ON THE COVER

BY Kimmy Wix

22nd Annual Country Radio Seminar

"ON THE ROAD AGAIN" dubs the theme for this year's grand ole radio extravaganza—a road which is certain to lead today's country radio in the right direction. In 1990, the Country Radio Seminar further solidified its position as one of country music's premier events, drawing a record-breaking 1,400 participants from across the United States and Canada. Once again, the CRS is prepared to feature more than forty hours of workshops, educational panels and roundtable discussions on topics geared toward the radio and recording industries. Talent scheduled to perform throughout this year's four-day event features a star-studded line-up, including artists such as George Strait, who headlines this year's Super Faces Show, and other newcomers like Joe Diffie, Corbin/Hanner, Billy Dean, Ray Kennedy, Chris LeDoux, Shelby Lynne, Pirates of the Mississippi, Aaron Tippin, Kevin Welch and Michelle Wright, who will bring their talents to the stage of the annual New Faces Show. The Country Radio Seminar is held at Nashville's famed Opryland Hotel and Convention Center, March 6-9.

ALL-AMERICAN SUPPORT: An all-star choir of nearly 100 TV, film, music and sports celebrities sings "Voices That Care" in support of the American troops in the Persian Gulf. The song was co-written by David Foster, Linda Thompson and Peter Cetera.

Sharp Named VP At Cash Box

LÒS ANGELES—Jim Sharp, director, Nashville Operations, Cash Box, has been appointed to the position of vice president of the company as announced by George Albert, president and publisher of Cash Box.

In making the announcement, Albert stated, "Jim Sharp's qualifications are well known in the music community and in his new position, Nashville will be closely linked with our New York, Chicago and international offices, as well as the home office in Hollywood."

Albert further stated, "The Nashville music industry is healthier than ever, with virtually all record labels showing growth in their country divisions. Country music is at an all-time high in popularity, but unlike the Urban Cowboy phase, this popularity is the grass-roots type, making country music one of the most played and purchased forms of music today."

Jim Sharp

DO TELL, K-TEL: K-Tel International's consolidated net sales for the last six months of 1990 were $18.630 million with income of $660,000 before taxes and extraordinary items. For the same period last year, sales were $23.992 million with income of $934,000. The major portion of the sales decrease is a result of discontinuing the distribution services and television promoted music business in the U.K. and the sale of the company's Australian subsidiary during the last quarter of fiscal '90.

DOUBLE FANTASY: Fantasy Records has bought Art Rupe's Specialty Records, the home of classic recordings by Little Richard, Sam Cooke, Lloyd Price, etc. The first Fantasy/Specialty's—CD twofers—are due in several weeks.

DID YOU HEAR THE ONE ABOUT...: Those wacky guys from Yes—Jon Anderson, Bill Bruford, Steve Howe, Tony Kaye, Trevor Rabin, Chris Squire, Rick Wakeman and Alan White—are going to kiss and make up for a worldwide tour called "Yesshows '91," kicking off in Virginia on April 12th. They'll bring out all their old special effects (not to mention a few new ones) and they'll all perform as soloists and in a bunch of other combinations... Would you believe that Marie Fredriksson and Per Gessis of Roxette are about to be on a regular Swedish stamp? Believe it. It'll be out in October, along with stamps honoring Alfred Nobel and the King of Sweden... The cause of the death of Def Leppard's Steve Clark was "respiratory failure due to a compression of the brain stem, resulting from excess quantities of alcohol mixed with anti-depressants and pain-killers"... ASCAP has distributed $100,000 in supplemental cash grants for 1990-91 to its writer members "whose works

EXECUTIVES ON THE MOVE

■ David Weyner has been promoted to president of PolyGram Classics and Jazz, the first president the division has had since the departure of Guenter Hensler two years ago. Like its many sister labels, PolyGram Classics and Jazz will be an entirely autonomous entity. Weyner, who joined PolyGram in 1980, was most recently senior vice president, Classics and Jazz. And Mercury Records, a sister label, has named Claudia Weldon vice president of finance administration. Weldon, who comes to the label from Ernst & Young, will oversee the Mercury finance department and the marketing administration group. ■ Richard Griffiths has been appointed to the newly-created post of executive vice president, Epic Records while maintaining his responsibilities as president of Epic/Associated. In the new post, Griffiths, who joined the label last June, will work closely with Epic president Dave Glew and oversee the label's creative operations and artist rosters. ■ Arista has upped Connie Johnson, a seven year veteran of the label, to the position of vice president, R&B promotion from her most recent position as senior national director, R&B promotion. ■ Bennett Zimmerman has been appointed director of operations for Zoo Entertainment, announced Zoo president Lou Maglia. Zimmerman will be based at Zoo's Los Angeles headquarters, where he will be responsible for coordinating the actions of the different record label departments and insuring an expedient flow of information and product within the company and the BMG structure. Previously, Zimmerman was manager, strategic planning for RCA Records. ■ Lorraine Rebidas has been named vice president/general manager of Private Music's publishing companies, 23rd Street Publishing, Inc. and Listening Room Music, Inc., it was announced by the record label's president and ceo, Ron Goldstein. Rebidas has served in the music publishing industry for fifteen years including tenures with MCA Music, Peer Music and Polygram Music. ■ Cary Baker has been appointed head of publicity for The Morgan Creek Music Group, a new independent record company. Baker, who has a long career in publicity, headed his own public relations firm in his native Chicago before moving to Los Angeles in 1984 and becoming vice president, publicity for I.R.S. Records. Leaving I.R.S. in 1989, Baker was appointed national director, media & artist development for Capitol Records. Most recently, Baker served as vice president, publicity for Enigma Entertainment. And Morgan Creek has named Walter Lee vice president, promotion, a position that will involve overseeing all radio and video promotions for the label. Lee will report directly to Morgan Creek co presidents David Kershenbaum and Jim Mazza. ■ Howard Gabriel has been appointed to the newly created position of senior director, marketing at EMI Records USA. Based in the EMI New York headquarters, Gabriel will report directly to senior vice president, marketing, Jim Cawley. ■ Impact Records senior vice president of A&R Randy Nicklaus has selected Steve Barri as vice president of A&R for the MCA-distributed, Los Angeles-based label. Previously, Barri was an A&R consultant for Capitol Records and before that, vice president of A&R for Motown Records. And Impact has appointed Barry Harris director of A&R, Black music. ■ Laura Gold has been appointed director of West Coast publicity for Atlantic Records. Gold reports to the New York-based Patti Conte, who announced the appointment. Gold has been in publicity since 1982, working for the firm of Solters/Roskin/Friedman before becoming West Coast publicity director for the Netherlander Organization in 1985. ■ Nancy Johnson has been appointed director of publicity and public relations for the Warner/Elektra/Atlantic Corporation, announced WEA executive vice president, marketing George Rossi—to whom she will report directly. Johnson has been with WEA since 1978, most recently serving as national product development coordinator. ■ Lori Nafshun has been appointed director of A&R for Scotti Bros. Records. Nafshun comes to Scotti Bros. from Cypress Records.

□ WHODINI: "Freaks" (MCA MCACS-54018)

Whodini makes its MCA debut with "Freaks"—a song that, like the group's previous efforts for Jive/Arista, is melodic and danceable yet funky and aggressive. Also in that vein are "Judy," "Bag-A-Trix" and a reading of The Undisputed Truth's "Smiling Faces." All four songs will appear on the forthcoming Bag-A-Trix—Whodini's first album for MCA, its fifth overall and its first since 1987's Open Sesame.

□ SHEILA E "Sex Cymbal" (Warner Bros. 4651)

The percussion/sex goddess returns after a lengthy hiatus with a clever number that's been thoughtfully remixed a few times to appeal to as wide an audience as possible. Though her star has dimmed somewhat the last few years, curiosity alone should ensure radio and club interest.

□ 2ND POWER: "People" b/w "Don't Rush My Beat" (Wrap/Ichiban 12-PO67)

A touch of new jack swing influence a la Guy can be heard on rap posse 2nd Power's single, "People," while the single's B side, "Don't Rush My Beat" is a fast jam in the vein of Miami hip-hop. It should be noted that "Don't Rush My Beat's" Miami influence is musical, not lyrical, and lacks the X-rated lyrics associated with that city's rap scene.

■ ALBUMS

□ THE FIXX: Ink (Impact/MCA MCAD-10205)

The Fixx joins the Impact/MCA family with Ink, most of which was produced by William Wittman. The rock and pop-rock CD's strongest songs range from haunting, eerie numbers like "Crucified," "One Jungle," "Still Around" (which resembles Blue Oyster Cult's "Don't Fear The Reaper") and "Yesterday, Today" to the melodic rockers "All The Best Things," "Climb The Hill" and "How Much Is Enough."

Ink.

□ WRATHCHILD AMERICA: 3-D (Atlantic 7 82186-2)

Like Slayer, Metallica, Megadeth, Testament, Xentrix, Death Angel and Annihilator, Wrathchild America takes an approach to thrash metal that is slower and more accessible than Deicide or Cannibal Corpse. One can understand the lyrics to "Forever Alone," "3-D Man," "Surrounded By Idiots," "Another Nameless Face" and other cuts from 3-D—the headbangers' follow-up to Climbin' The Walls. 3-D was produced by Alex Perialas, known for his work with Testament.

□ GANG STARR: Step Into the Arena (Chrysalis 21798)

Gang Starr, straight hittin' and becoming a favorite with their smooth lyrics and jazzy beats, are nodding heads, snapping fingers, and moving up the charts. With their strong lyrics and vocals, fresh grooves, and funky dance-floor appeal, Gang Starr should win both hip hop and pop fans without carrying the label of sell-out. The first single, "Just To Get A Rep," made a bit of noise while the follow-up, "Love Sick," should create another hip hop explosion. Gang Starr's "Jazz Thing" found the duo teamed up with Spike Lee, who used the track under the ending credits for the movie Mo' Better Blues. That bit of exposure gave the public a taste. Now it's time to feed the hungry.

□ KITCHENS OF DISTINCTION: Strange Free World (A&M 75021 5340 2)

Though this group has been compared to numerous "artsy" bands, they have their own unique appeal. Intelligent, yet accessible, the listener never feels as if KOD are being clever for the sake of it. Their themes of love, loss and isolation are universal in their appeal while the songs themselves are so personal as to be cribbed from a diary. Sure to be a college-radio staple, look for this to crop up on numerous year-end Top 10 lists.

□ MATERIAL ISSUE: International Pop Overthrow (Mercury 848 155-2)

Bristling pop music that boasts crisp guitar and harmonies, melodies you can't shake from your head, and lyrical craftsmanship you'd have to be a real scrooge to not admire. The single, "Valerie Loves Me," is already doing quite well, and the album is full of potential hits. Should appeal to pop, college and (the more open-minded) alternative crowds.

□ WAYNE TOUPS & ZYDECAJUN: Fish Out Of Water (Mercury/PolyGram 848 289-2)

If Tom Petty, John Cougar-Mellencamp or Bruce Springsteen hailed from Louisiana, they might sound like Wayne Toups & Zydecajun—who fuse gritty, unpretentious rock & roll with Louisiana-style zydeco and Cajun music on their debut album, Fish Out Of Water. "Ooh La La," "Please Explain," "True Love," "Night At The Wheel" and the title track are among the goodies AOR programmers should take a chance on. Toups produced the digitally recorded Fish Out Of Water with Zydecajun bass guitarist Mark Miller.

□ NINA SIMONE: The Blues (Novus/RCA 3101-2-N)

Novus/RCA takes listeners down Soul Memory Lane with this 17-track CD, which spans 1966-1971. The Blues ranges from such classic sassy Simone compositions as "Real Real," "In The Dark," "I Want A Little Sugar In My Bowl" and "Nobody's Fault But Mine" to readings of Bob Dylan's "I Shall Be Released" and the Buddy Johnson standard "Since I Fell For You." While Simone is best known for her soul singing, "Backlash Blues" illustrates her proficiency with the blues.

□ THE CURE: The Peel Session (Strange Fruit Records DEI8341-2)

This four-track EP captures some of the Cure's finer moments as recorded December 4th, 1978. Includes the controversial and often mis-interpreted "Killing An Arab," "10:15 Saturday Night," "Fire In Cairo," and the classic, "Boys Don't Cry."

□ PROFESSOR X: Years Of The 9, On The Blackhand Side (4th & Broadway/Island 162 444 033-2)

Professor X's Years Of The 9, On the Blackhand Side is Afrocentric hip-hop on the Black nationalist tip a la LaKim Shabazz, Poor Riteous Teachers, X Clan, King Sun or Brand Nubian. However, The Professor's approach isn't so much straight rapping as a sort of spoken word. Strongest tracks include "The Definition Of A Sissy," "Gorillas In The Mist," "Call A Spade A Spade" and "Black Boot Stomp." Hard and funky yet melodic, the production makes good use of '60s and '70s soul samples from Earth, Wind & Fire, The Commodores, Soul Godfather James Brown (who's used sparingly) and Stevie Wonder.

□ 44 MAX: Maxin' With A Full Clip (Gold Key/Ichiban KEY 4104)

Ichiban Records continues exploring rap with its Wrap and Gold Key labels. Atlanta posse 44 Max's Maxin' With A Full Cap is a hardcore rap album that avoids the crossover tip. The posse examines such issues as Black-on-Black crime and drugs on "C.O.D.E.," "Rewind The Future" and "Hole Lotta Nonsense." Meanwhile, 44 Max vehemently attack golddigging females on "Measurement Of A Snucknose." Maxin' With The Full Clip was produced by Chad Lacy, with 44 Max acting as co-producers.

EAST COASTING

BY LEE JESKE

DAVID + DAVID: That's Crosby and Dinkins, doing their act at the MUSICARES benefit at the Waldorf, the first of New York's Grammy-related events. Crosby was awarded with a Man of the Year honor, Dinkins was just being Mayor. Mike Green (left) and Edwin Cooperman (right) complete the quartet.

KNEE DEEP IN THE HOOPLAH: Irving Berlin said it best: "There's no business like show business," said Irving. "Like no business I know."

Talk to people in almost every business and you'll hear complaints. A friend in the travel business tells me about a couple of dozen lay-offs at her company, a friend in the non-profit business tells me about a bunch of lay-offs in her museum, my friends at Rolling Stone talk about the recent lay-offs there. Lay-offs, recession, war...hey, it ain't a pretty picture out here in America.

The music business, it seems, is living in a different world, and that world settled in New York in all its gaudy glory for a week of Grammy-related activity that made the last awards show in town (three years ago) seem like a night at an off-Broadway theatre. The city, it seems, went nuts: parties here, parties there, parties everywhere. If the champagne business has been hurting, it isn't hurting after Grammy week: the bubbly flowed with gusto from the Waldorf to Gracie Mansion to the Four Seasons to the Hilton and back. And, to accompany the champagne, lobsters, pastries, oysters, filet mignon and, oh yeah, recording stars and their company presidents, resplendent in the very joy of their own existence.

Awards shows are nothing if not reasons for an industry to slap itself on the back, and the back-slapping this year was almost obscene, in the face of the troubles plaguing seemingly every other business in this country.

But who's complaining, the record business is doing well. People can't afford new houses and new cars, but everybody can afford eight bucks for a tape or twelve bucks for a CD. So, sure, why not drink a little champagne, wolf down a few dozen oysters, and kick up your heels to the sounds of Deee-Lite's "Groove is in the Heart," rippling through the BMG post-Grammy party at Tatou like the flags snapping in the breeze after an Olympic victory. It hardly matters that Deee-Lite records for another label, or that their album wasn't in the running for any awards this year. As the Scuds whistled in the Persian Gulf, as the homeless huddled on the sidewalks, the Grammy parties rumbled on into the night. If there was an air of surrealness in the air, an air of 'tween-the-wars Berlin, so be it. If you've got it, flaunt it. The record business flaunted it like mad.

It was a heady week and, save for that numbing show, a hell of a lot of fun. This would be the place for name-dropping—for recounting my party chats with M.C. Hammer, Dennis Hopper, Phil Collins, Quincy Jones, Jackie Mason, Steve Ross and others—but that would be rude and rather uninteresting: the names were out in force, they were there to be dropped.

As for the awards themselves...well, you know about that. Give the Grammys credit: the awards are always equal opportunity insulters. The day after any Grammys, everybody seems angry about the way their cause was treated:

"Is this any way to treat classical music?!?"

"Is this any way to treat jazz?!?"

"Is this any way to treat the black community?!?"

"Is this any way to treat the Latin community?!?"

"Did anybody actually buy Back on the Block?!"

Who cares: it's all in good fun. The Grammys don't represent the best of music any more than the Oscars represent the best of movies: never did, probably never will. But it was a hell of a party.

The last Grammy week party, though, did have a bit of important substance to it. The Rhythm and Blues Foundation, which was formed to redress the wrongs committed on some of the founders of rock and roll, handed out cash (!) awards to Maxine Brown, Al Hibbler, Albert King, Jimmy McCracklin, Curtis Mayfield, Sam Moore, Doc Pomus, the Five Keys and the Spaniels. The party was at Tatou and it was a warm, dignified affair, with Ahmet Ertegun, Bonnie Raitt, Phil Collins and Don Henley doing the presenting, and a rabbinical-looking Elvis Costello taking it all in.

One is tempted to say something cynical—something about Jimmy McCracklin probably not earning in his entire lifetime what one of the fancier Grammy parties cost—but why be that way?

Show business. Nothing like it.

LONDON NEWS

BY CHRISSY ILEY

SAY BOO II (by which we continue our chat with Alison Clarkson, Betty Boo to you): If you're born an outsider you either stumble as a victim or flourish as an independent spirit.

"I felt better than them and I dressed differently," says Alison, "always with my own style. A different haircut every two weeks. I've always liked '60s clothes. I was individual and they didn't like the way I spoke. I was a bit of a snob.

"The girls at school knew what they were going to do. Two things they wanted—either work in an office or have babies. Fifty percent of the kids in my school have got families, one parent families mind you. They'd been having it off with the boys in the other school and they've got their council flats, and that's their life. Well I don't mind being a snob.

"Girls like that irritate me. Whitney Houston irritates me because she looks like an old woman under her parents' thumb. And Sonia still irritates me because she's a little girl wanting to be a pop star, a bimbo. How can she dress like that? Sonia is the epitome of what a female in the music business shouldn't be."

She is so scornful she's practically snarling, at the thought of Stock Aitken Waterman's singing puppet darling.

"I like to set an example for girls, and show men that women are capable of producing and writing and making all their own decisions."

Just after leaving school, Alison formed the She Rockers. They met Public Enemy at the McDonald's at Shepherd's Bush; the band swooped them to New York to produce them. But she felt alienated by their radical black separatist views.

"I've no interest in black power because I'm not black. It's the black equivalent of the KKK."

After three weeks of bickering with the other girls she ditched them, more determined to make it on her own. She took a second engineering course.

"Nobody tells me, 'Don't touch those knobs,' anymore."

She fixes you with those big Bambi eyes. The mouth may look sulkily seductive when shut. But when open it unleashes lacerating lyrics with the main message being, "Don't mess with me." Ultra glamorous, which she naturally is, does not mean ultra malleable, which she isn't.

"I'm not ashamed of saying I'm materialistic. I want success. If I had to model myself on anyone it would be George Michael. My biggest fear was being a one-hit wonder. I like the way he is a respected songwriter, no longer a steamy heartthrob. It's flattering to be a heartthrob, but I'm not just that. My audience ranges from six to 60, like my boyfriend's Auntie Maude.

"I don't see myself as perfect. I wish I had a slimmer face. I don't care enough about myself. I've put on weight, but they say when you're a year older, 21, all your puppy fat goes and you'll feel a woman." She giggles. "Success has made me grow up an awful lot. I've met so many sharks. There are bad people in the music business. There is a mafia in the American record industry and I've met them; quite useful at such a young age. I'm quite aware of what's happening."

She tells the story of how Prince's management was desperate to sign her.

"They loved me, so they got on a plane, a Concorde from New York, and demanded to see me. I was busy in my studio and I said they could have 15 minutes. They couldn't believe it. 'We are a million times more famous than you and we couldn't even find you,' they said. They said Prince wanted to go out with me, but he wants to go out with anybody, doesn't he?"

In the end she decided on Paula Abdul's manager, Larry Frazin.

"I always like to be in the driver's seat. As a child I was like that. I hated being in cars. All I could think of was what would happen if we were going to crash. I used to have recurring dreams where the driver fainted and I had to take over the wheel. I hate the idea of being out of control."

And is she as forthright in personal relationships as she is in business, as is betrayed in the lyrics of her latest single, "24 Hours"? It's about being obsessed with someone. Not wanting to let them out of your sight.

"I'm possessive about everything and I get jealous very easily. My boyfriend is a songwriter who worked with me on '24 Hours' (which was written before the rest of the album). He's not the jealous type. It doesn't worry me being more famous than him. He's proud. If it was the other way 'round I'd be wondering why I was sitting home and he was famous. It would probably motivate me. It's a good thing I knew him before I was successful. But I know instinctively when someone is trying it on, when someone is after my money.

"When you find the right person the thing to do is marry them and have children. I found the right person. I think so.

"Aaaaarrgh," she bashfully shakes her head from side to side. "I get all embarrassed talking about it."

POINTS WEST

B-GIRLS IN EFFECT: Although hip-hop remains a homeboy-dominated genre, more and more homegirls are taking up the aggressive form of music. Underscoring this trend was an all-female rap concert held at the Los Angeles Sports Arena on February 14. Performers included Queen Latifah, MC Lyte, MC Trouble, Yo-Yo, Nikki D, Nefertiti and Soula. B-girls who weren't in effect included Salt-N-Pepa, Monie Love, Roxanne Shante, BWP, HWA, Isis, The Wee Papa Girls, Tairrie B and The Real Roxanne. Though the venue was far from sold out, those who were in effect expressed the most support for Latifah and Lyte. In keeping with the concert's theme of sisters doing it for themselves, Yo-Yo stressed to females that they don't need males to be successful. Nefertiti also dropped some science, urging Black Americans not to fight in the Persian Gulf.

COUNTRY MUSIC

Is Country Music Ready For Two Formats?

IT'S CREATED A WIDE SPECTRUM WHICH RANGES FROM THE DOWN-HOME FLAVOR OF ARTISTS SUCH AS GEORGE JONES AND TANYA TUCKER, TO THE URBAN CONTEMPORARY SOUNDS OF k.d. lang AND LYLE LOVETT. In other words—it's COUNTRY MUSIC!

As the history of country music has grown over the years, so have the styles, the sounds and the listening audience, therefore, becoming a phenomenal success story. In fact, the realm of country music has become so immense and diverse, that it's reached a level in which listeners can actually pick-n-choose the type country music they prefer best. In addition to today's country music offering far more artists, each with his or her own unique style, and a much better quality in sound, it has at the same time lured in the acceptance of listeners who previously listened only to musical formats such as pop, adult contemporary, alternative, etc.

Although country music is widely accepted as a whole, there are, however, many listeners who remain only loyal to the more traditional and Opry-rooted sounds of the spectrum. (Randy Travis, George Jones, Merle Haggard). There are also those who have recently turned their ears toward country music primarily because of its new avant garde, a diverse group which introduces more of an alternative-pop-and-roll emphasis. Artists such as Lyle Lovett, Mary-Chapin Carpenter, Kevin Welch, k.d. lang, Marty Stuart and the Kentucky HeadHunters come to mind.

So in essence, has the marketplace evolved to the extent that two separate formats are needed? Would such a division be an asset to the growth of country music, or would it actually hamper its current growing status?

One plus to such a change would perhaps give many artists and producers additional freedom to be even more true to their own artistic ability, rather than producing and recording material which will only hopefully be accepted by "country" radio.

Regardless, such a split in format would create a continuous cross-over situation. Material released by artists like Steve Earle, Rosanne Cash or Lyle Lovett might be dubbed as contemporary or alternative, yet some of their material may sound heavily traditional. Those artists who are usually labeled as traditional would occasionally release a single which would cross-over onto the contemporary/alternative chart.

Such a possibility would only become reality if radio actually distinguished which format best fulfills its listening audience, and which format a record would ultimately fall into. Of course, a second country chart would eventually follow. Some stations would perhaps double their listening audience—captivating the attention of younger listeners, as well as those adults who have grown tired of today's rap-saturated, pop stations.

Nashville's WSM-FM music director Larry Pareigis comments, "A lot of people may look at change as a threat, but I don't really look at it that way. I think sometimes change can be beneficial—as in this particular case, I think sometimes country music has to make sure it understands where it's going. I don't really think that there is enough material at this point to completely sustain a format like that. I think someday it may work, but the day has not arrived yet. Eventually there may be a split in the format if the material warrants it, but for right now there simply isn't enough material out there to go around," Pareigis continues. "Radio stations can still play Willie Nelson next to Rob Crosby, next to Patty Loveless, next to the HeadHunters, and it works for them. There are select songs by certain artists that can help fuel a format like that, but a lot of these artists are also trying to appeal to the most amount of people that they can...just like radio."

Washington D.C.'s WMZQ program director Gary McCartie: "I think it's possible," says McCartie. "My feeling is that country music is finally getting good enough to take over mainstream radio, and by dividing the format in half or even into thirds, in a given city, further disfranchises the listening audience or the potential for country music to grow, especially in major markets. The name of the game or the business is supply and demand," answered McCartie, when asked about the potential for select artists to perhaps become more successful if an additional format was offered. "Everyone who gets into any business understands the pit falls and the shortcomings, and there are a lot of talented people who can't get a record deal, and a lot of artists who can't get their record played and that will always be the case. There are a lot of civil engineers out of work today, but that doesn't mean the system should be changed. My feeling is that the cream of the crop does generally come to the top, but there is no way the industry is going to be able to make a place for everybody that knows how to play a guitar and sing. If we stopped playing traditional country music, the station wouldn't sound like a country station. But if we stopped playing contemporary or cross-over kinds of music (and I use that term loosely), then we would only appeal to a narrow country audience. So what country music has to do is stay broad and stay appealing to the masses."

"I can see where it could perhaps happen," states KSAN's Carl Brown, in San Francisco, California. "There are so many varied artists in country right now. Personally, I don't think I'd like to see it happen, and that's only because I think that the country format's strength is that it has such a loyal audience, and while that audience may not necessarily love every part about the music, they at least tolerate it and keep listening for what they really like. Country music is in another cycle right now and the "hats" are on top. It wasn't but about five years ago that the contemporary ballad singers and the country cross-over folks were on top, and the traditionalists were out in the backyard. If we all just hang together, sooner or later, we all rise to the top and share the glory."

KIKK's Joe Ladd (Houston, Texas) says, "I think it would be good for the record industry. I think as time goes on, there's going to be narrow casting anyway. You can't please everybody, but I think you're going to have to please a certain demographic that you're going after. (Such a split) would have to develop," continues Ladd. "I think that broadcasters ought to be planning for the future audience, because the old core is going to die...it's going to go anyway. I personally don't feel that the acts of today are going to be long term. Maybe one or two of them are going to be a George Jones. There are 15-20 acts out there. They're all good-lookin' and can sing like birds, but will all of them survive? There's another bunch right behind them!"

WRKZ's Dandelion Seese, in Hershey, Pennsylvania: "Will it divide? No! There's always a new wave of country, always, no matter what. Back in the 70's, it was the outlaw sound. In the late 70's and early 80's, it was the cross-overs or the Alabama sound that came in. Now, the new traditionalists make up the sound. Country music is pure Americana. It's part of our heritage, and there's always going to be a traditional part of country music."

MCA/Nashville vice president of promotion, Shelia Shipley, explained to Cash Box that such an issue right now is not as big as it was a few years ago. "I think that today the balance in country music between contemporary and traditional makes for a good sounding radio station. I think you can have both mixed in with a station. When we saw stations like Thunder in Charlotte, which tried to do more of a hybrid format, that could have been the beginning of something where they would even mix in some rock music along with country. When I listen to a rock station, there are times when I hear something that I like, and then there are times when something comes on and I go 'Woe!' I don't like that at all. So it doesn't matter what format you're listening to, I think you're going to have a mix of songs you like and songs you don't like. Right now, there are just enough artists out there to feed a format, but I don't see us having enough diversity within the format as it stands today to have two different formats."

Pam Lewis, vice president of Doyle/Lewis Management (Garth Brooks) comments, "I think that whatever will broaden country music, I'm in favor of it. If it means splitting the charts up and splitting up radio, then so be it. I think that part of the reason that people are turning to country music today is that they're not being served in other formats of music," Lewis continues. "Unfortunately, I think that we've been somewhat shackled to radio constraints. If radio would just open up a little bit more. Maybe that's going to take two formats to happen. If so, maybe you wouldn't have to go into the studios and record something that we hope will get played on country radio. I've worked with a lot of cutting-edge artists like Steve Earle and Lyle Lovett, and we had a lot of problems getting them played on country radio."

Independent promoter, Chuck Dixon, told Cash Box that he'd been talking about such a change hopefully taking place for years. "It works in Gospel music. Why can't it work here, because there are definitely two separate types of music here, and it's causing problems for promoters, for producers, and for songwriters. What's happening is that artists are trying to walk down the middle of a fence and we're getting a watered-down version of both musics. Producers are saying 'We can't do that because the traditionalists won't play it and we can't do that because the contemporaries won't play it.' So they say 'Let's just cut these two licks out and we won't antagonize either side.' What they're going to have to do is eventually have two separate charts and unfortunately, someone is going to have to say 'OK—this is the way it is boys! This is traditional and this is contemporary.' And there's going to be a cross-over factor at all times, but don't worry, it will all happen naturally."

Warner Bros./Nashville VP/promotions, Bob Saporiti, says that the possibility of the format dividing is less likely now than it was a few years ago. "No one can tell what's really going to happen in the future, but I don't see it happening. The idea has been dabbled with forever and country music has that incredible elastic ability to embrace and expand. I mean take the Kentucky HeadHunters. They should have been on another format by the standards of two years ago, yet today they just won the Grammy. Country just tends to bring in all the stuff. I don't think there would even be enough stuff out there to merit another format, and if it were that far outside, it wouldn't be country."

RCA/Nashville director of promotion, Mike Sirls, also doesn't see such a transition taking place any time soon. "I don't think it's going to happen. I think if it does, it's going to be in the future. I think that the people who aren't exactly mainstream country wish that it would happen so that there would be a bigger place or another place for them. The radio stations that I talk to—they're going to point to the success today, and for the most part those people who are having success are the traditional country music artists like Clint Black, Garth Brooks, etc. Right now there wouldn't be enough contemporary music to go around," says Sirls. "You'd probably have to look for it and then cultivate it."

Cash Box also spoke with Star Struck Entertainment's Jennifer Bohler (Reba McEntire) and International Management Services' John Dotson (Ricky Van Shelton). "Reba doesn't want to do just traditional country," says Bohler. "She likes to expand the boundaries of country music and experiment with a lot of different sounds. I think splitting the country format would be carrying it way to far."

"Artists, record companies and radio make up three very diverse groups that are totally dependent upon one another, and each of them is a real story partner in the ultimate outcome," Dotson admits. "I just don't know which of the three partners would be strong enough to create a new format."

COUNTRY NEW FACE

Molly & The Heymakers

THEY REPRESENT A RARE PIECE OF CREATIVE ART which somehow comes to life in a musical form. They're colorful, energetic and sculpture a romping sound that barrels through like a country-style carnival on a Saturday night. Then, of course, there's always a moment to pull down the tent, turn out the bright lights and maybe take a homely truckride down an old dirt road.

To create such a diversion in music—whether the mood is high-powered and bubbling over with energy, or low-keyed and flowing with deep sincerity, it takes someone who can grab onto the handles and steer either way. New recording artists Molly & The Heymakers, for instance, a group from Hayward, Wisconsin, that brings the true colors of today's country music to an even brighter shade.

Following three years of captivating audiences in and around their home-base area, Molly & The Heymakers are geared up to unleash their authentic, quavering country to soon-to-be fans world-wide. "Chasin' Something Called Love," the group's debut single on Reprise Records, spills out the first taste of such a unique and sultry performance.

"Whenever you're different, you take that risk of either being accepted or being completely blown off," laughs Molly Scheer. "We've all got different influences and I guess I'm the one who's got the most country influence on the group, especially since I do most of the songwriting. But we've got these other members who love country music, yet bring in all these other influences. I really don't believe there would have been a place for us five or six years ago. The time is just so right for us now. Country music has just progressed so much and it's gotten back to its roots, but it's also pulling in some of the coolest sounds of rock-n-roll and has become so wide-open!"

Scheer leads the pack with her wide-open, gutsy vocals and pours in a spiced-up mandolin for flavor, while co-founder of the group, Andy Dee, adds an acoustic and steel guitar, dobro and vocals. The remaining two Heymakers include Jeff Nelson (bassist/vocalist) and Joe Lindzius (drums/percussion and vocal harmony). Together, they create a sound that spills somewhat into the same niche honed by artists such as Kevin Welch and Carlene Carter. But for Molly & the Heymakers, perhaps it's the beating pulse of rowdy, rockin' country, combined with Scheer's every-day-life lyrics, which opens the door to an even broader country audience.

"Country music is an acceptance of just who you are," explains Scheer, "and I think that's a valuable lesson. That's why I think if you get the younger audience...the real young audience to embrace that, it would do people a lot of good. We've got an energy that's just there and it attracts young people. Everything's played real aggressively, yet the lyrics might talk about the simple beauty of just driving around in a truck and the joy and freedom that something like that brings."

The name, Molly And The Heymakers, certainly didn't fall from the sky. It had to be something that sounded fun, but still had a country sound to it. That's how the word "hay" came to mind. Then there was a need for a real punch in there too. Hay-makers seemed to have had that punchy, off-the-wall effect, so it stuck. And since the group is entirely different from any other, they wanted to really jump out there and grab some attention, therefore the word "hay" was then re-spelled as "Hey!"

So if the name Molly & The Heymakers sounds a bit different, and their rowdy brand of North-meets-South music turns some heads, or maybe the lyrics in their songs turn some hearts, then they're doing the job they set out to do three years ago—and having a lot of fun doing it.

WMZQ AND BOY SCOUT TROOP SUPPORT THE USO—Country music fans recently raised thousands of dollars to support families of military personnel serving in Operation Desert Storm. WMZQ in Washington, D.C. organized the USO fundraiser which took place at an area concert featuring Conway Twitty, George Jones and Vince Gill. Boy Scout Troop 1113 of Fairfax, Virginia gave 4'x6' American flags to every person who made a donation.

"At no time in recent history has the USO of Metropolitan Washington been called upon to support the military and especially the families of Operation Desert Storm," says Elaine Rogers, executive director of the USO of Metropolitan Washington. "We are responsive to the needs, but we cannot respond without the kind of support shown by WMZQ, the boy scouts and the generous people who have donated. We desperately need the help right now."

Over $3,000 was raised for the USO of Metropolitan Washington. WMZQ is committed to raising money for the USO until the war has officially ended.

Producer: Howie Epstein

Writers: Carlene Carter/Robert Ellis Orrall

Carlene Carter rides in on this one like a feather dancing on a gentle breeze. Compared to her previous "firecracker" performances, "The Sweetest Thing" reveals a whole new side of Carter—a side that's sure to garner her another landslide of fans. Tender words lace the lyrics, a confident acoustic guitar sweetens the melody and Carter's charcoal-edged vocals reach out and pull us right into this beautiful ballad.

FEATURE PICKS

□ RONNIE MILSAP: "Are You Lovin' Me Like I'm Lovin' You" (RCA 2509-7-RAA)

Producers: Ronnie Milsap/Rob Galbraith

Writers: Johnny Cunningham/Steve Stone

The combination of Milsap and an indepth love story has long been a winning package in country music. His latest release from the new Back To The Grindstone LP proves to be no exception. "Are You Lovin' Me Like I'm Lovin' You" spills out heart-burning lyrics which questions the depth of love, and is tenderly delivered with the warm sting of Milsap's sensual vocals.

□ MIKE REID: "Till You Were Gone" (Columbia 38 73736)

Producer: Steve Buckingham

Writers: M. Reid/R.M. Bourke

With his follow-up to the powerful "Walk On Faith" debut, newcomer Mike Reid comes back revealing a much more compassionate approach. This lazy-tempo number slow-dances through some teary-eyed lyrics and showcases Reid's raspy voice with full flavor. "Till You Were Gone" will most likely move up quick, as will Reid's quick-rising recognition as being one of country music's brightest new faces.

□ SHELBY LYNNE: "What About The Love We Made" (Epic 34 73716)

Producer: Bob Montgomery

Writer: J. Rotch

Stand back and let this power-house vocalist do her stuff! Shelby Lynne seems to shine a bit brighter with her every release, and her latest single from the Tough All Over project holds nothing back. Lynne reaches down to the bottom depths of the soul on this blues-tinged ballad and wails out a stunning performance. "What About The Love We Made" tells the sad story of how an ultimate break-up can also break the heart of a child. Also be alert for Lynne's vocal explosion at the end of this number—breathtaking, to say the least.

□ TOM KELL: "The Girl With The Single Rose" (Warner Bros. 26508)

Producer: Josh Leo

Writer: Tom Kell

Making his first impression a definite great one, new artist on the block, Tom Kell, brings a fresh contemporary sound and style to country music. His debut release, "The Girl With The Single Rose" spits out a spicy cut lined with flavory guitar licks and Kell's rich, fluttering vocals.

□ BUCK OWENS: "Twice The Speed Of Love" (Curb/Capitol 79603)

Producer: Jimmy Bowen

Writers: Kostas/Marty Stuart

How else can one describe such a musical tingle without calling it "Buck Owens-style?" "Twice The Speed Of Love" presents a zesty, feel-good traditional that's just begging for some toe-tappin'. Thumbs up to Owens, who dives in and really brings this number to its liveliest!

□ T.G. SHEPPARD: "Born In A High Wind" (Curb/Capitol 79566)

Producers: Mac McAnally/Walt Aldridge

Writers: Walt Aldridge/Gary Baker/Susan Longacre

Long time no hear from T.G.! Nevertheless, the wait was worth it. Sheppard is back in action with a surprising, gut-n-grind performance. "Born In A High Wind" drives with a deep-beatin' tempo and a luring "but-life-goes-on" theme.

■ ALBUM RELEASE

□ DOLLY PARTON: Eagle When She Flies (Columbia 46882)

There's no denying that Dolly Parton's lyrics and music reflect her own magnetic personality—strong, adventurous and thoroughly realistic. Her latest release, Eagle When She Flies, soars with such regal qualities, yet reveals an even greater sense of depth. As expected, Eagle When She Flies, produced by Steve Buckingham and Gary Smith, unleashes Parton's scorching, vocal quivers with full spice and energy in tunes such as "Country Road," "Runaway Feeling" and "Best Woman Wins," a duet which features Lorrie Morgan. Much of the new project, which flaunts Parton's creative penmanship on nine of the eleven cuts, reveals the strength and sensitivity discovered in women, in addition to her loyal dedication to her roots and family pride. Such cuts include "Silver And Gold," "Family," "Dreams Do Come True," her current duet with Ricky Van Shelton—"Rockin' Years," and the inspirational "Eagle When She Flies." Other guest appearances on the album include country greats like Emmylou Harris, Patty Loveless and Vince Gill. Eagle When She Flies brings back home the traditional country elements which originally launched Parton's phenomenal career, and also represents many of the new directions and realizations which have delivered her to the unlimited realms of superstardom.

KLEB DOES THE GUMBO—KLEB Radio in Golden Meadow, Louisiana recently held their 4th Annual Gumbo Cook-off. The annual fundraiser, held at the Bayou Centroplex in Galliano, Louisiana drew in gumbo lovers from near and far to taste what's been called some of the best gumbo in the world. All proceeds from the cook-off will be donated to the local center for special kids.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER for Kevin Grap of WCCN Radio, in Neillsville, Wisconsin. Grap recently became the proud pop of a new, 7oz. baby boy, named Kaleb.

TODAY'S NEW TALENT HITS RADIO JUST RIGHT—"This is the best time ever for new country talent," comments Skip Ramsey, of WLSA Radio in Louisa, Virginia. "It's all fresh and original, but still sounds like country." Ramsey also explained what the majority of radio has witnessed within the past few years—various style and format swings. There was certainly a time in country music when the sound was extremely "hard" country with all the down-home, southern trimmings. As the pendulum continued to swing, a more contemporary format was discovered and well received. Perhaps it was the side-effects from The Urban Cowboy motion picture, however, that eventually brought back the original roots and sound of country music. Enters George Strait, Randy Travis, Ricky Van Shelton, etc. Just recently though, it seems that both styles have combined, introducing artists such as Kevin Welch, Mary-Chapin Carpenter, Matraca Berg and The Kentucky Head-Hunters.

New CD Service Cuts Record Company Cost and Reaches More Radio

THE OPENING OF CDX (COMPACT DISC XPRESS) was recently announced by 22-year music industry veteran Paul Lovelace. CDX is a service oriented company established to assist participating record companies in the distribution of promotional CD service to all full-time radio stations. The first CDX release is scheduled for March 11.

The primary focus of the new CDX service will be those stations not currently reporting to a major trade publication. "It's a country singles car pool," says Lovelace. Single releases from the participating labels will be combined on one CD, thus providing a cost effective means of distribution to the stations. Lovelace stated that the service will not only save the record community hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, but will also provide programmers with Nashville's highest technology and quality. Programmers will also enjoy the advantage of having current releases compiled on one single disc.

Keeping the necessary environmental concerns in mind, the CDX service will also eliminate a large number of plastic jewel boxes and packaging materials. "In a year's time, our industry distributes a mountain of plastic jewel boxes and package materials," Lovelace explains. "CDX will eliminate eleven jewel boxes and mailers for every twelve releases." Lovelace also added that plans are underway for totally recyclable CDX containers.

CDX's offices will be located at One Lincoln Court, 1018 17th Avenue South, Nashville, Tennessee.

MCA/Nashville recently hosted a luncheon honoring new recording artist, J. P. Pennington. Industry guests got a sneak preview of Pennington's debut album for the label, due out in May, including his first single and title track, entitled "Whatever It Takes." Shown from (l-r) are: David Haley, director of promotions (MidSouth/MidWest) MCA/Nashville; Kevin O'Neal, program director, WSM-FM; Larry Pareigis, music director, WSM-FM; Scott Borchetta, director of national promotion, MCA/Nashville; Pennington; Shelia Shipley, vice president of national promotion, MCA/Nashville; and Bruce Hinton, president, MCA/Nashville.

When RCA recording artist Aaron Tippin made his first appearance on The Nashville Network's Nashville Now program, the segment resulted with a little show-and-tell. In addition to performing his "You've Got To Stand For Something" single, Tippin also took pride in showing Nashville Now host Ralph Emery his tattoo of a palmetto tree, which is the state symbol for South Carolina (where Tippin is from). The inimitable Charlie Chase unleashes yet another bag of tricks on unsuspecting celebrity friends in the newest Funny Business With Charlie Chase program on TNN: The Nashville Network. In one segment of the program, country artist Steve Wariner is led to believe that the crew of Crook & Chase, TNN's weekday entertainment magazine series, is doing a segment on Wariner and a line of sportscoats he promotes. While Wariner models the jackets during the interview, an actress posing as a sales representative for the clothing company starts "coming on strong." To add to Wariner's embarrassment, she hands him an outlandish jacket which he reluctantly tries on before Chase comes to the rescue. The Funny Business special, also featuring Shenandoah and Travis Tritt, will air Wednesday, April 10, at 8:00 & 11:00 pm, Eastern time. Pictured are Chase and Wariner.

Debra Dudley

COUNTRY NEWCOMER DEBRA DUDLEY continues to stretch a musical career which began when she was only five years old in Pike County, Kentucky. The Concorde International records artist recently embarked on a five-state promotional tour in support of her newly-released single and video, entitled "Mama's Rocking Chair." Dudley has already proven to be one of country music's most prominent rising stars, yet her ultimate goal is to rise all the way to the top—a dream which requires a positive outlook such as her's to ever become reality.

"I realize that the road ahead of me is a tough one, but I'm willing to work around the clock to succeed," says Dudley.

Like many country artists, Dudley gathered much of her musical skills and knowledge from strong gospel roots, which led her to perform with her parents as The Runyon Trio when she was still just a youngster. After later studying music and taking piano lessons, Dudley had formed her own group by age 13. Her childhood efforts eventually paid off when she was invited to join the road show of Oscar Sullivan, one-half of the popular Grand Ole Opry duo Lonzo and Oscar.

Even today, the artist remains true to her original country roots, a loyalty that she says will always be present. "I'm strictly country and I'm going to stay that way," she declares. "To me the best songs of all time are country songs. They're songs that help people through the bad times, that help them remember the good times, and give them hope for better times in the future. To me, that's country music."

CHARTA RECORDS CLAIMS NEW OWNERSHIP—One of Nashville's oldest independents, Charta Records, was recently sold. Canadian producer Archie Robinson took over Charta's ownership in January. Robinson announced that operations will remain the same: Charlie Fields as producer and General Manager, and Debbie Dean as in-house promotion director, specializing in the overseas market. According to BMI, the twenty-year-old record company has the largest catalog of song material in Europe.

TONY PRITCHETT: "You're My Star" (ALH AR-545)

Producer: Harvey Turner

Writers: P. Pritchett/D. Anderson/T. Pritchett

Yes! Yes! Yes! This new name to the country scene has a sound and single we salute! "You're My Star" pours out a galloping tune about the finer things of love, and of course, flaunts one of the finer, independent vocal performances we've heard in a while. Pritchett takes full control of this inspirational diddy, and enhances an all-around, great piece of production with his smooth, traditional vocals.

□ HEATH LOCKLEAR: Ghost Town (Southern DeSoto NR-18537)

Compiling such forces as youth, professionalism and a virile vocal performance, results in one of today's most prominent country entertainers—Heath Locklear. This Fort Payne, Alabama native has in a short number of years gathered the true elements required to master a solid musical foundation, and will no doubt place a long-term impact on the country industry in years to follow. Locklear's latest work is featured on his current Ghost Town LP, self produced along with Roland Locklear and John D. Willis. Ghost Town presents a nine-cut package of flavory "country roots-meets-southern rock-n-roll. In addition to striking songwriting results and stellar production, Locklear's impulsive, baritone vocals lead each cut to a highly relatable level. In tunes such as the gutsy "Hillbilly Limousine," "Takin' The Hard Way Out" and the jazzy undertoned "Turn It Around," Locklear's performance peaks with a hard-driving electricity. The project also unrolls a brilliant line-up of emotional ballads and traditionals, such as "I Never Said I Was Perfect," "Every Man's Dream" and the title track. After already reaching various musical heights throughout his career, Ghost Town is destined to garner Locklear an even higher position on the ladder.

FOR ALMOST FOUR DECADES,
DELMARK RECORDS HAS specialized in blues and jazz. Label president/owner Bob Koester founded Delmark in St. Louis in 1953 before moving the label to its present base of Chicago several years later. "The label started as a hobby," Koester recalls. "As the years went on, I was able to build up a catalogue."

Delmark's catalogue totals 108 releases, and that's not counting the titles Delmark has acquired from the United and Pearl labels. Bluesmen who have recorded for Delmark include Magic Sam, Sleepy John Estes, Junior Wells, Big Joe Williams, Curtis Jones, Jimmy Dawkins, Speckled Red, Otis Rush and J.B. Hutto. On the jazz tip, Delmark has either recorded or acquired albums by Bud Powell, Earl "Fatha" Hines, Sun Ra, Donald Byrd, Jimmy Forrest, Sonny Stitt, Barney Bigard, The Art Ensemble Of Chicago, Archie Shepp and Wynton Kelly. Jazzmen who've recorded for Delmark in recent years include trumpeter Malachi Thompson, alto saxophonist Mike Smith and Windy City tenorist Ed Petersen.

Jazzwise, Delmark has concentrated on acoustic pre-fusion forms, including bebop, modal post-bop, Dixieland and avant-garde. Koester contends, "Fusion was the first time anything having to do with jazz wasn't created by the artists, but by the industry. Fusion was conceived as a marketing tool by the industry."

While Fantasy, Concord, Musicmasters and other jazz-conscious indies jumped on CDs, Delmark didn't get into CDs until 1990. Since then, Delmark has released 14 titles on CD and plans to reissue 20 titles a year on CD. "We've been accused of being anti-CD," Koester explains. "We're not anti-CD—we simply didn't have enough money to do it. It was real expensive to put out CDs in the beginning. And I knew that if I waited, it was gonna get cheaper. As we put out more and more CDs, the image of Delmark hating CDs will vanish."

INDIE REVIEWS

SINGLES

□ RONNIE LAWS: "Morning In My Life" (ATA D2-76354)

"Morning In My Life," the latest single from jazz/R&B saxophonist/singer Ronnie Laws' current album is a relaxed R&B song that "quiet storm" programmers should check out. "Morning In My Life" was written and produced by Laws.

□ UNIT 3 FEATURING BUDDY MILES: "War/What Are We Fighting For" (GPI 0018)

The war in the Persian Gulf gets dissed on rap crew Unit 3's "War, What Are We Fighting For," a song asserting that The U.S. shouldn't be fighting for oil. Making a guest appearance, Buddy Miles sings the chorus to another song opposing another war: Edwin Starr's "War." Farley Jackmaster Funk, a noted housemeister, produced the single. Unit 3 records for the Chicago-based GPI label, which can be reached at (312) 472-6556.

ALBUMS

□ JIM HALL & FRIENDS: Live At Town Hall, Vol. 1 (Musicmasters 5050-2-C)

Ron Carter, Gerry Mulligan, Gary Burton and Bob Brookmeyer are among Jim Hall's friends on this superb live album, which was recorded at London's Town Hall in 1989. If one were to list mainstream jazz' finest living guitarists, Jim Hall would have to be mentioned along with Kenny Burrell and Joe Pass. Hall's electric guitar is tasteful and lyrical as he embraces Duke Ellington's "Prelude To A Kiss," Sonny Rollins' "St. Thomas" and the standards "Begin The Beguine" and "All The Things You Are." Like all new Musicmasters releases, Live At Town Hall, Vol. 1 was digitally recorded.

□ THE BEACH BOYS: Lost & Found (1961-1962) (DCC DZS-054)

Lost & Found, a 21-track CD containing rarities from The Beach Boys' pre-Capitol years, is essential listening for surf rock enthusiasts. The CD's highlights include previously unissued takes of "Surfin'," "Surfer Girl," "Surfin' Safari" and "Luau"; the long out of print Randy Records single "Barbie"; and "Lavendar," an a cappella ballad never made commercially available. Grab that surfboard, dude, and head on out to Zuma Beach.

□ KMC: Three Men With The Power Of Ten (Priority 4XL 57122)

KMC, a hardcore rap posse from Southern Cali, takes it as a compliment when described as spastic and hyper. KMC (whose name stands for Kaotic Minds Corruptin') refuses to chill on such relentlessly intense dopejams as "Grim Reaper," "Terrifyin' Tracks," "Lyrical Tournament," "2-N-1" and "Murder." Musically, Three Men With The Power Of Ten is about as different from EPMD as a homeboy can get. Unafraid to kick reality, KMC examines inner-city violence on "Living In The Ghetto," "Gangsters" and "The Streets Are The Battlefield." Check out these lyrics on gang violence from the latter: It's not the fact that he was White or Black/It's just the fact that the reason he died was wack. Word.

□ DARK ANGEL: Time Does Not Heal (Combat/Relativity 88561-2018-2)

Hard, fast and heavy, Time Does Not Heal is a brutal thrash metal offering that's guaranteed to liven up many a mosh pit. Song titles like "Pain's Invention, Madness," "Sensory Deprivation" and "Trauma And Catharsis" let you know that Time Does Not Heal, Dark Angel's first studio effort since Leave Scars, isn't on the escapist tip. A main theme of the album is pain and suffering resulting from religion. Dark Angel shouldn't be confused with Death Angel (who shouldn't be confused with Death) or Angelwitch.

□ DIAMOND REXX: Golden Gates (Red Light 8351)

Windy City headbangers Diamond REXX go for the throat on their Golden Gates, an EP that was recorded "live in the studio." Lead vocalist Nasti Habits brings a great deal of Alice Cooper-influenced guts and attitude to slamjams like "Crazy From Love," "Put 'Em On Ice" and "Cathouse" and the title track, a haunting power ballad. Golden Gates was produced by Mark Nawara, president of Chicago's metal/hard rock-oriented Red Light Records—which can be reached at (708) 297-5849.

□ SONNY RHODES: Disciple Of The Blues (King Snake/Ichiban ICH 9002)

Singer/guitarist Sonny Rhodes is an electric bluesman who doesn't hesitate to drop science on his latest offering, Disciple Of The Blues. "Ain't Nothing But The Blues" notes the severity of the AIDS crisis, and "Cigarette Blues" laments a woman's nicotine-induced death. Like B.B. King and Little Milton, Rhodes ventures into soul territory—"Blue Funky Down," "Are We Losing Our Thing" and a cover of Lee Dorsey's "Ya Ya" recall the splendor of southern soul.

□ DAVID HOFFMAN: On Fire (Brick City BRICK 2)

Trumpeter David Hoffman generally goes for a slick, commercial jazz-pop sound on this eight-song album. "Summer Ballad," "Running The Race" and a cover of Hubert Laws' "Chicago Theme" are among the cuts from the self-produced On Fire that have "quiet storm" potential. "A-La Mode," meanwhile, is a mainstream jazz cut that gives Hoffman more room to improvise. Hoffman records for the Springfield, Illinois-based Brick City Records, which can be reached at (217) 523-2262.

□ BYTHER SMITH: Housefire (Bullseye Blues/Rounder CDBB 9503)

"Ominous," "dark" and "moody" are among the adjectives that come to mind when listening to Byther Smith's Housefire, which the Chicago bluesman approaches with such emotion that you know the brother's not pretending. "Wait And See," "The Man Wants Me Dead" and other songs show the influence of B.B. King's darker side. Meanwhile, Smith gets into soul/R&B on the too-funky "Martha Dear."

NEWS:

A QUARTET OF UPCOMING RELEASES FROM WAX TRAX that you should be on the look-out for: Pagan Tango, by Chris & Cosey, co-founders of the legendary Throbbing Gristle—who gave birth to the term "Industrial Music." In 1990 the label re-released the duo's first four albums (Heartbeat, Trance, Love & Lust, and Techno Primitie) as well as a compilation of selections from these albums, titled Reflection. Pagan Tango will be released April 1st, with the first single, "Synaesthesia," (featuring a remix by Daniel Miller) available March 1st.

Junior

Londonbeat

Young Black Teenagers

classic "Mama Used To Say" left off, and bring the success that was so widely predicted following that hit.

The second standout is London Beat's In the Blood. This British outfit, with influences drawn from r&b, pop, funk and dance music, has already taken the charts and clubs by storm with their huge hit, "I've Been Thinking About You," and should continue to find chart success with an album full of potential singles.

A little more disappointing from MCA is the Young Black Teenagers (who actually are signed to SOUL Records, distributed by MCA). Though the group's credentials are in tact (as are their contacts—the same folks responsible for Public Enemy are behind these young rappers,) the actual raps are a little disappointing. When they speak of the conflict of being white but feeling that the hip hop culture is their culture, they are interesting and touch on the problems that come from having a community comprised of differing and varying philosophies, traditions and histories, particularly how the clashes of these elements can be threatening to so many. But rarely do the guys build on the potential of these ideas. (Youth and inexperience are likely factors.) It's disappointing to hear them simply lapse into the swagger that so many other outfits do. Still, they are promising, and they do demonstrate an awareness of problems that so many seem absolutely oblivious to.

Whiplash Boychild, by Chris Connelly, of Ministry and Revolting Cocks. This one is a new direction for both the normally aggressive Connelly and Wax Trax. While music that pulverizes has been Connelly's trademark in the past, on Boychild he puts the emphasis on song and lyric. Available March 1st. The first single is "Stowaway."

Love's Secret Domain by cult favorites, Coil. This group (whose current lineup includes original members John Balance and Peter Christopherson—formerly of Psychic TV, as well as Stephen Thrower and Otto Avery) specializes in rich, darkly hypnotic musical experiments and doesn't disappoint this time around. Released March 15th.

Tenebra Vision, by Cyberaktif which marks the first collaboration between Wax Trax and Canadian label, Network. Cyberaktif is the working title of the collaborative efforts of Cevin Key (Skinny Puppy) and Bill Leeb (Front Line Assembly). The first single, "Nothing Stays," was released a few weeks ago, with the album available March 1st.

6 West Home Video has announced that it will join the fight against AIDS with the launch of Red, Hot & Blue, the video. The 90 minute music special is dedicated to dispelling the prejudices associated with HIV infection and raising money for AIDS research and relief. The video, in stores April 9th and selling for $19.98, will feature video clips from some of the top stars in the recording industry today and will present the program as it was intended (and seen in the rest of the world) before ABC chickened out and did their best to turn it into a Cole Porter Tribute. You'll get to see the Jimmy Sommerville and Jungle Brothers videos that had the network execs quaking in their loafers.

MCA has two winners on their hands: the "comeback" of Junior with the Stand Strong album, a funk/r&b/dance orgy that should pick up where the

RHYTHM & BLUES

YOU'D HAVE TO BE PRETTY AGGRESSIVE in your avoidance of modern media to miss the Josephine Baker hype/mania/craze that's being fueled by HBO to launch their bio-pic of the legendary, American-born/French deified icon. Having influenced scores of performers, been muse to some of the most important writers, artists and social figures of this decade, and lived a life that seemed too Hollywood to ever really be captured on film, it seems a minor miracle that the project has gotten made at all. What makes Baker of particular interest at this time is the way she so effortlessly combined two elements that seem to be at odds in today's music scene: glamour and substance (talent). Not really beautiful in the conventional sense, Baker created in herself a creature of glamour, intrigue and dazzle. Her voice was high-pitched when people like Ethel Waters, Bessie Smith and other earthier, grittier belters were the rage. Yet, she developed into an incomparable stylist who could hold audiences in the palm of her hand with her delivery. She danced, sang and acted until her death, never shortchanging her audience and never letting one area of her art wither. The myth(s) of Josephine at times threaten to dominate the realities, which is unfortunate when the former so thoroughly pales beside the latter. Make the effort to see The Josephine Baker Story when it plays on HBO throughout March and find out how it should be done.

Josephine Baker

While we're on the subject of divas, one in the making is currently residing at PolyGram. Marva Hicks is poised to sit on that elite perch of singers that includes Regina Belle, Anita Baker and Miki Howard. On her self-titled debut, Hicks has help from Stevie Wonder (he's a huge fan) who wrote, produced and sang on the track, "Strong Is My Love." Marva herself co-wrote many of the album's songs which explains the immediacy of the lyrics and the heartfelt delivery. Not purely a ballad-fest, though, this effort boasts hip hop and funk tinged efforts that give the singer an edge with the younger crowd without requiring that she "dumb down" her songs. Good stuff.

HE CAN AND WILL: One of the great hopes of contemporary r&b, Island recording artist, Will Downing, cuts loose during a recent performance at R&B LIVE in Los Angeles.

THEY LOVE MUSIC: On the same night Will Downing brought down the house, MCA artists, Perri, were in the house to lend support. Pictured (l-r) are: Ramon Hervey II, Demetrius Harvey, Darlene Perry (Perri), Carolynn Perry (Perri), Sharon Perry (Perri), Bill Hammond, Will Downing, and Lori Perry (Perri).

ON JAZZ

BY LEE JESKE

Maceo

TWO OF THE KING'S MEN: When Pee Wee Ellis' friend Waymon Reed called him up around 1964 and told him that James Brown was looking for a tenor player, Pee Wee reacted the way any red-blooded bebopper would have at the time.

"I said, 'James who? What?'" says Ellis. "He said, 'He needs a tenor player, you want a gig?'"

"So quickly scanning my calendar, I soon deduced that if I took this gig and made it work, I could actually afford to play what I wanted to play. And my snap judgement in my mind went, 'Well, it might take two or three years, maybe four.' Anyway, it's taking...what's this '91?'"

It's 1991. And Pee Wee Ellis, Maceo Parker and Fred Wesley—under the names Maceo Parker & Roots Revisited (the name of the Verve album that hit the top of the jazz charts recently), the J.B. Horns (the name of their new Gramavision album), Fred Wesley & New Friends (the name of an upcoming Antilles album, minus Ellis), the Pee Wee Ellis Assembly, Maceo: For All the King's Men (the name of an Island EP last year, again minus Ellis, that included the hilarious "Let Him Out," a plea to the judge keeping James Brown locked up)—are working like crazy, playing a little jazz, a little rock and roll, and a whole lot of funk.

"Well, I think it's just the difference in the styles of playing," says tenor saxophonist Parker about their togetherness. "We all came from different backgrounds, yet similar. We were all with James Brown together, which gave us a kind of oneness."

"Pee Wee is a guy who understands, and has gone through, all the jazz idioms and chords and structures and all this stuff. He has a real understanding of the real jazzy jazz."

"Fred is a little bit like that, but I wouldn't consider him as deep into the jazz roots as Pee Wee would be. He would be more middle of the road, so to speak, with the jazzy stuff, and he plays the funky stuff."

"My style of playing is more into the funky stuff, even though I'm familiar with, and have gone through, a little bit of jazz upbringing, too."

"But it seems that—us coming from the different backgrounds that we do—there's a magic in the combination somehow. It's really hard to pinpoint exactly what it is, although we complement each other somehow, and when the three of us play there's just a magic there. We know it, we hear it, and we enjoy doing it and we have fun doing it. It's just there."

"Hey, man, we are together," says Pee Wee Ellis, who went from the musical directorship of James Brown's band to a long tenure with Van Morrison. "We are married and nobody can break that up but us. All these guys out there trying to talk out of the side of their mouth to one guy can all forget it, man, because we don't hear that shit. We all realize that we've got a responsibility and we had a chance to enjoy a romance—the Flames are going to burn on forever."

This spring, PolyGram is releasing a James Brown boxed set, which should shine yet another spotlight on that incredibly well-greased funk machine that was the James Brown Revue. Few ensembles in popular music history have been as influential: From Sly and the Family Stone to Miles Davis to George Clinton to Prince to M.C. Hammer and on and on and on, the influence of the records that James Brown made just grows with the years. It's no accident that Maceo Parker has found himself on recent records by Deee-Lite and Living Colour, two groups that decided, hey, why sample Maceo Parker when we can get Maceo Parker.

Was it as exciting on the stage behind James Brown as it was in the audience?

"Exciting like hell, man," says Ellis, "you couldn't believe it. PolyGram is putting together a boxed set, and I was over there one day during some of the mastering and, man, remembering some of that stuff was absolutely incredible. I should have bought a ticket most nights. The electricity...it was like a locomotive going down the track full speed with no drivers."

Ellis and Parker agree that the credit rests with one man:

"The whole mysterious thing about what was happening with James Brown actually was James Brown," says Parker. "He had the ideas and it was his thing to hum or dictate what he thought the horns should do, and like that. It only started changing a little bit when the guys started to try to enhance or increase upon his ideas. And then he started giving me the freedom to play whatever I wanted to play when it came time for me. You know: 'C'mon, Maceo, brother, play your horn.'"

"It's hard to put it into a lump like that, because sometimes he was there, sometimes he wasn't, sometimes he had a lot of input, sometimes he didn't," says Ellis. "And sometimes he let me do whatever needed to be done and if it impressed him or inspired him, he would leave it. But, for the most part, he had to do something with it."

"See, I tended to understand his grunts and groans and under-the-breath mutterings, the low tonality. I looked behind his eyes. It's kind of like reading a person—if a book is open and you look at it directly you'll see the page."

As to the influence those old records continue to exert, Ellis and Parker agree it was something they never could have guessed at the time.

"We had pride in this and tried to not make mistakes and all of that," says Parker. "We worked very hard at it. But we had no idea of the impact that it would have on, say, the industry today."

"Oh, man, we had no idea, or very little idea," says Ellis. "We knew that our stuff was great and we enjoyed it. We'd say, 'Ah, this is a good one, what do you think?' And the attention then became on the next one, because the bus was always waiting for you for the next gig."

And when they finally do release James Brown from jail?

COCINANDO

Last week, we discussed the current walking-on-eggshells status of the Texas market, along with the stations' rapid album programming and its negative effect on artists. This conclusion presents the stations' views as well as some distribution comments and ending bolas. Like its predecessor, it is based on material gathered by Ramiro Burr; written and edited by Burr and Tony Sabournin, and for once, uncensored by the military.

ACCORDING TO LAREDO'S Z-93's DJ Bird Rodríguez, the multiple-track programming problem stems from the keen need for radio stations to play "exclusives." This is accomplished in a variety of ways. Sometimes the artist, in an effort to curry favor with a station, will slip the DJs some selected songs in addition to the 45. To keep the other stations happy, the artists will slip them different cuts.

"But the artist is not the only culprit. Just as often, band managers and promoters do the same, with the same results. Although only the 45 is officially out, the entire LP is being played," said Luis Silva, Sony Discos' promotion executive in Texas. "It's a very difficult situation to control. And, between all the stations' aggressiveness, they have all the cuts."

Albert Dávila, general manager of KEDA, one of those aggressive stations, says he has his reasons: "Several groups have two or three albums a year. In addition, people ask for different songs. And yeah, we're aggressive. We have to be. There are eight (Spanish language) stations in the San Antonio area."

KEDA-AM's PD Alberto Calvo, while agreeing that artists need all the help they can get to improve sales, also concurs that the multis' investment in the Texas market has improved other fronts. "As a whole, the industry has gotten better, as there are already better production values in the recordings." Other things have also improved. For the first time tejano artists are getting consistent marketing beyond the Lone Star State's boundaries.

According to Robert Benavides, manager of onda star Roberto Pulido, his client has performed on such popular TV shows as La Feria de la Alegría, TV Mujer and Sábado Gigante. Pulido is also scheduled to do a California tour that includes Bakersfield, Fresno and San Joaquín Valley. Other examples were the exposure received by newcomer soloist Adalberto during the recent Radio y Música Convention in Los Angeles, well-attended by many out-of-Texas PDs, and the anxiously awaited new release by Selena Quintanilla, expected to be more pop than anything previously recorded by a contemporary onda artist.

But while there is a lot of commotion and interest in Tejano music, sales figures portend a sobering outlook for the '90s. Over the last decade, international Latin pop artists and Mexican artists like José José, Vicente Fernández and Los Yonics have consistently outsold their Tejano counterparts, sometimes by as much as three-to-one. Manuel Rangel, owner of Rangel Records Distributors, the largest independent Spanish-owned distributor in the Southwest, feels this pattern will not only continue but perhaps increase.

According to Rangel there are two significant trends tilting the balance. One is the constant influx of Mexican immigrants, particularly into the Southwest, and the other is the steady assimilation of second- and third-generation Mexican Americans. The new immigrants, legals or otherwise, want to listen to music they are familiar with—groups like Los Bukis and Fito Olivares who are popular in Northern Mexico. And he believes that onda fans are a mixed breed.

"I'd say the majority are assimilating, either totally or partially," Rangel says. "And if they go back to listening to music, they'd probably listen to popular stars like Julio Iglesias, Roberto Carlos or Rocío Dúrcal.

Fortunately for the artists, the multis don't share Rangel's opinion.

Houston's MM Records—a label formerly distributed by the defunct PolyGram Latino that has been tailoring artists like Rick González and the Choice, Elsa García, and Jerry Rodríguez and Mercedes to a cross-over look and sound—reached a three-year distribution agreement with Capitol/EMI-Latin. On the opposite front, Sony Discos shored its Texan promotional force with the hiring of Miguel Trujillo.

However, the biggest unconfirmed bola was the signing of Freddie Records' La Sombra for an unheard-of guaranteed three-record deal, at $60,000 per, and promised-in-writing marketing in Mexico and Latin America, a move that basketball TV analyst Dick Vitale might refer to as, "The Monster of the West just got bigger in a pumping hurry, awwwww bbabeee." The second biggest hush-hush was that Ramón Ayala, the remaining Freddie top seller, was also headed to Fonovisa, a scenario that would obliterate Freddie from sales consideration in both the retail and the marketplace.

Whatever happens, the Texas market will find a way to make a tasty omelette out of any broken eggs.

Taito America Enters Redemption Market

CHICAGO—With its announced entry into the flourishing redemption market Taito America Corporation has scheduled the introduction of three new pieces in this product category. The titles are SSB-Super Sonic Blastman, Rock 'N Mole and UFO Mogura.

In SSB-Super Sonic Blastman, you put on the boxing glove and engage in a realistic bout with your opponent, Sonic Blastman. Three punches are allowed for each game and when the score at the upper right of the screen shows the remaining target resistance at zero it means the opponent has been knocked out. The video screen displays your victory or defeat and a record of the best 100 scores is maintained daily to encourage location owners to run competitions.

Rock 'N Mole offers some new twists in the "moleman" battle game in that it allows several players to compete for highest scores. The overall theme focuses on Rock 'n Roll Moles that bop up and down to 50's rock and roll music, in the environment of a neon arcade that is created by the slim-line florescent lamps on the inside of the game's sign. The game has linkable operation with coin waiting operation and the link operations also control the ticket dispensing mechanism.

UFO Mogura portrays an earth invasion by Space Age Molemen. The player has five stages in which to score top points. What you do is bop the UFO Moles as they jump up and down, and pay special attention to the Mole in the moving space ship to earn extra points. To complete the mood, there's the sound of a UFO space ship and music in the background.

C.A. Robinson & Co. To Hold Open House Following ACME '91

LOS ANGELES—For the benefit of many California operators, distributor C.A. Robinson & Co. will once again host post-ACME '91 Open House at its San Francisco and Los Angeles facilities. Having met with much success and positive results in the past, these Open House events afford those operators who cannot attend ACME the opportunity to see much of the new equipment that is presented at the ACME convention. It is also a great opportunity for many operators to view this new product for a second time in the more relaxed, and gracious environment of the C.A. Robinson & Co. offices. The all-day Open House New Product Presentation dates are Wednesday, April 3 in San Francisco and Friday, April 5 in Los Angeles. The company will be hosting a dinner as well in Los Angeles on April 4 for those who are available.

The Midwest, known for its enthusiasm for English Mark Darts, came through with one of the largest regional BullShooter VI tournaments this season. Event, co-sponsored by Arachnid and Pioneer Sales & Service of Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, was held at the Waukesha County Expo Center, Feb. 8-10. Pictured with tournament director Dave Schultz (c) are Natalie Hanson and Joe Schmitz, two popular dart masters.

AROUND THE ROUTE

BY CAMILLE COMPASIO

LET'S START WITH A RUNDOWN on how things are shaping up for ACME '91, as reported by AAMA's executive veepee Bob Fay when Cash Box contacted him this past week. The exhibitor count, at 177, surpasses last year's 154 (and I believe they're still counting). Likewise, the number of booths sold is 662 and that also beats the 1990 total of 584. Advance registration is up as well by comparison to last year; so, when Bob told us he expects the 1991 convention to be the biggest ACME ever, we didn't doubt him for a minute. And by the way, if you haven't made arrangements as yet to attend the American Amusement Machine Charitable Foundation dinner honoring Ray Galante and the late Lou Dunis, which will be held at Caesar's Palace on Friday (3/22), there's still time. Just contact Joyce Weller at AAMA headquarters (703-494-2758) and she'll be happy to oblige. This year's raffle prize (proceeds going to the Galante/Dunis Endowment Fund) is a classic '68 sports model Corvette. You'll see it on display at the show where you can take a chance for the big win! Man, would I like to see this beauty in my garage!

GREAT INCENTIVE! The "industry first" program developed by Rock-Ola, in conjunction with the Mirage CD jukebox, and totally funded by the factory, has further enhanced the appeal of this machine. Under the terms of the program, with each Mirage purchased ops earn points that are redeemable towards a free Rock-Ola jukebox. The quantities are unlimited (the more you buy, the more points you earn and, as explained by executive veepee Art Kareef, points are accruable through September 30, 1991. The program is being well received by distribs and ops alike—and Art added that the Mirage is "performing flawlessly" on location!

ENROUTE. Jaleco USA in Northbrook, Illinois is concentrating on Cisco Heat, currently in delivery in the upright, two-in-one sit-down, and low-pro cabinet configurations... Cash Box would like to express sincere condolences to Jaleco's director of coin-op sales Larry Berke whose mother died on February 16 at the age of 92. She had been hospitalized since mid-December but, before that period, had led a very active life and devoted much time and energy to the Home for the Blind. May she rest in peace.

WHAT'S NEW? How about Batman, the Atari Games' video, based on the movie, and scheduled to be introduced at ACME '91; along with a three-monitor panarama version of Hard Drivin'—appropriately tagged Hard Drivin' Panarama! Although Atari has applied for the trademark on the name Desert Storm, there are no immediate plans for it at this time.

DATeline WHIPPANY, NJ, home of Rowe International where the LaserStar CD jukebox continues to be a very strong seller. As veepee Joel Friedman put it, "we're very pleased with the performance of the LaserStar jukebox and the LaserStar cash box!"

HAD A QUICKIE CHAT WITH Mondial International Corp.'s executive veepee Dick Sarkisian, on one of those rare occasions when he's not traveling the globe. As you know, Mondial purchased the Active Amusement distributorship (with offices in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh) this past January and renamed the firm Mondial Active. Niki Arakelian was recently named general manager of the Philly branch. Dick told us that things are moving along very smoothly at both offices.

Ops & Record Labels To Sponsor 'Spring' Jukebox Promotion

CHICAGO—New releases by Paul Simon, Rick Astley, Vince Gill and the Kentucky HeadHunters will be featured in the first "Jukebox Spring for a Song" promotion scheduled for this coming April-May-June at thousands of jukebox locations nationwide.

The effort is being jointly underwritten by the Amusement & Music Operators Assn. (AMOA), whose members own/service approximately half of the nation's 230,000 jukeboxes along with Warner Bros., RCA, MCA and PolyGram Records.

The titles in the promotion (all on 45 rpm) are: "Proof"/"The Coast" by Paul Simon (Warner Bros.), "Cry For Help"/"Behind The Smile" by Rick Astley (RCA), "Pocket Full Of Gold"/"A Little Left Over" by Vince Gill (MCA) and "The Ballad Of Davy Crockett"/"Smooth" by The Kentucky HeadHunters (Mercury/Nashville).

The promotion involves the placement of posters, table tents and special jukebox title strips in over 10,000 jukebox locations by AMOA member operators. It replaces the month-long "Jukebox Love Month" promotions sponsored in February of 1989 and 1990 by AMOA and major record labels.

The featured artists and songs are highlighted on the promotion materials. Jukebox operators purchase the featured records from their one-stops who in turn provide them with the related display materials at no charge.

Coordinating this package for AMOA, with participating record labels, one-stops and Pittsburgh, PA-based Sterling Title Strip, is Sam Atchley, AMOA's record label liaison.

The jukebox, which is the weekly source of musical entertainment for an estimated 75-80 million Americans, will be celebrating its 102nd anniversary in 1991.

Indianapolis Hosts Merit's World Series Of Darts

CHICAGO—Merit Industries' $10,000 World Series Of Darts (4th indy classic), held at the Sheraton Northeast Hotel in Indianapolis, saw 1,265 dart players from throughout the U.S. and Canada, competing for cash prizes and trophies.

Special events included the Super Indy, a benefit for United Cerebral Palsy, which netted $3,000 in proceeds and player donations for this cause. The Celebrity Pro Shoot, which featured local radio and television personalities Ronnie Duncan (WTHR-TV), Ann Craig (WZPL-radio) and Big John Gillis (WIBC-TV) competing alongside area merchants and league sponsors, was another popular match.

Besides extensive media coverage the series attracted over 400 spectators per day during the three-day event. As noted by Merit's tournament director Bob Hodges, "It takes a complete team effort to make an event like this a success." Singling out J & J Distributors for their total support from the initial planning stage to completion, he said, "Dave Sheehan, vice president of J & J Sales was a jack of all trades as he constantly stepped forward to lend a helping hand. Likewise Pat Harper, J & J's vice president and general manager, was ever present throughout the weekend." Stressing the importance of functions such as this one, Pat Harper added, "We work hard at these events because we need to stay in tune with the public, and we certainly realize that music, pool and darts are keeping our doors open. We want our customers to know that we care about them."

AMOA-IFPA Tourney To Feature Pin Competition; Debut Of New Models

CHICAGO—The first annual World Championships of Amusement Flipper Pinball, sponsored by the AMOA-International Flipper Pinball Association during the weekend of March 1-3 at the O'Hare Hilton in Chicago, will focus not only on heated competition but will also provide a showcase for the introduction of some brand new machines.

The machines to be used in the competition will represent the latest entries from the four AMOA-IFPA manufacturing sponsors—Bally/Midway, Data East, Premier Technology and Williams Electronics. In addition, brand new models are scheduled for introduction at this event. Company representatives and technicians will be on hand to support their products and answer questions.

Events will include men, women and mixed teams competition, along with women's and men's singles and special events. Entry fees in the adult division are $20 per person for singles and $35 per team for on site registration. In the youth division (ages 8-14 and 15-20) the fee is $5 for registration.

Special room rates are available through the O'Hare Hilton. A player reception is scheduled for Friday evening, from 6pm until 8pm, and it is included in the entry fee.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the AMOA-IFPA at 414-263-0233 or writing the association at 141 W. Vine St., Milwaukee, WI 53212.
