Cover Story

Having Fun For Real

The multi-faceted Maxi Priest continues to diversify his already panoramic sonic identity with his seventh album for Virgin Records, Man With The Fun. From Priest's reggae roots springs a many headed musical creation of mythical proportions that seems capable of helping him meet his goals of expanding his worldwide audience and to deepen appreciation of reggae on a global basis. Attack plans have included breaking Priest on two fronts—for urban audiences there is the cover of the classic "That Girl" featuring boombastic Grammy winner Shaggy, and reggae audiences get "Heartbreak Lover," featuring Beres Hammond and Buju Banton. Cash Box urban editor Peter Miro talked with Priest and Virgin Records about having fun while spreading the word.

Lee Ritenour, who helped shape the adult contemporary standard of fused jazz, has joined industry veterans Mark Wexler and Michael & Lori Fagien in a joint venture with Verve Records that will be known as i.e. music, a company that will be dedicated to expanding the audience for adult-oriented new music. Cash Box editor M.R. Martinez reports.

Lead Story

Teller Marches With Red Ant Entertainment

New company launches with $100 mil investment.

PROVING HIS CLOUT as a valuable music industry asset and a commodity in the high finance community, veteran industry leader Al Teller has joined forces with Wasserstein Perella Entertainment, Inc. to form Red Ant Entertainment, which boasts an envious $100 million war chest with which to start up the business. Teller, the former chairman of the MCA Music Entertainment Group and a key figure in that company's rise in the international market, will serve as chairman/CEO of the company, which will be based in Los Angeles and have offices in New York.

Wasserstein Perella Entertainment, a unit of the Wasserstein Perella Group, Inc.—a leading international investment bank—was the major contributor, bringing $75 million to the venture. The remaining $25 million coming from outside investors.

While the company plans to establish a beachhead on a number of entertainment fronts, Red Ant's hub will be an independent record label that will focus on the alternative and urban markets, with a country division on the drawing boards for the future. First releases from the new record label could come as soon as September, as Teller has been negotiating with several acts who have finished albums. As many as 12 to 15 titles could be released annually by the company over the first two years, especially after a Nashville presence is established in an anticipated 12 months. Although there has been wide speculation as to who Teller will ask to join him at Red Ant, no staffing has been set.

Also yet to be determined is the distribution conduit for Red Ant—major or independent—a decision that favors Red Ant's negotiating position given the high initial investment. Teller had been courted by some major companies, but was unsatisfied with the deals offered.

Plans to establish a presence in music publishing, acquisition of other record labels, the creation of music enterprises on the World Wide Web and the financing and production of music-oriented film projects are also facets of Red Ant's future.

"We have the utmost respect for Al Teller's executive talent and business record," commented Wasserstein Perella company chairman Bruce Wasserstein. "Red Ant represents an ideal platform for Teller, who is one of those rare talents able to maintain the delicate balance between artistic sensibility and business acumen."

For Teller, "Red Ant represents an exciting and unique opportunity to create a company from the ground up, and Wasserstein Perella is the ideal partner to work with in such a forward-thinking endeavor."

Growing companies is nothing new for the Harvard Business School graduate, who made the MCA music group the most profitable division under the MCA, Inc. banner while acquiring the Geffen and GRP labels and establishing MMEG as an international force on the way to 1994 grosses of $1.25 billion. MCA ambitiously opened companies in 25 countries over a two-year period.

He also has been the president of CBS Records, Columbia Records and United Artists Records.

Teller additionally has served on the board and executive committee of the Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA) and the board of the International Federation of Phonogram and Videogram Producers, in addition to acting as a board member and trustee to the Rock And Roll Hall of Fame.

■ Skip Bishop has been named sr. vp of promotion at MCA Records, where he will now be responsible for coordinating all radio promotion efforts for MCA and its associated labels, in addition to overseeing the promotion field staff. He comes to the company after 10 years at RCA Records, where he was most recently vp of pop promotion. Bishop joined RCA in 1986 as a local promo rep in Houston. Prior to RCA he spent 15 years in radio. ■ Randy Skinner as been appointed sr. vp of video production at Warner Bros. Records. Skinner began her career at the label in 1984 as manager of video, subsequently being named director of video, and in 1990 became vp of video. ■ Sony Music Entertainment's Legacy Records has announced appointments in its marketing and product management departments. Seth Rothstein has been named director of jazz marketing for the label, and in the newly-created post will be responsible for all Legacy jazz releases, including overseeing new jazz catalogue releases. Rothstein has worked in Europe in a variety of freelance production capacities for PolyGram since 1993, and first joined the company as a product manager for the Verve/PolyGram Jazz labels in 1986 before leaving in 1990 to become director of ECM Records in 1990. Mark Feldman has been appointed assoc. dir. of marketing for Legacy and will work closely with the Sony labels to oversee all components of new catalogue releases. Feldman previously served as assoc. dir. of new technology and business development for SME since 1994, and joined the company in 1993 as assoc. dir. of research and business development for Columbia Records. And Joy Gilbert has been named product manager for Legacy, where she will coordinate with the Sony labels and departments on all components of various catalogue releases. Prior to Legacy, Gilbert served as a marketing coordinator for Epic Records from 1993. She joined the Columbia House Company in 1990 as an administrative assistant. ■ BMI has announced a pair of promotions. Kamala Gordon has been promoted to dir. of writer/publisher relations for the performing rights organizations. Gordon now will assist songwriters and publishers in the administration of the music works as well as sign new affiliates. Prior to BMI, she worked in marketing and publicity at Uptown Records, Mercury Records and Midnight Songs. Leslie Morgan has been upped to dir. of art/production and was previously assoc. dir. of creative services for the organization. She will continue to coordinate design and production projects in addition to overseeing the design and production of exhibits, displays, etc. for promotional activity. Morgan worked at PolyGram Records, CBS Records and the New Music Seminar prior to joining BMI's corporate relations department in 1990. ■ Atlantic Records has named Dave Statman dir. of entertainment development. The post makes Statman responsible for generating new, creative avenues for artist exposure, including the development of specialized audio and video programming. He will conceive and produce the label's TV and radio spots and other promotional material. He previously served as Atlantic's producer for special projects, and joined the label in 1992 as a producer and copywriter in the creative services department. ■ Rejina Brown has been named marketing services manager for MCA Music Media Studios, which handles mastering, audio, restoration and post-production for the music and entertainment industries. Brown will handle marketing, sales and promotion for the studio. Prior to MCA, she was at Epic Records as national promotions manager and also held posts at Warner Bros. Records and Jobete Music.

APPLE COMPUTERS TAKE A BITE OF THE BIG APPLE: The summer in New York used to mean that a great splash of music would be heading out from the New Music Seminar. But since that gathering went belly-up two years ago the gap has been filled by a contender that is determined to bring music into the cyberworld, Macintosh New York Music Festival. The event was from July 14th to the 20th and included over 450 bands playing at venues across the city.

While its predecessor had numerous conferences and panel discussions the MacFest concentrated almost exclusively on live music, by selling week long passes for fifty dollars. Though many better known bands that had been scheduled to play pulled out, possibly due to the closeness of its bigger cousin, the College Music Journal Convention, which happens in less than two months, there was still a whole host of bands for people to get excited about.

Sunday night saw heavy action at The Cooler as ambient/psychedelic was the theme of the evening. Bardo Pond did its regular head-spinning low-key blast. The big draw was Experimental Audio Research whose recordings have featured members of My Bloody Valentine and other British luminaries. This night the pull was Sonic Boom formerly of Spaceman 3, currently in Spectrum. The lanky gaunt Englishman turned knobs on an ancient looking contraption with cables and sockets everywhere. He was joined by a bassist and drummer who had predetermined times to leave the stage as the piece went into an aural area that flowed between serene-to-hot coals.

The next evening saw the constantly changing Nectarine at Brownies unveil its new incarnation. The group has shed its college rock skin and entered a more oblique musical ground that drew the crowd toward the stage. Over at the Mercury Lounge the one-time frontman for the Dream Syndicate, Steve Wynn, was playing his first show with his new touring band. Sounding much like his older output of Velvet Underground-influenced music, Wynn was all smiles as he played before a packed house.

Mary Lou Lord played two different gigs on Tuesday night. The early set was at Coney Island High where she unveiled some new material that should be out in the not so distant future. Her indie/folk rock solo shows have endeared her to the audiences and this was no exception. On Wednesday at the Knitting Factory, Neutral Milk Hotel showed why it was one of the buzz bands of the festival. The group's infectious pop was brought home with a highly-energized off-kilter set which saw the unusual—an opening band getting an encore. Brownies was host to local faves Speedking which returned that day from a recording session with a new wave sound to fit its metal press vigor.

Thursday was for the Scissor Girls. Members of the Chicago-based band wore outlandish costumes, but delivered a show that was part punk and part theater and part undefinable at the Knitting Factory. The penultimate day had a large Atlanta scene over at The Cooler. Winning the event was the Rockateens with their triple ax attack and deep surf sound.

The homestretch had transplanted New Zealander Richard Davies doing a rare solo acoustic set at the Westbeth Theatre Center. Known for his lush sounding recordings Davies was more than able to translate his songs to one instrument. Glorium from Austin provided one of the highlights of the week at The Cooler. With a varied approach the group's intensity smoldered throughout the all too short time on stage. No doubt the band will be back as will the MacFest which has improved over last year and should continue to be a draw in the future.

ROCK THE VOTE recently held a news conference to announce the easiest way to register to vote yet: 1-800-REGISTER is a revolutionary new phone-in drive sponsored by RTV and 1-800-COLLECT, and is expected to deliver a half million new young voters. The event included appearances by Patti Rothberg and Nonchalant. A new series of radio ads will promote the 800 number and motivate young people to participate, with Seal, Nonchalant and members of The Cranberries, Dishwalla, Garbage, Lush and Mokenstef lending their support to the project.

LIKE THE JUDAS PRIEST TRIAL WASN'T ENOUGH: The parents of a California murder victim are suing Slayer, claiming the band's music influenced the killers. American Recordings and Slayer, understandably, have no comment. In the meantime, the band—which routinely sells out hefty-sized arenas—are supporting their new Undisputed Attitude punk covers disc with a club tour that's selling out instantaneously.

MISCELLANEOUS SIGNS OF MUSICAL LIFE: What do The Pharcyde, Jenny McCarthy, The Goo Goo Dolls and Tony Curtis have in common? They've all recently appeared on America OnLine. Arista chairman and all around legendary music biz figure Clive Davis is getting his own star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. MTV's Choose Or Lose political poll shows young voters are still mighty interested in Ross Perot, whom Tabitha Soren recently interviewed for MTV News...

OKAY, SO IT'S NOT EXACTLY WEST COAST: Chicago-area indie music scene types flocked to Columbia College for the Fourth Independent Label Festival July 26 and 27th. Sixteen Chicago clubs hosted showcases and networking parties. Topics for panels and workshops included such nuts-and-bolts topics as intellectual property protection and record company contracts; Pigface frontman Martin Atkins led a panel on touring, while bands as diverse as Southern Culture On The Skids, The Wesley Willis Fiasco and Pee Shy played showcase gigs. Members of Ministry and The Mekons also participated in the conference...A different kind of music festival, the Wounded Knee Creek Concert, will be held on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in the Badlands of South Dakota; the concert is sponsored by the Lakota Oyate'Ki North American Education Fund, Inc. to benefit Native American projects. Performers will include Carlos Santana, Buffy Sainte Marie, Steppenwolf and Dub Syndicate. Internet address: http://www.asis.com/sacred_hoop.

Maxi Priest: Don't Call Him Godfather

By Peter Miro

MAXI PRIEST RATES NO ordinary introduction. With comedian Richard Pryor was still doing his classic character, "Mudbone," the drawling ghetto philosopher who conjured larger-than-life tales with his wry wit: "Knew a singer once. A handsome island brotha from a large family raised in England. International star. Hardly ever home. Had dreadlocks reaching clear down to his knees, drove the ladies berserk. Voice flowed like it was nectar. He had to watch for hummingbirds when he sang 'cause they'd come from nowhere and hover around his lips for a drink. Bodies in the morgue pronounced D.O.A. would rise and walk if his songs was on the radio. He'd say, "'I just wanna be close to you,'" and they'd come. Hard sleepers who never heard of him woke up mouthing his lyrics verbatim that's word-for-word to you unsophisticates. His new album went gold in Japan in a month, and you ain't seen nuthin' til you seen Japanese Rasta Men, Bad Boys and Raggamuffins runnin' around with dreads of their own!"

Of course one can detect exaggeration in this account, but it's very slight. Virgin Records released reggae/soul/pop crooner Maxi Priest's seventh LP for the label, The Man With The Fun in Japan last May. Primarily produced by Robert Livingston, and Shaun "Sting" Pizzonia, the 15-track LP stretches Maxi's chops across soul, pop, reggae and R&B genres, something he's been doing since the success of his 1990 LP Bonafide, which yielded the hit "Close To You." With guest appearances by boombastic dancehall artists Shaggy, Chaka Demus & Pliers, Beres Hammond and Buju Banton, it went gold in a month's time, making his extended hiatus to record the project and previous tour schedule in the Far East reap early dividends. As for dreadlocked Japanese they're real. Maxi was very surprised to see them at first, but they're there, (along with Harley-Davidson motorcycle clubs, pompadoured '50's rock fanatics and saggy-trousered hip hop fans) But he's far from done. Maxi Priest is on a global mission. His focus and determination are slaved to his goal of tackling musical variety while strengthening worldwide audience bonds with reggae.

"What it is that I'm out to do is widen my audience and widen the audience for reggae music," Maxi explains. "I want to continue the work of Bob Marley, the 'Ambassador of Reggae.' I'm having an open mind in appreciating other people's music, and in wanting to carry the music around the world. From the styles he absorbed in his travels, he created music that went across the board. It's imbedded in a lot of hearts. I'm ready to tour around the world with this album."

Maxi went for an acoustic vibe during the album's planning stages. Once he'd ended his legal wrangles with his former management, the seeds of the album formed when he'd assembled songs that were built from the melody on up, "the old school way," he says, using acoustic guitar. Then he picked producers based on the genre of song, but he basically was out to be happy with himself, and not be caught in the straitjacket of trying to recapture the chartbound glory of "Close To You" with each tune. That's what dogged his '92 LP Fe Real, which had too many chefs to his liking. This time he's more involved, more assertive, without being auspicious about his role. "I think every artist...most creative artists...know they have to play a hand in creating the song. I'm very much involved."

The record buying public should respond to the "Unplugged" sensitivity of pop ballad "All Kinds Of People," Maxi's favorite, the soul ballads "Ain't It Enough" and the sensual "Won't Let It Slip Away." "Human Cry" throbs with emotive roots reggae power, while the party-oriented offerings like "Heartbreak Lover" and the remix of "That Girl" should satisfy the agile customers out there.

The U.S. marketing push for this project began at the end of April, well in advance of the LP's July 9 domestic release. Eric Ferris, director of product management, Virgin Records America described a marketing plan that first set up the project on the streets at college reggae parties, and reggae and dancehall clubs at the street level. "Heartbreak Lover" was released to that arena as a 12" vinyl disc, followed by "That Girl," the first single which teams dancehall star Shaggy and Maxi grooving to a sample of "Green Onions." A nimbly staged video featuring the pair with supermodel Beverly Peele added to the push. "She's cool, a very nice girl, very open, although she could be perceived in a different way," Maxi recalls of Peele on the set.

Thanks to an extensive radio push, the single is the #1 most added record on urban radio, and is still climbing. On the retail level, POP displays went out with the single, and co-op advertising will continue in Maxi Priest's touring markets, as he travels with Shaggy and Shabba Ranks commencing August 12. EMD Distribution Co. worked the single on the indie retailer front. "Maxi is adamant about getting to those people," comments Ferris. Maxi remains a strong catalog seller, as all his previous product still moves consistently. He's done well in the top seven retail markets in the U.S., among them New York, Los Angeles, Miami, San Francisco, Washington, and Boston.

Maxi is exceptionally modest about his musical gifts and influence on other artists, having boosted fellow "Housecall" artist Shabba Ranks to Grammy-level accolades on a previous tour, having employed Uptown/Universal artist Monifah as a backup singer and quietly founding start-up labels on his own time. "People have told me they've gotten more into me during my live performances than on some of my tracks. In Jamaica, they say that I'm one of the 'Godfathers' of reggae. I'm not into self-praise. I've been looked at as Bob Marley, as Marvin Gaye, as a 'Godfather.' But it's something I'd never say about myself."

One frontier remains for Maxi Priest. He'd like to try his hand in the rap arena as he did with his successful crossover into jazz with guitarist Lee Ritenour's cover of "Waiting In Vain" on which did the vocal honors. Maxi is very much attuned to the energy of the streets. Foxy Brown comes to mind as a potential singing partner. He admires the energy and skillful flows of the underground rap scene, and his tour with Shabba hippped rappers to his musical gifts. "I wish I could rap as good as some of these artists they have now. Who's that brother that goes 'YAH YAH YAAAAH YAH YAH...Busta Rhymes? I'd love to do a record with him. That's right up my street. If you know anybody, I'm interested."

Maxi is ready to pour the sweet nectar of his voice all over the world. Don't look for him to be home in England anytime soon, as The Man With The Fun excites music fans and hummingbirds alike.

ALBUM REVIEWS By Peter Miro

DR. DRE: First Round Knockout (Missing Link/Triple X 51226-2) Producers: Lonzo Williams, Dr. Dre

Lonzo Williams has put together a take-out feast of Dr. Dre's early scrumptious creations, recapping some of his old school turntable feats as well as R&B undertakings for Michel'le, Kokane and Rose Royce.

LITEFOOT: Good Day To Die (Red Vinyl RVR9607) Producers: Litefoot, Tony G, Klev

Cherokee rap artist Litefoot is no joke when it comes to hip hop science. His lyrics fall comfortably in the pocket of some bumping rhythm tracks, yet there is a stealthy undercurrent of Native American percussion adorning his cuts.

Spiritual mentors Crazy Horse and Geronimo ride once more in "On A Mission." Truth flies straight and true on "Willin' 2 Die," "Don't Call Me Hostile," and "My Land," tracks which will alter long-standing perceptions of how the West was lost.

MAXI PRIEST: Man With The Fun (Virgin 7243 8 41612 24) Producers: Gemma Corfield, Toby Ludwig, Robert Livingston

Golden-voiced reggae heartthrob Maxi Priest has global designs for his first LP in three years, reaching out to an international audience beyond his established R&B/pop following. Versatility is the key to this strongly charting collection.

PICK OF THE WEEK

VARIOUS ARTISTS: Phat Beach: Original Motion Picture Soundtrack (TVT/Blunt TVT 8020-2) Producers: Various.

A bevy of hip hop & R&B talent comprises the soundtrack to Phat Beach an upcoming hip hop beach comedy from Orion Pictures. It abounds with urban-formatted gems to close out the summer.

THE RHYTHM

By Peter Miro

The stars came out in Atlanta to celebrate the premiere of MGM/UA's motion picture release, Fled, starring Stephen Baldwin and Laurence Fishburne. Dallas Austin produced the accompanying Rowdy/Arista soundtrack showcasing original music by T-Boz from TLC, Tony Rich, Monica, Fishbone, Goodie Mob, T.Smith and others. Pictured are (l-r): Dallas Austin, soundtrack producer; Stephen Baldwin and Laurence Fishburne; T-Boz; MTV VJ Bill Bellamy.

THERE'S A LOT HAPPENING in producer/remixer Steve "Silk" Hurley's world far beyond the comfortable (and lucrative) cocoon he spun as a Chicago DJ and award-winning house music pioneer years ago. Demand for his production skill is approaching mammoth proportions in the R&B genre these days, and through his companies, Silk Productions, Silkone Songs, InDaSoul Records, and Silk Entertainment Management, he's proving equal to his increasing workload. Hurley's collaboration with RCA vocalist Chantay Savage on a novel reworking of Gloria Gaynor's disco classic "I Will Survive" earned a year's worth of advance airplay on Chicago's WGCI after Ms. Savage previewed the cut in an interview with Doug Banks. Following the success of her resulting album, "Silk" has been tapped for upcoming projects by Bloodstone, and the not-quite-disbanded En Vogue. His love for the female voice helped Perspective artist Ann Nesby's mighty shouts resonate on three tracks from her self-titled LP, and he's working on a track, "Set It Off," from an upcoming Jada Pinkett film. Robin S. and CeCe Peniston have also had tracks massaged this year. The solace Hurley derives from writing songs is rarer now, because remixes currently consume at least half of his schedule, with clients such as UK act Black Box and Keith Sweat. His long-standing fidelity to dance roots and "old school" R&B doesn't pigeonhole his opportunities, though sensibilities shaped by Parliament/Funkadelic, EWF, Ohio Players and Confunktion, are ingrained in the man. "I do see a lot of different types of music coming together within R&B, which makes it more exciting," comments Hurley. "A lot of the elements haven't changed. I'm still trying to capture the vibe of the 'old school.'" Watch for Hurley to match his inventive flair for original tracks with creative lyricists for his new artists-in-the-wings, while remaining open to fresh knowledge and ideas about his craft. "Besides having dedication," he says, "you still have something else to learn."

ADDRHYTHM: Restaurateur/producer Brad Johnson and retired NBA great Norm Nixon have formed a new management company, and recently signed popular rap/R&B trio TLC as their first client for radio, film, and television. Will the trio's LaFace Records contract remain in force? Discovery Records artist Doc Powell, guitarist of the hour with a #1 NAC single, performed an all-too-brief set at L.A.'s Wilton Theatre last week, part of a bill which featured trumpeter Rick Braun and Kansas City's best kept songstress Oleta Adams. Adams regaled the audience with her sumptuous vocal control and soulful range. Doc just had a blast in his own Nirvana zone, stretching out his notes on an improvised rendering of "Amazing Grace" before losing some of his backup vocals to the Wilton's frequently uneven sound mix. He deserved better, because people are still talking about the abysmal Rachele Ferrell/Will Downing sound mix that deterred Ms. Farrell from returning to that venue.

THE RHYME

By Peter Miro

Look Hear Sound & Vision director G. Thomas (far right) recently lensed the Westside Connection's "Bow Down" video at L.A.'s Raleigh Studios. W.C., ice Cube and Mac 10 (l-r) can be seen seated in giant thrones amid a party scene, with Cube's office in the video boasting a giant shark tank. G. Thomas has also directed videos for the Bums, Watts G's, Immature and has edited videos featuring M.C. Lyte, Dr. Dre, Tupac and Horace Brown.

POWERMOVE IN EFFECT: Cash Box mingled with good-spirited, house-rocking company at West L.A.-based PMP Records' recent single release party for Oaktown rappers Off Da Hook. The project was produced by E-40, Studio Tone and Doe, and has the mad cuts "The Remedy," "No Slang," and "Bitches." Refreshments flowed freely and copies of the rap duo's three-song promo cassette were circulated through the rooftop gathering, which was even more packed than the bash sister company LOUD Records threw for the Sadat X LP the previous week. Off Da Hook member Holy Quran passed out publicity shots with he and partner 2Wice framed against the sky. Quentin Tarantino-style. Off Da Hook recently completed their video shoot at a Lake Merritt Victorian house in Oakland, and their self-titled LP drops August 8. There's also a unique marketing wrinkle, a comic strip handout featuring the duo's adventures at a Players' Ball, thanks to a fairy Godfather's generosity (E-40), will go to 500 comic shops nationwide. The label is also keen on Anthony Bone's upcoming self-titled project which ships late July. "Cool 2 da Bone" is the first video and single release. Also available was the informative PMP Newsletter and copies of The Booty Crack an abjectly irreverent, scatologically raw Bay Area underground rap newspaper that bigs up the West Coast rap scene, and caters to a subversive, hard-core audience. On the social side, there were many fine ladies present worthy of illumination by male optical crosshairs sweeping the house, and a few of the slenderized, bare midriffed charmers had their mack on as well.

THIS WEEK'S HOT TICKET had to be the House of Blues Smokin' Grooves Tour with appearances by Fugees, Spearhead, Cypress Hill, Busta Rhymes and A Tribe Called Quest at the Universal Amphitheatre July 23/24, part of a national tour schedule. That's to say that even journalists had trouble getting tickets for the event. The press list was closed way too soon to accommodate all the press requests, which was a pity because all that high energy, alternative hip hop soul is the stuff columns and reviews are made of. Before leaving Will Call empty-handed, noticed a pair of twenty-one year old ladies with MCA passes dressed in white leather outfits, nicely painted, pierced and tattooed to perfection, looking prettier than jewels in a South African safe. At least they got in.

ADDRHYME: Priority Records extends its hip hop influence even further with recently announced distribution pacts. Wu Tang Clan's RZA will supply the label with upcoming releases from his Wu Tang Records label, which will bolster Priority's East Coast presence. Miami-based Neurodisc Records, a full-service indie that specializes in Miami Bass, Southern Rap and electro-dance music, completed a recent deal with Priority, which will handle all sales and manufacturing for Neurodisc releases and back catalog reissues.

Cherokee rapper/actor Litefoot (front) puts the finishing touches on his album, Good Day To Die, at the G-Spot studio with (rear, l-r) Foesum members T-Dubb and Glaze; Tony G, producer, KKBT-FM L.A.; and M&M. Red Vinyl Records is set to go for radio adds this month with the first single "N-D-N Summer."

Urban Singles Reviews

By Peter Miro

■ UNDERGROUND REBELLION: "50 Knock (Knock On Me)" (Treasure Line URB 196-4) Producers: Krush 4 Krushadelic Productions, Underground Rebellion, Craig Bryant.

This pair of scowling characters from Northern Cali's East Bay are dropping their acquisition ethic to a groove that draws stylistic breath from Roy Ayers. These lyrical bullets have a funky, melodic casing and are being distributed through INDI. Advance contains cuts "Major" and "Knockstramental."

■ VOODOU: "One Life To Live" b/w "Two Deadly Sins (f/ Mean Green)" (Patchwerk/Priority) Producer: Voodoo

After shaping sounds for Ras Kass and for his own crew Western HemisFear, Voodoo is out to settle the question of whether he's a rapper who produces or a producer who raps with his upcoming 8-song EP Dark Regions from which the above singles are featured. Donald Byrd-like choruses and jazz-influenced piano colorings give a Gregorian chant flavor to "One Life To Live." According to PatchWerk studio manager Curtis Daniel III, a video is in the script stage, and advance copies are being worked at the street level, college radio, mix shows and club DJ's to generate a buzz. Voodoo economically creates moods with the dramatic instincts of a film scorer.

■ WHODINI: "Keep Running Back" (So So Def/Columbia CSK 799) Producers: Jermaine Dupri, Carl-So-Lowe

Whodini will surprise urban programmers with their mackadocious slow jam set to a sweet chorus and sensual rhythm track, from their forthcoming LP Six. Its male crooner vibe is supported by Trey Lorenz, and helps place both the LP and remix edits squarely into the R&B/pop crossover camp.

Jazz Notes

i.e. music Launched

By M.R. Martinez

Executives of PolyGram Classics and Jazz and Verve Records and the founders of newly-formed i.e. music recently gathered at PolyGram's corporate headquarters in New York to celebrate the launch of a joint venture. Pictured at the gathering are (l-r): Chris Roberts, president of PolyGram Classics and Jazz worldwide; Lee Ritenour, acclaimed musician and creative director of i.e. music; Michael and Lori Fagien, i.e. music's creative marketing team; Mark Wexler, i.e. music president; and Chuck Mitchell, sr. vp/gm of Verve.

VERVE RECORDS AND MUSIC VETS Lee Ritenour, Mark Wexler and Michael & Lori Fagien have partnered in a long-term joint venture that will be known as i.e. music, billed as a company that will release adult-oriented product, with Ritenour leading the company's artistic development, Wexler handling daily operation and the Fagien's creating imaging and market positioning programs for the company.

i.e. music president Wexler said that terms of the agreement with PolyGram precluded discussion of financial details.

The new venture was unveiled recently by Wexler, Chris Thomas president of PolyGram Classics and Jazz worldwide and Verve sr. vp/gm Chuck Mitchell from PolyGram's corporate headquarters at Worldwide Plaza in New York, where the new company will be based. PolyGram Group Distribution will provide the pipeline for i.e. music product.

The label's debut releases are scheduled for '97 and consist of an all-star tribute to Antonio Carlos Jobim featuring the stellar cast of Herbie Hancock, Dave Grusin, Yellowjackets, Al Jarreau, El DeBarge and others to be named at a later date, and an album by saxophonist Eric Marienthal.

It is likely that the new company will reflect the panoramic perspective of its creative director, Ritenour, the iconic guitarist who helped weave the filament of adult contemporary music as a top session player, through 25 solo albums, a member of the Grammy-nominated group Fourplay and as a producer.

Wexler comes to i.e. music from GRP Records, where he was sr. vp overseeing the label's development, and is credited with a key role in the label's success and market stability.

The Fagiens bring an expansive background to the company, ranging from magazine publishing and radio consulting to marketing program design and live concert development. The duo founded JAZZIZ magazine in 1992, and honed the publication into an important marketing tool for label marketing efforts. Through the Milor Entertainment Group, Michael has designed creative programs for radio, retailers, online services, in-flight entertainment, jazz clubs and festivals with an aim toward attracting consumer activity. Lori has built a reputation through her work to attach sponsorship packages to major music events, including jazz festivals and concert series.

Also on board is Martha Lopez, a former executive at RCA Records who will serve as a label coordinator and help with the nuts and bolts marketing and promotion. Lopez and Wexler will be based in New York, Ritenour will work from his Los Angeles home base and the Fagiens will continue to operate from their Gainseville, FL headquarters.

Verve's Mitchell hailed the partnership as an opportunity for Verve to deepen its commitment to provide quality musical, visual and electronic product.

Wexler is "thrilled" about the partnership. "Lee, Michael, Lori and I have worked closely together on different sides of the fence for many years. In joining forces, we couldn't think of a better place to call i.e. music home than Verve Records. We are committed to creating a track record of quality and excellence which this association so represents."

"It is with great enthusiasm that we band together to form i.e. music," Ritenour commented. "I'm also excited to be in a position to work with established new talent to expand the music we love to a younger generation."

The Fagiens believe the venture is the "next logical step in our quest to create mass appeal for adult-oriented music. With Lee, Mark and the Verve family, we now have all bases covered to develop and implement more alternative, aggressive and creative ways to achieve this objective."

RIM SHOTS: Recently-bowed twenty-four hour jazz channel BET On Jazz: The Cable Jazz Channel (TM) recently signed an agreement with TCI Corporate, the nation's largest multi-system operator (MSO) to secure broadcast over the TCI Network through the year 2007. As the nation's only all jazz formatted channel, Bet Holdings Inc., the only black-owned cable net, has improved its reach into U.S. homes. More than one million domestic cable subscribers through nearly 30 cable systems will now carry the jazz programming. BET On Jazz offers performances, videos, in-studio interviews and performances, documentaries and other related news...The estate of the late jazz/blues singer Dinah Washington may be due $30,000 in performance royalties, according to the Chicago, IL-based law firm of Jay B. Ross and Associates, P.C. The firm has also learned that the estate of Louis Jordan has not received performance royalties on over 20 compositions from a major performing rights organization which has agreed in principle that an error in accounting has been made and that the payments were made to the wrong estate. Both estates, according to the law firm, would receive the monies in perpetuity after a final total is ascertained in the next week or two.

REVIEWS By Héctor Reséndez

■ MARCOS LLUNAS: Vida (Mercury, 314532114) Producer: Pablo Manavello. CONTEMPORARY-POP.

From Barcelona, Spain, vocalist Marcos Llunas delivers his third album for PolyGram, Vida (Life). The international singer first conquered entire nations, from the USA to Chile, in 1993 with hits like "Reconquistarte" and "Para Olvidar." His second album, Pile a Piel was received favorably. Renowned producer, Pablo Manavello, of Venezuela, lends his unique signature on this well-executed project. Expect to hear more from singer-songwriter Llunas and his heart-felt brand of life-inspired songs. Listen to his duet with songstress Tatiana on "Me Mata Tu Ausencia" and you'll agree.

On his latest album, No Boundaries, percussionist Wendell Rivera unleashes his brand of Afro-Cuban inspired rhythms co-mingled with American jazz inspirations. The unavoidable result is one fiery production bent on seducing any listener to some serious foot stompin' action! The Puerto Rican artist, whose musical family includes famed Sonora Ponceña vocalist, Yolanda Rivera, offers original material in a comfortable, yet familiar fashion. There are sensuous sounding numbers like "Amiga" and the full-bodied "My Old Flame." Rivera then swings with his salsa-tinged "Compartiremos" and ends with the hypnotic "Festival in San Anton." This is Latin jazz at its best, and then some!

That's right! It's salsa and urban. Or, Latino with an attitude. Born in the barrio of New York, the dynamic duo known as Tres Equis (Triple X) take the traditional rhythms of salsa and interject their brand of reggae, hip-hop and house en Español, or en Inglés. Aside from the cool treatment by guest salsa icons Tito Nieves, Miles Peña and Guianko on "Ritmo, Sabor y Salsa" and the exquisite female vocalizing by Chrissy "La Ci," Maggie and Jillian on "Vine Pa' Gozar," Tres Equis reveals itself as a force to be reckoned with in today's Latin jungle and tomorrow's world. But, is it ready for the first Colombian-flavored rap song (Monta Perrito)? Only time (in the jungle) will tell. Bring your attitude.

The first Descarga Boricua album sent seismic ripples throughout the Salsa and Latin jazz music community. Producer Fran' Ferrer has always been known as being one of the foremost artists of contemporary Afro-Cuban music. With his second project, he seems intent on scrambling minds in his usual, but highly creative way. Let it be known that Descarga Boricua, whether I or II, is not meant for the weak at heart or newly initiated souls to Latin music. Ferrer and his band of musical magicians will relentlessly slam you with their incredible blend of traditional Afro-Cuban rhythms with Latin jazz-laced and Salsa elements. All in an improvised, yet explosive fashion. The artists involved reads like a who's who in Latin music. How else would Maestro Ferrer have it? The original and its sequel are predestined classics. If you buy only one album this year, this has to be the undisputed choice!

THE LATIN LOWDOWN

News From U.S. & Latin America

By Hector Resendez

LUCERO, AMERICA'S SWEET-HEART, TRIUMPHS IN LOS ANGELES: Launching her USA 1996 Tour at the Universal Amphitheatre on July 13, singer-actress Lucero gave her all to an adoring SRO crowd. She's affectionately known as "America's Sweetheart" and for good reason. Most of Mexico and Latin America has seen this talented beauty grow up from a child star of ten to being one of the most radiant 25-year old sensations in Latin American entertainment today.

Lucero recently completed her hugely successful and widely acclaimed role in the television soap opera, Lazos de Amor. The actress portrayed three different characters (triplets) with provocatively distinct personalities. Says Lucero, "People have come up to me saying that they enjoyed the evil character I played because it is so unlike my real personality. They liked seeing another side of me, one that was evil and plotting." The soap took first place among viewers in Mexico and the United States.

Says Lucero, "The role in Lazos de Amor was very challenging because it involved three distinct characters...there was three different hairstyles, makeup, clothes, of course the face was the same (she softly smiles)." What about a sequel? The actress definitely said there would not be one. "We're going to take a rest for two years or so," says Lucero. "My next project will hopefully offer as interesting a story as Lazos did...it'll be difficult to surpass because well-written plots are very hard to find."

The actress-singer received numerous awards and recognition for her multi-faceted acting role and for her musical accomplishments as well. In Mexico, Lucero was awarded the "Best Actress of 1996" by Premio TV y Novelas. The TV network, Univisión, awarded her the Premio Lo Nuestro Award for the "Best in Latin Music, Female Artist of 1996" in the ballad-pop category.

For the past fifteen years, fans have witnessed the metamorphosis of this immensely popular artist. In 1980, Lucero first starred in various Televisa productions on the small screen like Chiquilladas or the soap-telenovela Chispita. To date, Lucero has twelve pop record albums including three of which were mariachi-oriented. Her first album was Te Prometo recorded in 1982. Her latest, Siempre Contigo, was released last year.

Says Lucero, "Right now, I am working on a new album which we expect to be released later this year. It will be a ballads album since we are alternating between ballads and mariachi music. The following album will be mariachi and that will be released by next April or May. I am very excited about it. I believe everybody will enjoy it because it is very good!" Rafael Pérez Botija, who produced her last album, will again work with Lucero on her new album.

Her last video, Palabras, was nominated for "Video of the Year for 1996." During the filming, Lucero performed her own stuntwork: she rode on top of a moving railroad locomotive as it crossed an old bridge in North Dakota. Would Lucero ever consider acting in an American film? "That would depend," she remarks. "I would be very interested and would consider it as an accomplishment in my career, but the type of film would have a lot to do with it. The character could not be one that is strong or heavy. It would need to be (a film) for the family. I like, for example, the work of Tom Cruise...he's a great actor...he plays great roles. I would like to play a role that goes along with my image." Part of that image for her, Lucero says, sometimes falls in conflict with being an actress as well as a singer. With singing, one can select their material, but with acting the role is pretty much predetermined.

Lucero has had tremendous success appearing on stages throughout the U.S., Mexico, Central and Southern America. She recently completed a duet with the legendary Paul Anka in Mexico City. "The song, a beautiful one called "You Are My Destiny" is a number that Paul wanted to do in Spanish." The just completed recording project, Amigos, will certainly be the most ambitious for not only Anka, but for Latin artists as well. Says Lucero, "The competition in the U.S. is so much heavier than that in Mexico. Little by little, (Latin) artists will have opportunities to enter into that arena. I enjoyed working with Paul who is one of the greats in the music world. It was a treat, a big honor because to work with someone of his stature is tremendous. He is one of the tops of all-time!"

Lucero will wrap up her concert tour in Southern California with dates late in the month in San Diego, Anaheim and Santa Clara. Lucero will appear in Las Vegas at the Dessert Inn Hotel on September 14 and 15.

Lucero.

ALBUM REVIEWS by Daina Darzin

■ LOVE IN REVERSE: I was here (Reprise 4/46221)

Gloomy, giant power chords make Love in Reverse a new Black Sabbath descendent, but a good one. "Super Car" goes for the dinosaur-on-a-rampage aggressive slowness, while the percussive, revved-up "Fugue" presents the sound after a coupla cups of coffee. An imaginative, wide ranging disc, the full-length debut of this New Jersey-based group, i was here, has a lot of possibilities, both in active rock radio and on the road. Love In Reverse has recently toured with Gravity Kills and Stabbing Westward, in addition to headlining club dates. The band will be receiving additional exposure soon—they're prominently featured in a segment about the music business on ABC-TV's Turning Point, with the episode to air during the November sweeps.

■ WEEN: 12 Golden Country Greats (Elektra 61909-2)

Perennial wisasses, critically acclaimed alterna-dudes Ween hired the best musicians available from the golden era of country music, including former sidemen for Elvis Presley, Roy Orbison and Willie Nelson. The result is a very charming, brilliant disc whose sound out-Grand-Oprys just about all contemporary country artists, but whose lyrics are as ironic and rude as ever. Sample titles: "Piss Up A Rope," "Help Me Scrape The Mucus Off My Brain" and "Japanese Cowboy." The band recently played two sold out nights at New York's MacFest with Nashville musicians, and a video is in the planning stages. Elektra Entertainment's Nashville branch, Asylum will be getting involved with the project, which the label hopes to service to both modern rock and handpicked traditional country stations (that have a good sense of humor).

■ NEUROTIC OUTSIDERS: Neurotic Outsiders (Maverick 2-46290-A)

The Neurotic Outsiders started out as a benefit jam to raise money for a friend with cancer, but has metamorphosed into a genuine supergroup, with Steve Jones (Sex Pistols), Duff McKagan and Matt Sorum (Guns N' Roses) and John Taylor (Duran Duran) bangin' out regular, nasty, not overly complicated rock n' roll. Interest in this Maverick release will undoubtedly be buoyed by Jones' participation in the current Sex Pistols tour. The first single, "Jerk," will be heading out to active rock and modern rock stations; the band plans to commence touring in September.

Okay, just how hard it is to get into the Rock N' Roll Hall of Fame AND land a Main Stage gig on Lollapalooza, before you've released a proper record? Psychotica managed just that (frontman Patrick Briggs' image is included with David Bowie and others in the extreme rockers display.) A performance art, pushing-the-boundaries outfit live, on record, Psychotica trade in dark, genuinely heavy rock n' roll, a sometimes dreamy, sometimes punkish undercurrent of thick sonic layers which sounds ever more complex with succeeding listens. "Little Prince" relaxes into a loopy, psychedelic swirl, while a cover of Devo's "Freedom of Choice" puts a bigger, more muscular drumbeat to a mix of assaultive guitars. Press darlings who have received unprecedented national coverage for such a new band, Psychotica's first single, the ominous, divebomb guitar-happy "Ice Planet Hell," is shipping to alternative, college and rock radio.

The first single from this killer debut, "Ready To Go," has monster radio hit written all over it. An intense, percolating, anthemic dance/rock thing that begs to boom out of the radios of convertibles nationwide, "Ready To Go" has been the Modern Rock #1 most added two weeks in a row, with consecutive double digit adds, including 99X in Atlanta, The Edge in Dallas, WBCN in Boston and Q101 in Chicago. Former N-Joi and the Shamen singer Saffron has a soaring, spectacular, high-voltage voice that makes the rest of this disc a dancefloor winner, replete with the British band's self described "techno-pop punk rock." Republica includes many potential follow-ups to what is certain to be a breakthrough hit, especially the more-beats-for-your-buck "Get Off" (with ex-Bow Wow Wow and Adam Ant drummer Dave Barborossa in fine shape) and the British club hit "Bloke."

WB's Time To Kill A Commercial Entry

By John Goff

Matthew McConaughey puts client Samuel L. Jackson on the stand for a hot moment.

THERE'S A BIG BUZZ goin' 'round regarding A Time To Kill. It's not necessarily about the film though and it's definitely a manufactured buzz. The majority of the excitement is concerned with the initiation of Matthew McConaughey into the rarefied retail realm of Hunkdom. For a month now you haven't been able to get away from it: covers on newsstands; TV tabloids; radio talks. The McConaughey Hunk's got one helluva machine behind him.

Got a fairly commercial film there too. Not a blockbuster, but not just a piece of discarded bubblegum on the sidewalk outside the boxoffice either.

This is Southern courtroom popmeister John Grisham's first published work. The one which went the way of most first books until the author found the commercial groove with The Firm, which sent Hollywood hopping through upcoming galleys and poking into musty closets. But it's also the one Grisham felt most strongly about, refusing to sell it until he could get a deal he felt gave him some control over the material. His control price has been buzzed at something like $6 million and a producer's credit.

A Time To Kill—the book—was passionately written. The screenplay was formulated to allow audiences to wade shallowly into familiar waters and to accommodate the boxoffice buttressing names supporting McConaughey—Sandra Bullock, Samuel L. Jackson, Kevin Spacey and Donald and Kiefer Sutherland. A few of the twists imposed on the story in order to give each "name" a hot screen turn, and an excuse to sign on, make for some dramatic cinematic moments with Jackson's character faring best of all with a pair of created moments. Those moments serving the others mentioned can be recognized readily for what they are: moments made for a star.

Where Grisham wrote the book from his gut with his central theme being that both black men and white men are the same if you scratch the skin of a caring person's family—brutal rape and attempted murder of a man's 10-year old daughter here—and are capable of vengeance when there is no faith in the criminal justice system; the screenplay credited to Akiva Goldsman goes for the familiar black vs. white theme and dutifully jacks up the roles necessary to turn this into a workable mainstream commodity. Sub-themes of lawyers jockeying for camera time in order to boost their case & revenue attracting power via a spectacular issue, their manipulation of the media to gain that footing, the slack court system and the incredible hurt that crimes such as rape, brutality and murder leaves behind are given passing nods and left for those who read the book to pick up on obliquely.

Joel Schumacher directs with his eye to the commercial, expertly giving the film the gloss and action it needs for its safe middle of the road convictions and gives the stars the treatment they need to retain their asking prices.

McConaughey is fine, doing what he needs to do to attract the next cover and the next hunk role. This role suffers through character control given up to the other, more bankable stars. He's bailed out of spots by all concerned; in court by client Jackson, out of court by hotshot law student Bullock and drunken disbarred mentor Sutherland and divorce lawyer pal Oliver Platt. Ultimately the character comes off as a novice, unable to do a lot of thinking for himself when the chips are down. Jackson uses this as yet another showcase for an impressively growing list of characters. Spacey exudes a strength as the DA with an eye to the Governor's seat. Bullock looks good but is displaying some patented sweetness touches, being marketed as a trademark perhaps, which are becoming repetitious. Time for a challenge it appears. Platt's divorce lawyer/pal character, and that of local sheriff Charles S. Dutton, are closer to the book than any others and both actors serve them

Kirk, Feldstein Join 20th

20TH CENTURY FOX HOME ENTERTAINMENT president Bob DeLellis recently announced a pair of appointments, which reflect the company's marketing growth and expansion.

Taking on the position of sr. vp of marketing will be Brad Kirk, who will report directly to DeLellis and be responsible for the development and financial success of each of the company's brands. Kirk's primary focus will be the creation of marketing strategies for the company's branded lines and new releases as well as the development of product to be released from the studio's extensive library.

Kirk joined DeLellis in naming Steven Feldstein to the newly created position of vp, communications and media relations.

Feldstein, most recently director of marketing and communications at DVD for Philips Electronics and, prior to that, director of public relations for Disney's Buena Vista Home Video unit, will report directly to Kirk. Feldstein's full plate will include strategic planning and execution of all the company's communications activities. He will also drive all trade and consumer media relations for the company's product and affiliated labels, which include FoxVideo and Fox Interactive.

Par HV Promos Peanuts & Impossible

PARAMOUNT HOME VIDEO is planning a mission not totally impossible: The marketing of Mission: Impossible into the home market, set at present for November, positioning it as a prime Holiday Season entry.

PHV has announced the (currently) $169 million domestic grosser will be priced for the sell-through market in the U.S. and Canada. The marketing and advertising campaign, presently being plotted, and reported to be the largest in PHV's history, combined with the season and the popularity of the product is expected to see the possibilities of Impossible not only go through the roof but even cave in a couple of Santa's gift bags.

But the sun's out at the moment and it's steamy so PHV is aiming for the kiddie summer market with a five title release for its initial Peanuts Summer Promotion program.

The titles, which have been digitally remastered for sound and picture quality, include: The Big Stuffed Dog, It's An Adventure, Charlie Brown, What Have We Learned, Charlie Brown?, Is This Goodbye, Charlie Brown? and You're A Good Sport, Charlie Brown.

Republic, Spelling In Sci-Fi Web Site

REPUBLIC PICTURES and Spelling Entertainment Group Inc. is geared up to unveil its new web site dedicated solely to the science-fiction phenomenon, UFO Diaries in August.

On the Internet at <http://www.ufo-diaries.com>, the site will focus on different sci-fi related titles each month, offering film clips, behind-the-scenes footage and special promotions. Kicking it off will be Republic Pictures' six-volume media collection looking at the mysteries surrounding UFO sightings, UFO Diaries.

Spelling Entertainment Group's management information systems developed the project internally working with Republic Pictures.

Bob Sigman, Republic president/CEO said, "The UFO Diaries web site launch follows on the heels of our successful debut of the Official Highlander web site in June. As the science fiction genre is exploding with tremendous popularity, we developed this specialty web site to cater to the demands of this growing market."

Site users can access synopsis information and graphics on some of the most well-known UFO discoveries featured on the displaying videos, all based on paranormal sightings and UFO encounters. Set at this time are titles Hangar 18, Roswell, and Ray Bradbury's The Martian Chronicles. Additional releases will be highlighted on a monthly basis.

Video Review

By John Goff

Eye For An Eye

VIGILANTE JUSTICE has been the theme of several projects recently. Eye For An Eye kicked the trend into gear last year—latest being the currently in release A Time To Kill. Interestingly Eye didn't do as well as it should have while Kill looks like it's going to do better than it deserves. Aside from the obvious star-hype machinery Kill has behind it audiences will probably be more comfortable with the macho killing in retaliation of a father's daughter's rape, feeling it easier to accept than a mother's vengeance for her daughter's rape and death. Both acts are plotted and both are justified—unless, of course, you're an ACLU card carrying, liberal whiner who believes the innocent have no rights and the criminal justice system works. In both films, if you've ever been a parent (and that's a big audience), you'll cheer Samuel L. Jackson and Sally Field's actions. And in both films you'll find a sleazy Kiefer Sutherland at the heart of the torment: rapist/killer in Eye, vengeful brother of the dead rapist in the other. Nobody sleazes like Sutherland. Eye is the superior product in that story—structure and plotting—and audience identification is predominant with director John Schlesinger and his cast serving Amanda Silver and Rick Jaffa's script from Erika Holzer's book superbly. Paramount Home Video is supporting Eye with co-op advertising through authorized distributors, in-store theatrical posters, double-sided standee for in-store use, trailers on their Nick Of Time, Sabrina and A Boy Called Hate releases, and it's featured on the new Paramount Home Video Internet site: www.paramount.com/homevideo. Aside from being an interesting comparison with the current big screener, Eye should find a strong home audience where even the closeted blood lusters can cheer when the gun goes off.

well. Sutherland retains a leading man-type carriage and doesn't take the character to the extremes it could, and should have gone. Real life son Kiefer takes on a standard redneck character. Patrick McGoohan wanders through as a cranky judge and Ashley Judd does a dutiful Southern wife turn. Chris Cooper makes the most of a moment on the stand as a deputy who lays out what was supposed to be the central point of the defense theme.

Peter Menzies, Jr.'s cinematography captures the rural Mississippi locales beautifully with a sense of mystery and shrouded secrecy and gives fine portraiture to McConaughey and Bullock. Attempts at projecting heat by make up look more like the actors were sprayed down with an oil bottle instead of spritzer. Really distracting.

Elliot Goldenthal's music manages to inject tension when needed.

Producers are Arnon Milchan, Michael Nathanson, Hunt Lowry and Grisham.

News From The United Kingdom, Ireland & Europe

By Hal Levy

TOP UK SINGLES: Moving up to number one is Spice Girls' "Wannabe" pushing Fugees' "Killing Me Softly" down to second spot and Gary Barlow's "Forever Love" to three while Peter Andre/Bubbler Ranx's "Mysterious Girl" hits four. Underworld's "Born Slippy" drops down to five. Mark Morrison joins us with "Crazy" on six as does Wink's "Higher State of Consciousness 96 Remixes" which is seven and moving onto the charts again is Los Del Rio's "Macarena" on eight. Livin' Joy's "Don't Stop Movin'" moves down to nine and Baddiel Skinner/The Lightning Seed's "Three Lions" is seen growling on ten.

Alanis Morissette's Jagged Little Pill holds onto first place in the UK album charts and moving up to first place in the UK Music Video listings is Bill Whelan's Riverdance—The Show. Top video rental remains Brad Pitt and Morgan Freeman's starring Seven while Paramount's Star Trek Voyager: Vol. 2.6 leads the video rental charts. Again Mega Drive and Super Nintendo report their Atlanta '96—Olympics Games are topping the rental list and Paramount/UIP's Mission: Impossible still raking in the money at the local boxoffice.

In Europe, Alanis Morissette's "Ironic" is the top seller and again, while it isn't number one in any one country, its position on the charts makes it the best seller as far as the total European market goes. Los Del Rio's "Macarena" tops the charts in France, Belgium, Macedonia and Croatia and Fugees' "Killing Me Softly," the number two in Europe, is number one in Holland, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Germany, Ireland, Finland, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

Moving into the European album field, Alanis Morissette's Jagged Little Pill is being dropped a lot in Ireland and Denmark while Eros Ramazzotti's Dove C'E Musica leads in Italy and Switzerland. In the rest of Europe, it is mainly local groups that head the charts.

Music people in the UK are reading the autobiography of Doc Cheatham, the 91-year old jazz trumpeter who still plays every Sunday at a club in New York. I Guess I'll Get The Papers and Go Home—The Life of Doc Cheatham is published by Cassell. And on the classic bookshelves one now finds Michael Tanner's Wagner (Harper Collins). Coming back onto the scene is Kinky Friedman's God Bless John Wayne, a detective story published by Faber. Kinky Friedman headed the 1970s group Kinky Friedman and the Texas Jewboys. Going to the best seller list, Jack Ramsay's SAS: The Soldier's Story (Macmillan) is still on top in the non-fiction hardback chart and Terry Pratchett's Feet of Clay (Gollancz) still leads the fiction hardback market. Softback fiction's leader is still Patricia D. Cornwell's From Potter's Field (Warner) and non-fiction's softback is Eric Lomax's The Railway Man (Vintage).

POOR POLY as PolyGram at NL£89.90 (£34.31) is down 1.1% while Thorn EMI at £17.40 is holding its own at 0.0% and Rank Organization's £4.77 is up 1.3%.

NAME CHANGES: Carlton Communications has bought Cinema Media, formerly Rank Screen Advertising and the name is expected to be changed to Carlton Advertising or Carlton Cinema Advertising. Currently no more than 350 companies advertise in the UK's movie houses and Carlton is looking at the television figures of more than 3,000 products sold as a goal for their new acquisition. Cinema Media handles about 80% of cinema advertising in the UK and Carlton's U.S. subsidiary, Technicolor currently supplies prints to cinemas in the UK and Ireland.

BUT WHERE WERE THE BELLY DANCERS as the 3rd International Istanbul Jazz Festival came to an end? The 15-day event, sponsored by the Istanbul, Turkey Foundation for Culture and Arts held gigs at three venues in the city and featured instrumentalists like Chick Corea, Herbie Hancock and Keith Jarrett with drummer Roy Haynes ending the fest with a 20-minute solo to standing cheers.

MY OLD ROCK HOME: Is it going to be London or Sheffield in the UK? Both cities are asking the National Lottery to help fund a Rock Hall of Fame in their area. Mick Jagger, Pete Townshend and Kate Bush are pushing for London together with Rupert Perry, chairman of EMI Europe. Pulling for Sheffield are Pulp's Jarvis Cocker, Joe Cocker (no relation) and The Human League. London already has The Rock Circus, a tourist attraction that, last year, drew more than 700,000 people from all over the world.

HALF NELSON: No, a full song for Nelson Mandela, president of South Africa, is what Michael Jackson has promised. In South Africa for Mandela's birthday, Jackson not only promised to write the song but was also reported to be looking to buy a house there. From South Africa he flew to Hungary and then to the Czech Republic to check facilities for his world tour which starts September 7 in Prague, with his return to South Africa in January.

JAZZING UP THE MARKET: Golden Rose Communication's radio station JAZZ FM is going to keep the stock market's players awake when every weekday morning from 5 a.m. to 7 a.m. they're going to mix jazz music with business reports from around the world.

NO TO THE MARKET as Bertelsmann, Germany's media and entertainment giant has denied it is seeking a listing on the stock exchange to secure additional capital to pursue its television plans. However, the company is looking for partners to help compete with the joint Kirch Group/Rupert Murdoch launching of digital TV in Germany this month. A representative of Bertelsmann said the company had sufficient monies to finance its projects.

FROM GARAGE TO GRUNGE: The UK's Soundtracs, the audio company started in his parents' garage by Todd Wells, signed up with Korg, USA, the U.S. branch of the Japanese company for it to distribute Soundtracs products. Satisfied customers include George Michael, Phil Collins and Annie Lennox.

SING AN OLYMPIC SONG, but did you know that the background music used for the International Olympics Committee promo is based on an Ami traditional song? Am! Well, they're an aboriginal tribe in Taiwan and, in 1993, Enigma released an album on Virgin Germany that contained vocals sung by the DeFangs, a 70ish couple from Taiwan. The hit song, "Return To Innocence" sold more than five million copies and the DeFangs, now back in their tribal village have never received any credit or monies for their singing or the song.

HOW WOULD VIRGIN SOUND IN FRENCH?: Well, Richard Branson expects to find out very soon. Virgin Radio is interested in acquiring a French radio station. Their last effort outside the UK was in Ireland where the company's attempt to buy a stake in a radio station didn't materialize.

AND WOULD YOU WEAR—VIRGIN JEANS: Branson thinks you might and he's working with entrepreneur Rory McCarthy exploring the jeans market. However, the name Virgin, may not stick as Branson's new record label is V2, and that might be a better marketing and merchandising name.

TURN DOWN THAT MUSIC OR I'LL CALL THE COPS really works in the UK where a new law, The Noise Act, sets limits as to times and volume of sound permitted. Local governments now have the power to remove "noise-making equipment" as well as impose on-the-spot fines.

LONDON CLUBS FALLING DOWN as the UK's leading casino, London Clubs is bringing back its management team from its Cannes casino after the mayor of Cannes, Michel Mouillot was arrested last week on corruption charges. He reportedly wanted £380,000 from the casino for them to receive a license to install slot machines in the casino. Mayor Mouillot is well known in Hollywood's film and music industry for his civic banquets during the music and film festivals and markets held in Cannes.

MEANWHILE, BACK IN LONDON, stockholders have seen their shares jump, in the past two years, from £2.00 to a high this year of £5.75 with year-end pretax profits in March reported at £33.3 million compared to last year's £29.4 million. And with the government's promise to ease the UK's gaming laws, come reports that U.S. companies are sniffing at the casino market and London Clubs, with its 16 casinos in the UK and 45% share of the market, would obviously be a tempting target for takeover.

LOST—ONE ANIMAL as Charles Chandler, bass guitarist of the UK's 1960s The Animals died in Newcastle-Upon-Tyne. He's believed to have suffered a heart attack. When the band split up, Chandler turned to management and he produced Jimi Hendrix's first four albums.

DE-MERGER TIME: And Jim Fifield, CEO of EMI Music is prepared for the rain with his 'golden parachute,' which is estimated at £12 million if he left the company following a takeover bid. Others falling under 'golden parachute' umbrellas are Thorn EMI chairman Sir Colin Southgate, finance director Simon Duffy and CEO of the Thorn retail group, Mike Metcalf. Stock market mavens expect EMI Group shares to sell at £13.50, giving the new company a value of some £5.8 billion. Thorn's stock is expected to bring, at first, £4.40, making the company worth £1.9 billion.

TAKE OVER TANGO: Well, maybe not yet, although EMI will be the last of the five major record companies not affiliated with a media conglomerate. Making sharks hesitate is the cost, since Thorn EMI's stock has jumped 70% in the past year and a half. Also the people considered most interested have found other things to occupy their minds. Murdoch's News Corp. is busy with its New World Communications television acquisition and Viacom has spent a lot of money on buying Paramount Studios. Disney is still digesting Capital Cities/ABC and Seagram is still drinking its MCA cocktail. While EMI is not in the top as far as U.S. sales go, it's in first or second place in two-thirds of its markets, including Japan and Asia. And whereas the U.S. market at one time was 45% of world sales, today it is only 28%.

NO SPEAK ENGLISH: Well, then you may have trouble selling your record in the UK. Chart busting Eros Ramazzotti's Dove C'E Musica has been all over Europe, but his label didn't release it in the UK, even though he has sold more than 20 million albums in his career. However, Europe is the biggest music market in the world bringing home more than £10 billion or one-third of the world's grosses, and slowly non-English singing groups are finding their way into the UK's market.

WHAT TO WEAR TO A FASHION CAFE as the super-models' restaurant chain seeks to follow Hard Rock Cafe and Planet Hollywood down the worldwide chain lane. First we had New York and New Orleans, then London which opens in September followed by Barcelona, Spain in October, and let's go to Indonesia in November for Jakarta's opening and The Philippines in December for the Manila bang. And the rest of the world will follow.

TNN Announces Revamped Schedule

By Wendy Newcomer

THE NASHVILLE NETWORK ANNOUNCED that it will revamp its Fall schedule on September 30. The new lineup was revealed by TNN's vice president of programming, Brian Hughes, at a press conference at the National Cable Forum before the Television Critics Association.

The upcoming changes include a shortened version of Prime Time Country, TNN's nightly entertainment series. Formerly 90 minutes, the show will become a 60-minute program and will feature a new permanent host, to be announced at a later date. In addition, TNN Country News will be telecast immediately following Prime Time Country at 10 p.m. (EST).

"In its new 60-minute format and with a new host, Prime Time Country will be stronger, faster-paced and more appealing to viewers—and to the artists who perform on the series," Hughes said. Prime Time Country, which has featured a series of guest hosts since April, will introduce a new permanent host in September. "We are very close to making our final selection of a permanent host from among the guest hosts based on research, focus group studies and the response we are hearing from viewers."

Perhaps because of the success of The Dukes of Hazzard, airing on TNN, the network has also acquired 356 episodes of Dallas, the long-running CBS nighttime soap featuring Larry Hagman, Patrick Duffy, Victoria Principal and Linda Gray. Dallas was acquired from Warner Bros. Domestic, Pay-TV, Cable & Network Features, which also licensed The Dukes of Hazzard.

Brooks Celebrates Millionth Fan

FOR GARTH BROOKS' DENVER CONCERT on July 18, the mega-star demonstrated why he has legions of fans. Because the one millionth ticket sold in the U.S. for his current tour was purchased in Denver, Brooks decided to do something special for that ticket holder.

Between the opening act and Brooks' set, the Garth Man sent two crew members in search of Coral Volland, who was sitting in what was calculated as being the millionth seat. The crew invited Volland and four friends backstage, where Brooks' band, crew and parents had formed two long lines on either side of the shocked fan. As Volland made her way down the aisle, she was presented with gifts including a video camera, a still camera, Garth Brooks merchandise, and 10 dozen red roses. At the end of the line, Brooks was waiting with a miniature Cinderella carriage.

As Brooks explained to Volland that she was the millionth ticket holder, he added: "We can't say thank you and hug everybody, so what we want to do for you is representative of what we'd like to do for all the people that allow us to do this for a living." The stunned Volland then saw the backstage loading dock door open to reveal a new green Chevrolet Z28 Camaro convertible, to which Brooks handed her the keys.

After starting the car and posing for pictures, Volland said she was "overwhelmed" and "couldn't describe how she was feeling."

In Other News...

Country music's Bryan White lent his voice to Walt Disney's Records' latest project, The Best of Country Sings the Best of Disney, a collection of newly-recorded versions of classic Disney songs. Pictured in the studio are (l-r): Marty Gamblin, White's mgr.; Gary Burr, producer; White; Susie Romano, WDR product mgr.; and Harold J. Kleiner, WDR A&R/exec. producer.

RICKY SKAGGS WILL HOST the International Bluegrass Music Awards Show on Thursday, September 26 in Owensboro, KY. The broadcast portion of the show will feature musical performances, the announcement of winners in more than 20 categories, tributes to Award of Merit recipients, and the 1996 inductions into the IBMA Hall of Honor.

CADENCE COMMUNICATIONS ANNOUNCED A WORLDWIDE multi-year distribution agreement with Warner Alliance/Warner Christian Distribution (WCD) for the CBA market and WEA for the general market during CBA week.

THE RCA LABEL GROUP announced a reorganization with the following changes: Dale Turner was named vp of promotion; Tommy Daniel was named vp of strategic marketing; Greg McCarn and Debbie Schwartz will move into the promotion department, as will Britta Davis; and Pam Peters will join Daniel in strategic marketing.

DIANNA MAHER WAS PROMOTED to sr. vp of A&R, as well as director of creative services, at Magnatone Records. Previously, Maher was vp of artist development for the label.

THE 8TH ANNIVERSARY COUNTRY GOLD International Country Music Festival in Kumamoto, Japan will be held October 20. This year's lineup includes Toby Keith, Mark Collie, Ronna Reeves, BR5-49, The Country Gentlemen, and Charlie Nagatani & Cannonballs.

SKIP EWING SIGNED AN EXCLUSIVE recording agreement with Word Nashville, the newly-formed country music division of the multimedia entertainment company, Word Records and Music, Inc. Ewing, an accomplished songwriter, most recently enjoyed success with Bryan White's "Rebecca Lynn" and "I'm Not Supposed To Love You Anymore."

GARTH BROOKS' CANADIAN FANS bought over 38,000 tickets for four sold-out shows at the Metro Centre in Halifax, Nova Scotia (Sept. 12-15). Although ranking third in gross dollars, Brooks has sold more tickets than any other touring act this year, selling over 1.3 million tickets.

RAZOR & TIE RECORDING ARTIST CLEDUS T. JUDD (no relation) signed with APA (Agency For The Performing Arts) for exclusive booking representation. Judd has most recently opened for acts such as Brooks & Dunn, Billy Ray Cyrus, David Ball and John Michael Montgomery.

FRENCH GUITARIST MARCEL DADI was aboard the TWA flight 800 which exploded Wednesday, July 17. Dadi helped spread Chet Atkins' style of guitar playing across Europe and was a close friend of Atkins'. Dadi was returning to Paris after visiting Nashville where he had been added to the Hall of Fame's Walkway of Stars July 11.

JOHN BERRY'S NEXT ALBUM will feature three different covers, all released simultaneously and available in equal numbers at all retail outlets. Faces will be released September 17. Capitol Nashville also shot two different versions of Berry's first single from Faces, "Change My Mind."

Album Reviews By Wendy Newcomer

■ HANK WILLIAMS: Low Down Blues (Mercury 314-532-737-2)

From "(I Heard That) Lonesome Whistle" to the title cut, Low Down Blues is a spine-tingling collection of the senior Hank's well-known classics and previously unreleased demos. The man who is a (claimed) influence on many of today's singers has long been referred to in revered tones, yet listening to Williams moan the country blues is both an irreverent and spiritual experience. Williams' trademark falsetto can be heard in "Lovesick Blues" and "Long Gone Lonesome Blues." With the possible exception of Williams' hero, Jimmie Rodgers, his yodel is perhaps the most recognized and imitated of the country greats. Low Down Blues is a must-have for historians and lovers of honest music. Thanks to compilations such as this one, Hank Williams' music now extends further than the average corporate soft drink commercial.

■ RICK TREVINO: Learning As You Go (Columbia CK-67452)

Trevino's third output for Columbia is the mark of a maturing artist. Cuts such as "I Only Get This Way With You," and "Serious Love" display Trevino's obvious singing talent. Even the obligatory cutesy songs (like "Anytime" and "Mary's Just A Plain Jane") are pulled off with a confidence that Trevino seems to have newly-acquired. There's no doubt that Trevino is influenced by "new country" artists like fellow Texan George Strait, but on Learning As You Go, he's also emerging with his own style.

■ THE COX FAMILY: Just When We're Thinking It's Over (Asylum 61809-2)

Just When We're Thinking It's Over is a return to the old sound of 30 years ago, courtesy of bluegrass-turned-country band The Cox Family. Family harmonies are the strongpoint of the album, a quality that shines in their first single, "Runaway." Daughter Suzanne is the most featured member on lead vocals, but dad Willard lazily nails Del McCoury's "A Good Man Like Me;" oldest daughter Evelyn's warm touch is heard on the title cut, and son Sidney cuts through his own "Backroads" and the Kostas/Lee Roy Parnell-penned "Who's Gonna Pay For This Broken Heart." Also included on this Asylum debut is a positively funky cover of Marvin Gaye's "That's The Way Love Is," and "Cry Baby Cry," which can be found on a previous Cox Family CD (producer Alison Krauss must have felt it warranted another listen—good call). Hopefully, radio programmers won't need a second listen to be convinced of The Cox Family's "playlist worthiness."

■ TEXAS TORNADOS: 4 Aces (Reprise 9-46197-2)

The Texas Tornados consist of the tight ensemble of Doug Sahm, Freddy Fender, Flaco Jimenez and Augie Meyers—four guys who have cornered the market on good time music. Just try and stop listening to this CD! These veteran musicians, who call themselves "rockin' grandfathers," are far from the old folks home. In the world of country music, Fender is best known for "Wasted Days And Wasted Nights." Throughout this project, Fender & Co. blaze through Tejano-styled songs like "My Cruel Pain" and "Little Bit Is Better Than Nada" and country-tinged tunes like "The One I Love The Most" with the same fervor and zeal found in that hit from 20 years ago. In addition to a quartet of accomplished players, the Tornados welcome other familiar Texas players like Ry Cooder and Rosie Flores. Without a doubt, this is Lone Star music at its best.

Summer Of Bluegrass '96

The 23rd Annual Telluride Bluegrass Festival in Telluride, Colorado is one of the best-known summer festivals. Nineteen-ninety-six performers included Steve Earle, who was backed by top-notch musicians. Pictured are (l-r): Peter Rowan, mandolin; Roy Husky, Jr., bass; and Earle.

Irish folk singer Maura O'Connell drew raves from "festivarians" with her blend of bluegrass, blues and folk music.

Mary Chapin Carpenter (l) was a surprise guest at this year's Telluride show. Carpenter joined buddy Shawn Colvin onstage to perform some of Colvin's new material.

Another popular summer show is the Doyle Lawson & Quicksilver's Family Style Bluegrass Festival held in Denton, North Carolina. The annual event drew hundreds of fanatics who enjoyed the music of bluegrass' finest, including dobro master Jerry Douglas.

Bluegrass/country legends The Osborne Brothers (of "Rocky Top" fame) were first-timers at Telluride. Brothers Sonny (l) and Bobby (r) were treated to standing ovations from the crowd of thousands.

The Lonesome River Band also performed at the Denton festival. LRB treated the crowd to selections from their latest album, One Step Forward, as well as the band's "greatest hits." Pictured are (l-r): Sammy Shelor, banjo, vocals; and Ronnie Bowman, bass, lead vocals.

AMOA Announces JB Award Nominations

CHICAGO—Two female artists, Mariah Carey and newcomer Alanis Morissette, are the top 1996 Jukebox Awards nominees announced by the Amusement & Music Operators Association. Other multiple award nominees are country's Tim McGraw, rapper Coolio and Hootie & The Blowfish.

Winners will be announced at AMOA's 1996 Awards Show & Banquet, to be held September 27 in Dallas during AMOA Expo '96.

Carey received four nominations in three categories: "Fantasy" and "One Sweet Day" (With Boyz II Men) for JB Pop Single of the Year; and Daydream for both JB Pop CD of the Year and JB R&B CD of the Year.

Morissette received three nominations in three categories: "Ironic" for JB Pop Single of the Year; Jagged Little Pill for JB Pop CD of the Year and JB Rising Star in the female category.

Tim McGraw, Coolio and Hootie & The Blowfish received two nominations each Nominated for induction into the Jukebox Legends Hall of Fame (Living Legends category) were: Bob Dylan, George Jones, B.B. King, Paul McCartney and Frank Sinatra. In the Legends of the Past category, nominees are Bobby Darin, Janis Joplin, John Lennon, Bob Marley and Jim Morrison.

The twelve jukebox award categories are: Jukebox Pop, Country and R&B Singles of the Year; Jukebox Pop, Country, R&B and Latin CD of the Year; Jukebox Rising Star Awards (male, female and group categories) and two Jukebox Legend inductees (living and of the past).

Songs and artists are nominated by members of AMOA who own/service approximately one-half of the nation's estimated 250,000 45 rpm and CD jukeboxes. In ten of the twelve categories, nominations are based on highest jukebox earners during the period of June, 1995 and June, 1996.

PolyGram announced it has acquired administration rights to the 285-title catalog which contains such classics as "Only The Lonely," "Oh, Pretty Woman," and "Crying" in a deal with the late singer-songwriter's widow Barbara Orbison.

Ms. Orbison has recently established a publishing and production company in Nashville, TN to release tunes through Orbison Records and issue new act material under Orbi Records.

The reported long-term publishing agreement covers the U.S. and Canada and includes Ms. Orbison's catalog Still Working for the Man Music, containing the works of newly signed songwriters.

JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION's "Now I Got Worry" is slated to be the first Matador/Capitol release under the two companies' recently announced (Cash Box June 22, 1996) joint venture arrangement. Under the agreement selected Matador titles will be co-released, marketed, promoted and sold by Matador and Capitol, and will bear the logos of both companies.

As part of the arrangement, Capitol has purchased a minority interest in Matador, whose principals Gerard Cosloy and Christopher Lombardi retain 51% of the company. Cosloy and Lombardi also continue to manage the day-to-day Matador operations.

Selected Matador titles will be available through Capitol's distributor, EMD, as well as through Matador's in-house retail dept. At this time, the number of co-distributed titles is estimated to be no more than four or five per year. Remaining releases will be sold via Matador distribution, as well as through independent distributors like ADA, Caroline, Cargo, Revolver, Dutch East, Valley, Surefire, Feedback and Rotz
