Motown 'Vote Of Confidence' Encourages Indie Distribbs

by Michael Martinez

LOS ANGELES — The opening of a distribution branch by Motown Records to service the West Coast, and the company's decision to distribute other indie labels, are generally viewed as positive by independent distributors, who feel that the move is a vote of confidence in the indie distribution network.

The move by Motown is especially comforting to indie distribbs in light of the recent defections by Arista Records and Chrysalis Records to branch operations, an occurrence largely credited for causing the closure of distribution branches by Pickwick, which formerly handled Motown distribution in Los Angeles and Atlanta.

Although Motown opened up its own branch operation for the West Coast, dubbed Together Distributors, the label turned over its Atlanta and southeast business to M.S. Distributors, which now will service the area from its facilities in Chicago, with plans to open offices in Atlanta in the near future.

Those contacted mostly believed that Motown would confine its distribution activity to the West Coast, noting that if it was interested in a national network, it might have opened a branch in Atlanta as well. Motown and A&M Records jointly operated a branch in Atlanta until 1979, when A&M joined RCA's distribution network.

Like M.S., other distributors contacted by Cash Box said that rather than being a cause for panic, the Pickwick closure represented an opportunity to gain new business from indie labels left without distribution arrangements in the regions that American Can Co. subsidiary once served. Distribbs who did not have business from Arista and Chrysalis also feel less pressure due to their departure from the network.

With Arista and Chrysalis at RCA and CBS, respectively, many distributors contacted said that they would now be able to devote more time to other viable independents such as Motown, Fantasy, Boardwalk Entertainment Co., Prelude, Tommy Boy, Sugar Hill and others.

In efforts to become more attractive to new labels, and to established labels currently distributed through major branches, independent distributors, during a meeting at the recent National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) con-

Consumer Confidence Growing

Labels Ready To Capitalize On Upbeat Mood At Retail

by Jim Bessman

NEW YORK — The current upbeat mood reported by many record retailers, largely resulting from the strength of recently released product (Cash Box, April 30), has not gone unnoticed by manufacturers. While not all of the labels contacted by Cash Box were able to divulge their marketing strategies for keeping the long-hoped-for momentum going, several showed extensive forthcoming campaigns designed to keep the dealers' ball rolling into summer.

"We feel that same upsurge in consumer confidence that the retailers see in their increased in-store traffic," said Perry Cooper, Atlantic Records recently appointed vice president, artist relations and media development. "People are really going out and buying products."

Cooper offered no additional marketing plans to support Atlantic's current release beyond the normal practice of working every artist equally at the start, then "moving on it when we get a nip." But he noted that the label had an "extensive list of previously unknown artists happening now," and included Zebra, Kix, INXS and Vandenberg among those showing the required airplay increase, chart action and "video vibe" leading to further label support. As for major acts with upcoming product like Crosby, Stills & Nash, Stevie Nicks and the Hollies, they already have "proven track records which warrant X amount of money."

Like Cooper, RCA Records' West Coast director of merchandising/artist relations, Barry Gross, has observed the "great confidence in retail right now with people coming back to the stores with money." He outlined his label's extensive Rick Springfield support plans, utilizing display materials and "four-wall approach" consisting of print, radio, television and TV buys during Springfield's "Living In Oz" summer U.S. tour of some 70 markets.

Gross further revealed an innovative promotional technique in the use of an AT&T "900" phone number, whereby callers will hear Springfield discuss the album and tour in a one-minute message including background music from the album. The so-called "call announcement" telepromotion is the phone company's first tie-in with a record label and will be supported by TV spots and in-store promotions. It will be changed weekly to keep up-to-date.

According to Gross, a new studio album from John Denver, due in July, would also be heavily advertised and merchandised to coincide with a major Denver U.S. tour. In New York, Gross' East Coast counterpart, Jack Maher, noted RCA's current mini-LP campaign involving new product by Robert Hazard. Robert Ellis Orrall, The Mood and The Rockats. Posters and an eight-song sampler album featuring these artists have been sent to retailers, and descriptive flyers are available for handouts.

Azoff Named As MCA Disc Group Head, Corporate VP

by Michael Glynn

LOS ANGELES — Irving Azoff, one of the music industry's most powerful personal managers as chairman of L.A.-based Front Line Management, has been named president of MCA Records Group and vice president of MCA, Inc. In his new post, Azoff will oversee MCA's worldwide record operations and will be directly involved in all of MCA, Inc.'s corporate activities, according to president and chief operating officer Sid Sheinberg.

Until Azoff's appointment last week, the position of MCA Records Group head had been left vacant since former president Gene Froelich departed a few months back to return to his corporate duties. Now, reporting to Azoff will be MCA Records president Bob Siner, MCA Distributing Corp. president Al Bergamo, Backstreet Records president/Universal Amphitheater executive director Danny Branson and MCA Music president Leeds Levy.

Prior to joining MCA, Azoff had built one of the most impressive client rosters in the field of pop and rock artist management with Front Line, a company he founded in 1974. Among the organization's acts are former Eagles Don Henley, Glenn Frey, Joe Walsh, Don Felder and Timothy B. Schmit, Stevie Nicks, Dan Fogelberg, Styx, Chicago, Christopher Cross, Michael

'Universal' Receiver Draws Mixed Reaction From Manufacturers Of Competing AM Stereo Systems

by Harry Welnger

NEW YORK — The unveiling of a "universal" AM stereo receiver by Sony and Sansui at the recent National Assn. of Broadcasters (NAB) Convention in Las Vegas has drawn mixed reactions from many in the radio industry. While Motorola, the company whose system seemed to have the lead in the race to become the AM stereo standard, dismissed the new receivers as obstacles to the spread of AM stereo, manufacturers of competing systems greeted the new receivers with enthusiasm.

To date, the establishment of AM stereo was faced with the monumental problem that the four competing systems — developed by Motorola, Magnavox, Kahn Communications and Harris Communications — were mutually exclusive, i.e. signals sent out on any of the systems would not come through in stereo on receivers built to receive another system's signal. Whether the new universal receivers will clear up or cloud the situation depends on who is doing the talking.

"This is indicative of the frustration in trying to bring AM stereo to listeners," said Chris Payne of Motorola. "There must be a more economical way to develop a mass market system. We will converge to a single standard anyway."

Wayne Cornils, vice president of the radio division for the National Assn. of Broadcasters (NAB), agreed with the inevitability of a single system, but welcomed the universal receivers. "This development is a very exciting one," he said. "An explosion is about to happen. These receivers will help promote public awareness of AM stereo, and it helps the stations, too."

David Hirshberg, developer of the AM stereo system for Harris Communications in Quincy, Ill., was among spokespersons for the three other broadcast systems saying that local radio stations should choose the system that works best for them instead of one being "folded upon them by radio manufacturers." He further noted that marketing of the universal receiver will "definitely expedite AM stereo."

Hirshberg, "and now with these receivers, there will be a demand for equipment to get that little stereo light to go on."

"This is in the best interests of the American consumer," commented Lew Slangen, vice president of audio product planning for Magnavox. Leonard R. Kahn, president and founder of Kahn Communications, voiced similar sentiments: "We're very pleased. This makes sense economically. The consumer has a better service and the station's not stuck with useless equipment."

AM stereo receivers utilizing the Motorola decoder only will be in all 1984 General Motors cars, as well as future Samsung Electronic products for home use. The universal receivers will be available later this year. Sony begins marketing a portable unit in August and will incorporate FM stereo with the multiple AM receiver. It will retail for $89.95. Sansui intends to capitalize on the expanded AM frequency range with the introduction of a high-end universal AM stereo/FM stereo tuner in September. Retail is set at $400.

BUSINESS NOTES

Court Backs AFM On Dues, Delegates

NEW YORK — The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit has rejected an appeal filed by members of a Chicago local of the American Federation of Musicians of the United States and Canada (AFM) claiming that the AFM's convention delegate structure is illegal. The court's ruling further upholds a 1980 amendment to the AFM By-Laws that affected minimum work dues and was the cause of the appeal.

The 1980 amendment addressed the union's and its affiliated locals' financial problems. It established minimum work dues of one percent of each member's scale wages, half of which was payable to AFM and the other half to the member's local. In addition, it increased work dues of all locals which already had work dues by one percent.

The amendment was passed at the 1980 AFM Convention by voice vote. Members of the Chicago AFM Local 10-208 sued the local and AFM in U.S. District Court in Chicago, claiming that the dues increase was illegal and that the delegates who passed it did not have the authority of the entire union to do so. They further sought a reapportioning of the AFM Convention on a one-man, one-vote basis to replace the old method of allotting a maximum of four delegates to each affiliated local on the basis of its membership.

A District Court had previously ruled in favor of the unions, and last week the Court of Appeals held that the current AFM delegate apportionment was reasonable. AFM president Victor W. Fuentealba lauded the ruling as "legally sound and the only practical result possible." He said that the court's approval of AFM convention practices extended to all international unions, which can continue to conduct business by representative government.

BMA Sets A&amp;R Workshop In New York

NEW YORK — Recording artists Nile Rodgers and Bernard Edwards of Chic and rap star Kurtis Blow are among the panelists participating at an A&R seminar presented by the New York chapter of the Black Music Assn. (BMA). The session, entitled "Black Producers of the '80s: The New Breed," is scheduled May 5 at New York's Mediasound studio.

Robert Wright, RCA Records vice president, A&R, black music division, is the moderator for the panel discussion, which will allow the panelists to share their A&R experience. The other panelists are Randy Mueller, producer of Skyy and Brass Construction; Michael Murphy, of the recording group The System and the producer of the group Attitude; Howard King, producer of Glenn Jones; and Hubert Eaves, producer of D-Train.

There is a donation for the seminar of five dollars for BMA members and seven dollars for non-members. Further information can be obtained by calling from Dwania Kyles at (212) 930-4464, or Vivian Scott at (212) 246-4600.

Imagic To Produce Coleco-Compatible Carts

LOS ANGELES — Coleco Industries has licensed software-only manufacturer Imagic to produce games compatible with its ColecoVision home video game system, and Imagic is set to unveil two of these amusements at the upcoming Summer Consumer Electronics Show (CES) in Chicago this June. According to spokespeople for Imagic, the two ColecoVision-compatible pieces — "Nova Blast" and "Moon Sweeper" — will be just part of the company's CES display, which will showcase between 12 and 19 new games for various hardware systems. Imagic plans to offer the ColecoVision-compatible items to consumers by the Christmas selling season, with Nova Blast available soon in an Intellivision format and Moon Sweeper also manufactured for Atari's 2600 Video Computer System (VCS).

In March, 1983, Coleco celebrated the millionth ColecoVision hardware console to roll off the production line, and industry experts project there may be as many as 2.5 million ColecoVision units out by mid-summer. Mattel estimates it has approximately 3 million Intellivision machines in the marketplace, while Atari has about 10 million VCS gameplaying units installed.

Robinson as vice presidents, Morton Gould as secretary, George Dunning as assistant secretary, Leon J. Brettler as treasurer and Edward Murphy as assistant treasurer.

An ASCAP member since 1943, David has sat on its board of directors since 1974. He served as vice president for a year prior to being elected president in 1980.

Senate Hearings Begin On Issue Of Disc Rentals

by Earl B. Abrams

WASHINGTON — Whether copyright owners should have a say in the business of renting prerecorded videocassettes and music records got its first airing of the 98th Congress April 29 before Sen. Charles Mathias (R-Md.), author of two bills that would revise the present Copyright Law's first sale doctrine.

At present, a retailer who buys a videocassette or record can rent them to the public without paying anything extra to the copyright owner. In the video field, this has become a widespread practice; in the record business it has begun to burgeon, according to industry sources, which claim there are 250 rental shops in operation now, and have flowered in Japan and elsewhere. The proposed legislation stems from the home taping controversy that is awaiting judicial determination by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The hearing was highlighted at one point by charges and counter charges respecting the future of record rentals in the United States. Jack Wayman, senior vice president of the Consumer Electronics Group of the Electronic Industries Assn., derided the contention that record rentals would be a threat to the record industry in the U.S. "Why should a consumer pay $6 or $7 for a high quality blank tape and go to the trouble of duplicating a record himself, when for the same money he can buy the original record?" he asked. The fear is "pure myth," he said. He agreed, however, that record rentals might become a fact with the introduction of the digital record, because it is going to cost considerably more than present vinyl pressings.

New Measures Used To Halt Bogus Tickets

by Jeffrey Ressler

LOS ANGELES — While it may not approach the severity of record and tape counterfeiting, concert ticket scams are nevertheless a painful thorn in the side of promoters around the country. Depending on the particular logistics of a concert, ticket tamperers have been known to steal the paper stock used for passes to print their own admissions, photograph actual tickets and pass off the photo-copies as originals, or alter existing tickets through the use of various inks and dyes. Although the problem is extremely difficult to curb — one ticketmaker saying that "anyone with ink and a printing press" can make up phonies and "counterfeiters are getting more sophisticated every day" — there is a concerted effort underway to stem the tide of fake ducats.

"We see counterfeit tickets all the time," said Shelly Diamond, box office treasurer for John Scher's New Jersey-based Monarch Entertainment Co., which handles several venues, including the gigantic Giant Stadium and Brendan Byrne Arena. "We get everything from professional jobs to kids who buy three-dollar tickets to rodeos and change them around with a typewriter and try to get into a big rock event, especially in a general admission situation. Sometimes we use blue light systems to detect imperfections, but usually we just have experienced ticket takers who recognize the feel and look of the Ticketron tickets and are especially attuned to the counterfeiting problem."

William Schmitt, president of Ticketron, explains that the ticket business has always had difficulty with counterfeiters, but lately

OUT OF THE BOX

FLASHDANCE — Original Motion Picture Soundtrack — Casablanca/PolyGram 811492-1 M-1 — Producers: Various — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Kim Carnes, Laura Branigan, Donna Summer and Irene Cara are just a few of the artists contributing to this soundtrack to the disco-dance musical movie currently doing tremendous box-office business. The album's not doing so bad either; in its second week of release it vaulted a whopping 69 spots up the LP charts, shooting from #95 bullet to this week's #26 post. With the Cara 45 of the flick's theme song, "Flashdance... What A Feeling" inching towards Top Ten status, expect the long-player to be one of the hottest — if not the most fiery — soundtrack platters of the year.

FEATURE PICKS

POP

STAR PEOPLE — Miles Davis — Columbia FC 38657 — Producer: Teo Macero — List: None — Bar Coded

Miles. Just the mere mention of the name conjures up mystical, magical aural impressions, and on his latest studio-recorded album, the legendary master of be-bop and fusion trumpet bleats to his faithful legion of followers on six new original compositions. Two extended jams, "Come Get It" and "Star People" go over the 10-minute mark, and nearly all of the material here features the eloquent Mr. D. on keyboards, as well as horn. Don't attempt to classify this as jazz, funk, rock or any other tag; it's pure Miles, influenced by contemporary sounds as much as by his roots playing with Charlie Parker, Sonny Rollins, John Coltrane and Cannonball Adderley.

INFORMATION — Dave Edmunds — Columbia FC 38651 — Producer: Dave Edmunds — List: None — Bar Coded

Ever since he started out as a solo artist in 1970, Edmunds has been one of the leaders of the British R&B/C&W revival, playing bluesy rockabilly with integrity and relentless spirit. On his latest LP, however, he experiments with techno-rock and infuses his usually simple instrumental accompaniment with a variety of synthesizers and drum machines, resulting in several songs that sound like Hank Williams backed by the Electric Light Orchestra, not surprising since ELO's Jeff Lynne is one of the featured players here. The most credible tunes on the album are those that retain the artist's country flavoring, such as "Don't Call Me Tonight," "The Shape I'm In" and a version of J. Geils' "Wait."

NEVER LET YOU GO — Rita Coolidge — A&M SP-4914 — Producer: David Anderle

Rita Coolidge doing renditions of British new pop hits? Well, it may be an odd choice of material for the MOR madonna, but on her latest LP she ably covers such contemporary U.K. ditties as Squeeze's "Tempted" and Culture Club's "Do You Really Want To Hurt Me" with a certain grace that makes these Top 40 tunes into perfect playlist fodder for more mature, A/C outlets. Coolidge also does out versions of Bob Seger's "We've Got Tonight" and Joe Jackson's reggae-tinged "Fools In Love" in a mainstream fashion that may remind some of Linda Ronstadt's brief flirtation with "new wave" music on the "Mad Love" album a few years back.

THE SPELL — Syreeta — Tamla/Motown 6039TL — Producer: Jermaine Jackson

On her newest album, alluring chanteuse Syreeta is given instrumental support by a team of heavyweight musicians, including Toto's Porcaro brothers, Leon "Ndugu" Chancelier and Stevie Wonder, and is earnestly produced by labelmate Jermaine Jackson. Going for a more varied groove than on her previous breathy, black pop platters, the vocalist touches on aspects of modern rock ("Forever Is Not Enough"), whirly new wave dancers ("Freedom") and compu-funk ("You Are The Spell"). Look for significant B/C action, with the possibility of crossover into other formats. A/C may very well pick up on a number of ballads here, including the touching closing track, "The Other Me."

MUSIC FROM ANTARCTICA, VOL. 1 — Various Artists — Antartica ACR-6201 — Producers: Erick Franck, Kit Fitzgerald, John Sanborn and Peter Gordon — List: 8.98

A newly formed video-music outfit, Antarctica's first record release is a compendium featuring some of Soho's most notorious musical outlaws. Contributors include pianist "Blue" Gene Tyranny, percussionist David Van Tieghem, cacophonist Rhys Chatham, vocalist Jill Kroesen and the Love of Life Orchestra. The result is a colorful weave of both commercially viable and totally impenetrable sounds. Distributed by the New York-based Important Records.

BLACK CONTEMPORARY*VISIONS — Gladys Knight and the Pips — Columbia FC 38205 — Producers: Various — List: None — Bar Coded

A Magritte oil painting graces the front cover of Gladys Knight and the Pips' latest sojourn, while a photo on the back portrays the group decked out in snappy formal-wear. In many ways, the classy jacket art is indicative of the music contained within, a dazzling collection of soul-stirring R&B shakers immaculately produced by a variety of knobfolk and arranged by several rhythm experts such as Solar mastermind Leon Sylvers III. Knight & Co. have been churning out the hits now for over two decades, and considering their latest "visions," they seem certain to continue doing so for some time to come. Prime B/C and pop picks here are "When You're Far Away," "Don't Make Me Run Away" and the current single hit, "Save The Overtime (For Me)."

GROOVE PATROL — High Inergy — Gordy/Motown 6041 GL — Producer: George Tobin — List: 8.98

The three ladies who comprise zesty High Inergy — Linda Howard, Michelle Rumph and Barbara Mitchell — are joined by Motown's miracle man Smokey Robinson on two romancers here, "Blame It On

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Steve Arrington

With the recent release of "Steve Arrington's Hall of Fame: I" on Atlantic Records, the former Slave vocalist has begun to realize the dream that he has had "since the day I first listened to Beechwood 4-5789." The dream that began with the Marvellettes' early '60s single had to do with Arrington developing his own talents as a musician and reaching his potential, a lengthy process he feels is especially reflected in the words and music to his album's lead track and first single, "Nobody Can Be You." The straightforward funk statement proclaims that "everyone is a star" and encourages the listener to find out his individual gift and take it to the limit. "I realized that I needed to use the gifts I was given," he says, explaining his reason for leaving Slave and forming his Hall Of Fame.

Arrington had joined Slave with the release of the band's third album, "The Concept," in 1978 and remained through three more until leaving the fold in March of 1982. "When I was in Slave, I concentrated mostly on the vocal situation. But in my own group, I'm concentrating on the group as a whole. We're trying to bring about a positive thing both consciously and subconsciously, even if the words of the songs are not all about getting yourself together."

Now 27, Arrington had begun his performing career by the time he was eight and beating on the bongos in his brother's soul group. But he did not limit his musical interests to any one genre, and following a family move to Troy, Ohio, he explored the progressive rock sounds of Yes, the burning intensity of Hendrix and the heavy bass and drums of Grand Funk Railroad before expanding into fusion jazz acts like the Mahavishnu Orchestra.

"I like all types of different atmospheres because it makes you feel different things," states Arrington, who says he gained much from a Berkeley stay during which he played with Latin percussionist Coke Escovedo and backed Escovedo's brother, Pete, and sister-in-law, Sheila Escovedo. He also met up with Carlos Santana and his musical milieu, and includes many of these musicians in the lengthy credit box on his LP.

All of these influences, past and current, make up the Hall Of Fame, though Arrington singled out John Coltrane for the debut album's "Hall Of Fame Award."

"Coltrane was one of the greatest musicians ever to walk the face of the earth," Arrington explains. "I learned so much from him. He wasn't afraid to reveal the pain, love, emotion, searching, confidence. For me, music should reflect that essence of his music, that if you want, there are no boundaries."

Arrington says that each succeeding album will be dedicated to a musician through the Hall Of Fame award, to "give thanks to the people before us and our peers now." He hopes to continue to produce music on the level of those "great artists who reflect some kind of life situation in their music that you can relate to in your own life."

Kix

Donnie Purnell, bass guitarist and founder of the Hagerstown, Md.-based rock group Kix, is the first to concede that his band's second Atlantic Records album, "Cool Kids," is a marked departure from its 1981 debut.

"The first album was much faster, real high energy," he explains. "Maybe one song slowed down to 90 miles per hour, while the rest stayed at 150. But it was geared to a young, real energetic barroom crowd, and was a go-get-'em, fast-dancin' type of record that was great for anyone that wanted to go wild and party."

The first album was a direct result of two years playing the Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Washington, D.C. bar circuit, and covering such rock heavies as Led Zepplin, the Stones, AC/DC and The Clash before coming up with their own similar-sounding, high-powered material. And while these influences resurface strongly on "Cool Kids," producer Pete Solley, who has graced albums by the Romantics, Steve Forbert and Oingo Boingo among others, has broadened the hard and heavy scope of Kix to encompass a far broader stylistic range.

Part of the difference is the sound. Although he is uncredited on the album jacket, Solley's overdubbed keyboard work helps give many of the songs either a distinctly early '60s British feel or the new pop music touch that he has brought to earlier productions. Drummer Jimmy Chalfant's use of electronic drum machines provides more variation in the rhythms, and Brian Forsythe and Ronnie Younkens, the guitarists, are often processed through devices which result in other keyboardlike sounds. On the album's first single, "Body Talk," a guitar is even played through a "talk box" to get a more startling vocal effect.

Purnell cites "Body Talk," which was written by Nick Gilder, as a prime example of what Kix is trying to achieve musically. "We listened to a lot of outside material and that song struck everybody instantly," he recalls. "It is the kind of song that people like to hear — a little heavy plus a little bit modern at the same time, not one or the other. The compromise makes everybody happy."

On "Body Talk," the music and Whiteman's vocal conjures up memories of the Zombies. Elsewhere, he sounds like Gerry Marsden, of Gerry and the Pacemakers and a young Mick Jagger or Paul Rogers, although a Robert Plant tendency continues to stand out on the harder rock numbers. "In concert, he's really in tune with the audience and doesn't come off as 'I'm gonna scare you out of your seats or blow you away with my terrific voice,'" adds Purnell. "But he's not satisfied until everyone is having a good time."

As for Kix's future, "We want to keep growing and experimenting, like the great rock 'n' roll bands which you can't classify as a heavy metal band or an easy band but have a variety of styles and are just considered a rock 'n' roll band. Like the Stones can do a ballad, then they can do a real fast rock 'n' roll song. They can do both of them and get a good contrast."

OUT OF THE BOX

PINK FLOYD (Columbia AE7 1653)
Not Now John (4:12) (Unichappell Music — BMI) (R. Waters) (Producers: R. Waters, J. Guthrie, M. Kamen)

The first single from "Final Cut" may not be as melodic as Pink Floyd's previous single successes, but it is no less compelling. Pounding drums and a shouting female gospel chorus complement the trademark Floyd sound. An AOR heavy that looks to crossover pop.

POP

THE JOHN HALL BAND (EMI America P-B-8162)

Ipsa Facto (3:48) (Clean Cut Tunes — ASCAP) (B. Leinbach) (Producer: J. Hall)

Latin for "by the fact itself," "Ipsa Facto" is a different type of love song for the Hall Band and is worth the required multiple listenings. A repetitive group vocal sing-song gives way to a more melodic lead vocal expressing an uncontrollable urge. Following Leinbach's keyboard break, confused voices babble about unknown meanings while Hall mutters about an alien's rights to a U.S. passport.

MICHAEL CODY (Zoo York Records WS4 03638)

Fiesta (4:44) (Gordy Music Inc. — ASCAP) (M. Cody) (Producer: E. Richards)

An Acapulco summer night provides the setting for a chance cross-cultural romantic encounter in Cody's self-penned tale. The Mexican-flavored arrangement of acoustic guitars and violins mirrors the singer's loss when he finds out it's a one-night stand and broadens the programming potential from A/C to country.

LEE KOSMIN (Duke 7-99881)

Stop The Clock (3:15) (Pun Music Inc. — ASCAP) (Smith, Kosmin) (Producers: S. Robertson, P. Thornalley)

English bands continue to give us back our own music, albeit with an Anglican bent, and this release is no exception. An alumnus of London's pub-rock circuit, Kosmin makes his U.S. debut with a soulful mid-tempo ballad. A punchy blend of American R&B and pop/rock.

BLACK CONTEMPORARY

THE SYSTEM (Mirage 7-99891)

Sweat (3:40) (Green Star Music, Inc./Science Lab Music — ASCAP) (D. Frank, M. Murphy) (Producers: D. Frank, M. Murphy)

The title track from the debut LP "Sweat" is a soul/synth synthesis that sounds right for dancing in the clubs or on the exercise floor. Mic Murphy's vocals make this duo stand out from the pack.

CON FUNK SHUN (Mercury 812 177-7)

You Are The One (3:38) (Val-ie Joe Music/Peistar Publ., Inc. — BMI) (N. Wells, R. Miles) (Producers: Con Funk Shun)

Long a Black Contemporary favorite, the group shines here with an upbeat tune that features no-foolin' lyrics and irresistible synthesizer effects. Tough horns and a chorus hook that recalls Earth, Wind & Fire may prove to open pop programmers ears.

LEON HAYWOOD (Casablanca 812 164-7) I'm Out To Catch (4:12) (Jim-Edd Music/Child Care Music — BMI) (R. Cason) (Producer: L. Haywood)

This dance track features the sexy voice of Karen Brooks, an admitted "Bad mama jama" who suits Haywood — producer of Carl Carlton's "Bad Mama Jama" — just fine. Brooks plays the Friday night huntress to the hilt and pulls a classic role reversal when she puts the make on Haywood during a cliché-ridden spoken pickup scene.

PEACHES & HERB (The Entertainment Co. 38-03872)

Remember (4:27) (Songs of Manhattan Island Music Co./Sandy Linzer Music — BMI) (D. Wolfert, S. Linzer) (Producer: D. Wolfert)

Peaches & Herb make a concerted effort at rekindling the flame in their latest duet, and easily conjure up those old feelings. The poignant melody is supported by simple keyboard instrumentation, letting each singer's vocal state its case with utmost conviction.

OMNI (Fountain FRM 1009 AS)

All For The One (3:57) (Jahmillia Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (R.G. Massey, L. Hanks, L. Williams, T. Carpenter, T. Williams, W. Phillips) (Producers: R.G. Massey, L. Hanks, L. Williams)

A low-down, murky bottom, perky synth lines, tickling guitars and chanting vocals all provide some groove and syncopation for dance floor wiggling and cavorting. The call/response vocal arrangements, used in counterpoint with guitar and synthesizer, add charm to this B/C sleeper.

NEW AND DEVELOPING

FINIS HENDERSON (Motown 1669 MF) Skip To My Lou (4:07) (Rustomatic Music/Steel-Chest Music — ASCAP) (F. Hamilton) (Producer: A. McKay)

The feathery falsettoed Henderson fancies himself Cinderella's prince, Romeo, and the knight in shining armor bearing the kiss to wake up his sleeping beauty, all to a playful funk groove. While not as folksy as the folk dance song from which this entry gets its title, Henderson's effort serves a similar purpose equally well.

Love" and "Just A Touch Away," which should tremendously help get the music across at both radio and retail. Besides Smokey's guest shot, another classic Motown touch on the album is the trio's version of the Supremes' smash "Back In My Arms Again," carried off with just the right degree of vocal sentimentality while dressed up on an '80s instrumental framework. Other, more danceable cuts include "Dirty Boyz" and "He's A Pretender," penned by producer Tobin's proteges Gary Goetzman and Mike Piccirillo.

PORTRAIT — Gwen Guthrie — Island/Atlantic 90082 — Producers: Sly Dunbar and Robble Shakespeare — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

On her sophomore waxing, the vivacious Gwen Guthrie delivers an album that covers the spectrum from relentless R&B dance jumpers like the single choice "Peanut Butter" to emotional middle-of-the-road ballads such as "Oh What A Life." A much more evenly balanced work than her first LP, Guthrie again employs crack session players/producers Dunbar and Shakespeare to achieve a crystalline production quality, and her accompanists use a variety of synthesizer devices to give the music a modern, ethereal glow. After singing background vocals for such luminaries as Quincy Jones, Billy Joel, Stevie Wonder and Carly Simon, this collection proves Guthrie's ready for her own shot at stardom.

GOSPEL

FOREVER — Cynthia Clawson — Priority BJU 38633 — Producer: John Rosasco — List: None — Bar Coded

Like Melissa Manchester, Clawson is able to cover a wide variety of musical styles, encompassing lush ballads, R&B-inflected pop and dramatic and synthesizer-laden productions. She's in top form here, applying her powerful vocal chords with force and conviction while enlisting the aid of such stalwart studio figures as Abraham Laboriel, Marty Paich, Paulinho da Costa and former Imperial Russ Taff. The disc provides a provocative glimpse at the aging mother in "Ruby," as well as an innovative cover of the "Get Happy" standard that no doubt owes the inspiration for its vocal arrangement to Donald Fagen.

NEW AND DEVELOPING

SWEET DREAMS (ARE MADE OF THIS) — Eurythmics — RCA AFL1-4681 — Producer: D.A. Stewart — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

"Sweet dreams are made of this/Who am I to disagree?" go the opening lines from the title song on the debut LP of Eurythmics, founded by former Tourist members Annie Lennox and D.A. Stewart, and indeed it's difficult to find anything to disagree with on this haunting, forceful showing. Poetic lyrics matched with potent rhythms have already catapulted the group to Top 10 status in Britain, and it won't be long before the act makes headway in the U.S. marketplace, especially with the proliferation of KROQ-type radio stations. Best cuts on the long-player include the spooky "The Walk," the funky R&B-glazed dance-oriented "Wrap It Up," the paranoid "This Is The House," and the brooding, romantic "Love Is A Stranger."

ACTRESS Jennifer Beals (l), who portrays the movie's heroine, Alex Owens, strolls along the corridors of a dance conservatory in a scene from Flashdance.

PolyGram Gears Up Push For Flashdance LP

by Jeffrey Ressler

LOS ANGELES — In what closely resembles the activity of 1980's hit film and song Fame, the motion picture entitled Flashdance is doing exceptionally well at the box office while its theme, "Flashdance... What A Feeling," is making analogous inroads on the Cash Box Pop Singles chart, this week at #13 bullet. Ironically enough, the opening tune from both Fame and Flashdance is crooned by the same artist, Irene Cara.

Beginning its third week in movie theaters across the country, Flashdance — a musical about a Cinderella character employed as a riveter who's also a dynamic dancer — became the top grossing motion picture during its second week of release, according to several film distributor reports. Playing in over 1,100 theaters, the flick had grossed more than nine million dollars by the end of its fortnight run.

The Casablanca/PolyGram original soundtrack recording has also been enjoying a positive consumer response, debuting last week at #95 bullet on the Cash Box Pop Albums chart and this week jumping to #26 bullet, as well as entering the Black Contemporary Albums chart at #53 bullet. According to Harry Losk, senior vice president of marketing for PolyGram Records, the label designed plans for regular point-of-purchase posters, trade spots and radio ads to coincide with the movie's release during mid-April, but, in reality, it was surprised by the overwhelming public reaction to the film following its premiere.

Sold Out

"The movie opened on April 15, the album was in stores April 14, and by the 19th every phone in our office was lit up," explained Losk. "Retailers told us that every store in the country had sold out of every piece of Flashdance product. Orders have been coming in in boxcar numbers, and right now we're making a concentrated effort to rush production on more LPs and tapes. Everything we were doing at a leisurely pace before has been stepped up tremendously, and we're working like beavers to maintain in-store visibility."

PolyGram is preparing three times the quantity of trim fronts usually distributed for point-of-purchase displays, and is also parceling out one-sheet posters designed by Paramount to promote the film. In addition, the record company is conducting national radio time buys and is looking at the broad demographics of television spots to further penetrate the consumer market with information about the disc. Losk reports that PolyGram took orders for over 500,000 copies of the album in 10 days, making it eligible for gold status after

McDonald, Boz Scaggs, Jimmy Buffett, J.D. Souther, Warren Zevon and, most recently, the Go-Go's.

He also created and served as president of Full Moon Records. The label features numerous Front Line acts, such as Chicago, Walsh, Souther and Fogelberg, in addition to country artist Johnny Lee and the film soundtracks to Urban Cowboy, Heavy Metal and Fast Times At Ridgemont High, on which Azoff served as executive producer, as well as FM.

As a film producer, Azoff was responsible for Urban Cowboy and Fast Times At Ridgemont High, both box office successes.

According to Front Line senior vice president Larry Solters, Azoff bows out of his role as Full Moon president in joining MCA, although it's expected that, for the time being, all of Full Moon's artists will remain with the label and its distributor, Warner Bros. Records (Fogelberg, through a pre-existing arrangement, is on Full Moon/Epic).

As for Front Line itself, Solters said "there will be a transition stage (for the company) as we undergo a general reorganization." The Front Line executive staff includes president Howard Kauffman, along with Solters and Azoff.

At presstime, there was much speculation throughout the industry as to whether

Sherry Named To Asst. To President Post At ASCAP

NEW YORK — Karen Sherry has been promoted to assistant to the president at the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers (ASCAP). She will report directly to ASCAP president Hal David and assist him in his expanded responsibilities as chief executive officer for the society. She will also continue in her current role as public relations director, a post she has held since joining ASCAP in 1979.

Sherry has had extensive experience in the music industry, holding public relations posts with ScreenGems/Colgems-EMI Music, Famous Music, RCA Records and Paramount Pictures prior to joining ASCAP. She has also been a recording artist, writer and performer, and recorded for Columbia Records with her sister Lois as the Sherry Sisters.

"We expect Ms. Sherry to make a significant contribution to ASCAP, and demonstrate the same energy and dedication that she has demonstrated in the past," said David in commenting on Sherry's appointment.

Karen Sherry

any of Full Moon's or Front Line's acts would be following Azoff to MCA in the very near future. While he wouldn't completely rule out the possibility, Front Line's Solters suggested that it was unlikely, since, with the exception of Zevon, whose contract with Elektra/Asylum had reportedly expired, all the label and management firm's artists still had previous obligations to fulfill before such a move could be made.

However, given the loyalty and respect that Azoff has commanded from his clients during the 16 years he has spent in personal management, it would certainly not be surprising to see any eventually joining him at MCA.

"Irving has always had a reputation as a dynamic, aggressive manager and, most importantly, is well-loved by his clients," said Front Line's Solters. "Perhaps the best testament to that is the fact that, over the years, there have been very, very few departures from Front Line that haven't been mutual."

Azoff began his career in the music business as a booking agent in the Midwest, before coming to California in the early '70s as agent/manager for Dan Fogelberg. He worked for the management firm of Geffen/Roberts, headed by David Geffen and Eliot Roberts, from 1973 to 1974, when he opened Front Line.

Over the years, Azoff, like Geffen and Elektra/Asylum Records, came to be closely associated with what was known as the California sound of the mid-'70s, managing the Eagles, Souther and, later, Zevon. In recent years, however, the Front Line roster has become more diverse, as evidenced by his arrangement with the Go-Go's and its management.

With a proven track record as a film producer, it's also expected that Azoff will be involved with MCA's Universal Studios (which released Fast Times) in developing projects.

"MCA has needed leadership qualities and abilities in that area of records and music together with related emerging markets that only a man of Irving's talents can provide," commented MCA's Sheinberg. "No one else is better qualified than Irving to provide the dynamic response to our needs as we face the future. In my opinion, Irving's joining MCA will constitute a landmark event in the history of our company. Irving will have my unqualified support and all of my colleagues will spare no effort in assisting him to restore MCA to a leadership role in the world of music."

Gitlin Named Executive VP At Warner Bros.

LOS ANGELES — Murray Gitlin was recently appointed executive vice president of Warner Bros. Records, effective immediately. Gitlin will, however, retain his position of treasurer for the company, according to Mo Ostin, label chairman.

Formerly a senior vice president/treasurer of the company — a position he served in since 1974 — Gitlin began his career in the music industry in 1962 when he left a four-year-old certified public accountant practice in Los Angeles to join newly-formed Reprise Records.

When Reprise was absorbed by Warner Bros. Records, Gitlin was named controller at the company, in 1972 being upped to vice president/assistant treasurer before becoming vice president/treasurer.

Commenting on Gitlin's appointment, Ostin said, "Murray's promotion, along with the recent appointment of Lenny Waronker to the presidency of Warner Bros. Records, places some of our most talented and trusted individuals in these demanding decision-making roles."

"Murray's extraordinary track record as the company's chief financial officer makes him uniquely suited to the challenges of his new position and I join with the rest of the company in offering my heartiest congratulations," Ostin continued.

Now BMI is keeping its Open Door open even later.

Starting May 5, the BMI offices in New York, Nashville and Los Angeles will be open on Thursday nights from 5 to 8 p.m. We're making it even easier for writers and composers to join the world's largest performing rights organization.

BMI has traditionally welcomed writers of all kinds of music, even when others didn't. So remember, if you're about to form an affiliation, anyone can hold an "open house." But only BMI has had an Open Door policy, for over forty years.

Wherever there's music, there's BMI.

ASCAP Sues Texas Tech University On Charge of Copyright Infringement

NEW YORK — For the first time, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) has sued a college or university on copyright infringement grounds. On behalf of ASCAP copyright owners, the society filed the infringement suit against Texas Tech University for unauthorized performances, which included a live commercial concert and recorded music in various university facilities.

Specifically at issue is use of 15 compositions by Texas Tech in Lubbock, Texas, on several occasions in 1982 and 1983. These songs are "Fire" by Bruce Springsteen; "Tuxedo Junction" by Buddy Feyne, Erskine Hawkins, William Johnson and Julian Dash; "The Lady Is A Tramp" by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart; "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" by Don Raye and Hughie Prince; "Right Time Of The Night" by Peter McCann; "This Guy's In Love With You" by Hal David and Burt Bacharach; "It Never Rains In Southern California" by Albert Hammond and Mike Hazelwood; "Africa" by David Paich and Jeffrey Porcaro; "More Love" by William "Smokey" Robinson; "You Can't Change That" by Ray E. Parker, Jr.; "We've Got Tonight" by Bob Seger; "Back Home Again" by John Denver; "Missing You" by Dan Fogelberg; "Wishing You Were Here" by Peter Cetera; and "Heart Of The Night" by Paul Cotton.

Under U.S. Copyright Law, most performances of copyrighted music at colleges and universities, outside the classroom, must have the permission of the copyright holders. Most schools participate in a model license system worked out by ASCAP and a committee of educational groups led by the American Council on Education. According to ASCAP, Texas Tech is the largest university in the country that does not abide by the copyright law, and is virtually by itself in refusing to take a license.

"ASCAP regrets the need to sue an educational institution," said ASCAP president Hal David. "ASCAP and the colleges are both dedicated to supporting creativity, culture and education. We have made repeated attempts to license Texas Tech for several years without success. We are now obliged to bring suit against the university so as to protect the rights of our members, and to be fair to those schools that respect the law by paying license fees."

Record, Tape Collector Address Correction

LOS ANGELES — The correct address for the Record and Tape Collector, Inc. is 1817-C Whitehead Rd., Baltimore, Md. 21207. The telephone number is (301) 944-1822.

COAST TO COAST

POINTS WEST — If someone asked you to check out a group called The Violent Femmes, you'd probably envision hard-core lady rockers dressed in black leather and spandex, grinding out ear-splitting guitar riffs and screaming mercilessly into the night. But the Femmes are actually a trio of midwestern guys who play chiefly acoustic instruments, sing about the pain of romance and growing up, and have a new, intense album out on L.A.'s Slash label, which has already received critical acclaim. Led by 19-year-old Gordon Gano — who serves as lead vocalist, guitarist and songwriter — the group just wrapped up a gig at New York's Danceteria and plans to make several May appearances in Los Angeles playing its unique hybrid of minimalist-punk-folk-skiffle-rock-shaded music at venues such as Club Lingerie and The Music Machine. We recently spoke to Gano about his work and he told us music's been an important part of his life since he was a tot. "When I was a little, tiny kid about two or three I used to make up songs when our family took car trips around the country, but I don't know if that counts," he explained when asked how he began composing. "I guess all of them have been lost to the ages except for one. Anyway, the next song I wrote when I was nine, but I never had the music except in my head. I did write poems through grade school and all, and I was pretty good at that. . . on a grade school level. Then in 7th grade I learned a few chords on the guitar and I guess it was always in me to write. Since then, I don't think a month has gone by when I didn't write a song. When I was 15 years old, it was my most productive year; I had to write a song every few days. I probably have somewhere between a hundred or two hundred backlogged now." Although Gano is not yet out of his teens, his songs and performances have been compared to Lou Reed & The Velvet Underground, Jonathan Richman, Buddy Holly, Johnny Cash and Woody Guthrie by overzealous journalists anxious to peg the Femmes into a convenient pigeonhole. Yet though reporters have been a bit analogy-crazy when describing the group's sound, they've also pointed out that the Femmes merely share some common traits with these stellar artists while delivering their own solid, original material. "We are the next Bob Dylan," Gano told a Minnesota audience last year, and when we asked if he was goofing or was serious, he gave a little laugh before replying simply, "Both." Along with mates Brian Ritchie on bass/vocals and Victor DeLorenzo on percussion, Gano seems destined to achieve widespread notoriety once the buzz about the band gets louder . . . and that appears imminent. Listening to the debut LP has about the same impact as watching Rebel Without A Cause or reading Catcher In The Rye for the first time — youth running wild, testosterone bubbling within and all like that . . . Short Cuts: The mysterious San Francisco-based combo The Residents is set to begin a 10-week tour of Europe on May 23 through Germany, Denmark, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, England and Scotland. The band of art-rockers, whose 10-year career has been marked by just a few live shows, including last October's curious "Mole Show" in L.A. and S.F., recently signed a distribution deal with Phonogram/Decca for Europe while still maintaining domestic ties with Ralph Records. Just out by the combo is a collection of vintage material called "Residue." A 40-date U.S. tour is in the works for '84 . . . Shanachie Records just issued three Greensleeves-USA LPs: "Inchpinchers" by The Walling Souls, "Day to Day Living" by Black Uhuru founding member Don Carlos and "Live At Aces International," which includes several DJ toasts (raps) by Yellow Man, Eek-A-Mouse, Toyan, Welton Irie and others . . . I.R.S. has an EP coming out in June by The Alarm, a Clash-ic quartet slated to tour this summer with U-2 . . . Before the company filed Chapter XI, video game firm Data Age stated it was approached by the Rolling Stones, Fleetwood Mac and Styx to make rock 'n' roll electronic amusements in the fashion of its "Journey Escapes" cartridge . . . In 1979, Burbank's Starlight Bowl made headlines when the city's council members stopped such performers as Patti Smith and Todd Rundgren from giving concerts at the venue, due to the artists' allegedly attracting crowds of homosexuals and drug users. Well, this year city officials from the Parks & Recreation Department and a citizen's advisory group have banned Bette Midler, Kiss, the Charlie Daniels Band, Toto and about six other acts from gigging at the Bowl, saying they wanted to screen out "disruptive" shows . . . After a successful appearance at Hollywood's Club Lingerie, L.A.'s beloved reggae/rap/funk team The Skanksters took off for a tour of the south, playing about 14 shows in various clubs around Dallas, Houston, Austin, Oklahoma City, and a series of dates in Louisiana concurrent with the New Orleans Jazz Festival. When the group returns to Southern California in May, they'll get ready to enter the studios and lay down tracks for a 12-inch single or EP release . . . The Waitresses, new album, "Bruiseology," should be in stores the week of May 9, and judging from an advance cassette we heard, it's a killer. Starting off with "A Girl's Gotta Do" and romping through other tunes like "Everything's Wrong If My Hair Is Wrong" and "They're All Out of Liquor, Let's Find Another Party," vocalist Patty Donahue and composer/guitarist Chris Butler again tackle contemporary women's lifestyles in a cynically humorous fashion, aided by ace producer Hugh Padgham at the control

Bow Wow Wow

HOLLYWOOD PALLADIUM, L.A. — Bow Wow Wow, it seems, has finally emerged from under the shadow of Adam Ant, whom current group members Matthew Ashman, Leroy Gorman and David Barbarossa backed as the original Ants, and former manager Malcolm McLaren. Through ceaseless touring (they returned to America for live dates no less than seven times in one year alone, according to RCA, the band's label). Bow Wow Wow has now firmly established its own identity and has amassed enough of a following to fill the more than 4,500 capacity Palladium here April 24.

The band has achieved success on its own terms, too. Once criticized heavily for "imitating" the Burundi-based percussive beat Adam Ant launched his own career upon, Bow Wow Wow stuck with its sound while Adam opted for the brassy pop of "Goody Two Shoes." Consumers and critics alike have come around not only to accept but appreciate Bow Wow Wow's tribal new wave, and the packed Palladium dance floor erupted into a frenzy each time the group launched into one of its tom-tom-driven numbers.

It was the big radio (read KROQ) numbers, though, that brought the howls of recognition from the audience, including "Aphrodisiac," from the new "When The Going Gets Tough, The Tough Get Going" LP, and "I Want Candy," the raucous cover of the '60s hit. Playing in front of a day glo, cartoonish backdrop of a monstrous (ferocious?) cassette, the band also bounced through its initial hit, the once controversial "C-30, C-60, C-90, Go!" from "Your Cassette Pet."

More than one onlooker at the show noted how the youthful group has gained in confidence and professionalism since it first came to the States. Anabella Lwin, the 17-year-old Eurasian nymphette and lead singer, in particular, has now reached a point where she no longer needs the additional support (diversion?) of teen dancers hopping about her on stage, being able to capture the crowd now simply with her own charismatic presence.

Attired in what appeared to be modernized American Indian dress, Lwin certainly cuts a striking figure onstage with her now shaggy mohawk hairstyle. If a measure of whether a band has truly arrived is the number of copycats in the crowd who don a look similar to the band, then the mohawk tressed youngsters in the Palladium audience attest to the fact that Bow Wow Wow is now a lot more than a mere phenomenon.

Musical Youth

THE RITZ, NYC — Musical Youth did three recent U.S. gigs, including a guest spot on Saturday Night Live. This special mid-afternoon show at The Ritz was low priced at $5 and followed the group's practice in England of playing before its own age group at less than adult rates. It was a great idea, though pouring rain and poor promotion prevented a sellout. Even then, the upstairs celeb tables were filled, only this time with youngsters drinking out of coke bottles stuck into the wine buckets.

Another break from the norm at this club was the short 10 minute wait for the group to go on. The Youth opened with a hard reggae instrumental that established their musicianship right off. Yep, these kids, ages 11-16, really know how to play, very well as it turns out. Their peers attested to their prowess so loudly that when lead vocalist/elder statesman Dennis Seaton began singing "Children of Zion," he was all but drowned out by screams, as was pint-sized guitarist Kelvin Grant who sang on "Young Generation," as were both when they shared the vocals on "Pass The Dutchie."

"Pass The Dutchie" was offered much too early, however, just halfway through the set, instead of saving the best for last. Unfortunately, the rest of the set went downhill. Material was one problem. On a romantic song like "Heartbreaker," which sounds fine on record, it's hard to take words on the order of "I want somebody to love" very seriously when half the band is barely taller than its high-hat cymbals. Another problem was the group's delivery. Outside of Seaton, who is all smiles, energetic and thoroughly outgoing, the rest of the group rarely moved a facial muscle or left their stations. Kelvin Grant's stonemasked impassivity actually was a plus in this regard, though, but only because he is the smallest, youngest and, therefore, cutest.

Return To Forever

UNIVERSAL AMPHITHEATRE, L.A. — When a perennial act, like let's say the Kinks, comes to town, everybody who was ever a Kinks fan and then some gets revved-up for the show, which is usually a mixture of the music that made them cult bastions and new songs that reflect the musicians' collective growth. The clamour begins as the curtain rises, and the shouting commences.

Since their split in 1976, when Return To Forever was peaking as one of the most pivotal fusion bands of the early-to-mid-'70s, the fans it left in its wake have eagerly waited for this group to come, to play, to once again conquer their imagination.

Well, they came, they played, but one can only imagine what the first of RTF's two-nights of sold out shows might have been like if they had truly shown how they've grown as musicians.

The show was not devoid of success, as the group from the outset rekindled the spirit of adventure so crucial to their early successes before moving on to solo careers. Keyboardist/leader Chick Corea with Stanley Clarke on bass, guitarist Al DiMeola and percussionist Lenny White will never have their musicianship mistaken from the Kinks', but on this night they seemed to strive for the same in-concert effect.

Make no mistake, the audience wanted to re-live the energy of yesteryears, evidenced by the hearty applause following each tune. But musically, the interplay was too egalitarian, too often superseding the concept of "group."

Still, it was a heartening experience to see fine musicians, who have gained momentum in their individual endeavors, regroup to give the people what they wanted. Corea has not lost any of his campy verve on synthesizer; if Clarke's fingers moved any faster he'd get a speeding ticket; DiMeola is ever the sonic soldier; and nobody works harder or with more results than Lenny White.

It is ironic that despite the electric excursions everyone had come to see, the truest Return To Forever, which showed their growth individually and as a unit, was displayed on the acoustic, soothing sound tapestry of "Romantic Warrior," which conquered all doubts that this is not a perennially great band.

Winwood plans to record a new album following the European tour and then start another tour, to include a complete U.S. concert schedule.

Milsap Hits The Road

NASHVILLE — With his "Stranger In My House" single accumulating significant pop attention as well as country airplay, Ronnie Milsap is supporting his recently released "Keyed Up" album in the first half of May with tour dates in Texas and the south central region of the country.

Worth, Texas, May 6; Tulsa, Okla., May 7; Salinas, Kan., May 8; and Wichita Falls, Texas, May 13. Milsap is also scheduled to appear at the Colonial Golf Tournament in Ft. Worth, May 11-12.

THE MADAME'S MOTELS — Capitol Records' Martha Davis (l), who fronts the Motels, recently presented Esther Wong (r), owner of the Madame Wong's nightclubs in L.A., with a gold record for her support when the group first started. The gold award was for The Motels' "All Four One" album.

Stage Production Of Harry Chapin's Work Set For Fall

LOS ANGELES — Chapin: Works & Music will premiere in Chicago this fall as a theatrical stage production produced by Kragen & Company in conjunction with the Apollo Theatre Group of the Windy City. Ken Kragen, head of Kragen & Company will serve as executive producer on the project and has named Sam Welsman as director. Kragen & Company vice president Ken Yates and Stuart Oken of the Apollo Group will serve as producers.

Chapin: Words & Music will feature the probing work of the late Harry Chapin, whose prose songs examined the plights and pleasures of everyday folk. Working closely with Welsman on the show will be Chapin's widow Sandy.

The cast will consist of three men and two women, with four of the members coming from Chapin's touring band comprising the cast members. Chapin's brother, Tom, currently on Broadway in Pump Boys & Dinettes, will supervise musical arrangements and orchestrations.

Chapin, who began his association with Kragen in 1975 and remained a management client with Kragen until his death in 1981, was very active in many charities pertaining to the world hunger situation, including the Chicago Food Depository and World Hunger Year.

ON JAZZ

OUR HEAVENLY 'FATHA' — Known as "Fatha" because of his innovative and fatherly contributions to modern jazz piano play, Earl Hines died of a heart attack April 22 in Oakland, Calif. He was 77. A veteran of the seminal years in jazz, Hines will always be remembered for the new ideas he created and the various incarnations of his early touring band that propagated the same spirit. Hines first developed his unique style while playing with the Louis Armstrong big band in the '20s, being credited with lifting the keyboard out of its rhythm section stereotype and into solo instrument status. In 1928, Hines again pioneered when his first big band became the first all-black aggregation to tour the South. Then during the '30s and '40s, Fatha led a Chicago-based big band that served as the seed bed for the birth of bebop vanguardists like Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie "Bird" Parker, Sarah Vaughn and Billy Eckstine.

Hines fronted a series of ensembles and smaller bands on the road during the '50s, including a 1957 tour of Europe with an all-star band. Hines had been primarily based in Northern California around Oakland and San Francisco since the 1950s, but had slowed his tour schedule considerably due to the encroachment of age. Songs he was closely associated with include "Boogie Woogie On St. Louis Blues," "Rosetta," "Jelly, Jelly," "I'm Fallin' For You" and "Monday Date." Hines delivered his final performances April 15-16 (the week before he died) at San Francisco's recently opened Kimball's, located across the street from the San Francisco Opera House. Appearing with a quintet of local jazz players, Hines appeared frail and physically infirm during the final performance, according to many observers. The final song he was to play during the swan song set offered a vignette of a man too weak to play with the vigor he exemplified, but with enough spirit to conduct his sidemen and chord on the piano for them. He closed that last set with the old pop standard, "It's A Pity To Say Goodnight." Funeral services for Hines were held Thursday, April 28, at the Greece Cathedral in San Francisco. No memorial performances or ceremonies were set at presstime.

KOOL — From June 4 to Nov. 12, the Kool Jazz Festival will travel to 22 cities, two more than last year's series. The Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co.-sponsored festival agenda will now include St. Louis, Louisville and Cleveland. Orlando, Fla., was dropped from the list this year. From June 24 through July 3, New York will be the site of the Kool Fest, where a mixture of the traditional, pop and progressive artists will be spread throughout the city. Ella Fitzgerald, Joe Pass, Oscar Peterson, Count Basie, Sarah Vaughn, the Modern Jazz Quartet and many, many more bastions of the idiom will ap-the 60-day certification period required by The Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA).

Paramount Pictures, which released the film, is also taking steps to promote the music featured in Flashdance. All of the movie company's 90- and 60-second cable, television and radio spots are using the Cara tune to identify the motion picture, and studio senior vice president of worldwide marketing Gordon Weaver called the Flashdance music "the backbone" of the film's marketing campaign.

Weaver said well in excess of a million dollars was earmarked for the first week of radio and television advertising, and the results have been so successful that more funding will undoubtedly be forthcoming in the weeks ahead to place media ad spots.

Producer Profile

Dennis Mackay: Going From Fusion To Rock And Back

by Michael Glynn

LOS ANGELES — Jazz fusion fans have no doubt come across producer/engineer Dennis Mackay's name on the back of albums by John McLaughlin (and his various projects, from Mahavishnu Orchestra to Shakti), Return To Forever and Billy Cobham, among many others. In fact, over the course of the 16 years he's worked in studios both here and in Europe, MacKay's gained somewhat of a reputation as a fusion technician, so it's not surprising to hear that among his most recent production projects is a new album by RTF guitarist Al DiMeola.

However, Mackay certainly does not lack for experience on the rock side of recording as well, having engineered four of David Bowie's albums for producer and mentor Ken Scott early on in his career, progressing through production work for Pat Travers, Judas Priest, Randy Bachman's Ironhorse, Shooting Star and, currently, the Glenn Hughes Band.

Dennis Mackay

Inevitably, though, it's the "fusion producer" tag which people remember and while he still enjoys doing albums by certain so-called fusion artists, like DiMeola, MacKay is looking to expand into more rock and modern pop productions.

Welk VP Bill Hall Dies Of Heart Attack

NASHVILLE — Following a heart attack, The Welk Group's vice president and Nashville division manager, Bill Hall, died in a Texas hospital Tuesday, April 26. Hall, who was hospitalized for respiratory complications in February and March, was 55 years old.

A 1954 graduate of the Lamar College of Technology (now Lamar University), Hall began his career in the music industry when he formed Big Bopper Music and Nashbeau in Beaumont in the early 1960s. Subsequently, he formed Hall-Clement Publishing and Jack & Bill Music with Jack Clement, signing songwriters Jerry Foster and Bill Rice to the staff. Hall and Clement also owned Beaumont's Gulf Coast Recording studio, where he co-produced Dickey Lee's million-selling "Patches" single. Additionally, he managed George Jones for a short time, producing his classic "Why Baby Why."

One of the most respected and shrewdest publishers in Nashville, Hall moved to the music center in 1967, two years after his partner had made the trek. By 1973, he moved his publishing operation into the SESAC building, and, one year later, purchased Clement's interests in the publishing operation. In 1975, he sold his four publishing companies to The Welk Group, remaining with the firm as the Nashville division manager, and eventually obtaining the title of vice president before his death. Hall was also a director in the Compleat Entertainment Corporation, a company he founded last year along with Charles Fach and Irwin Steinberg.

Under his guidance, The Welk Group became one of the most powerful publishing operations in the Nashville music community, gaining recognition as the Cash Box Country Publisher of the Year last year. During Country Music Week in 1981, the publishing conglomerate held an impressive 14 positions on the country singles chart. The staff currently maintains 24 writers through the Nashville office, including Dickey Lee, Bob McDill, Don Williams, Tommy Rocco, Kenny Chater and Wayland Holyfield.

Hall also headed many of the company's activities in the purchase of invaluable catalogs, including the Pi-Gem/Chess copyrights of the songs of both Steve Gibbs and Ricky Skaggs. The Welk Group controls such copyrights as "Swingin'," "Never Been So Loved In All Of My Life," "Smokey Mountain Rain," "Good Ole Boys Like Me," "The Wayward Wind" and Reba McEntire's recent #1 record, "You're The First Time I've Thought About Leaving."

"He was one of my favorite people in the world," noted Welk executive vice president Dean Kay. "He was undoubtedly the best music publisher I have ever met. He had an incredible ability to deal with people, and he was one of the best businessmen I ever met. He had an incredible song sense and I'm going to miss him dearly."

The Welk Group has asked that those who wish to send flowers instead make a donation to the American Heart Assn. or the American Cancer Society in Nashville.

Playboy HotRocks Show Set For Playboy Channel

LOS ANGELES — Two MTV: Music Television executives have left the Warner Amex Satellite Entertainment Company (WASEC), to develop Playboy's HotRocks, a monthly series of hour-long music segments set to appear on The Playboy Channel in July. Fred Seibert, who directed MTV activities in 1981 before being promoted to a vice president creative services post at WASEC, and Alan Goodman, who produced MTV's animated logo and theme music prior to becoming WASEC's creative director, will work on the Playboy project with producer Buzz Potamkin, who served as supervising producer of the "I Want My MTV" commercials. The Playboy music programs will be produced under the banner of Fred/Alan Inc., in conjunction with Buzzco Productions, Inc.

Seibert and Goodman, who are the first MTV execs to leave the basic cable network for their own production firm, say the HotRocks show won't use video DJs and that its format won't be strictly Top 40 or AOR.

"This is going to be the hottest party tape on TV," said Goodman, "a step beyond anything else in video music, the way viewers of The Playboy Channel want it."

"We'll be using video clips which clearly focus on the sexual implications in the content of pop music," elaborated Seibert, "and we've already amassed about 50-60 videos featuring inherent sexual overtones and undertones." Seibert added that the programming will include older, established acts like Rod Stewart, as well as newer groups such as Berlin.

SOUNDVIEWS

48 HRS. JOINS PAR'S $39.95 CLUB — Call it a "test," "experiment" or whatever, $39.95 suggested list for vid cassette titles would still smell as sweet to home dealers (and consumers). Paramount, the uncontested leader in the reduced price derby, offers another bouquet come June in the form of a $39.95 48 HRS., last fall's hit movie starring Nick Nolte and Eddie Murphy as a cop and a convict working as unlikely partners to capture a killer. The studio expects 48 HRS. to bring in some 80,000 initial orders. By our count, that brings the number of major new releases Paramount has put out at $39.95 or less in recent months to six, including Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan; An Officer And A Gentleman; An Evening With Robin Williams; Airplane II ($29.95); and The Lords of Discipline. As noted in our last column, Paramount has also been re-issuing approximately three solid catalog titles per month at $29.95 each, beginning with Star Trek: The Motion Picture (the expanded version); Grease and Airplane, following up this month with Race For Your Life, Charlie Brown and The Jazz Singer at the same price, while Urban Cowboy is rereleased at $39.95 (Cash Box, April 23). On tap for June at $29.95 are Heaven Can Wait, Saturday Night Fever and Shogun. SELECTING MTV'S 'BASEMENT TAPES' — Your faithful SoundViews scribe recently sat on a panel of journalists, radio and label folk, as well as a couple of bona fide recording starlets, to judge the semi-final entries for MTV's third "Basement Tapes" run-off here in Los Angeles. The Basement Tapes, if you haven't heard via Warner Amex's 24-hour music channel, is a contest the MTV staff came up with awhile back for unsigned rock acts who've submitted videos to compete with one another. With an EMI America recording contract and the production of a brand new video as grand prize, the contest could well change a young act's career. According to MTV's Les Garland, as many as 40 or 50 unsolicited tapes by unsigned bands are sent to MTV each month, and director of talent Gail Sparrow, along with staffers, pores through all of them, presenting this panel with 14 from which to choose. As you can imagine with most independently made videos, the production standards were, for the most part, not on a par with the types of things you'd normally see on MTV, although there were exceptions. A live performance by hard rockers Rail out of Seattle was shot by local TV station KOMO and had the nicely edited look you'd expect from a professional station crew. And a conceptual piece by N.Y.C.-based Suezie Jopson, shot by Ms. Jopson's producer husband, had some brilliant chromatic color effects, as well as a complete story line. However, the favorite among the judges was a bit of endearing nonsense entitled "Happy Weirdo" by local L.A. club DJ Hlsao Shinagawa. The cartoonish creation of this eccentric personality was probably among the more amateurish and cheaply made offerings viewed, but it had a sort of loopy, upbeat charm that had the judges applauding when it was over. After seeing a number of shag-haired, leather 'n' spandex Midwest rockers strutting their way through a series of cliched poses, "Happy Weirdo" looked positively original by comparison. The six videos picked will be aired by MTV on May 11 at 8 p.m. EST (11 p.m. in the West) and viewers will cast the final vote for the winner by calling a special "900" number. The monthly winners (which so far include Cincinnati's Young Invaders and Tipton, Ga.'s Messenger) receive a complete Technics audio/video system, as well as the chance to vie for the EMI contract in September. By the way, Go-Go's rhythm guitarist Jane Wiedlin (most recently featured in a duet with Sparks' Russell Mael on "Cool Places") and Missing Persons' Dale Bozzlo were among the judges for the May edition of Basement Tapes, along with Gary Gersh, vice president, A&R, EMI America Records; Larry Groves, music director, KROQ; Larry Solters, vice president, Front Line Management; Debbie Newman, director of artist relations/video, Columbia Records; Simon Fields, Limelight Prods.; Dennis Erokan, publisher and editor, Bay Area Music (BAM) magazine; Michael Dolan, publisher, Music Connection magazine; and Jonathan Taylor, music critic, Los Angeles, Daily News . . . And while we're on the subject of MTV, it was recently named the official Television Information Network for the US '83 Festival at Glen Helen Regional Park in Devore (San Bernardino), Calif. May 28, 29, 30 and June 4. MTV will provide viewers with up to six updates a day on the fest . . . and that's before it even starts. A crew of 15, including VJ Mark Goodman, is slated to cover the event, interviewing the bands, shooting backstage footage and giving out regular news blurbs. And US '83 attendees will get their MTV whether they want it or not, as programming will be seen live via satellite on the Festival's DiamondVision screen between acts.

VIDEO SOFTWARE NOTES — Thorn EMI, in a move designed to support its decision to maintain higher prices, announces that opening orders for First Blood, at a suggested list of $79.95, have reached $2 million wholesale in the U.S. and Canada representing more than 40,000 units. Commented president Nicholas Santrizos, "Thorn EMI is a marketing company, not a major movie studio. Given this fact, it is our goal to market feature films and a diversity of other home video fare by employing a wide range of consumer goods marketing techniques. Furthermore, we believe that by treating the home video medium as a separate entertainment delivery system rather than simply an extension of the movie box office, we will see significant sales dividends. We believe that the initial orders for First Blood substantiate this view." Later this month, Thorn EMI is releasing Frances, the movie drama based on the troubled life of actress Frances Farmer, at $69.95. The motion picture earned one of two Oscar nominations this year for star Jessica Lang (Lang won Best Supporting Actress for her role in Tootsie) . . . Media Home Entertainment has four flicks slated for home videocassette release in June, including director John Landis' Kentucky Fried Movie, Sleuth, Henry Jaglom's comedy Sitting Ducks and George Romero's Knightriders. Both the latter and Sleuth will go for $54.95, while Sitting Ducks costs $49.95 and Kentucky Fried Movie is set at $59.95 . . . Monterey Home Video, under Family Home Entertainment, is offering two music specials this month, a compilation of live performances, recording session tapings, video clips by the Swedish pop ensemble ABBA and a 1980 film combining stunt footage and original rock music by the group Sorcery, entitled Stunt Rock.

WHAT'S IN-STORE

CAMELOT CELEBRATES 'MTV DAY' — Recent appearances by popular MTV video jockey Martha Quinn highlighted "MTV Day" events co-sponsored by Camelot Enterprises, Inc., Warner Amex Cable of Canton and Akron, Ohio, and MTV. Pictured standing at a dinner prior to the Galaxy appearances are (l-r): Paul Burnett, director, media production and communication, Camelot Enterprises; Larry Hodgson, regional director, Camelot Music; Steve Zimmerman, district supervisor, Camelot Music; John Fagan, sales manager, Central Region, Warner Amex Satellite Entertainment Co.; and Geoff Mayfield, communications specialist, Camelot Enterprises. ATARI SAYS 'BUG-OFF TO MUNICH' — Atari is launching a high-score "Bug-Off" contest on May 1 in support of its new "Centipede" game cartridge. Entrants have until June 30 to send in a photo of their highest score on either the Atari 2600 or 5200 cartridge, along with proof of purchase and an entry blank. The top 20 2600 winners will receive an Atari 5200 SuperSystem, while the top 20 5200 players will get Atari 5200 Track-Ball controllers and a choice of two 5200 game cartridges. The top five in each of the two groups will also be flown to San Francisco to participate in the U.S. Centipede Championships, where they will vie for an Atari "Millipede" coin-op arcade game, to be awarded to the winner in each division. The two divisional champs will then fight it out for the right to represent the U.S. in the Atari World Championship Competition in Munich, Germany, in the middle of September. To hype the contest and spur sales, dealers are being provided with merch kits which include a "Bug-Off" easel card, 300 entry forms, Centipede giveaway buttons and an advertising package containing co-op ad slicks, radio scripts, and details of Atari's national ad support campaign. The ad campaign will include print in Sports Illustrated, People, Electronic Games, Scholastic and Jr. Scholastic, Boy's Life, and Rolling Stone, together with heavy radio spotting on teen and contemporary music formats in the top 27 Atari markets.

ROCKAMERICA'S IN-STORE FOCUS — RockAmerica, the video pool that distributes music video clips to some 30 record stores, along with over 200 clubs and 25 universities, is increasingly tying in its promotional clout with record retailers. A recent Lene Lovich promotion, which utilized a specially made compilation video tape, worked so well that RockAmerica chief Edward Steinberg reports that a new promotion, in support of Pink Floyd's "The Final Cut" LP, is already in the works, with another, in support of Eddy Grant's "Killer On The Rampage," likely. The Lovich effort, made by RockAmerica in conjunction with Stiff Records, London, and Epic Records, U.S., was built around a videotape containing all six Lovich videos — "Say When," "Lucky Number," "Bird Song," "Angels," "Toy" and the recent single "It's You, Only You." Interview footage of Lovich made while she starred in her London musical, Mata Hari, was also included, and she even made a commercial at RockAmerica's Manhattan studio, which was inserted into the middle of the tapes. The insert instructed viewers to send postcards to RockAmerica with the name of her new "No Man's Land" album, which was mentioned at the end of the tape just to make sure everyone knew. The first 100 correct postcards earned the sender a free picture disc of the song "Blue Hotel." According to Steinberg, the record company had originally wanted to give away free albums, but his main goal in creating RockAmerica was to turn people on to his favorite artists and spur sales of those artists' product. So not only did he nix the album giveaway, he instituted a $100 surcharge on copies of the Lovich special. But this fee was immediately cancelled when the retail or club account submitted documentation of advertising taken out supporting "Lene Lovich Night" club promotions, which were held in RockAmerica serviced clubs in conjunction with local radio stations and record stores. "We were inducing them to do extra promotion," explains Steinberg. "I don't really want the extra money. I want promotion of those artists I like and want to help. But it can be a battle with the record company explaining to them that you're trying to promote their artists." The companies seem to be getting the idea now. For the Pink Floyd promotions, Columbia is providing 250 huge posters of album photo showing a soldier with a knife in his back for each of RockAmerica's subscribers. The label will also send 20 additional posters and 50 album flats as giveaways for each retail outlet ordering the half-hour tape, which contains seven video cuts culled from the new LP and preceding "The Wall." Although Columbia has asked Steinberg not to charge the extra $100, he feels that many accounts will promote the video in the pattern set by the Lovich promotion and an earlier one-hour David Bowie special. The special tape prices are $65; subscription rates are $200 per month for clubs, which brings two hours of new clips on half-inch highgrade stereo tape. Steinberg notes that record stores have a slightly cheaper subscription rate, since they generally don't do the kind of business done in clubs. Older tapes are available to new subscribers, but only as an adjunct to the mandatory new tapes as Steinberg is primarily interested in pushing new music. What distinguishes RockAmerica from other video programming services such as MTV is that it offers imported and independently produced clips as well as those put out by the major American labels. Thus, many of his retail accounts are such "trend" stores as Boston's Newbury Comics, Chicago's Wax Trax, Los Angeles' Vinyl Fetish and New York's Rocks In Your Head. "We distributed Stray Cats 'Runaway Boys,' back in April '81 when it came out in England. MTV added it to their playlist just last week." Steinberg also notes that Duran Duran's uncensored "Girls On Film" video was on the

You have the power to cure leukemia and cancer. It takes genius, which is displayed every day by scientists working in the T.J. Martell Laboratory at Mt. Sinai Medical Center in New York and at the U.S.C. Cancer Center in Los Angeles.

It takes concern, which you have shown since the establishment in 1975 of the T.J. Martell Foundation for Leukemia and Cancer Research—the only charitable organization supported solely by contributions from the entertainment industry.

It takes money, too. Your contributions to date total $4,500,000. The return on your investment is the profound progress achieved toward understanding and con-

AOR Concert Syndication Shows Change With Times

by Harry Weinger

NEW YORK — Broadcasts of taped live concerts, long an AOR programming staple, continue to proliferate, although a Cash Box survey indicates stations are more selective with syndicators than in the past.

"The buzz is off," commented Larry Berger, program director for WPLJ in New York. "But there's no question our audience still wants to hear major groups performing live."

Taped live concerts on the radio, ranging from one to two hours in length, reached their height in popularity during the mid-to-late '70s in tandem with a great number of recording groups going out on the road. However, problems recently arose when many top bands gave rights to two or more

CBS Buys KRLD And Texas State Networks

NEW YORK — CBS will purchase 50,000 watt radio KRLD/Dallas-Ft. Worth and the Texas State Networks from Metromedia for $27 million. The purchase is contingent upon FCC approval.

KRLD Radio is a leading station in the Southwest, garnering the top slot in the Dallas/Ft. Worth market with its all-news format. The Texas State Network services more than 250 stations in 20 states. Program offerings include the Dallas Cowboys Football Network, the Texas State News Network, the Agri-Business Network and the Spanish Information Service.

"The Dallas/Ft. Worth market is an exceptionally dynamic, rapid growth area, and it offers a tremendous broadcast opportunity," commented Gene Jankowski, president, CBS/Broadcast Group, on the acquisition.

CBS currently owns radio stations in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco, St. Louis and Boston. Since FCC rules restrict ownership to only seven AM and seven FM radio stations, CBS plans to sell one of its existing properties.

Kelly Named President of RKO Radio Sales

NEW YORK — John J. Kelly has been named president of RKO Radio Sales. Kelly moves up from vice president, director of sales, RKO Radio.

In making the announcement RKO General, Inc. president Robert Williamson said, "Mr. Kelly has performed exceptionally well in both the area of sales management and station solicitation — a must for any sales rep president."

Prior to joining RKO in 1979, Kelly had been an account executive for Blair Television. From 1975 to 1976, he was an account executive with WOR-TV. From 1971 to 1975, he was national sales manager for WMCA Radio.

outlets. This created a situation where one station in a market could present a group recorded live, but a competing station could do the same — with the same group. Andy Lockridge, PD at KZEW in Dallas, Texas, found the repetition unbearable. "It got to be where all of the syndication shows sounded the same. So now I pick and choose very carefully, and I'm always looking for fresh ideas."

Today, with fewer superstar acts appearing live and the newer groups not having enough material for a full feature, producers for the top syndication firms are adjusting. While CBS RadioRadio and The United Stations network have dropped special taped live programming, citing these problems of repetition and artist availability, DIR Broadcasting, Westwood One, RKO Network and NBC's Source are continuing their commitment to live concerts.

Westwood One, in an efficiency move, now has its own mobile recording van. It is keeping up a year-round production schedule with cable simulcasts and the upcoming US Festival, in addition to its regular In Concert series.

DIR's King Biscuit, distributed by the ABC Rock Radio Network, is occasionally presenting two acts in a one hour feature and showcasing new music acts like ABC and Thomas Dolby.

RKO's Captured Live series, produced by Patrick Griffith, now signs its acts well in advance. The network says that this gives it an advantage over competing suppliers.

Syndicators are looking towards radio stations to keep their specialty programming fresh and creative, and not relegated to the "Sunday night ghetto of syndication." Andy Denemark, manager of program development for NBC's Source network, offers this advice: "If stations perceive a glut, move things around. As long as they're being choosy, they should go with consistent, quality programs and make the impact of a live show work."

WMMR-FM in Philadelphia airs Source features, as well as concerts from Westwood One, and although they usually run on Sunday nights, station PD Charlie Kendall says, "We make it topical, we make it an event. If Tom Petty's coming to town, you can be sure I'll have a TP special on the air." Tommy Hedges at L.A. rocker KLOS calls himself a "real believer in specialty programming," particularly a hot group recorded live. KLOS currently features DIR/ABC's Biscuit and Supergroups, BBC Rock Hour and RKO's Captured Live. Hedges admits there has been some repetition, but he says different syndicators are staying on top of varying the acts.

Concludes John "G-Man" Gorman of rock crusader WMMS in Cleveland: "Yes, we're selective, but a live concert is still viable for AOR. The companies have been very cooperative with us in making these shows a true event."

Country Labels Depend On 45s As LP Airplay Stays Limited

by Tom Roland

NASHVILLE — As manufacturing costs have increased, record companies have become increasingly reliant on the sales of albums and cassettes to insure their profitability, at the same time placing less importance on the single as a saleable item. In some respects, the configuration is almost viewed as a promotional tool since its profit margin is reportedly minimal or nil, yet the single remains the primary vehicle for album sales in the country format.

Album airplay does exist within the country format, yet its use remains rather limited at most stations, and major label promotion representatives seem to all but ignore the LP in their dealings with the stations, continuing to concentrate their efforts on the single. In a random survey of 10 stations conducted by Cash Box, seven of the programmers indicated that they do indeed play album cuts, and one of those who does not said that his station will begin to program them within two weeks.

Frank Lefel, national promotion director for PolyGram's country division, suggested that his label probably has the longest album mailing list of any of the major record companies, sending promotional LP copies to nearly 1,900 radio stations across the country. Because of the volume of stations and the admitted shortcomings of even a well-staffed field team in monitoring each of those outlets, Lefel indicated that there is no way to be sure that those albums are being used for on-air play and not added to a program director's collection at home.

No LP Cuts

Whether or not there is a growing interest in album airplay in smaller and medium markets, Lefel said that outlets in major markets (where album airplay would provide the most significant results in additional sales) have shown practically no interest in playing cuts off the LP. "WMAQ (in Chicago) doesn't play any LP cuts," he said. "They did for a while, then they made them pull it back. At WDAF in Kansas City, they play them very, very seldom.

"Your FM stations that are coming on, thank God, do seem to be playing more and more LP cuts, but there are still very few LP cuts getting the rotation overall that will really break them on through."

Lefel also said that they try to encourage programmers to play album cuts, but Bob Heatherly, national country promotion director for RCA, noted that at a company with a larger roster, album cuts are rarely mentioned unless the station rep brings the subject up. "When you have 15 records that you're working," he noted, "by the time you get through talking about that you've pretty much taken up as much of their time as they can afford to give you."

Heatherly also added that in some cases, feedback from stations that do pull tracks from various albums is a determining factor in what cuts will be released as a second or third single from the package. "We like to have album cuts played," he assessed, "but we don't like to hear those rumors that a station like WDOD (in Chattanooga) will play albums on Friday or Saturday night in their entirety. With the home taping situation, we catch a lot of heat from retailers because of stations doing that, and they (the retailers) will put the heat on us to the point that they won't report our records."

Tony Tamburrano, national promotion director at MCA, estimated that not more than 30% of country stations play album material, and he added that without some mention of the album, even that airplay is of little value to the manufacturer. "There are several good barometer stations out there that play album cuts that we stay in constant contact with," he said, citing WPLO/Atlanta and KIKK and KILT/Houston. "Other than that, the airplay that they give helps sell no albums at all for the simple reason that nobody knows it's an album cut. WJKZ/Nashville is one of the few stations that when they feature an album will tell you 'this is from Alabama's new album, 'The Closer You Get...' The majority of the stations that play them don't say anything, so people don't know if it's an album or single or what. It's the old thing of the radio station is not in the business to sell records, so they could care less."

Of the 10 stations that Cash Box contacted, only three do not play album cuts, and one of those, KWEN/Tulsa, is planning to implement LP material within the next two weeks, according to music director Rob Ryan. At the other two stations, WKHK-FM/New York and WCOS-FM/Columbia, both are willing to play an album cut on a major artist when they are sure that the record will be released later as a single. WKHK did that with both the current Alabama single and the latest Eddie Rabbitt release. "We play the hits," assessed music director John Breyton.

Burned Out

Glen Garrett, MD at WCOS, noted that at one time the station had programmed album material, but that several records which had received heavy airplay burned out prematurely before the label later released them as singles, most notably "Love In The First Degree" by Alabama and "I Wouldn't Have Missed It For The World" by Ronnie Milsap. "That doesn't exactly please the label," he said. "plus it's a gamble. You can really burn a group out."

At the other stations, several varying philosophies emerged, with most music directors using album cuts to add a "fresh" sound to the station or to distinguish it from competitors. Two Tennessee stations — WJKZ/Nashville and WDXE/Lawrenceburg — utilize album product for daily or weekly features. At the former station, music director Janet Bozeman features one album per day, playing five cuts from a particular release during the mid-day show, while the station's format clock regularly gives the DJ some discretion as to where to place LP cuts within their respective shows, averaging one cut per hour. At WDXE, the station airs a 30-minute program weekly, featuring the music of one artist. According to music director Dan Hollander, the station mixes in four to five

WHO TOLD YOU? — RCA Records recently held a reception in honor of former division vice president Jerry Bradley. Bradley, who headed the country division from 1974-1982, left the label to form an independent production company, through which he will continue to work with RCA. Producer Tom Collins also contributed a fairly modest gift for the occasion.

Academy Of Country Music Names 'Hat' Award Winners In 12 Categories

NASHVILLE — The Academy of Country Music (ACM) last week announced a dozen initial winners for the 18th annual "Hat" Awards, including each of the instrumental categories, the two radio categories and Country Night Club of the Year. The remaining artists awards will be presented live via NBC-TV from Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park, Calif., May 9.

Lee Arnold, of Mutual Broadcasting's WHN/New York, was named Disc Jockey of the Year for the first time, unseating last year's winner, Arch Yancey, of KNUZ/Houston, KIKK/Houston, a Viacom property, was cited as the Radio Station of the Year, while another Houston staple, Gilley's club in nearby Pasadena won for the third time in the Country Night Club of the Year area.

Most of the instrumental winners were something less than a surprise since they have won several years consecutively. Nevertheless, the Ricky Skaggs Band achieved honors as the Best Touring Band

ICWMA Sets Concerts To Tout Its Awards

NASHVILLE — The International Country and Western Music Assn. (ICWMA) has established an international fan-voted awards presentation. It plans to hold the first International Country and Western Music Awards Gala July 17-21 in Ft. Worth. The gala, a five-day concert event, is expected to feature many of the artists who win the organization's awards (winners will be announced in May), with television specials slated to document the festival in several different countries.

Organized by Nashville music executives Mick Lloyd, Ralph Murphy and Peter Sullivan, the event has been planned to draw 100,000 visitors to the Dallas/Ft. Worth area and command the largest worldwide television audience ever for a country-oriented program.

Balloting for the awards is currently under way through consumer publications in Australia, New Zealand, Scandinavia, Germany, the Benelux countries, the United Kingdom, Ireland and Canada. The voting has been structured with two categories, asking participants to select the best national male and female vocalists as well as the best group in addition to the top international acts. Although American artists are eligible for the international awards, the U.S. audience has been precluded from in capturing its first Hat, and James Burton scored for the first time in the Specialty Instrument category for his dobro work, although he has previously been voted Top Guitarist on two separate occasions.

Al Bruno took this ninth trophy for Guitarist of the Year, Archie Francis scored for the eighth time as Drummer of the Year, and J.D. Maness was credited for the seventh time as Steel Guitars Player of the Year. Johnny Gimble was cited as a fiddler for the fifth year in a row, Hargus "Pig" Robbins received his sixth keyboard award, and Red Wootten copped his third Hat for his bass playing. The Desperados were named for the second consecutive year as Top Non-Touring Band.

Radio and club awards were determined by a vote of trade publications and promotion representatives within the industry, while the trophies for instrumentalists were presented on the basis of a balloting of musicians and artists who are members of the academy.

The national telecast that will feature the remaining awards is scheduled for May 9 in a Dick Clark Company production that features co-hosts Jerry Reed, John Schneider and Tammy Wynette. Among the other artists expected to appear on the show are Alabama, Janie Fricke, Larry Gatlin & The Gatlin Brothers, Barbara Mandrell, Willie Nelson, Ricky Skaggs, Sylvia, Mel Tillis and Dottie West.

Columbia Gives Wopat LP Direct Mail Push

NASHVILLE — In an effort to take advantage of an existing market for the Dukes Of Hazard star's product, Columbia Records is undertaking a direct mail campaign to support Tom Wopat's self-titled debut album aimed at his fan club, which numbers an estimated 60,000.

The mailing consists of an 8½" x 11" card depicting graphics from the album, a brief biography, a mail-order coupon and a four-color picture of Wopat accompanied by a short message to his fans. Cincinnati Fulfillment will handle distribution of the mailings through a list compiled by Susan Krout, who maintains responsibility for answering the actor/artist's fan mail. Columbia also plans to test market a mail-order campaign for the album in a handful of selected smaller markets via TV Guide with the intent of reaching fans who are already familiar with him through his television role.

COUNTRY COLUMN

NEW COMPLEXION FOR TOP 10 — The Top 10 of the Cash Box Country Singles chart is somewhat unique this week in that fully five of the recording artists represented are artists who have not been in that area of the chart for some time in the form that their current single was recorded in. The five artists are either 1) in the Top 10 for the first time, 2) in the Top 10 after a long absence, or 3) a duet member who is striking out as a solo artist. Johnny Rodriguez, at #9, has his first Top 10 single in nearly four years, with "Foolin'" his first to reach the plateau since "Down On The Rio Grande" peaked at #6 May 19, 1979. Vern Gosdin, who has entered the charts on numerous occasions with several independent labels, is positioned at #8 with his first Top 10 single, "If You're Gonna Do Me Wrong (Do It Right)" on Compeat. B.J. Thomas also reaches #5 in his first appearance on the country Top 10, with "Whatever Happened To Old-Fashioned Love," although he's attained that status on numerous occasions on the pop and gospel charts before. Two females have also made the upper strata of the weekly listing for the first time as solo artists, although they've certainly become familiar to buyers and programmers as members of male/female duet teams. Shelly West is poised at #3 in her first effort without the aid of partner David Frizzell with "Jose Cuervo." At #7, Louise Mandrell is in the Top 10 for the first time apart from husband R.C. Bannon with "Save Me." Mandrell has had several solo efforts before, including "Romance" and "Some Of My Best Friends Are Old Songs," but this is the first to reach the top 10%.

YOU GOT ME RUNNIN' — Chet Atkins' CBS debut, "Work It Out With Chet Atkins, C.G.P.," was just released, and it promises to be an outstanding disc for a number of reasons, not the least of which is the well-conceived running theme that intertwines the entire package. Atkins writes on the back cover, "I have been on this exercise binge and have been searching for music with the right tempos," and apparently "Work It Out" is the answer. Produced by Randy Goodrum, the disc contains a number of medleys and individual songs that play off the idea of podiatric mobility. A "Warm Up Medley" sets the pace for the course, which includes a "Strolling Medley," "Streakin' Medley" and "Cross Country Medley," in addition to versions of "Walk Me Home" and the Ventures' "Walk, Don't Run." Also, a big word of thanks to the CBS art team for providing a cover void of the now-monotonous artist profile. Instead, the jacket flaunts blue sweats and shoes and towels draped across a chair along with an increasingly-popular Walkman (an interesting way to push cassettes as well). The back side depicts Atkins lacing his shoes at the outset of a run. All in all, it's a "Nike" idea (pardon the pun) —

GIMME A BREAK — Janie Fricke (l) recently appeared on Morning Break, a local talk TV show on WDVM-TM/Washington, D.C., with country Hall of Famer Merle Travis. She is also scheduled to appear as a performer on the upcoming Academy of Country Music (ACM) "Hat" Awards show.

it fits Atkins personally as well as reflecting a growing concern among the general population. The "C.G.P." at the end of Atkins' name stands for "Country Guitar Player."

... ALSO IN TRAINING — Boxcar Willie unveiled his most recent project, a traveling railroad museum, April 27 at tourist haven, the corner of Division and 16th where souvenirs outnumber people 100-1. His museum is enclosed within a 35-foot trailer, featuring railroad artifacts, paintings, pictures, awards, posters, plaques, belt buckles and other paraphernalia from some 38 countries worldwide. The trailer is scheduled for exhibition at a number of fairs and shopping malls during the summer months. The same day as his unveiling, Boxcar Willie also taped That Good Old Nashville Music and appeared on The Nashville Network's live Nashville Now. In addition, he appeared May 1 in a benefit in Mason City, Iowa, for the Hobo Foundation (do hobos actually maintain an office?). Proceeds from the event will go to help erect a permanent museum in Brett, Iowa, that pays homage to the hobo way of life.

MADE WHERE? — Following the procession of the single to #1 two weeks ago, MCA Records distributed some 500 pins and key chains touting the Oak Ridge Boys' "American Made." Reclipsants may want to keep the pin in the wrapper as a collector's item; the plastic says "Made In Taiwan."

GRIT AND BEAR IT — The Super Grit Cowboy Band appeared at the Cheyenne club in Nashville April 20 in a somewhat sparsely attended show. The group showed some potential as the Kiss of country music, with several visual effects including an exploding firepot on either side of the stage. The theatrics were held to a minimum though, and the music was much more tasteful than that of the rock act, and those who did attend the venue were very responsive to the band's affinity for two-steppin' tunes, keeping the floor well-travelled during the evening.

NEW ADDRESS — The Nashville Music Assn. (NMA) has moved to 1815 Division. The organization's new mailing address is: P.O. Box 25309, Nashville, Tenn. 37202-5309. The phone number remains the same, (615) 242-9662.

BARN PARTY — Masked country singer Orlon has set his second annual Barn Party, a two-day festival at Eills Farms in Orrville, Ala., for July 22-23. With tickets priced at $16 in advance, the event includes a barbecue, pony rides, horse shoe contests, a talent voting in the first awards presentation to emphasize the organization's effort in making the affair an international concern.

SINGLES REVIEWS

OUT OF THE BOX

ALABAMA (RCA PB-13524)

The Closer You Get (3:35) (Irving Music, Inc./Down 'N Dixie Chinnichap Pub., Inc. Administered in U.S. and Canada by Careers Music, Inc. — BMI) (J. P. Pennington, M. Gray) (Producers: H. Shedd, Alabama)

The Southern-bred quartet kicks in with another tune destined to cross over to the pop market, adding their thick harmonies and a distorted guitar line to a tune which was previously released by Don King two years ago. A synthesized snare hammers home a strong backbeat while the backing vocal lines bear more than a semblance of similarity to the Eagles' early country/rock outings. There last single set a record for a country debut, making this title track an easy "pick to click."

FEATURE PICKS

EARL THOMAS CONLEY (RCA PB-13525)

Your Love's On The Line (3:25) (Blue Moon Music/April Music/Full Armor Music — BMI) (E.T. Conley, R. Scruggs) (Producers: N. Larkin, E.T. Conley)

JERRY REED (RCA PB-13527)

Good Ole Boys (2:39) (Hall-Clement Publications c/o The Welk Music Group — BMI) (J.L. Wallace, T. Skinner, K. Bell) (Producer: R. Hall)

ED BRUCE (MCA-52210)

You're Not Leavin' Here Tonight (3:29) (Chappell & Co., Inc./Bibo Music Publ./Vogue Music c/o The Welk Music Group — ASCAP/BMI) (K. Chater, T. Rocco, C. Black) (Producer: T. West)

LARRY GATLIN AND THE GATLIN BROTHERS BAND (Columbia 38-03885)

Easy On The Eye (3:20) (Larry Gatlin Music — BMI) (L. Gatlin) (Producers: J. Crutchfield, L. Gatlin)

ATLANTA (MDJ A4831)

Atlanta Burned Again Last Night (2:54) (Publisher: none listed) (J. Stevens, J. Dotson, D. Rowe) (Producers: M. Bogdan, L. McBride)

GARY ALLEN (Grand Prize GP-5207)/NSD GP-5207)

Tulsa Turnaround (2:40) (Unart Music Co. — BMI) (L. Collins, A. Harvey) (Producer: none listed)

MITCH CLARK (Comstock NR14516)

Hidden Messages (2:40) (White Cat Music — ASCAP) (M. Clark) (Producer: P. Parker)

NEW AND DEVELOPING

WAYNE MASSEY (MCA 52211)

Lover In Disguise (2:35) (Hoosier Music/Jack and Bill Music Co., c/o The Welk Music Group — ASCAP) (J. Dowell, B. Mevis) (Producers: J. Dowell, M. Daniel)

The soapster proves here that his talents run far deeper than merely emceeing TNN's Nashville After Hours. Massey's near-perfect good looks have already made him a target of females, and lyrically, "Lover In Disguise" should also strike a resonant chord with the ladies, bearing a storyline similar to "Behind Closed Doors." A desperate plea of urgency caps off a fine performance on his third single.

ALBUM REVIEWS

TAKE IT TO THE LIMIT — Willie Nelson with Waylon Jennings — Columbia FC 38562 — Producer: Chlps Moman — List: None — Bar Coded

Willie Nelson has released duet recordings with a "who's who" of country royalty as of late, from Webb Pierce to Dolly Parton, but on his latest effort he returns to his most widely recognized partner. As implied by the billing, Nelson's behind-the-beat vocals and concise picking dominate, with Jennings adding a dash of outlaw flavor where appropriate. Liberal use of pop-influenced sax, possibly as a nod to A/C radio, and a selection of mainly tried-and-true songs make the package a logical successor to "WW II."

THE COUNTRY MIKE

PROMOTIONS GALORE — As a kick-off for the upcoming Mother's Day Weekend, WSIX-AM/Nashville, in conjunction with Rivergate Mall and Di-Dee Diaper service, is holding the first annual Diaper Olympics. On May 7, just moments before the events begin, the Di-Dee Diaper Service Bear will carry the Olympic torch through Rivergate Mall. The first four heats are designed to test the skills of babies 12 months and under; they are the three-yard crawl, the ball throw, the father/grandfather diaper change and knock the blocks. Then children 12 to 24 months will participate in the five-yard toddle, the ball throw, the five-yard toy pull and the Di-Dee Bear hunt. Each winner will receive a stuffed Di-Dee bear, and the Rivergate Mall Merchant's Assn. has donated a number of baby- and parent-related door prizes. WSIX-AM air personalities Gerry House and

Paul Randall will serve as emcee for the Olympics. . . . WWVA/Wheeling and Rax Restaurants recently built what has been reported as the world's largest roast beef sandwich. The sandwich weighed 367.7 pounds and was prepared on a six-foot long bun. After weighing in, the sandwich was cut with a two-man saw and distributed to the audience. . . . Scott Miller, air personality at WWVA (and also the only disc jockey, to our knowledge, to have a fan club organized on his behalf), walked an estimated 40 miles from New Philadelphia, Ohio, to St. Clairsville, Ohio, Friday, April 15, to launch the grand opening of the new Schwartz Mobile Homes Sales.

HISTORY OF COUNTRY MUSIC — WSM/Nashville is scheduled to air Drake-Chenalut's History of Country Music special over six consecutive weekends, beginning Saturday, April 30. Additional stations signed for spring runs of the special include WDAF/Kansas City, WKQS-FM/Miami, WBGS-FM/Milwaukee, WSAI-FM/Cincinnati, WRRB-FM/Syracuse, WSUN/Tampa, KEEN/San Jose-San Francisco, WGNA-FM/Albany, WRNL/Richmond, WONE/Dayton, KLRA/Little Rock, KAER-FM/Sacramento, KLIF/Dallas, WTOD/Toledo, KYAK/Anchorage and CFCW/Edmonton, Canada.

STATION PROFILE — KVOO/Tulsa is a 50,000-watt clear channel station whose coverage extends into Kansas, southern Missouri, and western Arkansas by day and at night they are able to reach 38 states including Alaska and across the border into Mexico. KVOO is owned by Southwest Sales Corp. Jack Cresse serves as station manager, Billy Parker is operations director as well as program director and Richard Kaye is music director. ## THE RHYTHM SECTION

HOT PURSUIT — Diversity is a rarely achieved condition in music, as the personality of some performers limits their creative vision. Being able to flow between music forms without alienating listeners is definitely an achievement. While there are some acts that are successful at making it a point to show diversity and range, Leslie Drayton just does it; it's part of his personality. It is on his current Esoteric Records disc, "Close Pursuit," his third for the company, that Drayton shows his pop sensibilities, which are deeply rooted in the traditions of jazz, classics and blues. The trumpeter/flugelhornist/arranger/composer/producer may not be widely known outside the music industry intelligentsia at present, but if radio could embrace any of the music on his current album, then the public would surely discover something new that has been with them all the time. Drayton, who was an early trumpeter and arranger with Earth, Wind & Fire and also did arrangements for Marvin Gaye and the group New Birth, came by his wide angle music scope honestly. The mini-priced album, containing four full cuts at a list price of $4.98, features some fine young players in Santana lead vocalist Greg Walker, up-and-coming saxman Bobby Bryant, Jr., french horn blower Barbara Korn and a veteran in bassist Chuck Ralney. This is an album of many moods, but at the bottom of them all is Leslie Drayton.

VID SCENE — KCET, the public television outlet in Los Angeles, will finally air the much anticipated Kennedy Center Tonight presentation of Eubie Blake: A Century of Music, set for Saturday, May 7. The program will be simulcast over Santa Monica College Station KCRW. Actor Billy Dee Williams will host the two-hour tribute which was taped last January at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, where the late Eubie Blake made his last public appearance in a celebration of his 100th birthday. Highlighting the show, which was underwritten for the Public Broadcasting System (PBS) by Shell Oil and the National Endowment for the Arts, will be performances by some of the music industry's top stars, including Cab Calloway, Lola Falana, Phyllis Hyman, Patti LaBelle, Eddie Mekka, Joe Williams, Stevie Wonder, Greg Burge and Rosemary Clooney. Wonder's rendering of "Goodnight Angelina" accompanied by a player piano; Clooney's interpretation of "Memories Of You"; Calloway's sure-to-be funky version of "You Got To Get The Gittin' While The Gittin's Good"; "I'm Just Wild About Harry" by Falana with Anita Moore and Terry Burrell and Patti LaBelle with the Morgan State University Choir presenting a hearty version of "Roll, Jordan" will undoubtedly provide an attractive musical glimpse of a man who represented innovation and tradition throughout various periods of his life. The program is a production of WQED/Pittsburgh and will air on other PBS stations in major U.S. markets throughout May. Executive producer of the program is Dale Bell and Ron Abbott served as producer on the project.

ALLIGATOR ROOTS — Alligator recording artist Mutabaruka, on a mini-tour to support his "Check It!" LP, will soon come to the West Coast. The political dub poet started a 17-date swing April 27 through the West in Palo Alto, Calif., and then will go back to Philadelphia on May 31. During the Northern California jaunt, Mutabaruka did a live broadcast for station KTIM. The Ras dubster will also be handling a battery of interviews about his music and views, as they have both gained attention and notoriety through reviews of his LP in national consumer press like People. . . Also due from the Alligator's jowls is the third LP by Windy City bluesman Lonnie Brooks, titled "Hot Shot." Recorded at Red Label studios in Chitown suburb Winnetka, Ill., "Hot Shot" was produced by Alligator chief Bruce Iglauer. The album features a new band for the guitarist, save Brooks veteran keyboardist Ken Sadak. New players include guitarist Dion Payton, Lafayette Evans on bass, and drummer Perdis Wilson.

CEBA — Communications Excellence to Black Audiences (CEBA) awards entries are forecasted to top 1,500 for 1983 according to the World Institute of Black Communications, Inc. (WIBC), the New York City-based organization that sponsors the annual awards. Deadline for entry to the awards competition was May 2. There are 38 categories for this year's awards, covering everything from the fields of advertising and sales promotion to book covers and album jackets. Entries this year will be judged by more than 100 executives in various business and media positions, with the entire process reaching a summit with an awards dinner to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton. The WIBC was founded by the National Black Network in 1978.

SHORT CUTS — Rockers the Bus Boys recently appeared on an April 20 segment of NBC-TV's The Today Show doing an interview and were also featured in live footage shot during a show at Huntington Beach, Ca.'s Golden Bear. The segment additionally featured a clip from their appearance in the ribald cops and robbers comedy 48HRS, which co-starred Eddie Murphy, with whom the band is to tour later this year. . . It's official. Nesbert "Stlx" Hooper has ankleled from a 20-odd year association with pop/jazz legends The Crusaders to pursue a solo career. . . Last but certainly not least, Stevie Wonder is slated to host the May 7 segment of NBC-TV's Saturday Night Live. No musical guest has been set yet.

cuts from a new piece of product with some of the artist's older material to provide a tasteful overview of his work.

KBRQ/Denver seemed the most heavily involved with LP tracks, as music director Jim Stricklan noted the format is set in such a manner that every fourth cut has the potential to be an album selection. The station features six to eight specific LPs at any given period, with the selection not limited necessarily to the "superstars." Current albums that the station is programming in an effort to broaden the listeners' scope include Riders In The Sky, Earl Scruggs, Gene Watson, Delia Bell, Cahoots, David Allan Coe, Alabama and Mel Tillis.

At KFDI/Wichita, music director Gary Hightower suggested that programming albums is the equivalent of "playing with danger," noting that specific cuts should be selected from an album instead of leaving the choice of cuts wide open for the jocks to decide. "You have to go through and do like you do the rest of your music — pick out the best," he said. "Obviously, one person will not always 'hear' the best cut, so you have to get some input from other people who have heard the album." Hightower researches night clubs in particular, and said that he had programmed a cut from Kenny Rogers' "Share Your Love" LP two years ago on the basis of club response.

Stan Davis, of WVAM/Altoona, and Al Hamilton, of KEBC/Oklahoma City, called their album play "the spice of the format," feeding the listeners a bit of variety in the station's menu. WVAM plays one album cut per hour, while KEBC gives its audience one per shift. KFH/Wichita also throws in album tracks "where there is extra time on the clock," according to music director Al Jamison, but he emphasized that they are not programmed at all during the crucial drive-time shifts.

ASCAP Sues Diner On Infringement Charge

NEW YORK — American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) publishers have sued a diner in Middle River, Md., for copyright infringement. The plaintiffs claim that their copyrighted compositions were performed without permission at the Chesapeake Diner on Jan. 8.

The action was directed against James S. Guldán and William M. Guldán, owners of the diner. The songs at issue are "Riders In The Sky" by Stan Jones; "Third Rate Romance" by Russell Smith; "Bluest Heartache Of The Year" by Warren Wimberly, Jr.; and "Tulsa Time" by Danny Flowers.

The lawsuit is part of ASCAP's continuing efforts to license users of copyrighted music, and was brought under provisions of the U.S. Copyright Act of 1976.

contest and video games as well as entertainment. Artists scheduled to join Orion for the festival are B.J. Thomas, Chantilly, Jim Owen, Kelly Foxton, Jerry Fountain, Southern Cross and television magician The Amazing Kilgore.

MR. JONES TO THE TUBE — A script for a made-for-television movie, outlining the story of Big Al Downing's "Mr. Jones," was recently submitted to a major network. "Mr. Jones" was Downing's first country release several years ago. Another of his tunes, "Touch Me," is also scoring well for a different Mr. Jones — specifically Tom Jones, who checks in this week at #12 bullet.

CLARK OPENS LODGE — Guitarist Roy Clark is currently constructing a complex near Branson, Mo., called Roy Clark's Lodge of the Ozarks. A six-acre entertainment and motel facility, the development will include a 1,250-seat theater, restaurant and lounge.

GET THIS — During a recent appearance of pop/rock hybrid NRBQ at Vanderbilt University, the group was joined on stage by Grand Ole Opry member Skeeter Davis and progressive rock act The Psychedelic Furs for the show's finale, "Shake, Rattle And Roll." Strange combination, huh? The Nashville Network is also apparently trying to portray Nashville as a musical amalgam. The cable entity recently taped The Boys Band, Invasion of Privacy, Tim Kregel, Gary P. Nunn and The Nerve for later showing on Nashville After Hours.

CONGRATS — to T.G. Sheppard's keyboard player, Doug Hauserman, who married The Eyeliners' Autumn Schmidt April 23. Also, to The Piggys' Ronnie Brooks and his wife, Stephanie, on the birth of their son, Adam Taylor, April 11. tom roland

New Measures Used To Combat Bogus Tickets

the situation is so slight it only accounts for 1/10 of one percent of total sales. "It's small, but it's still a problem," explained Schmitt, who added that highly developed photo-technology is the prime method used to produce dummy ducats. Another setback is the robbery of the paper stock during shipment from the mills to the printing plants.

"We had one box stolen late last year, but most of that stock is out by now," said Schmitt. "We've used the same stock now for two years, and we'll be changing over to a different kind of paper within the next six months. Of course, we'll continue to develop new stocks, special inks and printers with variable type, and hopefully that will block counterfeiters." Schmitt said, however, that even when copycats get nabbed by the police, the punishment is usually minimal. "We spent about $100,000 on detectives to track down the biggest offenders, and they closed in on one about a year and a half ago in Connecticut. Unfortunately, the judge gave him a limited sentence and it wasn't long before he was on the street again. It's extremely difficult with the present legal machinery to keep counterfeiters out of action."

Hard To Eradicate

Another service, Ticketmaster, has also seen some problems with fraudulent tickets, and company chief executive officer Fredric Rosen says he doesn't see the problem going away. "We handle over 25 million tickets each year in 26 cities, and I think the biggest problem is how the blank ticket stock is controlled at the ticket centers. We have very tight procedures and believe the best solution is a preventative attitude, staying on top of the problem. We use a certain safety stock which is very hard to counterfeit, and also employ heavy security measures to make sure the stock doesn't get into the wrong hands. Our stock is kept under lock and key, we know where every ticket is in our system and how it was pulled for use. In two weeks, we're going on line in Los Angeles with digital computer equipment that will give us a much tighter rein."

Despite all the precautions, however, Rosen doesn't believe ticket counterfeiting can be completely eradicated. "Let's face it," he concluded, "They can't stop people from counterfeiting money, so how can ticket counterfeiters possibly be stopped? Nevertheless, we can control the blatant abuses and monitor gates to filter out what's good and what's bad. I don't see the problem going away, although you can clarify the worst abuses. But even that takes a lot of work and costs a lot of money."

Ticketmaster is handling sales of the "US '83" concert this year (Cash Box, April 2) and according to the show's promoters, three different anti-piracy devices will be used on the tickets to block bogus receipts. Dr. Peter Ellis, one of the founders of UNUSON (Unite Us In Song), the group sponsoring the mega-event, said that last year's US Festival had 10% of its total tickets plagiarized. This year's tickets will be printed on a certain stock which, when torn, will emanate a color; in addition to another, secret protective device, the tickets will have a "code" that can only be read by a specific light system, possibly laser.

New Laser System

Another company experimenting with the possible use of laser-read, encoding systems, Light Signatures, says it's currently building a portable terminal for the banking industry for use with credit cards, which could be utilized by the entertainment trade for tickets in 1984. According to company chairman Ron Katz, the system would "prevent perfect reproductions" at a very low cost to ticket manufacturers. Katz says the inexpensive measure would be implemented in the production stage of making the actual passes, and that a light beam would merely project the code directly onto the ticket.

Light Signatures is also involved with a project to reduce the pirating of record albums and tapes, debuting its system on Chrysalis' last Pat Benatar album, "Get Nervous." Using reply cards sent in by consumers to monitor any counterfeit products, Katz said the record label received around 125,000 responses that served to certify their purchases were genuine.

"Although all previous Pat Benatar albums are known to have been counterfeited, no one has yet found a pirated 'Get Nervous' record in the marketplace," commented the Light Signatures chief. Recently, the company pacted with Arista to put its anti-counterfeiting device on the next Alan Parsons and Barry Manilow LPs, as well as continuing its association with Chrysalis for the upcoming Benatar concert LP due out in September.

Acme Music Bows

NEW YORK — William F. Chafin and Martin Thau have formed The Acme Music Corp. in New York, and holding the respective positions of president and vice president. The independent label's first release is a 12-inch dance single, "Jam Hot (Rhumba Rock)," by Johnny Dynell and New York 88.

The address for the new company is 259 W. 10 St., Suite 4C, New York, N.Y. 10014. The phone numbers are (212) 741-5236 and (212) 505-8270.

Labels Ready To Capitalize On Current Upbeat Mood At Retail

dent of marketing Harry Losk was basking in the "deja vu time" caused by the instant "Flashdance" soundtrack smash, which for him brought back memories of the "Saturday Night Fever" bonanza (see separate story, page 10). He cited the new record prominently in "the feedback we're also getting that verve and pizzazz is coming back into the industry." Noting his company's strong March-April performance, he added that "it is incumbent upon us to: a) provide great product, and b) provide merchandising aides to get dealers to put it up front." Here he mentioned PolyGram's current "Long Live Rock 'N Roll & New Music" program involving 126 catalog items, including recent better sellers like Def Leppard, Dexys Midnight Runners and ABC, as well as hot prospects like The Call, Martin Briley, Jon Butcher Axis and Tears For Fears. A generic poster has been developed for the campaign, but regular trim fronts have been sent out so that dealers can tailor their displays according to their individual markets.

Giselle Minoli, director of customer merchandising for CBS Records, listed many prominent rock, R&B and country artists with new or forthcoming product that would be backed by regular artist posters and flats. "If something catches on, then we go back and regroup," she stated, echoing Atlantic's Cooper. One regrouping is already taking place, and is in support of Julio Iglesias' surprising "Julio" U.S. album. "In response to the tremendous enthusiasm over him caused by his TV appearances and press coverage, 'Julio' is now a priority record in the field," Minoli reported, adding that the large New York Iglesias bus stop posters have recently been reduced and sent out to retailers along with more flats.

Big Promos Ahead

CBS is also mightily backing new product by Men At Work and Pink Floyd and is preparing for the forthcoming Jane Fonda exercise record for pregnant women. The company has created two Men At Work artist posters sized 33"x48", a size usually reserved for superstar acts. A double-sided mobile of the "Cargo" LP's biplane is the first mobile put out by CBS in three years, according to Minoli. As for Pink Floyd's "The Final Cut," two superstar-sized posters have also been created, along with die-cut standups of the soldier pictured on the back of the LP, with the cassette box attached.

The Pink Floyd cassette attachment is part of a concerted effort by CBS to key in on cassette merchandising together with the LP. Both the Men At Work and Fonda cassettes and records are being double merchandised on easelback displays. Double column rack header cards for regular album bins are also available with the cassettes attached for all three releases.

Cassette merchandising is being addressed in the Warner Bros. marketing plans supporting current product as well. "A few months ago, we made floor standing browser boxes for holding records and 6"x12" cassette boxes," said national merchandising manager Jim Wagner. "We have now devised header cards for the new Rod Stewart and George Benson 6"x12" cassettes, which can also fit right into existing fixtures. Generic 6"x12" cards are also available now to fit into our wire racks for that product, and include the two new releases and the earlier ones for Christopher Cross, Al Jarreau and Z.Z. Top."

Wagner said that various posters and buttons would be made to support some 20 major releases forthcoming between now and May 25, including a Rickie Lee Jones poster for her 10-inch LP that she designed herself. He also described an innovative concept in merchandising the new Talking Heads LP, due out on June 1. The first 50,000 copies will come in special clear plastic packages designed by the artist Richard Rauschenberg, which brings the printing on the disc into and out of focus when turned.

To celebrate Motown's 25th anniversary, the label has a discount and merchandising program on over 150 selected catalog items that will last from now through Black Music Month in June. Miller London, vice president of sales, said that five different posters were shipped to stores recently, including a cassette poster, multiple new release poster; a historic "Motown: Yesterday & Today" poster; a set of "butcher block" posters with five 18"x12" sections highlighting various product types than can either be displayed together or separately; and a poster featuring the artists appearing on the May 16 NBC-TV Motown anniversary special.

Anthology Set

To further celebrate the anniversary, special anthology sets are being released and parties are being planned in major cities for dealers and radio personnel to watch the program. In addition, "Ask me about Motown's 25th Anniversary Special" buttons are being supplied to store clerks, and Motown sales staffers will visit stores and hand over silver dollars to clerks wearing them in honor of the silver anniversary.

To support Millennium's forthcoming "Makin' The Point" LP by Franke & The Knockouts, the label's director of marketing and artist development, Andrew Frances, said that display pieces would center on the red-and-white dice album cover picture. He said that a large number of in-store play copies would be made available, and that branch distribution and consumer contests are in the works with prizes being trips to Atlantic City or Las Vegas. Frances also wants to send group leader Franke Previte out on a "video tour" prior to a concert tour. "He can do local talk shows and bring along his video the way that actors go around selling their new films," explained Frances.

Vince Cosgrave, vice president of marketing for MCA Records, joined Bolan in extolling the benefits of the $6.98 list, which is the price of the label's first "premiere editions" in new product from The Fixx and Allen Collins Band (Cash Box, April 23). He added that this price point, which will be noted in a heavy print and radio ad schedule, is a first for the label.

Cosgrave also mentioned the phenomenon of the Olivia Newton-John "Greatest Hits, Vol. 2" package, which has been on the charts for 32 weeks but is currently being promoted via a TV mail-order fulfillment campaign. "While we are trying to reach the great passive market out there, we also hoped for a spillover into retail. It must be happening because the album is moving up on the charts again."

Cosgrave said that further promotional plans were being firming on such additional soon-to-be-released product. At Warner Bros., Wagner found himself faced with the "very fortunate problem" of coping with so much strong product.

"Trying to find where to get all this stuff in the stores is a real trip," said Wagner. He added that all eight WEA branch marketing coordinators recently met in attempting to "prioritize the artists and figure out who gets ranking over what in the first week, the second week, and so on."

Concluded Wagner, "We wish we had this problem all the time."

REED FEED — RCA recording artist Lou Reed recently visited France, Great Britain, Holland and Italy in a round of promotional activities in support of his new album, "Legendary Hearts." Pictured standing at an RCA reception in Amsterdam are (l-r): Tiber Benhardt, manager, promotion and press, RCA Holland; J.P. ## PolyGram Canada Backs Pan Flutists Zamfir, Crishan

by Jan Plater

TORONTO — PolyGram Inc. (Canada) reports it's enjoying tremendous success with internationally renowned pan flutist Gheorghe Zamfir. Though albums by Zamfir have been released the world over, his greatest recognition has been achieved right here in Canada.

Total sales of his four records are now approaching one million units and still moving out in the thousands every week. His most recent recording, "Romance," is now over platinum, as are the albums "Solitude" and "Tranquility." Meanwhile, the first release, "The Lonely Shepherd," has now achieved well over triple platinum status.

Hoping to follow up on the popularity of Zamfir and the pan flute with Canadian audiences, PolyGram has just introduced Horea Crishan domestically with release of his album, "The Magic Of The Pan Flute."

Rumanian-born like Zamfir, Crishan was schooled in the pan flute's musical tradition from an early age. In 1971, he fled his homeland and settled in Hamburg, West Germany. There he honed his talents for two years with the Hamburg Philharmonic before moving on to the prestigious North German Radio Symphony Orchestra with which he has performed for the last 10 years. While rehearsing for this album, one of the tracks he was working on came to the attention of James Last, who suggested they record it together. Crishan agreed, and they scored a major European hit with the single "Bluebird."

WEA U.K. Testing Compilation LP At Retail

LONDON — Following sales success of a direct-response TV marketed compilation LP "Laughter And Tears," WEA Records U.K. is set to release the package as a conventional record/cassette, re-titled "The Laughter And Tears Collection."

The album's conventional release will be backed by a substantial full-scale television campaign with peak time spots booked for May 3 in the London area, followed by a national roll-out throughout May and June.

WEA marketing manager Stewart Till said: "The direct-response LP was an enormous success, and it became clear that many people would be attracted to the album if it was in the shops. We thus decided to give it a conventional release. Our campaign commences in the London area as it was here that the direct-response project achieved the most success."

The LP includes international artists Randy Crawford, George Benson, Roberta Flack, Rose Royce, Chic, Percy Sledge, Fern Kinney, Patti Austin and James Ingram.

MIGUEL MUGS FOR ANDY — CBS recording artist and European singer Miguel Rose (l) got together with photographer/artist Andy Warhol recently, and now Andy's doing covers for Rose's forthcoming foreign language LPs as well as producing video clips in support of the albums.

INTERNATIONAL DATELINE

Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — EMI has already started distributing the Interdisc product, four days after the signature of the arrangement covering the entire country. The first negotiations had been related only to the interior of the country, leaving Buenos Aires and its neighborhood to the Interdisc sales force; under the present agreement, the whole market will be serviced by EMI, with Ruben Aprile concentrating his efforts on development of product and promotion of artists.

Regarding EMI, its managing director, Luis Aguado, will travel to Spain on May 10 to take charge of the Spanish branch in Barcelona, whose current manager, Pierre Maget, is retiring. His post is being taken here by Roberto Altuna, with the Chilean branch in Santiago reporting also to him.

CBS artist Marla Martha Serra Lima has been appearing at the Odeon theatre before the start of her tour to the United States, where she will appear in Miami and New York. The company is readying her new album, which will be launched at the same time in other Latin American countries. There are also several international albums due: Weather Report, Earth, Wind & Fire and the winner of several Grammy awards, "Toto IV." miguel smirnoff

Canada

TORONTO — Two major new concert facilities for the Toronto area were unveiled in April. Concert Prods. International (CPI) and the Canadian National Exhibition announced a joint venture in presenting a summer concert series at the Bandshell located on the exhibition grounds. The outdoor venue will accommodate 15,000 plus and feature MOR, rock and country acts, plus a few theatrical stage productions. Acts already slated for appearances include Chicago, Peter Gabriel, Eddie Rabbitt, Al Jarreau, Sheena Easton, Joan Armatrading and a Guess Who reunion. CPI plans to book about 30 dates stretching into the fall.

This came just two weeks after a concert series was announced for the Kingswood Music Theatre at Canada's Wonderland. They play to schedule about 70 acts through the summer season. Bookings will be handled by the New York- and Los Angeles-based agency, James Nederlander Assoc. Competition between these two venues and the Ontario Place Forum should be fierce, as there will be major concert production just about every night this summer.

MILAN — The second edition of "Azzurro," the song contest organized by Vittorio Salvetti, will take place in Bari from May 6-8 with the sponsorship of AFI (Assn. of the Phonographic Industry in Italy). The event will be attended by 70 artists, among them Ph.D., the Imagination, Franco Battiato, the Matia Bazar, Raffaella Carrà, Umberto Tozzi, Miguel Bose and others.

Sergio De Gennaro, president of Panarecord, announced the signing of many distribution agreements with national and international labels. Among the Italian companies are the classical-oriented Thema (with a catalog of 40 titles) and the rock-oriented Suono Record, created by Tony Tashnato. New foreign labels that will be represented on the Italian market by Panarecord are the British label Magnet and the Canadian label Quality.

The La Blonda brothers, formerly producers and artists connected with Baby Records, have created their own label, Blonde Records, which will be distributed by CBS Dischi. mario de luigi

United Kingdom

LONDON — Dire Straits and Duran Duran have been confirmed to headline this year's Prince's Trust Rock Gala Concert in the presence of HRH Prince Charles and The Princess of Wales. The two groups are reputed to be Princess Diana's favorites, and the event, which is sponsored by the British Phonographic Industry (BPI) will take place at London's Dominion Theatre on July 20.

Apart from entertaining royalty, BPI is about to embark on an extensive national and music press, television and radio campaign to warn the U.K. public about the latest wave of pirate tapes that are flooding the country in street markets across the land. The latest pirated cassettes feature acts including Men At Work, Michael Jackson, Culture Club, Dire Straits, Eddy Grant and Duran Duran. A five-point BPI plan compiled to help consumers identify the boot-legged material will be broadcast nationally. BPI director general John Deacon said: "We are concerned that many consumers are unaware that they have purchased pirates and think that it is the legitimate record companies that are releasing poor quality products."

EMI Records has just released a single from Pink Floyd's latest chart album, "The Final Cut." The single "Not Now John" has been released on both 7-inch and 12-inch formats with a B-side featuring "The Hero's Return Parts I And II." Part II is a previously unreleased track ... Nazla and Zohab Hassan, a teenage brother and sister duo from Karachi, have recorded a synthesized version of the song that made them superstars in the Third World, "Dreamer Deevani." The song was #1 in India for 13 months and charted in several South and Central American countries. EMI is releasing the track with English lyrics May 3. The single was produced by Sal Solo of Classix Nouveaux and features Nazia and Zohab on vocals. nick underwood vention in Miami Beach, Fla., pledged $100,000 in support funds for a program that would promote the indie web and sway recognized labels from the branch fold.

"There is a synthesis of distributors now," remarked George Hocutt, head of the L.A.-based California Record Distributors. "There are fewer distributors covering more territory with a greater volume of product now. I'm bullish on the future of indies."

California Record Distributors, Hocutt explained, has expanded its territorial coverage by opening an office in Berkeley, Calif., filling the void left by the closure of Pacific Records and Tapes recently. The company already has offices in its home base of L.A. and in Seattle.

At Dallas-based Big State Distribution, general manager Bill Emerson also said that prospects for growth territorially, and also for gaining more label accounts, were good.

Emerson said that because competition in his company's territory — which covers Texas, Oklahoma, Northern Louisiana, parts of Colorado and New Mexico — has essentially departed with the closure of Pickwick, labels such as Prelude, Palo Alto, Concord Jazz and Beverly Glen were now searching for viable independent distribution in the markets Pickwick previously covered.

New Customers

The indie distrib executive also said, "There might be an infusion of established labels dissatisfied with their branch distribution arrangement who will seek out independent distribution, especially after they see how successful some of the other labels are through the indie network."

Emerson was one of the distributors that saw the opening of a West Coast branch as a positive step. "Motown felt it was the best alternative available to them, and I happen to agree," he said.

In addition to existing promotion/sales staff in the three major markets — three people in L.A., and one each in San Francisco and Seattle — Motown recently named former Pickwick L.A. branch manager Bill Shaler general manager of Together's operations.

In a prepared statement, Shaler commented, "I'm extremely excited about the new association. It will be only a matter of a few days before we are announcing distribution of other labels."

The company has already tapped Boardwalk as an account for the West Coast (Cash Box, April 30), and according to Miller London, vice president of sales at Motown, other labels left in a quandary by Pickwick's shuttering have expressed interest in a distribution arrangement with Together.

London said that although other independent distributors had expressed an interest in stretching their coverage into the California market (considered one of the most lucrative by the industry), none have made a move to do so because of the problems with opening an independent branch as "an absentee owner."

Hocutt concurred, noting that absentee ownership was at the root of Pickwick's problems. "The Pickwick situation was inevitable," he said. "With Pickwick, they expected to make money with their branch operation; black ink was the bottom line for that company."

"But in the chain made up of the manufacturer, distributor and retailer, the distributor nets the lowest profit," he continued. "With the major branch operations, the branches are a supplement to the manufacturing arm of the company, which is supposed to make the money. As long as the branches don't operate at a loss, then branches are viable for the majors."

Commenting further on the viability of the indie distribution web, Emerson noted that advantages for the labels included receiving more money from product sales, greater contact with members of each distribution company. "It's not really true that indies don't pay their labels," he remarked. "If they didn't they wouldn't be in business."

"Besides," Emerson continued, "when a label has a P&D (pressing and distribution) deal with a major, it only gets paid every five months, because the majors usually hold the money as a hedge against returns."

He said that, as an independent, he can fill the pipeline with product by a new label, and if the reorder pattern is not brisk, there is a possibility that he will withhold payments in anticipation of returns. "Some of these new companies that have only one piece of product out, and if we aren't sure they are going to release any more, they may not receive their money right away," Emerson said. "But companies we've worked with for awhile, and know that they are going to be shipping us some new product soon, if they have returns we know that we can use up the credit on the new releases."

Greater Control

Hocutt pointed out that independent distribution permitted labels to retain greater control over their product, and offered that as a reason for Motown opening a West Coast branch. "Motown's real needs in that market was to gain more control over their product," he said. And unlike other dealers, Hocutt believed that "if the West Coast operation is successful, it wouldn't surprise me to see Motown try a branch elsewhere."

But Harvey Korman, head of the Cleveland-based Piks Corp., which covers Michigan, Ohio, west Pennsylvania, western New York, western West Virginia and northern Kentucky, said, "I think at this point and at this date, Motown is totally committed to independent distribution."

Korman continued that he anticipated a resurgence of the independent network, as some established, recognized labels selling product through the branches have expressed interest in the indie web.

Despite the optimism expressed by many distributors, the departure of Arista and Chrysalis from the indie ranks raised the ire of some enough to consider legal action. One such company was Schwartz Bros., which filed a $5 million suit in the State Circuit Court for Prince George's County, Md., charging Arista and RCA with a breach of contract, fraudulent conduct, unfair competition and contractual interference and conspiracy (Cash Box, April 30).

WELL, WE'RE LIVING HERE IN BOWIETOWN — David Bowie's Swedish fans camped out for days in tents, cardboard boxes and other makeshift shacks while waiting to buy tickets for the Thin White Duke's Gothenberg gig. When the box office opened, 70,000 tickets were grabbed up in a little over an hour and a half. The encampment was so packed with fans of the artist that local police nicknamed the area "Bowietown."

"I've wanted to get away from this a bit," says Mackay, referring to his fusion work, "and get back into more of a rock 'n' roll thing. Of the 50 or so albums I've worked on 25 have been fusion."

To Mackay, the major difference between producing fusion and rock is in the ways in which the two types of musicians approach not only their craft, or style of playing, but the recording process as well.

"Fusion artists, for one, will never give you a tape ahead of time," he explains. "There is so much energy released in the studio that, in many cases, they'd prefer to create spontaneously. On the other hand, with a rock artist like Pat Travers, for example, he'll give me a tape in advance and a week to ten days before we go into the studio we'll go into pre-production. We know exactly what's going to be laid down by the time the tape starts running."

There is one other big difference, according to Mackay.

"Fusion artists such as Stanley Clarke and Chick Corea are playing for other musicians as much as record buyers," he notes. "For example, with the new A! DiMeola LP, we were looking for something a little different from what he's done in the past, something more along the type of work that Peter Gabriel's been doing. We'd gotten Phil Collins for one track, and we had Bill Bruford and Tony Levin playing, too. But at one point, we were listening to the tracks and Al said, 'Dennis, I'm not playing very much.' It wasn't necessarily an ego thing, it's just that he was thinking that he might be alienating a portion of his audience, those people who read Guitar Player or down beat and play themselves."

DREAMING WITH FIRE — Grammy and Tony award winning performer Jennifer Holliday (l) has been in The Complex studios in L.A. with Earth, Wind & Fire proponent Maurice White (r), who is producing her debut LP for Geffen Records.

Despite the fact that he'd like to branch out into more rock LPs, Mackay remains a big enough fan of fusion to have spent half his career working in it. He respects and admires recognized experts like DiMeola enough to have worked on seven albums with him.

"Al is totally dedicated to his music, an absolute perfectionist," he enthuses. "For instance, we went to Maui for a week's vacation together and he drags me into a bathroom to play a melody for 30 seconds so I can hear it under the right acoustical conditions. On his vacation! He's always thinking about his music."

Although concentrating on producing, Mackay still engineers much of the time. He began engineering at London's Trident Studios, under Scott's tutelage for three of the seven years he was there. In addition to Bowie, he worked on LPs by guitarist Mick Ronson ("Slaughter On 10th Avenue," "Play Don't Worry"), Mahavishnu Orchestra (all albums from "Birds Of Fire" onward), Supertramp ("I recorded the strings on 'Crime of the Century'") Billy Cobham, and Average White Band, among others.

"The first call I received to both co-produce and engineer was from John McLaughlin for his 'Inner Worlds' album," Mackay recalls. "We did it at the Chateau and they'd just wired it so there were a lot of problems, soundwise. But you can't tell people who are fans of the album that."

During the mid-'70s, he co-produced and/or engineered albums by the likes of (RTF's) Lenny White, Tommy Bolin, Brand X, Jeff Beck, Stomu Yamashta & Steve Winwood, in addition to McLaughlin, Cobham, Return To Forever, Alphonso Johnson and others in the fusion vein. After producing Pat Travers' "Putting It Straight" LP in '77, Mackay would do increasingly more rock production work, for Judas Priest ("Stained Class"), Jack Bruce, Ironhorse, Kayak and others.

In fact, he worked at Randy Bachman's Legend Studios in the state of Washington for two years, from 1980 to 1981, before moving down to L.A., where he is based right now.

Senate Hearings On Rentals Begin

Stanley Gortikov, president of the Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA), warned that the movement was growing, termed it "parasitical." He noted that revenues from rentals is denied musicians and vocalists, composers and publishers "and those who own copyrights." Rental shops, he said, "merely feed off the talent and investment of others, jeopardizing jobs, careers and music itself." Salvatore T. Chiantia, president of the National Music Publishers Assn. (NMPA), told of 1,600 rental shops in Japan and the fact that record sales are down 30% in that country, due to rental practice. John Marmaduke, representing the National Assn. of Music Merchandisers (NARM), called record rentals "unfair and unethical competition," added that record rental shops "pirate our creative works by renting for their own commercial gain and avoiding all royalties to others." George David Weiss, a songwriter representing the American Guild of Authors and Composers (AGAC), expressed support for the suggested legislation.

The hearing was concerned principally with the videocassette rental business. Legislation to confer authority on copyright owners over this method of retailing was urged by Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America (MPAA), and representatives of major Hollywood studios engaged in making videocassettes

Pirates Nabbed

NEW YORK — FBI raids April 28 on locations in New Jersey, Connecticut and Arkansas netted suspected pirated and counterfeit material with an estimated value in loss prevention of over $5.6 million.

The biggest haul was made on the premises of American Tape Corp., a tape duplicating plant in Richfield, N.J., which also does business as Radiant Records. Approximately 300,000 suspect cassettes, 8-tracks, and LPs were seized along with master tapes and certain manufacturing parts. The FBI estimated that the total value would exceed $5 million in loss prevention.

At the premises of record and tape wholesaler Crazy Horse Records Inc. in Stamford, Conn., over 83,000 suspect cassettes and 8-tracks were taken, with an estimated loss prevention value of over $600,000.

At the premises of Last Chance Records in Little Rock, Ark., which is also a wholesaler, approximately 10,000 suspect cassettes and 8-tracks were taken. No estimate in loss prevention has been made yet, but at the usual $7 per unit estimate rate, the seizure would be valued in the $70,000 range.

of movies. Valenti claimed that the market for videocassettes today is "artificially restricted"; and noted that the rental market is growing "explosively." He claimed enactment of the first sale revision would "widen consumer choices and lower consumer prices." The premise that prices would be lowered if the first sale doctrine was repealed were made by Mel Harris, Paramount; Peter Nolan, Disney, and Stephen Roberts, 20th Century-Fox.

Strenuous opposition to the proposed legislation was voiced by Wayman and others representing the Home Recording Rights Coalition. Wayman's point was that if the first sale doctrine is repealed, prices for cassettes and for rentals would go up, and in some cases, rentals would be eliminated. He noted that when movie producers reduced prices on videocassettes, sales went up.

Joining Wayman were the Rev. Robert J. McEwen, professor of economics at Boston College and a co-founder of the Consumer Federation of America, who contended that the proposed legislation would give Hollywood "total control over what people get to see and how they get to see it." He said prices would go up. Nina W. Cornell, Washington economist, reiterated that passage of the legislation would give movie companies "decisive" control over the market. Profits might increase for the movie companies, she said, but the retailer and consumer would suffer. And Prof. Harry First, New York University law professor, warned that permitting movie producers to decide on rental practices would be transforming what is currently a competitive retail market into a mirror of "the movie industry's film oligopoly."

Spokesmen for retailers were split. Frank R. Barnako, president of the Video Software Dealers Assn. (VSDA), called the right of first sale the "cornerstone of video software retailing, which depends heavily on cassette rentals for its economic viability." The movie studios, he said, "are simply greedy." The opposite position was taken by Ron Berger, of the National Video Inc. chain, headquartered in Portland, Ore. He urged support for the legislation, contended that passage would be beneficial not only to the copyright owners but also to the retailers and consumers.

Although Sen. Mathias was present virtually throughout the three-hour hearing, he was joined for part of the time by Democratic Sens. Dennis DiConcini (Arizona) and Patrick J. Leahy (Vermont). DiConcini grilled proponents of passage of the bills, noting that there were implications that it would be injurious to retailers and consumers. Leahy castigated Wayman for what the Senator called "deceptions, dishonesty, and deceit" on the part of the Coalition.

Lawndale, Calif.'s favorite punksters, Black Flag, hamstrung by a continuing lawsuit with Unicorn Records, has finally released its double-album package of out-takes and assorted versions of previously released songs from the band's checkered career. According to band spokesman Greg Ginn, "We have 15,000 covers stored with the words 'Black Flag' on them," which have either been erased or covered up on those copies issued on BF's own SST label. The court hasn't made a determination about the case," said Ginn, but he remains confident that whenever it is resolved the outcome will be in the band's favor . . . Entitled Rock-A-Billy "Glamourcize", the program, a May release, will carry a suggested list of $41.95. Intra-Video is supporting the release of the videocassette with a variety of merchandising and display aids, including posters, one-sheets, T-shirts and Rock-A-Billy "Exerscarves" in the rock-a-billy colors, hot pink and black. ## AROUND THE ROUTE

by Camille Compasio

The Florida Amusement Vending Assn. (FAVA), its officers, executive director and legal counsel are to be commended for their combined efforts (along with membership back-up) in securing a very significant reduction of a proposed annual license fee for coin-operated machines — from $120 to five dollars per machine per year! This is indeed an accomplishment that serves to amplify the importance and the necessity for a State association. Everyone joined forces in this battle, with letters, phone calls and continuous monitoring at the state capital; a special sub-committee was formed, and the results, thankfully, were very favorable.

Modified 'Galaxians' Challenged

Court Backs Bally Midway's Right To Block 'Speed-Up' Kits

CHICAGO — Bally Manufacturing Corp. announced that its subsidiary, Bally Midway Mfg. Co., received a favorable ruling from the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit in Chicago, Ill., affirming its right as owner of the copyright in a video game to enjoin the sale of unauthorized speed-up kits for the copyrighted game.

The court, in this important decision, affirmed a lower court's ruling in the case of Midway Manufacturing Co. vs. Artic International, Inc. that a speeded-up "Galaxian" video game is a derivative work based upon the original Bally Galaxian game under the copyright laws. Creation of the speeded-up Galaxian derivative work was held to infringe Bally's rights as the copyright owner. The court further concluded that the owner and operator of a Bally Galaxian game who uses a speed-up kit on the game is a direct infringer of Bally's rights and liable for copyright infringement. Further, the court ruled, someone who sells the Galaxian speed-up kit is also liable as a contributory infringer.

Glenn K. Seidenfeld, Jr., vice president and general counsel of Bally, stated, "The court's opinion reiterated the view that video games are 'audiovisual works' eligible for copyright protection under the 1976 Copyright Act. In so holding, the court noted that 'every other Federal Court that has confronted this issue has reached the same conclusion.'"

Bally said it will continue active enforcement against infringers of its video games. Such infringers can be enjoined, as well as being held liable for damages, operating profits, attorneys' fees and costs. The court's opinion further strengthens the copyright owner's rights, according to Bally.

Atari, Williams Pact

CHICAGO — Atari, Inc. of Sunnyvale, Calif., and Williams Electronics, Inc. of Chicago, Ill., have jointly announced a long-term agreement by which Atari will have right of first refusal to market home video and computer games based on Williams' coin-operated amusement games. Financial details were not disclosed.

In related agreements, Atari has acquired the home video and computer rights to market "Moon Patrol" and "Joust," two popular arcade hits made by Williams.

Commenting on the agreement, Raymond E. Kassar, chairman and chief executive officer of Atari, said, "Williams' proven talent in game design has produced such hits as 'Defender' and 'Robotron.' We are confident that our arrangement with Williams will provide Atari the opportunity to market many new, exciting games for the home market."

release, as we learned from executive veepee Ira Bettelman. "Since the AOE, many new machines have been introduced and C.A. Robinson is aggressively testing each and every one, hoping to distinguish those that are worthy of the operator's investment." As for current hit sellers out there, Ira noted that "Atari's 'Pole Position' continues to be the top piece right now — with an assemblage of about a dozen other pieces that would all be classified in second place."

Nice hearing from Ev Dalrymple of Lieberman One Stop in Omaha. Although the firm closed the Omaha office a while back, Ev is still with the Lieberman organization and astutely servicing her accounts — as usual. She recently marked her 46th year in the record business, 31 of which have been spent with Lieberman! Felicitations, Ev!

Operator dialog. Jim Trucano of Black Hills Novelty in Gillette, Wyo. reports that his business is down about 10%-15%, in comparison to last year at this time, but he is not complaining, his feeling being that many of his colleagues are a lot worse off. It appears the "video bubble has burst," as Jim noted, which is a contributing factor to reduced collections for many operators. However, on his particular route pinballs are making a comeback that could even up the score. "Of the last 15 new amusement pieces we purchased, 10 were pinballs," he said, adding that the economically priced pins (recently released by Bally, Gottlieb and Williams) are a "great idea for the operator." Pool tables and shuffle alleys are on the upsurge at Black Hills Novelty, and even though jukeboxes are down a little compared to last year, they are still a "mainstay of the industry." In terms of R.O.I., Jim told us he took into consideration the five pieces that bring the best return on investment for him and the top two on the list were jukeboxes, the next two were pins and the fifth was video. What's in store for the remainder of the year, Cash Box asked? "Renewed interest in shuffle alleys, pins and music systems will cause a lot of the newer operators, who came in on the wave of the video games explosion, to fall by the wayside, while the solid core of operators will continue to survive. I am optimistic about the future of our business in the sense that we will be getting back to the basics of operating, which will be a much healthier atmosphere for all of us."

The April 7-10 FAVA State convention in Tampa, Fla., saw the usual full turnout of attendance and exhibitor participation. It is noted as one of the industry's most successful annual State functions. Of special significance this year was the outstanding line-up of service booths, sponsored by such firms as Atari, Bally Midway, Centuri, Gottlieb, Nintendo and Williams with service reps on hand to answer questions and assist attending operators.

SINGER'S FIRST SHOW — Singer's One Stop For Ops hosted an exhibit booth at the March 25-27 Amusement Operators Expo (AOE), held at the O'Hare Expo Center, which was a first for the prominent Chicago-based one-stop. As noted by company proxy Gus Tartol, Singer's participation served to exemplify the interest and support of some of the major record manufacturers for the jukebox operators and the recognition of their buying power in the singles market. Singer's exhibit was decked out with life-sized stand-up placards of prominent recording artists, posters and all sorts of colorful promotional paraphernalia along with promo copies of single records for jukebox operators. A number of record-biz reps came in from various areas of the country to spend time at the Singer's booth and meet some of the operators attending the convention. Pictured at the Singer's booth at AOE are Marty Hirsch, Singer's; Joe Polidor, director, marketing, country marketing, PolyGram Records; Gus Tartol, Jeff Tartol and Sharon Ciasnocha, Singer's; Scott Cameron, regional sales specialist, PolyGram; Mrs. Tom (Joan) Potter and Tom Potter, branch marketing manager, RCA Records; Jeff McGuire, territory manager, Capitol Records; Jim Scully, Midwest branch marketing manager, Columbia Records; and Ciasnocha and Hirsch, Singer's.

LOS ANGELES — Dynamo Corp. has committed to sponsor a national foosball tournament that will culminate with a World Foosball Championship, Nov. 19-21 in Chicago. The championship tournament will follow a series of local and regional contests to determine representation at the Chicago championships.

The local competitions will serve as preliminaries to the regional tournaments, which will be held in 16 major metropolitan areas across the country and feature nearly $50,000 in guaranteed prize money, with individual prizes ranging from $2,000-5,000. Winners in the regional tournaments, to begin in May, will qualify for the national championships.

To assist operators and locations with local promotions, Dynamo is making available, at

New Equipment

Space Wars

Cinematronics, Inc. of El Cajon, Calif., recently released its latest video game, "Cosmic Chasm," a space-themed, X-Y video housed in a totally new cabinet design. The model was sample-shipped to distributors in early April and subsequently put into full production at the factory.

The play theme enters on the Cosmic Chasm space station, which has been seized by a hostile enemy force. The player's mission is to maneuver a ship through the tunnels and chasms of the station to reach the central power core, and then destroy the core and escape, retracing the same path to the point of entry before the chain-reaction explosions destroy the entire station. The successful completion of this mission will lead to 23 new and greater challenges.

Points are scored by destroying enemy ships, completing the chasm and destroying the space station core. The player uses a thrust button to maneuver the ship, fire guns to fight the enemy and a shield to block the enemy attack.

The game's cabinetry and design, in brilliant graphics and bold color, reflect a complete departure from the factory's previous products.

Cosmic Chasm will be available through the firm's distributor network, and further information may be obtained by contacting Cinematronics, 1841 Friendship Drive, El Cajon, Calif. 92020.

Major League Thrills

The introduction of the new Bally Midway "Grand Slam" pinball machine was perfectly timed to coincide with the official opening of the baseball season. The factory displayed the new piece at the recently held Amusement Operators Expo (AOE) in Chicago to a very receptive convention audience.

Grand Slam's cabinetry and design characterize the favorite American pastime, which is further carried through in the play features of the game. Hits, runs, powerhouse play, the fly away target that was so successful in Bally's recent "Speakeasy" pingame and many other scoring features contribute to the appeal of this new model. Bally Midway has also enhanced it with an economical price tag.

When four play the game, the readout shows the first and second players' runs while they play, and flashes the runs for the third and fourth players when it's their turn at bat. All of the major league excitement of baseball comes alive in Grand Slam for the rookie as well as the pinball pro.

Further information about the new model may be obtained through factory distributors or by contacting Bally Midway Mfg. Co. at 10601 W. Belmont Ave., Franklin Park, Ill. 60131.

Going Home

The new Bally Midway video game "Kosmic Krooz'r" focuses on an extraterrestrial who can't phone home but must get there through an abundance of challenging obstacles along the way.

The main character is Krooz'r, and the player's mission is to get him back to his mothership, all the while dodging intergalactic obstacles on the way home. The hectic action makes for a very challenging and exciting experience. In accomplishing the feat, the player's timing must coincide with a lit up entry port so that Krooz'r can be beamed safely aboard; otherwise he could become lost in space.

The game will be available through factory distributors. Further information may be obtained by contacting Bally Midway Mfg. Co., 10601 W. Belmont Ave., Franklin Park, Ill. 60131.

Knowledge Game

Exidy has introduced a new "trivia I.Q."-type game called "Fax" at the March Amusement Operator's Exhibition (AOE) in Chicago. Fax challenges the quick reflexes and memory of players on subjects such as history, sports, entertainment and general knowledge. Two thousand questions are included with the game, and Exidy plans to provide readily available plug-in EPROMs with completely new questions at a nominal cost. "Solid state" technology, full color video graphics and animation, audio and durable lighted pushbutton control panels give the Q&A amusement a modern feel.

Operator options include time (one to four minutes), bonus time (16, 20, 30 or 40 seconds), bonus levels (10K-40K), and price per player. Four categories challenge the player, who can count on facing three different skill levels.

Exidy is located at 390 Java Drive in Sunnyvale, Calif. 94086. The company's telephone number is (408) 734-9410.

Multi-Conversion Kits

The new Data East "Multi Conversion Kit," unveiled by the company at a special Distributors Breakfast Meeting at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare on March 25 and previewed at the March 25-27 AOE convention in Chicago, allows operators to convert any low revenue producing raster monitor machine to the Data East Interchangeable Game System for under $1,345, depending on quantity, as noted by the company.

Unlike other game conversions that convert one dedicated game into another dedicated one, the Data East Multi Conversion Kit converts a dedicated game into an interchangeable game system, according to the company. Thus, by buying a Multi Conversion Kit, the operator is not converting to one game but converting to all of Data East's games, including such hits as "Burgertime" and "Bump 'N' Jump."

The Multi Conversion Kit consists of a compact Master P.C. Board Cage, a Micro Cassette Deck for inputting game software, Marquee and Minitor Plex Modifications, Control Panel Graphics and all necessary decals and harnesses to convert a low-revenue-producing machine into the Data East Interchangeable Game System. The company stressed that after this initial conversion, the operator only needs to buy a different Game Package to convert to yet another game.

A new Game Package costs between $395 and $495 depending on quantity and requires only five to ten minutes installation time. The Data East Game Package includes a game cassette (software), a key module (descrambler) and a marquee.

With a staff of 70 game designers from Data East-Japan, the firm is committed to the continued production of viable games to serve the more than 35,000 coin operated Data East Interchangeable Game System machines in use worldwide.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Data East Inc., 470 Gianni St., Santa Clara, Calif. 95050.

For The Kiddies

Comedy Cartoon Factory of Valley Stream, N.Y. is currently marketing a coin-operated cartoon unit, geared to the young set (ages four-to-ten) and featuring such popular cartoons as "Mighty Mouse," "Heckle & Jeckle" and "Deputy Dawg" in full sound and color. The model is encased in an arcade style cabinet measuring 2½'x2½'x7'. The firms run 2½ minutes each.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Comedy Cartoon Factory, Inc., 460 Sunrise Highway, Valley Stream, N.Y. 11580. The telephone number is (516) 872-9262.

test, sponsored by New-Way Sales Co. at the Wizard's Castle amusement center in London, Canada. Hundreds entered the contest, which was narrowed down to 30 for the play-offs on the popular Bally Midway game. Semi-finalists received Wizard's Castle Conquest Kits, consisting of concert tickets, hats, T-shirts, game cards and other items.

AL JARREAU'S MUSIC HELPS MAKE COLORFUL READING.

ColorSounds* is a unique combination of music and color that advances the reading capabilities of children. Instead of getting turned off to school because they can't read, kids master reading in an exciting new way... while listening to popular music.

Al Jarreau contributed one thousand dollars to support this special educational technique. And the Ampex Golden Reel Award made it possible. It's more than just another award. It's a thousand dollars to a charity named by artists receiving the honor.

For Al Jarreau, Breakin' Away was the album, Dawnbreaker and Garden Rake were the recording studios and the kids of ColorSounds were the winners.

So far, over a quarter of a million dollars in Golden Reel contributions have gone to designated charities. For children's diseases. The arts. Environmental associations. The needy.

Our warmest congratulations to Al Jarreau, Dawnbreaker, Garden Rake, and to all of the other fine recording professionals who've earned the Golden Reel Award.
