CORE, Macola: Development & Marketing

By M.R. Martinez

INDIE COMPANIES WISHING TO IMPROVE their fortunes do not always look to the "Big Six" distribution machines. Case in point is CORE Entertainment, which could improve the label's artist development fortunes through its relationship with Macola Records Group, which built its reputation on marketing and distributing cutting edge music. The exclusive manufacturing and distribution agreement between the companies, announced in recent weeks, is an example of how two independent companies pool strengths to advance mutual and individual goals—all while firmly navigating the independent pipeline.

Nashville-based CORE's president Keith Dressel, whose company has developed a wide range of artists and product—from the Vigilantes of Love (now on indie label Capricorn Records) to perennial Adult Contemporary crooner Engelbert Humperdinck—hopes to take advantage of the relationship that Macola has with Navarre Corp., which is a major independent distributor of music, and other software which is causing the scope of artist development to evolve.

"One of the reasons this deal happened was because of our access to Navarre," says Don Macmillan, Macola president. "Not only do mass merchandisers and chain stores receive product through their system, but the core retail market also gets serviced. Surc, the Best Buys, Blockbusters and Camelots get the product, but so do the mom and pop stores. It's all about sales."

Macmillan notes that Navarre does a "tremendous job" on product because "they keep their roster of labels down so they can do a decent job" of promotion and marketing. He also noted that the company gets his vote because they help develop music companies with an eye to taking advantage of Navarre's firm foothold on the distribution of all software, including home video, and the ever-burgeoning CD-ROM, which is quickly becoming a major tool in artist development.

Macola has expressed excitement over handling product by Humperdinck, but moreso over the prospect of marketing other established and new artists. Legendary folk singer Dirk Hamilton, singer/songwriter Moon Martin and the indefatigable Stephan Allen Davis who has created 15 #1 hits, including "Take Time To Know Her," made popular by Percy Sledge. Turi, The Hardliners, Podunk and Mr. Happy are fresh acts that could continue Macola's legacy of breaking acts like N.W.A. and Timex Social Club.

While CORE's Dressel plans to create marketing and promotion strategies at the company's Nashville headquarters, Macmillan and his staff will work to create merchandising and promotional materials to be utilized by Navarre's 30-branch field staff and also be used by the regional reps employed by Macola.

"We have a staff that develops one-sheets, posters and other promotional items that work their way into the (Navarre) system," Macmillan explains. "We really believe that we can help some of CORE's artists thrive."

EXECS ON THE MOVE

■ Jonathan Platt, former music coordinator for Media Rights, Inc., has been named vp of business affairs for Sonic Images Records. The Los Angeles based label has also appointed Brad Pressman to the position of director of A&R and national promotions. Pressman previously worked as an A&R representative in charge of artist relations.

■ Jeff Cook has been upped to sr. vp of promotion and marketing at Capricorn Records. Cook began his promotion career in the mid-'70s for Arista Records, moved to Atlanta in '78 to head the label's AOR promotion and then became sr. director of album promotion in '82. He also has held posts at Elektra. He joined the re-launched Capricorn in 1991. ■ Cambridge, MA-based Rounder Records has upped a few of its employees starting with the promotion of Brad Paul from national promotion director to his new title of vp of national promotion and publicity. Susan Piver, the label's former director of marketing and sales, has been appointed vp of sales and marketing.

■ K-Tel International has announced a series of executive changes. Arrival Music, the Christian music division of K-Tel, recently named Christian music industry veteran Tom Ramsey to vp of the label. Coldfront Records, an urban-oriented label recently started by K-Tel has announced the hiring of urban music veteran Allen Johnston as K-Tel's national urban sales manager. ■ Rondor Music International has appointed Carol Spencer to the position of A&R coordinator. Prior to Spencer's promotion she worked for years as an assistant to Rondor's sr. vp of creative Brenda Andrews.

■ Al Bunetta Management has appointed Janie West the director of his associated publishing companies. Bunetta's companies include song catalogues of John Prine and Steve Goodman. West will be responsible for overseeing the day-to-day activities of the publishing division, including song-plugging and A&R. In addition, West will also be active in talent acquisitions for the Oh Boy Records label. Prior to joining the Bunetta team, West spent five years at Liberty Records in A&R and three years at MCA Records Nashville. ■ Priority Records, announced the appointment of Tim Reid II to manager of artist development. Reid will share duties of the ten year-old company's roster with current Priority employee, Dan Devita. Prior to Reid's work at Priority, he worked as a marketing/sales representative for black music at Hollywood Records. ■ Rhino Records has recently appointed Jill Ruzich to the newly-created position of national sales development manager. Ruzich was previously an artist development representative for the San Francisco branch of CEMA Distribution. Her new Rhino responsibilities include sales research and analysis, and the creation of a monthly newsletter that will keep the independents apprised of Rhino releases and events. Capricorn Records has announced that Paula Donner will be a publicist and her responsibilities will include communication with print and broadcast media nationwide. Prior to his work at Capricorn, Donner was employed at Sector 2 Records, as well as working as a sound engineer at Fitzgerald's in Houston, TX. She also served as an audio engineer at South Coast Film & Video. Also Roger Groce has been named as the publicity assistant for the label. Groce's duties will include the coordination of media service for the label's diverse roster. ■ Roadrunner Records has appointed Rick Meuser to the newly-created position of director of business affairs. Meuser formerly held posts at PolyGram and RCA.

WARRIOR SOUL: The Space Age Playboys (Mayhem/Futurist 11072)

Warrior Soul has released four records through DGC/Geffen Records, but The Space Age Playboys is its first for indie companies Mayhem/Futurist. While the musical quality remains consistent with the previous releases, frontman Kory Clarke can't help but reveal his political views about any and everything for the world to consume. However, this time his lyrics are a bit less blunt and the music is a tad more melodic, making the record more radio friendly than its predecessors. Clarke considers this disc "their best album to date." Stand out tracks are: "Television," "Rocket Engines" and, the closing tune, "Fighten' The War." (KS)

WELT: Better Days (Doctor Dream Records - no cat. #)

No need to worry, Welt is not another corporate punk band that sings about minor dilemmas while selling millions of records. This quartet from Sacramento, CA is sincere about the teen angst of which they sing. Their debut album, consisting of 13 tunes, is energetic and amusing. They aren't trying to save the world, just attempting to figure out what people want, especially those of the female gender. While the eldest band member is barely old enough to consume alcohol—legally, that is—they seem to have the right idea about their music, keeping it uplifting and fun. With song titles such as "Lame," "Really?" and "Anything," it's easy to see why Welt provides a welcome breath of fresh air. (KS)

PAUL RUSSO: I Can Show You Love (A&E 303) Producers: Paul Russo and Louis Mosley

This is a solid blend of cool, mellow soul and classic jazz tracks delivered with an easily accessible style that should capture this-up-and-coming artist a sizable following. Throughout this disc, the saxophonist displays a wide showcase of his gifts with personality and great style. He also cleverly incorporates his contemporary covers with an old school feel that should add to his credibility. Expect urban contemporary and jazz formats to embrace this disc which stands as a powerful beginning for this jazzman's career.

Standout tracks: "Butterfly New," "Mulatto," "Still In Love" and "Forever Love." (GR)

BIRDBRAIN: Bliss (TVT 5710)

Birdbrain, a foursome from Boston, MA, speak of aggression toward what they describe as "this cheated generation." With a vocalist/songwriter by the name of Ammo, what else would you expect! His lyrics are rebellious, and his vocal style seems to bear that out. He presents some of his words audibly and clear, then other lyrics roll out of his mouth as if he's intoxicated and can merely mumble. This 12-track release includes partially acoustic numbers, almost tender melodies, as well as powerful upbeat tracks. With continuous diversity throughout, the listener may forget that one band is performing all these songs. If you are up in arms on what records to take along on that cross-country trip, this could be one considering, it covers a buffet of sonic tastes. (KS)

COWBOY MOUTH: It Means Escape (Monkey Hill Records MON 6128)

In case you haven't been formally introduced to Cowboy Mouth, it is certainly one introduction that is long overdue. This New Orleans-based four-piece band has been touring the country with longtime friends and current chart toppers Hootie and the Blowfish. While the group's music isn't identical to Blowfish's, something about the comfortable songs makes one think the band could perform in front of the kind of audiences attracted by Hootie and the Blowfish. To give you an idea of the Mouth's humor, take

Distributor Profile

Andy Allen & The Alternative Distribution Alliance

By Steve Baltin

ANDY ALLEN, PRESIDENT OF THE Alternative Distribution Alliance (ADA) would like to clarify something. Despite widespread popular opinion, the ADA is not strictly part of the WEA Group. The amount of specialized work they do for the conglomerate, including working records like Better Than Ezra's highly successful Deluxe on Elektra, has led people to that conclusion, but ADA is an organization that is dedicated to remaining independent in its manner of doing business. The distribution company, which formed in May/June of 1993, currently handles such well-known independents as Epitaph, Futurist, Restless, Rhino, Teenbeat and Touch And Go, to name but a few.

Allen joined the company in June of 1994 after a 10-year stint with Island Records. Allen said, "The last three of which I was general manager of Island in the States." Prior to that he served 10 years with RCA. Though ADA might not seem at first an ideal situation for him, given his background with major labels, Allen has abundant reasons as to why this was, in fact, the perfect place for him to go. He said, "A lot of the labels that were Island-owned, were distributed independently. Labels like 4th and Broadway, Mango, Grape Jones, were labels that were distributed independently, and obviously we were very involved in working those records."

Allen continued, "So, independent distribution wasn't something that was new to me. It was something that we had been involved with for some time. The ADA operation was very interesting to me as it had started up and I had kind of watched it grow just in that it was a competitor of the ILS system, which was our independent system at Island. What attracted me to it were the labels that were distributing through ADA. The fact that it had the Warner Music Group involved meant a commitment towards making it work. And I have always loved the kind of entrepreneurial and independent spirit that comes in working with or for an independent label. I just think it's a real exciting part of the business."

Allen's enthusiasm for the independent spirit is apparent, but the Warner Music Group is clearly a cornerstone of ADA's present and future plans. For Allen the reasoning behind Warner's involvement with ADA can be explained as follows, "With ADA, they have the opportunity to use a different distribution system...In the research that we've done, about 35 or 38 percent of the stores that we sell to are also sold (to) directly by WEA. So you can tell there's a significant difference in the stores that we reach directly."

Unprecedented success is not without its drawbacks, though. Specifically, the point of ADA was to provide specialized attention to the labels it works with. However, continued expansion could make that goal less realistic. As president of ADA, what does Allen see as way to counter that problem? "Well, I think that there's a process in place to make sure that we don't grow beyond what our target is, which is to be able to provide distribution with an eye toward artist development."

In addition, ADA is constantly expanding in other directions. An example is their recent installation of CD sampling stations into selected independent retail outlets, designed to help those stores keep up with the major chains. After an initial outlay of stations to 38 stores, more are being added on a continual basis. While the cost might be a bit high, there's an old adage that says, you have to spend money to make money. And given their success, and potential for future growth, it's hard to argue with ADA's way of doing business.

note of these song titles: "Hey Bartender," "Looked Like A Woman," and "Here I Sit In Prison (Yippee-I-Yah)." And if Cowboy Mouth's tour mates and tune titles aren't enough to get your interest peaked, drummer/vocalist Fred LaBlanc's candid comment is sure to. "If I die tomorrow, I want to make sure I had a really good time." Well put, Fred. (KS)

■ JACK JONES: Music Of The Night (Honest 0002) Producer: Edward J. Fisk and Jack Jones

"The Love Boat soon will be making another voyage. The Love Boat..." The Love Boat may not be coming back around, but the veteran singer/songwriter who did one of the most infamous themes in TV history is shipping out again with this 11-song collection that was recorded live in London. But the music on this record would've been just as much at home on Broadway or in Vegas. Fans of the crooning tradition will embrace Jones' version of George & Ira Gershwin's "Embraceable You," as well as his take on Cole Porter's "Just One Of Those Things." The Vegas type versions of Bread's "If" and John Lennon's "Imagine" fit well in the context of the CD. (SB)

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ GARBAGE: Garbage (Almo Sounds AMSD 80004)

Imagine a record filled with a beautiful voice and an eclectic mix of sounds. This indeed is one that contains just that. Fronted by the Scottish voice of Shirley Manson, known for her work with Angelfish, her singing is tender but fierce, clean yet edgy, and all the while entirely entertaining. Garbage's premiere single, "Vow," is a treat, but other tracks that stand out on the record include "Queer," "Stroke Of Luck," and "Milk." In short, this record is made up of blunt realities and while it's not always pretty, it certainly is a unique artistic creation for the world to interpret and consume. Because not all Garbage should be discarded, this one's a keeper. (KS)

INDIE NEWS IN BRIEF

AGF ENTERTAINMENT LTD., a New York-based music company, recently announced the launch of its new record label, Plump Records. Upcoming releases on the label will include discs from David Mas-sengill, Harvey Fierstein, Eric Andersen, vitapup, Howard Jones, and a collection of rare recordings from current Columbia Records recording artist Shawn Colvin. Plump Records will be distributed exclusively through AEC Distribution...

If you're familiar with Aaron Neville's Grammy Award-winning music, you may want to look for new releases from some of his relatives. Ivan Neville and Cyril Neville currently have records separately available through an East Coast-based label called Iguana Records.

If you haven't heard the name Corey Stevens, you are about to. Stevens, the Eureka Recordings artist, will be featured in on-air promotions of Fox Television's critically acclaimed Party Of Five. His tune "The Brothers," which was originally written by Stevens as a tribute to Duane and Gregg Allman, seems to fit perfectly with the theme of the family friendly show...

Code Blue, a new blues-based label, just put out releases from Sherman Robertson, a Texas style blues vocalist/guitarist; Jay Owens, a soulful blues singer/songwriter; and The Hoax, a band made up of five young musicians from a small town in southwest England. The label also inked a deal with Chicago great John Primer and plans to put out a record from him in early 1996.

CONSIDERING in recent years the music genre generally known as heavy metal has had a tough time remaining mainstream and also get major label support, such acts have relocated to more boutique companies and returned to their underground roots where they still enjoy appreciative and dedicated fans. A few labels that specialize in metal music are Earache, Nuclear Blast/Relapse Records and Noise Records. Some upcoming releases through Earache include discs from Cathedral, At The Gates, Scorn, Ultraviolence, Old, Napalm Death and Godflesh...

Doctor Dream Records just announced that Tommy Macke and The Grabbers have parted ways. Despite the fact the band is in the middle of a national tour, the former frontman and ex-bandmates have split due to mutual differences. Temporarily replacing Macke will be former Old Nick vocalist, Jonny Ver-Planck. A permanent replacement should be announced before the summer comes to an end. More news to come regarding Macke's new musical endeavors...

Legendary guitarist/singer/songwriter Ed-die Hinton passed away on Friday, July 28, 1995. Hinton, an Alabama resident, worked as a session player, performing with such greats as Wilson Pickett, Aretha Franklin, Solomon Burke, Elvis Presley and Otis Redding. Hinton's own writing was influenced most by Redding and his songs have been recorded by the likes of Cher, Gregg Allman, Percy Sledge, and Dusty Springfield. Later in his career, Hinton still produced soulful quality records...

NEW YORK-BASED Futurist Label Group is set to have several releases in the stores before Fall. Look for records from Warrior Soul, My Dying Bride, Sometime Sweet Susan, Mind Over Four, Beat Farmers and Hooch. The Futurist Label Group is distributed through INDI/Alliance Entertainment Corporation.

Evil Troll Records, a West Coast-based label just put out a disc from The Obvious Wish. The record is entitled Stickman W/Red Balloon and features just that as the album art work.

K-tel International is going back a couple of decades to revive some music of the past. The label is set to re-issue several releases from a heart throb of the 70's, Bobby Sherman. The first four titles in the series are: Bobby Sherman, Here Comes Bobby, A Portrait Of Bobby, and With Love, Bobby. All of the aforementioned will be released on CD for the first time. More of Sherman's previous records are planned for release soon...

K-TEL INTERNATIONAL's Era Records, the label specializing in historically vital re-issues and collections, has welcomed Paul Davis' Cool Night as part of its continuously growing catalog. Davis' Cool Night, being released for the first time on CD, will feature the original album art work and expanded liner notes.

Coldfront, the urban-oriented imprint started by K-tel International has announced release of Phat Rap Flava '95. This record will consist of 11 of the hottest rap tracks this year. 69 Boyz, 95 South and Nine are just a few of the acts featured on the compilation. Also set for release in August is the energetic Club Mix '95 - Volume 2 which obviously is the follow-up to a successful first volume that is one of K-tel's best-selling records.

Another compilation K-tel International recently released is called Dance Club Country. The album's 10 upbeat tracks include tunes by such artists as Tracy Byrd, Diamond Rio and The Gibson Miller Band...

STRANGE PERSUASIONS, Clive Gregson's first solo album, will be released for the first time in the United States through Compass Records. Gregson's current Compass Records release, People and Places, marks his first solo effort in almost 10 years. The United States release of Strange Persuasions, an album originally released in 1985 on UK-based Demon Records, will be re-mastered and also feature bonus track "Could This Be The One?," a re-mixed version of "Jewel In Your Crown," and new liner notes by Gregson...

Incandescent, a new San Francisco-based label that has distribution through CRD, Twin Cities, Rockbottom, Action Music Sales and Twinbrook, have put out their first release. The album is from Shadowplay, a band from Finland and seems to be getting a positive response at college radio...

On September 26 Capricorn Records and New Line Cinema are set to release National Lampoon's Senior Trip soundtrack. The disc will be filled with popular songs by Morphine, Seven Day Diary, The Muffs and new tunes from Matthew Sweet, The Jayhawks and 311. The movie is set to open on 1,200 screens nationwide on September 8 and will contain all the songs featured on the soundtrack throughout the film...

WHILE PRIORITY RECORDS is mostly known as the launching pad and house for acts such as Ice Cube, N.W.A., Dr. Dre and Eazy-E, the label has decided to broaden its horizons. On September 19, Priority is set to release two separate volumes entitled Notes From The Underground. Both installments of this compilation will be focusing on cutting-edge indie rock. Making up each 15-song disc will be tunes that were once released as 7-inch records, tracks that are now considered rarities and songs that were hidden on B-sides. Ever-clear, Built To Spill, Godheadzilo and Fig Dish are just a few of the innovative artists featured on the upcoming releases...

Damian Music, founded by musician Aldy Damian, just inked a distribution deal with Navarre Corp. The label's first release, With A Skeleton Crew from Larry Tagg (the co-founder of Bourgeois Tagg), is planned to be in stores this fall...

CMC International recording act Motorhead celebrated its 20th anniversary following a sold-out show at New York's Roseland. On tour in support of its current release Sacrifice, the band had to deal with a couple unexpected dilemmas, including the tour bus breaking down and frontman Lemmy missing a scheduled live television show appearance. But never fear, Lemmy did get a chance to toast "Father" Paddy and "Sister" Barbara at a party following that evening's performance.

Seattle, Washington-based CM Records has announced that former Swedish porn star, Marty Yterberg has ironically been named the new vocalist/guitarist for hard rock band Sweat. Yterberg replaces the departed Dennis Randall and the current line-up of the band plans to record its first release together in the next few months. Other bands to look for releasing records on CM are Picklehead, Mosdog, Snaut, Havana Blast and a compilation that's sure to turn some heads, Hemp For Victory - Volume One.

Empty Records, another label based in Seattle has an impressive catalog of product released on vinyl and CD. This year the company has put out several 7-inchers from such acts as The Statics, The Solid and The Fumes. Also available are full-length albums from Satan's Pilgrims, Sicko and SteelWool, just to name a few.

Diamond Rio Has A Polished Flow

Arista recording act Diamond Rio is mining new territories of popularity with a sparkling image, some bright songwriting and multi-faceted music. Poised for its first one-hour TV special in September on TNN: The Nashville Network, the band is currently at work on its fourth Arista album, a project the band hopes will help bring its long-range goals a step closer. Cash Box Nashville writer Wendy Newcomer talks with a member of the band and a label executive to help shed light on this rising group of stars.

Lead Story

Thyret Named WB Chairman/CEO

IN A MOVE TO RESTORE STABILITY to its upper management, Russ Thyret has been named chairman/CEO of Warner Bros. Records Inc., replacing Danny Goldberg, who is reportedly leaving to pursue other interests. Thyret had been serving as co-vice chairman of Warner Bros. Records Inc. David Alschul is now the sole vice chair of the company.

WMG chairman/CEO Michael Fuchs announced the appointment, effective immediately, and remarked, "Warner Bros. Records is a unique organization and Russ Thyret has been an integral part of the fabric at Warner Bros. for nearly three decades. Russ has been the power forward on this team, but has played every position on the Warner Bros. team as well. That in itself is so rare in the record business...We are looking forward to a new era of stability and growth for the company under Russ."

Remarked Thyret, "In light of the historic accomplishments of Warner Bros. Records, and the incredible legacy of its guiding lights Mo Ostin and Lenny Waronker, I am humbled at the prospect of assuming this position. Any record company is only as good as its artists and staff, and here at Warner Bros. we have the best of both worlds. It is now time to dedicate ourselves to getting on with the business at which we can excel, and maintaining the leadership role we've held since virtually the inception of this remarkable institution."

Since the departure of Ostin and Waronker and the surprise ouster of U.S. Warner Music Group chief Doug Morris, there has been rumblings that Fuchs might seek to replace Goldberg because of the latter's allegiance to Morris.

Interscope Claims Tucker Wants Takeover

INTERSCOPE RECORDS took aim at political activist and gangsta rap critic C. Dolores Tucker via a suit filed in Los Angeles' U.S. District Court, charging her with secretly conspiring to begin her own rap record company and to take over distribution of Interscope's Death Row label.

The suit further alleges that Tucker, chairwoman of the National Political Congress of Black Women, has laid claim to have obtained an agreement for backing of a new rap label from Time Warner chairman Gerald Levin and Warner Music Group chairman Michael Fuchs and that the label would operate under auspices of a black community-oriented monicker of which Tucker would maintain lyrical content control.

Eighty million dollars and two state-of-the-art recording studios are said to be the inducements offered Death Row chairman Marion "Suge" Knight, to be paid by Fuchs if Knight would change from the Interscope label.

Some of the language in the suit sounds as if it could be set to music for a new rap treatise since the filing goes on to say if Knight chose to remain behind Interscope doors Tucker and Time Warner would "use their power and influence to get the government to launch investigations" of Knight and David Kenner, his attorney, causing Knight to "spend the rest of his life behind bars." It goes on to contend TW and Tucker would use their influence with the press to "destroy Knight and Death Row Records" if the latter didn't join the new label.

A Time Warner spokesman denied that Tucker acted with the authority of Time Warner or Warner Music Group, and said that "any efforts Ms. Tucker made were on her own voluntary basis..."

Tucker has been attacking TW, blaming its music divisions for "promoting music that celebrates the rape, torture and murder of women." Some feel that Tucker would halt her vocal criticisms if the corporation aided her in beginning her own rap label.

ON THE MOVE

Cohen

Tesson

Edison

Gatto

■ Brian Cohen has been appointed vp of marketing for the Elektra Entertainment Group. Cohen joined the company in 1990 as director of advertising and was appointed vp of creative services in 1994. He began his career in 1987 as manager of sales and distribution for Restless Records. Also at EEG, Iris Tesson has been named manager of press and artist development. Tesson was previously assoc. manager of press and artist development, and from 1992 to 1993 was publicity coordinator. She started her career at the Elektra label in 1990 as an assist. manager of artist and media relations. ■ A&M Records has named Ronald Edison vp of urban promotion. His new job calls for him to develop and execute promotion strategies for the label's urban artists. Edison most recently was with Scotti Bros. promotion in Los Angeles, and prior to that was vp of urban promotion at RCA in New York. He is from Dallas, TX where he was a regional manager for Virgin Records and a radio personality. ■ Denise Gatto has been named vp of release planning for the Columbia Records Group, where she will now function as a liaison between A&R, marketing, promotion and other departments to oversee scheduling of every project on the Columbia and WORK Group labels. Gatto has served as director of East Coast A&R at Columbia since 1992 and began her career at the label as a secretary in the marketing department. In another appointment at Sony Music Entertainment, John Schenk has been appointed director of finance and administration for the Epic Records Group. Schenk will oversee the label's monthly forecasting and annual budgeting process and also monitor and control marketing and overhead expenditures. He comes to Epic after six plus years at Arista, where he most recently served as director of financial analysis. Lawrence A. Kanusher has been appointed counsel in the law department of SME. Prior to his appointment, Kanusher was director of business affairs at Sony Music International, a job he started in 1992. He also served in the legal department at EMI Records. ■ Mary Neagoy has been named vp of communications for VH1. Neagoy will be responsible for strategic planning and implementation of the company's public relations, oversee media relations for the net's businesses (including VH1 News) and serve as chief liaison between the net and the fourth estate. She joins the company from NBC where she was most recently vp of corporate communications, a position she held from 1993.

■ Westwood One Entertainment has named Bob Steinberg director of sales for the Western Region. Steinberg will be responsible for sales in major markets throughout Northern California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah.

Cash Box Bows Retail Guide

THE CASH BOX RETAIL GUIDE, a comprehensive research tool that examines the independent retail marketplace, is launched in this issue of Cash Box. This supplement intends to provide the music industry, through data provided by independent distributors and one-stops, accurate information on what is selling at the street level. In addition to the lists of top 20 album sales provided by each member of the independent distributor panel, a chart based on the raw data from the top one-stops will reflect the collective sales rankings of singles and albums according to our panel.

The Retail Guide will also provide news from the independent front, label and company profiles, reports on executive movement and features on marketing and promotion trends that impact the independent retail universe.

"We plan to get this viable resource into the hands of the people who count, those distributors, retailers and record company executives who realize the vitality of the the independent market and the need for the information the Retail Guide will provide," comments Gary Younger, director of marketing.

INDUSTRY BUZZ

Cash Box EAST COAST

Reprise rockers Filter recently made their NYC debut at the Limelight to an over-capacity crowd and treated the appreciative group to a guitar-driven set comprised of tunes off their soon-to-be-Gold debut, Short Bus. Pictured backstage after the show are (l-r): (back row) Filter's Geno Lenardo and Frank Cavanagh; (front row) Filter manager Richard Bishop; members Brian Liesegang and Richard Patrick; Reprise Records' Anne Marie Foley; Reprise exec. vp/gm, Rich Fitzgerald; and Filter's Matt Walker.

A LEADING POINT: Not many performers can shed a name for their group every record and still be able to keep a large following, but Michael Franti has been able to jump from the hardcorish industrial funk of the Beatnigs to the more hip-hoppish Disposable Heros of Hiphoprity to his latest incarnation as Spearhead, all the while keeping the light shining on himself. A packed and very diverse house at S.O.B.'s was all the proof needed that through his incarnations he has maintained his high profile. Playing a two-night stand with the Brooklyn Funk Essentials, Franti kept the crowd in the groove. Spearhead used some tried and true formulas to get people pumped up as they warmed up the audience before the lead singer come on stage. Once they got going there was less formula and more musicianship. With three singers transversing the stage and a four-piece band hitting the notes, the room swayed as they went from hard-edged beats to ballads, all within a mix of funk and rap that sometimes sounded like neither. In between, Franti talked about various subjects including the controversy over the prisoner Mumia Abu-Jamal, currently on death row. Politics aside, the evening was on the upbeat as Spearhead played numerous tracks off their album Home, out on Capitol, also including their latest single "Hole In The Bucket." Watch out for their tour, you may well get stuck.

PREMIUM FRESH SQUEEZED: Not more than five years ago, having a woman in a band was certainly going to be overly noticed, let alone if it was all female. Now, no one blinks an eye. Juicy, though, has gathered an inordinate amount of attention because they play music that has a very sweet and unashamedly girlish quality. The trio, originally from Boston and now residing in New York, have been slowly maturing onstage. They have the same DIY attitude that kept their punk predecessors sticking with it, but with very different results. This could be seen Monday at Brownie's as they played their first gig in quite a while. Adding a keyboardist/sampler for the show, Juicy showed what they have been doing with their time off as the sound was richer than before, even though they had some technical difficulties. Juicy's CD for ladies only is in its second pressing on Slow River Records. They will have a track on the AIDS benefit compilation Red Hot And Bothered due out sometime in the fall.

Cash Box WEST COAST

By Steve Baltin

IN THE CONTINUING QUEST FOR either the perfect concert venue or a spot in the Guinness Book Of World Records as the city with the highest number of venues, Saturday, August 12 saw the "grand" opening of yet another Los Angeles home for bands. The latest spot is The Hollywood Grand, which has long been a home for club activity, but had previously restrained from thrusting itself into the crowded mix for live bands.

However, after coming out of the box with a triple bill of Mercury's Catherine Wheel, Interscope's Wax and Gwen Mars, of Hollywood Records, it looks like the ample-sized club means business. Furthering that point, promoters succeeded in turning the show into an event reflective of a Hollywood "opening," complete with give-aways. Every person who came through the double glass doors was greeted with a Catherine Wheel/KROQ t-shirt.

But, the most amazing thing was the amount of people already in the room by the time Gwen Mars took the stage close to 8 p.m. Anyone familiar with L.A. concert etiquette knows that rule number two, right behind "show no emotion," is to "arrive fashionably late." Gwen Mars' hometown stature might have had some effect in luring the concertgoers in early, as most in attendance went to the front of the stage for the trio's set. The band didn't disappoint, playing material from its Magnosheen album, before closing with a killer cover of the Beatles' "Ticket To Ride."

After Wax came Catherine Wheel, the band that ostensibly everyone was there to see. It's hard to say if the industry lookie-loos were there for the show, or because they needed to say they were, but Catherine Wheel proved that its new-found appeal is for real.

HOUSE OF BLUES RECENTLY hosted a return party of sorts, as longtime L.A. resident and Giant recording artist Warren Zevon came to the House in support of his most recent album, Mutineer. The venerable singer/songwriter, still best known for his mid-'70s hit "Werewolves Of London," and his backing band, Something Happens, put on a fantastic 90-minute show that proved there is still no substitute for good songs.

Besides racing through a goodie bag of assorted hits; including "Play It All Night Long," "Lawyers, Guns & Money," "Roland, The Headless Thompson Gunner" and "Excitable Boy," Zevon gave a strong showing of the new CD, with the record's title track, "Poisonous Lookalike" and "Seminole Bingo," among others. In terms of crowd response, the favorite was "Werewolves Of London."

As if leading the L.A. Dodgers in the midst of their pennant race with the Colorado Rockies wasn't time consuming enough, all-star catcher Mike Piazza stopped by the studio to pay a visit to some old friends in the band Anthrax. The Elektra recording act was putting the finishing touches on Stomp 442, due in October. The album marks the band's second release for EEG. No confirmation yet on the rumor that Piazza, as part of baseball's strategy to win back the fans, will tour with Anthrax in the off season. Though the World Series ends in October and the album comes out...when?...Hey? Pictured (l-r): Scott Ian and Frankie Bello, Anthrax; Mike Piazza, L.A. Dodgers; Charlie Benante and John Bush, Anthrax.

Diamond Rio: No Longer in the Rough

By Wendy Newcomer

"STEP BY STEP...SIDE BY SIDE...we'll finish what we started." Those are the lyrics to Diamond Rio's latest single (currently at #45 on the Cash Box country singles chart). But they could also double for the group's motto. In just four years this six-member group has established itself as one of country music's leading contenders, a "band of the '90s" in the truest sense of the phrase. Having conquered the radio and video markets with top-selling albums and hit music videos, it is continuing to cement their place in country music history. In their quest for superstardom, Diamond Rio is leaving no stone (or media outlet) unturned.

Television is the group's latest venture. Diamond Rio recently taped its first one-hour TV special, "Diamond Rio Celebrates Red Wing," to be broadcast September 13 on TNN: The Nashville Network. "We went to Red Wing, Minnesota where they make Red Wing Boots," explains Marty Roe, Diamond Rio's lead singer and designated spokesperson. "They asked us to come up there and play their company picnic and their 90th Anniversary Celebration." The program will give viewers an opportunity to see the group in action on stage and behind the scenes.

"A lot of the special will be our show...It gives us a chance to kind of show some different sides of our music," Roe says. And if any band has multiple sides to display, it is surely Diamond Rio. Each member boasts years of performing experience. Individually, the guys claim backgrounds in bluegrass, rock, jazz, and of course, country. By the end of the '80s, the Tennessee River Boys (the band's first name) had made a name for themselves as a main attraction at Nashville's Opryland USA ThemePark. They were opening a concert for George Jones in Alabama when Arista Nashville's president, Tim DuBois, heard the soaring harmonies of country's next supergroup. One year later, the renamed Diamond Rio was in the studio working on its debut album.

At the time of Diamond Rio's inception, Arista Records was also experiencing new beginnings in Nashville. With Arista's country division being Music Row's new kid on a crowded block, the label was astutely discriminating when signing new acts. "We're just very, very selective on who we sign and make sure that we have a passion for them as artists and for the music they're doing," DuBois explains. "We have had an exceptionally high success ratio, but I think it's because we haven't signed a lot of people."

DuBois' gamble on the novice group turned into a sure bet in record time. "Diamond Rio was the first band, actually, that had big success for us. They were part of what I call the "Class of '91," which was Pam Tillis, Diamond Rio and Brooks & Dunn, which is a pretty strong class. They were the first band to just come out of the box with a number one record. We had two number one singles in a row and a Platinum album the first time out. So they really helped establish Arista as a player in this already crowded country market."

"I think what we always do is put the music first. We have quality over quantity," says Rhonda Forlaw, Arista Nashville's manager of media and publicity. "It's a real family atmosphere here and we all really pull together to try to make something happen." Forlaw reasons that Arista flourishes in a concentrated industry because the label tries to "bring everybody to the party," in contrast with other record labels in town. "They'll have a media event and that's the media's event. And then they'll have a marketing event, and that's the marketing event. We try to have more events with everybody involved," Forlaw says.

When asked about Diamond Rio's meteoric rise to the top, Forlaw declares what the band's press kit says: "They're the band that plays. They're all true musicians. I think the difference in Diamond Rio is their vocal blend and their individual instruments. You can hear them on the album, whereas other albums, they're more blended together."

DuBois concurs with the notion that the band offers originality. "We're often accused, rightly, of there being a lot of sameness in country radio. And I think that Diamond Rio is very different as an act. The guys play and sing all the stuff on its albums. I think what they do is unique to this marketplace. And I think that's always allowed their albums to find a place out there."

Presently, the band is hard at work on its fourth album for Arista Nashville (scheduled for an early 1996 release). "We're over halfway finished," Roe says. "I think we have a better picture of what this album's gonna be all about a little earlier on. We feel like we're singing and playing as good as we ever have. Those are the kind of things that need to happen when you're trying to put together a new album."

If Roe sounds relieved that recording is going so smoothly, he has reason to be. After a platinum-selling debut album and numerous awards from the Academy of Country Music and the Country Music Association, the group's sophomore effort, Close To The Edge, almost ended their winning streak. Commercially, the album was not a flop; it was recently certified Gold. According to Roe, the band's disappointment was in the quality of Close To The Edge. "The listening experience from top to bottom, for the person who went out and bought it, wasn't what we wanted it to be," Roe says. "We didn't spend enough time putting the album together, at least listening and living with the material once we did cut it."

Love A Little Stronger, the band's third album, was a redemption of sorts. Learning from its previous mistakes, the band was less rushed and more critical of what songs appeared on the final product. "Some things go away, some things kind of stay and grow on you. We really felt like Love A Little Stronger came back and was a lot more like an album we would like to be represented by. So we've applied...that same game plan to this fourth album," Roe says.)

This time the group even shares producing credits with DuBois and Mike Clute. "It's kind of neat to have a little more hands-on in that department," Roe says. It means a little more time in the studio...but once we got involved in that part of the process, it was exciting."

Although Roe speaks for the band, Diamond Rio is comprised of five other musicians: Gene Johnson (mandolin, vocals), Jimmy Olander (lead guitar), Brian Prout (drums), Dan Truman (keyboards) and Dana Williams (bass guitar, vocals). As any road-weary musician will testify, six different personalities traveling together for most of the year can create frayed nerves and testy egos. "We don't allow that little three-letter word (ego) in the group," Roe affirms. "We are pretty good about not getting too eat up with ourselves. And when somebody does kind of get off on a tangent, there's five other guys that knock him down!"

Roe says that the group's mix of dispositions served to keep the group together through early failures and recent successes. "I think by the time the success came, we had worked through our differences and had a pretty good understanding of one another's personalities and what made us tick. We come to majority decisions and that's the end of it. It's just the only way you can make a decision. And usually, if you use that philosophy and you're fairly democratic about it, six heads can be better than one."

To the naked eye, Diamond Rio's onstage chemistry and wholesome image appears to be as natural as their ability to make hit records. And though it is not contrived, it is certainly discussed and agreed upon before hitting the stage. "I'm sure there are things about the "band personality," that if you went to each individual, you might not find in that one particular person," Roe says. "But we sit down and we're fairly conscious of our goals, you know, and the values we want to stand for. And that's kind of what dictates, at least on a grand scale, anyway, the decisions we make with material and TV specials that we do—whatever we participate in. There's just a few overall values and goals musically and image-wise that we want to uphold...and I think they are pretty well held to on and off stage."

Based on the groups accomplishments so far, it doesn't take a fortune teller to predict that this sextet will one day have a track record that is just as impressive as another country band that, incidentally, took their name from the state in which Diamond Rio was "discovered." But first things first. Before Diamond Rio makes history, one of the group's goals is to make it to Europe and prove themselves as headliners. "We're a very goal-oriented bunch of guys that are not done yet," Roe says. "When you have a success on the first album, you have to really say, 'OK, let's prove that's not a fluke.' And sometimes it takes a couple albums to convince people. But I think that those are the things we have focused on and are banking on to have a long career."

REVIEWS By Steve Baltin

PAULA ABDUL: "Crazy Cool" (Virgin 11007)

The second single from Abdul's Head Over Heels CD is successful when it follows the same slightly dark ambient tones of "My Love Is For Real," the record's first single. However, it loses its way during the overly bubbly chorus. Abdul obviously wanted to try something new on this record. Hopefully she learned the valuable lesson for next time of sticking to one's own guns.

EDWIN McCAIN: "Solitude" (Lava/Atlantic 6291-2)

Talk about good timing. How'd you like to release your debut album in the summer of '95 and have the record's lead single feature guest vocals from Hootie & The Blowfish singer Darius Rucker? In the music world that's the equivalent of winning the lottery and a Vegas jackpot in the same week. A straight-ahead rocker in the Hootie vein, AAA will trip over its feet to welcome this song. And top 40 may follow suit.

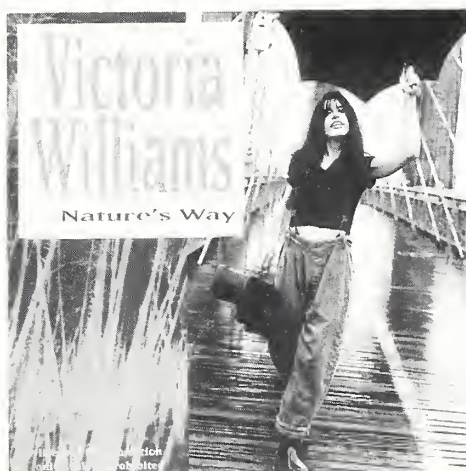

REDBELLY: "Fire In The Hole" (EastWest 9213)

There is a real bluesy feel to this single, which might make it hard to market to modern rock stations, but such is life. If the record didn't have the blues feel, it'd be relegated to mediocre AOR status. So, when one thinks of the alternative (no pun intended) at least it has a fighting chance this way.

FAITH NO MORE: "Evidence" (Slash/Reprise 7572)

Taken from the band's King For A Day, Fool For A Lifetime record, the song showcases yet another side of the versatile band. The base may be rock, but there is a strong R&B groove going on throughout the track. One thing about Faith No More is that every member of the band can play. That musicianship carries over to this track and allows the Bay Area band to create easily the best R&B song by a rock act this year. Unfortunately for the band, urban stations probably won't play Faith No More and rock stations will be equally reluctant. So once again Faith No More are screwed by having the nerve to not sound like everyone else.

PICK OF THE WEEK

VICTORIA WILLIAMS: "Nature's Way" (Mammoth/Atlantic 6233-2)

Victoria Williams' Loose was one of the best albums of last year. Despite strong songs and its overwhelming warmth and coziness, the record hasn't caught on with fans the way it deserves to. But much to the credit of the folks at Mammoth they have not given up and continue to mine the CD for singles. With a little help from her friends, Williams may get over the hump yet. Williams' quiet cover of the Spirit song features vocal assistance from Soul Asylum's Dave Pirner, meaning radio might be more open to the record. And with a spot on the Soul Asylum/Jayhawks/Matthew Sweet fall tour, and an upcoming video to be directed by actress Winona Ryder, it will be hard for the mainstream to ignore yet another wonderful single from the singer/songwriter.

REVIEWS by Steve Baltin

■ BLIND MELON: Soup (Capitol 34615-2)

Blind Melon's sophomore album has been delayed so many times, one had to wonder if it was the summer's musical equivalent of Waterworld. Depending on why you ask, the group's follow-up to its multi-platinum debut may indeed still be. Radio has been quick to jump on the CD's first single, the rocking "Galaxie," but advance reviews have not been kind to the 14-song collection. Taking the Swiss approach, both parties are right. The band developed enough of a fan base that Soup has to be considered a major summer release until the fans say differently, but artistically the group seems unsure of what direction it wants to take. Blind Melon fluctuates between the traditional rock on songs like "2x4" and the psychedelic spaciness of "Vernie." While in theory that would sound like a dream, combining the fans of both Pearl Jam and Phish, the results of this experiment will likely prove disappointing in terms of sales.

■ YOU AM I: Sound As Ever (Warner Bros. 45936-2)

You Am I is an Australian trio whose most creative moment by far comes while describing the type of song the group is writing. That's not to say this is a bad record. On the contrary, it's actually pretty strong, but the imagination lead vocalist/guitarist Tim Rogers uses in describing the band's music is just so cool. Unfortunately, if I were to reprint the quote it would take up too much space, so you'll just have to imagine. You can console yourself with such glorious pop gems as "Jaimme's Got A Gal" and "Adam's Ribs."

■ PAW: Death To Traitors (A&M 0370-2)

This 14-song CD begins with "No Such Luck," a passionate and angry song that reflects the album's title, and there are more numbers on here that carry on the attitude, particularly the title track. But sandwiched in between are some very catchy pop tunes, including "Swollen" and the quirky "Seasoned Glove." Also falling into that category is the almost lovely "Built Low." Death To Traitors is a real find for fans who like their music to go beyond one-note.

■ LUNA: Penthouse (Elektra 61807)

Luna is a New York quartet that, on previous efforts, has been overwhelmed by comparisons to the gentler side of the Velvet Underground. The group fueled the fire by having Velvet's guitarist Sterling Morrison appear on its Bewitched album. On this 11-song CD, another legendary N.Y. figure, Tom Verlaine, appears. But on the opening track, "Chinatown," it becomes clear the band will not escape the comparisons. Look, if you're gonna sound like someone there are a lot worse bands to sound like than the Velvet Underground, so get over it and enjoy what is a very friendly album. Other standouts include "Moon Palace," the groovy "23 Minutes In Brussels" and "Freakin' And Peakin'."

■ BRIAN WILSON: I Just Wasn't Made For These Times (MCA 11270)

This soundtrack to the upcoming documentary was produced by the extraordinary Don Was, the man brought in whenever it's time to take a veteran rock star and provide cachet for today's scene. With a press kit featuring quotes by Tom Petty (among others) singing Wilson's praises, it's pretty clear everyone involved feels now is the time to introduce Wilson to young record buyers. The extremely open-minded may groove on this collection of 11 previously released Wilson songs that were re-recorded for this CD. The one exception might be "Still I Dream Of It." Die-hard Beach Boys fans will be in seventh heaven with the more serene versions of Beach Boys' classics such as "Caroline, No," "Let The Wind Blow" and "Do It Again." Some of the more interesting cuts include "Love And Mercy" and "Melt Away" from Wilson's critically lauded 1988 solo album. Wilson will never appeal to everyone's taste the way he did in the '60s, but there's no denying his importance to the history of rock music.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ JOY DIVISION: Permanent: Joy Division 1995 (Qwest/Warner Bros. 45979-2)

According to the Jon Savage penned liner-notes, "...Joy Division were directly inspired by the Sex Pistols, and out of all the British groups who followed, they went the furthest into the demons of the time, the collective subconscious if you will..." (Be sure to read the rest of the essay). Though Joy Division didn't attack its listeners the way punk bands did, the group was no less brutal, and in some ways moreso, because Ian Curtis and mates hid their darkness beneath the friendly overtones of early techno, re. "Transmission" or "Days Of The Lords." No song better captures the contrast in Joy Division than the obvious "Love Will Tear Us Apart," which serves as a bookend for the 16-song CD. Because of Ian Curtis' tragic suicide and U2's incorporation of the song into a medley with "With Or Without You" during the '87 tour, the song is as close to a classic as the techno genre has offered. That will be the hook in luring fans in. But once there, they will discover a wealth of buried treasures.

REVIEWS By Gil L. Robertson IV

■ MICHAEL ROSE: Michael Rose (Heartbeat 144) Producer: Niney The Observer

Reggae's brother number one, Michael Rose, is back with a new collection of tracks that promises to increase his visibility as one of the leaders of this genre. This disc is filled with highly accessible tracks that should garner radio support from both alternative and urban formats. Throughout, Rose is in complete control with a vocal delivery that resonates with a passionate, high energy as well as a tranquil, easy flow. Reggae has always been the type of music that rewards its listeners by putting them in touch with their inner selves, and with this project Rose proves that he's the master of that gift. Standout tracks: "Too Hard A Hearing," "Short Temper," "Don't Play With Fire" and "Casabank Queen."

■ SOULTRY: Soultry (Motown 314530553-2) Producers: Various

Motown's new four man group debut project is a strong collection of tracks that should provide perfect entree for this group's entry into the forefront of urban contemporary male groups. Throughout this disc the production is sharp and the vocals crisp with powerful harmonies and winning lead vocals. Soultry aggressively targets the material selected for this effort with verve and confidence, and in the process provides a shining example of what R&B music is supposed to be. Urban radio will love this group across the board and there are a number of strong crossover possibilities included as well. A sparkling debut. "I'll Get Mine," "Where Do Broken Hearts Belong," "Cash Money" and "Relax Your Mind."

■ JAZZMATAZZ VOL II: The New Reality, Hosted by Guru (Chrysalis 34290-2) Producers: Various

This eclectic array of songs definitely maps out a new reality of song styling that is worth giving attention to. The disc features a strong cadre of guest vocalists who give the material here a personality and authority that is combustible. The music here is a refreshing departure from the humdrum sounds associated with the bulk of today's urban-oriented recordings. Although initially the music here will probably not be immediately accessible for Top Forty radio, it should succeed in the growing alternative urban market and with college and pop alternative formats. Standout tracks: "Living In This World," "Looking Through Darkness," "For You" and "Jazzalude."

■ PATRA: Scent Of Attraction(B) (Epic) Producers: Various

Patra's follow up to her highly provocative 1993 debut is a successful mix of urban and Caribbean flavors that should firmly establish a niche for her in the contemporary marketplace. Throughout this disc, girlfriend is in great shape, cleverly playing off her image of provocative sex goddess, without getting too caught up in it. The song selection, musicianship, and duet tracks back her well and give the record a funky edge that adds to its credibility. Vocally she's a strong singer whose voice is capable of displaying a wide range of personality. This project should enjoy long life on urban radio and may even cross over pop as well. A good second effort. Standout tracks: "Pull Up To The Bumper," "Banana," "Mek Me Hot" and "Time Fi Wine."

THE RHYTHM

DANGEROUS MINDS PREMIERED last week with a great concert party at The City Center Gallery in Burbank. The Hollywood Pictures release which grossed over $14 million in its first week of release, stars Michelle Pfeiffer and an array of hot and talented, up-and-coming stars. It's an MCA soundtrack, which features Coolio, Immature, Rappin' 4-Tay and Tre Black, has enjoyed out-of-the-box success and debuted on the Cash Box Urban charts at #19. Lately MCA has enjoyed great success with their soundtrack releases, the recent Tales From The Hood soundtrack did quite well when released this summer.

MULTI-GRAMMY WINNING PRODUCER QUINCY JONES has completed recording of Q's Jook Joint, the follow-up to his highly successful 1989 release Back On The Block. Scheduled for release on October 24, Q's Jook Joint features the talents of an eclectic group of singers and musicians for what results in a retrospective of his broad and diverse career. Q's Jook Joint is a reference to the backwoods clubhouses in rural America in the 1930's, 40's and 50's. The word "jook" is of African origin that means "house of pleasure" or "wicked place." According to Jones, for decades it was the only place where African Americans could go for entertainment. He adds that for American popular dance and music the jook may very well be the most significant development in history. Artists featured on the project include, Bono, Brandy, Ray Charles, Phil Collins, Coolio, Babyface, Gloria Estefan, Rachele Ferrell, Aaron Hall, Herbie Hancock, Heavy D., Ron Isley, Chaka Khan, R. Kelly, Queen Latifah, Tone Loc, The Luniz, Brian McKnight, Melle Mel, Shaquille O'Neal, Joshua Redman, SWV, Take 6, Toots Thielemann, Mervyn Warren, Barry White, Warren Wiebe, Charlie Wilson, Nancy Wilson, Stevie Wonder, Mr. X, YoYo and the Broadway musical troupe Stomp.

DIS 'N DAT: A Greatest Hits collection of songs has just been released by legendary, good-time soul singer Al Green who, this fall, will be inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall Of Fame. Supermodel Karen Alexander has teamed up with Motown Records to create The Karen Alexander Motown Workout. The hour-long video features Alexander in a total body workout against a musical backdrop of vintage Motown tunes. Distributed by Polygram, the video will be available September 19, at a suggested retail price of $19.95. More Motown news: Congratulations to Eric Talbert, who was recently promoted to Associate Director at MoJazz. Talbert's previous position was as assistant to Senior MoJazz executive Bruce Walker. Perspective Records and The Children's Television Workshop recently announced the winners of its GHOSTWRITER song writing contest. Trina Chiasson and Danny Velez will have their words put to music by the Grammy-winning producing team of Jiminy Jam and Terry Lewis at their Flyte Tyme Studios in Minneapolis on August 25. Hot jazz vocalist Dianne Reeves has got a new gig. The song diva was recently tapped to interview the legendary Ray Charles as a guest correspondent for Good Morning America. Speaking of Reeves, her new disc, Quiet After The Storm, has already sold over 80,000 units after only 8 weeks in release, a phenomenal success for a jazz artist. Supergroup Earth, Wind & Fire will get their star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame on September 14. The group is presently finishing up their current tour before going back into the studio to record their next album. August 29 is the release date for "I Hate U," the first single from the artist formerly known as Prince's new disc The Gold Experience.

THE RHYME

By Gil L. Robertson IV

Caught on camera immediately following his recent free outdoor concert is Motown/Tabu roots reggae artist, Lucky Dube (3rd from the left), whose current album, entitled Trinity, marks his Motown debut and is currently in the top 15 of Billboard's Reggae Album chart. The multi-Platinum, South African artist's previous releases include the highly successful Victims and House of Exile. Seen with him are: (l-r) Penny Boegner, UNICEF board member; Motown Records Director of Strategic Planning, Eddie Brown; Kwani Hauraka of UNICEF, Motown Records Product Manager, Thornell Jones; and Motown Records President and CEO, Jheryl Busby.

SOCIALLY CONSCIOUS AND RELATIVELY CLEAN RAP group Channel Live was recently misidentified on the popular Charles Perez tv show as a group of hard core rappers, despite information that was presented to the contrary. Additionally, the group's participation in the show's panel discussion on marijuana use and racism was cut short. At press time no formal explanation was made available regarding the show's negligence in this matter, however, one would expect an apology to be issued soon by Perez and producers. While the media has made a relevant point in presenting a forum on the possible repercussions that result from excessive lyrics recorded by some rappers, actions like the ones taken by this show could result in a loss of credibility on behalf of the valid charges that have been presented.

WU-TANG DOING THE RIGHT THING: Superstar rappers, Prince Rakeem aka The RZA, and members of the Wu-Tang Clan are putting their enormous record success to good use with the recent opening of their clothing store Wu-Wear. On Friday, August 11 the band members and many of their close associates gathered at the store's Staten Island location for its official opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony. Comfortable, functional and moderately priced, the clothes feature designs by Wu-Tang members who plan to open similar stores at locations across the country, depending on the success of this initial venture. In other Wu-Tang news, band member Raekwon is enjoying out-of-the-box success with his solo debut project Only Built For Cuban Links which, in its first week, has already sold more than 130,000 units.

Loud/RCA rap group Mobb Deep makes The Charles Perez Show "infamous." They posed with other rap artists after discussing the validity of violence in rap music and ending the show by performing their hit single, "Survival Of The Fittest." Pictured clockwise (top to bottom): MC Shan; D.J. Polo, Charles Perez; Prodigy (Mobb Deep), Tandy Weems; Roxanne Shante, and Havoc (Mobb Deep).

Rap Single Reviews

By Gil L. Robertson IV

■ DANA DANE: "Chester" (Maverick 7661)

This is perhaps one of the most important songs to come from the rap/hip-hop genre in some time. This track's message about child sexual molestation is unfortunately both timely and essential in the perverse age that we live in. As for the record itself, the song has a nice nursery rhyme flow to it that's attractive while the vocals are confident and crisp.

■ MISTA GRIMM: "Steady Dippen" (New Deal/550 7067)

This cool-breeze rapper is in great form on this debut single from his upcoming eponymously titled disc. Throughout this single Grimm's style is strong and correct and his delivery a mixture of old school flavor with a contemporary edge. The slow groove, funky-fresh music backs him well which, together, all makes for a winning package.

■ CROOKLYN DODGERS '95: "Return of the Crooklyn Dodgers" (MCA 3492)

The first single from Spike Lee's upcoming film Clockers is a def track filled with a hard-edged flavor that's hard to resist. The groove is on and the rappers here are leading the way with a fresh and naughty delivery that's bound to get this track substantial support from urban radio.

ON STAGE

Live Reviews

Barry Gets Busy At The Greek

By M.R. Martinez

THE GREEK THEATRE, LOS ANGELES, CA—Only Barry White could put musicians on stage wearing what could have been satin pajamas. The "Love Moaner" himself wore a green outfit that looked like something he'd wear while wooing women in an intimate setting, except this was a sold-out, open air venue and the audience was there to imbibe his alternately sexy and funky music, which is designed to create a mood for intimate moments.

White continues to have, along with Isaac Hayes—to whom he was often compared when he broke onto the scene in the early '80s—one of the most distinct male voices in R&B/pop. And on this stop of his "Icon World Tour" in support of his A&M Records album "The Icon Is Love," backed by the more than 30-piece, smoothly executing, Love Unlimited Orchestra, White demonstrated why his records are a must for romantic interludes. However, the live vocal delivery was uneven and sometimes overshadowed by superfluous staging.

White might as well have been performing in a studio, because it was a rare occasion when he seemed to bring any animation to his stage performance. But there was The Voice. If not for the rivulets of sweat gushing over his face you might not have known that he was working hard at all. He had dancers to do all the physical labor—four attractive women who increasingly wore more revealing outfits as the music moved through each of White's musical eras.

Barry White

He opened with a rather languid version of "The Time Is Right" from his current album, before moving to his classic "Can't Get Enough Of Your Love" and the equally ubiquitous '70s hit "Never Going To Give You Up." The audience responded favorably to the presentation of these selections.

During his performance of "Ecstasy," the dancers were wheeled on stage in large champagne glasses, and during a later segment they did a sexy dance-play on chaise lounges. At that point, a woman in the audience audibly said, "You need to lose the hoes, Barry," something to which several of the women present concurred.

But the dancers moved forward undaunted, taking center stage in a lengthy opening interlude during which the orchestra performed an engaging version of the hit "Secret Garden," which White performed with other singers on Quincy Jones' Back On The Block album.

White was most animated and seemed to effectively engage the audience when he took the conductor's baton and directed the orchestra through his signature composition, "Love's Theme." He brought the song to a rousing crescendo, often pausing to let the audience's anticipation build as the ending swirled to a sonic climax.

Sultry Silas/MCA recording artist Chante Moore more than warmed up the audience with a 40-minute set that covered selections from her first two albums. Her multi-octave vocal range, frequently compared to that of the late Minnie Riperton, was effective in the open air, even remarkable considering she had been battling laryngitis.

Summer Jam '95: KKBT Misses The Beat

By Victor Everett

IRVINE MEADOWS, CA—Bathrooms were filthy, food was ridiculously overpriced and most of the featured acts were unimpressive, but SummerJam '95 went off without much of a hitch at Irvine Meadows recently.

Hosted by 92.3 the Beat, the event was touted to be one that had no intention of honoring color lines yet, oddly enough, all of the acts that performed on this over-inflated balloon were all black. Note to the Beat: if you're going to pump an event that ignores color, have the insight to sprinkle your line-up sheet with more than one color.

The Summer Jam was advertised as a charitable event, with no one making any money and all proceeds going to charity—which might explain the almost criminal act of price gouging at the food lines (an 8 oz. glass of lemonade cost $3 bucks), and helps to clarify the reason why so many of the more popular groups put on such lackluster performances.

But some acts did act like true professionals by respecting the $30 per ticket price tag and rose to the occasion. Like Ms. damn-near-but-naked Adina Howard, who earned the audience's affection by appearing in g-string underwear covered by sweltering hot pants.

And bald-headed Doug E. Fresh showed why he's earned the title as the "rap world's greatest entertainer." Doug's easy stage entrance lulled the audience into his performance from the beginning. He didn't come out in the "here I am world, love me for what I am" attitude as many before came with. Instead he strolled out in front of the audience in a white muscled T-shirt and faded blue jeans and teased the audience with songs from other groups before bringing the house down with "The Show" and "Li-Di-Da-Di."

Naughty By Nature raised their popularity in the west up a notch with their powerful showtime antics. Hip-hop's truest residents gave the trio an approving nod from the beginning when Vinnie opened up the show with a skit from the movie Beat Street. Koyo Gee, Vinnie, and the pumped-up Treach gave the audience their money's worth by performing songs like "Hip-Hop Hooray," "O.P.P.," and "Feel My Flow," but their improved onstage presence is what set them apart from artists who shared the same stage. In spite of performances like these, Summer Jam '95 didn't live up to all the pre-concert hype set off by the Beat. It didn't earn the distinction of being the "greatest concert of all time," and was a painfully expensive disappointment to those who expected it to be more. In the future, organizers over at KKBT will need to do three things if they want their concert events to have the continued support of the people.

#1: Make sure public toilets are in the same condition as the portables used by your staff backstage.

#2: Give concertgoers the choice of bringing their own food and beverages instead of forcing them to buy from miserly vendors. Some people can't pay $75 for a pair of concert tickets and then turn around and drop $3 for a slice of cake.

#3: Diversify the acts that play at Summer Jam concerts. Your slogan is "No Color Lines," but how can we take you seriously if you don't allow more than one color to be represented?

CORE, Macola: Development & Marketing

By M.R. Martinez

INDIE COMPANIES WISHING TO IMPROVE their fortunes do not always look to the "Big Six" distribution machines. Case in point is CORE Entertainment, which could improve the label's artist development fortunes through its relationship with Macola Records Group, which built its reputation on marketing and distributing cutting edge music. The exclusive manufacturing and distribution agreement between the companies, announced in recent weeks, is an example of how two independent companies pool strengths to advance mutual and individual goals—all while firmly navigating the independent pipeline.

Nashville-based CORE's president Keith Dressel, whose company has developed a wide range of artists and product—from the Vigilantes of Love (now on indie label Capricorn Records) to perennial Adult Contemporary crooner Engelbert Humperdinck—hopes to take advantage of the relationship that Macola has with Navarre Corp., which is a major independent distributor of music, and other software which is causing the scope of artist development to evolve.

"One of the reasons this deal happened was because of our access to Navarre," says Don Macmillan, Macola president. "Not only do mass merchandisers and chain stores receive product through their system, but the core retail market also gets serviced. Sure, the Best Buys, Blockbusters and Camelots get the product, but so do the mom and pop stores. It's all about sales."

Macmillan notes that Navarre does a "tremendous job" on product because "they keep their roster of labels down so they can do a decent job" of promotion and marketing. He also noted that the company gets his vote because they help develop music companies with an eye to taking advantage of Navarre's firm foothold on the distribution of all software, including home video, and the ever-burgeoning CD-ROM, which is quickly becoming a major tool in artist development.

Macola has expressed excitement over handling product by Humperdinck, but moreso over the prospect of marketing other established and new artists. Legendary folk singer Dirk Hamilton, singer/songwriter Moon Martin and the indefatigable Stephan Allen Davis who has created 15 #1 hits, including "Take Time To Know Her," made popular by Percy Sledge. Turi, The Hardliners, Podunk and Mr. Happy are fresh acts that could continue Macola's legacy of breaking acts like N.W.A. and Timex Social Club.

While CORE's Dressel plans to create marketing and promotion strategies at the company's Nashville headquarters, Macmillan and his staff will work to create merchandising and promotional materials to be utilized by Navarre's 30-branch field staff and also be used by the regional reps employed by Macola.

"We have a staff that develops one-sheets, posters and other promotional items that work their way into the (Navarre) system," Macmillan explains. "We really believe that we can help some of CORE's artists thrive."

charge of artist relations. ■ Jeff Cook has been upped to sr. vp of promotion and marketing at Capricorn Records. Cook began his promotion career in the mid-'70s for Arista Records, moved to Atlanta in '78 to head the label's AOR promotion and then became sr. director of album promotion in '82. He also has held posts at Elektra. He joined the re-launched Capricorn in 1991. ■ Cambridge, MA-based Rounder Records has upped a few of its employees starting with the promotion of Brad Paul from national promotion director to his new title of vp of national promotion and publicity. Susan Piver, the label's former director of marketing and sales, has been appointed vp of sales and marketing. ■ K-Tel International has announced a series of executive changes. Arrival Music, the Christian music division of K-Tel, recently named Christian music industry veteran Tom Ramsey to vp of the label. Coldfront Records, an urban-oriented label recently started by K-Tel has announced the hiring of urban music veteran Allen Johnston

as K-Tel's national urban sales manager. ■ Rondor Music International has appointed Carol Spencer to the position of A&R coordinator. Prior to Spencer's promotion she worked for years as an assistant for Rondor's sr. vp of creative Brenda Andrews. ■ Al Bunetta Management has appointed Janie West the director of his associated publishing companies. Bunetta's companies include song catalogues of John Prine and Steve Goodman. West will be responsible for overseeing the day-to-day activities of the publishing division, including song-plugging and A&R. In addition, West will also be active in talent acquisitions for the Oh Boy Records label. Prior to joining the Bunetta team, West spent five years at Liberty Records in A&R and three years at MCA Records Nashville. ■ Priority Records, announced the appointment of Tim Reid II to manager of artist development. Reid will share duties of the ten year-old company's roster with current Priority employee, Dan Devita. Prior to Reid's work at Priority, he worked as a marketing/sales representative for black music at Hollywood Records. ■ Rhino Records has recently appointed Jill Ruzich to the newly-created position of national sales development manager. Ruzich was previously an artist development representative for the San Francisco branch of CEMA Distribution. Her new Rhino responsibilities include sales research and analysis, and the creation of a monthly newsletter that will keep the independents apprised of Rhino releases and events. Capricorn Records has announced that Paula Donner will be a publicist and her responsibilities will include communication with print and broadcast media nationwide. Prior to his work at Capricorn, Donner was employed at Sector 2 Records, as well as working as a sound engineer at Fitzgerald's in Houston, TX. She also served as an audio engineer at South Coast Film & Video. Also Roger Groce has been named as the publicity assistant for the label. Groce's duties will include the coordination of media service for the label's diverse roster. ■ Roadrunner Records has appointed Rick Meuser to the newly-created position of director of business affairs. Meuser formerly held posts at PolyGram and RCA.

WARRIOR SOUL: The Space Age Playboys (Mayhem/Futurist 11072)

Warrior Soul has released four records through DGC/Geffen Records, but The Space Age Playboys is its first for indie companies Mayhem/Futurist. While the musical quality remains consistent with the previous releases, frontman Kory Clarke can't help but reveal his political views about any and everything for the world to consume. However, this time his lyrics are a bit less blunt and the music is a tad more melodic, making the record more radio friendly than its predecessors. Clarke considers this disc "their best album to date." Stand out tracks are: "Television," "Rocket Engines" and, the closing tune, "Fighten' The War." (KS)

WELT: Better Days (Doctor Dream Records - no cat. #)

No need to worry, Welt is not another corporate punk band that sings about minor dilemmas while selling millions of records. This quartet from Sacramento, CA is sincere about the teen angst of which they sing. Their debut album, consisting of 13 tunes, is energetic and amusing. They aren't trying to save the world, just attempting to figure out what people want, especially those of the female gender. While the eldest band member is barely old enough to consume alcohol—legally, that is—they seem to have the right idea about their music, keeping it uplifting and fun. With song titles such as "Lame," "Really?" and "Anything," it's easy to see why Welt provides a welcome breath of fresh air. (KS)

PAUL RUSSO: I Can Show You Love (A&E 303) Producers: Paul Russo and Louis Mosley

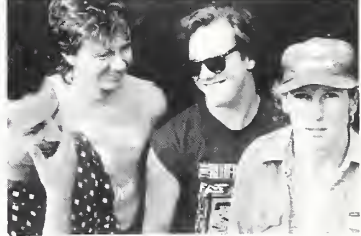

This is a solid blend of cool, mellow soul and classic jazz tracks delivered with an easily accessible style that should capture this-up-and-coming artist a sizable following. Throughout this disc, the saxophonist displays a wide showcase of his gifts with personality and great style. He also cleverly incorporates his contemporary covers with an old school feel that should add to his credibility. Expect urban contemporary and jazz formats to embrace this disc which stands as a powerful beginning for this jazzman's career.

Standout tracks: "Butterfly New," "Mulatto," "Still In Love" and "Forever Love." (GR)

BIRDBRAIN: Bliss (TVT 5710)

Birdbrain, a foursome from Boston, MA, speak of aggression toward what they describe as "this cheated generation." With a vocalist/songwriter by the name of Ammo, what else would you expect! His lyrics are rebellious, and his vocal style seems to bear that out. He presents some of his words audibly and clear, then other lyrics roll out of his mouth as if he's intoxicated and can merely mumble. This 12-track release includes partially acoustic numbers, almost tender melodies, as well as powerful upbeat tracks. With continuous diversity throughout, the listener may forget that one band is performing all these songs. If you are up in arms on what records to take along on that cross-country trip, this could be one considering, it covers a buffet of sonic tastes. (KS)

COWBOY MOUTH: It Means Escape (Monkey Hill Records MON 6128)

In case you haven't been formally introduced to Cowboy Mouth, it is certainly one introduction that is long overdue. This New Orleans-based four-piece band has been touring the country with longtime friends and current chart toppers Hootie and the Blowfish. While the group's music isn't identical to Blowfish's, something about the comfortable songs makes one think the band could perform in front of the kind of audiences attracted by Hootie and the Blowfish. To give you an idea of the Mouth's humor, take

Distributor Profile

Andy Allen & The Alternative Distribution Alliance

By Steve Baltin

ANDY ALLEN, PRESIDENT OF THE Alternative Distribution Alliance (ADA) would like to clarify something. Despite widespread popular opinion, the ADA is not strictly part of the WEA Group. The amount of specialized work they do for the conglomerate, including working records like Better Than Ezra's highly successful Deluxe on Elektra, has led people to that conclusion, but ADA is an organization that is dedicated to remaining independent in its manner of doing business. The distribution company, which formed in May/June of 1993, currently handles such well-known independents as Epitaph, Futurist, Restless, Rhino, Teenbeat and Touch And Go, to name but a few.

Allen joined the company in June of 1994 after a 10-year stint with Island Records. Allen said, "The last three of which I was general manager of Island in the States." Prior to that he served 10 years with RCA. Though ADA might not seem at first an ideal situation for him, given his background with major labels, Allen has abundant reasons as to why this was, in fact, the perfect place for him to go. He said, "A lot of the labels that were Island-owned, were distributed independently. Labels like 4th and Broadway, Mango, Grape Jones, were labels that were distributed independently, and obviously we were very involved in working those records."

Allen continued, "So, independent distribution wasn't something that was new to me. It was something that we had been involved with for some time. The ADA operation was very interesting to me as it had started up and I had kind of watched it grow just in that it was a competitor of the ILS system, which was our independent system at Island. What attracted me to it were the labels that were distributing through ADA. The fact that it had the Warner Music Group involved meant a commitment towards making it work. And I have always loved the kind of entrepreneurial and independent spirit that comes in working with or for an independent label. I just think it's a real exciting part of the business."

Allen's enthusiasm for the independent spirit is apparent, but the Warner Music Group is clearly a cornerstone of ADA's present and future plans. For Allen the reasoning behind Warner's involvement with ADA can be explained as follows, "With ADA, they have the opportunity to use a different distribution system...In the research that we've done, about 35 or 38 percent of the stores that we sell to are also sold (to) directly by WEA. So you can tell there's a significant difference in the stores that we reach directly."

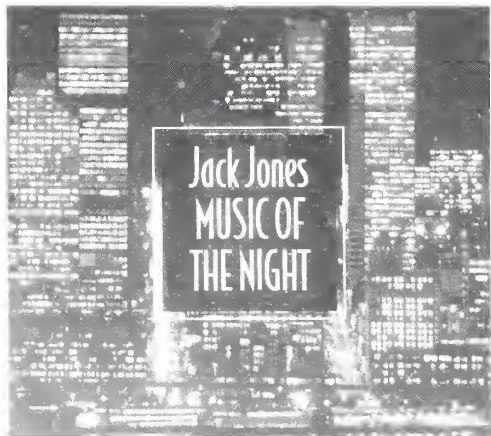

Unprecedented success is not without its drawbacks, though. Specifically, the point of ADA was to provide specialized attention to the labels it works with. However, continued expansion could make that goal less realistic. As president of ADA, what does Allen see as way to counter that problem? "Well, I think that there's a process in place to make sure that we don't grow beyond what our target is, which is to be able to provide distribution with an eye toward artist development."

In addition, ADA is constantly expanding in other directions. An example is their recent installation of CD sampling stations into selected independent retail outlets, designed to help those stores keep up with the major chains. After an initial outlay of stations to 38 stores, more are being added on a continual basis. While the cost might be a bit high, there's an old adage that says, you have to spend money to make money. And given their success, and potential for future growth, it's hard to argue with ADA's way of doing business.

note of these song titles: "Hey Bartender," "Looked Like A Woman," and "Here I Sit In Prison (Yipee-l-Yah)." And if Cowboy Mouth's tour mates and tune titles aren't enough to get your interest peaked, drummer/vocalist Fred LaBlanc's candid comment is sure to. "If I die tomorrow, I want to make sure I had a really good time." Well put, Fred. (KS)

■ JACK JONES: Music Of The Night (Honest 0002) Producer: Edward J. Fisk and Jack Jones

"The Love Boat soon will be making another voyage. The Love Boat..." The Love Boat may not be coming back around, but the veteran singer/songwriter who did one of the most infamous themes in TV history is shipping out again with this 11-song collection that was recorded live in London. But the music on this record would've been just as much at home on Broadway or in Vegas. Fans of the crooning tradition will embrace Jones' version of George & Ira Gershwin's "Embraceable You," as well as his take on Cole Porter's "Just One Of Those Things." The Vegas type versions of Bread's "If" and John Lennon's "Imagine" fit well in the context of the CD. (SB)

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ GARBAGE: Garbage (Almo Sounds AMSD 80004)

Imagine a record filled with a beautiful voice and an eclectic mix of sounds. This indeed is one that contains just that. Fronted by the Scottish voice of Shirley Manson, known for her work with Angelfish, her singing is tender but fierce, clean yet edgy, and all the while entirely entertaining. Garbage's premiere single, "Vow," is a treat, but other tracks that stand out on the record include "Queer," "Stroke Of Luck," and "Milk." In short, this record is made up of blunt realities and while it's not always pretty, it certainly is a unique artistic creation for the world to interpret and consume. Because not all Garbage should be discarded, this one's a keeper. (KS)

INDIE NEWS IN BRIEF

AGF ENTERTAINMENT LTD., a New York-based music company, recently announced the launch of its new record label, Plump Records. Upcoming releases on the label will include discs from David Massengill, Harvey Fierstein, Eric Andersen, vitapup, Howard Jones, and a collection of rare recordings from current Columbia Records recording artist Shawn Colvin. Plump Records will be distributed exclusively through AEC Distribution...

If you're familiar with Aaron Neville's Grammy Award-winning music, you may want to look for new releases from some of his relatives. Ivan Neville and Cyril Neville currently have records separately available through an East Coast-based label called Iguana Records.

If you haven't heard the name Corey Stevens, you are about to. Stevens, the Eureka Recordings artist, will be featured in on-air promotions of Fox Television's critically acclaimed Party Of Five. His tune "The Brothers," which was originally written by Stevens as a tribute to Duane and Gregg Allman, seems to fit perfectly with the theme of the family friendly show...

Code Blue, a new blues-based label, just put out releases from Sherman Robertson, a Texas style blues vocalist/guitarist; Jay Owens, a soulful blues singer/songwriter; and The Hoax, a band made up of five young musicians from a small town in southwest England. The label also inked a deal with Chicago great John Primer and plans to put out a record from him in early 1996.

CONSIDERING in recent years the music genre generally known as heavy metal has had a tough time remaining mainstream and also get major label support, such acts have relocated to more boutique companies and returned to their underground roots where they still enjoy appreciative and dedicated fans. A few labels that specialize in metal music are Earache, Nuclear Blast/Relapse Records and Noise Records. Some upcoming releases through Earache include discs from Cathedral, At The Gates, Scorn, Ultraviolence, Old, Napalm Death and Godflesh...

Doctor Dream Records just announced that Tommy Macke and The Grabbers have parted ways. Despite the fact the band is in the middle of a national tour, the former frontman and ex-bandmates have split due to mutual differences. Temporarily replacing Macke will be former Old Nick vocalist, Jonny Ver-Planck. A permanent replacement should be announced before the summer comes to an end. More news to come regarding Macke's new musical endeavors...

Legendary guitarist/singer/songwriter Ed-die Hinton passed away on Friday, July 28, 1995. Hinton, an Alabama resident, worked as a session player, performing with such greats as Wilson Pickett, Aretha Franklin, Solomon Burke, Elvis Presley and Otis Redding. Hinton's own writing was influenced most by

Redding and his songs have been recorded by the likes of Cher, Gregg Allman, Percy Sledge, and Dusty Springfield. Later in his career, Hinton still produced soulful quality records...

NEW YORK-BASED Futurist Label Group is set to have several releases in the stores before Fall. Look for records from Warrior Soul, My Dying Bride, Sometime Sweet Susan, Mind Over Four, Beat Farmers and Hooch. The Futurist Label Group is distributed through INDI/Alliance Entertainment Corporation.

Evil Troll Records, a West Coast-based label just put out a disc from The Obvious Wish. The record is entitled Stickman W/Red Balloon and features just that as the album art work.

K-tel International is going back a couple of decades to revive some music of the past. The label is set to re-issue several releases from a heart throb of the 70's, Bobby Sherman. The first four titles in the series are: Bobby Sherman, Here Comes Bobby, A Portrait Of Bobby, and With Love, Bobby. All of the aforementioned will be released on CD for the first time. More of Sherman's previous records are planned for release soon...

K-TEL INTERNATIONAL's Era Records, the label specializing in historically vital re-issues and collections, has welcomed Paul Davis' Cool Night as part of its continuously growing catalog. Davis' Cool Night, being released for the first time on CD, will feature the original album art work and expanded liner notes.

Coldfront, the urban-oriented imprint started by K-tel International has announced release of Phat Rap Flava '95. This record will consist of 11 of the hottest rap tracks this year. 69 Boyz, 95 South and Nine are just a few of the acts featured on the compilation. Also set for release in August is the energetic Club Mix '95 - Volume 2 which obviously is the follow-up to a successful first volume that is one of K-tel's best-selling records.

Another compilation K-tel International recently released is called Dance Club Country. The album's 10 upbeat tracks include tunes by such artists as Tracy Byrd, Diamond Rio and The Gibson Miller Band...

STRANGE PERSUASIONS, Clive Gregson's first solo album, will be released for the first time in the United States through Compass Records. Gregson's current Compass Records release, People and Places, marks his first solo effort in almost 10 years. The United States release of Strange Persuasions, an album originally released in 1985 on UK-based Demon Records, will be re-mastered and also feature bonus track "Could This Be The One?," a re-mixed version of "Jewel In Your Crown," and new liner notes by Gregson...

Incandescent, a new San Francisco-based label that has distribution through CRD, Twin Cities, Rockbottom, Action Music Sales and Twinbrook, have put out their first release. The album is from Shadowplay, a band from Finland and seems to be getting a positive response at college radio...

On September 26 Capricorn Records and New Line Cinema are set to release National Lampoon's Senior Trip soundtrack. The disc will be filled with popular songs by Morphine, Seven Day Diary, The Muffs and new tunes from Matthew Sweet, The Jayhawks and 311. The movie is set to open on 1,200 screens nationwide on September 8 and will contain all the songs featured on the soundtrack throughout the film...

WHILE PRIORITY RECORDS is mostly known as the launching pad and house for acts such as Ice Cube, N.W.A., Dr. Dre and Eazy-E, the label has decided to broaden its horizons. On September 19, Priority is set to release two separate volumes entitled Notes From The Underground. Both installments of this compilation will be focusing on cutting-edge indie rock. Making up each 15-song disc will be tunes that were once released as 7-inch records, tracks that are now considered rarities and songs that were hidden on B-sides. Everclear, Built To Spill, Godheadsilo and Fig Dish are just a few of the innovative artists featured on the upcoming releases...

Damian Music, founded by musician Aldy Damian, just inked a distribution deal with Navarre Corp. The label's first release, With A Skeleton Crew from Larry Tagg (the co-founder of Bourgeois Tagg), is planned to be in stores this fall...

CMC International recording act Motorhead celebrated its 20th anniversary following a sold-out show at New York's Roseland. On tour in support of its current release Sacrifice, the band had to deal with a couple unexpected dilemmas, including the tour bus breaking down and frontman Lemmy missing a scheduled live television show appearance. But never fear, Lemmy did get a chance to toast "Father" Paddy and "Sister" Barbara at a party following that evening's performance.

Seattle, Washington-based CM Records has announced that former Swedish porn star, Marty Yterberg has ironically been named the new vocalist/guitarist for hard rock band Sweat. Yterberg replaces the departed Dennis Randall and the current line-up of the band plans to record its first release together in the next few months. Other bands to look for releasing records on CM are Picklehead, Mossdog, Snaut, Havana Blast and a compilation that's sure to turn some heads, Hemp For Victory - Volume One.

Empty Records, another label based in Seattle has an impressive catalog of product released on vinyl and CD. This year the company has put out several 7-inchers from such acts as The Statics, The Solid and The Fumes. Also available are full-length albums from Satan's Pilgrims, Sicko and SteelWool, just to name a few.

■ RUPO RAICES: Que Viva La Salsa. (RMM International, 81592) Producer: Alvaro Camacho. SALSA.

Grupo Raices has been a favorite son in their native Colombia virtually since its inception in 1984. RMM's exec, Ralph Mercado, witnessed their popularity firsthand at a Combination Perfecta concert in Barranquilla earlier this year. 80,000 fans jammed the Estado Metropolitano venue. Que Viva La Salsa is their debut album and it promises to make this band as immensely popular here in North America as in Latin America. The title track is a catchy, danceable number. Watch for "Se Va El Caiman" and "Dejala Que Se Vaya" to hit the charts and dance floors.

■ EL GRAN ENCUENTRO: El Gran Encuentro (Merengazo, 81589) Producer: Luisin Marti. MERENGUE.

Merengue giants, Johnny Ventura, Luisito Marti, Anthony Rios, Pablito Cruz, and Roberto del Castillo reunite their talents as excellent musicians and showmen. Originally "El Combo Show de Johnny Ventura" back in 1977, the group rapidly gained fame and popularity much in part to their entertainment show on Dominican television. The album contains all new songs. Look for strong airplay of "El Gran Encuentro," "Si Mi Merenguito Pega," and "Diez Anos de Amores."

RMM/Soho Latino releases the best musical videos by two of its brightest young stars: India and Marc Anthony. With double Platinum albums each behind them (India's Dicen Que Soy and Marc Anthony's Otra Nota), this compilation home video is certain to be included in any true Salsa fan's collection. An added bonus is a sixth cut of the duet, "Vivir lo Nuestro," taken from the best selling RMM album Combinacion Perfecta

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ TITO NIEVES: Un Tipo Comun (RMM, 81608) Producer: Cuto Soto. SALSA.

Tito Nieves' latest album has truly made the long wait worthwhile. Un Tipo Comun (A Regular Type) rings with the charismatic enthusiasm that typifies Nieves' persona. The Puerto Rican singer drew rave reviews as lead vocalist for El Conjunto Clasico during the early to mid-80s. Nieves' successful solo career has not changed him. Thus, the theme for this album. It is his best production to date. The first promotional single is the Selena pop hit, "No Me Queda Mas," which Nieves recorded before her tragic death. Look for more hits by Nieves with cuts like "Imperdonable" and "No Me Vuelvo A Enamorar."

THE LATIN LOWDOWN

News From U.S. & Latin America

By Héctor Reséndez

RMM'S RALPH MERCADO CELEBRATES 20TH ANNIVERSARY CONCERT:

From its headquarters in New York City 1995 has been a very busy year for RMM Records and Video Corporation and its president, Ralph Mercado. But pumping out the hits isn't the only thing on Mercado's agenda lately. RMM has been gearing up for one of its biggest events of the year, The New York Salsa Festival, being held as a two-day event on September 2nd and 3rd at Madison Square Garden. The 20th anniversary concert is being highlighted as the "Festival of the Legends."

The first day is a flashback to the early days of Salsa in the Big Apple. Featured will be the true legendary icons of the genre: Celia Cruz; Tito Puente; El Gran Combo; Eddie Palmieri with singer Ismael Quintana; as well as six of the original Fania All-Stars band, Johnny Pacheco, Ray Barreto, Papo Lucca, Roberto Roena, Bobby Valentin, and Nicky Marrero. Special guest artist will be the Grammy Award-winning Cachao y su Descarga. No doubt his compadre, Andy Garcia, will be there backstage as well. If that weren't enough, emcee Polito Vega will also introduce the astounding Eddie Torres Dancers. The second evening brings on another tremendous lineup of artists. There's Tito Rojas, Marc Anthony, India, Rey Ruiz, Tito Nieves, and Johnny Rivera. A befitting second half for a solid tradition of entertainment by Ralph Mercado. Coca-Cola is the major corporate sponsor along with Spanish-language radio station Mega 97.9. And while in New York, check out Mercado's latest production, the Latin Quarter, an elegant dinner club located at 2551 Broadway at 96th Street.

EDDIE PALMIERI SIGNS WITH TROPIJAZZ: Mercado announced recently that legendary pianist Eddie Palmieri signed with the Tropijazz Records label, a subsidiary of RMM Records & Video. The three-time Grammy Award winner has been a longtime icon in both the Salsa and Latin Jazz worlds. Palmieri's first soon-to-release project will be entitled Arete. Other artists who have recently signed are Dave Valentin, Charlie Sepulveda, Yolanda Duke, and Juan Pablo Torres.

NEWS FROM THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC: Over thirty years ago, they first formed one of the most popular musical groups on their island. Called El Combo Show de Johnny Ventura, the group, under the direction of Ventura, included Luisito Martí, Anthony Ríos, and Pablito "Bar-riga" Cruz. The band became immensely popular because of its vocalists, its hits, and just as importantly, its showmanship. They were widely accepted on Dominican TV until 1977 when Martí and Ríos decided to pursue their own solo careers. By 1992, Ventura disbanded the El Combo Show.

The album, El Gran Encuentro marks the reunion of these original four artists. Recorded in Santo Domingo, the album contains eight original selections. Best radio bets are "El Encuentro," "Canto a la Guira," and "Diez Años de Amores."

RMM'S HOT TRACKS: With the much anticipated release of Tito Nieves' latest album, Un Tipo Comun, RMM continues to move aggressively in the Tropical market. The Nieves single is "No Me Queda Mas." Puerto Rican singer, Marc Anthony's, current hit single, "Te Conozco Bien," has been debuting high on airplay charts all over. The album went Platinum within 24 hours after its release. India's single, "O Ella, O Yo," is one of this month's priorities for RMM. There's also the release of two videos by her, along with Marc Anthony's three vids including their duet on the hit "Vivir Lo Nuestro." The compilation video is entitled India & Marc Anthony (RMVH 89316).

Gramercy's Usual Suspects Not Usual: It's Good!

By John Goff

This is a line-up not to be missed. (l-r) Kevin Pollak, Stephen Baldwin, Benicio Del Toro, Gabriel Byrne and Kevin Spacey.

DEFINITION OF A HOLLYWOOD THRILLER: Something lean, mean and deliciously good which slips through the cracks where the usual flabby, tired and mediocre can't go—The Usual Suspects.

If any filmmakers out there are searching for a guide-on for the Contemporary Noir genre, The Usual Suspects is it and will be it for some time to come. This is the kind of motion picture that makes filmmakers with a sense of responsibility toward the art and love of craft stand tall with pride. It could inspire them to continue making stabs at it, in spite of the obvious opposition. Frame for frame, this is the best, certainly most finely crafted, work on the market. It's definitely one I'll go back to see, and if it's not the sleeper hit of the year there's no justice at the boxoffice and audiences are as stupid as bloated budget mega-makers give them credit for being.

It's noir. It's a thriller, and a whodunit, an action piece and a mystery. It's excellent on all levels of screenwriting, directing, acting, photography, editing and scoring, all the way down the line, and it didn't cost an arm and a leg. It snatches one up from the first frame, twists, turns and teases all the way to the final edit. And it's an evenly balanced, totally collaborative effort where every element knows exactly what the other is doing and everyone is working toward the very best that can be gotten. Every creative area of filmmaking is evenly interwoven. It's what filmmaking should be.

The foundation, writer Christopher McQuarrie's script, is solidly amazing. He juggles all the elements mentioned above so expertly he makes the complex appear simple. His characters are real and realistically interlaced; dialogue believable; plotting tight and marvelously nuanced, solid and totally imaginative. It's the freshest, genre-bending, original script to come out in the crime noir idiom since the pioneering thirties and forties.

Director Singer knows where each piece of the puzzle fits and allows the audience to follow by keeping them in the shadows observing while never leaving them in the dark. Great subtlety in the handling of a handgun as a hint to identity. There's absolutely no wasted motion and his work with the actors looks like a performer's dream situation. He brings his leads into a wonderfully tight ensemble that brings out the best in them all. Singer's first film, Public Access, brought him attention and he had with him some of the same key people he has here: McQuarrie, co-producer Kenneth Kokin, and editor-composer John Otman. They work like a well drilled team.

Otman's editing and music make a thrilling combination; teasing, enhancing, guiding, revealing. Newton Thomas Sigel's camera work puts the audience at the location.

The central actors: Stephen Baldwin, Gabriel Byrne, Chazz Palminteri, Kevin Pollak, Kevin Spacey and Benicio Del Toro work together like a well oiled machine. Call them "Singer's Sewing Machine" if you like, because director Singer puts them in some lingering skin pore-revealing close ups that call for concentration and control above and beyond the call of "acting," pushing them into the microscopic realm of "being." There are moments when they're—especially Spacey, Palminteri and Byrne—called upon to literally allow the audience to read their thoughts. Concentration and control. Marvelous. Acting coaches will be telling students to watch Kevin Spacey in his expertly layered performance for years to come. Pete Postlethwaite is solid as is Giancarlo Esposito and Dan Hedaya.

Michael McDonnell produced; Kenneth Kokin co-produced; Robert Jones, Hans Brockmann, Francois Duplat and Art Horan executive produced.

Disney Channel's Brian Wilson: I Just Wasn't Made For These Times

By John Goff

Subject Brian Wilson (l) and producer/director Don Was.

THIS DOCUMENTARY IS NOTABLE on a couple levels, actually. It's not a Beach Boys rehash and it marks the directorial debut of Grammy winning music producer Don Was.

Sure, the Beach Boys are there—after all, the subject is Brian Wilson, creator of the group and its sound—but the only ones taking part are Brian and brother Carl. And Carl is as much cursory as he is compulsory. He joins Brian and mom Audree on a family rendition of "In My Room" and talks of his association with brother Brian both humorously and guardedly.

Director Was—who also produced with Larry Shapiro, David Passick and Ken Kushnick—has employed Wyatt Troll as his director of photography. His black and white camera work is rich in texture, foreboding and offers up shadows of grey like some of the areas of Wilson's life, and it fits perfectly.

Wilson doesn't flinch at discussing controversial aspects of his life: the drugs, emotional problems, personal relationships or the work and his feelings about it—it took him six months to decide whether to take on this project after Was approached him and it appears that when he did arrive at the decision he approached it head-on.

It's highly interesting hour, not only for anyone who remembers the hey-day of the Beach Boys and the out-there aspect of Brian and his relationship to the other members of the group (pointedly missing from the project is Beach Boy Mike Love, though Brian credits him several times), but for anyone interested in the evolution of rock and roll, and anyone interested in the creative process and the toll it takes on its practitioners. Brian Wilson and his creativity was brought down largely because of business and its rule over creativity. It's a sad fact that that has always been the case, and is even moreso today. No one actually comes out and states it in those words, but it's alluded to during discussions of the Smile project that never came out, which was shot down by the performing members of the group because of their business-leaning acumen, all at the height of Brian Wilson's creativity and at a moment he was attempting to reach beyond, at a time he was attempting to expand, to grow. He never truly recovered from that.

Throughout there are testimonials to what Brian Wilson and his work meant to other musicians: David Crosby and Graham Nash, Tom Petty, Linda Ronstadt, Randy Newman and others. A touching portion comes as Wilson is joined by his formerly estranged daughters, Wendy and Carnie, and they speak about their father, evaluating their early lives as well as former wife Marilyn.

Ultimately it's a picture of a man, gifted but tortured, who has gone into a tunnel of terror and is emerging as whole as he can be for the times, but it's also a picture of a man who wasn't made for these times, and who speaks for a significant group of his generation who weren't blessed with the gifts Wilson was.

Show premieres on The Disney Channel August 27.

HBO's Tuskegee Airmen Is Affirmative

By M.R. Martinez

PERIOD PIECES CAN FALL VICTIM to the dictates of history unless there is an effort to see the people who lived and formed the history of the period. Despite the obvious manipulative polemics of this HBO Pictures presentation, at least a composite of people, history, and drama surrounding these American pioneers known as the Tuskegee Airmen is achieved. Sometimes the movie makes you proud of the human spirit. Sometimes human limitations want to make you puke. Sometimes dramatic license taken moves the story forward. Sometimes the dramatic forum lops off insights that would have made this a better story.

But with this cast, ably led by Oscar-nominee Laurence Fishburne (What's Love Got To Do With It) and TV/movie veterans like Andre Braugher, Cuba Gooding, Jr., Courtney Vance, Allen Payne, Malcolm-Jamal Warner and the delightfully devilish John Lithgow, you have at least a series of vignettes that speak to history, the period, its drama, and the subjects' personal relationships, which salvage the aforementioned dilemma for the filmmakers.

There's not enough history that really tells the story of these African-American fighter pilots that represented a visceral touchstone for the irony of WWII. At home they were called niggas, coons, jigaboos and other colorful epithets. But they all signed on to fight Nazi master raceman Adolf Hitler's minions for a country that disdained them. The initial 332nd and later incarnations, 99th, 100th, 301st and 302nd squadrons, were officially called the Tuskegee Airmen, and were the creme de la creme of intelligence and ambitiousness for a generation of African-Americans. They were political scientists, art history majors, economic majors, engineering students, pre-law majors, math students and, hell, some of them even already knew how to fly planes. But still they were referred to in polite circles as "Mrs. Roosevelt's Niggas."

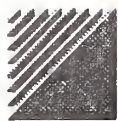

They fought the inertia of racism and domestic political agenda, something that Lithgow's depiction as southern Sen. Conyers, and a training officer played with smooth relish by Christopher McDonald (Quiz Show), make tangible.

The trials of these initial cadets serve as the filament for how friendships are formed in life and lost during war. No need to recant history here.

Andre Braugher has one of the toughest jobs as he plays the 332nd's leader, Lt. Col. Benjamin O. Davis, a real historical figure; Fishburne tastefully avoids recreating his previous screen roles; Gooding is always a screen delight; as an actor Jamal Warner is still proving himself (like his character in this film); and Payne brings new dimension to his skill at playing arrogance to the max. Courtney Vance needs to headline a film, as he effectively makes his character the fulcrum of success and failure personified.

Two scenes that sum up the pride are when two cadets are forced to land near a prison gang working in the fields near Tuskegee. The gang boss is excited to see the U.S. flyboys—until he realizes they are black. The mostly black field gang's members swell with pride. At the end, a southern racist is convinced that the only way he'll live through a major bombing will be if the Tuskegee Airmen fly interference. He tells his commander as much, and no one objects. For the record: The "jigaboo" fighter pilots never lost a bomber when flying such missions. That's because they got a chance to prove themselves.

HBO Pictures, Price Entertainment Prods.; produced by William C. Carros; executive producer Frank Price; teleplay by Paris Qualies and Ron Hutchinson, Trey Ellis; story by Robert Williams (a real Tuskegee Airman) and T.S. Cook; Robert Markowitz directed.

News From The Commonwealth, Ireland & Europe

By Hal Levy

THE ROCK WAR OF THE '90S is what newspapers in the UK and Ireland are calling the release on Monday, 14 August, of singles by UK megagroups Oasis and Blur. Released on separate dates, each single was almost guaranteed to hit the top of the charts. But this is war, and it's the first time there's been a clash of such magnitude since The Beatles and The Rolling Stones some 30 years ago. For weeks before the release date, the media have been beating the war drums for Oasis' "Roll With It" and Blur's "Country House," and the hype paid off with advance sales of more than 100,000 each. While Oasis has hit number one single and album in the past, Blur is hoping that their single will be the ticket to the top. The rivalry between the groups is also fed by the image of Oasis as being working class from the North and the Stones of today, whereas Blur is middle class from the South of England and the Beatles in the fight. However, Monday night's late figures from top outlets in the UK seem to put Oasis in top place with Blur biting the dust in the rear. However, next week's charts should tell the final story. The winner hoping to take over from Take That, which is currently the hottest group in the UK.

However, all is not lost for Blur as they will share writing the official songs for The Football Association's Euro '96. Blur releases through Food Records, which is distributed by EMI's Parlophone. Oasis is on Creation Records, a division of Sony Music.

SPEAKING OF TAKE THAT, a German girl and her mother claim they were attacked by a bodyguard when they tried to take pictures of Take That's lead singer, Gary Darlow's house. The bodyguard denied the charges and the women have hired a lawyer to press charges. Meanwhile, Take That has been voted "Best Pop Group on the Planet" and Mark Owen as "The Most Snuggable (Kissable) Star in the Cosmos" by readers of teenage mag Big.

THE '80S SPEAR OF DESTINY SINGER, Kirk Brandon, has filed legal action against Boy George, Virgin Records, EMI Music and book publishers Sidgwick and Jackson. Brandon, who has a new group, 10.51, claims that allegations about his sexual life are untrue and holding up U.S. deals for his group.

THE BRITISH PHONOGRAPHIC INDUSTRY ASSOCIATION reported that pirate CDs and cassette tapes are costing the industry more than $60 million (£38 million) a year.

WORD HAS IT THAT GEORGE MICHAEL, when trying to go through a tunnel toll gate realized he didn't have any cash with him, tried telling the guard who he was and promised to pay on his return trip. The guard, forcing Michael to turn back, told him he's already had two George Michaels who tried to get through as well as numerous other lookalikes.

NUMBER ONE ON THE UK TOP SINGLES LIST is still U2's "Never Forget." New to the charts in second place is Original's "I Luv U Baby," while holding third place is Boyzone's "So Good." Fourth is TLC's "Waterfalls"; fifth Seal's "Kiss From A Rose"; sixth, JX's "Son Of A Gun." Coming onto the charts in seventh place is Corona's "Try Me Out," with Diana King's "Shy Guy" in eighth followed by Suggs' "I'm Only Sleeping" in 9th, and Outthere Brothers' "Boom Boom Boom" in tenth.

IN IRELAND, BOYZONE'S "So Good" is holding onto first place with "Never Forget" by Take That still in second and Outthere Brothers' "Boom (3)" retaining third position. Seal's "Kiss From..." is up to fourth and U2's "Hold Me, Thrill Me" is down to fifth. Brendan Keeley's "Take The Chains Away" is sixth, Corona's "Try Me Out" is 7th, Diana King's "Shy Guy" is 8th with Who's Eddie's "Right Now" in 9th and Supergrass' "Alright" in tenth spot.

ASCAP recently held a #1 party for "And Still" written by Liz Hengber and Tommy Lee James, published by Starstruck Writers Group, recorded by MCA's Reba McEntire. Pictured (l-r): Tony Brown, producer; Starstruck's Clay Myers; James (and his daughter, Olivia) Hengber; Starstruck's Cliff Williamson; McEntire; MCA's Scott Borchetta and Bruce Hinton; and ASCAP's Ralph Murphy.

TIM MCGRAW'S CURRENT SINGLE gave Hollywood something to talk about as it was pending release. "Demi Moore was considering dancing to it in her upcoming movie about a stripper, but Julia Roberts opted to flirt to it," McGraw said. "I Like It, I Love It" is featured in Roberts' new movie, Something To Talk About. McGraw is also CMT's September Showcase Artist.

BNA'S LORRIE MORGAN cancelled three tour dates in mid-August due to exhaustion, chest congestion and a severe cough. Morgan's doctor advised three weeks of rest before resuming the tour.

MICHELLE MYERS WAS NAMED vp of marketing at Capitol Nashville. Myers will develop marketing initiatives, overseeing all aspects, including merchandising, advertising, video, clubs and future technologies. She will also assess the specific needs of each Capitol Nashville artist, and develop full-range marketing plans accordingly.

BILLY DEAN HAS SIGNED an exclusive management agreement with Narvel Blackstock and Starstruck Entertainment. The Capitol recording artist will return to the studio in the Fall with a release set for early Spring, 1996. Dean will be reunited with his original producer, Tom Shapiro.

MERCURY NASHVILLE'S SHANIA TWAIN broke a record for the number of individual artist nominations in the Canadian Country Music Association Awards with seven nods in five categories. In addition, Twain's single, "Any Mine Of Mine," has been certified gold by the RIAA, marking the first time since 1982 that a female country music artist has achieved gold status on a single release.

TNN WILL ONCE AGAIN broadcast the Canadian Country Music Awards on Saturday, September 30 at 9 p.m. Arista's Michelle Wright will host the show and TNN's Katie Haas, host of the Wildhorse Saloon, will be one of the presenters.

SUSAN LEVY WAS NAMED vp of artist development at Capitol Nashville. Levy will supervise all efforts surrounding the image of Capitol Nashville artists, including album packaging and all visuals. She will act as a liaison between artists' managers and the creative departments of the label to develop long-range goals.

SOME OF NASHVILLE'S HOTTEST entertainers will perform Labor Day Weekend at the California Country Jam '95 at the Long Beach Shoreline Aquatic Park. The three-day festival will feature artists such as Chris LeDoux, Michelle Wright, Pirates of the Mississippi, Mark O'Conner and The Kentucky Headhunters.

Platinum Plus recording artist Cary Cooley flew to Las Vegas for the second national $100,000 finals show and convention sponsored by Starmania, Inc. After winning a regional competition in Beaumont, Texas, Cooley won the national semi-finals in Las Vegas. Cooley's latest single, "I'll Take My Chances," is currently at #53 on the Cash Box country singles chart.

Indie Spotlight

Sheri Price: Paying Tribute To A Country Legend

SHERI PRICE GREW UP IN EAST TEXAS on a 400-acre ranch just outside the town of Tyler and has loved music since she was a child. When she was five years old, Price received two Christmas gifts that would change her life—a record player and a collection of Hank Williams albums. Throughout her childhood, the Texan participated in every talent show available in order to perfect her craft.

Price had two lifelong dreams— one was singing, the other motherhood. It was her second dream that actually led her to pursue her first ambition. "I was always singing to my two kids," Price says, "and my husband heard about a contest, The Country Showdown. He encouraged me to enter."

Individuality was important to Price, who "wanted to sing a song no woman had ever done." So in preparation for the contest, she went back to her early influences: Hank Williams, Patsy Cline (Price's hero), Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty. Since "It's Only Make Believe" was one of her all-time favorites, Price chose that song to sing in The Country Showdown. "Conway said his songs were about the things men wished they could say and the words women wanted to hear," Price says.

Not long after the contest, Price found herself in a Nashville recording studio being produced by Billy Joe Burnette. Her first single, "It's Only Make Believe" is at #85 on the Cash Box country singles chart. Of the single, Price says, "I hope this song will pay homage to Conway Twitty and be a tribute to his memory from a woman who loves his music."

Monica Boswell: Young Country

MONICA BOSWELL'S MOTHER NEVER had to ask, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" At the age of two and a half, Boswell already knew the answer. Her love for music first surfaced at a Tanya Tucker concert, when the young child told her mom (in baby talk, no less) that "she wanted to do that when she was big."

Boswell, now 12, loves performing and seizes every opportunity to be on-stage. Most recently she appeared with Clinton Gregory during a March of Dimes Telethon. The Danville, Virginia-born entertainer has been dancing since she was three years old and began to seriously pursue singing when she was nine. Her performance in a Martinsville, VA talent showcase led Boswell to a showcase in Nashville, where she attracted the attention of producer Billy Joe Burnette. Under Burnette's guidance, Boswell recorded her first single, "A Little Bit Of Love," which is #82 on the Cash Box country singles chart. The song is currently being promoted in Europe.

Monica Boswell's youth and drive to succeed resembles that of her idol. In fact, Tanya Tucker was not too much older than Boswell when "Delta Dawn" became a hit. With such a head start in the business, who knows what the next 20 years hold for Boswell?

Album Review

■ MARTY RAYBON: Marty Raybon (Sparrow SPD 1439)

Marty Raybon has been delighting country music fans for years as the lead singer for Shenandoah. His singing has always been pure, honest country—nothing contrived or unnatural. With his first solo gospel effort, Raybon reveals the inspiration behind his celestial vocals. Beginning with "Master Of The Wood," (also the first positive country single) the album is a definitive example of what should happen when country and gospel are combined. Album highlights include "Drive Another Nail," "Daddy Talks To Jesus" and "The Peace Of Loving You." Listeners should also note that Raybon wrote or co-wrote the majority of the songs. Marty Raybon's solo debut isn't preachy or in-your-face—but it will get under your skin.

COIN MACHINE

Capcom's Pinball Magic

Capcom's Pinball Magic

CHICAGO—Pinball Magic, the first pinball machine from Capcom Coin-Op, Inc., received rave reviews when it was introduced to the factory's distributor network, at the first major meeting held by Capcom in its Arlington Heights, Illinois facilities.

As its name indicates, the game abounds in thrills, challenges and amazing game play. The theme is based on seven masters of magic—Nostradamus, The Shaman, The Great Hansen, Mr. Mystique, Kenzo, Jadugar and ultimately the supreme ruler of the realm, Matra Magna herself—who challenge players with feats that must be accomplished in order to qualify for enlistment in their elitist group.

The incredible array of tricks includes levitating a ball, transforming beasts in a morph chamber, bending a spoon, silencing critics, and vanishing elephants, snakes and even the world!

The action doesn't stop there. There's much, much more! Every true magician must know how to swallow swords, escape unharmed from a locked trunk, summon a genie from its bottle, take a magic carpet ride and control a color change ball.

Pinball Magic employs various industry firsts that lead to the mind-blowing Magic Mayhem experience. Here lies the ultimate challenge of defeating Matra Magna's powers in a show of skill and stamina.

The all-new playfield access system with multi-level lift bracketing, automatic troubleshooting, short circuit protection of lamps and solenoids and brown-out compensation as well as lamp warming and visual feedback diagnostics translate into exceptional durability, simplified servicing and minimal downtime.

Also featured is Capcom's exclusive MB III (TM) Super High-Tech Sound System that offers Multi-MPEG sound processing. And for non-stop "video style" action, there's the 16 mega bit ROM dot matrix display; and the first-ever individually controlled lamps, adjustable flipper power and one coil type on most features.

Further information may be obtained through factory distributors or by contacting Capcom Coin-Op, Inc., 3311 North Kennicott Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60004.

'Gold & Silver Ball' Fundraiser Set For Sept. 29

CHICAGO—The American Amusement Machine Association will once again serve as co-sponsor for the upcoming Gold & Silver Ball, the annual fundraising effort to benefit the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse. Event will take place on Friday, September 29 at the Four Seasons Hotel in Chicago and will mark the association's third year as a sponsor.

Olympic Gold Medalist Jackie Joyner-Kersey, who appeared on the 1995 AAMA/NCPCA Child Abuse Prevention Poster, will be a featured guest at the ball. She will be presented a special award for her efforts on behalf of NCPCA.

Among other highlights will be the auctioning off of a pinball machine, courtesy of Frank Gumma, Jr. and American Vending Sales.

NAMA Releases '95 Operating Ratio Report

CHICAGO—The 1995 Operating Ratio Report, just published by the National Automatic Merchandising Association, addresses such pertinent topics as vending route averages, product costs, employee productivity and the competitive edge, among others.

Easy-to-read charts with detailed financial information allow vending operators to compare their operations to national industry averages for companies of similar size. Some of the comparisons include: sales per vending route; sales per employee in all the vending classifications; sales per machine by product; gross profit by product; operating expenses in 15 key categories; payroll expenses for five job categories; return on vending assets and inventory turnovers.

Management Foresight, a unit of Arthur Andersen & Company, compiled the statistics on this annual survey that NAMA has been conducting for 48 years. It is reportedly the only survey of its kind.

Other new information listed in the report includes "Vending Sales Per Route Serviced," and additional breakdowns of operating expenses in the less than $1 million sales volume category.

The 1995 Operating Ratio Report was sent free to survey participants immediately upon publication. NAMA members who did not participate may order a copy at a cost of $100 each. The cost for non-members is $250. Non-members who join NAMA within 60 days of purchase may apply $150 of that cost toward their first year's dues.

Dates Set For '96 Asian Expo

CHICAGO—The third annual Asian Amusement Expo will be held Wednesday, May 8 and Thursday, May 9, 1996 at the Hong Kong Convention & Exhibition Centre. Event will be housed in triple the amount of space over the '95 show, according to newly elected Show Committee chairman John Wood (Sally Corporation).

The 1995 event, which was jointly sponsored by IAAPA and AAMA, boasted 75 exhibitors occupying 111 booths and attracted 1756 visitors from over 23 countries. "The success of this first-time joint venture between IAAPA and AAMA to co-sponsor the Asian Amusement Expo resulted in eminent success for all parties concerned," stated Wood. "The combination of a parks plus coin-op trade show met the increasing demands and steady growth of the Southeast Asian amusement market."

Building on the success of this year's show, sponsors project greater demands for booth space from existing exhibitors and from new prospects who missed out on this year's event.

Seminars sponsored by both IAAPA and AAMA were introduced at the 1995 convention. In response to the growing needs of owners and operators of theme parks, attractions, family entertainment centers and traditional coin-op locations, has prompted the Show Committee to expand the 1996 educational program.

The Asian Amusement Expo is sponsored by the International Association of Amusement Parks & Attractions (IAAPA) based in Alexandria, Virginia and the American Amusement Machine Association (AAMA) located in Elk Grove Village, Illinois.

Further information may be obtained through the show's management firm, William T. Glasgow, Inc., 16066 South Park Avenue, South Holland, IL 60473-1500 USA. Phone number is 708-333-9292; FAX number is 708-333-4086.
