetheless, we sold a ton of it, though it was released at practically the same time as Columbia's version of 'Navarraise.' To Think there was a market for two competing Navarraise's . . ."

M. Scott Mampe:

Standard, Offbeat Operas Stressed Equally By Philips

When Philips decided to enter the crowded opera field in 1969, the European-based company made a characteristically bold decision: Instead of starting out with a new version of one of the much-recorded works from the standard repertoire, it issued the worldpremiere recording of Berlioz's "Les Troyens." Still the only complete rendition of this opera in the Schwann catalog, "Les Troyens" is today "one of the biggest-selling operas ever recorded," according to M. Scott Mampe, vice president of Philips' classical division.

Encouraged by the success of "Les Troyens," Philips has continued its efforts in the opera field, with a special emphasis on previously unrecorded works. In each of the past three years (including the balance of this year), Philips' opera release schedule has encompassed six complete sets, a large number for a company which had virtually no operas in its catalog until recently. So far this year, Philips has issued a new "Tosca," starring Montserrat Caballe and Jose Carreras; a recording of "Der Rosenkavalier" with Evelyn Lear, Frederica von Stade, Jules Bastin and Carreras; Haydn's "La Vera Constanza," featuring Jessye Norman and Claes Anhsjo; and the same composer's "Orlando Paladino," with Elly Ameling, Gwendolyn Killebrew, Anhsjo and Benjamin Luxon.

Just released on Philips is a version of Berlioz's oratorio, "L'Enfance du Christ" (which Mampe classified as opera from a marketing standpoint); and in October, the label will issue a recording of Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor" in its original version. Principals are Caballe, Carreras and Vincente Sardinero.

According to Mampe, the original score of this work has never been recorded before. The majority of the changes, which were made during early performances of the opera, are in Lucia's part, said Mampe. "There's no additional music, per se, but there are changes in the harmonic structure, and certain arias are today sung in different keys, but they're not the keys Donizetti wrote them in." She added that the composer himself had been involved in some of the changes.

Scheduled for release in early 1978 is Mozart's "Clemenza di Tito," of which there is only one other recording listed in the catalog. The latest installment in Philips' early Verdi series, "I due foscari," starring Carreras and Katia Ricciarelli, should be out in February.

Two-Pronged Approach

As exemplified by its recent versions of "Tosca" and "Rosenkavalier," Philips does not ignore the standard operas. And, as shown by the fact that, 18 weeks after its release, "Tosca" is positioned at #11 on the Cash Box Top 40 Classical Album chart after several months in the top 10, Philips is expert at casting and promoting recordings of the standard repertoire.

Nevertheless, Philips has been very cautious about committing itself to projects in this highly competitive field. "When you begin to get into the standard repertoire operas," Mampe noted, "your casting becomes very difficult; and you have to be very careful, or you're in a lot of trouble."

As an example, she said, "when you do a 'Tosca,' you have to make sure you come out with a very top cast — not artistically, but commercially. You can't do a 'Tosca' with an unknown singer. You can do a Haydn opera with relatively unknown singer, or a different kind of singer,

Terry McEwen:

London Reaps Steady Income From Opera: Even Older Recordings Keep On Selling

Traditionally known for its emphasis on opera, the classical division of London Records has been working hard in recent years to build its reputation as a symphonic label, especially in America. "In the old days, our symphonic catalog was composed of people who were not terribly well-known here," commented Terry McEwen, vice president of London and manager of its classical division. He explained that the conductors who used to record mainly for London, people like Knappertsbusch, Kubelik, Kleiber and Krauss, were more familiar to European than to American audiences.

"But now, our three leading conductors are Solti, Mehta and Maazel, and they're all tremendous in America. So we are as strong on symphonic as we are on operatic records now, if not stronger."

Nevertheless, London/Decca is still clearly intent on maintaining the operatic reputation which it has had ever since the 78 rpm era, and those postwar years when it signed up every Italian opera singer in sight. Renata Tebaldi, one of the brightest rising stars back then, continues to record for London; and Luciano Pavarotti and Joan Sutherland, two other very big stars today, are exclusive London recording artists.

Between August of 1976 and August of this year, moreover, London released a total of 10 complete opera recordings and two oratorios, and as many multi-disk vocal recordings as any of its competitors issued during the same period. Among these were versions of Bizet's "Carmen," Massenet's "Esclarmonde," Handel's "Messiah," Wagner's "Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg," Wolf-Ferrari's "The Secret Of Susanna," Peri's "Euridicc," Donizetti's "L'Elisir d'Amore," Leoni's "L'Oracolo," Gilbert & Sullivan's "The Grand Duke," Handel's "Belshazzar," Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman," and Puccini's "Madame Butterfly."

This year, London appears to have even more opera releases planned. In September alone, the label issued recordings of seven complete operas, five of which are in its full-priced line. The biggest attraction in the latter category, of course, is the new "Il Trovatore" with Pavarotti, Sutherland, Marilyn Horne, Ingvald Wixell, Nicolai Ghiaurov and Richard Bonyngge conducting the National Philharmonic Orchestra. Placing this set in the same class with London's recent recording of Puccini's "Turandot" (which features Sutherland, Pavarotti and Caballe), McEwen said he believed that it "could be one of the five biggest-selling opera sets in the history of this country."

The four other full-priced sets released by London in September are as follows: Janacek's "Katya Kabanova," starring Elisabeth Soderstrom, Peter Dvorsky and Nadezda Kniplova, with Charles McKerras leading the Vienna Philharmonic; Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" with Zinka Milanov, Giuseppe di Stefano and Leonard Warren; Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," featuring the same principals, among others; and Cilea's "Adriana Lecouvreur" with Tebaldi, Mario del Monaco and Giulietta Simionato. The last-named three recordings are all re-packagings; while all three were originally waxed by London, the recordings of "La Forza" and "La Gioconda" have previously appeared on RCA under a licensing agreement with London.

The remaining September opera releases, both reissues on London's budget Treasury Series, are Glinka's "A Life For The Tsar (Ivan Susanin)" with the soloists and orchestra of the National Opera, Belgrade; and Ravel's "L'Heure Espagnole," featuring Suzanne Danco and L'Orchestre de la Suisse Romande under Ernest Ansermet's direction.

Other opera-related recordings included in the September release were "Italian Opera Arias" sung by Giacomo Aragall; "Aspinall: The Surprising Soprano," a novelty record featuring a male soprano; "The Voice Of Jussi Bjoerling," a recording of Grieg's song cycle, "Haugtassa," by Kirsten Flagstad; and highlights from "L'Elisir d'Amore" sung by di Stefano.

London's only major risk in this release is its new recording of "Katya Kabanova," an unfamiliar work by a comparatively modern composer. However, as McEwen pointed out, the set is being issued in conjunction with a San Francisco Opera production of the opera; and among U.S. opera companies, San Francisco's has the biggest influence on regional sales, according to McEwen. Moreover, Soderstrom, star of the production and recording both, generally receives high critical praise, he said.

McEwen took the view that an opera which has either never been recorded before or was last committed to vinyl many years ago can only be recorded once within a generation. Thus, for example, he felt that another recording of Leoni's "L'Oracolo" (which hasn't been one of London's bestsellers despite the inclusion of Joan Sutherland) would not be to the best advantage of a different record label.

Similarly, he noted, it is his belief that last year's separate recordings by RCA and CBS of Massenet's "La Navarrise," released eight months apart, detracted from each other's sales. "In fact," he said, "the RCA performance was much better than the CBS, but the CBS was on the market first, and by the time they creamed off the sales there wasn't enough interest in the opera to make the RCA version a best-seller."

Ultimately, he stated, "the operatic public is the least changeable public. They're the most conservative, in a sense, of all the record-buying publics, I think. And they will buy the 25th version of "La Traviata" or "Tosca," providing it has somebody on it that interests them. But the second version of "La Navarrise" or of "Tancredi" (by Rossini) or something like that, you know — forget it! They're just not interested."

Few Deletions

If opera buyers are inherently conservative, as McEwen claimed, they should not only be purchasing the 25th version of "La Traviata," but also the fifth, or tenth or fifteenth recording of that opera. And this does seem to be true, at least with regard to London's catalog. According to McEwen, all but about five of the operas which have been deleted by London over the years have been reissued as budget records in response to a perceived public demand.

Even more amazing, he said, is the fact that some of the older opera sets continue to sell so well that London can't afford to delete them for budget reissue. "Let's say, for example, RCA brings out a new 'Andrea Chenier' (which it did — ed.), so I would like to delete our 'Andrea Chenier' and bring it out at a lower price to kill RCA when they come out, and also perhaps sell some records from the extra stimulation of interest in the opera. The problem is, my 'Andrea Chenier' is still selling so well that I can't delete it! It's been in the damn catalog for years and it just still keeps on going beautifully."

As a result, McEwen further explained, it is not worthwhile to delete the record because London wouldn't sell enough additional copies at a lower price to make up for the reduction in its profit margin per unit sold. "I'm still selling too many to make it economically intelligent to release it at a low price."

In an average year, he added, London deletes two or three opera recordings. Although a few have died what seem like permanent deaths, "I would say that we don't have anything that's marked 'permanently dormant' in the catalog. An interest can reawaken in something and then you quickly get it ready for release."

because the sales of the opera is going to be based upon the opera itself: no one's heard it."

Actually, the casts of Philips' Haydn operas include such operatic regulars as Jessye Norman, Illeana Cotrubas and Frederica von Stade. Example of the "different kinds of singer" referred to by Mampe are Elly Ameling, the great lieder artist, and Gwendolyn Killibrew, best-known for her roles in recordings of liturgical works. In addition, the Haydn sets also feature a large proportion of lesser-known singers; and this, Mampe pointed out, "gives us a chance to work with new singers when they're young and before they're very established. That's important for a record company."

Mampe stressed the fact that very few major opera singers are exclusively signed to one record company. Carreras and Norman, for example, are the only two stars who have exclusive contracts with Philips. Record companies encourage this non-exclusivity, Mampe said, because "it's very hard to record everything that a particular singer wants to do. If you try, you're liable to go broke."

Choosing Repertoire

Nevertheless, Mampe conceded that decisions on which operas to record are often made in consultations with the opera stars. If a major singer wants to record a particular opera, she said, he or she is guaranteeing the success of the project. However, Mampe emphasized, "we don't do it because the singer wants to do it per se. We do it because it's musically interesting and because it makes sense from a marketing point of view at the time."

"Ten years ago, for instance, I don't think we would have considered doing a Haydn opera; and I don't think we would have been alone. No record company would have done it. But with the success of the Haydn symphonies and the revival of interest in Haydn's music, it has become possible to record these works."

Another crucial factor in choosing these operas (including "La Fedelta Premiata," released in 1976) has been the pioneering work of musicologist H. Robbins Landon, who provided the first definitive editions of their scores. Also, Mampe said, the interest of conductor Antal Dorati in the Haydn operas has been invaluable; his enthusiasm, drive and expertise had a great deal to do with the high quality of the finished product.

Philips' A&R staffers Mampe added, have also affected the direction of Philips' explorations in the opera field. For example, she said, the interest of producer Eric Smith in early Verdi operas, led to the decision to record a number of them, and these sets have scored significant sales for Philips.

Sales Patterns

Mampe noted that popular operas have a sales pattern which is unlike that of any other kind of record. "Initial sales can be spectacular, and they can sometimes go out very fast," she said. "They may continue to sell at a very good rate for the first nine months or maybe a year. Then it will slow down. And because you've gone out with so much product, you usually go through a period of returns, until you get a balance."

"Then you begin to see how well it sells on a yearly basis. The first year may look very good; but it depends on your returns, and you don't know the results until the third year, because it takes nearly a year for you to take those returns back. However, you can begin to see your long-term pattern building up after a year and a half. So opera is a very long process or cycle; you have to be really careful with them. The symphonic repertoire is a lot quicker. It won't go out as big, usually, so you don't get a heavy return; and you can see your sales pattern within about six months."

Operas will sell at about the same rate, LP for LP, as symphonic recordings do, once they've reached their sales plateau, stated Mampe. But a Metropolitan Opera production of an opera will drive the sales of a recording of it up across the country, because of radio broadcasts; a production by a regional company like the San Francisco Opera or the Chicago Lyric Opera will have a regional effect on sales.

Tony Caronia:

New 'Louise' Featuring Sills Heads Angel's Christmas List

Angel Records' operatic releases for 1977 include some very varied fare. The complete operas which the label has issued since January are Verdi's "MacBeth," Offenbach's "La Vie Parisienne," Mozart's one-acter, "The Impresario," and the just-released "Boris Godounov" with Martti Talvela in the title role. In addition, Angel has put out highlights from the Gaballe/Cossotto version of "Aida" and recital albums by Beverly Sills and Mirella Freni.

On the budget Seraphim label, the company has issued four retrospective albums: "The Art Of Beniamino Gigli," "The Art Of Lottie Lehmann," "Great Sopranos Of The Century," and an Anna Moffo recital LP.

According to Tony Caronia, head of Angel's east coast operations, the new "Boris Godounov" is the first recording of it to be performed from Mussorgsky's original score. Supporting Angel's cast (which includes Nicolai Gedda as well as Taivela) is the Polish Radio Chorus of Krakow; the Krakow Philharmonic Chorus; and the Polish National Symphony under Jerzy Semkow's direction.

Scheduled for November release is a recording of Strauss' "Salome" with the Vienna Philharmonic conducted by Herbert von Karajan. Principals are Hildegard Behrens, Jose Van Dam and Karl Walter Bohm. Toward the end of the same month, there should also be a new version of Charpentier's "Louise" out on Angel. Backing Sills, Gedda, Jose Van Dam and Mignon Donn on this recording are the Chorus &

Orchestra of the Paris Opera under Julius Rudel's baton.

As for projects in the more distant future, Caronia could only confirm that Angel plans to release a new version of Verdi's "Nabucco" with Renata Scotto, Helene Obraztsova, Matteo Manuguerra and Veriano Luchetti. The only one of these artists who has previously recorded for Angel/EMI is Sills, although Obraztsova has made Melodiya recordings which Angel has sold in the U.S.

Fluctuating Schedule

Caronia termed Angel's total of six complete operatic releases for the calendar year slightly below-average number. Usually, he noted, the label will release between seven and nine operas annually. He explained that the number fluctuates from year to year, "depending on the continuity of the recording programs and projects that are in session." If the release of a specific opera set is delayed, he said, it is generally because a recording session is held up and one or more of the principals has to leave in order to fulfill other commitments. "Then the whole project may have to be postponed for a month or two, after which they all go back again or just two or three people have to go back and record."

Editing can also take a variable amount of time, Caronia pointed out. EMI's producers have their own individual schedules, and they may be working on more than one recording at a time. If one project is delayed in the recording stage, they may start to edit another; and editing the first recording may be postponed until the second one is finished.

Of all this year's releases, Caronia explained, one of the most important for Angel is the upcoming "Louise," because it stars Beverly Sills. In fact, he said, since Columbia just came out with another version of "Louise" last year, Angel's recording "was done primarily because of Beverly Sills. She did it at the State Theatre (at New York's Lincoln Center), and she's strongly identified with that kind of (French) repertoire. I hesitate to think we would have put out a 'Louise' after Columbia recorded theirs, if it weren't that Beverly was the star. It was for her that the opera was considered."

Neither "Louise" nor "Thais," another Sills vehicle which has done "exceptionally well," according to Caronia, since its release last year, is a particularly well-known opera. Nevertheless, he noted, the nature of the repertoire and even the competitive version of "Louise" are less important than the star herself in forecasting sales of the recording. "To do another opera when your competition has just released a fairly good recording of it is a very calculated financial risk. But when you have an opera that you're planning for a Beverly Sills, who is such an important artist for us, you go ahead and do it, anyway. We are going to realize that the sales are primarily based on the fact the Beverly Sills is the star."

One change Caronia has seen in recent years is that opera lovers and critics are now demanding top-notch orchestras and conductors, as well as big-name singers, on opera recordings. This is especially true, he said, of Wagnerian and late Verdi works, where the orchestral parts are very demanding. He added that, nowadays, opera conductors have their own followings, just like the major singers do.

However, he noted, it is still the great singers who dominate the field. Thus, one needs "names" even on a recording of a relatively unfamiliar work; for example, Scotto will share the bill with some less well-known artists on Angel's projected "Nabucco."

Caronia stated that initial sales of an esoteric opera recording may be nearly as good as those of an opera in the standard repertoire. "What happens with the premiere recording of an opera is that all the buffs come out and they add this new repertoire to their collection. After a six or seven-month period, the sales slacken off slightly and then they just level off into an even sales pattern."

"A standard repertoire works like a "Traviata," a "La Boheme" or a "Rigoletto," with a new recording and a superstar cast, also has very good initial sales. In time, their sales level is higher than the work that has never been done before. They have consistently better sales over, say, a five or six year-period. And that is primarily because the opera is constantly being done in all the opera houses. You're getting sales because the artist is performing it all over the world and it's popular repertoire."

With so much riding on a handful of top artists, wouldn't Angel like to have more of them, besides Sills under exclusive contract? "Sure," Caronia replied. "But I believe that the consumer benefits possibly more by the non-exclusive philosophy of our industry, because all the record companies have the privilege of putting great operas together with great casts, which would have been impossible, or more difficult, years ago. Back then, we had Schwarzkopf, Gedda, Callas and DiStefano, and it was a big deal to lend them out. Today, it's a matter of calling the artist: If they're available and they're not jeopardizing any relationships they have with any other record company, they can go ahead and do it."

Caronia stressed the fact that, while it may be better not to have exclusive contracts, "it's necessary that great artists have a certain identification with a label. It's good for people to know that a Mirella Freni or a Renata Scotto records for you, even if they record for more than one label. . .

"We're always looking at our competitors, but the more good things that are done, the better it is for the entire industry. We all somehow benefit. The more opera records sell, the better shot our next project has."

Mike Kellman:

Columbia Expands In Opera: Major Thrust Shows Results

Even for a major record company, Columbia has recently released an unusually large number of opera and related vocal albums. At least one complete opera recording has been released every month (except July) for the past year, along with several recital albums.

Since last January, Columbia has issued new recordings of Meyerbeer's "Le Prophete," Donizetti's "Gemma de Vergy," Puccini's "Suor Angelica" and "Gianni Schicchi," Offenbach's "Le Grande Duchesse de Gerolstein," Rachmaninoff's "Francesca da Rimini," Prokofiev's "The Gambler," Lully's "Alceste" and Shostakovich's "The Nose," which has just won a grand award from the International Record Critics Award committee. In addition, the label has launched recital albums by Renata Scotto, Ileana Cotrubas, Vladimir Atlantov and Judith Blegen, and has released a three-record tribute to Lilly Pons.

For the coming year, Columbia shows no signs of abating its intense activity in the opera field. In October, there will be a recording of Puccini's "Edgar," recorded live at Carnegie Hall with Eve Queler conducting the Opera Orchestra of New York. Principals of the "Edgar" performance are Renata Scotto, Carlo Bergonzi, Gwendolyn Killebrew and Vincente Sardinero. November will see the release of a new version of Donizetti's "L'Elisir D'amore" with John Pritchard conducting and a cast that includes Ileana Cotrubas, Placido Domingo, Ingvar Wixell and Sir Geraint Evans.

Looking ahead to next year, Columbia plans to release a new recording of Cilea's "Adriana Lecouvreur" in January. In this version, James Levine will direct the New Philharmonia Orchestra, and the cast will include Scotto, Domingo, Sherrill Milnes and Heiena Obraztsova. The same month, a recital album by Carlo Bergonzi will also be issued.

Tomas' "Mignon" with Vanzo Zaccaria and the New Philharmonia under Antonio de Almeida will be appearing on a new recording in February; slated at the same time is a recital of Russian basso arias by Boris Shtokolov. And in March, Columbia will release a new version of Puccini's "Il Tabarro." The New Philharmonia will again be pressed into service, this time under Lorin Maazel's direction, and the singers will include Scotto, Domingo, and Wixell. This will conclude Columbia's recordings of Puccini's "Il Trittico" cycle, and the company plans to issue a three-record set encompassing "Il Tabarro," "Suor Angelica" and "Gianni Schicchi."

Expanding In Opera

Columbia's strong thrust in the opera field, according to Mike Kellman, director of product management, Masterworks, results from a decision which was made several years ago. "When Marvin Saines (vice president of Masterwork's) came here four or five years ago," Kellman recounted. "Columbia was not at all in a strong position operatically, whereas I honestly think we're at least as strong as any other record company in orchestral, chamber and solo music. And the question became, 'Where can we do things that make sense for us as a company?', and I think Marvin and Paul Myers (director of international A&R, Masterworks,) decided Columbia was ripe for expansion in opera."

Kellman explained that there were two primary reasons for Columbia's previous weakness in the opera field. First, he said, in the early days of long-playing records, there was so much unrecorded classical music that Columbia decided to specialize in instrumental works, leaving opera to the other labels. As a result, he noted, some of the other companies still have a long way to go to catch up with Columbia in non-operatic areas. In addition, Kellman pointed out, back in the '50s most major singers

Gianni Schicchi

Le Prophete

had exclusive contracts with other companies; only Richard Tucker and Eileen Farrell were exclusive Columbia artists. Today, of course, very few opera stars are exclusively signed to any one company.

As shown by many of Columbia's recent releases, the company is now firmly committed to eliminating gaps in its catalog of standard repertoire operas. "But in this area, more than any other," Kellman cautioned, "you have to have singers with really wide appeal. For instance, I don't think you can record 'Aida' with singers who are less than the very top. And it's not always easy to get a cast for an 'Aida' or a 'Traviata' that you really feel is worthy of a new recording. All the greats are out; moreover, most of the great artists today have already recorded the standard operas for other labels. And we are only working with singers we feel are terrific on those operas which they wish to record."

Singers' Names Count

Even with relatively unfamiliar operas such as Massenet's "Le Cid," Donizetti's "Gemma di Vergy" and Meyerbeer's "Le Prophete," Kellman didn't believe that a company could get away with using a cast of unknown singers. "Part of what makes people adventurous is seeing their favorite singers," he commented. "If you were to take these same operas with singers whom people don't know, they might be very skeptical of the whole thing."

However, Kellman also believed that "the opera audience is the most adventurous classical audience of all, both in terms of new music and new singers. I think that they are tremendously prepared to sink a few dollars into an opera set of something they don't know because it's a new opera."

The devotion of opera fans to opera in general, felt Kellman, explains why a successful opera recording tends to accumulate greater sales over a period of time than does a successful symphonic recording. "I think the loyalty of fans to opera singers is a much more long-range thing than it is to conductors or orchestras. People are still buying Caruso, for instance; RCA had a big hit with their remastered Caruso last year. Even Toscanini today does not have the loyal following that a Caruso or a Rosa Ponselle or a Lotte Lehmann does."

Additionally Kellman noted, despite the advances in sound reproduction during recent years, "sound isn't important when you're listening to an individual voice." When deciding which recording of a Beethoven symphony to buy, he said, sound quality is "a paramount consideration to your average listener," this is not the case with opera.

Chris Peters, Jr. and Jim Bailey:

Peters Launches New Line: Caballe Recording Scheduled

For many years, Peters International has been known in the classical field as the foremost U.S. importer of esoteric European lines (Peters also imports rock and ethnic/folk albums). Now, however, the company is embarking upon a new adventure. With the release last week of six LPs on its new classical line, issued under the company's own name, Peters has begun manufacturing its own classical albums from licensed masters. All will list for $7.98 per disc.

The first releases, licensed from the Sofrason International Pilgrims Group of France, are all non-operatic. However, in November, Peters is scheduled to issue two opera-related items: the world premiere recording of Rossini's "Tancredi," licensed from Arion; and, from Symphonica Music Limited, a new version of Debussy's "La Damoiselle Elue" coupled with a reading of Chausson's "Poeme de L'amour Et De La Mer." Montserrat Caballe, one of the best-known living opera singers, is featured in both performances.

Peters And Opera

Peters has long been associated with opera in the import field. Its current catalog lists approximately 80 recordings of complete operas and operettas, 30 recordings of opera highlights, and numerous operatic recital albums, including LPs by Beniamino Gigli, Mario Del Monaco, Elizabeth Schwartzkopf, Jussi Bjoerling, Maria Callas, Enrico Caruso, Feodor Chaliapin, Franco Corelli, Giuseppe di Stefano, Placido Domingo, Nicolai Gedda, Tito Gobbi, Lotte Lehmann, Tito Schipa and Renata Scotto.

While Peters cannot predict with certainty how much of its new line will consist of opera, the company fully realizes the value of opera to a classical label. Speaking of Peters' imports, Jim Bailey, the company's executive vice president, commented, "We don't let any opera go untouched that we think will sell. We've sold quite a lot of them. They really move."

At present, Peters has firm arrangements to license masters from four companies. Besides the six Sofrason recordings already released here, seven more are already slated for Peters' new line within the next few months. Secondly Arion, with whom Peters has been associated for some time, will probably license other masters to them besides the ones for the three-disc Rossini set. Symphonica Music Limited, in addition to the Debussy set with Caballe, is also licensing recordings of Beethoven's Eroica Symphony and Mahler's Fifth Symphony to Peters. Both of these works are performed by Symphonica of London under the direction of Wyn Morris, a British conductor who specializes in Mahler's music. And finally, Peters has just signed a licensing agreement with Opus, a Czech label.

Meanwhile, Peters is negotiating for licensing rights with other major European record companies. It is very possible that they will make such an arrangement with EMI. Already, Peters has second refusal rights (after Angel, an EMI subsidiary) to import EMI recordings. And, according to Chris Peters, Jr., assistant to the president of Peters, the company would like to begin manufacturing the best of the EMI albums which come to it under the existing pact between the two firms.

Peters is no stranger to the manufacturing business. At present, about 40% of its sales are generated by ethnic and international folk records manufactured in the U.S.

With its new classical line, Peters is taking special pains to ensure that its client pressing firms deliver a product which is in all respects equal to European pressing standards.

Aiming For Larger Market

The key concept behind Peters' establishment of its own classical line is that manufacturing the LPs and cassettes here will eliminate the extra cost of importing them. Chris Peters, Jr. noted that $7.98 list albums pressed in the U.S. would have to list at approximately $9.98 if they were imported.

Offering top-quality product within the currently prevailing price range of its competition, Peters said, should make the new line more attractive to the average classical consumer than Peters' higher-priced imports are. "The imports are so expensive — some of our sets go for $49 wholesale — that you're really going to the collectors," he explained, adding that these items rarely sell more than 5,000 per title. In contract, Peters is hoping for sales in excess of 50,000 on some of the titles in its new line, particularly the Caballe set.

It is clear that that recording will sell on the basis of Caballe's name alone. Additionally, the album will benefit from the fact that there is only one recording of each of the works on it listed in the Schwann catalog, and the De Los Angeles/Munch version of "La Damoiselle Elue" is not of recent vintage.

The premiere recording of Rossini's "Tancredi," though, is in an entirely different category. Reassembled from a recently discovered, somewhat fragmentary manuscript, it has reportedly met with success in its first modern performances. Nevertheless, the cast, including Patricia Price, Hannah Francis, Elisabeth Stokes and Keith Lewis, is not well-known here, nor is John Perras the most famous of conductors.

Peters and Bailey believed, however, that the very fact that this is a world premiere recording will guarantee good initial sales of it. Additionally, the company's philosophy militates against following the beaten track.

"We're not trying to get the greats, the stuff that everybody puts out," explained Peters. "We're trying to get very good artists and very good but a different kind of product, because that's what sells. It doesn't make sense to put out stuff that's been recorded over and over before, because the bigger companies already have them."

that we know our audience and we feel that in many cases research is being abused to the point where it takes the place of the decision-making process rather than assists you in it."

Breaking Ground

A number of record promotion people have found that the programming approach of the soft-rock stations has gained airplay for their labels' new artists who fit the stations' mellow standards — artists who would likely have to appear on the charts to be added to the playlists of differently formatted stations.

"Soft-rock stations are practically the only breaking ground left on the radio dial," says Columbia promotion man Chuck Thagard. "It was a breath of fresh air for us to have these formats around when playlists everywhere were getting tighter and tighter."

Capitol's Los Angeles promotion director Dain Eric points to Pam Rose as an example of a new artist whose career KNX and other soft-rock stations is helping to get off the ground.

"Pam Rose has just released an album and the only airplay that we've gotten across the nation has been on stations whose format is similar to KNX," he says.

Influence Limited

But Eric is doubtful that KNX or any soft-rocker can be solely responsible for breaking an act. What they are able to do, he says, is get the ball rolling.

"KNX is doing quite well in the ratings," Eric says. "However, as far as their launching and breaking an act, I think their influence is limited. What they do is give us a chance to spread the record to other stations. If I can get a record on KNX, then I might be able to get it on KPOL and I might also be able to get the other promotion people around the country to spread it to other similarly formatted stations, and I can start a chain flow."

Low Rotation Policy

It is difficult for a soft-rock station to turn a record into a hit because of the low rotation policy that the stations maintain.

STATION BREAKS

T.J. Lambert, program director of WGCL, Cleveland, has left the station. The replacement is Bob Harper.

Ted Ferguson (China Jones), formerly PD of WDRQ, Detroit and most recently air personality at WCHE, Detroit, with experience at WDVE, Pittsburgh and WMMS, Cleveland, has been named PD of WABX, Detroit, it was announced by Bob Burch, national program director of Century Broadcasting.

Dale Andrews has been named program director of WFBR, Baltimore. Andrews formerly worked at KXYZ, Houston, before leaving radio two years ago. He replaces Norm Brooks, who has left the station.

Gary Guthrie is the new program director at WAKY, Louisville. John Randolph, former PD is now doing sales work at the station.

Dick Downes is out as PD of KAAY, Little Rock. The new program director is Dave Hamilton, who held a similar position at WROK, Rockford. The replacement at WROK is Bob Goode, formerly with WSAI, Cincinnati.

John Walton has been named PD/MD of KEIN, Great Falls, while continuing as 6-9 am jock. Walton replaces Mike Dolan who goes to KTWO, Casper, Wyoming.

Changes at WKKO, Cocoa. Tom Collins, PD, promoted to operations manager; Chlp Taylor promoted to PD from assistant PD; and Paul DeMiere has joined the station as morning air personality.

Mark Walnright, formerly with WDON, Wheaton, Maryland, has joined WIRL, Peoria, as 7-midnight jock.

Dan O'Brien, swing man at WGH, Norfolk, has been promoted to 10-2 am full-time jock. O'Brien replaces Pat Holiday who resigned for health reasons.

"The Catman" from WDGY, Minneapolis, is now doing the 8-midnight show at WAPE, Jacksonville.

Lyn Corry is the new all-night jock at WTRY, Troy. Corry replaces Dave King who has left the station.

April Crowley is the new midnight-6 am jock at WGLF, Tallahassee. She comes from WQSR, Sarasota, and replaces "The Good Doctor," who remains with the station.

Harrlet Lapidis has been promoted to the position of music and research coordinator of WHBQ, Memphis.

Linda Conner has been named operations manager of WFYR, Chicago.

CHRYSALIS

The entire company is very excited about the Sept. releases. The excitement comes from the overwhelming acceptance of the Robin Trower album, and the fact that the new single by the Babys achieved 83 with a bullet in less than three working days in Cash Box. This adds to the excitement.

CASABLANCA

Big news this week is Meco's "Star Wars" is #1 everywhere and solid gold! The battle is over . . . Donna's "I Feel Love" is following close behind, and in Meco's tradition, our next #1 record.

The hottest band in the land, Kiss, continues to do it with their latest hit, "Love Gun," bulleted across the board . . . Parachute's first release, "Ten To Eight" by David Castle, is gaining solid secondary action rapidly.

And lastly, Millennium's Brooklyn Dreams is almost out, and it is, without a doubt, one of the finest records I've heard . . . And if that isn't enough, Hello Phonodisc!

Don Wasley
National Promotion Director

A&M

Ring, ring, ring, the phones never stop. News sometimes good — sometimes not so good. I just finished getting a great news call from the legendary Juggy Gayles, who informed me that lovely Wanda Ramos, WBSL (N.Y.C.) returned from her vacation Mrs. Raphael Charres. Our happiness and congratulations go without saying. Having her as a friend just makes those who know her that much happier than those who haven't had the pleasure. A Superstar!

If you're not playing the new Rita Coolidge by now, you can say, "We're All Alone." These are just several of the stations adding it this week: KDWB (27), KSTP, KXXK, KIMN, WQXI (25), 96X, WKRQ, WAKY, WAPE, WKY, WOW (16).

Pablo Cruise's "A Place In The Sun" — Big add from Kerry Knodle: KDWB (29); KFRC 28-26, KYA 27-23, WKBW ex-27. Carpenters' "Calling Occupants, etc." is ringing the phones at CKLW, charted both at CKLW and KRBE at #30, moved at KRIZ 28-25. KYA 27-23. WKBW ex to 27, was added to numerous 1-40 and A/C stations across the country including KNUS (31), KGW, WBT, to name a few. L.T.D. "Back In Love Again," which is a big R&B record, getting a firm hold T-40 in Detroit: CKLW, 23-16, WDRQ 32-31, and in Miami, where Rich Pachter picked up 96X.

You should have all received the new Cat Stevens single, "Sweet Jamaica," from his Gold LP "Izitso" by now and please be on the lookout for a single by Piper titled "Can't Wait."

Be talking to you!

WARNER BROS.

An exciting time is being had by all at the chateau on Warner Blvd. with the Fleetwood Mac LP ("Rumours") shattering all sales records in the history of planet Earth! And if Shaun Cassidy, the Doobie Bros., Foghat, Rose Royce, Steve Martin, Seals & Crofts and Debby Boone don't make you tingle, there is absolutely something amiss with your tingler!

This week, more power from Burbank: Randy Newman ("Little Criminals") and Leo Sayer ("Thunder In My Heart"). A big Bugs Bunny welcome to T.G. Sheppard, upon joining the finest family in recorded music. Have a better week!

Pat McCoy

COLUMBIA

This week the super excitement at Columbia continues. Chicago advancing faster than any single this year. Picked up massive station support.

Other extraordinary single growth felt on Dave Mason, with the additions of WAKY-HB, WOW-HB, B100-28, WHB-10 and added KJR, KLIV, KRSP, KCPX, WPGC and WPRO.

Initial momentum felt on James Taylor's "Your Smiling Face," with such stations as WQXI-LP, WLS-LP, WAKY, WIFE, WLEE and WRIE . . . and we can't forget those early believers that went on this cut from the album prior to the release of the single . . . WABC, KLIF, WNOE, WTIK and WERC.

Santana joins James by capturing the west coast with immediate adds at KFRC, KYA, KNDE, KYNO and half play at KLIV and WAYS.

Sheila Chlanda
National Promotion Assoc. Director

ATLANTIC

Two very special albums have hit the streets this week from Atlantic; the Rolling Stones, "Love You Live," and Ringo Starr, "Ringo The 4th."

On the single side, the Firefall single, "Just Remember I Love You," is sweeping the country with radio ads and coming all the way home. Just added WLS!

Leif Garrett is our teen smash lighting up phones with big requests where played, up to #3 at Y100 where the record broke.

Alan O'Day shaping up the same way "Undercover Angel" did with secondaries telling us the record will be big.

New singles off to a flying start are Crosby, Stills, Nash, "Fair Game" from their solid Top 10 LP. Already on WFIL, WTIK, WNOE & WABC as an LP cut.

England Dan/John Ford Coley's new single "Gone Too Far" is out and already on WSAI, WKBW, 13Q & WOKY.

Two potent crossover records that we are presently working on are C.J. & Company, "Devil's Gun," a big record where played, and the new Spinners, "Heaven On Earth" which is receiving a great reaction and a spread of secondary stations.

Soon to be released is the new Abba single, "Money, Money, Money." This week.

Vince Faraci
National Director of Pop Promotion

MILLENNIUM

With a tremendous Force behind it, Meco has maintained the #1 spot in Cash Box, garnering the top airplay in the nation with incredible sales following. The single is now well over 1 million and the album is into hyper-space on its way to platinum.

October will bring a whole new meaning to Brooklyn with the release of the debut Brooklyn Dreams album. These three talented artists from Brooklyn have given preview listeners a most refreshing surprise with their rich harmonies, poignant street lyrics, and masterful musicianship. Watch the dream grow out of Millennium on October 1.

National AOR Promotion Manager

POLYDOR

Donald Clark Osmond's "You Got Me Dangling On A String" is one of his best to date! It's on KSLQ, Z93, Ten-Q, KEELI, WFOM, 96X, KSEE, and many others. Check it out. Also, if you get a chance, listen to a record that's the rage of Europe, "Oxygene (Part 4)" by Jean Michel Jarre — Instant phones! And it's number one in Europe. And last but not least, why not try the Football Stomp by ZAP! It's bound to score this fall season with your audience. Also watch for Millie Jackson and Roy Ayers to cross.

EAST COASTINGS / POINTS WEST

Meanwhile a rumor is circulating that the Beach Boys may be splitting up, based on reports that on the last tour the group was separated on two planes with Dennis & Carl Wilson on one and Mike & Steve Love and Al Jardine on the other, to keep the meditators away from those who were into a different state of consciousness. Apparently, Brian Wilson spent his time on both planes . . . Chicago just completed, last Saturday (24), a benefit concert at Soldier's Field to raise money for the Lincoln Park Zoo in their own Chicago. They flew directly to the midwest from a European tour to do the engagement . . . Letta Mbulu will do a benefit closer to home at the Grove Hotel (formerly the Ambassador) in L.A. to raise funds for international students. U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young is scheduled to be the guest speaker at the Oct. 15 appearance . . . Hall & Oates will be back in town at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion Oct. 29, just prior to their Halloween night show at the Aladdin in Las Vegas . . . By popular demand, Steve Miller and Norton Buffalo will commence a fall tour Oct. 8 with plans to cover the west and midwest on the first leg . . . War's cross-country tour, planned to run through December, begins at Palo Alto's Circle Star Theatre Sept. 30-Oct. 2 . . . As usual, the Dead-Heads had the first word about the Grateful Dead tour set to begin Sept. 29, in Seattle . . . Jose Feliciano has sold out all of his Australian tour dates and added another in Perth. By way of explanation for his down-under popularity, Jose was heard to state, "I'm popular in Australia because I speak fluent Australian." Wot's that, mate? . . . Styx apparently has some friends in Kansas City. The city council named Sept. 12-18, "Styx Week" and the group sold out four nights in a row even though Fleetwood Mac could not draw a full house on a conflicting night. Only one problem: The boys were recording a live album at the hall but the crowd noise was so loud that it drowned out the piano, so all the tapes had to be scrapped . . . Blondie set six separate records at CBGB's in their last outing, raising their stature even more in record label negotiations. Scouts from Rolling Stone, Polydor, Epic and others were on hand to get a good look . . .

RUBY IN THE APPLE — ABC recording artist Ruby Andrews played before enthusiastic crowds at New York's Bottom Line and Broady's on two stops of her current tour, the first time she has played in the city in seven years. Andrews, whose current album is titled "Genuine Ruby," is also well known for her hit single of the 1960s, "Casanova, Your Playing Days Are Over." Pictured (from left) are: Earlean Fisher, east coast promotion for ABC Records; ABC recording artist Grady Tate; Caroline Prutzman, ABC publicity; Jackie Smolen, ABC merchandising; Mickey Wallach, New York promotion director for ABC Records; Andrews; Jo Hynes of Cosmopolitan Magazine and Barbara J. TALENT ON STAGE

Marshall Tucker Band Sea Level

UCLA PAULEY PAVILION — The mid-range audio problems that had played havoc with Sea Level's opening set, and especially Chuck Leavell's otherwise brilliant keyboard work, were largely overcome by the time Spartanburg's musical ambassadors took the stage, filling the Bruins' cavernous gym with the distinctive sounds of one of the south's best bred bands.

Though Tucker played much of the same material they had performed in a Santa Monica appearance earlier this year, the band seemed more self-assured this time around, actually covering less material but in a longer set that featured elongated versions of some of their more popular tunes. In one stunning example, Tommy Caldwell's booming bass solo was the dominant feature in a 25-minute version of "Never Trust A Stranger."

But Marshall Tucker is a very egalitarian band that seems to be guided by their own version of the Andy Warhol premise that everyone deserves to be a star for at least five minutes. The spotlight onstage was passed around with as much vigor as the substances being passed around by the audience. Nevertheless, it was hard not to notice that Toy Caldwell's guitar fairly sizzled, consistently providing the lead licks and fast-strummin' finesse that is the focal point in a well-balanced musical stance, that is nicely offset by Jerry Eubanks' sassy brass work and Doug Gray's finely-crafted vocals.

As before, members of Sea Level, especially Chuck Leavell and Jai Johanny Johanson, joined in on a number of songs, not only improving the overall quality of the music but also presenting a welcome symbol of genuine warmth and solidarity that is too rarely seen by bands sharing the same stage. The result was a satisfying two-hour set of an even dozen tunes that were as enthusiastically received as they were joyously performed.

Sea Level's opening set, long by some headliner standards, was a well-executed offering of musical sophistication. Led by keyboardist Chuck Leavell, they present one of the freshest sounds of any band attempting to fuse elements of jazz with basic rock rhythms and chords. Showing off new members of the band and previewing several selections from their forthcoming second album, Sea Level was alternately smooth and raucous in a set whose only flaw was in the choice of a sound system. Otherwise Sea Level's only tie with the past was teasingly offered in a rousing encore of "Statesboro Blues," a song that three members of the band could do in their sleep. But no one was dozing that night.

Tom Paxton Michael Katakis

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Tom Paxton, who has become something of a classic to folk music buffs, established an instant rapport with his audience before he had even sung a note. When he launched into "Can't Help But Wonder Where I'm Bound," many listeners sang along reverently.

After a solid round of applause, Paxton performed several songs in a humorous vein, including two back-to-back a capella numbers, "Katie's Song" and "Birds On The Table," written for his children. Working without backup musicians, he kept the audience attentive with his velvet voice and flawless guitar playing. There was a sprinkling of material from his most recent album on Vanguard, "New Songs From The Briar-patch," but most of the songs were older and familiar to the crowd.

Following the hilarious "Not Tonight Maria" and "Lucy And Howard," Paxton's

Parliament/Funkadelic/Bootsy's Rubber Band/Maze

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NYC — Funky. The venerable sage Redd Foxx has observed that the meaning of the word has changed a lot since he was a kid. George Clinton, high priest of Parliament/Funkadelic, realizes it too, because he has singlehandedly done more to expand, distort, diversify and specify the word funk than any human being on the face of earth, or any other planet, for that matter.

Whether he's using funk as a substitute for another four-letter word, or as a guiding life-principle, Clinton's jive is unmatched. From his grand entrance as Dr. Funkenstein from a silver lame covered limousine, he was a delighted central figure of uninhibited imagination gone berserk. As he changed from one waist-length wig and outrageously exaggerated set of garments to another, Clinton was non-stop visual entertainment.

Musically, however, Parliament/Funkadelic was a bit less than captivating. The selections they played from their Casablanca and Warner Bros. albums tended to last a bit too long. This doesn't mean that the band is without musical talent: guitarist Eddie "Smeero" Hazel ripped out two solos that streamed with fluid, electric energy. None of the other members were as strong as instrumental soloists, however, and extended versions of catchy numbers such as "Move (Your Sexy Body)" were just a bit tiresome. Even an irresistible hit like "(Give Up The Funk) Tear The Roof Off The Sucker" lost a lot of steam when extended ad infinitum.

It was also unnecessary to use the impending arrival of the Mothership, bearing Dr. Funkenstein in all his floor-length ermine glory, to get the audience to clap and sing a little longer. P-Funk's fans were a more than devoted bunch this evening, and using the dramatic flying saucer effect to blackmail a little extra audience participation was purely gratuitous.

Preparing the way for P-Funk was bassist Bootsy Collins, a self-proclaimed nut whose sense of humor is not unlike Clinton's. That's no coincidence, since Bootsy is P-Funk's bass player. Bootsy's Rubber Band wowed the crowd with "Can't Stay Away," the latest single from "Ahh... The Name Is Bootsy Baby" on Warner Bros., as well as a humorous number called "I've Got The Munchies For Your Love." Bootsy tends a bit more toward hard rock than Parliament's jazzier funk, and since his set was shorter, things didn't seem to drag so much musically. Once again, all the way through to Bootsy's consummate version of "Auld Land Syne," there was a lot of barking for audience participation.

The evening began with a brief set by Maze, who have scored appreciable success with their album for Capitol Records. Maze's salient feature was the powerful, emotive voice of Frankie Beverly, featured on the group's upward-climbing single, "Lady Of Magic."

Dwight Twilley Band/Andy Pratt

ROXY, L.A. — In their first L.A. appearance, the fresh vitality of Tulsa's Dwight Twilley Band won them new friends on this coast as they pumped themselves through a vigorous, tightly executed set that suffered only from time limitations.

Featuring a double-barrelled drum attack, the driving pounding force of the band neatly offsets the light-hearted melodies and the upper-range vocals providing balanced ingredients for an effective formula approach to rock. The harmonies are not complicated but they are clean and crisply delivered by a band that sets itself reasonable limits and stays within the boundaries, suggesting discipline but avoiding stuffiness.

Part of Twilley's charm is its youthful abandon and a lyrical concern with the basic desires that have been rock's most faithful well of inspirational ideas. Their echo-effect vocal treatments recall the late-50s, early-60s days when rock's appeal was simple, direct and more visceral than mental. The success of the New Wave bands show that such an approach is effective in these modern times but Twilley salutes the roots without descending to a level of jaded sensibilities or preaching nihilistic notions.

Andy Pratt opened the show, taking unusual liberties even for a co-billing. His extended one-hour set left Twilley only 42 minutes on the first show of opening night after an interminably long intermission. Andy is a frenetic frizzy-haired performer whose delivery is often as electric as his hairstyle, jumping around on his piano bench as he attacks the keys with gusto. Though his songwriting ability may be more obviously noted on his recorded work, Pratt is an entertaining sort who seems to derive great enjoyment in performing live, though a greater concern for pacing and a more sparing use of his falsetto might make him even more appealing as a performer.

Gordon Lightfoot

TROUBADOR, L.A. — Whereas many acts often find themselves hard pressed to fill a one-hour musical performance with solid, substantial songs, when Gordon Lightfoot walked off the stage after playing for 65-minutes, it seemed that he had barely scratched the surface of his extensive repertoire.

His first appearance at the Troubador in almost eight years was done as a benefit to help, as Lightfoot put it, "defray some of the club's expenses."

His performance included fourteen songs, some of which were new songs to be included on his forthcoming "Endless Wire" album.

Lightfoot has been one of the most consistently excellent songwriters in pop music over the years and these new songs, "Endless Wire," "Hang Dog Hotel Room" and a clever Robin Hood tale full of double entendres, hold their own against his classics of recent and earlier years such as "The Wreck Of The Edmund Fitzgerald," "Sundown" and "Early Morning Rain."

Some technical problems early in the opening performance apparently bothered Lightfoot; however, they were not obvious to the audience and did not detract from the show.

The Canadian songwriter's backlog of material is so great that he could have played two or three times as long as he did just on the basis of audience requests.

Those he performed ranged from the celebratory mood of "Old Dan's Records" and "The Auctioneer," to the tender "I'm Not Supposed to Care" and "Spanish Moss."

With one of the most polished, sophisticated male voices in pop, Lightfoot showed in a live setting he can also be one of the most affecting on his songs about adult love relationships.

It was, however, his superb rendition of "Don Quixote" which was the highlight of the show. The song itself is one of the best written in the last decade, relating a variety of themes and social concerns and the role of the modern day troubador in focusing attention on those concerns.

In singing it, he put all his vocal strengths to work. Combined with the added texture and shading supplied by his four-piece backing band, the song sounded as fresh as if it were the first time it was played.

The band, which consists of lead guitar, steel guitar, bass and drums, has been performing with Lightfoot for years now and is able to bring out the best in each of his well-crafted tunes. Terry Clements' acoustic guitar solo on "Christian Island" was especially good and brought him a strong ovation from the crowd.

Henry Gross Pierce Arrow

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Easygoing Henry Gross charmed a partisan audience at the Bottom Line with an infectious blend of favorite songs culled from his five solo albums including his latest LP on Lifesong Record, "Show Me The Stage."

Although Gross' songs appeared to have much in common, his audience never betrayed a hint of dissatisfaction, beguiled perhaps by the warmth and energy that Gross and his band exuded so strongly. "Rock and Roll I Love You," Gross' opening number, set a very appropriate theme for the evening. Bouncy, rocking, and optimistic, the song was a perfect representation of what Gross, and his music, seem to be all about.

For the rest of the set, Lifesong recording artist Gross concentrated on familiar songs such as "Shannon" and "Plug Me Into Something," all accentuated by his distinctive falsetto, smooth presentation and

Motown, Tower Records Join For A 6th Anniversary Sale

LOS ANGELES — Motown Records has joined the 16-store Tower Records chain in California for Tower's sixth anniversary sale which features the entire Motown catalog on sale.

According to a Motown spokesman, the campaign consists of radio advertising in several of the markets where there are Tower stores, 48-inch posters of the label's top artists in each store, T-shirts for Tower employees which read "Motown-Tower 6th Anniversary Sale," as well as print ads in major newspapers.

Initial Response

The initial response to the program was stated by the spokesman as "so far so good" and predictions from Motown and Tower officials indicate sales are going to be considerably higher than last year's total.

Two of the major factors for the predicted sales increase, according to Motown, are stronger Motown product and the initiation of the company's fall marketing campaign, "The Magic of Motown."

The fall program accentuates current releases, while promoting heavily new product by established artists such as Smokey Robinson, David Ruffin, Willie Hutch, Jr. Walker, Thelma Houston and Jerry Butler. The latter two have soon-to-be-released albums entitled "The Devil In Me" and "It All Comes Out In My Song," respectively.

New Artists

The new artists involved in Motown's "magic" campaign and Tower's anniversary sale include 21st Creation, High Inergy, whose first album, "Turnin' On," contains the single "You Can't Turn Me Off," and Phillip Jarrell, whose debut album is entitled "I Sing My Songs For You."

Some of Motown's best-selling artists who are featured in the in-store posters will be Stevie Wonder, Marvin Gaye, Diana Ross, Syreeta, The Commodores, Jermaine Jackson and G.C. Cameron.

Because of the new marketing campaign, the strong product, the concentrated print and radio campaigns, Motown and Tower officials say they expect this to be Tower's most successful anniversary ever.

H&L Blitzes Washington, D.C. And Baltimore With Ingram Promotion

NEW YORK — H&L Records has set in motion a major marketing effort which it calls "Operation Blitz" in the Baltimore/Washington, D.C. area on behalf of the new album, "Ingram, That's All."

To capitalize on the LP's healthy initial sales in the market, H&L Records personnel, headed by Bob Katzel, vice president and general manager of the label, held meetings with the sales and promotion staff of Joseph M. Zamoiski Company, which distributes H&L in Baltimore and Washington. As outlined in those meetings, "Operation Blitz" included bonus incentive deals for all the Joseph M. Zamoiski personnel, and a concentrated promotion drive at the radio station level, including the giveaway of albums and Ingram T-shirts. A window display and in-store display incentive deal was worked out to give the album maximum exposure at the retail level, and every one-stop and key account was covered.

Advertising

Advertising was initiated on September 21 at the key radio stations with 60-second spots, tagged with local dealers. At the same time, a substantial discount program was offered on any reorders during the program.

The four-week program culminated with personal promotional efforts by the five Ingram brothers at radio stations and retail stores. In addition, the Ingrams toured all the key Washington, D.C. discos and performed at a cocktail party in their honor, given by the label in conjunction with the Joseph M. Zamoiski Company, at the Showboat in Silver Springs, Maryland.

According to Katzel, "Operation Blitz" is already paying off. During the promotion, the album went on several key stations, including WOL and WKYS-FM in Washington and WWIN in Baltimore. Also, the distributor made four separate reorders even before the advertising phase of the operation got underway.

Katzel stated that "Operation Blitz" will remain in effect even after the set period for the campaign is over. The next move, he said, will be to extend the program to another major market that is showing signs of Ingram sales activity. The markets being considered are Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago and Miami.

Realistic Orders Stressed As WEA's Year-End Plan Begins

this one of the most successful programs WEA has offered.

Dating is spread out over three months in the program. Orders for new releases shipped between September 19 and October 25, payments are made in installments of 25% due December 10, 1977, 50% on January 19, 1978 and the remaining 25% due February 10, 1978. Customers who meet these deadlines earn WEA's normal 2% cash discount.

Payments

Payments for catalog orders placed between September 19 and October 28 are made in the same installments due on the same dates. Besides receiving the normal 2% cash discount for meeting payment deadlines, however, catalog orders placed in that time period also will receive an effective 5% discount.

Orders placed for new releases shipped between October 26 and November 18 will have the same installment payment system as above, except that payments will be due one month later, with the first 25% due January 10, 1978, 50% due February 10, 1978 and the final 25% on March 10, 1978.

Customers Benefit

"It's to the customer's benefit to get that first order in soon," Droz said. "He really maximizes the dating by ordering soon. If he orders at the beginning of the period, he still has the same dating, and therefore a longer dating term, than if he orders at the end."

Kessler Forms Koala And Deep Roots

LOS ANGELES — Irv Kessler, former vice-president of Liberty/United Artists Records and more recently a partner with Pat Boone in Lamb & Lion Records, has formed Koala Records, Inc.

Koala will be a pop label and has already released albums by Bobby Glenn, David Nunez, Main Street and the John Wagner Coalition.

He has also started a contemporary black gospel label which is called Deep Roots Records. The initial release for Deep Roots consists of four albums by Verlin Sandles, Alvin Redmon Specials, Gospel Clouds and Serenity.

Assisting Kessler in his new venture are producers Michael Wycoff, Doug Gibbs and George Renfro.

LENNY WILLIAMS FETED — ABC records recently feted recording artist Lenny Williams with a luncheon in his honor at the Mandarin Restaurant in Beverly Hills prior to his two-night stand at the Total Experience to promote his LP "Choosing You." MCA's Brown Hits 'Seasonal' Approach To Country Mrktg.

by Lola Scobey

NASHVILLE — John Brown, born and bred in Nashville, worked here for most of his 18 years as a country marketing specialist and worked in the Nashville office of MCA Records for three of the five years he has been with that company. Two years ago, however, Brown says, he took it upon himself to analyze his job and decided that he should be based, not in Nashville, but in Los Angeles. Why?

Brown puts his decision down to two factors: the structure of the MCA organization and the expansion of country music.

"It depends on the individual company," Brown notes, "but in our company all approvals must come to L.A. and be approved or disapproved before they come back to Nashville.

"Due to the increasing sophistication of the country market, we are now trying to market our country product just like we do any other product," he explains, "Which means we are using the same type systems we use for other product. And all of that is located in Los Angeles; all the tools I need are here."

'Creative Center'

Brown refers to the Nashville office of MCA Records, once a powerhouse in the political and business life of Music Row, as primarily a "creative center" today. "We must have a Nashville office as a creative center," Brown observes, "That's where so many of your publishers, artists, and songwriters are.

"However," he adds, "There are many creative centers today — in fact, too many to say that you need to be based in any particular city. We have country music coming out of Nashville, Los Angeles, Bakersfield and Dallas. So, if it was properly structured, you could have a company based in Yakima, Washington. Look at World Records in the gospel music field — they are based in Waco, Texas."

Brown noted that CBS Records and RCA Records, both highly successful in country marketing, have large Nashville operations. "However, they are structured totally differently than we are," Brown says, "It just depends on the individual company."

In January of this year Brown was appointed country marketing director at MCA, the first time the label has had such a position. Since that time, Brown says, in line with MCA's integration of country marketing into the company's overall marketing system, there has been a definite shift in country marketing strategies.

Previously, Brown explained, MCA would set aside one month each year to intensively promote country product. The label's upcoming October marketing campaign on Mel Tillis, however, is the latest in a string of monthly promotions on individual artists (Loretta Lynn in April, Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn in July, Conway Twitty in August, Jerry Clower in September).

Year-Round Campaigns

These year-round monthly campaigns, Brown says, if backed by adequate radio time buys and merchandising aids, result in a "substantial increase" in sales. (Although the results of these campaigns are statistically analyzed, it is MCA corporate policy, Brown stated, not to reveal actual sales figures resulting from any campaign.)

"Country music is simply not a seasonal world anymore," he asserted, referring to the practice of concentrating country marketing around the October Grand Ole Opry Birthday Celebration and CMA Convention Week. "And you can no longer simply group music under the label 'country,'

"Country music is spreading out every day." Brown observed. "It is definitely structured differently than it was 15 years ago." Brown expressed surprise at what he termed the apparent "paranoia" exhibited by some "high level" executives in Nashville over a recent article in the Nashville Banner suggesting that country label operations are moving out of Nashville.

"The people in Nashville have worked for years for the success of country music," Brown says, "but now that the success is coming, it's got to spread. You can't keep it in one place. Nashville should be glad this is happening, because the more creative centers there are, the more competition there will be, and the better the product will be."

DJ Hall Of Fame Nominees Named

NASHVILLE — This year's nominees for the Country Music Disc Jockey Hall of Fame have been announced by the Country Music Disc Jockey Hall of Fame Foundation, which was chartered by the state of Tennessee for the purpose of honoring the life and accomplishments of persons who have gained recognition in country music radio and television.

Chuck Chellman, president of The Chuck Chellman Company and permanent trustee of the foundation, has announced the following three nominees for the living radio personality category:

Biff Collie, who began his career at KMAC in San Antonio in 1943 and was on the air as a full-time country air personality until 1969. Other stations he has worked for are KBKI, Alice, Texas; KSIX, Corpus Christ; KNUZ, Houston; KLAC, Los Angeles; and KFOX, Long Beach.

Hugh Cherry, whose list of radio accomplishments date back to 1948 when he was a country disc jockey at WKDA in Nashville, Tenn. Other stations across the nation where he was aired include WMPS, Memphis; WMAK, Nashville; WLW-TV, Cincinnati; KFOX, Long Beach, Calif.; KGBS and KLAC in Los Angeles and KNEW, Oakland.

Cliffie Stone, who began his career in 1935 at KMTR in Beverly Hills, Calif. and later worked at KMPC and KNX in Hollywood; KXLA, Pasadena, Calif.; KHE, KLAC, KFI, KFVD and KRKD in Los Angeles; and KFOX, Long Beach.

The three nominees for the Country Disc Jockey Hall of Fame Award given posthumously are: Lowell Blanchard, Pappy Hal Horton, Texas Bill Strength.

Country Singles Reviews

PORTER WAGGONER (RCA JH-10974)

I Haven't Learned A Thing (3:55) (Tree Pub. Co. — BMI) (Sonny Throckmorton)

Porter is long overdue for another hit, but this single should take care of that. This slow message song was written by Sonny Throckmorton and although long (3:55), should be readily accepted by radio programmers. Could that be Merle Haggard lending help on this cut?

TAMMY WYNETTE (Epic 8-50450)

One Of A Kind (2:54) (Algee Music Corp. — BMI) (B. Sherrill/S. Davis)

Terrific production — including background vocal work, piano, strings — and, of course, Tammy's wide vocal range make this release a sure top 10. Further evidence that she is "The First Lady of country music."

RONNIE PROPHET (RCA JH-50391)

It Ain't Easy Lovin' Me (2:46) (Screen Gems-EMI Music — BMI) (Jeff Barry/Cynthia Weil)

Even though Ronnie Prophet is very popular in Canada, he has been absent from the charts in the States for some time. Lyrics like, "I Got My Highs I Got My Lows" enable this tune to catch the listener right away. Produced and arranged by Don Tweedy.

TINA RAINFORD (Epic 8-50455)

Big Silver Angel (2:57) (Earl Barton Music — BMI) (W. Thompson)

Tina's first Epic release, "Silver Bird," went to #23 on the Cash Box country charts in June of this year. Her clear vocal offering and the lead guitar work of this up-tempo tune assure it will follow suit.

RUBY FALLS (Fifty States FS-56)

You've Got To Mend This Heartache (2:30) (Sandburn Music/Music Craftshop — ASCAP) (Fields/Riis/Falls)

Another good up-tempo female offering this week. Ruby has had many records out, but this time producers Johnny Howard and Charles Fields have found perfect material with which their arrangement should see chart action.

Speedway. Then in August Lillian Carter came out to the Nidrak Plantation in Georgia to see Ronnie. Recently when Ronnie appeared on the Grand Ole Opry, Tennessee's Governor Blanton was on hand with Julius Nyerere, the president of Tanzania. President Nyerere was so impressed that he later arranged to meet Milsap personally at a special reception at the governor's mansion.

90 Songwriters Win ASCAP Dollars

NASHVILLE — The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers has presented cash awards ranging up to $1 500 to 90 writers from Nashville and the Society's southern region. In all, $797,350 has been distributed nationwide by ASCAP's standard and popular awards panels for 1977-78.

The awards are given by ASCAP over and above regular distributions.

"These awards take into account chart activity and also recognize many of the society's new members and established writers as well," noted Ed Shea, southern regional director.

Rhees Named Director Of Artist Development At Elektra/Asylum

NASHVILLE — Jan Rhees has been appointed director of artist development for Elektra/Asylum's country division, announced Mike Suttle, marketing director for E/A.

Formerly sales coordinator for E/A country, Rhees will work closely with artists and their managers in her new position.

In making the announcement, Suttle noted that Rhees is the ideal person to fill this newly created post at the label.

Hall Of Fame & Museum Appoints Art Director

NASHVILLE — Jon Jager has been named art director for the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, which is operated by the Country Music Foundation here.

In announcing the appointment, Diana Johnson, director of the museum, cited the "commitment by the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum to provide first-rate exhibitions for our audiences."

A graduate of Temple University's Tyler School of Art, Jager had previously been exhibits curator for Nashville's Cumberland Museum for five years.

Because certain exhibits at the Hall of Fame and Museum will change from year to year to provide new attractions for return visitors, the bulk of Jager's time will be spent on exhibit design, although he will also be responsible for illustration and design covering the full scope of the Country Music Foundation's activities.

Country Festival Held For Concert 'Buyers'

TULSA, OKLA. — Norton Buffalo, Colleen Peterson and Asleep At The Wheel performed over the weekend of Sept. 9-11 at the Jim Halsey International Country Music Festival.

The artist received special invitations to perform at the festival, which is held annually for more than 500 "buyers" of concert attractions. Although the festival has been held for the past eight years, this year's festival was the first international one with both artists and buyers from other countries including representatives of Gos Concert, the USSR's music promoting organization.

Soft-Rocks Stations Providing Early Exposure For New Acts

Whereas it is common in top 40 radio for a record to be played every few hours, it is often the case that a new record on a soft-rocker's playlist is only heard once or twice a day, thus limiting the exposure.

Still, at KNX Marshall believes his station's contribution can be very influential in the success of a record.

"While I don't think that we have the clout to turn a record into a hit, I think our contribution is in providing the initial exposure to a new artist and it is having its effect on sales," Marshall says. "Record companies are just beginning to find out that early exposure can be important to them in terms of sales, and a lot of times I've heard that record companies have moved into a second phase in their promotional push on a new artist because of the exposure that they have gotten on the station."

In the case of Pam Rose, Eric credits KNX's exposure of the LP for the recent sales of 500 units in the Los Angeles area, where KNX is the only station now playing the album. And KNX also was instrumental in boosting sales of the Little River Band LP, he says, by influencing other area FM stations to play the album.

"I know KNX helped us with the Little River Band by getting KWST and KMET here on the album," Eric says. "Once we got other FM stations on the LP, we really started selling albums."

Deciding Factor

And just as airplay on a soft rock station may convince a manufacturer to step up a promotional campaign, it can also be the deciding factor if the label is considering renewal of an artist's contract.

"If an artist is played (on a soft-rock station) it gives everyone around the Capitol Tower incentive," Eric says. "It proves you can get airplay on that particular artist and it might make the difference of us going ahead and picking up the option on the artist and doing a second album, versus dropping the artist."

Airplay Not Easy

While mellow stations may be unswayed by a record's position on the charts, or by an artist's name, that doesn't mean that it's easy to get airplay for a new act. First, the act must produce music conducive to the mellow environment which the stations attempt to create.

Music directors at the soft-rock stations screen new releases thoroughly, even those by established artists whose material has been aired by the station in the past, before selecting the most suitable cuts. This policy is often confusing to promotion people, according to Rick Scarry, music director at KGIL-FM, a mellow station located in the San Fernando Valley of Los Angeles County.

"Sometimes promotion people have a difficult time resigning themselves to the fact that we pick everything based on the sound," Scarry says. "They'll say, 'Well, you played the last Elton John or Rod Stewart or somebody; why can't you play this one?' It's because it doesn't fit. It's often difficult for the promotion people to understand that we can't break the mood just because it's an artist with a big name or someone we have played before."

Strict Guidelines

Jan Basham, who handles promotion in Los Angeles for A&M Records, says she is well aware of the station's programming procedures. "Even if you bring over the artist of the year and the sound is not right, they won't play it," she says. "They are very strict within their own guidelines."

To make the job of the music director easier, Basham says she marks the cuts on an album which she believes are most suitable to the station's laid-back formats. And Ron Lannum, Elektra's regional promotion man, says he takes a similar approach.

"I know what the format of the stations are and what they can't use," Lannum says. "The Eagles are a rock and roll band and they are also very mellow at times. So some things the stations can play and others they can't. I usually listen first and if I feel it fits, I'll point the song out. If I know it's too heavy, I won't even take it to them. Some things are questionable. A song might have too much heavy guitar and I may not be sure if it fits the format. In that case I'll go and see what they think."

The Eagles' "Hotel California" is an example of a song which contained enough heavy electric guitar work to make Lannum unsure of whether the tune was suited for inclusion on the KNX playlist. But while Sheehy agreed that the guitar solo was too much of a rock sound for KNX, he was convinced that the rest of the song was mellow enough for the station, so KNX began playing an edited version of the song.

Mellow Trend

Like the Eagles, a number of groups today are producing albums which are difficult to categorize because they cover a variety of musical styles. But Marshall says he believes there is a trend today toward a softer overall sound.

"I think a number of things are responsible," Marshall says. "The times we live in, for instance. The turbulent sixties are over with and things are quieter now. I also think people mellow out when they grow older. Even Alice Cooper and The Rolling Stones seem to be getting more mellow. Another good example is Robin Trower, who has a couple of cuts on his new album that we just added and that are perfect for us. In the past there was never anything of his that we could use."

At Warner Brothers Records, Los Angeles promotion director Chris Crist points to the Doobie Brothers as an example of a rock group that has softened their approach on their latest LP.

"The Doobie Brothers are programmed on KNX now and the station is playing eight out of the 10 tracks from the album," he says. "The whole album is a little more mellow than the group has been in the past."

But whether or not there is a trend toward mellow music, Thagard thinks the future looks good for the format.

"I think the listener is fed up with hearing the same thing everywhere he turns," Thagard says. "The mellow stations are like an oasis because they are playing things that people will not hear anywhere else instead of the same repetitive things over and over. Of course the secret to the format is supplying just the right number of new songs and just the right amount of familiar things."

the sound system broke down and they had to send out for another one. Better late than never, Merle finally finished his hour-long show to three standing ovations and encores, and finally left the grandstand. Shortly thereafter the area was hit by severe thunderstorms and 55 MPH winds. Also in the Merle Haggard department, the "Hag" has been cast for a part in "Com-Tac 303," a movie currently being filmed in the Mojave Desert. Henry Fonda and Pat Buttram will also appear in the film.

Helen Cornelius didn't just get a piece of the rock, she got a rock of her own — a one-carat diamond from singing partner Jim Ed Brown to celebrate the one-year anniversary of their musical partnership. Helen has been under the weather in recent months, but now the Jim Ed Brown Show is back together again and scheduled for the heaviest road tour in the history of the group.

Country music entertainment cruises are getting to be one of the hot new ways for country fans to vacation. The SS Rotterdam will head out for a seven-day voyage October 8-15 with Connie Cato, The Hank Thompson Show, Jerry Wallace, The Kitty Wells Show with Johnny Wright, and the Hank Williams, Jr. Show all aboard ship to entertain the vacationers. Mercury artist Jacky Ward will soon set sail as a featured act on a Caribbean jaunt by the cruise ship Carnival.

Last month the Country Music Foundation honored former Nashville mayor Beverly Briley for his longtime support of country music by dedicating the Beverly Briley Gallery in the Hall of Fame and Museum. The gallery features revolving exhibits of country music-related artwork, including the permanent exhibit of Thomas Hart Benton's mural, "The Sources of Country Music."

Charlie Monk, formerly with ASCAP here and now southern director of April/Blackwood Music, reports that April/Blackwood, which published the CBS-TV 1977-78 theme song, "It's A Whole New Thing," has now adopted the tune as their own company theme song.

Last month, MCA recording artist Bill Anderson returned to Commerce, Georgia to give a free concert celebrating the 20th anniversary of radio station WJJC. WJJC was the station where Anderson first began his career in the music business — as a disc jockey.

Blitt Haney, a former picker with Blitt Monroe and former leader of "The Tennessee Cutups," another prominent bluegrass band, was recently in Nashville making arrangements for the release of his new album, "Bill Haney And The Zassoff Boys . . . The New & The Used."

Conway Twitty, top MCA recording artist, was recently in Los Angeles to tape the "Midnight Special" with Paul Williams as host. While in Los Angeles, Conway also taped the Dinah Shore Show. Radio KVOO recently carried a live broadcast of George Jones's top-billed appearance on the Tulsa Opry.

The trend toward formal college-level studies relating to the music business took a step forward when Steve Weaver was named director of the Georgia State University department of commercial music in the College of General Studies. Weaver, a 29-year-old native of Knoxville, Tennessee, has formerly worked as a guitarist, vocalist, and personal manager with several Memphis groups.

The Art Of Merchandising Printed Music

by Jim Armstrong and Clayton James

In the last decade the printed music industry has seen many beneficial innovations come its way. Better and less expensive methods of engraving, an evergrowing and ever-changing pop music market, complete collections and anthologies, attractive covers and interior artwork, new methods of display and advertising are among these.

Retailers considering adding to or building up sheet music departments should keep in mind that this accessory item should be placed in an area where potential customers can't miss it. Many of the most successful sheet music departments are located along one wall of the store starting at the cashier's stand and running toward the rear.

Sheet music racks should be placed on a wooden lip a few inches off the floor and ten to twelve inches from the wall. This keeps them from slipping down every time a customer bumps one. Current pop sheets should be situated closest to the front of the department. They should be weeded out every few weeks; and, like standards, should be kept in strict alphabetical order. Never alphabetize titles using the words "a" or "the," as in "The Star Spangled Banner." As far as the purchasing of pop songs is concerned, rely on ballads rather than novelty titles. Keep a constant eye on the Cash Box Print Music Charts.

When choosing a jobber, be sure to check the size of his catalog. Be sure he can handle your customer's needs. Be aware of his discount and return policy. Very often, full-line sheet music jobbers disallow returns on pop sheets while print publishers do send out lists of specified returns within a certain time limit. This situation often boils down to the full-line convenience of a one stop versus the return and discount benefits of buying directly from several print firms. Know what you're buying and under what conditions.

Five slot book fixtures can be built to accommodate several hundred music books and a surplus stock. Keep in mind that display of more than one of two of a given book at a time in browser bins is increasing the danger of damage to this fragile paper product.

Impulse buying is perhaps the most important factor when considering the installation of a successful printed music department. It has been estimated that up to one third of all pop sheet music and folios sold are moved on impulse rather than premeditatedly. In other words, a customer comes in for a guitar string and goes out with a well displayed chord encyclopedia, too. He may ask for a given single sheet and, if the salesman is knowledgeable, as to what publications the song is in, the sale could become four or five times what it started out to be. Many songs are not available in single sheets. A Folio-Dex is a must.

A special plexiglass fronted shelf affixed to the wall a few inches above the sheet music racks can be used to display pop artist folios and matching record albums. Don't overlook displaying this type of folio with record albums in aisle displays and in record bins. One print publisher has even printed album-shaped folios specifically for this purpose. A permanently fixed 8½ x 11 picture frame displaying outstanding sheet music and book covers will also increase sales. This is an excellent way of moving movie themes to collectors. Caption these framed sheets "Music Special Of The Week."

During the holidays and at the beginning of the school year hold free merchandise drawings. Quick print entry forms requiring name, address, phone number and instruments played allow music merchants to build fantastic mailing lists.

Buying and marketing educational music and methods can easily become a sheet music retailer's greatest source of income. It can, however become a mammoth problem and expense if not handled correctly.

Buyers should become affiliated with teachers associations in their area. Schools, educational districts and individual instructors should be contacted near the end of each educational term or semester in order to determine what methods and special arrangements will be needed and in what quantity. If the school purchases as a unit rather than sending individual students to buy new materials, get a purchase order in advance.

Keep in mind that educators are always on the lookout for new and popular material for such things as spring sings and Christmas programs. Display this material and send out (or better yet, bring in person) catalogs and a few samples during summer vacation at the latest. Retailers need not keep tremendous supplies of choral and band material on hand. Good samples, up to date catalogs and a reliable distributor are essential to this phase of the business.

Many educational houses offer free seminars for private teachers and students. Methods arrangers such as David Carr Glover, John Brimhall and John Schaum offer these workshops. Books are purchased at special discounts and sales are often guaranteed. Contact publishers for specifics. This promotional medium requires a lot of work; but, can be a permanent plus for retailers with good mailing lists. It is one way to tie up teacher and student trade in your area.

Tie-ins with current local events such as television guest appearances, the release of new movies, concerts and plays can bring up sales. Watch TV guides and newspaper entertainment sections for what's coming up.

Many major motion pictures have printed themes. These usually don't sell too well unless they are displayed using either the wall frame mentioned earlier or the dealer does a tie-in using soundtrack albums, sheet music and promotional material often readily available from film companies, record firms, publishers and theatres. Mark Music: First Truck Wholesaler

Harold Goydel of Mark Music Distributors reports that his seven twenty-two-foot long trucks servicing the states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania have helped many retailers increase their print music sales up to 500%. His warehouses on wheels are equipped with 15,000 items, including 100% of the usual "bread and butter" retail items. Included are highlights from all publishers.

The key to Mark Music's success is in well informed, interested route salesmen. "Every salesman on my routes has been with me a minimum of four to five years," reports Goydel. These sales experts help retailers make proper choices to build their sales. While a retailer may order a title which "sounds" good and won't sell or is outdated, Mark's customers are enlightened weekly as to what's new and right for their outlets. These route salesmen are involved with training retail personnel in display and stock rotation. According to Goydel, their first job is to convince dealers that dead stock must be removed to allow for quick turnover items. He further suggests that "if a retailer does well, it's good for my business; if he does poorly, so do I."

The special attention that the Mark Music people give their patrons has paid off for all involved. It is reported that a retailer who was doing $50 a week can easily increase his volume to $300-$500 a week in working with these warehouses on wheels. Mark Music estimates that the volume of two-hundred such serviced stores is equal to a thousand mail order serviced stores due to the special attention and variety available to their customers right at their doorstep.

Mark Music is the largest jobbing service in the Tri-state area. Among their best known customers are Sam Ash, the Record World chain and Sam Goody Music. Their warehousing operation has a variety of 60,000 items, "including music from every major publisher," and they are also the only complete rack jobber on wheels.

W.B. Giants Of Popular Music

dination are the keys in such a large and complex operation. "I try to keep an eye on all the details," Sy says, "without losing sight of the overall picture." Heavy schedules require a lot of maneuvering to steer folios and sheets through the various stages of arranging, engraving, design, copyright, and working up the specs for the close, competitive print bidding which Warner Bros. requires for each and every folio.

"You can hit a snag on a project for weeks because of a copyright hangup," Sy pointed out, "but you try and work around the problem to keep the job moving, like getting a cover to the printer, trusting that all the elements will fit together in the long run." Unlike the old days of music publishing when you could slap a cover over 10 engraved songs and sell a folio for $1.95, the proliferation of licensing and outside catalogue agreements combined with the graphics explosion that hit the music print business in the late 60's created the demand for greater flair and expenditure in the packaging of a personality folio.

Steve Spooner

Sy Feldman

Warner Bros. rose to the demands of this folio/print revolution and became the leader in the field. Their production department takes pride in turning out, as much as possible, customized folios, geared to the sound, style and image of a particular personality or group. Numerous phone calls and consultations are held with artists or their reps to discuss photos, layouts, paper. Dummy books are submitted for approval. In-depth art and arranging departments can work in the various graphic and musical styles necessary to turn out folios that are consistently of the highest quality and of such diverse artists as Joni Mitchell, Jimmy Buffett, John McLaughlin, Eagles, Patti Smith, Linda Ronstadt, Kiss — the list goes on and on. But each project wends its way through each stage of production with the utmost care and taste, balancing the need for graphic excellence with the expediency of the marketplace.

Arnold Rosen has profit and loss responsibility for the standard and educational division. His background includes 10 years as a practicing attorney and 9 years as executive vice-president of Alfred Music Co.

Inc. before coming to Warner Bros. in 1974.

"Warner Bros. Publications has a well established reputation as the foremost publisher of personality and mixed folios. What is not so well known is that it has become a major educational publisher in the last three years — and its growth rate is continuing at a phenomenal pace. Warner Bros. Educational division has doubled sales in the past three years. What we are trying to do is basically simple," stated Rosen. "There is no reason that learning music can't be fun. Band, instrumental and choral teachers are looking for good arrangements of music that the younger generation listens to and loves at the level their students can plan. We are covering every school market."

Warner Bros. has a very heavy publishing schedule of easy guitar, piano and organ books. They have been innovative in establishing and Instrumental Super Star series which has had tremendous sales success. Included in this series is the Music Of The Allman Brothers, America, the Bee Gees, Jackson Browne, Eric Clapton, Neil Diamond, Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young, Doobie Brothers, the Eagles, Dan Fogelberg, Elton John, Lennon & McCartney, Gordon Lightfoot, Loggins & Messina, Joni Mitchell, Neil Sedaka, Seals & Crofts, Carly Simon, Cat Stevens and Neil Young. Mixed folios for varying instrumentals — for private teaching purposes or playing for fun — have sold incredibly well in racks and stores throughout the country. The addition of the Gwyn Catalogue which Warner Bros. has been distributing since January 1, 1976, has resulted in a broader penetration of the private teaching market.

"When Arnold Rosen was brought to our company to head the Standard and Educational Division three years ago, it was with the knowledge and understanding that growth in sales and profitability, because of the nature of the educational market, would take time." All of us at Warner Bros. as well as the educators, writers, artists and publishers that we serve, are excited at what has taken place in such a short period of time. "We are looking forward with confidence and enthusiasm to the future and to achieving our goal of becoming the foremost educational publisher in the world," Ed Silvers maintained.

"We have gathered a fine staff of musicians with expertise in every area of educational music. We use competent arrangers and editors to produce music of the highest standards.

Perhaps unique to Warner Bros. is the close collaboration of its staff (Robert Alexander/educational director, Tony Esposito/chief-editor, John Gultelli/production manager), with composers and artists such as John McLaughlin, Chick Corea, Maynard Ferguson, John Klemmer in the creation of songbooks that all take great pride in.

Coordinating and guiding this team on the East Coast is Murray Rutkoff, a Warner Music veteran. His ideas and energies to plan and carry out were recognized early in the reorganization of Warner Music by Ed Silvers. In seven years, the Warner Music companies continuously gained ground to the top position in sales, as they have

by Jim Armstrong

American popular music as we know it today can trace its roots to a place and a way of life known as Tin Pan Alley. This wonderful, yet cruel song factory was located for the most part on 28th Street between Fifth Avenue and Broadway in New York City. The capitol building of this strange little kingdom could be easily pinpointed at 1619 Broadway, the Brill Building.

The Birth of the Alley

The mass move to what would later be known as Tin Pan Alley began in the early 1880s, some twenty years before it's name was given. Among the first companies to settle in the area were T.B. Harms (founded by Alex and Tom Harms), William A. Pond (successor to Firth, Pond and Co.) and Willis Woodard.

The William A. Pond Company was one of the first to actively shop for Broadway hits, printing most of the music from the great Harrigan and Hart shows. However, it was the publication of individual selections from "A Trip To Chinatown" (until then Broadway's all-time longest running show, 650 performances), especially "The Bowery" which pointed to the coming importance of Tin Pan Alley.

Meanwhile, the Willis Woodard Company had a huge hit with Banks Winter's "White Wings." Their most important client was Paul Dresser, a minstrel man who wrote many of the biggest ballads of the time.

Woodard had fallen into the ill practice of paying performers to feature his songs in their reviews; an early form of payola. In this way a young singer named Jay Witmark made popular one of Woodard's numbers. However, when it came time to make payment, the print firm substituted full payment with a twenty-dollar gold piece. In retaliation Witmark opened his own firm to become Woodard's number one competitor.

Another young songwriter who had publisher problems was Charles K. Harris. His first published song got him eighty-five cents in royalties from M. Witmark and Sons. From that point on, he decided to become his own printer.

At the age of twenty-five, while visiting Chicago, Harris wrote the haunting love song "After The Ball." The song was introduced into vaudeville in 1892. Initially, it was a failure because the performer forgot the lyrics halfway through it's debut.

However, Harris soon managed to get the song interpolated into "A Trip To Chinatown." This was accomplished by paying the show's star $500 plus a percentage of the song's royalties.

Although the song had no real bearing on the play, it was slipped into the second act. Upon it's first performance, the audience was spellbound for a full minute after its completion. Then they went wild, giving it a five minute standing ovation. "After The Ball" ultimately sold 2 million copies.

Naming The Alley

The most popular story concerning the naming of Tin Pan Alley gives credit to a song writer and author named Monroe Rosenfeld. While working on a series of articles for the New York Herald around 1903 he visited the Harry Von Tilzer publishing offices. To him the noises of the sound factories were like the clanging of pots and pans. "Why, the whole street is a tin pan alley."

He went on to title his series "Tin Pan Alley"; a name which became synonymous with American popular music. Years later, Harry Von Tilzer claimed that it was he who came up with the name. Nevertheless, it was Rosenfeld's series which popularized it.

warner bros. is music

music representation. It also produces a wide variety of quality printed music arrangements, including folios that match the record album of today's top musical stars and attractions.

One of Columbia Pictures Publications' current best-sellers is — not surprisingly — the music folio from "Star Wars," the blockbuster film success. The special souvenir folio, which is moving at a rate described as "incredible," contains many stories and color photos featuring the stars and scenes of the top-grossing film.

"When we began our first projects," Hackinson recalls, "I had just made an analysis of the marketplace and discovered that the majority of the existing music print companies were ignoring two very important music areas — the country and soul market."

"I began licensing and printing the songs for those markets. Today, 'crossover' acts are very big in the country and soul fields, and we feel responsible for starting that trend in the print business."

Spotting future successes early is another of the areas in which CPP has been successful. A case in point is the story behind Morris Alpert's "Feelings."

"We were the first to contact the publisher," Hackinson recalls. "On the basis of an early demo, we believed in the song's tremendous potential and made the deal. We were all set when the song hit the charts and went up like a rocket. There's every indication that 'Feelings' is going to become a true standard."

An aggressive follow-through keeps Columbia Pictures Publications in high gear. Once a song is established as a hit, Columbia is quick to meet the demand by musical professionals and amateurs for specialized arrangements

"Feelings," as a prime example, can be purchased in over 18 different sheet music arrangements, with lyrics in several languages. To date, over 600,000 copies of the song have been sold, resulting in royalties in excess of $150,000.

"This sort of success has led music publishers, music personalities and others in the business, to realize the importance and vast potential of printed music," Hackinson affirms.

Another productive area for the Columbia division is the publication of "mixed folios" — collections of varied titles (usually piano/vocal/guitar arrangements) that relate to a special central theme: for example, "Golden Country Hits," "Disco Favorites," "Top Pops" and "Latin Memories."

In this area, Hackinson points out another of Columbia Pictures Publications' strengths. "We recognize the importance of packaging, not only in the selection of songs but also in the folio's concept, layout, thematic execution, musical style, ease or difficulty of performance — even the cover. All of these can help make or break the sale of a music book. In some cases, we have generated over 50% of a publisher's annual income through the release of creative mixed folios."

Still another stronghold for Columbia is the area of educational product. Dan Coates, head arranger for piano and keyboards, is fast becoming a "superstar" throughout the country among teachers and students. At 27, Dan already has shown brilliance in capturing the full, rich sound of the original recording in his specialized keyboard arrangements. For guitar and string-method books, John Clausi turns out an incredible amount of requested charts, methods and arrangements.

Jim Pierce, educational director, makes sure that Columbia services schools and teaching organizations throughout the country with the release of an extensive product line of arrangements for marching bands, concert bands, stage bands and choral arrangements.

The division's parent company, Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc., which headquarters in New York, has taken an active interest in the print division from the first day of business, for which Hackinson is openly appreciative.

"We owe a great deal of our success to the attention and encouragement given us by Columbia's corporate executives — president Alan J. Hirschfield, senior vice president Allen Adler, and director of divisional operations Fred Keshner," says Hackinson.

"These executives have been very instrumental in our division's growth, supporting us with their active interest, regular consultations, and frequent trips to our Miami offices."

Augmenting the Miami-based staff is a productive international sales operation. It is headed by music veteran Raul Ariles, who travels throughout the world for six months of each year to see that Columbia Pictures Publications product is widely represented for sale on an international basis. This year, the firm has also established a California office headed by Steve Francis, and Hackinson hopes soon to add offices and additional distribution/warehouse space in other areas across the U.S.

Columbia Pictures Publications is located at 16333 N.W. 54th Avenue, Hialeah, Florida 33014. The phone is (305) 620-1500.

But whether you drop by or call, morning, noon or evening, chances are you'll find all or part of the staff on hand "doing their thing" — creating, producing, arranging, selling or shipping what many consider to be today's top quality printed music.

Elvis Presley Memorial Boom

While reporting an unquenchable thirst on the behalf of retailers for their existing Elvis Presley product, Big Three has put together two huge anthologies and an excellent memorial Elvis folio. "Elvis Presley Record Breakers" contains ten of his all-time classics at a retail price of $3.50.

Hansen Publications has published a four volume set of Elvis Presley songs. Each volume comes with a free poster and a "gift" sheet.

Columbia Pictures Publications is preparing a folio entitled "The King Is Gone Plus Twelve Elvis Presley Hits."

A few individuals have grown tired of what they term "fanatic hero worship." However, one must keep in mind that what is being done is not because he is dead, but simply because he lived.

Richard Bradley EZ Keyboard Pub.

In the past few years, Richard Bradley has emerged as one of the famous names in printed keyboard music. More than 700 books bearing his name are sold in music stores throughout the world. These include books of arrangements for all levels, from beginner to accomplished musician, and courses on playing both piano and organ.

At 15, Richard became the youngest studio piano and organ teacher in Chicago. The modern use of chords and simplified teaching technique he used in his classes at Lyon-Healy, one of the area's largest music chains, caught the attention of many top teachers and they enrolled as his students.

Eleven years later, he left Lyon-Healy and moved to California where he opened a music school and worked as a studio musician. He then began a series of concert tours throughout the United States and Canada for Hammond Organ. It was one of these concerts which got him his introduction to Hansen Publications and a career in printed music.

Three years later, when Columbia Pictures opened their music print division in Miami, Richard joined the new company as musical director, a post he held for the next five years. At Columbia, Richard wrote/or arranged nearly all their educational keyboard product in addition to supervising a staff of arrangers.

Richard Bradley

In January of this year, Richard opened Bradley Publications with his partner Bill Radics, former business and creative production manager of Columbia Pictures Publications. The new firm, located at 43 West 61 Street in New York, began its major book releases in late April and currently has 19 books in print, with additional titles being released at the rate of approximately 5 per month. In addition to the educational product now in release, Bradley Publications is in the final talk stage regarding distribution deals with major publishers.

Where The Music Print Picture Is Getting Bigger!

The action starts here in the office of VP Herman Steiger who directs the complex operations of this busy division of the United Artists Music Publishing Group. Big 3 now generates the music print flow for more than thirty major publishing firms in addition to the music print product developed from Robbins, Feist & Miller copyrights and the various United Artists music catalogs.

A planning committee sets the pace as Herman Steiger chairs a meeting of Big 3 marketing, production, arranging, art and sales experts.

Spin-off meetings are also held to develop in-depth programs for educational music product. Special areas of school music are explored, clinics are planned and production and marketing schedules are mapped. School music has become a major factor in The Big 3 boom.

The arranging department takes those first important steps to transform raw music into commercial print product. A good ear and a great deal of arranging creativity is often required to translate contemporary rock into playable sheet music form.

Finished arrangements now in basic manuscript are carefully checked and rechecked before they proceed to Big 3's in-house linotype facilities where a variety of headings and copyright notices are speed-printed.

The Big 3 Production Department gets it all together in page form as the Art Group huddles to create complete music book packages from traffic-boosting covers through interior design of all the books.

Big 3's Chief Arranger, Art Director and Herman Steiger get a last look at rough music proofs and book covers before the final product is printed in quantity for the market.

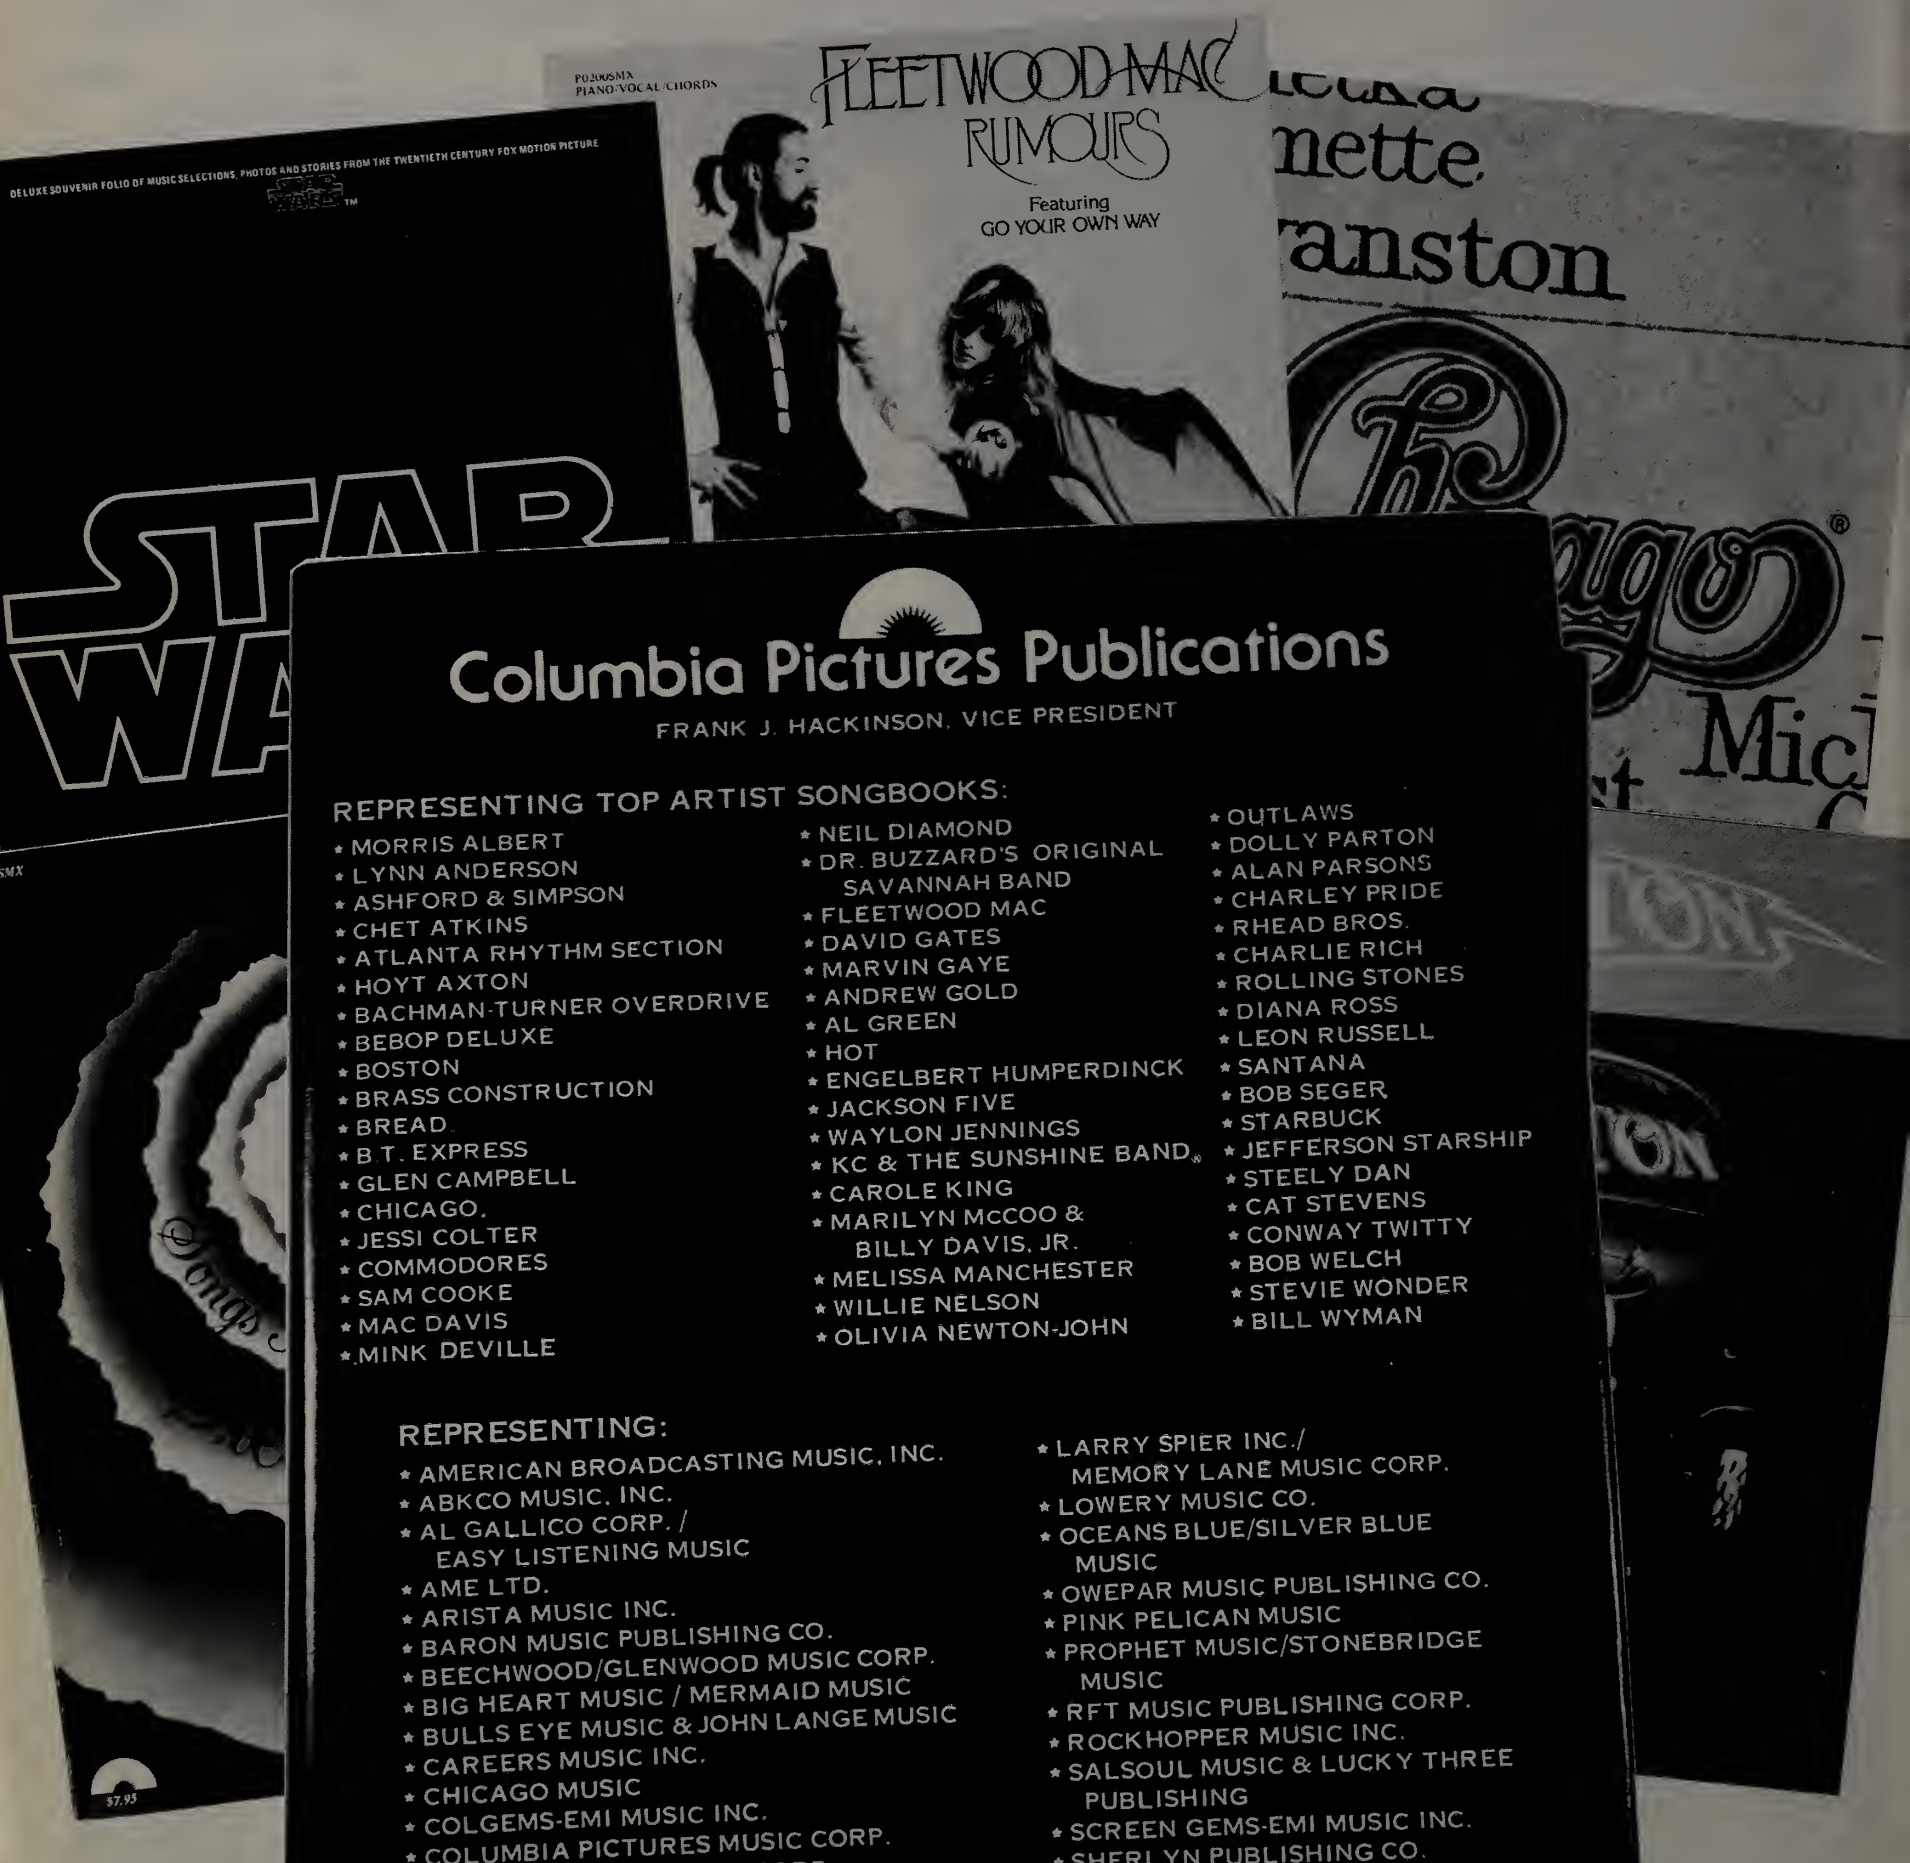

The very first samples of printed product are received at the home office and simultaneously shipped in bulk to Big 3's huge warehousing complex at Lyndurst, New Jersey. The new publications being so proudly checked by Herman Steiger and his art director include the concert Band edition of selections from "Rocky," "I Love My Wife" Vocal Selections, an "Annie" Concert Band and the highly touted "Barry Manilow Live" Piano-Vocal Book.

As new books arrive all departments step up their support activities. Printed promotions are sent on their way to all major dealers, circulars are imprinted for major jobbers, a telephone sales network goes into action and racks such as those shown here are rushed into key market areas. The end result is a flurry of activity at the warehouse as orders are sorted and speed-shipped into the market. Tomorrow the Big 3 music machine will gear up again to plan, promote and generate still more sales!

by Martin J. Winkler

Editorial note: Martin J. Winkler, president of Belwin-Mills has literally been raised on the music publishing business. His story reflects the history of the business in the United States. Here it is in his own words.

J.a.

Belwin was founded by my father Max Winkler in 1918. While working for Carl Fischer, he managed to save $700 and, with this, went into business. The first publications were background music used in silent films. In addition to their own publications, Belwin served as a source for orchestra music of all publishers, using as its slogan "if it's orchestra music and it's printed, we have it." One of those mood music publications, Valse Dramatique by Erno Rapee, became a "million copy seller" when words were added to it. Today it is considered one of the all-time greats, Charmaine.

In the summer of 1941, I made my first trade trip from B.H.B., 2½ weeks through the South, including cities such as Washington, Richmond, Charlotte, Atlanta, Birmingham and New Orleans. It was tough trying to get stock orders on our catalog which was made up mostly of Boosey songs and piano solos and the very few educational publications that Belwin had. A stock order of $150 was really something for the size of the dealer I was calling on. Many people believed that one must be at the right place at the right time. I do believe it because in July of 1941, I was at the right place — The Cable Piano Company in Atlanta talking to Billy Munn. I was there at the right time when Nick Holsher of Willis walked in to say

Belwin-Mills: Their First Sixty Years Of Music

"hello" to Billy and to let him know that he would be in the next morning to see him. The conversation wasn't five minutes old when Billy asked Nick to do him a favor and mail in a rush portion on his stock order, since he was completely out of those items. This never happened to me, so I asked Billy what it was all about. He showed me a copy of the order which was for several thousand copies of piano books. I completed my trip asking questions about piano music as I went along.

I returned home bursting with information and enthusiasm. Before Dad could even say "hello," I told him what had happened in Atlanta. "Whatever we do," I said, "we must get into the piano method and book field." Those who know about Belwin, already know the continuation of the story. Dad reacted as only he could and on his next trip around the country, he kept his eyes and ears open. He laid the foundation for the John W. Schaum Piano Course of supplementary books and pieces — 50 pieces being issued in 1943, and the beginning of the book series in 1945.

In 1945, Belwin published its first school band material with the introduction of the Belwin Elementary Band Method by Fred Weber, a then unknown band director who trained his band on his own method because he could not find anything that suited him. By this time, the Boosey & Hawkes-Belwin agreement had become obsolete. In 1946, by mutual agreement, it was terminated, and Belwin continued on as an independent publisher, as did Boosey & Hawkes.

Looking back, I would have to say that the period between April 1951, when we opened in Rockville Centre, and November 1961, when Dad went into semi-retirement, were the most important years for Belwin. It was during this period that Belwin really put its best foot forward. Under Dad's direction, Belwin published the June Weybright Piano Course, the Eric Steiner Piano Course, the Belwin Band Builders by Fred Weber, the String Builders by Samuel Applebaum, and hundreds of other outstanding publications for the school field making Belwin the leading educational music publisher.

In 1961, after several years of planning, the First Division Band Course under the direction of Fred Weber and written by 13 outstanding authorities, was introduced. It took three years to complete this program of four books, including the method, the many supplementary band books, separate band publications, and solos and ensembles. The instantaneous success of this new concept encouraged Belwin to publish the Belwin Course for Strings by Samuel Applebaum, the Belwin Organ Library by David Carr Glover, and the latest edition, the David Carr Glover Piano Library.

On October 5, 1965, Max Winkler passed away. It was not only a deep personal loss for his family, but a great loss to the music industry which he loved and worked for during his every waking hour.

In 1966, we acquired Halbe Statuettes and Henry Adler Publications and continued our program of expansion with executing exclusive sales agency agreements with Singspiration and Music Minus One. In 1969, Belwin announced the purchase of Franco Colombo Publications. With this acquisition, we rounded out our catalog covering all areas of music publications with the exception of popular music. As soon as the move of the Franco Colombo operation to Rockville Centre had taken place, I completed an agreement whereby Belwin obtained exclusive sales and distribution for the entire world of all printed products of Mills Music Company. This took effect on July 1, 1970.

From 1970 through 1975, the growth pattern continued. Agency representations were added and many companies were purchased. Negotiations were conducted, keeping in mind at all times: the deal must be desired by both parties; the deal must be fair and equitable to both parties; and remembering, "the longer it takes to make the deal, the less chance it has of going through."

During this period, the buildings in Rockville Centre could not house this rapid expansion and it was necessary to move our headquarters. In 1971 we moved to Melville, where we now occupy in one building, on one floor, 200,000 square feet of space!

In 1973 we entered into a contract for the exclusive representation of the printed products for the Edward B. Marks catalog. While we are not involved in the editorial policies of this company, we are responsible for the promotion, warehousing and shipping of their publications.

Later in 1973, Leeds Music Company, a division of MCA Music, and Mills Music Company, a division of Belwin-Mills Publishing Corp., entered into a Joint Venture agreement. Through this Joint Venture, Belwin-Mills not only promotes, warehouse and ships the Leeds publications; but is also responsible for the editorial policies and the issuing of new publications, using the outstanding copyrights of this fine company.

In 1976 we completed our latest acquisition — the purchase of the Kalmus catalog, with the exception of the orchestra and string orchestra publications. This gave

by James C. Armstrong

LOS ANGELES — Fourteen years ago, the Charles Hansen Publishing Company and John Brimhall began a revolution in the field of keyboard education. Brimhall's unique approach to music education has since led the way for an entire assortment of "pop" educators.

"Charlie invited me to join his organization; that was in May of '63." He was sent to New York in 1964. There he managed both the retail and local print divisions. He was soon moved to Miami Beach to become production manager, and later, editor. In 1967 Brimhall went to Europe for a year as Hansen's liaison there. Upon his return to Florida, John became a full-time writer and arranger. As he puts it; "From that point on, I did my own thing — Did educational materials, edited them and did lectures."

"I began to evolve a style in about 1964. The supporting background for the style is my experience as a pop piano player, playing concerts (you know, piano concertos and such) — my background as a teacher in colleges and as a private piano teacher, of course."

Brimhall had taught keyboard for ten or twelve years prior to his affiliation with the Hansen firm. He summarized the formulation of his style in saying; "So, experience as a player and a writer went together to make playable easy piano arrangements."

"I've tried to keep in mind the fact that "easy arrangement" means exactly what it says. Easy. Easy to play, but, yet keeping the essence of the tune. The chord structure isn't tampered with. The melodic line is left alone. But, the things (easy arrangements) are put within the reach of a student of limited development.

The six volume John Brimhall piano method is based on the point of view that "the typical American child lives in a world of popular music. The teachers feel obligated to teach classics, the tradition of music, but the child doesn't hear it in real, working life. The purpose of my piano method was to teach the difficulties of music through pop material; then apply the same theory to the classics so the child could ease into them." John has done the same service for organists in developing a parallel organ method.

Brimhall has recently completed volume three of a fine "Young Adult Piano Method," which is also paralleled with a matching organ series and a parallel "Class Piano Method." This method was specifically designed for the California junior college adult education class, a program Brimhall was involved in for ten years as a class piano instructor.

Brimhall arranges for Morris, Chappell, Walt Disney, Famous and the many other Hansen licensed catalogs. His first major project for Hansen was a book entitled "62 Popular Teaching Pieces," published in 1964. Brimhall told Cash Box "I'm happy to say this has become the best selling piano book in the world. We're now in the 44th or 45th revision." It has fresh material added at each new printing. Over two-hundred songs have gone through the book. "That's only one of over five-hundred easy piano folios I've done." John goes on to say that he has done five to six-thousand easy arrangements since he joined Hansen, about a thousand of these have appeared in single sheet form. Last year John Brimhall materials sold in excess of three-million copies, bringing his total sales to somewhere around thirty-million copies. "62 Popular Teaching Pieces" has topped the seven-hundred-thousand copy mark and is still climbing.

Hansen Dist. Go Into Time Zones

by Jim Armstrong

MIAMI BEACH — In a recent distribution reorganization move by the Charles Hansen firm of Miami Beach a five area, time zoned wholesale operation was activated. According to Hansen, this will allow overnight service via telephone ordering to all areas of the country. Dick Sutter has been designated marketing director of this operation, with Charles Hansen as it's president. Included are Long Island (Islip), Broadway, St. Louis-Peoria, Denver and San Francisco-Los Angeles-Seattle. Bron's Music of England distributes Hansen product, including Chappell of London.

The Hansen Distribution Group has initiated van service to retailers in all divisions. All are owned and operated by the company with the exception of Los Angeles, which is handled by independent operator Steve Rinaldo. Dick Cotterman in Los Angeles, Paul Leaf in Seattle and Stan Halverson in San Francisco are the men in charge of the west coast. Combined with Herb Lane at Saint Louis-Peoria, Hansen is concentrating on an "educational thrust" due to the outstanding growth patterns of Denver, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, Arizona, Wyoming and Montana.

Hansen explains that printing is still handled in Miami Beach, Florida. Their publisher representative is Murray Bass while the president of the print division is Ed Griffin. Charles Hansen, himself, has moved to sales. Current top priority projects at Hansen are centered around pop personalities including Elvis Presley, Pat Boone and Liberace.

While Shattinger facimile editions are handled by Chip Koonmen in Islip, New York, most of the other Hansen editors are now located on the west coast. These include John Brimhall (keyboards), Brian Jeffery and Jerry Snyder (guitar) and John Edmondson in Miami (educational).

stills and posters to several hit films and do a wall display which will last for months.

Finally, the most important factor to operating a successful business is in retaining likable, knowledgeable and resourceful personnel. Sheet music departments, like record departments, need daily upkeep and a constant system of ordering. Returns must be punctual. New displays and sales campaigns are a constant necessity. The demands and needs of your customers must be met. An employee who can handle this situation is worth his or her weight in gold. As a working retailer yourself, go out of your way to treat your employees as your most valuable products and that's just what they'll be.

JOHN BRIMHALL ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Young Adult Courses take into consideration the objectives of the teenager or adult, which are often different from those of the young child. This course quickly presents familiar melodies accompanied by simple chord patterns. Gradually more complex material is introduced as the adult piano or organ student progresses through the three books of this course.

Hollywood Sheet Music: Little Giant Of Print

Story By Virginia Rinaldo and Jim Armstrong

To most people Hollywood means film companies, movie stars, recording studios and glamor. Though this is basically true, it is also a handful of dedicated companies and individuals working hard to keep it up.

In this "Hooray For Hollywood" world there is a place where show people go for help with their musical problems. Have you ever thought that someone has to start the ball rolling long before the musical acts for television, night clubs and musical reviews are ready for showing? Someone has to go someplace and gather together the music . . . it might be a return for a big star, music for the Merv Griffin or Dinah Show, a Bing Crosby special or even Name That Tune. Nine times out of ten someone gets on the phone or goes to the Hollywood Sheet Music Store . . . and nine times out of ten they find the answers.

Situated within blocks of several major recording companies, television stations and motion picture studios, Hollywood Sheet Music at 1634 Cahuenga Blvd. has become the most successful independent store in America.

One might expect to find a "little ole man" surrounded by file cabinets and reference books — not so. This is a bright, cheerful store operated by two bright, cheerful people and a friendly pup named Dusty, who has been with the company since it opened nine years ago. Tony and Anne Stecheson are probably two of the best known people in the show business world; not as performers, but as people who make it possible for show business to go forward in a more enjoyable way. This is proven by the more than 200 autographed photographs of the great, near great, famous, those on the way up and those on the way down, which paper the walls of their shop.

Directly under a street sign which reads "Hollywood Boulevard Next" one finds a unique set of display windows featuring the newest sheets and folios available anywhere in the country (Hollywood Music is an absolute first for any new issue), framed collector's film themes and a special display on the latest event in Tinsel Town. Publishers and film companies often wait in line for a shot at exposure in this window. Today a "Star Wars" display adorns it. Tony estimates twenty-five requests a day from passers-by to purchase parts of it. Next week, Walt Disney will feature a display on "Pete's Dragon," their upcoming thirteen-million dollar musical.

The key to the success of the Stecheson's little shop is in their variety of product and their magnificent knowledge of printed music. Hollywood Music boasts more than 300,000 single song titles; including pop, classical, Broadway and foreign music. A good portion of this is contained in his famous sheet music morgue. The store's two phones handle an average of forty to fifty calls an hour, six days a week.

The Stechesons are often invited to the taping of tv specials, film screenings, Las Vegas and Reno stage shows and musical reviews in the L.A. area. M.G.M. recently bought a complete variety of Fred Astaire sheet music to be blown up to life-size for use in a special "Hallelujah Hollywood" tribute to the dancer as the opening show at their new Reno hotel and casino.

"We deal with top show people and yet we never meet a great number of them," reports Stecheson who began his career in Canada as Tony The Troubadour and as a Toronto radio personality for ten years. These personalities have included Raquel Welsh, Bing Crosby, Ella Fitzgerald, Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Elvis Presley, Ann Margaret, Neil Diamond, John Denver and Lucille Ball.

The Stechesons came to California from Canada about twenty years ago and Tony is very quick to tell you that he became a citizen of the United States on the first day it was possible for him to do so. In 1955 he went to work as manager of the sheet music department at Wallichs Music City and got hooked on the business. After leaving Music City he joined the Morse Freeman firm as manager of their retail department.

When Charles Hansen took over the Music City stores, then consisting of Hollywood and Lakewood, Tony ran a west coast warehouse and edited a weekly retailer's newspaper. His most outstanding pupil at the time was Ms. Ronny Schiff, now of Aimo Publications.

About nine years ago Tony and Anne opened their own place and began serving the public in many ways other than just selling sheet music.

One of the most important accomplishments of this talented pair was the publication of their book entitled "The Stecheson Classified Song Directory" in 1961. This contains the titles, publishers and authors of 167,000 songs. What makes it such an outstanding book is that these titles are cross referenced under subject matter. Thus, if you are looking for a song about a girl in a red dress — look under either the color category or the one for clothing. This book is sold in sixteen countries, worldwide.

Many print publishers use the knowledge stored in the Song Directory and in the Stechesons' minds; examples include Russell Wiltse's fine collection of Al Jolson songs for Hansen Publications and the outstanding movie music history "Try To Remember" by Jim Armstrong. The Stechesons helped with the research for these and many books.

If you're ever in the neighborhood, stop by this interesting store — meet Tony and Anne — pat Dusty (the security guard) on the head, as have many of Hollywood's elite — take a look at the autographed pictures from his customers — and if you are hung up on nostalgia, don't miss his fine displays of cartoon, Shirley Temple and Academy Award song sheets. Hollywood Music is an experience anyone in the music industry won't soon forget.

Belwin-Mills: 60 Years Of Music

Belwin-Mills the largest reprint edition in the world — over 6,000 titles, and more being added every year.

With this acquisition, it was necessary to lease an additional 35,000 square feet of space to house this catalog.

I cannot tell you exactly how many publications are in the Belwin-Mills catalog today; but an educated guess would be about 48,000 active titles, selling anywhere from ten copies a year to one million copies a year. In addition to this, I would estimate that we represent, through agency agreements, approximately another thirty-five to forty thousand titles.

Everything that Belwin-Mills involves itself in is music-oriented but might not be music. In 1975 Music Boutique was introduced into the music stores. This is a new concept in gift-giving! Over a short period of two years, the line of gifts and musical items has increased to over three hundred, and is now in over eight hundred music stores. It includes everything from music boxes to memo pads.

The success of the Belwin-Mills catalog is primarily due to three factors: outstanding publications written and arranged by widely accepted composers and arrangers; promotional campaigns to the consumer — but directing the purchase through music stores; and last but far from least, the outstanding cooperation of music stores throughout the company, who have promoted, stocked and displayed these publications, making them immediately available to the public.

The Belwin-Mills story is now up to date, but far from ended. The past is history, but the future is bright. With the help of musicians, educators, performing artists, and students, we hope to continue to be of service to the music world.

Cherry Lane Consistent 'Top-Tenner'

Since its inception less than three years ago, Cherry Lane Music Co., Inc. the print division of Cherry Lane Music Co., has slowly and successfully developed a very strong catalogue. Several folios have consistently been listed among the top ten best-selling folios nationwide.

Cherry Lane is the exclusive publisher of all of John Denver's music as well as the music of Bill and Taffy Danoff of the Starland Vocal Band, among others. They are actively involved in the educational field producing choral and band publications for schools which include the "Joy Of Living," the "Joy Of Singing" and the "Christmas Festival" Choral Series, concert and stage band music as well as the "Cherry Lane Marching Band" series.

In addition to the matching folios to John Denver's albums such as "John Denver's Greatest Hits (Volumes 1 & 2)," "An Evening With John Denver," the "John Denver Songbook," and the Starland Vocal Band albums, Cherry Lane is the exclusive publisher of The New York Times "Great Songs Of The Sixties (Volumes 1 & 2)," "The Erroll Garner Songbook," "The World's Greatest Guitar Book," Bob Dylan's "The Basement Tapes," and the "National Lampoon Songbook."

Cherry Lane has become the sole selling agent of Ronny Lee's many guitar method folios, as well as being distributor of Paul Simon folios and sheet music, the Steve Miller Band's "Book Of Songs," "The Superstar Songbook," "American Pop Classics" and Chuck Berry's "The Golden Decade."

The company is headed by Murray Frank, president, and maintains its headquarters at 50 Holly Hill Lane, Greenwich, Connecticut. Catalogs, information and promotional items are obtainable upon request by mail or telephoning (203) 661-0707 or (212) 824-7711.

In the hey day of Tin Pan Alley (roughly 1890 to 1929) Broadway's publishing firms produced the great standards of today. Among these houses were Remick, T. B. Harms, Shapiro-Bernstein, Mills, Feist, Witmark, Cohan, Church, Marks, Boosey (U.S. representative for Chappell) and Schirmer.

Tin Pan Alley gained from and gave to the American music scene throughout the eras of vaudeville, burlesque, operetta and modern musicals. As it mutated from a song chasing industry to a song factory it gave ever new energy to American music.

Though many say that the Alley is gone, there still seems to be a certain part of Manhattan where the great publishers hang their hats. Hansen, Famous, Shapiro-Bernstein, Warner Brothers, Big Three and countless others still call the area home. As for song factories, the Brill Building was the 1960s home of Neil Sedaka, Howard Greenfield, Barry Mann, Irwin Levine, Carole King, Cynthia Weil, Gerry Goffin, Joel Hirschhorn, Al Kasha and a host of others. It was this environment which produced Neil Diamond and Barry Manilow.

The next time you're in New York, give your regards to old Broadway and to Tin Pan Alley. If you're already there, be proud of it. After all, as modern day Alley product Neil Diamond put it: "What A Beautiful Noise Comin' Up From The Street' Got A Beautiful Sound, It's Got A Beautiful Beat."* Let's not forget that it's where it all began. Tin Pan Alley.

become known in the industry as the "Home of the Superstars."

Total, in-house production, from concept to press ready, keeps a carefully managed team of creative people free to input their thinking which is then discussed at

Music Craft: A Growing Concern

Victor Patane has been in the music field since he was a youngster. He worked as a pianist and arranger until he discovered the world of music engraving. It was then that he formed Music Craft of Hollywood, Florida.

Through the experience, skills and determination of the finest experts in the field, Music Craft has gained a large following throughout the industry. Among current clients are Warner Brothers (for whom they did "Hotel California"), Hansen Pubs., Columbia Pictures Pub., April Blackwood and others.

Chappell's Hits

In the contemporary area, Chappell's roster includes some of the industry's top writer/artists. One of today's hottest acts — Daryl Hall & John Oates — is also one of Chappell's biggest print sellers.

Also attaining prominence is lyricist Carole Bayer Sager.

Chappell has expanded its print market by its current agreement with Theodore Presser Company of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, who exclusively distribute Chappell product to music stores a management meeting, in order to coordinate the best ideas. The concepts are finalized at the weekly east and west coast conference meetings and policy is established. It is this free and open acceptance that fosters new and creative thinking with every venture. Careful reviews are made in order to keep production costs at an acceptable and reasonable minimum, yet quality must be the highest in the industry.

Carlton Speaks On Almo's Success

LOS ANGELES — The music industry is not just the music business. It is also (and to a growing extent) the Printed music business. A&M Records has recently restructured its print division, Almo Music, under the direction of Joe Carlton.

Although Almo sits under the A&M corporate umbrella (and its offices are located on the A&M lot) Carlton is quick to point out the differences between recorded and printed music.

Sales Are Different

"Sales are one obvious difference," Carlton explained. "Let's take the Peter Frampton folio, for example. The album has gone platinum and folio sales have topped 100,000 copies, which is quite respectable for print. Very good."

Rapid Play And Professional Books

Almo has recently released a series of "Rapid-Play" instruction books that has an added feature: notation for C-chord organs, so that the tunes are easy to play. "Rapid-Play" is the easiest system of music learning yet devised! The series of "Rapid-Play" books is ever expanding to provide a library of best-selling song favorites. "The Professional Audition For Vocalists," which gives aspiring professionals some intelligent ways to approach both material and outlook for auditions has been released. "Switched On Synthesiser" gives instruction for ARP, Moog and Mini-Moog playing, patches for ARP Odyssey and a Universal Patch Diagram that can be used on all synthesisers.

Almo's recent new releases cover material that is already burning up the charts — Peter Frampton's LP "I'm In You," Pink Floyd's "Animals" and Kiss' "Love Gun" are included.

MINNEAPOLIS — Bob Nallick, president of Sunbird Corporation, announced the appointment of an initial network of distributors to handle the firm's newly introduced "Super Bowler" electronic wallgame.

The new distributors are: McKee Distributing (Portland, OR), Advance Distributing Co. (St. Louis, MO.), Northwest Sales Co. (Seattle, WA), Modern Vending Sales (Indianapolis, IN), Miller-Newmark Distributing Co. (Grand Rapids, MI), Portale

Automatic Sales (Los Angeles, CA), Rowe International (Houston, TX), Pioneer Sales and Service, Inc. (Menomonee Falls, WI), Rowe International (Omaha, NE), and Eli Ross Distributors, Inc. (Miami, FL).

Samples Out

Nallick indicated that the distributors have been supplied with sample models of the new wallgame and are presently in a position to provide immediate delivery. He said additional distributor appointments will be announced later.

AMOA Votes Jukebox Awards

CHICAGO — Winners of the annual AMOA Jukebox Awards have been announced and United Artists recording artist Kenny Rogers has the distinction of being the recipient of three separate awards, which is a first in the history of the association. Rogers' recording of "Lucille" was selected Country Record of the Year as well as Record of the Year, and he was named Artist of the Year.

In voting on the awards AMOA members are asked to base their choices solely on a record's earning power in jukeboxes.

Other winners are: "Car Wash" by Rose

Royce (Warner Bros.) for Soul Record of the Year and "Southern Nights" by Glen Campbell (Capitol) as Pop Record of the Year.

Presentation of the awards will take place during the annual AMOA banquet on Sunday, October 30, at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Event will climax the association's three-day annual exposition in Chicago.

A commemorative special merit award will be presented posthumously to Elvis Presley as a tribute from AMOA and in recognition of his distinguished recording career.

Columbus Branch Of Cleveland Coin Relocates To Ultra Modern Facility

CHICAGO — The Columbus, Ohio branch of Cleveland Coin International has moved the downtown area to a new plant location in the prestigious Huntley Distribution Center at 7029 Huntley Road. The new facilities, which occupy 20,000 square feet, include an ultra-modern plant, spacious parking areas and fully updated technical and parts departments.

THE WINNER — Cleveland Coin International recently polled 100 leading Ohio operators to determine the best video game of the year, and Midway's "Sea Wolf" ranked number one by a wide margin. Surrounding the champ in this photo, taken during the Cleveland Coin open house, are Midway's director of sales Larry Berke and Ohio model Alicia Laughlin.

In noting that the Columbus move follows the pattern set by the corporate headquarters in Cleveland, which relocated two years ago, company president Ronald A. Gold said, "This move culminates a carefully structured program of growth that commenced with the acquisition of the EXIDY "SCORE." Video upright machine. Game concept is the "battle of the sexes" as male pursues female, accompanied by whistle sounds, flashing hearts on the screen, et al. Cabinet's brightly colored artwork is eye-catching. (6/25/77).

WILLIAMS (UNITED) "CHEROKEE." 6-player shuffle alley. Game choices are: regulation, repeat strike, strike 90, 6th frame and flash. An extra shot can be earned for a strike via the repeat strike feature introduced on this model. (6/25/77).

MEADOWS "MEADOWS LANES." Bowling is the theme and play is according to regulation rules. Three player buttons are used to control the bowler, the speed of the ball and the angle or "hook" of the ball. Realistic sound effects. (7/2/77).

STERN "DISCO." 2-player pinball machine. Attractive graphics depict the popular disco craze. Machine has a chime unit, a spinning target and many exciting play features. Model is available in replay or add-a-ball. (7/2/77).

ROCK-OLA "GRAND SALON." A 160-selection console phonograph contained in an elegantly designed furniture style cabinet. Display panel is especially outstanding. Entire outside finish is of abuse-proof polyester for protection against spills, etc. (7/9/77).

BALLY "EVEL KNEIVEL." The dynamic 4-player pinball machine which marked Bally's official introduction of electronic technology. Playfield abounds in challenging skill shots and offers 35 ways to advance scores. (7/16/77).

PLAYMATIC "RIO." 4-player pinball machine. Unique playfield design has ball entering halfway up on the playfield. Electronic sound system. Striking cabinet design. 'Carnival' is the 2-player version. (7/16/77).

ATARI "POOL SHARK." Video game. Pocket billiards is the theme and one or two can play. Ops can select 2 to 5 30-second racks per game. A joystick controls the cue ball and the table is shown on the screen. (7/16/77).

ATARI "DRAG RACE." The name is the game, and players compete against each other and the clock. Horizontal track leads to finish line. Model has built-in self test system and is constructed for easy servicing. (7/16/77).

EXIDY "ROBOT BOWL." A 2-player video bowling game. Strikes, spares, gutter balls, and even misses are provided for regulation bowling action. Play instructions flash on the screen after coin is inserted. Sound effects. (7/16/77).

GREMLIN "TENPIN." A solid-state animated electronic bowling wallgame which accommodates one or two players. Realistic scoring system, sound effects, humorous and entertaining visual effects. (7/23/77).

MIDWAY "GUIDED MISSILE." video game for one or two players. Challenging air, sea and land combat. A joystick control handle guides the missile and realistic sound effects accompany the action. Attractive cabinet design. (7/30/77).

GOTTLIEB "JUNGLE PRINCESS." A 2-player version of the popular 'Jungle Queen.' Exciting board action of four flippers and a scoring potential of up to 199,000 add to the appeal of the game. (7/30/77).

STERN "PINBALL." 4-player pinball machine. Spinning targets, double and triple bonus features, skill shots and lots of playfield action. Interesting backglass graphics. Stern designed special promotional posters for this model. (7/30/77).

BALLY "KICK-OFF." 4-player pinball machine. Back and forth playfield action is reminiscent of soccer but definitely pinball. Two new techniques for delaying ball's exit to outhole. Numerous ways to add points. (8/6/77).

MIRCO "SUPER 21." Video cocktail table offering all of the features of the popular card game. Four players can play and each competes against the dealer. Model is encased in Mirco's traditional cocktail table cabinet. (8/6/77).

Atari Inc. Introduces New 'Super Bug' Road Rally Video Driving Machine

SUNNYVALE, CA. — Video game enthusiasts can now experience the thrill of racing through city streets in a wildly modified Volkswagen "bug" with Atari's new "Super Bug." Tricky, unpredictable turns, oil slicks, sand skids and cars parked along the course add to the challenge of this one-player driving game that includes all the excitement of a genuine road rally.

Players select novice or expert course as the action begins. Then they rev their engines and shift through four speeds to race the sunshine yellow Super Bug. The realistic sounds, fast action and variety of turns are designed to keep players coming back for more.

"Super Bug is a different concept in driving games. The feeling of rally racing with spontaneous turns and obstacles demands quick player reactions to avoid crashes and adds to the overall appeal of the game," said Frank Ballouz, national sales manager. "Its smaller size makes it suitable for any type location."

Atari's exclusive built-in self-test system, together with Dura-stress-tested circuitry and the new trouble-free coin door, assure reliability and maximum income potential. The new language option is also included with video messages in English, Spanish, French or German.

Contact Atari distributors for further information or Frank Ballouz, for referral.

Ohio Launches 8-Ball Tournament

COLUMBUS — A $25,000 coin-operated 8-Ball Tournament, under sponsorship of Shaffer Distributing Co. (Columbus and Cleveland) and U.S. Billiards, Inc., was recently launched throughout the state of Ohio. There are 29 coin machine operators and 200 tavern, bowling alley and arcade locations participating in the nine weeks of qualifying rounds, which are currently in progress. Tournament playoffs are scheduled for October 1 and 2 at the Columbus Hilton Inn.

In reporting the widespread enthusiasm exhibited by participating operators and locations, Chuck Farmer, Shaffer's director of marketing, emphasized that "pool table revenue is being dramatically boosted by the all-Ohio 8-Ball Tournament" and the event is being hailed as the "largest of its kind in the world."

8-BALL & CRUISE PROMOS — In addition to co-sponsoring a $25,000 8-ball tournament, Shaffer Distributing Co. is channeling extra energy into its Bahamarama sales promotion campaign in which Rowe product is playing a major role. In the top photo, Shaffer salesman Bill Grace, (l) and marketing director Chuck Farmer check promotional material at the tournament headquarters in Columbus. Below, distrib president Ed Shaffer (c) is pictured with Matt Russ (l) Rowe's senior vice president of marketing, and Joe Barton, former president and now consultant to Rowe.

Banner Delivers Polaroid's Automatic 'Face Place' Photo Vending Booth

CHICAGO — Banner Specialty Co. of Philadelphia is currently delivering a new photo vending machine developed by Polaroid, called "Face Place," which vends the noted SX-70 color portraits.

The machine is fully automatic and designed as a booth of white molded plastic with colorful striped trimmings and an illuminated header for full visibility on location. It contains an adjustable seat precisely positioned for persons of different heights, which will accommodate one or two adults.

The vended portraits emerge within moments and develop into brilliant color prints, fully framed. The procedure is similar to that depicted in the popular Polaroid television commercials where the image is observed in the various stages of development, from initial gray-green to the finished product.

The machine is built for easy care and maintenance and requires no chemicals. A brightly illuminated "count-down" sequence lights up to guide customers through the picture-taking process and, since photo delivery is immediate, there is no delay in making the booth available for the next user.

Cleveland Coin Branch Relocates

Martin & Snyder firm of Ohio three years ago. This acquisition was followed less than a year later by the purchase of the Seeburg Distributing firm in Columbus. A primary objective of these geographically contiguous acquisitions was to become a major factor in the distribution of industrial vending equipment.

"Our first move in October of 1975," he continued, "was into a modern 40,000-square-foot facility in Cleveland. Our additional corporate aspiration for a new plant in Columbus has now materialized.

"I believe that Cleveland Coin International has kept pace with the vigorous growth of the coin machine industry in the seventies. We are even more excited by the challenge of the future."

See the new "Laguna Racer" video driving game being introduced by Midway Mfg. Co. Firm's director of sales Larry Berke said distributor samples are on the way. Also very much in current production at Midway is the popular "Guided Missile" . . . Happy to hear — from service manager Andy Ducay — that the recent Bally-Midway service school, sponsored by United Dist. in Wichita, Kansas, was a huge success.

NOTES FROM THE LOCAL AMOA OFFICE: Current indications are that the October 28-30 Exposition in the Conrad Hilton Hotel will be an exceptional event and, undoubtedly, the association's biggest to date. Exhibit space has been filling up rapidly and, as AMOA's Fred Granger pointed out, there'll be a lot more of it this year — three exhibit halls showing a mammoth assortment of new and exciting equipment . . . The entertainment program for the AMOA banquet has not been finalized as yet but there'll be some familiar faces from previous years, like emcee Jerril Cox, who delighted AMOA audiences in the past and will be returning this year, and longtime favorite Boots Randolph, who's back on the banquet show bill after an absence of four years . . . The Ladies Luncheon should be especially interesting this year since AMOA has arranged for noted psychic Irene Hughes to be the featured attraction at the popular Friday noon event . . . Another popular personality making a return visit this year will be Dr. John Malone of the University of Notre Dame, who'll preside over the annual AMOA Seminar. Well known and highly respected in the coin machine industry, Dr. Malone will deliver an in-depth presentation on salesmanship and new business development. Also tentatively scheduled during the seminar will be a preview of the special audio-visual slide presentation on the coin machine industry, which is under preparation by AMOA officer Don Van Brackel.

CASH BOX FELICITATIONS TO Gus Tartol of Singer One Stop For Ops, who celebrated a birthday on September 19 — and the big day was duly acknowledged by friends and associates in the industry who gathered at the Singer premises for a Happy Birthday surprise party!

ATTENTION PHONO OPS: A novelty single, featuring the tunes "Jada," "In A Little Spanish Town" and "Oh Johnny," by Pete Moss has been released by Chicago-based Crystal Records — and label chief John Hogan is directing his initial promotion to jukebox operators.

WORLD WIDE DIST. recently hosted a series of Seeburg showings to introduce the new "Mardi Gras" phonograph to customers in Peoria (9/8), Moline (9/13) and Springfield (9/15). John Neville, Bob Parker and Jack Moyle of the World Wide sales force attended each and termed the series "tremendously successful" with respect to attendance and operator reaction — as well as orders written up. The model's been on display in the distrib's Chicago showrooms for informal viewing and, again, it's attracting much favorable comment.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

"We were very pleased with the attendance and response to the products," said C.N. McMurdie, president of Advance Automatic Sales, of the distrib's recent combined premier for Seeburg's new STD-4 phonograph and Atari's "Time 2000" pinball and "Super Bug" driving game. He noted further that the 160-selection Seeburg model was "well received" and that Atari personnel on hand at the San Francisco showroom included Frank Ballouz, Don Osborne, Fred McCord and Eddie Boasberg, among others.

SEGA WILL HOST a cocktail party on Friday, October 28, to mark the opening of the annual AMOA convention and trade show. As marketing manager Jack Gordon explained, company representatives from the U.S. and Japan will be greeting delegates and guests at Chicago's Ritz Carlton Hotel. Dave Rosen, president and chief executive officer of Sega Enterprises, Ltd., will be present, along with Don Hutmler, Marty Jasso, Bob Norwalt and Kinya Nishimo. Jack, who will also be at the show, noted that Sega will be unveiling some new electro-mechanical equipment and have a booth devoted to its Segavision wide screen television models.

THERE IS A NEW FACE at Circle International distrib in Los Angeles. He is salesman Dave Jacobs, who, according to Circle's Don Edwards, has been in the industry for many years with firms like ARA and Rowe. On the subject of pinballs, Don was enthusiastic about response to Williams' new "Rancho" and Playmatic's "Rio."

PORTALE AUTOMATIC SALES will open its new San Francisco distributorship, located at 960 Howard Street, some time in the early part of October. That's the word from executive vice president Tom Portale, who also said the office will be headed by Tom Higdon.

EASTERN FLASHES

Gerry Grotjan of Royal Dist., Cinncy rates a giant salute for his efforts in arranging a special program of service instruction for pinball machine mechanics at the University of Cincinnati. The course, which runs for a 10-week period and is held between the hours of 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. at the university, is the first such program under distributor sponsorship, to our knowledge. In organizing the school, Jerry contacted the university's director of counseling, who was very receptive to the idea so long as enough student interest could be generated. The next move was to sell operators on the idea of enrolling their mechanics for the course — and this accomplished, the university proceeded to schedule the school. Jerry said more than 25 registered for the opening session. What sparked the whole idea, he said, is the growing interest in solid-state and the need for specialized training in order to service the electronic machines. The entire course will focus on electronics, he added, starting with the basic fundamentals and include seven classroom sessions at the university and three at Royal. Other distributors who might be interested in organizing similar programs may feel free to contact Jerry for further information . . . As for present business at Royal, it is definitely on the upswing. NSM phonos are selling at a terrific pace and the most in demand games include Bally's "Evel Knievel" and Exidy's "Robot Bowl" . . . Bob Catlin, John Ard and the crew at Rowe Int'l., Albany are enthusiastically looking forward to the release of the new Rowe phono line, which will be revealed at the factory's September 29-30 national meeting in Arlington, Va. The distrib will host a formal showing sometime after the big premier. Bob said that he and John are also very much involved in the new season of Tournament Soccer competition, which is being launched with a big $10,000 tournament at the Albany Thruway (formerly Hyatt House) in Albany September 30-October 2.

SCHOOL IN SESSION — C.A. Robinson Company in Los Angeles recently hosted a much acclaimed series of two-day service schools on Atari and Bally products. Each session drew an estimated 300 persons — each of whom received special service manuals for additional clarification — representing the states of California, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico. The Atari seminar, conducted by Fred McCord, was devoted to the "Time 2000" solid-state pinball game; while the Bally session centered around the "Evel Knievel" pingame, also a solid-state model. The overwhelmingly positive response to the schools is indicative of growing operator interest in electronic pinball machines, ac-

C.A. Robinson Co. Holds Seminar On 'Evel Knievel' Pin

LOS ANGELES — Ever since Bally Manufacturing Corp. introduced its first electronic pinball game in late 1976, Bernie Powers, field service manager, has attracted SRO crowds at the numerous service schools he has conducted. And the recent two-day seminar on Bally's "Evel Knievel," hosted by C.A. Robinson Company here, was no exception.

Indeed, with attendance in excess of 300, it was the biggest service school in the distrib's history, according to vice-president Ira Bettelman.

"In retrospect, it was probably the best service school we've ever had," he said. "I think it's a good indication that operators are trying to keep up with the times."

The day-long program was the same each day, beginning in the morning with an introduction to the machine and how to approach it from a service standpoint. Then in the afternoon, participants received a detailed briefing on component-level troubleshooting. In addition, each took home a comprehensively compiled service manual and related materials.

Bally representatives Jack O'Donnell and Darrell Blendowski assisted Powers in teaching service fundamentals for electronic pinball games.

Powers said the goal of these seminars is "to convince operators they can do component-level replacement." Because they have fewer parts and a built-in self-test mechanism, solid-state pinballs are easier to repair than their electro-mechanical counterparts, he added.

C.A. Robinson provided a buffet luncheon both days.

Midwest Concerts Increase

Hall & Oates, Linda Ronstadt and Neil Diamond, while the Milwaukee Arena headlined acts including Heart, Ted Nugent, and ELP.

Kansas City's Uptown Theatre and Kemper Arena were able to feature top caliber groups, including George Benson, Alice Cooper, and Burton Cummings. And in Chicago, for the first time in the city's history, Soldier's Field Stadium, operated by the Chicago Parks Department, was made available to rock promoters. This summer, the venue hosted near-sellout crowds for bills that included ELP, Foghat, and J. Geils; Ted Nugent and Lynyrd Skynyrd; and Frampton and Bob Seger.

"After a summer like this, people have indicated they are much less apprehensive about coming into Milwaukee," commented local promoter Randy McElrath, president of Star Date Promotions.

Irv Zuckerman, a promoter working in Kansas City and St. Louis, added, "We are perhaps not in the forefront of people's minds for concerts, but we proved this summer that we can draw sizable crowds comparable with other large cities."

Strictly Summer Concert Goers?

Zuckerman also indicated that, according to a survey taken by his production company, Contemporary Productions, there is a definite percentage of outdoor summer concert goers who will not attend an indoor show, preferring the outdoor concerts "because it's more of an event, a party atmosphere outside, and they simply enjoy themselves more."

McElrath similarly felt that the success of large outdoor concerts in the midwest this summer is "part of the signal that there's another type of concert goer whom we don't see in the winter but who comes out in the summer."

Theme Parks

Yet another type of rock and pop concert goer has been in evidence at the increasing number of shows presented by the large regional theme parks, including Great Adventure in New Jersey; the Six Flags Inc. chain of "family entertainment centers" in St. Louis, Dallas-Ft. Worth, Houston and Atlanta; Worlds of Fun in Kansas City; Carowinds in Charlotte, North Carolina; and Kings Island in Cincinnati.

Featuring such acts as Firefall, Elvin Bishop, KC & The Sunshine Band and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, the parks attract a family-oriented type of crowd and offer, according to Bob Kochan of Six Flags Over America in St. Louis, "a wholesome, all-American type atmosphere. Mom and Dad are not afraid to let the kids watch rock concerts here."

More often than not, Mom and Dad will be in the audience, since most theme parks do not charge extra admission for their concerts. "The name entertainment gives the park an added attraction," Kochan said. "It widens the rock group's audience and is a tremendous marketing tool for us, affording us an especially good vehicle for promotion on TV and radio."

One exception to the flat fee admission norm is Carowinds Park, where a low-priced, separate concert admission was charged for the first time this summer. "We decided to see if the music was a money-making operation," a Carowinds spokesman said, "and we found that it definitely was." The park has a 10,000-seat amphitheatre and has featured such acts as the Spinners, Jimmy Buffett and Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge.

Barbra Skydell, an executive vice president for Premier Talent, one of the country's largest booking agencies, termed the trend of theme parks presenting more rock and pop groups "a tremendous outlet which opens up venues not previously available for these acts."

Similar opinions were expressed about the burgeoning concert venues available at state fairs (Cash Box, Sept. 26). However, theme parks are distinct from state fairs in that they are year-round or half-year operations instead of two weeks in length. Theme parks also have invested in professional stage and lighting equipment and crews, feature artists on a regular weekly basis, and advertise every upcoming appearance.

A further rise in the number of rock and pop groups appearing at theme parks appears likely next year. In fact, according to Jim Glynn, spokesman for Worlds of Fun, these concerts "are no longer a trend. They're part of a standard procedure at most parks. They know they're going to get crowds that would not come without the rock groups, and parents as well as children don't feel as threatened about going to a concert there as they would if it were in an inner-city auditorium."

First NARM Meet Draws Good Crowd

ject in the works is a "reader's guide index" to music marketing and merchandising literature, which Cohen envisions as a key resource for students of the industry and established business people looking for new ideas.

Dr. Rachman, the guest lecturer, is currently a consultant to such mass merchandise chains as J.C. Penney and McCrory, as well as the Schwartz Brothers chain of Harmony Hut record stores.

Rachman reminded the audience that music retailing was as much an entertainment business as a sales enterprise. Most retailers, he indicated, had been derelict in failing to take advantage of the inherent excitement of recorded sound.

Rachman urged the retailers to implement a system for "analyzing consumer demand," preferably by maintaining better inventory records and keeping close tabs on the dates of delivery. "I can't see keeping records for more than six months," Rachman asserted. "It's costing you money. By breaking down inventory by age, you know what's selling and what to reorder."

Other advice offered by the consultant included hiring heavy part-time help, so that work hours can be staggered according to peak sales periods; and instituting zero-based budgeting in each outlet.

THEIR MONEY'S ON MONEY — Eddie Money is the first artist brought to Columbia Records by Bill Graham's Wolfgang Productions under terms of a newly-signed production agreement. Money's debut LP is scheduled for release later this month and will coincide with a national 30-40 date tour. The LP will carry a Wolfgang logo on a Columbia label. Pictured with a copy of the album are, (from left): Ken Sasano, west coast associate director of product development for Columbia; Don Dempsey, vice president of marketing for Columbia; Bruce Lundvall, president of the CBS Records Division; Graham; Jack Craig, senior vice president and general manager of marketing for CBS; and Jonathan Coffino, director of new artist development for Columbia.

Iron-On Transfer Mfg. Granted Injunction

LOS ANGELES — A U.S. District Court in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. has decided in favor of Holoubeck Studios, one of the largest heat iron-on transfer companies in the country, in a case involving the infringement of licenses held by Holoubeck on such music personalities as Peter Frampton, the Doobie Brothers and Steve Miller.

The case alleged that The Wild Side, a Miami-based iron-on transfer company, was manufacturing, using, selling and distributing unauthorized heat transfer iron-on imitations or pirated reproductions of 14 Holoubeck designs. In addition to a permanent injunction granted to Holoubeck. The Wild Side will also be required to meet the cost of a settlement which is in excess of the total net sales made by the Miami firm.

Integrity Entertainment of five of the seven Wallichs locations, which has already received Bankruptcy Court approval (Cash Box, July 2).

Spencer Pearce of Shaftsbury Music was understood to have taken over the remaining two Wallichs locations, subject to the approval of the Wallichs board.

According to a proposal for the reorganization of Wallichs under Chapter XI of the bankruptcy laws, the Schlangs, Barsky and Pearce would each have received 25% of the debtor company in exchange for financing the continued operation of the chain.

The plan seemed headed for confirmation last month when, during a hearing before Bankruptcy Judge James Dooley, attorneys for Wallichs said they had received consents to the plan from a near majority of the creditors.

At a subsequent hearing, however, the attorneys announced that many of the consents to the plan of arrangement had been withdrawn, following the announcement that a compromise had been worked out with Westinghouse Credit Corp. over pending litigation.

Integrity Reports Profits Doubled In Fiscal 1977

LOS ANGELES — Integrity Entertainment Corp., which owns and operates California's Wherehouse and Hits-For-All retail chains, last week announced that profits for the fiscal year ending June 30 had nearly doubled on an 18% increase in sales.

Net income for 1977 was $844,514, an increase of $402,199, or 91%, over 1976 net income of $442,315. Sales for the fiscal year totalled $46.1 million, an increase of $6.9 million, or 17.6%, over 1976 sales for the year.

Fourth-quarter earnings were $229,694, an increase of $229,319, or 512%, over fourth-quarter earnings in 1976 of $375. Sales for the fourth-quarter this year were $12.1 million, up $3.25 million, or 36%, from 1976 fourth quarter sales of $8.8 million.

Integrity's financial announcement stated, "Integrity Entertainment Corp., from a standing start seven years ago, has expanded to a point where it is currently the largest record retailer in California, having 88 retail stores representing a net increase of 19 over last year. The company expects to have 99 retail stores by the Christmas season.

"The preponderant portion of the company's annual sales are derived from the ... Wherehouse stores."

boat Annie," Chilliwack's "Dreams, Dreams, Dreams" and the "Switched On Beatles" album.

The price hike on 20th Century Records' product went into effect Sept. 19, and includes all $6.98 list albums except the Rusty Weir catalog, which will remain at $6.98 list. The two-record set soundtrack from the motion picture "Star Wars" will also keep its old list price of $9.98 for both the LP and tape.

These announcements come in addition to the four companies that announced general price hikes the previous week: Phonogram/Mercury, Polydor, United Artists and Island.

A detailed account of UA's price hike lists reveals that all two-record sets presently listing at $6.98 or $7.98 will now become $9.98 list LPs.

Soundtracks

All soundtracks and Broadway shows currently $6.98 list will increase to $7.98, as will all Blue Note LPs presently $6.98 list. The Electric Light Orchestra catalog of LPs which list for $6.98 also are now raised to $7.98 list, as are all $6.98 list albums by War.

All UA 8-track and cassette tapes which list for $7.98 but are from two-record sets will be increased to a $9.98 list price. UA's price increases went into effect Sept. 16.

ner Bros. Records, and Albert Grossman, president of Bearsville Records; and Mel Posner, vice chairman of the board of Elektra-Asylum Records; Joel Friedman, WEA president, and Jerry Greenberg, president on Atlantic Records. The convention took place Sept. 7-11.

market leaders WEA and CBS. With their latest acquisitions, Phonodisc has approximately 6%-8% of the total market, behind WEA, which has somewhere around 22%-25%, and CBS, which has 20%-22%, about two to three points behind WEA.

Previously, Phonodisc had approximately 5%-7% of the market, in the same general area as Capitol and RCA. MCA currently has about 2%-4% of the market, about the same as ABC.

Increase Of 3%

Independent distributors that pick up the ABC Records line will therefore increase their market share by about 3%. Generally, throughout the past few years, the independents have had about 20% of the market, plus or minus a few points. In many markets, however, that 20% share is split up between two or more distributors.

Exactly which distributors are going to get the ABC line was unclear at press time. It was understood that Skip Byrd, president of ABC Records Distributors, was the person who would put together the ABC distribution network.

The current ABC setup of part-branch and part-independents marks a return to the same system they employed up until a few years ago. At that time, joining a growing trend, they went all-branch.

Also unclear was which of Casablanca's independent distributors were going to retain the line until Christmas.

Steering Committee For Promo Group Named

LOS ANGELES — The new steering committee for the Southern California promotion men's unassociation was announced at a recent meeting of the group. It will consist of: Dale (White) Horn, Ariola; Don Stowne, Lifesong; Brad Cramer, Record Merchandising; and Jan Basham, A&M Records. The group also discussed the October 16 picnic for members and their families. Working with steering committee members on the picnic are: Nancy Eddo, Ranwood; Bob Paiva, London Records; and Eddie Teichmann, Cadet.

6 New LPs Released On GRT Budget Label

LOS ANGELES — Six new record and tape albums in a series by the Rainy Day Orchestra And Singers have been released on the Sunnyvale label by GRT Music.

The label is GRT's new budget label, with the Rainy Day series aimed at the adult market.

tunity to return them for credit on future purchases.

"The cooperation from our customers — retailers, one-stops and so on around the country — has been sensational," said Jim Tyrrell, vice president of marketing for Epic, commenting on dealer response thus far to the program.

Don Dempsey, vice president of marketing for Columbia, said another major aim of the "Baby Acts" program is the hope of breaking some of these acts in racked record departments.

Although rack buyers have been called "notoriously conservative in their buying habits," Dempsey said, "the rack jobber's accounts are beginning to take a completely different view in terms of their attitude about the record department and their willingness to represent music and artists at a much earlier point in their success than what was done in the past."

Racks Hopeful

Several rack jobbers indicated they are enthusiastic about the program, but Hynes said, "Some are certainly more interested than others. It's good for a retail structure, but it may not be as good for a rack structure. They would take it on more of a release-by-release basis, although they have been very co-operative."

John Kaplan, executive vice president of the Handleman Company, the nation's second largest rack jobber, handling all 1,000-plus K mart stores, said, "We are participating to an extent with our retail stores, although if there is something we think has a chance on the rack level, we would do it through the rack orders, too."

"In fact, I'm going to go in on one item I believe in very much, and that's the 'Meatloaf' record. I'd like to see if we can contribute to help make this artist, and we will do it with that act," Kaplan said.

He also said although Handleman would not try to break every "Baby Act" through the racks, when they did decide to do it on a particular act, they would do it through all the stores, not just a few large or key stores.

ABC Record and Tape Sales, however, is implementing the program on an experimental basis in some of its rack stores. Steve Kugel, vice president of marketing of ABC, admitted, "It's difficult to break an act on the rack level. We have been ordering five to ten copies of some of the albums, then we watch the tickets and report what we see to Columbia."

Kugel said ABC is stocking "five or six of the albums in about 150 of the larger stores," which he said is significantly more than ABC generally stocks on a debut album.

"Without the protection CBS is offering, we would not be experimenting to this degree. In effect, we are both gambling with CBS' money."

Seymour Leslie, chairman of the board of Pickwick International, said, "I think Pickwick will be as involved in the program as anybody else will be. We will certainly do our part in working with CBS and others to the extent that we believe it fits and serves our demographic needs."

Western Merchandisers, however, is not as yet participating in the program with its rack customers. Steve Marmaduke, the rack buyer for Western, said, "Our retail division has (begun participating) but I have not per se, because I do the buying for the rack division."

"You can't buy an awful lot of rack product like 'Meatloaf' but I think it's an excellent idea. They have talked to us, but so far we haven't done anything on the rack level."

Retailers' opinions, however, were more consistent than those of the rack jobbers, and almost all called the program a good, progressive move by CBS, an approach to creating added excitement for records by new artists. Moreover, several indicated they were giving the new releases stepped up treatment in terms of in-store positioning and display.

Rod Linnum, buyer for the Detroit-based Music Stop stores, called the CBS program "very effective," adding, "I would think those retailers that don't take advantage of something like this are defeating the purpose of being in the retail business."

"It's the small retailers who have to break pop product, the stores like K mart aren't going to do it. Sooner or later Columbia is going to offer a group the stature of Boston and we're certainly going to cash in on those."

Linnum went on to say that Music Stop stores are allowing their customers to purchase the new releases on a "buy-it-and-try-it" basis. In other words, if customers don't like the album after taking it home and listening to it, they can exchange it for any comparably priced LP in the store.

As a result of the liberal retail incentives offered by CBS, Linnum said, he was able to stock the new releases in quantities of 30 per store instead of the two or three he would normally buy.

"I can buy the albums aggressively, display them aggressively and return them if they don't sell," he explained. "And I don't have to worry about inflating my inventory, which is all-important in a small retail chain."

Similarly, Fred Traub, vice-president of purchasing for the 78-store Record Bar chain, said he found the extending dating particularly helpful. "At a time when list prices are going up and everyone's open-to-buy has been affected because you can't buy as many units at the higher price, the dating program gives you an opportunity to commit to product that might have otherwise been marginal."

Lou Fogelman, president of the 15-store Music Plus chain in southern California, and Tom Keenan, president of the Portland, Oregon-based Everybody's stores, agreed that the program benefits both the record company and the retailer.

"It gives their (CBS) promotion people a tremendous handle when they go into the radio station and try to work the product," Fogelman said. "And it isn't hurting the retailer because he can return the product before he has to pay for it and he gets free goods to cover his handling."

Sam Stollen, buyer for the 17-store Sam Goody chain, stressed the importance of effectively merchandising the new releases in the stores. "It wouldn't get off the ground without some point-of-purchase merchandising," he said, adding that CBS has provided floor racks, header cards and other display items.

The only problem with the CBS concept, according to Stollen, would be if other record companies began offering similar programs, which would put a severe strain on already limited floor space.

Lee Hartstone, president of Integrity Entertainment, Inc., which operates the Warehouse and Hits-For-All chains, said, "The essence of their program, as I understand it, is representation at the point of sale, rather than promotion."

"I don't think they are asking us to do their job of promoting. All they are asking us to do is to back up their promotion by having the product. They can have our point of sale, but I don't know that they can have a promotional effort. We have a whole industry to serve."

He also said he thinks many of the incentives in the program are not aimed at giant retail chains such as the Warehouse, because, he said, "We normally represent almost every new release anyway."

As a result, Hartstone said, "it's not terribly unusual from what we were doing before. We were representing their new acts before they went on a program."

In general, though, he said he thinks the CBS program is a "good effort. The development of new acts is the heart of our business."

Western Merch.

Walter McNeer, vice-president and general manager of Western Merchandisers' retail division, said all eight of the stores he does business with are actively selling the "Baby" albums and that he has already reordered on some of the acts.

He also said those stores are passing the discount CBS gives them on to the customer, which he said is boosting sales.

"We are putting in probably four times as many albums as we usually would have. Quite a few of them are doing well. They still have some stiff, like they always have. But we are giving them more in-store play, which I think is probably getting us more sales than anything."

Ira Heilicher, formerly of Heilicher Bros. and Pickwick and now president of the Great American Music Co. retail store in Minneapolis, said, "At this point, we've been running almost 70%-80% of the acts. Karla Bonoff is one of them and we've been back twice for that one."

'Two Winners'

"Like I told the people at CBS, 'All you need is two winners out of this program. You don't need two superstars, all you need is two winners and it was well worth the effort.'"

"If there are no winners," Heilicher said, "at least CBS was willing to take the gamble. Although it's not a big gamble, it is a gamble and if they are willing to take that gamble, the least we can do, if we have the space to devote to it, is give them the space."

He said he has eliminated one display area to create additional space for some of the new acts' albums. "Not all of them, but a few of them. We said based on the commitment and the additional gross profit involved in the program, it was worth taking a display of a particular artist and commit it for the facings of the new LPs."

Many echoed the same view that what CBS has done with their program is not vastly different than what has been done by other companies, except that the CBS "Baby Acts" campaign is more all encompassing.

Kaplan best summarized these comments when he said, "It's not really that different from what's been done before. They've given it a name and a concentrated effort, and almost anything that falls in that category has been done by others from time to time on specific items."

"But the others haven't given it that terminology CBS has. What they are doing is highlighting the fact that they don't tell you in advance they think it's going to be another hit. They highlight the fact that it's new product that they believe in and they are going to do their share by promoting it, giving you ad dollars if you want it and sell you the product at a better price so you'll take a chance on it."

"All of these things contribute to a retailer and a rack jobber wanting to co-operate."

'Operation Breakthrough'

CBS officials said once an album has achieved what they feel to be a sufficient amount of sales, airplay and chart action from the "Babys" campaign, techniques known as "Operation Breakthrough" are implemented.

As one CBS executive put it, "Breakthrough is only implemented when an album appears to have a national characteristic in its consumer response."

E/A SIGNS WHITE — Elektra/Asylum Records recently signed Lenny White to the label's new jazz/fusion music division. White, who formerly was the drummer with Return To Forever, is recording his debut LP for the label with Al Kooper producing. vice president of marketing.

Sales displays and in other in-store aids have been designed and will include posters for the new LP as well as the entire Elton John catalog, a mobile, 12-inch styrofoam "ELTON," display letters and a 6-foot-tall stand-up of Elton as he appears on the album jacket.

NMPA And Educators Issue Pamphlet About New Copyright Law

NEW YORK — A pamphlet guideline has been issued for the provisions relating to the educational use of copyrights incorporated in the copyright statute, scheduled to take effect on January 1, 1978.

The pamphlet, "The United States Copyright Law: A Guide For Music Educators," was jointly issued by the National Music Publishers' Association in conjunction with the Music Educators National Conference, Music Teachers National Association and National Association of Schools of Music.

The NMPA's offices are located at 110 East 59 Street, New York, N.Y. 10022.

MCA's promotion department, headed by Ray D'Ariano, will conduct a Top 40 radio ad campaign with on-the-air contests October 1 and 2 in major markets nationwide. Promotions for progressive stations will follow.

Elton Single

A new Elton John single is expected to be released mid-October when a second radio blitz will be undertaken.

According to MCA vice president Bob Siner, advertising will be geared to reach 100 million people in all segments of the population.

Television spots for the greatest hits album will begin airing during the Christmas buying period and will continue into 1978.

The album release and campaign will coincide with the Viking/Penguin, Inc. publication of "Elton: It's A Little Bit Funny."

The book is about a year in the life of Elton John with photos and text written by Bernie Taupin. Cross promotion between Viking and MCA is being set for store and radio levels.

Casablanca To Join Phonodisc Dist.

Harris, executive vice president, voted to sell the stock.

Many of the Casablanca independent distributors will continue to handle product on a dual-distribution basis through Dec. 31, 1977 under a plan devised by Bogart. Concerning the dual-distribution plan and what specific distributors would continue to handle Casablanca product, Bogart explained, "Certain policy guidelines of the company do not allow for disclosure of the distributors."

He added, "We really want to give the independent distributor a fair shot to get out and not abruptly change anybody's business."

'Getting Out Clean'

"The new distribution program that we've worked out is to the advantage of their getting out clean... us getting out clean and both of us being able to phase out of each other and for them be as happy as they can be under the circumstances."

Bogart also said, "Although I feel sad leaving so many friends behind in independent distribution, it has come time for Casablanca to take more control of sales and distribution. The Phonodisc operation will essentially give us our own branch distribution. It is acknowledged that the Polygram Group is one of the most powerful forces in the world of entertainment, and with their financial backing, we will have all the facilities of a major branch operation, as well as keeping the independence of wherever Neil Bogart goes, that's where I go."

Concerning the effect on independent distribution, Regan remarked, "I think independent distribution will survive. I have a lot of friends in independent distribution and I'm going to miss them."

Jimmy Jenner, president of Millennium, said, "We're going wherever Casablanca is going. There are many people there that we consider important for our company."

Other manufacturers now utilizing independent distribution commented on the individuality of this particular case and that it was not the beginning of any trend.

'More Time On Us'

"It's a situation between Neil and Polygram and he may do as he pleases with his marvelous record company. Certainly, anytime someone makes a change or elects to leave independent distribution, there's concern about its future," said Bob Fead, senior vice president of sales and distribution for A&M Records.

He continued, "I feel very optimistic about independent distribution. We're very pleased with what they're doing for us. Selfishly, it may free up more of their time to concentrate on our product."

Mike Lushka, executive vice president of Motown, said, "I really don't care. Motown is Motown. It may affect distributors as far as billing, but Motown won't be affected."

No Changes

Noting that the move would not change United Artists' attitude toward independent distribution, Artie Mogull, UA president, pointed out, "I don't think that it will have any effect on independent distribution because they're going to pick up a big line in the next two weeks (ABC Records)."

"My basic reaction is that independent distribution is still viable," according to Eliot Goldman, executive vice president of Arista. He added that A&M, Arista, and UA are all successful now and that they supplement the independent distributors with their own promotion, marketing and sales forces, therefore making the independents more "sophisticated" today. The combination of efforts by both the labels and the distributors results in the same service that you would receive through a branch system, he pointed out.

Casablanca. No other substantial change will take place in the recording, motion picture or television operations, or in the music and book publishing operations."

Steinberg Comment

Irwin Steinberg, president of the Polygram Group USA, commented, "Casablanca has shown itself to be the brightest new star on the horizon. Its success in records, motion pictures and music publishing, as well as its entry into television and book publishing, has taken the industry by storm. The joining of our existing forces will place the combination of our companies amongst the most powerful and important in leisure-time entertainment."

Guber, Casablanca chairman, added, "This association gives Casablanca the ability to strengthen the financial resources for its own film productions. The management team of Polygram -- including Coen Solleveld; Kurt Kinkele; Johannes Van der Velden; Wolfgang Hix and Irwin Steinberg -- in addition to the Casablanca management team, worked very hard at coming up with a format advantageous to both companies. The operation of Casablanca will remain the sole responsibility of the present Casablanca management team."

Coen Solleveld, president of the World Polygram Group, stated, "This is one of the most significant ventures Polygram has made in expanding its U.S. operations. We look forward to a long-time relationship with our new friends and associates at Casablanca."

Goldman feels that Casablanca didn't decide to "go branch" as such, but as part of the partial buy-out, they are now part of Phonodisc.

Larry Uital, president of Private Stock, commented that "both record companies and independent distributors in the past have lost important artists, product and labels and at the same time of such loss everyone said the companies would suffer seriously. The results, however, have invariably been that the companies have not suffered, but that they have replaced the losses with other viable product. I congratulate Casablanca and wish them well in moving forward with new excitement and growth potential."

Comments from independent distributors reflected disappointment, but stressed that this was not a growing trend.

Seymour Leslie, chairman of the board of Pickwick International, who handled Casablanca in various regional markets, said, "We're disappointed that we had to lose them, but we've been good for each other for some time. We're still believers in the independent way and I think that was a unique situation for an individual, but hardly a trend."

"The loss of Casablanca, I believe, will be made up in the next year by those who will find the independent way the better way than distribution by a major. We believe that more people are coming to the realization that the series of entrepreneurs in local areas, handling distribution, probably are the most lucrative and keenest way to get to the market."

At All South Distributing Corp. in New Orleans, owner Warren Hildebrand predicted that Casablanca will probably not enjoy the same success and growth pattern under the new arrangement.

"No doubt about it that they are a very good company, but a large part of that success was, I think, from the independent distributors who helped to build them that big. I don't blame Bogart for taking the money from Polygram, but I think that other labels will fill the void. We'll just concentrate on our other labels."

Sid Talmadge, president of Record Merchandising in Los Angeles, expressed disappointment over the loss of the line, "but we will learn to live without it."

Chappell Music Exploits Old, New Of Its Song Resources

by Nigel Hunter

LONDON — Tony Roberts, general manager of the Chappell music division, is due in New York on September 26 on a mission which will also take him to Nashville and Los Angeles. He will meet fellow Chappell executives Irwin Robinson (New York), Henry Hurt (Nashville) and Eddie Reeves (Los Angeles) and their colleagues, and will also be seeking out A&R men and artists with new U.K. song product as well as drumming up business with other American publishers who have English offices, offering them competitive deals for printing and distributing their song folios in the U.K. through the Chappell print division.

Roberts is heading a twin-pronged operation to maximize profitable action on Chappell's vast song resources. On one hand there is the company's glittering standard catalogs, including copyrights by all-time greats such as Cole Porter, Richard Rodgers, Lorenz Hart, Oscar Hammerstein, George Gershwin and Irving Berlin; on the other there is Chappell's major commitment to contemporary song and its writers and exponents.

"Chappell has been 'the' standard company ever since I've been in the business," Roberts told Cash Box. "But because it is the best standard company, people have been blinded to the fact that it is also in the contemporary pop business. The thinking has changed at Chappell along these lines over the last few years. First Roland Rennie joined, and now there is me. My brief is to get heavily into the pop market without

WEA Acquires U.K. Nonesuch Catalog For Distribution

LONDON — WEA Records has acquired the U.K. marketing and distribution rights for the Nonesuch catalog, and an initial release of 50 albums will be shipped in mid-October in a major campaign tagged "The Rare, The Unusual, The Unexplored."

The selection is drawn from the existing Nonesuch repertoire, plus a few new releases, and the campaign will be slanted at the general public rather than the specialist buyer.

Nonesuch was launched in 1963 as a sister company to Elektra, and has acquired a reputation for unusual repertoire, with a certain emphasis on early classical music and contemporary American and European works.

pushing the standards to one side." David Barnes recently joined Chappell in London from Essex Music, and is leading the standard side of the operation, exploiting the treasury of songs and seeking modern disc covers on them. Roberts is giving attention to the contemporary pop side of the scene.

"We have a weekly meeting where we pool information and review all the artists we know who may be looking for new songs," explained Roberts. "We specifically try to find a suitable song for an artist, and the Chappell person who knows them best goes along to see them. We don't go in with an armful of numbers — just one or two. If the artist doesn't like those, we'll think again and go back with more."

Old-Style Reversion
This is a reversion to the old-style of music publishing after years of the publishing sector being dominated (and, some people opine, stultified) by the trend of acts writing and publishing their own material to the exclusion of everything else. Roberts thinks the change back to older methods is good.

"You can persuade even some of the superstars to record other people's compositions," he pointed out. "It's not easy to write a hit song. It's a craft, a great skill, and many artists realize that while they can write a song themselves for a B side, it's terribly difficult to write that magic No. 1. I want to sign writers I can get recording covers on as well as singer-songwriters."

CBS GERMANY CONVENES — CBS Records Germany held its biggest convention to date at the Munich Hilton from August 23-27. Present were delegations from CBS Records International, New York, CBS Records Europe, CBS Records Paris, and executives from CBS affiliates in the United Kingdom, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and Austria. In the first photo, Rudolf Wolpert, managing director of CBS Germany, presents platinum records for Simon & Garfunkel's "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and "Greatest Hits" albums to Peter de Rougement, senior vice-president of CBS

CRIA Centenary Of Sound Draws An Estimated 1½ Mil.

TORONTO — Conservative estimates predict that the Centenary of Sound pavilion at the Canadian National Exhibition attracted in the neighborhood of 1.5 million persons between August 17 and September 5.

Sponsored by the Canadian Recording Industry Association (CRIA), the former Automotive building was refurbished and renamed at a cost of $1 million and housed 82 related industry exhibits during the tenure of the Canadian exhibition, the largest and most lucrative of its kind in North America. Opening day celebrations were staged for the media and among the keynote speakers who saluted the 100th anniversary of sound were Arnold Gosewich, president of Capitol Canada, and songwriter Gordon Lightfoot, who resides in this city.

Gosewich, chairman of the organizing committee for the pavilion, summed up the collaborative efforts of the industry in making it happen as "magnificent. It's going to make a lot of people around the world aware of what we're doing for the music business in Canada."

Classic Concerts Pacts With Block

LONDON — Derek Block Concert Promotions has acquired John Martin's Classic Concerts in a deal which further consolidates Block's increasing influence on the live show scene.

Martin has been staging about 100 shows a year through his Classic Concerts enterprise, including the Sunday Night at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane series, open-air concerts in London's Regent's Park and one nighters at the Royal Albert Hall by stars such as Cliff Richard and Kiki Dee.

Martin, a show business veteran who has been agent at various times for Yes, Black Sabbath and Rod Stewart, amongst others, and founded the Great Western Festival organization with the late Sir Stanley Baker, is joining Block's organization to continue with his show projects.

WEA Of S. Africa, Joburg Form Pact

JOHANNESBURG — A sales and distribution agreement has been made between WEA South Africa and the newly-formed Joburg Records Company. WEA will now have first option, internationally, on all Joburg product, except Rabbit (Capricorn) and Margaret Singana (Casablanca).

The pavilion, with 45,000 square feet of exhibit space, housed a total of 82 exhibits, ranging from record companies to T-shirt vendors. In a floor survey conducted midway through the pavilion's stay, consumers indicated that they were happy with the pavilion's existence and were most satisfied with video displays provided by record companies.

Free Performances

Beside the displays, a 2,000-seat theatre was built inside the pavilion, housing three domestic performing acts per evening at no cost to listeners. Group expenses were picked up by the AF of M. Other points of interest included an exhibit portraying the 100 years of recording, which included explanations of pioneering techniques leading to today's sophisticated stamping and manufacturing of records; a film display of how a record is manufactured; a recording studio manned by a name producer, with the opportunity of having a demonstration tape cut free of charge; and, of course, a record store with all profits being plowed back into the CRIA to offset the cost of the pavilion.

De Rougement Named As CBS Int'l. Senior VP

NEW YORK — Peter de Rougement has been appointed senior vice president, European operations, CBS Records International. Rougement is responsible for all operations of the CBS Records International continental subsidiaries in Europe, including long-range planning and development of the European artist rosters.

Rougement joined CRI in 1958 as general manager, Columbia Argentina. After several top managerial appointments in South America, he moved to Europe in 1963 and became vice president, European operations, CBS Records International.

Australian News

AUSTRALIA — Currently in Australia on nationwide tours are Jose Feliciano and the six piece 10cc, who have brought close to seventeen tons of equipment for their concerts. Both acts are receiving excellent response from Aussie audiences with an expected surge in their respective disk sales.

The big news on the personal appearance scene currently is the tour by Australian Peter Allen, who is appearing as his single, "I Go To Rio," holds high on the nation's charts.

South American, Pacific Deals For Penny Farthing

LONDON — Penny Farthing Records chief Larry Page has set licensing deals for his label in Venezuela, Colombia and the Philippines. El Discosoda of Venezuela and A&W Records of the Philippines will both inaugurate their agreements with the release of "Erotic Soul" by the Larry Page Orchestra.

Penny Farthing has renewed its long-standing licensing pact with Discos Musart of Mexico, and Page will visit Mexico in November to discuss release plans there for the Page Orchestra and pop group Hunter.

Crosby, Hope To Be Reunited For 'Road' Film

LONDON — Bing Crosby will be reunited with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour before the movie cameras here in the U.K. next year when they shoot "The Road To The Fountain Of Youth" for Lord Grade. It will be the first "Road" film since "Road To Hong Kong" in 1960, and Crosby commented that they will all be playing their age. He is also set to appear with Hope on the bill of the Royal Variety Performance here in November, and is starring in a two-week season at the London Palladium with his wife Kathryn, son Harry Crosby III and Rosemary Clooney until October 8.

International Executives On The Move

Bigland Public Relations' president Ron Scribner wishes to announce Graham Thorpe has been named managing director and Debbie Canham has been named to the position of promotion and advertising director for Bigland Public Relations.

Rob Walker, formerly regional PR manager EMI, Australia, has been appointed to the position of national PR manager and assumes the position formerly held by Roger Langford. Walker's position has been filled by Russell Thomas, former Motown product manager. Thomas will also take care of A&R in the Victoria region. Mike Luxford, formerly with RCA Publishing, has been appointed to the position of Motown product manager, EMI Australia. Greg Floyd, formerly special projects manager, now assumes the position of licensed labels product manager.

Phil Mortlock has joined the WEA Records New South Wales promotion department. Peter Jamieson has been named managing director of EMI (New Zealand) Ltd., and will take up his new post at the end of December when the present incumbent, M.S. Wells, vacates the chair for another position in the EMI group. Jamieson is presently EMI international sales manager, and will be succeeded in that capacity by Paul Watts, currently EMI group pop repertoire division general manager, who will report to EMI Records managing director Leslie Hill. Before his present UK post, Jamieson was in Greece as managing director of EMI Lambropoulos (EMIAL).

Carling joined WEA in June of last year as a singles salesman, and in March this year became regional promotion representative in the Newcastle area.

CBS Schallplatten GmbH, the German branch of CBS Records, International, has announced several executive appointments affecting the marketing, sales and A&R functions of the company. Changes were also made in April Musikverlag GmbH.

Argentinian News

BUENOS AIRES — Microfon hosted a party at the Continental Hotel celebrating the arrival of Argentinian-born chanter Alberto Cortez, currently established in Spain and having big success in Europe and several Latin American countries. Cortez has already twice visited his home country, and in this case is performing in several cities of the interior during three weeks, and will afterwards tour Latin America, ending the trip in Mexico City. Microfon released recently an album with a selection of his best hits.

In Santiago, Chile, another gathering of the Latin American Federation of Record Producers (FLAPF) took place with strong attendance from all the countries. The main problems regarding the record industry were widely discussed, and a lot of business was also negotiated.

Phonogram has signed folk musician Antonio Tarrago Ros Junior to its roster and is planning to release his new recordings in the near future. Antonio is the son of another famed folk artist, Tarrago Ros, and is a master in handling the music of the eastern part of the country. He has been appearing recently with folk humorist Luis Landriscina at the Coliseo theater.

Melodic chanter Pedro Vargas is also in Buenos Aires, and offered a press conference at the Afrika discotheque. His waxings are released by RCA, and he has been a longtime favorite in many Latin American countries.

Where In The World . . .

Island U.K. recording artist Jess Roden is taking part in the Stomu Yamashta American tour which began at the Los Angeles Roxy on September 21 and continues through to a final Canadian date on October 30, including three nights at New York's Bottom Line October 25-27.

Eric Clapton and his band began a Japanese tour on September 26 at the Osaka Festival Hall, and will play Okayama, Kyoto, Nagoya and Sapporo before climaxing with two nights at the Tokyo Budokan on October 6 and 7.

American soul act the Brothers Johnson have started their first U.K. tour with a date at the Newcastle Polytechnic on September 30. It includes concerts in Birmingham, London, Cardiff, Brighton, Dunstable and Manchester before winding up on October 10 at the Glasgow Apollo.

Supertramp, who have been breaking box office records in the Scandinavian countries in September, play their first U.K. dates in 18 months this month. Additional concerts have been added at Manchester Belle Vue on October 20, Edinburgh Usher Hall (25) and Brighton Conference Center (November 4) plus three at Dublin Stadium November 10-12.

Elton John plays a rare U.K. concert at Wembley Empire Pool on November 3, and is donating the proceeds to football and children's charities.

Carole Bayer Sager begins a series of concert dates at London's Theater Royal, Drury Lane, jointly set up by Classic Concerts and Capital Radio. She opens the series accompanied by her own band on October 2, marking her U.K. concert debut, and the show will be recorded by Capital for later transmission.

A U.K. tour for Bob Seger and his Silver Bullet Band has been finalized, opening at the Sheffield City Hall on October 13 and playing shows at Glasgow, Manchester, Newcastle, and Birmingham before finishing with two dates at London's Hammersmith Odeon on October 21 and 22.

ABC Records artist Lenny Williams will be appearing at the Mostra Internazionale Di Musica Leggera Festival Del Disco in Rome, Italy, Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1.

Jethro Tull has completed one-half of its world tour this week, having played to sell-out audiences in Europe and Australia. The Tull Troupe is preparing for a November major-market tour of the eastern and southern United States.

ABC Inks With RPM For So. African Distrib.

LOS ANGELES — Sheldon Heller, president, ABC Records International, has announced the signing of a distribution agreement between ABC Records and Record Producers and Manufacturers (Pty.) Ltd. (RPM) for exclusive representation of all ABC-owned labels in the Republic of South Africa and other neighboring territories in Southern Africa.

The new agreement, finalized in Johannesburg last month by Heller and RPM managing director Matt Mann, was necessitated by the cessation of operations of former ABC licensee Satbel Record Company.

Olofsong Acquires U.K. Rights For Presley Tribute

LONDON — Jan Olofsson of Olofsong Music has acquired the U.K. rights for "I Remember Elvis Presley," the song recorded by Dutch singer Danny Mirro, which has already gone gold in Holland where it was released by Basart.

The Elvis Presley fan clubs throughout Europe have selected this number as the officially approved Elvis tribute where they are concerned, and Sonet has rush-released the disc in the U.K.

French News

PARIS — According to a survey conducted by an official research service on record marketing, over the past twelve months (Sept. 1976-Aug. 1977) the French record market showed an 15% increase on the total sales. Contrary to the European tendency, the single is staying an upfront product with sales of fifty million copies per year. Albums will total 70 million copies sold, which represent a 12% increase over the previous year. The total sales of albums will have doubled within the last five years.

The more spectacular result comes from tapes, finishing with 40% more than the same period last year, which represent 15 million tapes. According to reports, tape recorders have penetrated into the stereo high-fidelity market with 67% of the population possessing units.

Logo Gets Barclay U.K.

LONDON — Logo Records, which recently acquired the Transatlantic disc operation here, has signed a three-year licensing deal with Barclay Records of France. The pact covers back catalog as well as current and forthcoming product, and follows negotiations between Logo chiefs Olav Wyper and Geoff Hannington with Eddie Barclay and his international director, Cyril Brilliant.

Wyper and Hannington are already familiar with the Barclay catalog from their days at RCA U.K., which was distributing Barclay product at the time.

FINN POWER — Leading Finnish artist Tapani Kansa is currently number one on all national charts. His first CBS album has reached gold status in five weeks and is approaching diamond. Tapani was greeted backstage following his Helsinki opening at the Hesperia Club. Pictured (r-l): Jorgen Larsen, director of Scandinavian operations; Ulf Ahrenberg, CBS A&R manager; Antti Holma, managing director; Timo Laukkanen, salesman in Eastern Finnish region; Leif Lindblad, general manager of Levypiste, Finland's leading rack jobber. Tapani Kansa (seated) accepted the gold award at the end of a two-month tour of Finland, which covered 50 different SRO venues all over Finland.

Connie Pappas On Planning Tours

pull a single off the album so secondary air-play can be sought and achieved."

Detail Coordination

What follows is a multi-tiered job of detail coordination. The manager must sit down with the agent and decide where the group is going to play. "The best way we like to go about this aspect is to become conservative in our city selection. We would rather add more shows than being in a situation of going in and having half a house. We get an idea of what the past record sales are in the areas we want to go in (if any) and we get a further breakdown of the interior markets from the record companies."

The agent must then go to the promoters, get the offers, and once the offers are made, come back to the manager to work out a "routing." "A routing consists of starting out either in the midwest, the west coast, or the east coast, depending on where we want to end up. Once the offers are in and we submit those back to England to get a confirmation, we block out the sound, the lighting, the trucking companies, technicians and whatever extra road crew is necessary."

Visas are the next step. Pappas indicated that groups should apply for an H-1, which is the most flexible visa available. "You ask for a multiple-entry visa meaning that, in case the group should have Canadian dates, they can go back and forth. I usually have the visa run two to three weeks before the tour is to start to three weeks or so afterwards in case the group wants to stay later after the tour, or if we have extended some dates. The idea is to have a blanket period of time in which we are covered. The visas usually take a few weeks to secure because you have to have contracts, promotional material and other items to prove why the artist merits entry into the country if the artist never had a visa before. We submit this information to the Immigration Department and once they accept it, we cable the U.S. Embassy in England. They in turn, handle the visas and assist in the passports. Any television work or changes in the tour must be included or sent to the Immigration Department as soon as possible."

Once the dates are confirmed, the itinerary is done. The road manager will sit down with the manager and work it out. Radio and television spots play an important role in the planning and while this should be done well in advance, the record labels must be informed of all plans. The labels, in turn, will contact the promoters and buy whatever tickets they need to buy and coordinate any co-op radio time spots.

"The tickets now have gone on sale, the ad mats have gone to the promoters and now the band comes over to the States. Sometimes they have a short rehearsal in the States. Then they go out on the road and the manager is usually out there the whole time and conducts any other business from the road.

Half way through the show, the box office settlements are taken care of. "The road manager has the contract with him and basically one half the guarantee has already come up in front, and the road manager now goes in and gets the other half of the guarantee in cash or a cashier's check and the percentages are figured out, deducting the necessary costs depending on how the date is structured, be it a flat guarantee or a straight percentage date."

After the tour is over, Pappas stated that the management firm does a total accounting—a profit-and-loss statement that includes what each date earned, what capacities were there, an entire breakdown. "We also do estimates of our costs before the tour. We consider the per diems for the road crew, the salaries, the basic ideas of what our costs will be and the basic idea of what our guarantees will be. If it looks like it is going to be a deficit program, we will go to the record company and ask for tour support. We never go in and ask a record company for dollars when we are in a profit situation. Where you are in a position of breaking an act, label tour support is of the utmost importance."

subjects became more serious. "Whose Garden Was This" is a classic ecology song that still rings true even though, as Paxton jibed, it's obvious from all the television commercials that we've put an end to pollution. His indictment of the mishandled Attica affair through the eyes of a murdered prison guard, "The Hostage," was still powerful six years after the incident occurred. Finally, the audience joined in again without coaxing for an encore number, "The Last Thing On My Mind."

Originally a johnny-come-lately to New York's folk music scene, Paxton has since become one of that genre's most adamant and articulate spokesmen. Rising to popularity during the "protest" days when intelligent lyrics were a necessary part of the formula, he developed a knack for turning a phrase, often with a bitter, ironic twist, or penning a delicate love song. Tastes have changed, but Paxton is still writing cogent, timely and sensitive songs without apology.

The evening's opening act, Michael Katakis, put on a humorously cute, winsome show with lyrics that seemed to draw on memories of his own childhood. While never quite reaching his potential, Katakis demonstrated that he has the bones to carry around a lot more meat.

engaging stage personality. Most of Gross' songs were also characterized by precise phrasing and well written, down-to-earth lyrics.

Gross style, exuberance, and good-guy attitude come across as remarkably sincere. And if lightning can strike twice for good-looking, happy-playing, upbeat rock guitarists, Gross is a likely candidate to repeat Peter Frampton's phenomenal success. Opening the bill were Columbia recording artists Pierce-Arrow, a new six-member band who fill their songs with pleasant harmonies and hard-driving rhythm. The group performed an enjoyable set of rock and roll that kept a soft edge without being slushy. Although vocals are not the band's strong point, their tight rocking and colorful flourishes more than maintained their audience's attention all the way through the entertaining set.

authority to urge both the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission to look into the pricing problem and determine whether there are antitrust violations." He urged the committee to determine "whether the consumer is being subjected to pricing policies that prevent broadcasters, particularly FM broadcasters, from providing full service to the public." The NAB statement cited a 1974 study comparing production costs to the cost to consumers for AM and FM car radios. The study found that for an AM-only car radio, parts and labor averaged about $13.52 and to add an FM tuner cost about $6.95. However, "if you have purchased an American automobile with a radio recently," Thurston said, "you know that it may well cost the consumer $75 for an AM-only radio and twice that for an AM-FM." In

Waits, Goodman Head E/A New Album Releases

LOS ANGELES — New albums from Tom Waits, Steve Goodman and the Rowans as well as Bruce Roberts' debut LP are scheduled for release soon by Elektra/Asylum Records. Waits' "Foreign Affairs" and the Rowans' "Jubilation" are due September 27, while Goodman's third LP for E/A, "Say It In Private," will be issued October 4. Roberts self-titled album is also expected to be out in early October.

New Steely Dan LP Out

72,000 Disco Singles Ordered After UA Push

LOS ANGELES — Orders of 72,000 assorted United Artists disco singles, primarily from New York, Baltimore, Chicago and Los Angeles, resulted from a two-day promotional push on UA disco product. A special discount was offered to all distributors on singles by Barbara Bennington, Margie Alexander, Space and others.

20th Century Signs Two

LOS ANGELES — 20th Century Records recently signed two singer/songwriters, Michelle Wiley and Mose McCormack. Wiley is best known for her single "I Feel So Much At Home." McCormack is the label's first country artist.

some car models the price may be even higher, he said, if the consumer has no choice but to buy the AM-FM stereo model. According to the NAB's observation, there appears to be uniform pricing among the manufacturers, with no competition to bring the prices down for the public.

NPR's Coffey, naturally an FM booster, noted that the new Chevette pricing package has only an AM radio as standard equipment, and applauded the upcoming GM study to encourage including AM-FM as standard.

30-Day Reporting Period

General Motors will now have until October 21 to prepare preliminary guidelines for their study and will report back to the committee after that time; 90 days after that, the preliminary findings will be reported and made public in further hearings on the issue.
