NAB and NRBA: In-Tune Over National Conference

In an industry where communication is the key to success and exchange of ideas is the vehicle of future existence and growth, it is a pleasure to know that the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) has decided to continue its partnership with the National Radio Broadcasters Association (NRBA) in sponsoring a joint Radio Management and Programming Conference in 1986. Since September, the fate of a future convention had been up in the air as the NAB re-evaluated its participation in a joint venture. In statements released by both the NAB and NRBA, they agreed they would recommend to their respective boards that they, "jointly participate in a 1986 Radio Management and Programming Conference in New Orleans September 10-13." In addition, both the NAB and NRBA informed the industry that they, "have agreed to discuss and to seek areas of common interest which they can jointly pursue for the betterment of the radio industry."

NAB president Eddie Fritts indicated that the decision was subject to ratification by NAB radio directors at the January '86 board meeting. However, he indicated he expected approval. Fritts also added the radio conference, "may be broadened to include other players." NRBA president Bernie Mann felt that industry response to the 1985 conference had much improved and that it was in fact a very good meeting.

Mann said, "I would have been disappointed if we didn't do it again."

Before making a decision to recommend a joint meeting, NAB conducted a survey to weigh negative and positive feedback on the conference as well as comparative feedback between the 1984 and 1985 conferences. Those surveyed were those attendees from both conferences, also included were non-attendees and exhibitors. The results showed large support for continuing a radio only meeting and the continued cooperation between NAB and NRBA. Overwhelming positive feedback was given to the agenda of the 1985 conference as was the one in 1984. Overall feedback showed strong support for a conference aimed at management, programming and sales as the priority agenda for the New Orleans, 1986 conference. As we enter a new and exciting era for radio's future, look for an exciting conference in New Orleans in 1986 as the NAB and NRBA gear up to put their best foot forward for a fruitful exchange of new ideas and better communications.

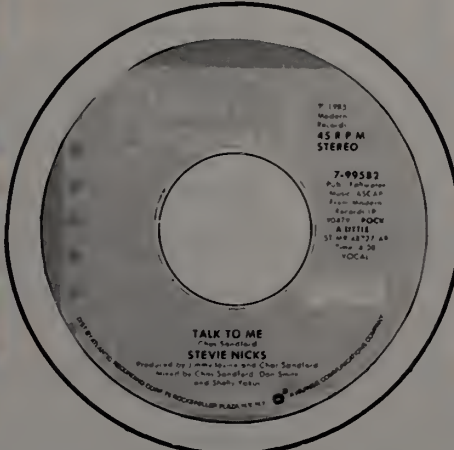

Cash Box endorses the decision by both these groups. The time for harmony and cooperation among broadcasters is now and efforts by the NAB and NRBA only demonstrate that broadcasters themselves are the strongest believers in unity.

CMJ Conventioneers To Industry: We Want the Airwaves

By Paul Iorio

NEW YORK — New music of the obscure and uncommercial kind was discussed and performed at this year's CMJ Music Marathon and New Music Awards November 7-9. Twenty-four panel discussions yielded little agreement over what new music is or how and where to get it played, though most hailed the flexible formats of college radio as key to breaking new artists.

The maverick tone of the convention was set by keynoters Bob Guccione, Jr. and Laurie Anderson. Guccione, whose Spin Magazine won an award for Best Consumer Magazine at the awards ceremony, spoke about his journal. "I wanted to start a magazine that went out and discovered what was truly new and exciting," he said. "Rockers have always had a sense of humor along with a sensitivity and that's what I wanted to do journalistically." Anderson spoke on subjects ranging from astronauts and contact lenses to mass media and new music. "I've never understood the concept of mass media. Nobody knows what the 'mass' refers to," she said. Anderson also played an untitled song she wrote the night before, that exhibits greater accessibility than her previous work.

"You college radio people are as restrictive in your formats as AOR programmers. How many of you would really take chances and play, say, a cut off the new Barbara Streisand album or some esoteric jazz?" said Mike Harrison, the moderator of the "Music and Radio's Role in Society" panel. Harrison was referring in part to the convention's nearly uniform embrace of such minor label bands as the Del Fuegos and their nearly uniform distaste for major label bands like ZZ Top. Most of the panels addressed this 'mavericks versus moguls' theme. "I don't know one maverick who wouldn't rather be a mogul," said one CMJ attendee.

BOBBY ZOOMS ARETHA — Bobby Zomack presented Aretha Franklin with a floral "pink Cadillac." The two recently shared a bill at Chicago's Arie Crown Theatre.

"Yesterday's mavericks like the Police are tomorrow's moguls," said another.

The artists panel provided a comic break in the otherwise serious discussions. Buster Poindexter, aka David Johansen, moderated the panel which included Dan Zanes of the Del Fuegos, Anton Fier, Richard Lloyd and Rat Scabies of the Damned. When asked why there were no black panelists, Poindexter replied, "None would come. They didn't want to be seen with us." The panel addressed the subjects of censorship, the decline of rock clubs and their inability to get radio play.

The New Music Awards presentation capped the three-day conference with performances by the Del Fuegos, Run D.M.C., Stanley Jordan, R.E.M., comedian Steven Wright and a new band from Nashville called In Pursuit. The Del Fuegos turned in the best performance of the evening with an irresistible five-song set of songs from their "Boston, Mass." LP, including a scorching "Don't Run Wild" and "Shame." Run-DMC, who won an award for Best Street LP, played a scratch version of "King of Rock." R.E.M. played a garage-folk mix of electric and acoustic tunes after Les Paul presented them with the Album of the Year Award.

Behind The Bullets Mr. Mister Flies On Broken Wings

By Stephen Padgett

RCA Records act Mr. Mister scores its first Top 5 single this week as "Broken Wings" jumps from 8 to 5 bullet. The single is the first lifted from Mr. Mister's LP, "Welcome To The Real World." The album is creating quite a stir in its own right, leaping six spots into the Top Thirty of the Pop LP chart, 33 to 27 bullet.

A large percentage of Cash Box radio reporting stations have already got "Broken Wings" Top Five or better. The following CHRs are experiencing huge growth with the record, jumping it five or more places on their playlists: Q107 (14-7); WPLJ (14-9); WCIR (14-9); WXKS (15-10); WPRO (15-8); WGTZ (17-9); Q102 (10-4); WZPL (21-14); WGRD (18-13); WWSR (18-11); WTYX (10-5); KJYO (15-10); K98 (11-4); KOFM (12-6); KWOD (13-5); KLUC (23-14); KWSS (8-3) and KPKE (20-13).

Driving the album are a dozen Top 20 retail reports this week. Great American Music/Wax Museum, which has the record in their Top Ten, is joined by Mainstream Records, Milwaukee; CML One-Stop, St. Louis;

Musical Sales, Baltimore; Camelot Music, Canton, OH; Gary's, Virginia; The Record Bar, Durham, NC; Peaches, Cincinnati; Homer's Records, Omaha; Seaport One-Stop, Portland, OR; City One-Stop, Los Angeles; and Round-Up Records, Seattle, who all have the album Top 20 or better. "Welcome To The Real World" is Top 30 or better at Peaches, Kansas City; Karma Records, Indianapolis; Turtles Records, Atlanta and Benson Records, Los Angeles.

The charts are very hot right now, as would be expected with the holiday buying season just around the corner. The all important Thanksgiving weekend, a traditional boon for retailers, should be very good for record retailers. Competing for gift dollars this year are a number of best selling LPs (and their CD counterparts) that have been strong all year like Dire Straits (#2 this week), John Cougar Mellencamp (#3), Heart (#4 bullet), Stevie Wonder (#5), Tears For Fears (#6) and Sting (#9). A surge of hot new releases will also get their share. "Afterburner" by ZZ Top jumps 12 to #8 bullet and looks to be the #1 stocking stuffer.

CD Group Goes The Way Of The Eight Track

By David Adelson

LOS ANGELES — The Compact Disc Group, the information clearinghouse established in March of 1984 to assist retailers, manufacturers and consumers with Compact Disc related information, materials and feedback, will officially cease operation December 31.

"This configuration is so successful that we didn't feel the need to promote it," said Leslie Rosen, executive director of the group. "There isn't a company that is a member of this organization that isn't back ordered, so what do we have to talk about? We'll just sell everything."

The group was officially established in early 1984 under the banner of the RIAA. It was granted its "independence" in March of that year with a due structure set up for both hardware and software manufacturers.

The group had met with some success, particularly in the area of consumer information. Last summer it set up a toll free Compact Disc Hotline for consumers. According to Rosen, the hotline worked so well it was costing the organization over $5,000 per month. "That would have been cut off regardless of our decision," she said, adding the number will no longer be operative as of December 17.

The group supplied retailers with generic point of purchase materials, and various related brochures as well as acting as a liaison for hardware and software manufacturers. Most recently the group was effective in supplying consumer feedback, garnered through the 800 number, to hardware and software manufacturers.

Rosen credited the organization with helping achieve an industry wide agreement on compact disc packaging. "The cassette packaging issue took nine years," she stated. "The CD issue took only three months."

The executive director noted that she personally believes there is more work the organization could effectively do especially in the fields of indexing, interactive software and video Compact Discs.

The general feeling among compact disc group members was, why promote a configuration that easily promotes itself? As one label executive simply put it, "Who needs it?"

McEntee Cash Box Director Of Nashville Operations

LOS ANGELES — George Albert, president and publisher of Cash Box Magazine has announced the appointment of Tom McEntee to the position of director of Nashville operations, effective immediately.

McEntee served as country editor and associate editor of Cash Box from 1965 to 1969. He was most recently president of Aquarius Productions, an independent marketing firm.

McEntee has held the position of national country promotion director for such labels as ABC, GRT and MGM. He is the originator of the Country Radio Seminar and served as its chairman for 10 years.

According to George Albert, "It's great to have Tom back at Cash Box. His background and knowledge make him ideally suited to help plan and implement the major changes in our Nashville chart and editorial methodology. Nashville's importance to contemporary music has never been greater and with Tom on the team, the Cash Box commitment to Nashville has never been stronger."

McEntee commented, "After working in many facets of the music industry for the last decade and a half, it's great to come back to a position where I can effectively utilize my experience. I am extremely excited about our commitment to growth and expansion and I'm looking forward to being back out in the Nashville community as a representative of Cash Box."

SIRE SIGNS TIREZ TIREZ — Seymour Stein, president of Sire Records, has announced the signing of Tirez Tirez to the label. Tirez Tirez is the creative nom de plume of gifted New York-based composer/performer Michael Rouse. Tirez Tirez's debut release for Sire Records will be a 12" version of two Rouse originals, "Set The Timer" and "Uptight." BUSINESS NOTES

CBS Inc. Suffers Third Quarter Losses-Records Down 24%

LOS ANGELES — Contributing to CBS Inc.'s third quarter loss of $114 million, the CBS Records Division reported income of $12.5 million, a decline of 24 percent. There were few bright spots coming from top recording artists — an exception is Bruce Springsteen's long-running "Born In The U.S.A." CBS Records has already responded to the corporation's significant losses with cutbacks in staff.

CBS Inc.'s third quarter losses are due in part to battles it had to undertake to stave off a takeover bid by TV entrepreneur Ted Turner. Various other divisions also accounted for major losses. The loss leader was the toy division and unexpected losses come from its broadcast division and contributed heavily to what is CBS' first quarterly deficit in 32 years. The multi-faceted corporation, in order to further cut its biggest financial drains, has made plans to discontinue the three divisions in which losses were most concentrated: CBS Toys, CBS Theatrical Films and CBS Software. The three divisions accounted for losses of $143 million.

Viacom Finalizes MTV, Showtime/TMC Purchase

LOS ANGELES — In the final stage of Viacom's laborious MTV and Showtime/The Movie Channel (TMC) buyout, the company has completed a cash transaction valued at $500 million. The purchase, which was announced in August of this year, includes 50 percent of Showtime/TMC and 66 percent of MTV, bought from Warner Communications Inc. Additionally, Viacom plans to purchase all 15.2 million of MTV's outstanding shares, valued at $33.50 each. Viacom now owns Showtime/TMC, MTV: Music Television, VH-1 and Nickelodeon, making it the owner of five of the largest satellite cable TV programming networks. Viacom's position is the result of a long struggle to acquire the holdings sold off by WCI and American Express, in which Viacom was victorious over several major competitors, including MTV executives.

Two Groups Praise PMRC/RIAA Pact

NEW YORK — The Songwriters Guild of American and the National Association of Broadcasters have come out in support of the agreement reached by the RIAA and the PMRC on explicit lyric labelling.

Songwriters Guild president George Davis Weiss said that the Guild "applauds and supports the compromise."

NAB president Edward O. Fritts called the agreement, "a good example of private citizen groups working constructively with the industry to resolve a controversy in the public interest, negating the necessity of seeking a legislative opinion." He also said that "the printing of song lyrics is an action NAB has long sought and should help the public as well as broadcasters make responsible decisions on what is appropriate for children's consumption."

T-I-C-K-E-T-A-P-E

NEW YORK — Composer Charles Strouse has been elected to serve as an alternate on ASCAP's Board of Review, replacing Billy Taylor who resigned due to extensive touring commitments . . . The N.Y. State Broadcasters Assoc. has named Arthur Angstreich, vice president, tax administration, NBC, as the recipient of its 1985 Delaney-Cuneen Award "in recognition of his tireless efforts to improve the tax climate of the broadcast industry in New York State" . . . Ticket World has opened outlets in five Manhattan American Video Express stores . . . Performance Magazine holds its 6th annual Summit Conference, Jan. 23-25 at Miami's Fontainebleau Hilton; call Melanie Long at (800) 433-5569 for details . . . John Denver has been awarded a NASA public service medal for helping increase "awareness of space exploration by the peoples of the world"

Jordan Appointed — Abbey Konowitch, vice president, video & artist development, Arista Records, has announced the appointment of Traci Jordan to the newly created position of director, R&B artist development & publicity. She will be located in Arista's New York office, and report to Melani Rogers, director, national publicity. Jordan will be responsible for the day-to-day national publicity activity for Arista's R&B roster, and will also act as artist development director for a number of the label's R&B artists. In this capacity, she will develop artist development plans and coordinate promotional and personal appearance tours.

Blumer Joins RCA — Lee Blumer has been appointed east coast publicity manager for RCA Records. The announcement was made by publicity director Pat Baird-Taylor, to whom she will report. Blumer's responsibilities will be the implementation of publicity campaigns for a number of artists including Nona Hendryx, The Nails and Modern Talking, as well as the Tim Rice "Chess" project.

ASCAP Names Richard — Frances Richard has been appointed director of the symphonic and concert department of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, it was announced by ASCAP president Hal David. Her duties will include acting as ASCAP's liaison to its serious music composer and publisher members, as well as administering various ASCAP grant and scholarship programs, including the grants to young composers. She will be reporting directly to managing director, Gloria Messinger.

Richard has extensive experience in the arts, education and public policy, and has long been an advocate for composers. Before joining the staff of ASCAP, Richard was vice president and a founding board member of Meet the Composer, Inc., an organization which promotes and supports living American composers and their music. Prior to that, she was executive director of the National Council for Arts and Education. She has also served as a panelist for the New York State Council for Arts, the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, the American Symphony Orchestra League, the New York Foundation for the Arts and Chamber Music America. Current affiliations include serving on the boards of directors of Meet the Composer, Inc. and the New York Foundation of the Arts. In addition, she is a commissioner, appointed by Governor Mario Cuomo, on the Northeast Queens Nature and Historic Preservation Commission.

Petersen Promoted — Dr. Barbara A. Petersen has been appointed assistant vice president, Concert Music Administration, effective immediately. She succeeds James G. Roy who is now a BMI consultant in the area of concert music. The announcement was made by BMI president Edward M. Cramer who said, "I'm proud to have a person with such a wealth of background in this key post." Petersen joined BMI in 1977 and was manager of Concert Music Research before being named to her new job.

Sparrow Names Two — Tommy Greer has been named manager, copyright development/special projects for Sparrow Records' Nashville office. In his new position, Greer assumes responsibility for all copyright development activities in Nashville, including the supervision of demo production, music promotion and song placement. Lucy Diaz has been named children's product marketing manager for Sparrow Records, according to Bill Hearn, senior vice president, marketing. In her new position, Diaz assumes responsibility for the implementation and coordination of marketing strategies and product development for Sparrow's broad children's music lines.

Guzman Named — Pete Guzman has been named vice president of engineering at Coin Acceptors, Inc., based in St. Louis. The appointment was announced by Jack Thomas, president of the firm, which is the leading manufacturer of coin handling equipment for the vending industry under the tradename "COINCO." Guzman will direct the development of Coinco's new electronic product line and assume engineering department management functions.

Schreiber Promoted — Renee Schreiber has been promoted to the position of manager of artist relations/television for Atlantic Records, based at the company's New York headquarters. The announcement was made by Atlantic vice president of artist relations & media development Perry Cooper. Schreiber's artist relations responsibilities include supervising the dissemination of artist tour itineraries and travel information. She works closely with other departments to coordinate overall artist schedules for promotional/media activities.

Sims Appointed — Jack Sims, a pioneer in the compact disc industry who handled the first compact disc packaging production in the United States, has joined Queens Group Indiana, according to Richard Roth, senior vice president for Queens Group, Inc. As product manager of compact disc packaging, Sims will be working out of Queens Group Indiana, based in his hometown of Indianapolis, and will be involved in sales and responsible for the production, service and quality of the packaging for compact disc.

Stelger Joins — Susan J. Steiger has become associated with the New York entertainment law firm of Mayer, Katz, Baker & Leibowitz. She was most recently with Colton, Weissberg, Hartnick, Yamin & Sheresky and prior to that with Skadde Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom.

ALBUM RELEASES

CATCHING UP WITH — Depeche Mode — Sire 1-25346 — Producer: Daniel Miller-Gareth Jones-Depeche Mode — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

A blending of old, new, and sort of new, "Catching Up With" is a good sampler of Depeche Mode material which should consolidate the British band's fast growing audience. With "Shake The Disease," the first single from this disc—one of several tracks available only on import previously. Look for radio and retail to get behind this disc.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT — The Blow Monkeys — RCA MFL1-8527 — Producers: Peter Wilson, The Blow Monkeys — List: 5.98 — Bar Coded

The Blow Monkey's Dr. Robert will remind some of Morrissey, but the group and the singer are cutting their own path. This mini-LP contains four songs from the band's current UK 12" in addition to two tracks from their UK-only debut LP, "Limping For A Generation." Combining acoustic guitars, horns and ringing melodies, the Blow Monkeys are right in step with the folk-rock revival spear-headed by groups like the Smiths, Aztec Camera, Lloyd Cole and Del Amitri. A very inventive, promising debut.

HERO — Clarence Clemons — Columbia 40010 — Producer: Narada Michael Walden — List: no list — Bar Coded

Aside from being a hallmark of the Boss' live show and recorded outings, Clarence Clemons proves to be a formidable solo act as well. With the first single from this LP, "You're A Friend Of Mine," already taking off and other tracks like "I Wanna Be Your Hero" waiting in the wings, the saxophonist/singer seems set to make his own assault on the charts.

VISIONS OF EXCESS — Golden Palominos — Celluloid 6118 — Producer: Anton Fier — List: 8.98

This amorphous group headed out of NY by drummer Anton Fier has done sporadic club dates, but this Celluloid release teams vocalists Michael Stipe, Johnny Lydon and others with musicians Richard Thompson, Chris Stamey, Bill Laswell, Carla Bley, Bernie Worrell and many others for an amazingly varied and evocative package. Moody R'n'R, blazing thrash rock and a strange cohesion mark this eclectic disc.

CUT THE CRAP — The Clash — Epic 40017 — Producer: Jose Unidos — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

With a return to the group's original themes and (sometimes) the same energy, "Cut The Crap" features several cuts which regain something of the first spark, including "This Is England," "Three Card Trick" and "Life Is Wild."

ASTRA — Asia — Geffen — 24072 — Producer: Mike Stone — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Pre-fab rock'n'roll with some of the best players around, "Astra" moves in a more adventurous vein than past Asia efforts, but still retains a solid AOR sound.

ICE ON FIRE — Elton John — Geffen 24077 — Producer: Gus Dudgeon — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Teaming with Bernie Taupin on a set of rich, narrative tunes, "Ice On Fire" features John at his best vocally interpreting a batch of often politically slanted though always pop-oriented songs. "Nikita" and "Soul Glove" stand out.

MASON RUFFNER — CBS Ass. 40191 — Producer: Rick Derringer — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

With blues chops to fall in step behind those of Stevie Ray Vaughan and a voice which can range from the husky romanticism of Mark Knopfler to the blues growl of some of the best, Ruffner is definitely one to watch with this impressive LP.

THE SOLOS — Yes — Atco 90474-1-Y — Producer: Yes — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Long a superior group in live performance and with individual virtuosity, this live LP features outtakes from the group's 1984 that shows off instrumental sparks. Highlights are Trevor Rabin's "Solly's Beard" and Chris Squire's "Amazing Grace."

ZOMBIE — Fela Anikulapo Kuti and Afrika 70 — Celluloid 6116 — Producer: Fela Anikulapo Kuti — List: 8.98

Long an import favorite, this American reissue of one of Fela's classic discs is a searing African/funk workout sans the helping hands of Bill Laswell and Material. A modern classic.

STATE OF OUR UNION — The Long Ryders — Island 90459-1 — Producer: Will Birch — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Longtime L.A. club favorites now signed to Island here deliver a solid package of American country/roots oriented rock which makes good use of the myths and legends as well as the sound of the American western heritage. Cleanly produced and performed with heart.

LOVE — The Cult — Sire 25359-1 — Producer: Steve Brown — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Sixty's psychedelia meets hard rock power chords? U.K.'s the Cult does have something of a different slant on things than many groups, and the tracks on this Sire LP do sport a sort of angst-ridden power. Set to be a big college radio fave.

IT TAKES TWO — Juicy — Private I 40098 — Producer: Eumir Deodato — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Juicy's first CBS effort combines the innate soulfulness of brother/sister duo Jerry and Katreese Barnes and the slick production of Eumir Deodato for an engaging B/C album with crossover potential.

RIPTIDE — Robert Palmer — Island 90471-1 — Producer: Bernard Edwards — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Palmer's island paradise was somewhat interrupted by the massive media success of Power Station, and "Riptide" does feature Bernard Edwards behind the controls, yet the artist's quirky and probing style is left intact with gems like "Trick Bag" and "Flesh Wound" standing out.

MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT — Taka Boom — Mirage 90290-1 — Producer: Billy Rush — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

With a deeper voice than sister Chaka Khan but something of the same dynamic range, Taka Boom debuts this promising LP which taps a similar crossover dance rock market. Strong material like "Middle Of The Night" and "Love On The Side" adds to the market appeal.

JAKKY BOY & THE BAD BUNCH — Atlantic 81289-1 — Producer: Jakky Boy — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

SIDEWAYS — The Front — Foam 027 — Producer: The Front — List: no list

DOUBLE TROUBLE LIVE — Molly Hatchet — Epic 40137 — Producer: Pat Armstrong — Andy deGanahl — List: 12.98 — Bar Coded

CHOPS NOT CHAPS — Roy Rogers — CNC 1 — Producer: Roy Rogers — List: none

ARMY ARRANGEMENT — Fela Anikulapo Kuti and Egypt 80 — Celluloid 6115 — Producer: Fela Anikulapo Kuti — List: 8.98

PIANO HITS WILLIE MURPHY-WILLIE MURPHY HITS PIANO — Willie Murphy — Atomic Theory 1001 — Producer: none listed — List: none

NOW WE'RE TOGETHER — Charles — Brofeel 112084 — Producer: Dale Kimberlin — List: none

YOU'VE GOT SOME . . . LOOSE CHANGE — Phil Lopez-Cygnnet 8571 — Producer: Phillip A. Lopez-Carol K. Lopez — List: none

SINGLE RELEASES

SADE (Portrait 37-05713)

The Sweetest Taboo (4:24) (Silver Angel Music/ASCAP) (Adu-Ditcham) (Producer: Robin Millar)

The first single from Sade's follow-up to "Diamond Life" is a seamless and percussive pop/cool jazz track which makes excellent use of the British vocalist's breathy style. With horn accompaniment and a nicely staggered reggae/calypso rhythm, "The Sweetest Taboo" should be a pop radio natural with enough of a groove to make for a top club track as well. A strong second effort for one of last year's brightest new stars.

A-Ha (Warner Bros. 7-28846)

The Sun Always Shines On T.V. (4:30) (ATV Music Corp./BMI) (P. Waaktaar) (Producer: Alan Tarney)

From Warner Bros. recently reinstated Reprise label, A-Ha makes a smooth second showing here after the sensational "Take On Me," the first American single for this Norwegian act. With much of the same melodic vitality, "The Sun Always Shines On T.V." should define A-Ha's refreshing new sound as a future wave in American pop. It is, however, a more rhythmically powerful cut than its popular predecessor, with a strong percussive edge. Look for CHR and alternative adds.

PAT BENATAR (Chrysalis VS 4 42927)

Sex As A Weapon (4:15) (Billy Steinberg Music-Denise Barry Music/ASCAP) (Kelly-Steinberg) (Producer: Neil Geraldo)

From the writing team which penned "Like A Virgin" and past Benatar hits comes this latest power-rocker from the vocalist and guitarist/producer Neil Geraldo. A booming rock sound and a lyric which lends itself well to a video interpretation as well as Benatar's always impressive vocal range makes this single a sure bet for CHR hit status.

TWISTED SISTER (Atlantic 7-89478)

Leader Of The Pack (3:50) (Screen Gems-EMI Music/BMI) (Greenwich-Morton-Barry) (Producer: Dieter Dierks)

A supercharged version of this classic is perfect for the comic book rock of Twisted Sister. Dee Snyder's vocal interpretation is heartfelt and humorous, and the power-chord backing is sure to catch the ear of many CHR and rock radio programmers. Should lend itself excellently to the group's strong visual image via music video.

THE ALARM (I.R.S. 52736)

Strength (4:10) (Illegal Songs/BMI) (The Alarm) (Producer: Mike Howlett)

Mirroring the band's collective slant in politics and in life, "Strength" is a powerful and straight ahead rocker which makes the best use of the band's slashing guitars, pounding rhythms and meaningful lyrics. A new music winner.

READY FOR THE WORLD (MCA 52734)

Digital Display (3:59) (Ready For The World Music — Excalibur Lace Music — Trixie Lou Music/BMI) (Potts) (Producer: Ready For The World)

The third single from Ready For The World's impressive debut is this wide open uptempo and sensual track. A myriad computer sounds complement the group's right on R&B groove.

CHARLIE SEXTON (MCA 5629)

Beat's So Lonely (3:35) (Swindle Music/ASCAP) (Sexton-Forshey) (Producer: Keith Forshey)

With teen-star looks — in the Matt Dillon vein — a resonant voice in the manner of the Boss and production from Keith Forshey, Charlie Sexton has all the cards in his favor, and with "Beat's So Lonely" the young guitarist/singer deals an impressive hand to rock and pop radio.

CHEECH & CHONG (MCA 52732)

I'm Not Home Right Now (3:42) (Los Guys Music-Island Music-Fully Radical Music/ASCAP-BMI) (Cheech & Chong-J. Eyrich)

Cheech & Chong's amusing send up of the telephone answering machine situation has an infectious refrain. The tune is hummable, with the duo's usual comedic flair, though close listening is necessary to catch the song's storyline.

THE GAP BAND (Total Experience 2427)

Desire (3:59) (TEMP Co./BMI) (Ellis-Simmons) (Producer: Lonnie Simmons)

With something of a new sound for the Gap Band, "Desire" captures the rhythmic throb of the band's best work with stronger emphasis placed on a pop mix. A top DOR track.

CENTURY 22 (TBA 709)

Let's Go Out Tonight (3:35) (Century 22 Pu./ASCAP) (Shaw) (Producer: George Shaw)

A frenetic and sophisticated jazz/dance cut which combines pop song structure with wailing horn accents. Another nice fusion effort from the TBA label.

BILL WITHERS (Columbia 38-05675)

We Could Be Sweet Lovers (3:30) (Bleunig Music/ASCAP) (Withers) (Producer: Bill Withers)

DAVID SANBORN (Warner Bros. 7-28924)

Straight To The Heart (3:50) (Thriller Miller Music-MCA Music/ASCAP) (Miller) (Producer: Marcus Miller)

JIMMY CLIFF (Columbia 38-05716)

American Sweet (3:31) (Amirful Music/ASCAP-LaToya Music/BMI) (Bayyan-LaToya) (Producer: Amir Bayyan)

LAST TANGO (21 Records 7-99594)

Stone In Your Heart (3:30) (Irving Music/BMI) (Deluca-Tipton) (Producer: Sundance Lennard-Dana Tomas)

CARL CARLTON (Casablanca 884 274)

Slipped, Tripped (4:03) (Misc Minded Pub./BMI) (Jones) (Producer: Allen A. Jones)

JENNIFER HOLIDAY (Geffen 7-28845)

No Frills Love (3:52) (Unique-Shakin' Baker Music Inc.-Tina B. Written/BMI) (A. Baker-G. Henry-T.B.) (Producer: Arthur Baker)

This weighty high stepper harkens back to the disco days of yore with its rolling tambourine and rollicking vocal. Holiday delivers her hearty, full-bodied sound with charging vitality. This is sizzling dance music for the clubs.

MATT BIANCO (Atlantic 7-89483)

More Than I Can Bear (3:55) (Matt/PRS) (Reilly-White) (Producer: Danny White-Mark Reilly)

Mark Reilly and Danny White write cool, Brazilian-influenced jazzy pop. "More Than I Can Bear" is perhaps the "Girl From Ipanema" for the hip kids of the '80s. A tango beat in a modern dress.

KLYMAXX (Constellation/MCA 52714)

Lock And Key (3:59) (Spectrum VII Music/ASCAP) (Cooper-Spino) (Producer: Jimmy Jam-Terry Lewis)

Now the premier all-girl funk group in the country, Klymaxx releases its fourth single from the "Meeting In The Ladies Room" LP and "Lock And Key" features the same sensual groove music which has captured the group such a wide following.

THE DREAM ACADEMY (Warner Bros./Reprise 7-28841)

Life In A Northern Town (4:16) (Cleverite-Farrowise adm. by Warner Bros.) (N. Laird-Clowes/G. Gabriel) (Producer: David Gilmour-N. Laird-Clowes-G. Nicholson)

This brilliant record from the trio Dream Academy is filled with the magic and energy of great pop. Buoyant, joyous choruses sparkle and production, writing and singing are superb. A college radio certainty and ought to be given a chance to explode on CHR.

CONQUEST (Epic 34-05461)

Choose Me (3:59) (No publisher listed) (Phillips—Matthews-Conquest) (Producer: Amir Bayyan)

This rock solid crossover track from Conquest features a great singalong chorus and a wailing lead vocal which decorates a no-nonsense dance track.

JOHN DENVER (RCA JK-14227)

Dreamland Express (4:03) (Cherry Mountain/ASCAP) (Denver) (Producer: Roger Nichols)

Denver's clear-toned vocals lend themselves well to this simple and sweet A/C winner.

HILLBILLY JIM (Epic 34-05686)

Don't Go Messin' With A Country Boy (2:15) (Uncle Bernie Music-Stazybo Music — Tall Girl Music/BMI) (Pomus-Chapman-Dorn) (Producer: Joel Dorn)

SUSANNE JEROME TAYLOR (RCA 14211)

Static (3:52) (MCA Music-Diamond House Music/ASCAP-House Corp. of America/BMI) (Taylor-Taylor-Diamond) (Producer: Eliot Scheiner-Pat Taylor)

COLLAGE (Constellation 52698)

Winners And Losers (3:58) (no publisher) (White-Peters) (Producer: Dana Meyers-William Zimmerman-Larry White)

HUMAN BODY (Elektra 7-69582)

Wet (3:46) (Troutman's Music-Saja Music/BMI) (Degroat-Troutman) (Producer: Roger Troutman)

THE CHI-LITES with EUGENE RECORD (Nuance 752)

POINTS WEST

Peter Holden, Los Angeles

"I AM A BLACK AND WHITE GHOST . . ." — While reports from both camps call the split "amicable," the reality of guitarist Billy Zoom leaving X — with Blaster Dave Alvin taking over temporarily on the band's upcoming live dates — signifies the passing of an era. Zoom reportedly left the band after its recent L.A. date of his own choosing, to work on two production deals that have been offered him as well as continuing his efforts on the construction of amplifiers, scooters, etc.

With pianist Gene Taylor leaving the Blasters, that group had already been put into a sort of limbo, and now with Alvin filling in for Zoom at least until February when X's extensive tour ends, it is unclear who will stay and who will go. Friends of the group(s) say Alvin will tour and then decide whether to go with X permanently or not.

Even though Alvin has already been closely involved with X's John Doe, Exene Cervenka and D.J. Bonebrake on the Knitter's long round of club dates and LP "Poor Little Critter In The Road," he is worlds apart from Zoom's style of playing. The sharp posing and rather uncomfortable grin of Billy Zoom will be missed only a little less than his booming chording and rambunctious rhythm changes. This was the band that put L.A. on the musical map again back in the early days, and kept it there through personal and professional growth. All things must pass, and though this is but an evolutionary step, it is one marked with some sadness.

Look for the group's revamped line-up to perform a "break-in" date in Long Beach in early December with an upcoming New Year's Eve bash at the Santa Monica Civic also confirmed.

ROCK 'N' ROLL WALK — The new and massive Guitar Center on Sunset Blvd. — right across the street from the old Guitar Center — which is in the final stages of construction also sports a new attraction: the "rock walk." The opening was last Thursday with expected guests to include Pat Benatar, Kenny Loggins, Journey, Toto, Kool and the Gang and many others, and will feature the hand and foot prints of such living rock icons as Eddie Van Halen, Stevie Wonder and Robert Moog.

HIGH STRUNG — The recent pairing of Emily Remler and Larry Coryell at the Palace Court resulted in quite a display of speed, virtuosity, taste and soul. Though Coryell is the far better-known jazz guitarist — especially to non-jazz fans, it was Remler who constantly impressed. And while a two guitar jam session would easily deteriorate into a battle of the plectrums with many guitarists, the emphasis here was on melodic theme and embellishment around that theme. The pair have been working together, touring and recording a soon-to-be released LP for the last few months, and the result this night was a well-seasoned and exuberant set of jazz guitar at its best.

WHAT NEXT? — Well, we had traversed the territories of folk-punk, country punk . . . even jazz punk and funk punk. What else could be done? Polka. A bit left field, but the "polka war" of November 8 at the Club Lingerie gave L.A.'s own Rotondi and San Francisco's Polkacide a chance to sport their wares, and what wares! Though Points West only caught the residue of Rotondi, the crowd was obviously primed when Polkacide hit the stage. The group features some twelve members — various horns and accordians — and without a doubt they created the most frenetic oom pah pahing to be heard around here in a long time. When was the last time a band got a chain of twenty people dancing through the Lingerie?

ALARMING ENDURANCE — The Alarm's lead vocalist Mike Peters is seen prior to running — and completing — the New York Marathon. Now he and the band will test their endurance on upcoming west coast dates. The group's latest I.R.S. disc is called "Strength."

HOLLYWOOD CALLING: THE ROCHES — After turning in a local performance that left just about everybody wide-eyed, the Roches are set to make a return engagement, only this time they'll be over in Burbank, on The Tonight Show of all places. It seems a member of Johnny Carson's staff caught the group's dynamic show in October at the Beverly Theater and arrived at Warner Bros. with Carson's calling card.

CLOSE TO THE EDIT — Tim Weisberg will be at the Roxy November 20 for two shows . . .

CREATING TROUBLE AGAIN — Producer Michael Wagener has had a busy year, working on LPs for the likes of X, Dokken, Malice and Stryper. The producer is now set to work on the latest Accept LP in his mother country of Germany.

Joe Sample and Wilton Felder were in S.F.'s Independent Sound recording with Bill Rogers on the track "Slippery When Wet."

NEW FACES TO WATCH

"There is so much pastiche in what was great rock and roll," stated a Nehru-jacketed Gilbert Gabriel. "And," added Nick Laird-Clowes, "that's why this is not revivalist. This isn't psychedelic. This is now. This is 1985." Laird-Clowes and Gabriel, together with Kate St. John are collectively the Dream Academy. Their debut Warner Brothers/Reprise album is a pastiche to be sure.

From the soaring and thunderous moments of "Life In A Northern Town" to the jazz eclecticism of "Love Parade" one is constantly aware of sources, influences and inspirations. And the effect is intentional. Laird-Clowes had been in a band called the Act. He and fellow band member Gilbert began discussing what it was they really wanted to do in music. "We just decided that we had to do something more experimental," said Laird-Clowes.

"It all started with the synths. Now, at the press of the button, you can get a sound that maybe in the sixties you had to get an orchestra or sitar player to do. So the minute Gilbert would switch on a new pre-set when we'd be writing a song, we would think, 'What would happen if you augmented that synthesized sound with the actual instrument or something very close to it?' So we formed this sort of acoustic versus midi-ed together mix with synthesizers. And we finally had put an eight-piece Dream Academy together," remembered Laird-Clowes.

Kate St. John and Nick Laird-Clowes had known each other growing up. St. John had gone on to a music college that specialized in a progressive way of thinking about music. She had formed a group called The Ravishing Beauties with Virginia Astley (recently signed to Elektra) and Nicky Holland (keyboardist with Tears For Fears). They combined their classical music training with a sort of punk aesthetic. "When you've been classically trained, it takes a while to sort of unlearn a lot of that to get into rock and roll . . . it really took me a while to just be able to sort of say, 'Just let go! Just play, just improvise!'" St. John said. While at college, St. John met lots of progressive-minded musicians which she introduced to Gabriel and Laird-Clowes. Said Laird-Clowes, "Basically, the ones (musicians) Kate introduced us to were more radical and very rock and roll. Like you've got this cellist who says, 'Wait till I get my fuzz box kicked in!'"

So the Dream Academy set out to create a new music using these new influences. Classical music, sixties folk rock (ala The Byrds, Buffalo Springfield, Love), jazz and avante garde all are in evidence. Their tapes came to the attention of Jeff Travis of the U.K.'s Blanco Y Negro Records (a label financed in part by Warner Bros. in the U.S.), who signed them.

"We've drawn on the whole of music history hopefully. I mean, I like Sibelius, and also of course, Dylan, Love, Buffalo Springfield," said Gilbert. "This is the key, really," stated Laird-Clowes, "that when the three of us sit in a room, whatever we play tends to sound like the Dream Academy . . . and it's so great, that, because all my life I've wanted an identity on a group. With the Act, I was trying to be like Elvis Costello meets The Byrds. With this it's like, we are what we are. So it has this real stamp on it."

Nona Hendryx: Still Applying 'The Heat'

By Lee Jeske

NEW YORK — "I have felt good for about six or seven years. I have felt very good, very positive — through ups and downs. I've realized that what I do, I'm going to be doing. And it can be successful or it can not be successful, or it can be whatever. But it's what I do and I enjoy doing it, and there's no reason to not feel good about my career, about my life."

So speaks Nona Hendryx, the funky diva of the dance floor who has managed to mix politics with a beat and remain a darling of the underground. With her latest RCA LP, "The Heat," and her participation in the "Sun City" project, Nona might, just might, break into the musical mainstream. With a legion of admirers that includes Yoko Ono, the Rolling Stones, Talking Heads, Material, and other astute movers and shakers, Nona Hendryx has been putting in the sweat and turning up the musical heat ever since LaBelle — Patti LaBelle, Sarah Dash and Nona — hung up the silvery glitz.

"When other people were doing their tour of America or tour of the world," says Nona about those first post-LaBelle days, "I was doing my Upper West Side tour — playing clubs like Hurrah's, CBGB's, and Trax — and doing a tour of the midwest in the winter when nobody else would do it.

"It was really a wonderful period. Because I'd come from where every time I walked out of the door there was a limousine to take me to the airport and people to do this and people to do that, to where I just did it myself — I carried my equipment and I got myself together and I got myself dressed and I even dealt with some of the business things on the road. When I did this I learned an awful lot in an intense period of time."

Nona also enrolled at the Mannes College of Music and studied music, studied lyrics. Things came together, she says, "around 1980-81 when I had gone through part of the process of putting together a band of musicians that nobody had ever heard of and woodshedding, just creating music spontaneously, in a sense

For A-ha, The Sun Always Shines On TV — And How!

By Lee Jeske

NEW YORK — Imagine the reaction you would have gotten last year at this time if you ambled up to some gambling man and said you wanted to wager that three unknown guys from Norway who had never played together in public would end up with a number one pop single in America. Of course, the reaction you would have gotten, as your front money was eagerly grabbed, would have been something like: "Ha-ha." Well, your pockets would now be lined with krone. "Take On Me," the first single from A-ha's now-gold Warner Bros. LP, "Hunting High and Low," rocketed to the top of the charts, thanks to a catchy riff and an eye-popping half-animated video extravaganza. "The Sun Always Shines on TV" is the new single from A-ha — with the same video production team handling the visual end. In 1985, the sun always shone for Pal Waaktaar, Mags Furuholem, and Morten Harket everytime the "Take On Me" video was shown on TV which, for a time, seemed to be every seven minutes or so.

"It's a boring story," says keyboardist Furuholem about the formation of A-ha. "Pal and I have been together for a long time, since we were about ten years old. Morten was in other bands, but we knew about each other. So, in the end, we decided to get together and try to go from Oslo to London to get a record deal."

"We decided right away that we wanted to leave Norway," says guitarist/keyboardist Waaktaar, "and it was like, 'Try the big one — try London.' And that's what we did — we bought a one-way ticket to London and started doing demos in a studio we just chose from a magazine.

That was in '83."

"We'd been to London the year before that for six months," chimes in Furuholem, "but it didn't work out, so we went back to Norway and got Mort."

"We stayed in Norway about four or five months and got some songs together and left," adds vocalist Harket.

If this was a Hollywood movie, the three guys would spend their last pence on the demo tape — recorded at the magazine-picked studio — which would then be picked up by some forward-thinking producer and — voilà! — two years later they'd have the hottest song in America. Sometimes truth is just as banal as fiction.

"We're completely naive, that's our strength," says Harket.

"Actually we thought we'd be rock stars in '83," says Waaktaar.

Furuholem adds: "There's one main wall missing until we can gig."

Well the guys have never gigged but, by jingo, they expect to be plugging away on the road next spring. In the meantime, they are still on the promotional trail and they expect that the team that took on the airwaves with the "Take On Me" video (Simon Fields, producer; Steve Barron, director; Michael Patterson and Candace Reckinger, animation directors; John Beug, animation producer — credit must be given where it's due) will shine once again with their effort for "The Sun Always Shines on TV."

And how does Norway feel about its three sons of Oslo taking on the rock and roll world?

"They didn't know how to take it, I think," says Furuholem. "They don't believe what's going on here, that's one thing. And we'll just have to show them — invite 'em over to see American TV."

EAST COASTINGS

Paul Iorio, New York

MAHVELOUS MARTI — "When you tell me you love me, say it like an accountant," said a woman to a man during intermission at the Marti Jones/Don Dixon concert at Folk City November 6. The remark was awkward, yes, but it made strange sense: if you're already saying something emotionally charged, don't attitudinize on top of that. A&M's Marti Jones is a master of that principle as she creates perfect pitch and balance by singing juicy things dryly and dry things juicily. Name another singer who could encore as she did with "To Sir With Love" — yes, "To Sir With Love" — and skirt sentimentality and irony while still injecting enough humor to make the song work? East Coastings could rave on about how she never hit a bad note during her country medley ("I Go To Pieces," "Stand By Your Man") or how her "Unsophisticated Time" songs sound mahvelous even without electric backing, but suffice it to say that Jones is the second best thing on A&M (after Al Green). Prediction: one year from today Marti Jones will show the first signs of becoming as big as Joni Mitchell was at her peak or else I buy lunch for the entire publicity staff at a competing record company. Jones and the incredible Don Dixon play the Bottom Line November 25.

HAIRCUT ONE HUNDREDTH — Kevin Rowland of PolyGram's Dexy's Midnight Runners flew from London to New York to get his hair cut by Paul (l) at Arcade Hair Styling. Then he flew back.

PARR FAVOR — When somebody is under the gun, as everybody is everyday, miracles can happen.

Atlantic recording artist John Parr was certainly under the gun when his producer came into the studio and told him he had two hours to come up with the title track for the film St. Elmo's Fire. "We literally wrote the song between two o'clock and four o'clock on Friday," says Parr. But midway through writing the lyrics Parr was blocked. Enter hockey player Wayne Gretzky who inspired Parr to finish the song by telling him the triumphant story of athlete Rick Hansen. "Hansen broke his back in a car crash," explains Parr. "He thought he'd be confined to a wheelchair for the rest of his life but he trained himself to wheel 26,000 miles around the world." Hansen's already wheeled across the U.S. and Canada and is now taking on the Swiss Alps. He recently sent Parr a letter saying: "Your song has helped me so much along the way. I'm trying to cross this mountain range now and it's the worst. I ripped my shoulder muscles and so I'm only doing 50 miles a day. I've got two guys behind me and whenever we get fed up we put on the walkman and play "St. Elmo's Fire (Man In Motion)" and it charges us up to get back on the road." Hansen finishes his 26,000 mile trek October 1986 at the Vancouver World's Fair. Will Parr be on hand to greet Hansen? "Am I going to be there?" asks Parr. "Am I going to be there?!"

VEGA AND SMELL THE COFFEE — Suzanne Vega has this way of capturing the first whiff of November chimneys and colored trees and the soursweet feeling that you're on the wrong end of summer. It's the music of white wine in long glasses and light coffee in wide mugs and Bennington College dorm shut-ins and morning mirrors that show facial lines that weren't there before last night's argument. Vega's lucid, articulate presence captivated an SRO Folk City crowd November 8 as she sang songs from her debut A&M LP accompanied only by an acoustic guitar. As effective as she is, Vega denies she's spearheading a folk revival. "I'm only considered at the forefront of the folk scene because I was lucky enough to get a record deal," she remarked at the last New Music Seminar.

MAD ABOUT THE GIRL — Whitney Houston (c) was congratulated by Eddie Murphy (l) and Arista's Clive Davis (r) after Houston's debut performance at Carnegie Hall.

THE RED HOOT WASHINGTON TRICK BONE — Musical magic was a-brewin' Halloween night in NYC. At Radio City, Cheap Trick mixed old faves like "Dream Police" with songs from their new Epic LP "Standing on the Edge." At a Carnegie Hall benefit, the Washington Squares, newly signed to Gold Mountain Records, did a fine mini-set which included strong original tunes like "You Can't Kill Me." Funk met punk later that night at the Ritz with shows by the Red Hot Chili Peppers and Fishbone. Next night, same venue, Columbia's the Hooters played a tight, professional show spotlighting chancey covers like "Lucy in the Sky . . ." and ". . . Peace, Love and Understanding" as well as ace renditions of songs from their "Nervous Nights" LP.

Golden Years Delight

By Jimi Fox

LOS ANGELES — They call the golden years the greatest years of one's life. However, more often than not we find our senior citizens neglected and pushed aside. As we look around most sectors of our society, we find that this is not an uncommon dilemma. But for those who are insensitive to the wealth of wisdom generation, there are those who care and it's those who care in the broadcasting industry that I wish to direct your attention towards. Lets focus on this perhaps not unique, but certainly commendable program for the older set. A program that's wisdom would certainly be an asset to any age. This package by itself is sensational, and radio has reached out and given it an additional dimension of success. The program, "The Best Years," is produced by Gladney Communication Ltd. and syndicated by the Independent Radio Network. It airs on more than 200 radio stations. It is a two minute public affairs radio vignette series that runs five days a week and is hosted with commentary by that wonderful lady of radio, television, theatre and the silver screen—Helen Hayes. The U.S.A. has always been "youth oriented" and as a result, has tended to treat older Americans as being over-the-hill. "The Best Years" team believes these people have a lot to live for. The show encourages them to believe in themselves and to fight for recognition. "The Best Years" scripts are up-beat and cover such subjects as how to start a new career after retirement; how to take up new sports; rip-offs and relationships; dancing and dieting and how to stay healthy and active in later years. The audience, in their middle 40's on up, are the focus of the wisdom of Helen Hayes, the "First Lady of the American Theatre," whose career has spanned 78 years. Hayes has starred in 70 stage productions and countless films (winning 2 Oscars for her work). Also, her "Helen Hayes Theatre," "The Electric Theatre," and NBC's, "The New Penny" are now among radio's classics. It is a radio career that dates back to 1935.

Along with this wonderful program we can really stand tall with pride and salute those that carry this program. Now senior citizens in a number of communities can get words of encouragement whenever they like. It works like this: At the end of every two weeks, stations donate the (already aired) tapes to local nursing homes and other adult facilities, to be heard over their own internal audio system. Example, one station, KWNO, Winona, Minnesota takes the trouble to transfer the commentaries, (sponsored by Mutual of Omaha), onto cassettes and then the local sponsor, (Giltz Pharmacy), delivers these to a number of concerns serving "maturians" in the area.

Among the many stations which are involved in the program include WICY, Malone, N.Y.; WBTA, Batavia, N.Y.; WRV, Hudson, N.Y., and KSIL, Silver City, N.M. and the number is growing weekly. In all cases, the program has received additional support from local newspapers.

"The program is timely," said Norman Gladney, producer of "The Best Years." Today, one person in four is 50 years of age and over and we therefore have recognized that America is graying, for these statistics involve someone close to us.

The fact is that many people will be facing 30 years of retirement and be part of five generation families in the near future." Here is a program that should find a home on "Beautiful Music" formats, "Music of Your Life" formats and "Talk and/or News" formats. In fact it is a wonderful public affairs addition to any format that appeals to an older generation. The additional endeavor by those radio stations to reach out with a caring hand is a demonstration of responsibility to our senior citizens who have given so much to us and of whom eventually we will become a part of. Here in its purest form is what the F.C.C. meant as "Serving the Public Interest." What an incredible boost to the stations image in the eye of the public. Thank-you Miss Hayes, Thank-you Gladney Communications and all concerned and Thank-you RADIO for caring!

THE BEAT

Darryl Lindsey, Los Angeles

EXCITEMENT IS BREWING IN NEW JERSEY — New label Greyfox Records is about to debut with new product by Platinum Hook. Heading the label is Bob Durdin, chairman. Industry veteran Buzzy Willis will serve as president.

VENTURA HAPPENINGS — Ventura County could be on the verge of some big radio happenings. KMYX in Ojai, California, programmed by Howard "H.T." Thomas, has brought in an exciting morning man from Colorado, Jed Kelly, who keeps Ventura County entertained with his wit and information about social happenings. Kelly's morning crew does birthday announcements daily, but the uniqueness of it is that he plays "Happy Birthday" by Stevie Wonder each day, which in this writer's mind keeps the listeners aware of the significance of the day and the person it was written for, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Afternoon drive is anchored solidly by H.T., the Body Rocker, who convinced (dad) Mike Thomas, G.M., to go with a dance music format in Ventura County. Teen idol Jeff Gill handles the entertainment chores from 6-12 with his "Loveline" and Marcel Marshall handles all nights.

STANDING BY — Ben E. King (left), composer of "Stand By Me," and Maurice White (right), who chose the song as the first R&B/Pop/AC crossover single from his debut solo album, entitled "Maurice White."

BEAT IN PHILLY — Alan Reubens, executive vice president, of the Philly-based Omni Records indicated to us that Brandi Wells' new single entitled "S" has begun to pick up some major radio activity around the country. Also from Omni Records, look for a new single from the talented five-piece self-contained Phillytown group Stroke entitled "Take Me Back."

AND THE BIG APPLE — Industry veterans resurface at BR-Roma Distributors. Matt Parsons, C.E.O., and Bruce Clark, president, have formed BR-Roma Distributors, working primarily with independent labels who otherwise may not get national exposure for their product. Toni Fante and Bob Riley are handling sales and promotions, currently working the new release on industry veterans O.C. "Little Green Apples" Smith, as well as gospel, pop, dance, country and R&B. For the complete story, contact Matt Parsons at BR-Roma Dist., (718) 739-1600.

IDEAL AIRSHIFT (ONE HOUR LONG) — Brian Castle at WBLZ announces the appointment of Joe Demma as morning show producer. Joe will produce the 6-9 a.m. Brian Castle Show, then work the 9-10 a.m. airshift, followed by Mike Motley, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Daryl Mitchell, 2-6 p.m., Linda Shane, 6-10 p.m., music director Gary Weiler, 10 p.m.-2 a.m., and Steve Sloane, 2-6 a.m. How well will WBLZ-FM do rating-wise being the only urban FM'er in the Cincinnati-Hamilton-Dayton area?

INDUSTRY MOVEMENT — Veteran radio and promotion executive Reggie Barnes has departed his position with Philly-based Omni Records, reportedly due to philosophical differences. No immediate plans have been announced... departing her position at A&M Records is Pam Whitaker. Could she be heading for Total Experience?... West coast industry promotion veteran Jimmy Brooks is applying his many years of promotional experience to the newly formed Brotherly Feelings (BROFEEL) Records owned by Kirk and Joanne Tyler. The first release "Groove" by Charles, who has done some writing for the likes of Barry White and Bobby "What you won't do for love" Caldwell (which he co-wrote) has begun to pick up some significant adds around the country. Brooks serves as v.p. of promotion and also announced the signing of Twana Hill. Louisville native Dale Timberland handles the engineering chores for Brofeel Records. The company is looking for artists and product. For more information contact Jimmy Brooks at (213) 941-4940.

THE LONDON FESTIVAL OF BLACK MUSIC — Kennedy Street Enterprises and Identity Management out of England has announced that the London Festival of Black Music is to become an annual event. Next year's festival will take place at Hammersmith Odeon, for one week during the month of September. As of press time 14 major acts such as Patti LaBelle, Grace Jones, Kool and The Gang, James Brown, King Sunny Ade, Grover Washington and Randy Crawford have agreed to perform.

Sunny Ade, Grover Washington and Randy Crawford have agreed to perform.

This week's Beat — was written by Bob Long.

Comments:

"Because of the Success of 'Smooth Operator' and 'Hang On To Your Love' on black radio as well as CHR, KDKO took the record out of the box and added it to the station playlist. From listening to the overall arrangements and vocals, I predict that this will be a sure hit."

THE DANSE SOCIETY (Arista 9393)
Say It Again (6:35) (Chappell Music/ASCAP) (The Danse Society) (Producer: Stock-Aitken-Waterman)
 High energy and hard rocking dance track which takes up where Dead Or Alive's "You Spin Me Round" left off and doesn't stop. Already getting good club play and radio attention on new music stations, look for "Say It Again" to be a top Christmas retail mover.

FAT BOYS-RUN DMC-SHEILA E.-KURTIS BLOW (Warner Bros. 2391)
Krush Groovin' (6:15) (Simmons-Blow-Rubin-Simmons-McDaniels-Morales-Robinson-Wimbley) (Def Jam-Kuwa Music/ASCAP) (Producer: Russell Simmons-Kurtis Blow)
 This slow tempoed rap effort featuring some of the country's best rappers is already a top charting single, and this extended version gives more words per minute and more musical interludes to mix.

MINISTRY (Sire 0-20401)
Over The Shoulder (6:44) (Jourgenson) (Ministry Affairs/BMI) (Producer: Adrian Sherwood)
 With a heavy-handed drum machine intro, Ministry debuts on Sire with the thickly layered synth-rock version of "Over The Shoulder." Monumental in mix and electronic musicality, the single should be a rock club favorite.

SATISFACTION (Soul Heart & Mind 001)
Fantasy Love (5:15) (Walker) (Music SHM Music/ASCAP) (Producer: none listed)
 This tasteful crossover track from indie Soul Heart & Mind combines light B/C songwriting with a distinctive pop arrangement and delivery.

ROUND FOUR — If you're interested in the score, it's Rocky IV-Rambo II. Yes, it's that time again, and Sylvester Stallone's other internationally famous character is back; back for more training sessions, more soul-searching and more showdowns with seemingly unbeatable adversaries. Inevitably, Rocky and Rambo should meet in some kind of cosmic confrontation, but for the time being, though, Rocky is pitted against a Soviet foe. If this installment is anything like its three predecessors, we're in for another tremendously effective, skillfully crafted, and intensely exciting outing with the Italian Stallion. Somehow, even when the outcome is as predictable as Halley's Comet, the Rocky films are riveting, and music has always played a significant part in furthering that quality. The series has already produced two top hits, including Bill Conti's original theme and Survivor's "Eye Of The Tiger," and the new film, in response no doubt to this golden era of soundtracks, not only contains those songs, but several other pop cuts as well. Between the new musical material and the likely success of Rocky IV at the box office, it's no wonder Scotti Bros. Records, which is releasing the soundtrack, is confident it has a knockout winner on its hands. The album contains "Eye Of The Tiger," and a new song from Survivor titled "Burning Heart," which is the first single. Other tracks were contributed by John Cafferty; new artist Robert Tepper; Kenny Loggins and Gladys Knight (performing together); Vince DiCola, FALTERMEYER COPS DOUBLE PLATINUM — ASCAP director of TV and Film Repertoire, Lynn Jackson, ASCAP membership representative, Loretta Munoz, and ASCAP western and regional executive director, Todd Brabec, congratulate Harold Faltermeyer on his double platinum selling record "Axel F" (the theme to Beverly Hills Cop). Faltermeyer wrote, produced and performed the record. Pictured (l-r) are: Jackson, Munoz, Faltermeyer and Brabec.

James Brown, Touch and Go West, Johnny Musso, president of Scotti Bros. Records, said, "It was Stallone's idea to have a lot of music in Rocky IV right from the top. He wants this picture to be in tune with all people, especially his young audience . . . All the songs were written specially for [the film] . . . [Stallone] has a great instinct for what works."

MORE HELP IS ON THE WAY — It's sad, but probably accurate to say that a lot of people are feeling oversaturated with charitable projects involving top musical artists. With all the work that still needs to be done, and all the money that still needs to be raised, however, we can't tune them out. Hoping to reach those who remain willing to be touched, Canada's Northern Lights For Africa Society, that country's version of U.S.A. For Africa, is behind a new documentary theatrical film based on the recording of the David Foster-Bryan Adams-Jim Vallance song, "Tears Are Not Enough." The film, which has the same title, chronicles the 16-hour recording session of that song (which met with success as a single earlier this year in both Canada and the U.S.). Such artists as Adams, Bruce Cockburn, Gordon Lightfoot, Joni Mitchell, Oscar Peterson, Mike Reno and Neil Young participated in the recording, which took place in February. So far, Northern Lights (through the song and a subsequent telethon) has raised over $2 million for the African relief cause. The current documentary (which will be released by the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. on home video later this year) was directed by John Zaritsky, who previously won an Oscar for another documentary, Just Another Missing Kid. Speaking from Canada recently, the director recalled "there was some nervousness about having a documentary crew running around (but) it was extremely together really. Everybody did truly leave their egos at the door and everybody got along extremely well, especially considering the calibre of the people involved." Although Zaritsky was forced to prepare and coordinate his seven camera crews very shortly before the actual recording got under way, he didn't mind the pressure under the circumstances. "Like all the others," he commented, "I could hardly say no to such a worthwhile project." During the 16 hours the vocals were being completed (the instrumentals had been recorded earlier on), Zaritsky et al filmed interviews with the involved artists and, of course, shot footage of the singers at work. "By the end," the director said, "we had a tremendous amount of what I think is unusual material, a unique look at how a recording is made and what a producer and artists contribute to the final product." With its Dolby sound and many split-screen effects, it was felt Tears Are Not Enough would work as a theatrical feature, and thus was recently released here and in Canada. As with all other Northern Lights efforts, profits will wind up with the needy in Africa.

ODDS AND ENDS — Speaking of Rocky's road to musical success, it was Paul Williams and Steve Dorff who wrote "Double Or Nothing," the Loggins-Knight cut from Rocky IV. . . Talking Heads' head, David Byrne, is currently at the helm of True Stories, marking his feature film directorial debut. He also co-wrote the script and wrote the music, which he and Talking Heads will record and feature on their next album. . . What Comes Around, a new feature starring Jerry Reed, Bo Hopkins and Arte Johnson and revolving around the country music world, includes nine new Reed tunes, eight of which he performs.

Television: Changing Its Sound And Marching To A Different Drummer

By Peter Berk

First Of Two Parts

LOS ANGELES — First, there were only soundtracks, standard orchestral albums which at their best evoke a film's particular images and also stand on their own musically. Then, not so long ago, a new breed evolved; 'poptracks,' decidedly non-orchestral compilations of contemporary songs which at their best capture the spirit of the times and reach out to that huge youth market. Now, with the success of the music from Miami Vice, we may be on the threshold of another trend, the 'tubetrack,' a similar pop collection, but of cuts written for and featured on television. Even if there are no further such albums, though, it's plainly obvious contemporary music is now a vital aspect of weekly programming. How did the sound of music on television come to be what it is, and what lies ahead? Those are two of the key questions Cash Box asked several experts in the field recently.

Launching into a survey story on this topic, the obvious first subject was Miami Vice itself. "This was the show that really started the trend," commented Fred Lyle, the hit NBC series' associate producer and music coordinator. For him, the show particularly helped forge the current trend by commissioning original songs and recordings and by acquiring original masters of known songs instead of creating 'soundalikes.' "What you pay for a master, you sometimes have to pay for an actor," he observed. "TV producers in the past never thought it was worth the money, but people in the audience have shown they know the difference and sure do care."

While Miami Vice certainly wasn't the first program on television to incorporate contemporary music, its music video slant has quickly spawned a number of similar prime time shows. When asked how the whole trend could conceivably be misused, Lyle remarked, "That could definitely happen if songs are just thrown in by people who think what makes kids happy is just rock, without realizing viewers know the difference between gratuitous placement of music and necessary plot-oriented placement of music."

Steven Meyer, senior vice president of promotion for MCA Records, which has had such incredible success with the Miami Vice soundtrack, also praised the show's use of music. "On a lot of shows coming on this year," he said, "the pop music is just thrown in, but on Miami Vice it always fits in with what's going on visually. The soundtrack's success is certainly not a fluke." Are the labels apt to be releasing other "tubetracks" in the future, then? According to Meyer, "I think if something happens on TV in the next year or so which generates the same kind of audience interest and ties in with the same quality of music as Miami Vice, then it could happen again."

For many, however, Miami Vice, while still praiseworthy for its high quality and skillful use of pop music, isn't actually the lone creator of television's new sound. Instead, they feel the show more accurately represents the latest step in the ladder-like evolution of television music. Leonard Hill, executive producer of ABC's The Insiders (which features a Genesis song as its main theme as well as many other rock tracks) feels pop invaded TV long before Miami Vice. He first recalled the impact of two films he was in charge of as head of movies for ABC in 1978 which "heralded the importance of music on television," namely Elvis and The Jericho Mile (which was directed by Miami Vice creator Michael Mann).

For Hill, the current preoccupation with contemporary music on TV is also due to commercials (which have often employed popular music) and more significantly, is due to music video. "MTV played a major part in promoting the trend because it allowed for a much more visual, non-linear, non-narrative form of storytelling," he said. "What we're doing now is taking episodic TV, a form that was stodgy and had failed to evolve to any large extent, and bringing it to the '80s, using the technology we've learned about from both commercials and music video."

The bottom line is that TV has become a credible medium in the eyes of pop artists. On The Insiders, cuts from ZZ Top, Bob Seger and the Rolling Stones, among many others, have already been used. For Hill, the key is to consider the music before editing the footage, instead of "subscribing to the after-the-fact varnishing style of throwing songs in." On other shows, such top artists as Natalie Cole (who sings Hollywood Beat's theme) and Stewart Copeland (who writes for The Equalizer) have joined the ever-increasing group which recognizes television's incomparable creative, financial and promotional power.

Patricia Jones, executive producer of Fame, the syndicated series which offers stories in which music and dance are frequently the emotional highlights, feels TV is primarily following in the footsteps of film in its use of pop songs. "I think TV often takes its cues from features," she

THE RECORD BAR — There's more going on at The Record Bar than the sale of stores. The nine stores sold to The Musicland Group as reported in Cash Box last week (11-16) ended The Record Bar's presence in Chicago and St. Louis. The sale has freed the retail giant to focus on other areas of more pressing concern. The first move by Record Bar has been to open Tracks, a retail store in Virginia Beach, VA. The Tracks store is a departure for Record Bar because of its large business in video sale and rental. In addition, Tracks is located in a strip center, with easy drive-up access to accommodate video rental. Most Record Bar stores are more heavily involved in prerecorded music sales and are located in malls. This Tracks marks Record Bar's second, the other located in Norfolk, VA. Bev Gwinn, a Record Bar district sales supervisor from the Chicago area will move to Virginia Beach to manage Tracks.

STORE WARS — Any casual observer of the Los Angeles record retailing community is aware that there is a race underway to cash in on the L.A. home entertainment dollar. A major announcement of new store openings is made almost weekly. Music Plus has announced the opening of four new stores located in Redondo Beach, Torrance, Valencia and Woodland Hills. A Grand Opening sale featuring a giveaway trip for two to San Francisco is being heavily promoted in the press. Not to be out done, The Wherehouse opens two new stores of their own, the latest in a flurry of store openings for the chain. Promoted with the current expansion slug, "New Stores Galore," The Wherehouse opened stores in Hermosa Beach and Bellflower. Word from both companies is that these are just the beginning. Music Plus now boasts 41 stores, while the Wherehouse has 43 in the L.A. market.

U.S. CD PLANTS — A constant concern for most retailers is lost revenue due to poor supplies of CD software. The new technology is taking the world by storm. Plans for manufacturing plants in North America are sketchy, but according to at least one label representative, there is light at the end of the tunnel. Denon, who operates a CD plant in Japan, will be unveiling plans for a CD plant in the U.S. shortly. WEA, RCA and Capitol all are studying the feasibility of opening their own plants. Because of the high cost in building a CD plant, there is a low return on investment. This is causing some labels to proceed with great caution. If a number of the major labels get into CD manufacture, this will dramatically cut in to the custom pressing dollar. Custom pressing holds out a viable means of producing a good return on investment, but not if the market is flooded with competing CD manufacturers. Lou Dennis, vice president sales Warner Bros. Records, expects supply to catch up to demand by the fourth quarter 1986. With CD hardware ownership expected to double in the next year, manufacturers who wait too long will be far behind the pack, making it very difficult to catch up. Latest reports from PolyGram's Hanover plant show the plant working around the clock, seven days a week. Hanover expects to produce 44 million discs in the next year.

INTERACTIVE CD — While we're speaking about CDs, did you know that CDs are capable of more than reproducing music? Any information that can be stored digitally has a potential CD application. In the years to come this will dramatically effect not only entertainment, but business, publishing and education, to name a few. While best known as a medium for music, a compact disc has an immense capacity for any digital information, including sound, text, video, graphics, computer language or a combination of all of these. A compact disc so programmed can be run through a home computer much the same way as a music disc can be programmed by a standard CD player. This makes the information carried on the disc interactive, that is, responding to the input of the person operating the terminal in a dialogue fashion. Since CD drives for home computers can also play standard audio CDs, it is not surprising that the initiative for interactive CD is coming from the record industry. PolyGram and Warner Communications are co-sponsors of a joint venture called The Record Group. The Record Group is helping to foster development of hardware and software for interactive CD.

NEW DISPLAY — Meadowlark Records, the new all-instrumental label formed by the Los Angeles based Sparrow Corporation, has developed a 14" x 12" x 54" floor display for use in retail outlets across the country. The merchandising aid holds up to 30 cassettes (six titles face out) and 15 albums (in a "browser bin").

YOKO ONO — With a timely message and an all-star cast of players, Yoko Ono delivers her first record in two years just in time for the Holidays. "Starpeace: An Earth Play For Sun And Air" hits the stores this week.

Warner Communications are co-sponsors of a joint venture called The Record Group. The Record Group is helping to foster development of hardware and software for interactive CD.

WHAT'S IN-STORE

CLASSICAL NEWS — Look for three great new releases from Phillips Records. First is Neville Marriner's stunning rendition of Dvorak's "New World" Symphony No. 9 performed with his Minnesota Orchestra (412 224-1, -4). Always a best-seller, this record of well-known classical music should do well. Indeed, this release follows Marriner's debut recording with the Minnesotians of Symphony No. 8 which was a best-seller. A special two-CD set is available which includes Symphonies 7, 8 and 9 (412 542-2). Next, the new Los Angeles Philharmonic leader Andre Previn is the featured pianist and conductor with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra as they perform three of George Gershwin's most famous works: Rhapsody In Blue, the Piano Concerto In F, and An American In Paris (412 611-1). Previn is highly qualified to interpret the jazz-flavored works of Gershwin as he is well known for his jazz piano performances with the likes of Itzhak Perlman and others. This recording, and the "New World" recording, should do well over the holiday season when patriotism is high. Lastly, Neville Marriner is again featured, this time with the Academy Of St. Martin-in-the-Fields along with Sir Colin Davis conducting the BBC and Royal Opera House Orchestras on the compilation album "More of the Best of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart." This fine best-of collection features the above mentioned artists working with star soloists Jessye Norman, Alfred Brendel and Mirella Freni. An assured best-seller, the album (416 273-1, -2, -4) includes selections from some of Mozart's best-loved operas, symphonies and piano concerti. In-store play of these fine classical releases is highly recommended.

ALL-IN-ONE — Retail sales of camcorders, lightweight color video cameras that feature a built-in video cassette recorder, should generate $500 million by the end of the year, according to a forecast made recently by Stephen A. Stepnes, division vice president, marketing, at RCA Consumer Electronics in Indianapolis. "VCRs currently represent one of the fastest growing consumer electronic product categories overall, with 1985 unit sales expected to increase some 50 percent over last year. Within the product category, camcorder sales will account for some 12 percent of the total sales picture, and will certainly be the most important consumer electronic product of the 1985 holiday sales season," said Stepnes. According to Stepnes, the product concept of a one-piece video recording system, designed for optimum use both indoors and outdoors, will immediately appeal to two major buying groups: the consumer market and a business audience that is increasingly using video in presentations.

CORDLESS WONDER — New from Nady Systems, Inc., Oakland, CA is the Stereo Infrared Headphone and Transmitter. With full frequency response (50 - 15,000 Hz) and a system range of about 35 feet, the pair retails for $119.95.

CLASSICS — As the video industry matures, so do the catalogs. It's interesting to note that two years ago labels were dishing out whatever they could acquire to an insatiable market. It was a fast-food mentality, characterized by product of generally fast-food quality — as high in gratuitous sex and gore as fast-food is in calories, and as low in educational and cultural significance as fast-food is in nutritive value. As the suppliers find their legs, so to speak, the consumer has been defining certain tastes. These tastes go beyond the generic, rehased T.V. movies and decidedly "B" product of decades old filmhood. In fact, as the business refines its crudities, so its patrons have refined their taste. Certain companies have taken careful note of this trend toward a new, discriminating audience, and they've cultivated an entire industry unto itself of progeny with classy logos and, or so the hype would have it, quality product. The newest of these is Embassy Home Entertainment's The International Collection. This label arm, similar in intention to Media Home Entertainment's Cinematheque Collection, brings the foreign films of both the Janus and Quartet/Films catalogs to home video, which is nothing to sniff at. Works by such lionized filmmakers as Fellini, Lang, Pabst, Cocteau and Bergman are among those being presented, and, unlike some of the less than desirable films in the Cinematheque Collection (most of which are French), Embassy's line is imbued with undeniable quality. Nevertheless, in terms of progression, The International Collection is only a further step in the direction dictated by a maturing market. The label's opening list of titles includes six films, including the Japanese Rashomon, directed by Akira Kurosawa, Fellini's La Strada (starring his wife, Giulietta Masina), Luis Buneul's That's Obscure Object of Desire, Lang's M, Dutch filmmaker Marleen Gorris' A Question of Silence, and Frenchman Claude Lelouch's Happy New Year. The International Collection will have a release package monthly. Evidently, this year's best has been spent on the opener (understandably). Year-end releases aren't nearly so interesting. However, Embassy's new line can be credited with substantiating its high-brow marketing scheme with actual quality releases. For independent labels, who don't have a back-log of classic film titles to capitalize upon, efforts in the foreign film area are well advised. And while Embassy's foreign line is of a higher quality (though, to be fair, this first package is no guarantee that the same level will ever be reached again), Media's films are newer, and considering the American cultural inferiority complex, will probably be considered classics in another 10 years!

AT PRAYER — Warner Bros. recording artist Madonna performs her hit single "Crazy For You" in the film Vision Quest, a new release from Warner Home Video.

MTV AND ART — And continuing along with this trend toward everyone becoming awfully, awfully high brow, MTV, that purveyor of the 3-minute thrill, has taken to treating, and in some cases educating, its viewers with 10 to 30 second "Art Breaks." Yuppie! (I mean, yippie! But you catch my drift). Six contemporary artists have been commissioned to create short video pieces. In announcing these new spots, MTV will host a "gala" benefit with profits going to Artists Space, a non profit center and gallery for contemporary art located in trendy lower Manhattan. Well, who would have guessed? But don't think the mega music channel has traded in its studded leather gauntlets for a smock entirely. Heavy Metal Mania airs Saturday, November 21, hosted by Iron Maiden's Bruce Dickson.

The Release Beat

Playboy Video has announced its release of Dorothy Stratten: The Untold Story, which hit retail November 14. This documentary-style account of the ill-fated Playboy model's rise to stardom is highlighted by film clips and tapes, providing a full photo essay of the acclaimed beauty's short-lived career. Her death at age 20 at the hands of boyfriend Paul Snyder is also chronicled. The tape retails for $39.95 in VHS and Beta. . . . November at Vestron Musicvideo means music from two rather dissimilar recording artists, Liberace and The Who's Pete Townshend, each in their own one-hour tape. (They have not, to our knowledge, taken to performing together as yet). Liberace, known to his fans as "Mr. Showmanship," comes to home video with Liberace Live, featuring more than a million dollars in furs and jewelry, and, we're told, music too. Townshend's tape, titled White City: Pete Townshend, is a complete music movie in which the musician portrays, guess what? — A musician. This home video release coincides with Townshend's new Atco LP of the same name. Richard Lowenstein directed. Both tapes retail for the list price of $29.95 in both VHS and Beta HiFi. . . . The Nostalgia Merchant, Media Home Entertainment's classic films arm, brings The Magnificent Ambersons to home video this month. One of Orson Well's most inspired cinematic efforts, The Magnificent Ambersons is based on the Booth Tarkington novel, and features performances by Joseph Cotton, Agnes Moorhead, Tim Holt, and a very youthful Anne Baxter. A true classic for collectors, retailing for the suggested price of $19.95.

COUNTRY COLUMN

AMERICA'S MUSIC — The Academy of Country Music is planning a promotional campaign for 1986 which, according to executive director Bill Boyd, "is designed to create a positive attitude towards 'America's Music.'" (By that he means country, y'all.) ACM president Gene Weed and famed producer Chips Moman are planning to record PSA's for radio which will feature recording artists performing an original song, "America's Music," in a variety of styles and lengths. Boyd elaborated, "What Gene and Chips are hoping to accomplish is to generate a public awareness that will bring new fans to our music and rekindle the fire we enjoyed several years ago." Plans also call for a video of the full-length version of the song, compiled from the performances of the various artists. Primary recording for the project will be done at Moman's Memphis facilities.

AN MCA CHRISTMAS — MCA Records has sent a four-song holiday 45 to radio stations, pressed of course, in festive red vinyl. The disc contains Steve Warner's rendition of Amy Grant and Gary Chapman's "Tennessee Christmas" (probably the most-recorded song this season, with versions by Alabama and Lee Greenwood also extant), "Christmas In The Carribean" by Jimmy Buffett, "One Bright Star" by Nicolette Larson and John Schneider singing "Please Come Home For Christmas."

BANDSTAND — When Dick Clark hosts his American Bandstand's 33 1/3 Celebration on Sunday, Dec. 1, sock hoppers and rock 'n' rollers won't be the only ones joining in the fun. Several country stars will be part of a 23-member "supergroup" that will jam on "Blue Suede Shoes" as a tribute to Elvis. Members of the mega-band will include Glen Campbell, John Schneider and Tom Wopat on guitars, Charlie Daniels, fiddle, and Ricky Skaggs, playing his mandocaster. The ABC-TV special, airing from 8-11 p.m. EST, will also feature filmed appearances (clips both old and new) by Johnny Cash, Crystal Gayle, Brenda Lee, Jerry Lee Lewis, Juice Newton, Marie Osmond, Kenny Rogers and many others.

STATLERS ON SCREEN — Two new Statlers videos are now in circulation: one is a clip of Christmas Eve from their "Christmas Present" album; the other is on the song "Sweeter And Sweeter" from "Pardners In Rhyme." Both videos were shot in Nashville and produced by Jim Owens.

NEWS FROM THE BROTHERS WARNER — Look for The Forester Sisters on Good Morning America on Tuesday, Nov. 26. The show's general theme is the strength of American families . . . Emmylou Harris's next album is currently being finished. It is set for release in January and will include a duet with John Anderson. Co-producing with Harris is Paul Kennerley . . . The forthcoming "Dallas: The Music Story" album, a collection of songs about characters on the television show, will include performances by Johnny Lee, The Foresters Sisters and Gary Morris, in addition to musical forays by cast members Howard Keel, Steven Kanaly and Jennilee Harrison . . . The artwork for Southern Pacific's debut album, created by Lori Lohstoeter, was recently cited for "outstanding achievement in graphic design for an album cover" by the Los Angeles Art Director's Club . . . New Warner signee Dwight Yoakam is to be featured in a forthcoming Rolling Stone article. This week, Yoakam will be taping an episode of Austin City Limits . . . "1982," the new single from Randy Travis is set for release this week . . . The first two weeks of December will see new singles from Gary Morris and Pam Tillis.

BRAND NEW AT THE BOX — Coming from Flint, Michigan, with experience in radio, television and print is Mary Kujawa, who has joined the Cash Box/Nashville editorial staff. As this is my final week in the writer's chair, her contributions have already begun. Space does not allow me to mention the names of all who have been so friendly and helpful to me over the past year, so let me just say a general thank-you to Cash Box and to everyone here in Nashville and on the Row. It's been a strange but invaluable education. Happy trails . . .

Bill Fisher

NEIL AND NICOLETTE — Nicolette Larson (MCA) opened a recent series of concerts for Neil Young (Geffen) in support of her "Say When" album, also joining Young during his set for backing vocals on several songs. Larson (above right) is currently working on her next MCA album.

ALBUM RELEASES

THANK GOD FOR THE RADIO . . . AND ALL THE HITS — The Kendalls — Mercury 826 307-1-M-1 — Producers: Blake Mevls, Roy Dea, The Kendalls, Brlen Fisher, Jerry Gillespie

Collection includes "Teach Me To Cheat," "Thank God For The Radio," "The Dark End Of The Street," "Cheater's Prayer" "Movin' Train," the recent single "If You Break My Heart" plus four more.

BIGGEST HITS — Charly McClain — Epic FE 40186 — Producers: Norro Wilson, The Sneed Brothers, Larry Rogers, Chucko, Chucko II

"Dancin' Your Memory Away" and "Sentimental Ol' You" are the best vehicles for McClain out of the ten selections here, which also include the "Paradise Tonight" duet with Mickey Gilley and the recent McClain/Wayne Massey duet, "With Just One Look In Your Eyes."

TEXAS SATURDAY NIGHT — Gene Watson — MCA/Curb-5670 — Producers: Russ Reeder, Gene Watson

Warren Robb/Dave Kirby compositions predominate on this hits package (four of them, including the title song, are included), but the two songs that will more likely survive the test of time are Johnny Russell's "Got No Reason Now For Goin' Home" and "Drinkin' My Way Back Home," by Don and Ronny Scaife and Phil Thomas.

Step One Issues Ray Price Collector's Album

By Mary Kujawa

NASHVILLE — Locally-based Step One Records has released a double LP by legendary Ray Price titled "Portrait of a Singer." The Hawaiian oil painting of Price on the album cover highlights the product which is dubbed a "collector's item" according to Leslie Elliott of Step One.

But what's inside the package is even more surprising than the concept. "Portraits of a Singer" includes numbers from the dance band era, a mixture of melodies from the past and tunes that just haven't lost that flavor," Elliott said. "It's a dream come true for Ray. He's always wanted to do something like this."

Price's voice flows easily through the 22 cuts which include "You're Nobody Til Somebody Loves You," "You'll Never Know" and "You Always Hurt the One You Love."

Elvis Presley's "Love Me Tender" and Irving Berlin's "Always" show the diversity in the double album selections.

"Putting together such an elaborate product is a real challenge for a small label," Elliott said. "If marketing strategies go as planned the album will do well," she added.

"We've started marketing it on TV about three weeks ago," Elliott said. "We're averaging about 25 to 50 write-ins a day and about the same amount in phone calls. It's starting to pick up but being a small label and being an independent we've got an awfully big brick wall to go over."

"We can't get into the big chain or department stores with our records," she explained. "The distributors won't bring anything into the big stores unless it's in the top 30 on the charts. We lose sales every day because of that. So we deal directly with the consumer."

By dealing direct, sales are limited, Elliott said, so Step One is taking other avenues. "Besides television, we have managed to get into 125 retail stores across the country and Ray is taking the album on the road with him," she said.

Elliott said the main reason Step One decided to produce such an elaborate album was because the company felt the project had "universal appeal," and another similar project had sold well on their label last year. "It was called 'Swingin' from the '40s to the '80s with Ray Pennington and Buddy Emmons and has sold about 20,000 copies so far," Elliott said.

"We're not just relying on TV, though, for the 'Portrait' album," she added. "We have in-house promotions and some outside too. We talk to disc jockeys every week on the phone and we mail to over 2,000 secondary radio stations."

"Portrait of a Singer" is a unique effort for Step One, and an album that shouldn't be ignored.

OUT OF THE BOX

DOLLY PARTON (RCA PB-14218)
Think About Love (3:17) (Mallven/Cottonpatch/Bibo—ASCAP) R. Brannon, T. Campbell (Producer: David Malloy)

A pulsating cut from the "Real Love" album, "Think About Love" has the rock-steady, synthesized sound also achieved by producer David Malloy on Rosanne Cash's latest material. The drum sound is big and authoritative, the guitars surge and recede in the mix and Parton's singing is hot and urgent.

EXILE (Epic 34-05723)
I Could Get Used To You (2:41) (Tree/Pacific Island—BMI) (S. Lemaire, J.P. Pennington) (Producer: Buddy Killen)

"I Could Get Used To You" has the bright and bouncy sound that Exile has practically patented. The keyboards lead the melodic instrumentation and, as always, the vocal harmony is the strong selling point. The song should follow "Hang On To Your Heart" to the top of the chart with ease — if someone had saved the last ray of summer sunshine and put it on vinyl, it would sound like this.

FEATURE PICKS

THE CHARLIE DANIELS BAND (Epic 34-05699)
Still Hurtin' Me (3:55) (Fairydust—BMI) (B. Cadd) (Producer: John Boylan)

A funky guitar line leads into a song with good harmonies and a more controlled singing style than has been heard recently from Daniels.

RAZZY BAILEY (MCA-52701)
Old Blue Yodeler (3:22) (Razzy Bailey—ASCAP) (R. Bailey) (Producer: Chip Hardy)

Razzy's latest self-penned single is a tribute to the legendary Jimmie Rodgers, who had a dramatic impact on American music and an influence on Razzy to pursue a music career. "Old Blue Yodeler" is an easy blend of country, jazz and blues.

THE OSMOND BROTHERS (EMI-America/Curb B-8298)
Baby When Your Heart Breaks Down (3:23) (Goldenbridge—ASCAP) (K. Brooks) (Producers: Terry Choate, Dennis Wilson, Merrill Osmond)

This single grabs you right from the beginning with the first note of its strong harmony. The upbeat saga of guy-misses-girl and vice versa can unconsciously cause hands to clap and feet to stomp. A catchy sing-a-long that showcases the brothers' enthusiasm and talent in the country music area.

RAY STEVENS (MCA 52738)
Santa Claus Is Watching You (3:09) (Lowery-BMI) (R. Stevens) (Producer: Ray Stevens)

Another comical Ray Stevens tune designed to spread a little holiday cheer! A cute number, and Ray makes it clear that under no circumstances should one do Santa wrong. Besides the outrageous descriptions of Ol' St. Nick (Ray's got him linked to the CIA these days), there's a real challenge. Recite the unconventional names of Ray's 24 or so reindeer. Cute fun.

Good Radio Is Good Radio

By Brad Burkhart

(Editor's note: Brad Burkhart is the director of the Christian Music Division, Burkhart/Abrams/Michaels/Douglas and Associates, Inc., Atlanta, GA. In addition to consulting Christian radio stations, artists and Christian record companies, Burkhart is radio editor of the publication Music Line and a weekly contributor to Music Stream.)

Good radio is good radio. A simple and true statement. The term "good radio" does not reflect personal taste in music or programming. Rather, it refers to a technically pure sound and a researched format that is properly executed.

Good radio inevitably draws a large and loyal audience. Obviously, a large and loyal audience will result in sales for the station. And, if the station is a Christian one, a large number of individuals will hear and, we hope, understand the gospel.

A Christian who is an automobile mechanic can learn many techniques in his field by listening to and observing a more skilled mechanic. This is true whether the elder mechanic is a Christian or not. The tools and techniques of the business — the nuts and bolts, if you will — are the same for the Christian and the non-Christian.

Similarly, we in Christian radio can learn many things from our often more skilled secular counterparts. Once again, the tools and techniques of the business — the radio nuts and bolts — are the same for the believer and the non-believer. For instance, we both need microphones, turntables, transmitters, towers, etc. . . .

Obviously, we can learn from our more experienced secular counterparts. Our hearts' desire must be to effectively communicate the good news of Jesus Christ to the dying world of the 1980s. If that is our motive, our desire, then we have no option but to use every tool and technique available to accomplish our uncompromising goal.

What I suggest is that we carefully analyze the tools and techniques that make up "good radio." If these tools and techniques have proven themselves on top secular stations, we must hold them up to be examined in the light of the gospel to determine their relevancy to Christian radio. If they pass this test and will give the gospel a greater platform, then we have no choice but to utilize them.

Good radio is good radio. We must strive for excellence! We must work toward being "good radio." Never for our purpose or our glory, but only for God's purpose and his glory!

Sparrow To Distribute R.K. Fraser LP

NASHVILLE — Sparrow Distribution has arranged with Kerygma Records to distribute R.K. Fraser's debut album, "Heroes," on the Brightstar label (KRR 5403), following the album's release this month.

Fraser, a Viet Nam veteran who served in the Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade, has written songs for Eddy Arnold, Tom Jones and other artists. He recently performed for the American Coalition for Traditional Values at its annual convention in Washington, D.C. The group is reportedly endorsing Fraser's ministry throughout the nation.

According to a Sparrow release, the "Heroes" album expresses "Fraser's beliefs that America must return to the ideals and principles on which it was founded."

ON JAZZ

Lee Jeske, New York

WHO NEEDS GENEVA? — It's not likely that the name Leo Feigin is going to come up this week in Geneva, where Reagan and Gorbachev are finally doing the yakety yak. But, for my money, Leo Feigin has done more to further the cause of Soviet/American understanding than any 10 diplomats. Feigin has, for the past several years, quietly been putting out terrific albums of contemporary jazz on his own London-based Leo Records: albums that are, for the most part, by avant-garde musicians of the Soviet Union. I may have found it hard to believe a number of years ago, but Leo Records has convinced me that some of the most vibrant contemporary jazz available today is being made in the land of Lenin. Leo has just issued five worthwhile new LPs: "Arkhangelsk" by Arkhangelsk (an eclectic, good-humored Soviet ensemble), "Fortune-Teller" by Valentina Ponomareva (a unique, wide-ranging Soviet singer), "Con Affetto" by the dynamic Ganelin Trio, "And Your Voice Sings" by American pianist Marilyn Crispell with Doug James, and "Nicols 'N' Nu" by the English vocal/piano duo of Maggie Nichols and Peter Nu.

HELLO, MY LOVELY — Robert Mitchum fell by N.Y.'s Blue Note recently to catch the rare club appearance of Cleo Laine and John Dankworth. Here the trio is shown jawing backstage.

Leo Feigin also has a book due any day from London's Quartet Books: Russian Jazz: New Identity, an anthology of pieces that should go even further in explaining the current jazz scene in the Soviet Union (I have not yet seen the book). The book is meant to complement S. Frederick Starr's Red & Hot: The Fate Of Jazz In The Soviet Union, which paints the historical picture and, conveniently, has just been issued in paperback ($9.95, Limelight Editions).

Leo Records are distributed stateside by New Music Distribution (N.Y.); their home address is 7 Clare Court, Judd St., London, W.C.1, England. Their product is more enlightening than anything that is likely to happen in Switzerland.

VAULT POLLING — I would like to quickly point out several items of previously-unissued material that have just now, decades after they were waxed, seen the light of release. Doctor Jazz, which plumbed the Ellington vaults earlier for the spectacular "All-Star Road Band," has dug back into the Ducal archive for the less-spectacular, but still quite marvelous, "Happy Reunion" (which features a septet and an unusual quartet — Paul Gonsalves, Ellington, Jimmy Woode, Sam Woodyard), and the two-LP "All Star Road Band Volume 2" (from a different live session than the first volume). And Contemporary, now under the Fantasy aegis, has finally released the beautiful "Ben Webster at the Renaissance" session, featuring the most gorgeous tenor of them all in the tasty company of Jimmy Rowles, Jim Hall, Red Mitchell and Frank Butler.

BOPPING AROUND, N.Y. — The Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre is bringing "For Bird With Love," a Charlie Parker-inspired ballet, to their City Center stint, Dec. 4-29; Max Roach will be on hand opening night to introduce the work . . . WKCR-FM is checking in with two of their annual birthday bashes: On Nov. 21, from 5 a.m.-9 p.m., Coleman Hawkins' music will be aired; then, from Nov. 28 at 6 p.m.-Nov. 30 at 9 p.m., the 100th birthday of the inimitable Jelly Roll Morton will be celebrated in style: 51 non-stop hours of the "Whinin' Boy" on 89.9 FM. Give thanks! . . . Ran Blake, that unique and delightful pianist, will be playing the music of Stevie Wonder and Stan Kenton in a solo performance at UJC's Jazz Center of N.Y. (11/30), which will also be the site of a grant-writing seminar for musicians (12/4), and a pair of fundraising bazaars (12/1&15) . . . The Dean Pratt Big Band has a home — they're at the Jazz Hall of Fame, a new club in town, every Sun . . . Pianist Ken Werner will offer "My Music," a Symphony Space concert (12/6) that will feature such guests as Chico Freeman, Bill Frisell, Joe Lovano, Jerome Harris and others . . . The Village Gate, which has been on-again/off-again with its jazz bookings, brings in Jitterbug Jazz, a revue that features the Harlem Blues & Jazz Band and Mama Lu Parks & Her Savoy Lindyhoppers (weekends through Dec.).

BOPPING AROUND, THE WORLD — The Central Illinois Jazz Festival will bring a ton of traditionalists — including Marty Grosz, Dick Wellstood, Barrett Deems, Al Grey and Milt Hinton — to the Decatur, IL Holiday Inn Conference Resort, Jan. 24-26. The affair — the 11th — is this year dedicated to the late pianist Johnny Guarnieri; details can be had by phoning (217) 422-8800 . . . The Jazz Club of Sarasota, FL brings Spanky Davis, Johnny Mince, Major Holley and others to the Sunshine State for a "Dixieland Holiday," Dec. 28; Holley'll even be doing his "Tubby the Tuba" bit for the Sarasota kiddies . . . The Mid-America Jazz Festival will bring Jay McShann, Ralph Sutton, and many others to St. Louis, March 21-23; write to P.O. Box 28274, St. Louis, MI 63132 for the lowdown.

FEATURE PICKS

MORE MISTLETOE MAGIC — Various — Palo Alto PA 8047 — Producers: Various — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Herb Wong, Palo Alto's former president, liked to finish off sessions by having a Christmas number recorded. This, the second volume of swinging holiday cheer, features such festive offerings as McCoy Tyner's "Silent Night," Chico Freeman's "The Christmas Song" and "God Rest Ye Swingin' Gentlemen," Dianne Reeves' "The Christmas Waltz," and Sheila Jordan/Harvie Swartz' haunting medley of "God Rest Ye . . ." and "We Three Kings." There are also appropriate offerings from Phil Woods, David Friesen, Rare Silk and others — not a humbug in the bunch.

I'M IN LOVE AGAIN — Keely Smith — Fantasy F-9639 — Producer: Richard Bock — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Keely Smith? Yep, and in good voice and backed by a swinging bunch of west coast vets, including Bud Shank, Bill Perkins, Bob Cooper, Monty Budwig and Bobby Shew. Classic American pop singing — with a jazz flavor — that displays, as William B. Williams' liner notes suggest, "taste, talent and class." A good choice of material (mostly standards) and a lot of solo space highlight this return by a former 52nd St. mainstay.

SEE THROUGH SPIRITS — Herbie Mann — Atlantic 7 81285-1 — Producer: Herbie Mann — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Herbie Mann's relationship with Atlantic is once again revved up for this attractive, latin-tinged effort. Mann, a jazz/rock fusion pioneer, tootles his flute in the fine company of Dave Valentin, David Newman, Manolo Badrena, and other this-way-that players. Guitarist Odonel Levy, a longtime Mann man, contributes half the pieces.

TALENT ON STAGE

Oingo Boingo

THE GREEK THEATRE, L.A. — L.A.'s own Oingo Boingo doesn't play any romantic ballads. There is nothing soft and sweet about Oingo Boingo, and those who weren't looking for a show that reeks of cynicism and computer age impatience were in the wrong place at Oingo Boingo's Saturday evening Greek Theatre show. Those in the mood for a speedball boost of biting lyrics and frenetic musicianship found that and much, much more.

The energy of Oingo Boingo could drive a turbine. If the lights at the Greek Theatre suddenly went off, Oingo Boingo would probably have glowed in the dark. Such was the level of excitement of Oingo Boingo, whose Saturday night audience did not sit down.

Lead singer Danny Elfman's unmistakable charisma led the show. The manic thrill of Elfman's unusual vocal style drove this act's tunes with seemingly effortless punctuality. And while Elfman's unique vocal approach can be appreciated from recordings, the singer's live handling of The Greek Theatre stage was charged with vitality. Compared to last year's less satisfying appearance at L.A.'s Palace, Elfman works best in a larger space, and plays best to large crowds. A livelier, more genuine communication was the result.

And whether or not Elfman actually prefers a large space, the songs were in better shape technically. New tunes from the band's new LP for MCA Records, sardonically titled "Dead Man's Party," showed few new directions musically, (except for an increase in melodiousness with a less frantic new song "Stay"), though precision arrangements and tight musicianship ruled. The faultless trumpet of Dale Turner gave a staccato brass edge to the evening, along with the burning saxophone of Sam Phipps and Leon Schneiderman. The guitar wizardry of Steve Bartek was complimented by John Avila's churning bass, each lending a driving rock sound to Oingo Boingo's otherwise brassy ska and techno-jazz. Clocking the band's breakneck tempos were John Hernandez' strict drums and Mike Bacich's churning keyboards.

Elfman's high-energy stage presence included a frolicsome jig, danced to the action-packed "No One Lives Forever." The melding of musical styles was never more evidenced than on "Help Me," from the new LP, which featured an R&B chorus with its thumping bass and grinding rock guitar. Back up vocalists Lynda Tucker Lawrence and Sundray Tucker filled out the Oingo Boingo sound on this and other tunes. Late in the show, and with a seemingly renewed zest for them, the band plowed through such early crowd pleasers as "Little Girls" and "Ain't This The Life" but not before a smooth delivery of "Weird Science," the movie soundtrack tune (also included on the new album) which has finally given this local L.A. act the kind of national attention it deserves.

Tango Argentino

MARK HELLINGER THEATRE, N.Y.C. — What do you think of when you hear the word tango? Rudolph Valentino? "Hernando's Hideaway?" "Last Tango in Paris?" "It takes two to tango?" forget it. The tango, the real stuff, is a century old song and dance movement from Argentina that is not just a dance — and it's a wickedly torrid dance, not just a music — and it's a churning, heart-pumping music, but an attitude. An attitude of elegance, insouciance and raw sexual energy.

Tango Argentino, the revue that has just landed on Broadway, features a tango smorgasbord: seven riveting dance couples, four gut-wrenching singers and a sizzling stageband. Nothing is explained — the dancers come on and do their leg-twisting, steamy thing, the singers come on and pour out their guts (I'm talking deep-rooted tsouris — "Balada Para Mi Muerte" is translated in the Playbill as "I'll toss the cloak of dawn around my shoulders, my next to last whiskey will age in its glass, my death, in love, will arrive on a tango step, and I will die precisely at six o'clock"), the orchestra, which is centered around several torrid bandoneons — a squeezebox — chugs out one glistening melody after another. That's it. Yet the evening snaps you up. The intense sensuality of the couples — none can be singled out, though the longest-in-the-tooth couple, the overweight, yet graceful, Virulazo and Elvira, were particularly charming, and Naanin Timoyko was dazzling in a featured ballet; the woes of the vocalists — especially the small, tragic (in a Garland/Piaf sort of way) Alba Solis; and the utter commitment of the orchestra (an augmented version of the Sexteto Mayor) and its charismatic bandoneonist, Jose Libertella, carry you away to a strange, dangerous world.

Tango Argentino is musically and terpsichorally breathtaking, enchanting and very, very hot.

Connie Francis

THE BEVERLY THEATRE, L.A. — Comeback shows are risky at best to say that they are often fraught with disaster is a generality to which Connie Francis' opening night show here proved no exception. It was a harrowing event. And while Francis' fans stayed with their faltering heroine 'til the last, there was little in the singer's Friday night show to satisfy listeners who came unarmed with nostalgic earplugs.

With humor, and with the poise of one of the largest selling female pop singers in the history of recorded music, Francis did much to boost her wobbly comeback show.

Her efforts were prey to a series of fatal technical flaws which no amount of candor could remedy. A dead microphone, glicks in the amplifiers, a botched film clip cue — all were problems Francis' largely humorous banter could not ameliorate.

Nor was it a buffer for obvious vocal shortcomings. Her opener, Peter Cetera and David Foster's "You're My Inspiration," was off-key. Lyrics on many tunes were slurred. And while several of the singer's high notes came off sounding tinny, Francis' voice is basically as good as it ever was.

Her full orchestra backing, under the direction of Vinnie Falcone, gave faithful accompaniment to the singer's seemingly ageless deliveries of such Francis standards as "Where The Boys Are," "Lipstick On Your Collar" and "Stupid Cupid." It was a sentimental show, brimming with video segments from Francis' heyday. In what could have been the nostalgic high point of the show, Francis sang her 1958 hit single "Whose Sorry Now," in its entirety, to a dead microphone. A disappointed audience loudly encouraged her to sing it again, which she did, but the effect was lost.

A highly dramatic rendition of "Memory," from Broadway's Cats, included comical wafts of steam and an odd synthesizer blast (intended as a wind sound effect), accompanied by an ill-advised soprano backup vocal. The song itself proved beyond the Francis voice range.

Despite these, and other embarrassments during Francis' opening of her two night engagement here, the singer has maintained a heartwarming relationship with a public that openly adores her. Friday's Connie Francis was a performer that, regardless of the evening's adversity, was eager to please. It was that eagerness, coupled with a pert sense of humor and her deft handling of old school show biz rhetoric which, if her show failed, helped enhance the mystique that has grown through her long absence from recording.

Memphis Slim

McCABE'S, SANTA MONICA, CA — At the age of seventy, Memphis Slim is one of the few surviving first-generation bluesmen. Although he was a major influence on the blues scene in Chicago in the forties and fifties, somewhere around the sixties he got tired of hustling for small change and the lack of respect paid to him here, so he moved to Europe and never came back. He's settled in France now, where he's treated like a king, making the yearly round of Europe's major music festivals and basking in the recognition he so richly deserves. His performance at McCabe's marked his first Los Angeles appearance since a near-fatal illness last year which left him, despite several months' hospitalization, little the worse for wear.

The show was a triumph from beginning to end. Seated at a grand piano, Slim (and his accompanist, drummer George Collier) turned in over an hour of blues, playing an elegant, understated set that reflected his versatility. He sang his classic "Every Day I Have The Blues" early on, as if to get it over with, and then plunged into a set of standards, R&B classics and even a movie theme or two. He also led the audience in a blues sing-along on the spur of the moment, teaching them the bass part while he played a pounding boogie accompaniment. His voice is rich and strong as ever, and his way with a slow blues ballad brought the capacity crowd to its feet for the first of several encores. "I am the blues," he told them at one point, "and this is the REAL THING you're hearing here."

The evening was opened by a very different kind of piano blues from New Orleans genius Henry Butler. His set, which ranged from Professor Longhair-influenced R&B to some wildly experimental jazz and blues vocalizing, was recorded for possible future release by Dancing Cat Records.

PolyGram To Adopt Video Charges

By Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES — PolyGram Records plans to launch its own pay-for-play video clip policy, it has been confirmed by a source at the label, while the company remains mute on the terms of the policy, or exactly when it will be adopted. Apparently, all aspects of the plan have not as yet been fully developed.

PolyGram will be the third record label to adopt a pay for play policy, designed to charge TV video outlets for the use of music videos. PolyGram follows CBS Records and WEA, who instituted policies earlier this year.

CBS was the first record label to announce pay for play plans, having paved the way for other labels last spring. In doing so, however, CBS was also the brunt of widespread criticism over its flat pay rate for all outlets. The company eventually revised its plan to stratify its payment schedule commensurate to outlet visibility and popularity of artists. WEA's policy is equally stratified.

According to industry insiders, PolyGram's silence over its new plan is the result of what was perceived as a public relations blunder on behalf of CBS Records in speaking too soon about their policy. PolyGram executives are making every effort to avoid any undercooked information in the media. Reportedly, PolyGram will introduce its new plan January 1, 1986, though sources at the label refused to confirm or deny that report. A source at the label said only that PolyGram's policy will be "nothing like" the policies of CBS and WEA, and that no written materials have been sent to the TV outlets, though many have been notified of the label's pending policy. An official announcement is said to be expected before the end of the year.

Pete Townshend Releases White City Album And Video

By Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES — Until their appearance at this summer's Live Aid concert, The Who have all but disbanded since their "farewell tour" in 1982. Meanwhile, guitarist Pete Townshend, known for his guitar-smashing on-stage antics, has been busy developing a project of his own, a film and album centering thematically around Townshend's childhood home, the London district of White City.

With the concurrent release of Townshend's album, "White City" on Atco/Atlantic, and his home video, Pete Townshend: White City, from Vestron MusicVideo, Townshend has tied the film, music video and record knot. The home video, rather than a mere compilation of videos from the album, or a loosely-scripted, vague storylined excuse for such a compilation, is a short feature film, an hour in length, in which Townshend performs only three songs from the album — and these being live performances that figure into the film's plot.

Produced by Midnight Films and The Callender Company, under the auspices of Townshend's own recording production company, Eel Pie, the film will be released by Vestron MusicVideo November 27. Its basic premise is the story of a working class couple (Frances Barber and Andrew Wilde) from White City whose marriage is on the rocks. Townshend, who plays a successful musician, tries to patch things up between them, while attempting to rediscover his roots.

"In the film I play very much myself," said Townshend of his role. "It's based on somebody my age (40) with my accomplishments. Somebody who has travelled around the world and come back to try and find, I suppose, some roots."

The film is admittedly semi-autobiographical. In dealing with such personal subject matter, Townshend chose Australian film director Richard Lowenstein after seeing the youthful director's first feature film, Strikebound. Lowenstein adapted Townshend's script early in the year, and had it before the cameras by summer.

The idea for White City came to Townshend in 1984, as a project to release along with an album. "I went back to White City on a summer's morning at dawn," said Townshend. "I walked around. When the children began to emerge to go to school the forbidding streets changed; bubbling with life and enthusiasm, black and white kids walked arm in arm. It seemed a better place to live than I remembered."

As the idea gelled, so did other ideas, such as going out on the road with it. "I thought about going out with a kind of video-music stage set of some sort," explained Townshend. And while multimedia live performances haven't been ruled out by the former Who member, he is contented with the way the White City project has evolved.

In describing how Lowenstein and company approached the making of White City, Townshend said, "Filmmakers in the past have predominately been interested in visual images telling a story, and not attending to the fact that music creates a tremendous emotional setting — and this should be considered very early in the process. I think some of the best filmmakers know this."

The project was worked on by a crew from varied media, each bringing his or her special insight to it. According to executive producer Colin Callender, it was this diversity that has made White City an innovative combination of influences. "For example," said Callender, "it was great to see sound engineers from different media working together to develop innovative recording techniques with live sound." Callender called the finished soundtrack "spectacular."

For Vestron MusicVideo, White City is another first for a company that has virtually paved the way for home music video with the success of The Making of Michael Jackson's Thriller in 1984. Townshend's album-movie home video has been called "exciting" by Vestron MusicVideo's vice president Ian Ralfini, who realizes the newness of the format. "I hope we can talk to other artists about doing similar projects," he told Cash Box.

Palfi's Video Seeks To Set The Record Straight On Creach

By David Adelson

LOS ANGELES — More than likely, when the name Papa John Creach pops up, one's thoughts tend to turn to the charismatic father figure who rose to international prominence through stints with such bands as Hot Tuna and the Jefferson Starship.

More likely than that, the average person would be hard pressed to recall the hundreds of projects the 68 year old fiddler has contributed to during his long and prestigious career.

Well, along comes "Video documentarian" Stevenson Palfi, a long time fan of Creach, and he decides that it's time to tell the whole story of a man who has successfully mastered virtually every form of popular American music.

The one hour video is tentatively titled Setting The Record Straight, and is currently scheduled for nationwide broadcast over PBS in the Spring of 1986. Some may remember Palfi as the creator of 1984's Piano Players Rarely Ever Play Together, a touching look at three generations of New Orleans piano masters Isadore "Tuts" Washington, Henry "Professor Longhair" Byrd and Allen Toussaint. That video documentary has run an unprecedented three times on PBS.

Piano Players looked at the influence of each generation on the other and it displayed a sensitivity and understanding of the life of a "Roots" musician. That video was to end with all three players gathering on the same stage to perform. Professor Longhair died three days before that performance.

Palfi has approached the Creach project in the same way. He has spent the last 18 months matching Creach with the best musicians in various areas of American music, thus demonstrating that the 68 year old musician is indeed a master in his own right, even if most people think of him as that old fiddler from Hot Tuna or the Starship.

"It's definitely an irony that he's known nationally and internationally for playing the least challenging music he's ever played," said Palfi. "Since the documentary's themes are expressed through the musician's own words, the only way I could address that irony is for Papa John to admit once and for all that it was the least challenging music he's performed. It took him a while but, yes, he has finally done that."

The video will feature performances with such artists as George Winston and Jorma Kaukonen and will relate the artist's early history with such touring bands as the Chocolate Music Bars (yes, that's the name). "He came from the Parisian Room where blues musicians made very little money," Palfi remarked. "He may have packed houses but he earned little from his performances and records."

"From a philosophical standpoint, he is always learning," Palfi continued. "He always has the desire to learn new styles."

Palfi was faced with an interesting situation when he began the project. "The responsibility of a project such as this is overwhelming," he said. "How can you do justice to 68 years of a man's life and genius in one hour? I don't really try. I have sought to bring out the versatility of Papa John. To show a renaissance musician who has mastered many styles and continually has the desire to learn and expand."

"It's a question of whether I can present the right hour or the wrong hour. Palfi continued. "The wrong hour is less than worthless, it's detrimental. I'm not really interested in the negative part of his life. I'm interested in presenting the story of a man who everyone can learn from. It's an opportunity for Papa John to set the record straight."

Stevenson Productions is located at 3227 Banks Street, New Orleans, Louisiana 70119 (504)822-7678.

Geldof Launches Fund Raiser

LOS ANGELES — Recording artist Bob Geldof, founder of the USA For Africa famine relief project, recently launched a Christmas fund-raising campaign in London with the ceremonial switching on of traditional Christmas lights along that city's famed Oxford Street, it has been reported.

The initial switch throwing was executed by Geldof's 2-year-old daughter, beginning a Christmas season campaign in the famed shopping district hoped to raise $1 million from charitable shoppers. Geldof's efforts for Ethiopian famine relief are already said to have raised some $80 million for the cause.

Frank Talk From Zappa On Politics And Music, Yesterday And Today

By Paul Iorio

NEW YORK — The following is an interview with Frank Zappa, conducted by Cash Box on November 4, 1985.

C.B.: How did you ever manage to get a record deal in 1965 with a double concept album?

Zappa: Tom Wilson, who was the producer of the "Freak Out" album, came to see us at the Whiskey A Go Go. Johnny Rivers used to play there for years and years but he was off on tour and he left his sign outside to draw people in the club. Surprise! Well we were playing this boogie number we used to play at the time and Tom Wilson walked in and said, "hey, a white blues band. Terrific. You're signed." Our advance was $2,500 to be divided between five guys. The biggest record advance at that time was for the Jefferson Airplane and you know what they got? $25,000. The first song we recorded was "Anyway The Wind Blows." Wilson had no idea what the material was like because he'd heard only one song in the club. But he got into it. The double album was an accident. Wilson tried to educate the people that there was something other than Herman and the Hermits but to no avail. The album did about 40,000 units in the first year which is pretty much of a flop. But by the time of the second album they really put the screws to us. The reason "Absolutely Free" did better was because we moved to New York and promoted it there. And it was that LP that made the most impact at the time.

C.B.: Bob Dylan, the Rolling Stones and the Beatles — what did you think of them then and what do you think of them now?

Zappa: There's two albums I like by Bob Dylan: "Highway Sixty One" and I don't remember what the other one was. And since that time he became a Christian and I was put off a little bit. In the '60s I really liked the Rolling Stones. In fact I liked them more than the Beatles. My favorite Stones album is "Between The Buttons." As far as the Beatles go, I've got three favorite Beatles songs: "I Am The Walrus," "Strawberry Fields," and "Paperback Writer." Other than that I was not a Beatles fan.

C.B.: How about your relation to rock 'n' roll? Is there ever going to be a day when you get on stage and play "Johnny B. Goode"?

Zappa: Well listen, I was playing rock 'n' roll when "Johnny B. Goode" was released. I've already played "Johnny B. Goode."

C.B.: Do you think that a band that doesn't know how to play their instruments can create great musical art?

Zappa: Sure. I saw a group on MTV last night that was really terrific. I don't know if they'll ever make another record again but they were called The Pogues. I thought "Dirty Old Town" was a great song.

C.B.: Why don't you do videos?

Zappa: Because one video costs as much to make as an entire album. Remember, I'm the guy who makes the record and then I have to pay to have it pressed and shipped. I have a limited budget to do what I do. Besides, my pictorial ideas may not meet the standards of MTV.

C.B.: Do you think that your political activities will stifle your music?

Zappa: Most people couldn't give a fk what I'm doing musically anyway so it doesn't really matter. Secondly I'm about to make a three record deal with Angel to do some classical albums. At least half the material on the "Mothers of Prevention" album is instrumentals.

C.B.: You said on a recent radio talk show that you would not have participated in Live Aid. Why?

Mr. Zappa

Zappa: I don't like movements or organizations because ultimately I think they defeat themselves. A movement or committee winds up being for the glorification of the guy who runs it. And the theory that originally set the thing in motion usually goes by the wayside. If you want to fight what's going on now it has to be done on an individual basis. Also, where is the guarantee that the money went where it is supposed to go?

C.B.: How about your own funding — who is funding your political activities?

Zappa: I'll list all the donations I've received. I got a 50 dollar check from a guy in Ohio. A thousand dollar check from Jam Productions in Chicago. And so far I've spent maybe 40 thousand dollars of my own money for travel, phones, mailings and the rest. No Heritage Foundation. No union. No industry. No nothing.

C.B.: Have you ever considered running for office?

Zappa: What would be the desired objective of running for office? The office itself is not appealing. Who in the fk wants to do that? I'm interested in having a better life for myself and for the rest of the people in the country. I think I can accomplish more by sitting around doing this than doing something in a political framework. To me this is better politics. The idea of running for office is really nauseating.

C.B.: Why did you choose to champion the anti-censorship cause?

Zappa: Because I'm a record company owner, a publisher, a songwriter and a performer and it's a frontal attack on the way I earn my living. It also has a deeper meaning in terms of its constitutional aspects.

C.B.: Do you believe the RIAA/PMRC agreement will resolve this problem?

Zappa: First of all there's no problem. The premise that they're working on is that this music causes bad things to happen and there's no science to support that. They're actively engaged in a propaganda move to convince parents who have never even listened to this music that the mere hearing of it causes death and suicide. There's no science to that.

C.B.: Suppose your daughter were in her bedroom at 10 years old listening to "Fk Like A Beast." Would you find that objectionable?

Zappa: Well I wouldn't because at five and six years old they have these little books that have pictures in it that explain reproduction. Children should know how it works. So my kids are not sexually ignorant. If they hear "Fk Like A Beast" at least if you know what the basics of reproduction are you know that it's just a cartoon version of what the real deal is. It's nothing to be afraid of. Do you think that a 10 year old who hears "Fk Like A Beast" is going to go out and do that?

Capitol Moves To Pull American Edition Beatles LPs From the Shelves

LOS ANGELES — In a move which has reportedly been made to standardize the packaging of the Beatles' first 10 LPs, Capitol Records has announced that it is taking final orders for the label's earliest Beatles releases.

What will be available some time next year in their place will be the original British editions — seven complete albums. In a report which appeared in the November 13 edition of the Los Angeles Times, Capitol president Don Zimmermann explained that while the original U.K. Beatles albums were released on the Parlophone label, they were repackaged for various international territories. With that freedom, Capitol withheld three tracks from each new LP and compiled the "leftover" tracks onto other albums. "Help!," "Revolver" and "Rubber Soul" will remain intact, while "Meet The Beatles," "The Beatles Second Album," "Something New," "Beatles 65," "The Early Beatles," "Beatles VI" and "Yesterday ... And Today" will be replaced by "Please, Please Me," "With The Beatles," "A Hard Day's Night" and "Beatles For Sale."

Reports that Capitol is pulling the American editions from the shelves for good to spur sales or that the move is being made as a corollary to Paul McCartney's recent signing to the label were denied by Zimmermann.

Capitol has also announced that it will be releasing the first domestic Beatles CDs very soon, with titles including "Abbey Road," "The White Album," "Sgt. Peppers Lonely Hearts Club Band," and "The Beatles' 1966-66" and "The Beatles' 1967-1970."

CBS Records Cuts Costs; Pinkslips 40

LOS ANGELES — In what has been termed by a CBS spokesman as "part of an on-going cost-effectiveness program," 40 CBS Records employees from the New York, Los Angeles and Nashville operations were given pinkslips on Friday, November 8.

While most positions terminated were of the "administrative nature," A&R, marketing and product development were among the departments hit, and the move seems to be in keeping with the relatively slow moving sales year the company has had. The Records Division is also suffering something of a backlash after banner years in 1983 and '84 which included income from Michael Jackson's "Thriller" LP which has sold over 50 million copies. The CBS Records parent corporation, CBS Inc., has cut staff in other areas, and while denials have been made as to more cuts, reports are that pinkslips will be handed out through the end of 1985.

The CBS spokesman also said, "the cuts enable us to keep costs in line, and while it is regrettable to have to terminate some positions, certain jobs must go. Most involved in this cut were of the administrative, support nature."

While recent developments regarding Ted Turner's attempted takeover of CBS and the Records Division's pull-out from the Compact Disc manufacturing facility it initiated with Sony have pointed towards an overall tightening of the financial reins, a look at the LP and singles charts also shows a weak standing musically for the Division. With only two singles in the Top 20 and two albums — though one of them is Bruce Springsteen's top-selling "Born In The U.S.A." — in the Top 20 of Cash Box's Top 200 Albums chart, the Records Division is well below its normal chart standing.

While one label source reported that 25 more positions were to be cut last Friday, the official CBS spokesman said he was "unaware" of this.

Wherehouse Reports Loss — Kwiker Cities Inventory Shrinkage

LOS ANGELES — Wherehouse Entertainment, Inc. (ASE-WEI) has announced results for the three month period ended September 30, 1985.

Revenues rose to a first quarter level of $39,110,000 compared to $29,171,000 in the same quarter a year ago, an increase of 34%. Net income was down, $754,000 compared to $1,054,000 in the prior year period. Earnings per share were 10 cents down from 17 cents a year earlier on 1,052,000 higher average shares outstanding.

Prior year numbers have been restated to reflect the 5-for-4 stock split to be paid November 13, 1985 to shareholders of record October 11, 1985.

Louis A. Kwiker, president and chief executive officer, stated that, "Revenues continued strong through the quarter. Video rental and pre-recorded music revenues both registered substantial increases. With more video cassette recorders in American homes, the demand for movie rentals continues to increase. We have increased our selection and total movie inventory to satisfy this demand. Sales of compact discs are accelerating and are becoming a meaningful part of the pre-recorded music business."

Adams, Hart Pick Up Top Junos

By Grant Lawrence

TORONTO — The 1985 Juno Awards aired live on CBC Monday, November 4, from the Harbour Castle Convention Centre in Toronto. The Awards were presented by the non-profit Canadian Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences — CARAS — with sponsorship from a number of large corporations, particularly Molsons of Canada. The success of the Canadian music industry is the reason for the month-in-advance sellout.

Bryan Adams walked on stage for Best Album of the Year, "Reckless," composer of the year with Jim Valance and Best Male Vocalist. Acknowledged as the reigning king of Canadian rock, Adams performed with Tina Turner the duet "It's Only Love" after Turner strutted her stuff on "One of the Living." Early last month Adams and Valance were honored by the Performing Rights Organization of Canada for their writing.

Rob Quarty, of Champagne Productions, repeated last year's feat and took the Juno for Best Video — Larry Gowan's Criminal Mind while the Parachute Club was named Group of the Year. Lead singer Lorraine Segato was unable to attend because of an appendix operation. Most Promising Group went to the west coast band Idle Eyes, which is receiving airplay for their second release "Two Rivers."

Most promising Male and Female Vocalist went to Paul Janz and the zany K.D. Lang, who performed "Hanky Panky" then later accepted the award in a wedding gown, respectively. Luba accepted the award for Best Female Vocalist of the Year soon after her solo performance "Let It Go" from the "Secret and Sins" album.

Corey Hart was honored with "Never Surrender" taking Single of the Year. Hart was also nominated for Album of the Year with "Boy in the Box," Male Vocalist of the Year, and the Rob Quarty produced Never Surrender video.

In the R&B/Soul recording category Liberty Silver received the Juno for her talents on the single "Lost Somewhere Inside Your Love." Liberty Silver returned to the stage for Best Reggae/Calypso Recording Juno "Heaven Must Have Sent You," with collaborator Otis Gayle.

The highlight of the evening came when the Chairman of the Board for Northern Lights for Africa Society, David Foster, presented a special Juno from the music industry to Prime Minister Brian Mulroney. Prime Minister Mulroney accepted the award on behalf of all Canadians for their support and $2.5 million contribution to Northern Lights. Foster, who accepted Producer of the Year for "Chicago 17," said, "in the past 9 months there has been more cooperative support from all those involved in the music and video industry than ever before."

Mr. Wilf Carter, a.k.a. Montana Slim, was named to the Canadian Music Hall of Fame for his singing and recording career that spans more than fifty years.

Classical Recording of the Year for small ensemble and large ensemble went to the well-established Orford String Quartet, and Charles Dutoit and the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, respectively. Don Thompson's "A Beautiful Friendship" received the Jazz Album Juno, while The Canadian Brass won the Juno for Instrumental Artist(s) of the Year.

In the country world Murray McLauchlan and Anne Murray were both honored as Country Vocalist of the Year. Ottawa's Family Brown received the Country Group of the Year Juno.

Engineer, Hayward Parrott, was rewarded for his work on "Underworld; The Front." Children's Album of the Year went to Robert Munsch.

International Single of the Year went to Foreigner for "I Want To Know What Love Is," and International Record of the Year went to Bruce Springsteen for "Born in the U.S.A."

Special mention should go to CBS recording artist Larry Gowan who was nominated for Album of the Year — "Strange Animal," Single of the Year — "A Criminal Mind," Male Vocalist of the Year, and second nomination for the video "(You're a) Strange Animal." The Album cover, designed and produced by Rob McIntyre and Dimo Safari, was awarded a Juno for Album Graphics of the Year.

LONDON — Last week ASCAP held its annual awards dinner to honour members of the PRS. London's Claridges Hotel was the venue, both president Hal David and managing director Gloria Messinger attended. Among those present receiving awards were Billy Ocean for "Caribbean Queen," Bananarama for "Cruel Summer," Jon Moss for Culture Club's "It's A Miracle" and "Karma Chameleon," and Chrissie Hynde for "Middle of the Road."

PRS chairman Vivian Ellis gave a speech of appreciation. Tim Rice was guest of honour and gave a speech where he tried very hard to restrain his usual jokes about Andrew Lloyd Webber.

Former Who guitarist, now elder statesman of rock, Peter Townshend gave a magnificent charity performance in Brixton last weekend, with David Gilmour. The show featured tracks from his "White City" album — written by Townsend with some contribution from ex-Pink Floyd member, Gilmour. A full length video of "White

Chrysalis Signs Pact With China Label

LOS ANGELES — Chris Wright, chairman of Chrysalis Group P.L.C., has announced that Chrysalis Records has entered into an exclusive, long term agreement to distribute and market China Records worldwide. China Records is a new, London-based venture formed by Derek Green, who was previously managing director of A&M Records U.K., and was responsible for signing some of that company's most stellar acts, including the Police, Joe Jackson and Supertramp.

The first Chrysalis/China signing to be released in the U.S. in an LP from Art of Noise. Comprised of Anne Dudley, Gary Langan and J.J. Jeczalik, Art of Noise's first U.S. single is a 12" entitled "Legs" (b/w "Hoops and Mallets") which will be released on November 20. Regarding the Chrysalis/China partnership Wright remarked: "It is a great pleasure to be associated with Derek Green, one of the most forward-thinking and talented record men in the business. Chrysalis has a long-standing tradition of finding and developing important new artists, and the opportunity to work with the China Records roster worldwide is a thrilling and rewarding one for our staff and licensees."

Miguel Smirnoff

Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — Rock artist Roque Narvaja will be arriving next month in Argentina to stay here 'till the end of February, it was reported to Cash Box by impresario and manager Fernando Iborra. Three tours covering various parts of the country have been scheduled, and Narvaja will also appear at a TV Telethon in Santiago de Chile. In Cosquin, site of the well known Folk Song Festival, he will appear at the Musical Week that will follow this year's event. EMI reports good sales for Narvaja's latest album, and a strong promotional campaign is being launched.

Joan Manuel Serrat will also come to Argentina, to appear in Mar del Plata, Cordoba, Mendoza and other cities, usually performing at soccer fields. The last date will be in Buenos Aires, February 21, and RCA is rush-releasing his latest album, "El Sur Tambien Existe." The diskery is also working hard on the new Miguel Gallardo LP, which is enjoying good sales in several provinces.

with a group of people. And then performing it and going through a period of having an audience that was in a sense left over from LaBelle, some of whom ran out of the club screaming, "What is she doing?"

Nona's three RCA LPs — "Nona," "The Art Of Defense," and "The Heat" — show a mature artist with a keen sense of herself and her music. The music has a beat and you can dance to it, but it also speaks about political and social rights and wrongs.

"I was talking to two people last night who were saying that entertainment is just entertainment, it should be just entertainment, and anyone who thinks of themselves as an artist, a serious artist, and thinks that they're saying anything with any depth is fooling themselves. I think the world is filled with variety — that's why we just don't have all roses. That's why we need all kinds of people, all kinds of music. To say that music should just be one thing is ridiculous — it's like only eating potatoes all your life. So when people say that to me, that's my answer to them: something is borne out of a need, it doesn't just appear — it appears because there's a vacuum and it must be filled. I think you can, as an artist, have many parts to you. You can write a song that's purely frivolous and lighthearted, and it serves a purpose, or you can be angry and write a song about anger. It's all food for the mind, of some sort."

That's why "The Heat" has rhythmic heat, melodic heat, and socio-political heat, and that's why Nona Hendryx has kept her place in a fickle and often frivolous business. Her work continues to grow, her reputation continues to grow, and her audience continues to grow. She may sweat going through the motions — but the perspiration is backed with a solid base of inspiration.

Television Music

remarked, citing the enormous success of so many recent soundtracks. "On Fame, music is used in many cases to drive the story forward, and songs are more important to us now than ever before. In fact, we're having twice as many written and recorded now as we did two years ago." For Jones, like the others, "the danger is if too many songs are force-fed into shows which don't call for that type of approach. If that occurs, the producers are depending too much on effects, and are likely to lose their show's vital emotional content."

Next week, the creator of Hollywood Beat; a top executive at Stephen Cannell Productions; and a partner in a leading music agency discuss the pop music on television trend, and its probable future.

AROUND THE ROUTE

By Camille Compasio

In the words of this observer and the many trade people we contacted both during and after the convention, AMOA Expo '85 was a terrific show in the sense that it succeeded in furthering the positive attitude that began to surface just prior to opening day. People came to the show with a good feeling. You could sense this as you toured the exhibit floor — and it affected the entire atmosphere of the Hyatt Regency . . . Total attendance at this year's Expo came awfully close to 7500 (7438 was the exact count we received at presstime). This figure reflects a slight increase over last year, which is another important factor and, while an operator count was not yet available, AMOA officials reported a significant increase in operator attendance. The total number of exhibiting companies was 179, the total number of booths was 441 and, we understand, the Awards Banquet on Saturday night (11/2) drew a packed house. Smith Bucklin, the association's management firm that administered Expo '85, rates a giant salute for getting the show together so efficiently in the brief time span since their appointment . . . The coin-op industry is undergoing a period of recovery and the prognosis

Springsteen Sweeps JB Awards

CHICAGO — Bruce Springsteen was the big winner of the annual Amusement & Music Operators Association's 1985 Jukebox (JB) Awards. He received top honors for "Born In The USA" as Rock Record of the Year and also won as Popular Artist of the Year. The awards presentation took place on Saturday evening (11/2) during the AMOA Awards Banquet, at the close of AMOA Expo '85 in Chicago.

Receiving the Most Played Video Game honor in the 1985 Games Award competition was Bally Midway's "Spy Hunter." Winner of the Outstanding Cigarette Vending Promotion Award was R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (Winston-Salem, NC). And for the fourth consecutive year the Cougar Cheyenne Model 32 pool table, manufactured by The Valley Co. (Bay City, MI) received the Most Popular Pool Table honor in the Games Award competition.

All of the above awards are voted on by members of AMOA who are operators of coin-operated amusement and music equipment in thousands of commercial locations and arcades across the country. Winners reflect top revenue producers in each award category.

The complete list of winners are: Best Rock Record of the Year — Born in the USA (Bruce Springsteen CBS); Best Pop Record of the Year — We Are The World (USA for Africa CBS); Best Country Record of the Year — Seven Spanish Angels (Ray Charles CBS); Best Soul Record of the Year — What's Love Got To Do With It (Tina Turner Capitol/EMI) and Most Popular Artist of the Year — Bruce Springsteen (CBS).

The Games Awards winners are: Most Played Video Game — Spy Hunter (Bally Midway); Most Played Pinball Game — Space Shuttle (Williams); Most Popular Pool Table — Cougar Cheyenne Model 32 (Valley); Most Popular Arcade Game — VS System (Nintendo) and Most Popular Route Game — Karate Champ (Data East).

Rowe Signs A&M For Video Jukebox Programs

CHICAGO — Rowe International, Inc. has signed a basic software agreement with A&M Records to provide video clips of A&M artists for the Rowe video jukebox.

"We have worked hard with the people at A&M in Los Angeles to make this deal happen, and want to express our sincerest gratitude to them for all of their help," stated Michael L. Reinart, director of video operations. "Bringing on artists such as Sting, The Police, Herb Alpert, Bryan Adams and Amy Grant only reinforces Rowe's position as the front-runner in programming for video jukeboxes," he continued. "To emphasize the importance of this addition, we will be featuring a great number of A&M clips on our December tapes."

Rowe currently offers three programs, each with 40 top video selections, for its video jukebox and these include a regular mixed (rock and pop) tape, a Country tape and an Urban Contemporary tape.

More than 450 Rowe video jukeboxes are reportedly in operation throughout the country.

Cash Box Tours The AMOA '85 Exhibits

Persons attending AMOA Expo '85, the association's 36th annual trade convention, which took place October 31-November 2 at the Hyatt Regency Chicago, will certainly agree that the 59,225 sq. ft. of exhibit space was put to good use! This year's event saw a splendid assortment of amusement equipment and a significant number of brand new pieces unveiled expressly for the AMOA audience. Our Cash Box photographer was ever present on the convention floor trying to capture some of the excitement on film.

Is it a coffin? No, it's the Royal Corona coin-op tanning machine which company prexy Bo Hermanson (l) is demonstrating for op visitor Ross Freeman.

The "Pop-A-Shot" basketball game is always a big attraction. Pictured is company prexy Ken Cochran (center) and the booth attendants who handed out caps to high scorers.

Bally Sente's "Stompin'," which plays by feet rather than hands, was a hit of the show, much to the delight of prexy Bob Lundquist (l), who is pictured with CB's George Albert (c), Bernie Powers and their lovely booth hostess.

No question about it, Seeburg did reveal the mechanism for their upcoming compact disc phono at a special showing during Expo. Bob Breither points to the sign in their exhibit which peaked everyone's curiosity.

In addition to the "City II" and "Concert 240" phonos Loewen America showed a diverse assortment of equipment, including their first pool table, surrounded here by firm's Bob Lentz, Ulrich Schulze and CB's George Albert.

"Rock" was one of the crowd pleasers in the Premier Technology exhibit. Monticello, NY operator William Nagoda proudly poses with the new pin.

Rowe's VMEC video jukebox was prominently displayed at Expo, along with the new R-90. Pictured is veepee Joel Friedman (r) with CB's George Albert.

Shuffleboards are doing just beautifully, thank you! And who could be more pleased about it than (l-r) American Shuffleboard's Dick Delfino, Nick Melone and Sol Lipkin.

AND HERE THEY ARE — A highlight of the Williams distributor sales meeting, held in Chicago on October 30, was the introduction of a lineup of new products being prepared for market by the factory. Pictured here are closeups of four of the new models that were on display. "Alley Cat" (photo 1) is the new Williams shuffle alley which offers the unique choice of either pins or bottles. "4-In-One" (photo 2) is the wall mounted conversion game which is easily convertible to football, baseball, soccer or poker and is geared to the street location. "High Noon" (photo 3) is a mechanical gun game with 36 programmable targets and lots of challenging features to attract player interest. The new 5000 pay phone, a first from Williams, (photo 4, l-r) is pictured with John Huddleston, national sales & marketing manager for Williams Telephone Co. Inc. (Wiltelco), the factory's new division, and Wally Smolucha, director of operations-engineering. The factory also had service chief Tom Cahill available in their service booth at AMOA Expo '85 to assist operators and answer questions regarding the new equipment on display at the show.

is encouraging (which was certainly in evidence at AMOA Expo '85), but you have to take it a step at a time. This convention provided an opportunity for manufacturers, distributors and operators to compare notes with their colleagues and what resulted was the realization that each of these levels has been experiencing slightly increased orders, sales and collections — another important factor which helped to further uplift the industry's spirits! . . . There was much to see on the exhibit floor, besides which various factories hosted special presentations both before and during the convention. Seeburg did the next best thing to revealing a prototype of their upcoming compact disc jukebox by presenting the CD mechanism to their distributors at a special after-hours showing. There was a bit of a delay, as Murphy's law took over, but prexy Ed Blankenbeckler handled the situation beautifully and when the CD sound finally came through everyone was most impressed. The room was packed solid for this showing. As Ed commented, the Seeburg family is larger than we thought! . . . The exhibit floor abounded in equipment, though there weren't as many brand new pieces as expected. There were lots of kits and about four or five that attracted special interest. Atari's "Gauntlet" was one of the most talked of and most popular games at the show. In querying conventioners two of the most frequently mentioned pins were Game Plan's "Cyclopes" and Premier's "Rock." Cinematronics had a bit of a legal setback with their new "World Series" game at the start of the show. Fortunately, the matter was cleared by Saturday — and we heard some favorable comments about this new game. Dynamo showed their "Candy Crane," which is built with a low control panel for children. It can vend either candy or little toys — and was among the big attractions in their booth, along with pool and foosball, of course. Another popular piece at Expo was Sega's "Hang On," which was a hit before the convention. Their new "Choplifter" kit was also a big attraction in their exhibit . . .

Loewen America got some strong feedback (and wrote orders) on their Video cabinet and also scored with their pin system, which is still down the road a bit. Latter will initially be sold as a complete game and subsequently backed up with kits. Firm showed their first pool table, which is at least six months away from production, as we learned from prexy Rus Strahan. "Our phonographs went over very well," he added . . . Memetron and Kitcorp drew attention with their kits — and Konami's "Russian Attack" was a big crowd pleaser . . . Data East featured their new "Ring King" as a kit and also as a dedicated game . . . As for something different, Bally Sente's "Stompin' ", which calls for foot control rather than hand control (you stomp on squares with your feet as the action is portrayed on the screen), drew a lot of attention . . . There was a great deal to cover at Expo '85 and, as we go through more of our notes, we will have additional material in next week's column. Suffice to say, though, the key point that was consistently brought out even before the mention of products, was the positive environment and the optimism that prevailed throughout the run of the show! As one distributor put it, "It was refreshing to see so many smiling faces and to engage in conversation that was encouraging rather than depressing." And now let's get caught up on other trade happenings. Atlas Dist. just welcomed three new members to the staff, namely, Jim LaRoux, who'll be covering western Michigan for the distrib; vet technician Kang Lee, who's the new chief video technician out there; and Alan Zeidman, who has developed a marvelous rapport with ops over the years and will put this to good use in Atlas' sales department. These gentlemen were formerly with the Bally organization . . . Understand Bernie Powers recently departed his post as marketing chief for Bally Sente . . . Also learned that the Bally Dist. branch in Indianapolis was recently sold to J & J Dist . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Bally Midwest's Bob Rondeau of Green Bay, who recently underwent surgery . . . Cash Box felicitations to Gus and Sharon Tartol of Singer One Stop For Ops, who are the proud parents of a 6 lbs 13½ oz. baby boy named Daniel Walter!
