EDITORIAL

Communication Is The Key

The recent meeting of the National Association of Record Merchandisers (NARM) in San Diego is proof positive that the most effective way to resolve differences and conflicts is simple communication.

With an ear to the most pressing issues faced by both retailers and manufacturers, people from both facets of the industry sat down and hammered out blueprints for the future. While in the past, differences have often hindered effective communications between retailers and manufacturers, the San Diego meeting showed that open minds and ears on both sides can result in a truly constructive three days of discussion.

Increased support of the NARM Conference was proven by increased attendance, with nearly all of the major record labels and retail chains represented. Such support ensures the future of these meetings, allowing for the kind of open exchange of ideas from which we all benefit.

ON THE COVER

With the release on A&M of Jeffrey Osborne's "Don't Stop" LP, the former LTD lead vocalist is set to become one of the premier male vocalists in pop music. Featuring some of the top session players including Paul Jackson, Jr., Fred Washington, Michael Sembello and George Duke behind the board, "Don't Stop" provides the kind of varied and melodically sophisticated material that shows off Osborne at his very best.

While his last album "Stay With Me Tonight" is still doing very well on Cash Box's album charts, "Don't Stop" and Osborne's latest tour dates have created quite a buzz among industry insiders and consumers. The upbeat title track single debuts this week on Cash Box's B/C single chart at #64 with a bullet and a dance remix of the single is in the wings. Look for Jeffrey Osborne to become one of the brightest stars of 1984.

CBS/Sony Opens First U.S. Compact Disc Plant

by Lee Jeske

NEW YORK — The first compact disc plant in the United States was opened Sept. 21 in Terre Haute, Indiana. A subsidiary of CBS/Sony, the largest record company in Japan, Digital Audio Disc Corporation has the capacity to turn out 300,000 CDs a month, a goal it expects to reach by the end of the year.

With Indiana Governor John Orr calling it "a happy and exciting day for the State of Indiana" and Sony's president and chief operating officer Norio Ohga exclaiming, "Terre Haute is my kind of town," the ribbon-cutting took place before an invited group of CBS and Sony executives, local civic leaders and members of the press.

The plant, which is adjacent to the Columbia Record Club, the largest single employer in Terre Haute, was converted from a CBS tape facility to a laser disc pressing plant with a $21 million investment from CBS/Sony. In addition, a training package of $400,000 was provided by the local Training for Profit Program and the Terre Haute Private Industry Council. By year's end, the plant is expected to employ 150 people.

Digital Audio Disc Corporation will be manufacturing CDs mainly for CBS, but other companies will be able to have their

"Optional" Clause Struck Down By California Court

by David Adelson

LOS ANGELES — In a surprise decision Sept. 17, a California Court of Appeals (Second Appellate District, Division Seven) struck down a core provision of a 65-year-old California law that directly affects record companies' ability to obtain a court injunction barring performers from working anywhere else.

Immediately affected by this decision in the Motown Record Corporation et al. V. Tina Marie Brockert (Teena Marie) suit, is the provision in California Civil Code section 3423, that permits record companies to include in recording contracts a clause allowing the company the option to pay artists $6,000 a year in order to establish a necessary prerequisite for seeking a court-ordered performance injunction. The court has ruled that a record company that does not guarantee its artist at least $6,000 per year (a figure drafted when the law was first enacted in 1919) from the outset of the contract, is not entitled to a court ordered performance injunction.

Motown Records and Jobete Music had sought and were originally granted a performance injunction against Teena Marie after she notified the company of her intention to switch labels with several months remaining on her contract. Motown then exercised its option to invoke within the contract a $6,000 payment so

Academy Salutes 50 Year Association With ASCAP

by Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES — With a nostalgic tribute that smacked of ceremonious glamour, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences recently honored its 50-year association with ASCAP. Held at the Academy's Samuel Goldwyn theatre in Beverly Hills, California, the celebrity-laden event began with a pre-show cocktail reception early in the evening and lasted til well past midnight with an ASCAP hosted dinner at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

AMPA president Gene Allen opened the show, introducing Oscar winner Bill Conti, for whom approximately 40 seats of the movie theatre had been removed to accommodate his 30-piece orchestra. Next up was Bob Hope, who initiated the music to the films of the '30s, setting the tone for the evening which thenceforth chronicled Oscar-winning music decade by decade. Selected film clips accompanied each winner, a list which included Hope's launch of his eventual theme song, "Thank's For The Memory," written by Leo Robin and Ralph Rainger, winning Best Song in 1938 for the film The Big Broadcast of 1938. Each decade was introduced by a special guest Academy (and some of them ASCAP) members. Donald O'Conner heralded the 1940s with "Swinging On A Star," a Best Song winner of 1944 by Johnny Burke and James Van Huesen. ASCAP president Hal David was next, with some words about ASCAP's long and successful association with The Academy (ASCAP has taken the lion's share of the music Awards — 118).

Country Divisions Schedule Heavy For Fourth Quarter

by Brenna Davenport-Leigh

NASHVILLE — Even with a busy release schedule during the latter part of the third quarter, the majority of the country divisions have a strong and ambitious fourth quarter release schedule set. With a number of repackaging efforts and several new releases from top artists such as Alabama, Earl Thomas Conley, George Jones, George Strait, Ricky Skaggs and Eddie Rabbitt, the labels are gearing up for the final quarter and its heavy holiday sells season.

Included among the latter third quarter releases were Anne Murray's "Heart Over Mind" on Capitol and Dan Seal's "In San Antone" on EMI-America. Tom Jones' "All The Love Is On The Radio" is out on Mercury/PolyGram, while CBS shipped Ricky Skaggs' "Country Boy" and several greatest hits packages including David Allan Coe's "For The Record — The First 10 Years," a double album package, George Jones' "By Request," and "His Epic Hits — The First Eleven — To Be

by Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES — The National Association of Recording Merchandisers meeting at San Diego, California's Harbor Sheraton Hotel, September 19-21 proved to be a forum at which major issues faced by retailers and merchandisers were explored with little heat and plenty of input. Comments and suggestions addressed each topic with a decidedly constructive edge, an atmosphere that helped make this NARM conference a particularly successful one.

NARM executive vice president Mickey Granberg, speaking on behalf on the association, expressed the positiveness of this year's meeting, describing it as "one of the most positive manufacturer's meetings with the retailers in years."

Topics dealt with at the Thursday and Friday meeting sessions included such issues as "Video in the Record Store," the compact disc market, the Gift of Music concept and the problem of white label and promotional records in the marketplace. The conference gave retailers and merchandisers a chance to attack these issues with direct communication with those people most able to help alleviate the situation. The importance of such conferences is not to be underestimated and the San Diego meeting was punctuated by an atmosphere of commitment from both factions for the well being and further growth of the industry in general. The fact that so many of the attendees were of actual decision-making status in the companies they represent was of special note at the conference. "I think we were extremely fortunate," said Granberg, "to have the real marketing decisionmakers there. The people (that were there) were the people in the companies that design programs, that implement programs — who make things happen in those programs, and who are absolutely critical to what the retailer does down the line in his stores."

Major record companies represented included WEA, Atlantic, MCA, RCA, CBS, A&M, Capitol, Chrysalis, Arista, PolyGram, Motown and Warner Bros. In short, virtually all of the top labels were there, along with representatives of such giant retail outlets as Licorice Pizza, Camelot and The Record Bar. However, one important development seen at the meeting was the attendance of smaller retailers. "Ned Burns of Q Records, who is just opening his fourth store was there, together with Paul David (Camelot Enterprises) and Bill Golden (The Record Bar) both of whom represent over 150 stores,

BUSINESS NOTES

Discovery Files Suit Against MTV

LOS ANGELES — Discovery Music Network has announced that it has filed suit in United States district court, Central District of California, against MTV Networks, Inc. The suit challenges the legality of the controversial exclusivity contracts MTV recently signed with five major record companies.

The complaint states that MTV, as a result of the exclusive dealing arrangements, has violated sections of the Sherman Act and the Clayton Act that pertain to restraint of trade.

According to Discovery, "MTV has illegally maintained and used its dominant position in the music video programming market as a lever to create a monopoly in another market, the distribution of music videos produced by the major record companies."

Discovery has alleged in its complaint that MTV has effectively stifled competition in the distribution of music videos by forcing the record companies into exclusive agreements that are not in the best interest of the record companies, their artists, or the public at large.

Drummer Shelly Manne Dies

LOS ANGELES — Legendary jazz drummer Sheldon "Shelly" Manne died of a heart attack last Wednesday morning, September 25. He was 64.

Manne's death sent shock waves through the west coast jazz community and the international jazz world as Manne had been a hard working and much loved jazz player for over 30 years. He started by playing with people like Stan Kenton and Woody Herman and went on to form his own series of small combos which played a large part in forming the renowned "west coast sound" which was popular in the late '50s and early '60s. Manne also did extensive work on television and in motion pictures.

Most recently, Manne had done work on Barry Manilow's upcoming album, and at the time of his death the greatly revered drummer was rehearsing a trio for a small tour. In speaking with various members of the Los Angeles jazz community, it is clear that Manne was tremendously respected and that the jazz world as a whole has lost an influential musician and a great human being.

POINTS WEST

BRIT GOES FOR YANKEE YUKS — He has sold over 800,000 albums, 650,000 books and has played to over a half million people since 1978. But you've probably never heard of him . . . until now. Jasper Carrott may not be a household name here, but in the U.K. Carrott is one of the most popular comics around. British music has traditionally set the pace for the international music scene, with revolutions starting due to everyone from the Beatles to the Sex Pistols. British humor has also enjoyed success on these shores with Monty Python and to a lesser degree, Benny Hill. Now that Carrott has decided to make a stab at the American market, we will see if that tradition holds. After seeing Carrott you tend to think it will. While he has enough clout to get himself prestigious dates and exposure, Carrott is going about gaining an audience in the traditional way: working hard. Set for a series of west coast dates that include a gig October 17-21 at Santa Monica's Mayfair Theatre — the beach town is home for quite a sizable British community also — Carrott is gaining popularity and possibly a huge following of Yankee comedy fans. Carrott also has a videocassette out on Pacific Arts Video Records called Carrott Gets Rowdie.

IN THE SAME VEIN — Other comedic news recently has been humorist Doug Ferrari's victory in San Francisco's ninth annual stand-up comedy competition held early in September. Ferrari, a S.F. local has performed with Robin Williams, Father Guido Sarducci and the Firesign Theatre among others, and won the gold in his fourth appearance in the competition. Beating out 40 other comedians at the Kabuki Theatre, Ferrari also performed in front of NBC president Brandon Tartikoff, who was in the audience and flew Ferrari to L.A. for a Tuesday night showcase at the Improv.

MAKING THE SCENE — The seventh annual Los Angeles Street Scene is set to take place this weekend with a huge parade, 3,500 performers, a carnival and a break dance park all making the festival a real celebration. Among the bands performing will be the Red Hot Chili Peppers, Beat Farmers, the Untouchables, the Brat, the Minute Men, Etta James, Big Joe Turner, What Is This?, the Long Ryders, Jack Mack and the Heart Attack and many, many others. The Street Scene will take up 12 blocks downtown and will include 16 different stages to help keep the area full of music and festivities. Various arts & crafts booths as well as many different food booths will also be on hand as Los Angeles celebrates its rich and varied culture and the people that make up the local scene. One of SoCal's largest parades, the Columbus Discovery America Day Parade will take place Sunday morning and will be highlighted by a host of local marching bands, drill teams and dancers.

PARADISE IN SAN FRANCISCO — On a recent trip to the Bay Area, Points West had the good fortune to catch L.A.'s own Rain Parade at one of the newest clubs in the city. Featuring an outdoor plexiglass-over-the-pool dance floor, the Oasis played host to Engima Records' Rain Parade, and though the band got lost for awhile somewhere in the maze of the city's streets, they did show up around midnight and got in tight and textured set of neo-psychedelia. Playing cuts from their highly acclaimed debut disc as well as from their latest "Explosions In The Glass Palace," the band sounded right at home in the city that nurtured the acid experience and its musical products. Although the crowd may have been slow to catch the feeling of Rain Parade's nostalgic yet exploring sound — psychedelia is almost passe to these Haight-Ashbury locals — by the end of the hour plus set the energy and rapt attention of the house was evidence of the band's spark.

REGGAE FEST '84 — Reggae artists from a host of independent labels are converging on the Hollywood Palladium for L.A.'s Reggae Fest '84, October 4 at 7 p.m. Augustus Pablo and Mutabaruka are headlining with a full lineup of dub masters including Eek-A-Mouse, Michigan & Smiley and Jack Miller & the International All-Stars. Roger Steffans is emceeing the show.

WINGS OF THE EVERLYS — Paul McCartney and Dave Edmunds are seen behind the board during their work on the Everly Brothers' LP "EB 84." Edmunds produced and McCartney penned the first single "On The Wings Of A Nightingale."

Bill Graham Tribute Slated

LOS ANGELES — Rock impresario Bill Graham is scheduled for an impressive tribute Saturday, September 29 at the Mill Valley Film Festival in a benefit for the Festival and the Marin Film Archives. Speakers will include Francis Ford Coppola and the tribute will be emceed by Howard Hessman and Father Guido Sarducci.

NEW FACES TO WATCH

"When George and I talk about the band, we don't like to use the word 'fusion' very much, because it's not fusion in the commercial sense of what fusion is all about; it is fusion in the sense of putting together different cultural things," says Chieli Minucci, one-half of the brain trust of Special EFX (pronounced "Effects"), whose debut album was recently released on GRP.

What Special EFX does, and does very well, is combine acoustic instruments — like acoustic guitar and various panglobal pieces of percussion — with things like synthesizers. The result is certainly a fusion, but not necessarily fusion.

Like the elements it brings together, leaders Minucci and George Jinda are diverse, but fuse together well.

The one with the foreign sounding name, guitarist Chieli Minucci, is a New Yorker, the son of a songwriter. He studied music, attended Ithaca College and toured Europe with a band called Carston Bahn's Bandstand. After moving back to New York, he studied formal composition with Nicolai Flagello and began to work in the studios.

Percussionist George Jinda is from Budapest, Hungary, where he played jazz with some of the best local players. In 1966, he left for the West, working throughout Europe and leading a group in France called Speed Limit. In 1977, he ended up in New York City, where he, too, became busy in the studios, playing an entire battery of percussion instruments. Both Chieli and George were searching for a musical outlet for their own concepts, while playing-for-hire the concepts of the many composers whose work gets recorded in New York studios.

After shopping around unsuccessfully for a deal for his fusion band, Speed Limit,

SPECIAL EFX

"I Told Fernando Saunders (the bassist on Special EFX, the album) that maybe I should forget about the fusion thing and do something, in a sense, more commercial, more melodic and more contemporary. And then, when I was searching for musicians, he played me a demo of his and on the demo I heard a guitar player, and that was Chieli. I said, 'That's the kind of guy I'm looking for.'"

After doing several demos with various sidemen, George and Chieli struck a deal with Chris Hinze's record label in Holland. That album was then picked up by Larry Rosen and Dave Grusin, who remixed it for GRP. Drummer J.T. Lewis, keyboardists Steve Robbins and Robbie Kondor, and bassist Saunders round out the edition of Special EFX heard on the LP, though, with the exception of the two leaders, the band is subject to change.

"We wanted to do something different," says Jinda, "but they put labels on you. If you don't fit into certain categories, they are against you somehow. I had a long discussion with Dave Grusin and Dave said, 'Don't worry, one day they're going to start to play you guys. The trouble is, you sound different.'"

PolyGram's 'Every Man' Release Fulfills Lennon Dream

by Peter Holden

LOS ANGELES — With the release of PolyGram's "Every Man Has A Woman Who Loves Him," one of John Lennon's many dreams has come to pass. Made up exclusively of Yoko Ono's material but performed by an amazingly diverse group of both popular and obscure artists, the LP sheds some light on Ono's usually overlooked songwriting, which was exactly the purpose Lennon had in mind when he formed the idea for the album.

"Every Man Has A Woman Who Loves Him" contains one cut — the title song — by Lennon himself, as well as three tracks from Harry Nilsson and cuts from Elvis Costello, Eddie Money, Rosanne Cash, Roberta Flack and others. Ono-Lennon associate Sam Havadtoy orchestrated the project which entailed the compilation of Ono's entire catalog and distributing it to a list of artists which numbered over 20.

Longtime Lennon/Ono friend and associate Elliott Mintz spoke with Cash Box about the history of the album and how it went from seed to a finished and very unique album. "The genesis of this occurred in late 1979. We were about two years away from Yoko's 50th birthday and John was trying to think of something big to do for her. He wanted it to be a celebration of their being together and he just wanted to show her off. He knew that there had always been a lot of musical prejudice surrounding her; he felt that so much publicity had been addressed to Yoko about everything except the essence of her writing. So he said, 'Wouldn't it be intriguing if someone else, a well known artist, recorded one of her songs, had a hit with it and only later the audience found out it was Yoko.' That really put a smile on his face."

After Lennon's death, the idea was kept alive and Havadtoy formed Sekment Productions to help put the LP together. With the help of many of Ono's friends, a list of possible artists was then compiled and Ono's catalog was distributed. Mintz explained, "Finally the list was narrowed down; Yoko was very pleased with the response and said 'just let everyone do it their own way.' Then the tapes started arriving at the Dakota and there was this great coming together as we opened the packages and started listening. Yoko got a real thrill. It was more eye-opening to Yoko than to anyone else."

With an incisive version of "Walking On Thin Ice" by Elvis Costello as well as a hopeful "Good-Bye Sandness" by Roberta Flack and a children's rap rendition by Sean Ono of "It's Alright," there was good reason to be thrilled. With so many artists contributing to the collection, Havadtoy acknowledged that there were a good many twists in the path to its completion. One such story is Costello's. Havadtoy remembers, "Elvis had come to see Yoko when she was working on 'Milk & Honey,' and he told her that 'Walking On Thin Ice' was one of the few songs that he actually went out and bought as a single. He said he would really like to do it, but that he wanted Allan Toussaint to produce it. I called Allan who said he was interested in doing it. Elvis had asked to do it in New Orleans because he was on tour and so they got together there. The horns are the ones Elvis was touring with at the time. He said he didn't want to touch John's guitar solo on the original and it was

STUDIO PROFILE

The Automatt: Recording With Experience In The Bay Area

San Francisco's Automatt recording studio and its owner David Rubinson both have long and illustrious histories. Rubinson might well be known for his early association with Bill Graham in the Fillmore Corporation or maybe for his introduction and production of the Pointer Sisters and their first hit albums. Rubinson is still the manager of Herbie Hancock and helped Hancock forge his way into the first successful forays of jazz-rock-funk fusion. These and many other projects have helped thrust David Rubinson into his position today as one of the most respected recording industry figures in the country.

Yet it is his sense of community with the San Francisco bay area and his studio, the Automatt, which are at the core of the man. Since buying the studios from his former employer, CBS, in 1976, the south-of-Market studio has been a temporary home to many local and international recording artists and, needless to say, many multi-million selling LPs. From its inception, the Automatt has been one of the Bay area's most technically sophisticated studios, yet one thing has set it apart: a sense of community with and warmth for the artist, producer and each person involved in the recording process. Studio manager Michele Zarin comments, "We feel we are providing a service and in doing so we must be sensitive to the needs of the producer and artist. We try to provide an atmosphere that is adaptable and supportive."

Zarin, a former Los Angeles Record Plant employee, feels that this atmosphere stems directly from Rubinson's own attitudes and ultimately produces a better working situation and a better product for each of the studio's clients.

Technically, Rubinson is constantly upgrading the studio's three rooms which feature Studer and Trident equipment. Michael Fusaro is the chief engineer with Fred Catero, Leslie Ann Jones, Dave Frazer, Ken Kessie, Wayne Lewis, Maureen Droney, Ray Pyle and Michael Rosen all staff engineers. Paul Stubblebine is the mastering engineer and Vince Casper is maintenance engineer.

EAST COASTINGS

BARBRA BOUNCES BACK — Barbara Streisand returns this week with her first album since "Yentl" and once again makes a stab at the rock market. Helping Streisand out (could that be right?) on the record are Jim Steinman, Richard Perry, Maurice White and Andy Galuten. The executive producers of the record are Charles Koppelman for the Entertainment Music Company in association with Barwood Productions.

The album is called "Emotion," an unusual choice since it's also the name of a Barry Gibb hit. Gibb produced Streisand's last non-movie project, "Guilty," but is not involved in the production of the new album. Who Streisand did get involved with are some of the hottest and most respected names in the business. Steinman

Carnes. Bill Colmo (Steve Perry) is the producer.

Streisand has teamed with Koppelman before. The two collaborated for "Streisand/Superman," "Songbird," "Wet" and her hits "No More Tears (Enough is Enough)," "Guilty" and "Memories."

PHOENIX RISES — Phoenix Records, an independently distributed label, was launched this week with the release of the single "Standing in the Line of Fire" by Gary U.S. Bonds. Bonds' album of the same title will be released after Labor Day. The single was produced by Little Steven Van Zandt.

John Apostol, president of Phoenix Records, announced last week that the label will be distributed nationally by Alpha Distributing Corporation. Andrew Francis, former vice president of marketing at Millenium Records has joined Phoenix as executive vice president. Apostol has headed Apostol Enterprises, an artist management company, since 1969.

The new Bonds LP, his first since 1982's "On the Line," was produced almost entirely by Bonds himself. "On the Line" contained the Top 20 single "Out of Work" and followed Bonds' "Dedication" album and its Top 5 single "This Little Girl of Mine," produced by Little Steven and Bruce Springsteen. Bonds is signed to FBI for bookings and will tour in September. Phoenix plans to announce additional artist signings in the near future.

ON TOUR — RCA's heavy metal group Grim Reaper kicked off its "All Hell Lets Loose Tour '84" at Boston's Paradise September 20 and will continue with dates throughout New England and the east before heading west and south. The group's "See You In Hell" debut LP features the title track. Jon Roseman's video of the song is rotating on MTV and other video shows. The album already reached number one on the charts of England's heavy metal bible Kerrang . . . Lou Reed has just begun the first step of a national tour that is taking him to major venues throughout the northeast and midwest. He kicked off the tour September 21 with his appearance at the State University of New York at Stony Brook. Reed will appear September 25 at the Capitol Theater in Passaic, New Jersey, where Monarch Entertainment Bureau taped the show for its monthly MTV series Rock Influences. Reed will be the featured artist in a segment on New York City artists' impact on rock. On the road he's promoting his current "New Sensations" LP, which features "I Love You, Suzanne." The video of Suzanne was directed by Tim Newman. Reed can also be seen on the RCA Video and Boggs/Baker Productions long-form video A Night With Lou Reed. Reed is due back in New York City October 18 and 19 for show at the Beacon . . . And Diana Ross made "entertainment history" by breaking all previous Radio City Music Hall records for box office receipts for a concert engagement by an individual artist. With a top ticket price of $30 and ticket sales totaling over $1.7 million for 11 sold-out performances, Ross became the top-grossing act in the history of Radio City Music Hall. (That is, until Barry Manilow's figures are tabulated. With a $35 top ticket and eight performances already sold out, Manilow has a shot at a quick eclipse.) Ross has also returned to the charts with a decided bang. Her duet with Julio Iglesias, "All of You," and now her new single "Swept Away" have proved that Ross' presence on the charts is an ongoing musical treat. Although her concerts still make use of her glitzy, glamour image and pay only token service to the classic, infinitely more soulful honesty of her Motown days (a Three-song Supremes medley), Ross still knows how to get down on wax. She proved this with "Mirror Mirror" three years ago, when "Why Do Fools Fall In Love" gave us the most fulfilling taste of the old Diana since the Supremes' breakup. Her new album, produced by Daryl Hall and Arthur Baker, proved Diana still has an ear for the street and should keep her in the public ear well into 1985. But above all, the girl can really give a party. Where else could you find Dustin Hoffman, Richard Gere, Robert DeNiro, Bob Fosse, William Hurt, David Keith, Eddie Murphy, Lauren Bacall, Diane Lane, Cheryl Tiegs and Ross herself, all on the same boat? . . . Wait a minute, this just in. Love Boat premieres new season with all-star cast: Hoffman, Gere, Deniro, Hurt . . .

WHAT'S IN-STORE

CD NEWS — Cash Box U.K. correspondent Chrissy Iley recently reported some interesting occurrences overseas. It seems that the first British-made compact discs are now being produced at Nimbus Records in the Wye Valley near Monmouth at the rate of 30,000 discs a month, building up to a target of 250,000 per month. After initial teething problems and trial runs, the first all-British CD was a BBC transcription disc for use on U.S. radio stations. Forthcoming product will include albums by A Flock of Seagulls and Culture Club. Nimbus says that most major U.K. record companies are seeking CD pressing capacity through them, including CBS and EMI, which currently bear the high cost of importing CD products from Japan. Independently-owned Nimbus records signed a CD manufacturing license with Philips in 1982 and embarked on developing its own laser mastering system and building the clean air CD plant. When it reaches peak production, Nimbus claims that it will be in a position to satisfy a demand of 25 percent of the total number of CDs sold in Europe.

NAMM REPORT AVAILABLE — The 1984 edition of NAMM's Retail Music Products Industry Report is now available to all music dealers and music products suppliers. The NAMM report, which includes results of NAMM's annual Retail Operating Survey, is an analysis of retail store operational data as well as a forecast of economic conditions for the music industry. GRP Launches Major Campaign

LOS ANGELES — GRP Records has launched a major fall campaign to promote and merchandise the label's catalog and new releases as well as the label itself at the retail level. Tagged "GRP is Jazz," the marketing campaign as outlined by Bud Katzel, the label's director of marketing and distribution, encompasses every phase of the marketing spectrum. The mix includes a special 10 percent discount program as well as a bonus incentive program aimed at the distributors and sales personnel. Timed to get under way on the heels of the company's most successful release to date, Dave Grusin's "Night Lines," as well as the release of the new Dave Valentin "Kalahari," the "GRP is Jazz" campaign relies heavily on its merchandising thrust.

The key elements of the campaign include a special jazz sampler for in-store and radio airplay, a four-color 24" x 36" poster, a display card of all the albums in the catalog and a new salesman's catalog and order form. To help create "GRP is Jazz" in the retail environment, a special 12" x 16 1/2" sectional divider card is being provided to all the retail accounts participating in the label's in-store and/or window display contest. The contest provides prizes to retailers as well as the GRP distributors based on photos of the display submitted to the company.

An advertising fund for both print and radio has been allocated to the GRP distributors. Katzel pointed out the response to the program has been overwhelming including participation by such chains as Camelot, Wherehouse, Tower, Music Plus, Budget Records and Tapes, Turtles, Waxie Maxie, Record World and Record Bar.

To bolster its efforts to gain additional muscle during the campaign, GRP will be utilizing independent promotion and sales personnel in the field, working in conjunction with the local distributors.

The label reported that the new Dave Valentin album, "Kalahari" has already reached distributors and is in the stores for the program. By the first of October GRP will also ship the debut of Diane Schuur, entitled "Deedles." The young, blind jazz vocalist from Seattle who is a protege of jazz legend Stan Getz, has already made a name for herself throughout the Pacific Northwest. The Diane Schuur album, arranged and conducted by Dave Grusin with a 25-piece orchestra, will be part of the "GRP is Jazz" program but will also be handled with separate promotion and publicity campaign which will focus on radio and TV talk shows for the artist.

The "GRP is Jazz" program, which runs until October 30, will be followed by an entirely separate compact disc marketing program. Featuring 10 titles by the end of the year, The GRP commitment to the compact disc format is evidenced by the expected release of an additional 10 to 15 titles by the end of the first quarter of 1985. GRP is one of the few labels to record exclusively in the 32-track digital format, thus maintaining entirely digital

12" REVIEWS

CHAKA KHAN (Warner Bros. 20249-0)

I Feel For You (7:12) (Prince) (Controversy Music/ASCAP) (Producer: Arif Mardin)

This remix of Khan's latest hit written by Prince is a high energy workout which captures the melodic punch of the 7" while making the cut a much more insistent dance track. Stevie Wonder's harmonica colorings are exquisite, but Khan's vocal is the real star and shows she is as strong as ever. Effective breakdowns should make DJs happy as should the low whispering of Chaka Khan's name rapped in time to the music. A guaranteed dance smash.

EVELYN "CHAMPAGNE" KING (RCA PW-13915)

Just For The Night (4:45) (Carter-Leonard-Gaitsch) (Unison Music-Edge Of Fluke Music-Outer Snake Music/ASCAP — Johnny Yuma Music/BMI) (Producer: Hawk)

This first single from King's "So Romantic" is a sensuous and hearty cut which employs contrasting instrumental lines to create its soulful tension. Light and dazzling synth work crosses searing guitar lines and together with the anchoring percussion tracks, the combination throws off sparks.

AUDIO/VIDEO

NARM VIDEO — Video, as it appears in the record store, was a major topic of conversation at the recent Retailers and Manufacturers Advisory committee meeting in San Diego, California. Mostly, it was the retailers trying to convince, or at least drive home the idea to manufacturers that as far as selling is concerned, video and records are the same business. Retailers present at the meeting (and most of the larger chains were represented) seemed to agree that record manufacturers weren't committing themselves enough to the medium and are hence missing the boat on a large part of their market opportunities. The big complaint was that music videocassettes are not getting to the stores fast enough, leaving the retailer to deal with a lot of "dead" product. Another fault was found in the amount of "dead" tape included in many compilations, usually in the space just after the record label is shown. Better editing of tapes was called for.

CMC BRASS — Here's the final list of top brass Turner Broadcasting has organized to head its Cable Music Channel: Serving as president and chief executive will be Turner executive vice president and president of WTBS, Robert Wussler; vice president of programming will be former Friday Night Videos coordinating producer John McGhan; vice president general manager will be Scott Sassa, executive producer of WTBS Night Tracks; director of operations space will be filled by Jeff Appel, formerly of Embassy Television's publicity department; director of programming and acquisitions will be Ellen Berkowitz, former program executive of Night Tracks; manager of acquisitions will be Amy Kimmelman, who previously served as an account executive at Rogers and Cowan. The new video music channel will be based in Hollywood, debuting October 26, 12 p.m. EST.

Karl Home Video will release another Jane Fonda workout videocassette in November entitled Prime Time, a tape for those who are really out of shape! retailing for $39.95 . . . In cooperation with the National Education Association, CBS/Fox Video is releasing a special children's videocassette, Romper Room.

MAGIC — One of the nice things about viewing all the new slickly-produced product on the market is the sense of appreciation derived from viewing the works of new and developing "unslick" product. Audio/Video was recently treated to a screening of Magic Sticks, a 27-minute documentary about Shawn O'Brien, a man with cerebral palsy who has gone from poster boy (age 5) to the leader of a powerful L.A. band, The Cripples. (That's right, The Cripples). The video was produced by Bruce Meade and John Weyand, whose Z Space Productions spent several months on the project. According to Meade, the video's director (who also helped pen Rod Stewart's Infatuation clip), "I knew that the story of Shawn and his musical career would be a story that I would be proud to tell and document — someone overcoming obstacles to achieve what they wanted to. In his case they were rather overwhelming obstacles." O'Brien's colorful stage energy and lyrical intensity have gained much notoriety in Los Angeles. He is a poet with a message that is telling people to stop being afraid of the way they are made and be proud of what they have. "The doctors call it a birth defect," said O'Brien, "I call it a birth effect." The documentary is a cleanly-edited montage of interviews, stage performances and audience reaction to a Cripples show. According to Weyand, who served as the video's director of photography and editor, "everyone's viewpoint on crippled people seems to be much different after they've seen Shawn. This is the way it was for Bruce and I. We wanted to be sure to include people whose perspectives were also changed." Don't let the name fool you. Shawn O'Brien and The Cripples make no fun of handicapped people and they are not a punk rock band. The Cripples are a musical message led by what one L.A. newspaper referred to as "Bruce Springsteen on crutches." Magic Sticks manages to capture the essence of a struggle. With new product packing the flare and vitality of Magic Sticks, the art of making videos can only improve with the coming generations.

CLIP CLIPS — Patti Austin's video for her Rhythm of the Street video was directed by Peter Isrealson and involved a cast of over 300. Marcus Peterzell produced . . . Robin Gibb's new clip, Secret Agent, has been described as a "Hitchcockian" film clip, due to its surreal espionage situations. It was directed by Philip Davey for Keefco . . . Ricki Lee Jones' video, The Real End, was retrieved from botchery by Red Car Editing, headed by Larry Bridges, who set the out-of-synch clip straight with some computer wizardry, extra footage and some old photos provided by Jones.

ROLLING REWIND — Vestron MusicVideo will release Video Rewind — The Rolling Stones' Great Video Hits, a chronology of Stones videos, in November.

"Oscar Salutes ASCAP" Gala Held

Coincidentally, the event marked not only a 50-year relationship between the Academy and ASCAP, it also helped celebrate ASCAP's 70th anniversary.

Oscar winning songwriters Jule Styne, Sammy Fain, Jay Livingston and Ray Evans were featured in a humorous tribute to the craft of songwriting initiated by Sammy Cahn's "The Songwriter's Lament."

Rounding out the 1940s was an appearance by Buddy Ebsen, whose impromptu "Moonwalk" during a delayed film clip bridged generations. Slated to follow Ebsen in presenting a clip from the 1955 film of Oklahoma (Best Musical Score — 1955/Robert Russel Bennett, Jay Blackton and Adolph Deutsch) was Shirley Jones, who had to beg off earlier in the week because of laryngitis. Other clips from the '50s included High Noon ("High Noon — Best Song — 1952), Around The World In Eighty Days (Best Dramatic Score — 1956) and The King and I (Best Musical Score — 1956).

Ring in the '60s with a list of buzzwords were songwriters Marilyn and Alan Bergman, whose rendering of 1968's

Best Song "The Windmills Of Your Mind" from the film The Thomas Crown Affair, set against a particularly well-chosen clip from the film was a poignant high in the show. Also included in the '60s sequence was Burt Bacharach, who performed his Hal David copenned hit "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head" (Best Song — 1969).

Marvin Hamlisch was featured during the '70s tribute, playing "The Way We Were" (Best Song — 1973) and delivering some witicism on the suspicious seating of winners at the awards ceremonies. Keith Carradine was next on the list, presenting clips (so far) from the '80s.

Film clips for the show were edited by the show's producer, Doug Stewart. Credit for the total concept has been given to Arthur Hamilton, whose position as vice president for both the Academy and ASCAP gave him insight into the unique coincidence for the occasion. The evening is a part of a broad program instituted by Academy president Gene Allen, who seeks to expand the affairs of the Academy to educate the public as to the "other face of Oscar," showing that there is in fact more to the Academy than just the awards ceremony.

SCARFACE SCORES — During the recent Video Software Dealers Association convention in Las Vegas, MCA Home Video executives gathered to celebrate the success of Scarface with the presentation of a special award from MCA Distribution commemorating sales of over 100,000 units. ON JAZZ

HIGHLIGHTS — For those of us who enjoy climbing out of the smokey world of nightclubs once in a while, two important jazz concert series should provide some relief. The two series' run approximately monthly, present eight jazz concerts each and are as different as Ornette Coleman and Roy Eldridge (although some of us see stronger similarities there than meet the eye). In order of seniority, they are Jack Kleinsinger's "Highlights In Jazz" and Carnegie Hall's "New Jazz At the Recital Hall."

Kleinsinger's series, now in its 12th year, steadfastly sticks to classic jazz — swing, bebop and the like. For a dozen years, it has been offering bountiful programs at a ridiculously inexpensive price ($7.50 per ticket this year, with discounts for

The Recital Hall series will pick up where the NYU series leaves off — with the more modern sounds of jazz. Scheduled to fill the little gem of a hall are Reggie Workman (10/13), Leroy Jenkins (11/10), Alvin Batiste (12/8), Jerome Cooper with Don Moye and Glen Velez (1/12/85), Craig Harris (2/9), Lester Bowie (3/9), Jamaaladeen Tucuma (4/27) and Joseph Jarman (6/1). Tickets are $10 each and the full scoop can be had by calling (212) 903-9700.

CREATIVE MUSIC — Speaking of NYU, that Greenwich Village University will be the site of the Creative Music Studio's "Rhythms of the World," a 10-day intensive for percussionists of all stripes (Oct. 10-20). The Woodstock-based organization (which will be having intensives at its home base in September and October) will gather Rashied Ali, Karl Berger, Peter Kowald, Babatunde Olatunji, Frederic Rzewski, Ingrid Setso, Tatitos Sompá, Hadji Tedbilik, Nana Basconcelos, the Gamala Taki Ensemble and other percussion mavens for what should be an explosive week. Information is available from the Creative Music Foundation; P.O. Box 671; Woodstock, NY 12498 (914) 688-7201.

THE BLUES IN THE PEWS — While we're on the subject of autumnal happenings, mention must be made of the 15th annual "All Nite Soul" concert, which will rock the rafters of St. Peter's Church from 5 in the afternoon, Oct. 7, till 5 in the morning, Oct. 8. In celebration of the Jazz Vespers the Church has been holding for 19 years, the all-night extravaganza will feature Dick Hyman, Billy Taylor, Frank Foster, the Mel Lewis Big Band, Arnie Lawrence, Honi Coles, Roger Kellaway and a host of others. Presided over by the Rev. John Garcia Gensel, pastor to the jazz community, the concert is a good reason to stick around N.Y. for the Columbus Day weekend. Tickets are $8 (that includes coffee for those who hang in til the bitter end) and information can be had by calling (212) 935-2200. By the way, Jazz Vespers continues every Sunday at 5 and 7 p.m. and the schedule can be obtained at the same number.

SALSA EN EL GARDEN — Finally, for those with still an open date left in October, Madison Square Garden will be the site for a "Musical Tribute to Cheo Feliciano," the great salsa singing star. On hand to pay tribute to Feliciano will be the original Joe Cuba Sextet with Jimmy Sabater, Eddie Palmieri, Ruben Blades y Seis del Solor, Hector LaVoe, Willie Colon and the honoree himself. Tickets, which should go quickly, range from $10-20 and are available at the Garden and through Ticket World (212) 888-9000.

BOPPING AROUND — Movies, movies, movies: Crooning the title tune of All Of Me, the Steve Martin/Lily Tomlin flick, is none other than Joe Williams, who has a new album out on Delos. John Lurie, the head reptile in the Lounge Lizards, not only penned the soundtrack to Jim Jarmusch's Stranger Than Paradise (a N.Y. Festival entry), but he's the star of the oddball picture as well. And Dave Brubeck has been signed to compose the soundtrack to the coming Agatha Christie flick, Ordeal By Innocence. I bet his head pops up when the actors are told to "take five" . . . This is it: the Kool Jazz Festival season grinds to a swinging halt, Oct. 5-7, with the final fete, in Houston . . . For those London-bound, the Actual Festival will gather Anthony Braxton, Oliver Lake, Andrew Cyrille, Billy Bang, John Tchicai, Marilyn Crispell, Derek Bailey, Maggie Nicols, Irene Schweizer and Pere Ubu's David Thomas at the Bloomsbury Theatre, Oct. 15-22 (it's going to be a busy Oct.!) . . . By the way, the Art Ensemble of Chicago tour, which this page detailed some weeks back, was booked by N.Y.'s Outward Visions (soon to be L.A.'s Outward Visions) . . . Carmen McRae copped this year's Jazznote Award from the Russian River Jazz Festival for "outstanding achievement in a great American art form" . . . And, from the literary front, comes several items: Da Capo has just reissued Ira Gitler's important exploration of the bebop era, Jazz Masters of the 40s (which should set the stage for Gitler's new bebop book, due next spring), and Samuel B. Charters and Leonard Kunstadt's Jazz: A History of the New York Scene, a long out-of-print work which tells it where it is. Louisiana State University Press gives us Those Swinging Years: The Autobiography of Charlie Barnet, in collaboration with Stanley Dance. And Jazziz, a nice-looking, good-reading magazine from Florida, is the latest entry into the jazz periodical wars; we wish it luck (P.O. Box 8309; Gainesville, FL 32605, is the address).

HOT HOUSE FLOWERS — Wynton Marsalis — Columbia FC 39530 — Producer: Steve Epstein — List: 8.98

It was inevitable that the young trumpet star would go the well-trodden "standards-with-strings" route (in the footsteps of Miles Davis, Clifford Brown, Charlie Parker and others). It must have also been inevitable that the album would be a lyrical gem: Robert Freedman's arrangements are interesting and tender, the song selection is unusual (Ellington's "Melancholia," "When You Wish Upon A Star," et al), and Marsalis is in superb form. The cuddling-by-the-fireplace album of the year.

TASTY PUDDING — Chuck Wayne, Brew Moore, Zoot Sims — Savoy Jazz SJL 1144 — Original producers: Gus Statiras, Ozzie Cadena; reissue producer: Bob Porter — List: 8.98

"Tasty" is the perfect word for guitar veteran Wayne, heard here in some small-band configurations. Wayne's style is warm and breezy — the single-note runs just float from the instrument; Moore and Sims are swing-in-their-sleep tenormen who add a Lesterian burnish to this fine reissue; and the accompanists are such able individuals as George Duvivier, Joe Morello and Ed Shaughnessy. Wayne's still out there plugging — this should give him new attention.

RENT PARTY — Hal Singer — Savoy Jazz SJL 1147 — Original producers: Teddy Reig, Lee Magid, Fred Mendelsohn; reissue producer: Bob Porter — List: 8.98

Honking, ship-rocking tenor playing of the kind that put a lot of instrumental vigor into early rock and roll sides. When Hal Singer plays tunes with titles like "Neck Bones," "Rice and Red Beans," and his 1948 hit, "Cornbread," the lesson is not culinary, but it certainly is savory. 16 such tunes on this reissue bring back the days when juke boxes across the land were filled with sides by such boot-in-your-ear tenormen as Singer, who is currently serving up his musical soul food in Paris.

JUST HAVING FUN — Cabo Frio — Zebra ZR-5002 — Producers: Cabo Frio — List: 8.98

Cabo Frio is Terrance Bruce, Curtis Kendrick, George Sessum, Glen Cummings, and Joey Santora — five gents who know how to combine R&B, jazz, technopop and other musical milieus into an infectious high-spirited olio of their own. The fact that they're having fun (aided and abetted by some swinging friends) is obvious from the first notes of opening-track "Prism." They're not only having it, they're passing in on in a heavily rhythmic, danceable way.

MAGIC TIME — The Bob Florence Limited Edition — Trend TR-536 — Producer: Albert Marx — List: 8.98

Eighteen men swinging! Florence is a sparkling writer and arranger with a light touch and this band is stocked with ready-to-play west coast veterans. The song titles speak for themselves — "The Industrial Strength Stomp," for example, or "Double Barrel Blues." The soloists (Bob Efford, Warren Luening, Bob Cooper, et al) are fine, but altoist Lanny Morgan must be singled out for his hairpin-turn romp on "Rhythm and Blues." A corker of an album!

DYNAMITE IN NEW YORK — Legendary soul singer James Brown dropped by WCBS/FM, New York for an interview which aired in the Hall Of Fame on WCBS/FM, August 9. Pictured (l-r): "Mr. Dynamite" James Brown, WCBS/FM music director Barbara Temple and WCBS/FM program director Joe McCoy.

Menon And Lundvall Announce Formation Of Manhattan Label

LOS ANGELES — Bhaskar Menon, chairman and chief executive of EMI Music Worldwide and of Capitol Industries, has announced the formation of Manhattan Records as the newest addition to the EMI organization. With Bruce Lundvall as president, the new label will be the third EMI label in the U.S., joining Capitol and EMI-America, both based in Los Angeles.

Commenting on the establishment of Manhattan, which represents another step in EMI's strategic plan to further strengthen its position as one of the four major international music companies, Menon said, "If one takes a global view of the music business, it is essential to maintain a strong presence in each of the major creative centers. The establishment of Manhattan Records enhances our ability to attract artists, particularly from the wealth of black music and rock 'n' roll talent on the east coast. Manhattan will become a key repertoire source for the U.S. and for our companies around the world.

"We are making a significant long-term commitment to the new label and a substantial investment, but of course the most critical factor was finding the best possible leadership. I am delighted that Bruce Lundvall, whom I have always admired as one of the most creative and effective executives in the music business, has agreed to accept the challenge of building Manhattan Records. With vast experience as the former president of both CBS Records and Elektra/Asylum Records, Bruce brings unique vision to lead Manhattan into the multi-media future of the music business."

In announcing the new label, Lundvall stated, "I have the highest regard for Bhaskar Menon and the entire EMI management team. I am both honored and delighted with this opportunity to fulfill a lifelong dream by starting an entirely new music company. Manhattan Records will pursue artists in the broadest spectrum of rock, pop and black music. Our objective is to identify unique artists with long-term career potential. We will work with established artists to take them to new sales heights, and with new artists to launch and develop their careers. We also intend to emphasize 12" singles as a vehicle for breaking street-oriented artists, and as an additional avenue of exposure for others.

"Furthermore, we will work closely with our artists to develop their total worldwide and multi-media careers. Lundvall added, "No longer are we just in the record business, we are in the entertainment business. Presently, our business is in the midst of transformation with the emergence of new technologies, the increasing importance of videos and soundtracks and the desire and ability of many artists to broaden their careers beyond records.

"At Manhattan, artist development is the cornerstone of our philosophy, and it encompasses an artist's total career, from worldwide sales of music, to multi-media exploitation of their talents. In that regard, Stephen Reed, senior vice president of Manhattan, is an outstanding addition to our management team. As vice president of the CBS Record Group, he was instrumental in implementing a global approach to marketing. He also has demonstrated a remarkable perception of the future of the music and video industries as the author of the Eberstadt report which has become the definitive analysis of these industries."

It is anticipated that Manhattan will release about 15 albums during its first year of operation commencing in early 1985. A number of artist negotiations are nearing completion and will be announced shortly.

Discussing his plans for the label, Lundvall stated, "We are very close to formalizing our key staff appointments and in every case we will have people who are musically oriented as well as being top executives. Manhattan Records staff will have responsibility for A&R and business affairs, as well as marketing, promotion, sales and publicity at the national level. In the U.S., the Capitol sales force will handle Manhattan production, and the Capitol promotion staff will work Manhattan records at the local level. EMI Music companies and licensees will represent the Manhattan label internationally.

In addition to its charter to become a major black music and rock 'n' roll label, Manhattan Records will re-establish the Blue Note jazz label through the signing and marketing of jazz artists around the world. Discussing Manhattan's plans for Blue Note, Lundvall stated, "we intend to restore Blue Note to its historical position as the top jazz label in the world, and the criteria for signing new artists will be consistent with the high standards for which Blue Note was always noted."

Additionally, on a selective basis, masters from the Blue Note vaults will be released using state-of-the-art technology to ensure the finest possible audio quality. These steps will include digital remastering of master tapes, direct metal mastering and imported Telarc process pressings from Köln, West Germany for LPs, use of the XDR process for pre-

AIRPLAY

THE WOLFMAN IS BACK IN NEW YORK — As of September 14 the irrepressible Wolfman Jack once again haunts the airwaves in the Big Apple, returning to his former howling grounds-WNBC-AM. The Wolfman was last heard in the New York market on WNBC in the mid 70s. He left the station in 1974 to host The Midnight Special, as well as pursue other interests. One of those interests was (and still is) Audio Stimulation Inc., the production company that produces and syndicates the Wolfman's 6-hour weekly show that is carried by over 200 stations nationwide. Earlier this year, Audio Stimulation entered an agreement with KRLA in Los Angeles to give the Wolfman a regular air shift (midnight to 5:30 a.m.). Supplemented by taped air shifts. "I mean they're taking me on the air here seven nights a week, six hours a night," howled the Wolfman. "Everything's covered man. If I were here live, I couldn't do more than I am doing on tape. Every type of weather forecast has been done, any type of situation that may arise has been covered. I don't think I missed anything." Lyndon Abell, administrator of programming and operations for WNBC agrees. "We have him doing all kinds of stuff. He's introducing every one of our records, doing time checks, weather etc. You listen to the show — you'd be lying if you said it was on tape. It's not a big secret that it's a syndicated taped show but if you turn it on and listen to it, you either forget real fast or you don't care." The Wolfman is back in the Big Apple, where will he turn up next?

JACK IS BACK — As of September 14, Wolfman Jack can be heard six nights a week on the overnight shift at WNBC in New York. The Wolfman can also be heard six nights a week on Los Angeles' KRLA (see story).

GREAT SCOTT — Westwood One has signed Scott Shannon, program director and morning show host of Z-100/New York (WHTZ-FM), to host a new weekly countdown of the nation's Top 30 CHR (contemporary hit radio) singles, according to Norm Pattiz, Westwood One president. Carrying the moniker "Scott Shannon's Rockin' America Countdown," the three-hour program is set to premiere on the Westwood One Radio Network in November. Westwood One, in conjunction with Malrite Communications, will produce the program in New York and Los Angeles and the network will distribute it to affiliates in digital stereo from the west coast via the Satcom 1-R communications satellite. In addition to the country's 30 hottest singles (based on a computerized compilation of information from leading surveys), "Scott Shannon's Rockin' America Countdown" will include artist interviews, features and the sort of extemporaneous mayhem that's made Shannon's daily "Morning Zoo" show the top-rated program on the New York airwaves. "People have been asking us why we haven't done a CHR countdown program for a couple of years now," Pattiz comments. "I've always responded by saying we wouldn't do a program of this type unless it was so special and so unique that it would be impossible not to do. "Obviously, 'Scott Shannon's Rockin' America Countdown' is it," Pattiz continues. "Scott's not only the most listened-to morning man in the country, but he's a widely-respected, trend-setting program director. That combination, along with the very obvious resources we bring to the package, makes for a hit national radio show."

Says Shannon: "I've wanted to do a national countdown show since I first became a deejay, and I'm thrilled to be able to do 'Rockin' Across America' with Westwood One. As for my plans for the program — those who've heard any of my radio stations know it's not only going to be a lot of fun, but very exciting!"

SPARKLE ON THE RECORD — Rona Elliot, program manager for NBC's The Source, interviews Sparkle, who reportedly made some revealing comments. Holding the canine celebrity is the owner, Gilda Radner.

COUNTING THE COUNTY — San Diego-North County will be measured as a separate Metro survey area for the first time during the Fall survey of radio listening conducted by Arbitron Ratings Company, September 20 to December 12, 1984. It will be measured twice a year. Previously, all of San Diego County was surveyed as one Metro but radio stations asked Arbitron to conduct a separate listening survey for the northern section of the county. "Advertisers in North County are interested in reaching consumers here," said Laurence Shushan, general manager, KEZL Radio, Oceanside. "We needed a ratings report that would show them how many listeners we have here, as well as in San Diego. The North County population grew by over 110 percent between 1970 and 1980 and we expect that trend to continue."

OUT OF THE BOX

TONIGHT — David Bowie — EMI America SJ-17138 — Producers: David Bowie — Derek Bramble — Hugh Padgham — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

"Let's Dance" and Bowie's major "Serious Moonlight" Tour made the provocative British artist again one of the most popular performers in music, and the two singles off of "Tonight" are already taking off on radio and in the dance clubs. "Blue Jean" and the more rambunctious "Dancing With The Big Boys" are only two of this LP's many strong songs. A pensive cover of Brian Wilson's "God Only Knows" and a duet with Tina Turner on the title track also contribute to this disc's delights. Mining the same commercial vein as "Let's Dance," Bowie loses none of his unique songwriting and vocal adventurousness.

OUT OF THE BOX

THE UNFORGETTABLE FIRE — U2 — Island 7 90231-1 — Producer: Ennio Lanois — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Undisputed kings of the hero-rock invasion which swept America from the U.K. two years ago, U2 returns with another inspired — and inspiring — set of powerful guitar rock. Lead vocalist and writer Bono delivers consistently moving lyrics while the band churns raw rock'n'roll. "Pride (In The Name Of Love)" is an excellent first single with thickly layered guitar parts which show off producer Enno's expert ear for meaningful and simple melody. Sure to rally the troops from AOR to CHR, U2 again shows that determination and energy can make for some classic rock.

OUT OF THE BOX

CULTURE CLUB (Epic 34-04638)

The War Song (3:57) (Virgin Music/ASCAP) (Culture Club) (Production: Steve Levine)

This first single from Culture Club's next LP "Waking Up In A Burning House" is as rhythmically appealing as anything the band has done, yet the lyrics point to a new social consciousness on the part of Boy George. This strong anti-war statement is delivered with simple but effective words and a varied melody. Backing vocalist Helen Terry makes a cameo that is spine tingling and Boy George's lead is as smooth and warm as ever. With the group's multi-single success in mind, this is sure to be another high-charting CHR and dance track.

OUT OF THE BOX

PAUL McCARTNEY (Columbia 38-04581)

No More Lonely Nights (4:38) (MPL Communications/ASCAP) (McCartney) (Producer: George Martin)

This heartwarming ballad taken from the motion picture and album "Give My Regards To Broad Street" is a perfect vehicle for McCartney's vocal inflections. Featuring classic George Martin production and string backing fills, "No More Lonely Nights" is a tender and atmospheric cut which is certain to make a splash with its flawless chorus. Slippery guitar parts punctuate and accent throughout the song and lend a hint of drama to what is sure to be a CHR breaker.

FEATURE PICKS

DON'T STOP — Jeffrey Osborne — A&M SP-5017 — Producer: George Duke — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

While Osborne's last LP "Stay With Me Tonight" is still doing very well, "Don't Stop" is sure to send this multi-dimensional artist over the top on both the B/C and CHR charts. Featuring the top session players in the business with George Duke behind the board, Osborne is in very able hands. The material from the pumping title track single to the celebratory track "The Power" is fresh and exciting and allows Osborne to work out all of his formidable vocal talents. Out of the box retail strength.

SO ROMANTIC — Evelyn "Champagne" King — RCA AFL 1-5308 — Producers: Various — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Evelyn King's follow-up to her successful "Face to Face" album has all of the ingredients of a second smash. The title, "So Romantic" is a bit misleading as the majority of the tunes on the album have strong rocking dance grooves. The singles "Just For The Night" and "I'm So Romantic" are definitely crossover material. "Heartbreaker" and "Out Of Control" will unquestionably appease the strong B/C audience that King has been so successful with. This album is a definite multi-format breaker.

VOLUME ONE — The Honeydrippers — Es Paranza 7 90220-1-B — Producer: Ahmet Ertegun — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Under the guise of The Honeydrippers, Robert Plant fronts this album of R&B classics which range from the grooving doo-wop of "I Get A Thrill," which features the staccato lead guitar of Zeppelin-mate Jimmy Page, to "Rockin' At Midnight." With Page on guitar, Jeff Beck contributing some cringing slide on "Rockin'" and Nile Rogers helping out on bass and guitar, this surprise disc should create quite a furor at the retail level as well as on AOR and CHR stations. A string-accented "Sea Of Love" will provide the first video, due out soon.

CENTIPEDE — Rebbie Jackson — Columbia BFC 39238 — Producers: Wayne Henderson, Michael Jackson, Tito Jackson, Randy Jackson — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Rebbie Jackson says her goal is "to create a sound that will relax people," and she's succeeded at this while still waxing eminently danceable tunes. The operative word here is "groove." Led by ex-Crusader Wayne Henderson, Rebbie shines on Prince's "I Feel For You," Smokey Robinson's "A Fork In The Road" and "Rusty" Hamilton III's "Ready For Love." But the pace-setter is brother Michael's "Centipede," already a dance smash. Rebbie's debut is another solid notch in the Jackson family's revolver.

RENDEZVOUS — George Duke — Epic FE 39266 — Producer: George Duke — List: 9.98 — Bar Coded

George Duke's solo albums have always featured the same state-of-the-art production and writing skills he's showered on Deniece Williams, Jeffrey Osborne and others and this Epic swan song is no exception. From the great dance grooves of "Got to Get Back to Love" and "Stay Awhile" to the Toto-ish "Take it On," the Hendrix-ish "Better Ways" or the beautiful instrumental "Thinking of You," Duke again proves he's the king — of crossover.

FEATURE PICKS

STEVE MILLER BAND (Capitol B-5407)

Shangri-La (3:59) (Sailor Music/Silk Stocking Music/ASCAP/BMI) (S. Miller-K. Lewis) (Producers: Steve Miller and Kenny Lee Lewis)

That "Abracadabra" man is back with his funkier, most dance-oriented single to date. With a hot groove featuring popping bass, the distinctive Miller vocals, some thoroughly contemporary production tricks and a dab of the wry Miller humor, this one is one of the surest bets of the week. A dynamite cut that should quickly find a home in the clubs, on CHR and B/C with no problem.

CYNDI LAUPER (Portrait BFR 38930)

All Through The Night (4:29) (Funzalo Music-Jutera Music/BMI) (Shear) (Producer: R. Chertoff)

Incorporating all of the musical ingredients of her last three monster hit singles, Cyndi Lauper strikes again with a strong vocal performance on "All Through The Night." Featuring a hypnotic keyboard melody combined with her usual emotion-charged harmonies, "All Through The Night" will insure the continued success of this pop phenom. A top breaker on this week's Cash Box pop singles chart.

LIONEL RICHIE (Motown 1762MF)

Penny Lover (3:46) (Brockman Music/ASCAP) (Richie) (Producers: Lionel Richie and James Anthony Carmichael)

Richie's new single is called "Penny Lover" but it could just as easily be called "Money in the Bank." The lilting ballad once again proves Richie's command of pop/soul/country and should have no trouble following in the footsteps of "All Night Long," "Hello" and "Stuck On You" as the "Can't Slow Down" LP proves its worth it's weight in pennies or platinum.

BOBBY WOMACK (Beverly Glen 2018)

Who's Foolin' Who (4:02) (ABKO Music-Ashtray Music) (Womack-Ford) (Producers: Bobby Womack-Andrew Oldham-Barney Perkins)

Taken from Womack's "The Poet II" LP, this track is a rousing party dance number that captures the deep soulfulness of Womack's experienced voice. Addressing the romantic games people play, the song is upbeat enough for pop audiences yet "Who's Foolin' Who" will work most strongly in the B/C arena. Finger-snapping funk that is highlighted by a scorching sax solo and Womack's arresting vocal treatment. This cut should be another breaker for Womack.

EDDY GRANT (Portrait FR-39261)

Boys In The Street (3:27) (Greenheart Music-ASCAP) (Grant) (Producer: Eddie Grant)

Grant's follow up to the hit "Romancing the Stone" simply solidified his unique position as a pop, rock and reggae artist. "Boys In The Street" incorporates Grant's reggae roots with a hard-hitting rhythm guitar and the delightful vocals that are now his trademark. Produced by Grant "Boys In The Street" is the natural progression that makes followup records hits. By fusing several musical styles Grant enhances the mass appeal that he has already developed.

THE RHYTHM SECTION

LA TOYA 1, DIANA O — One of the many pleasant surprises at the recent Record Bar convention in Hilton Head, South Carolina was the appearance of La Toya Jackson, on hand to boost CBS with the assembled executives and retail managers. Coincidentally, Hurricane Diana decided to ascend the coastline when La Toya descended on Hilton Head. This seemed perfectly appropriate, since La Toya seems to bring the sun with her to interviews anyway. She's a bright lady, in whom you see and hear Michael immediately and whom you know has her work cut out for her, as do all the members of the Jackson family in trying to gain individual respect without seeming to ride Michael's coattails. The Rhythm Section, always on the lookout for the latest Jacksons news, spoke to La Toya about what the last two years have been like — for her as an artist, and as a member of one of the most scrutinized families in music history.

RS: Your family, aside from just the group The Jacksons, has six singles on Cash Box's charts. What is it like trying to develop your own career with all this incredible attention being focused on the whole family? Is it making it easier for you to establish your own identity, or is the competition going to be a problem for you?

LTJ: I certainly hope not. But I like to watch the records and see what other members of the family are doing. It's quite interesting to turn on the television or look at the charts and see another brother or sister climbing up the charts and wondering if your company's behind you promoting yours as much as theirs is promoting them.

RS: I noticed there's a big poster of Janet in the vendors area right across from the CBS booth. So you're running into each other...

LTJ: ... all the time. She says, "Everywhere I go people think I'm you, and wherever I go I see your posters and pictures." And whenever I go places I feel I see her and not me.

RS: You two are closer together in age and Rebbie's the oldest. Why was it that Michael decided to devote the time that he did to her project?

LTJ: She asked him to, and he said yes, of course. And the record company asked him to, and he said yes. So he wrote the song and he did it for her.

RS: But the brothers weren't really involved on your project.

LTJ: Not really. I basically wanted to do it on my own. I didn't want the help of my brothers because I wanted to see what I could do as an individual away from the family. I even wanted to go as La Toya and just forget about the Jacksons. But it's very difficult because people say, "That's your name, you own that name. But I would much rather just see it La Toya. To me that would be just swell — to see what I can do as an individual. Then it feels more comfortable.

RS: Where did your name come from. It's really a beautiful name.

LTJ: My mother made it up. I have no idea where it came from. When I go to Paris, the French say it's French. And the Japanese say it's Japanese.

RS: So much space has been given to the Jacksons over the last two years, and everyone's been looking for angles on the family. What kind of things haven't been written about that you think should be?

LTJ: I think everything's been covered except the truth.

RS: The truth regarding...

LTJ: Well, when I speak of the truth I mean that people like to gossip and read things that they don't know about. As far as record sales and what Michael has done, I think it's all been written about.

RS: So what's important for you to achieve here in the face of all this attention?

LTJ: Every artist of course wants to be at the level that Michael's at. If they tell you they don't, that's not true. I would love to have a platinum or gold record. That would just please me greatly.

RS: That's enough of a goal for right now?

LTJ: Right now. Because I like to take one step at a time. And that's where I'd like to go. I would be very pleased with that.

La Toya's philosophy should serve her well for the long career-building haul ahead of her. She has certainly seen the business enough to understand the pitfalls. Although offered a spot on Solid Gold, she resisted the temptation of such visibility, recognizing the havoc wreaked on the recording careers of such overexposed TV stars as Cher and Donny Osmond. At the time of the interview, the only performing date on her schedule was a co-show with Wayne Newton at the Pacific Amphitheatre. Is this a new team? "I think he'd like to do some more dates, but I want to see how this one goes," said the overcautious La Toya. Meanwhile, after her appearance in South Carolina, she was scheduled to fly to Paris, where she was booked for some guest spots on French TV. After that, she was to stop in Cleveland, where she was to be presented with the key to the city. A nice gesture. "Yes, I think it's very nice. I know that other cities had offered before, but I had left the country and couldn't go to accept them." "That's great," I remarked. "You have keys all over the world waiting for you." La Toya smiled. "The family has lots of keys."

FAT BOYS IN THE BIG HOUSE — The Fat Boys need a big house to fit into for their shows, but this show was really in the slammer — The Correctional Institute for Women on Rikers Island, to be exact. The Sutra Records act was releasing its new 12-inch single "Jail House Rap" the same day.

THE DOOR IS ALWAYS OPEN — Waylon Jennings recently made the announcement of a television special, The Door Is Always Open, which will feature a gathering of top songwriters/artists in tribute to the late Sue Brewer, who helped dozens of Nashville songwriters by opening her home, her refrigerator and her heart to them during the '60s and '70s. Among the performers who will join Jennings in tribute will be Richie Albright, Hank Cochran, Jessi Colter, Harlan Howard, George Jones, Merle Kilgore, Kris Kristofferson, Red Lane, Basil McDavid, Roger Miller, Willie Nelson, Mickey Newbury, Webb Pierce, Shel Silverstein, Billy Swan, Mack Vickery, Hank Williams, Jr. and Faron Young. The show, produced by Plantation Productions of Nashville, will be taped at the Grand Ole Opry House in two different segments. On Oct. 10 a concert setting will be taped featuring Jennings, Nelson, Kristofferson, George Jones and Hank Williams, Jr. This taping will be open to the public with tickets at $10 for general admission and a limited number of reserved seats at $25. Tickets will be on sale at Nashville Central ticket locations and at the Opry House box office beginning Oct. 8. The second segment, a "guitar pullin'" will feature all of the group and the taping on Oct. 11 will be closed to the public. The proceeds from the concert portion of the show will go to establish the Sue Brewer Fund, which will be administered by the Songwriters Guild and will be used to help new aspiring songwriters, as Sue Brewer did. Brewer, who died of cancer in 1981, was born in Dardenelle, Ar. in 1934. She moved to Nashville in 1962 and was the manager of George Jones' Possum Holler, and was circulation manager and columnist for the Music City News. Later she worked with Jennings' fan club. Of all the creativity that grew with her help, one song in particular was written by Vince Matthews and Shel Silverstein, "On Susan's Floor." It was recorded by Mac Wiseman on RCA in 1972, and will be performed on the special. Jennings said of the tribute, "There will never be another Sue Brewer, and we feel that this show in honor of her help and encouragement of songwriters will keep her dreams alive and continue her work for many years to come."

TAKE TWO FROM TENNESSEE — Gov. Lamar Alexander announced that two movies, Johnny Bull and Sweet Dreams will begin production in Tennessee this fall. The Tennessee Film, Tape and Music Commission was formed in 1979 by Gov. Alexander to promote film production projects in the state and since that time the production budgets have grown from $14 million a year to a record $120 million in 1983. The made-for-television production Johnny Bull featuring Colleen Dewhurst, Jason Robards and Suzanna Hamilton, will be filmed in the Knoxville area and is scheduled to air in the spring of 1985. The other film, Sweet Dreams, will be quite a Music City film as it is about the life of the late Patsy Cline. The film will be produced by Bernard Schwartz who also produced the award winning Coal Miner's Daughter. For the past two years Schwartz has done research on the legendary Cline and stated that he is looking forward to working in Tennessee again. Sweet Dreams, an HBO/Silver Screen release, will star Jessica Lange as Patsy Cline and actor Ed Harris and is scheduled to air around Christmas 1985.

THAT'S OPERA, NOT OPRY — Country artist Gary Morris has been signed as the lead male, opposite pop songstress Linda Ronstadt, in the New York Shakespeare Festival production of the opera "La Boheme." The Joseph Papp production will be part of the Shakespeare Festival's new fall season, and Morris will play the part of the young poet Rodolfo in the Puccini opera, which is set in the 1830's Parisian Latin Quarter. Thus, one gets a clearer picture of how Morris' dark, romantic appeal, plus his booming vocal range aided him in getting the role. The opera will open for an eight-week run on Oct. 30 at the Public Theatre, and marks the first full-length classical opera presentation in the 17-year history of New York's Public Theatre. It also marks Morris' first attempt at opera, and he remarked on what this role means to him, "I think a lot of people believe that country music is a pretty restricted field. So I hope this role will help to legitimize country music performers even further. It seems to be a great chance to bring a different kind of credibility to country music to those in legitimate theatre as well as to the New York entertainment industry."

SONGS OF THE RIVER RAT — RCA Records announced the release of the soundtrack to the movie The River Rat, in conjunction with Paramount Pictures. The soundtrack, produced and arranged by Mike Post, features songs from Alabama, Deborah Allen, Earl Thomas Conley, Bill Medley, Autograph and Joey Scarbury. Special cross-promotions are being done during September by RCA and Paramount through radio and retail in markets such as Memphis, Nashville, St. Louis, New Orleans, Albuquerque and all markets in Oklahoma and Texas. Personal appearances by the movie's stars Tommy Lee Jones and Martha Plimpton as well as album giveaways and special movie screenings for contest winners are included in the promotions. Alabama was also involved in the music of another movie project, The Bear, about Bear Bryant, the legendary Alabama football coach. The boys from Alabama will perform the title song and a soundtrack LP is set for release by RCA. Alabama's "Roll On" LP recently achieved double platinum status, making Alabama the only country act to have both an all platinum catalog and ownership of two quadruple platinum LPs.

FANS SIGN GIANT GET WELL CARD — Barbara Mandrell has received one of the world's largest get well cards: a 12' X 25' billboard from KFDI/Wichita and over 36,000 fair visitors including Kansas Governor John Carlin signed the get well wish. American Airlines heard of the card-signing through the nationally syndicated radio program "The Rest of the Story" by Paul Harvey, and volunteered to fly the card to Nashville. John Speer and Chris Collier of KFDI accompanied the card to its present home on a billboard in downtown Nashville. In addition to the signatures, the card reads, "Barbara get well soon. Your friends in Kansas and KFDI." Mandrell underwent further surgery recently and is listed in good condition. Her children, Matthew and Jamie were treated for minor injuries and released from the hospital.

HANK'S BIRTHDAY REMEMBERED

— KLIX/Twin Falls program director Carl Raida conducted a Hank Williams celebration at a local night spot in memory of Williams' birthday anniversary (Sep. 17). The crowd was treated to old Williams records and local musicians doing covers of some of the old standards. The cover charges were donated to the "Volunteers Against Violence" group. Raida noted that the anniversary of Williams' death is often overlooked because it occurs on New Year's Day which leaves only his birthday for a chance to revive his memory in the proper manner.

FIREFIGHTERS AND BROADCASTERS HAVE BIG HEART

— The Wheeling broadcasting company staff and the McMechen Volunteer Fire Department recently held a charity softball double-header raising more than $1,700. The funds generated will go to offset the cost of an open heart surgery operation for a five-year-old girl in the area who has a hole in her heart. Following the games, the Other Brothers performed and auctioned off two souvenir shirts for an additional $250.

CHANCE OF MEETIN' EARL — While in New York City to do CBS Morning News, Earl Thomas Conley stopped by WHN to deliver his new single "Chance Of Lovin' You" to Pam Green, music director and Joel Raab, program director.

Deborah Allen offers the first single from her forthcoming "Let Me Be The First" LP with "Heartache And A Half," a sultry heartbreak song which allows for her most soaring emotional and vocal delivery since "Baby I Lied." The tune builds to an intense, rich ending and the pop-flavored production gives it a sure shot for crossover airplay.

KENTUCKY HEARTS — Exile — Epic FE 39424 — Producer: Buddy Killen — List: 8:98 — Bar Coded

With the first single release, "Give Me One More Chance," setting a hit pace for Exile's "Kentucky Heart" LP at 11 bullet on the Cash Box country singles chart, this album should prove to have plenty of fine tunes to follow, with all the tunes having been penned by members of the group. The production zeroes in on Exile's distinctive sound and offers it in a variety of styles from the upbeat "She's A Miracle," and "I've Never Seen Anything" to the soulful "Somethin' You Got," and "Ain't That A Pity." The LP is packed with hit potential.

ALBUM REVIEWS

HEART & SOUL — Kathy Troccoli — Reunion SPCN-7-01-000512-5 — Producer: Brown Bannister

Kathy Troccoli carries on her "breakheart ministry" with "Heart & Soul," an LP filled with the strong and distinctive affirmations of faith that Troccoli delivers with her booming, worldly-styled vocals. There are jubilant, jazzy songs of praise such as "Holy, Holy," and "Mighty Lord," along with the moving testimonials in "Open My Eyes," and "Bittersweetness," and a powerful synthesized tune "Hearts of Fire." This LP will delight contemporary Christian radio.

ANGELS WILL BE SINGING — Edwin Hawkins and The Music & Arts — Seminar Mass Choir — Birthright BRS-4045 — Producer: Edwin and Walter Hawkins

Edwin Hawkins leads the Mass Choir of the Edwin Hawkins Music & Arts seminar in a second album, which was recorded live at the Nu-Tec Theatre in Philadelphia. This ministry in song features the Mass choir with various solo vocalists including Dr. Sallie Martin, the "Mother of Black Gospel," on a traditional number "No Not One." The spirited title-cut with soloist Lynette Hawkins Stephens, and the spiritual "By The Blood," featuring Elaine Kelly and Edwin Hawkins also highlight the album.

CBS/Sony Opens U.S. CD Plant

material pressed there, with CBS acting as exclusive sales agents for all discs pressed in Terre Haute for its first five years of operation.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was followed by a tour of the facility — with guests donning shoe covers to protect the clean-room environment necessary for the production of the discs. Bruce Springsteen's "Born In The U.S.A." was chosen as the ceremonial first pressing at the plant.

At a press conference later, at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology, CBS/Records group president Walter R. Yetnikoff, said that, "CBS supplied the product, Sony supplied the expertise" in the planning of the plant. He said that among the goals of CBS/Sony were getting retail prices down, allowing records to be released simultaneously in LP and Compact Disc format — something he envisioned for sometime in 1985 — and speeding up the process of delivery. "It's basically difficult to run a record company on an import/export business," he said. The new facility should allow product to be available in the U.S. two weeks earlier — the time it usually takes to transfer materials and clear customs from the Japanese facility.

"Of course, as we increase the capacity, it's possible to lower the cost," said Michael P. Schulhof, director and chairman of strategic planning, Sony Corporation of America, in answer to a question about prices.

One of the ironies to many touring Digital Audio Disc Corporation's facilities was the lack of automated packaging equipment — after the high-tech, space-age quality of the manufacturing process, one ended up at tables of people manually sticking discs into boxes.

"The packaging format is not settled down in the world," explained James M. Frische, vice president/general manager, Digital Audio Disc Corporation, "so we've taken a manual approach." He added that the company had not decided to keep its current "jewel-box" packaging, which is expensive to manufacture. Frische will be overseeing the plant.

CD sales have been steadily rising since they were introduced in the U.S. at the beginning of 1983. By the end of 1984, over 2,000 titles are estimated to be available — up from 550 at the end of '83 — with sales estimated at between eight and nine million — an increase from 1.7 million sold last year. Expanding technology should allow for the introduction, in the near future, of a CD player for cars and, sometime later, a portable unit. Yetnikoff estimated that a figure of 30 software unit sales for every hardware unit sale was a realistic estimate of sales figures for the near future. He also said that, Bruce Springsteen notwithstanding, the first year's production in Terre Haute would "lean more toward classical music."

At the Terre Haute press conference, Toshio Ozawa, chairman, CBS/Sony Inc. and president, Digital Audio Disc Corp., announced that Sony would be opening a laser video disc pressing plant in Terre Haute by the end of 1985, unrelated to the compact disc plant.

As a souvenir of the day, invited guests were given two compact discs: "Born In The U.S.A." and a commemorative disc featuring, among other things, the earliest recording made: Thomas A. Edison reciting "Mary Had A Little Lamb" more than 100 years ago.

natural to insert the horns."

Havadtov also remarked that Nilsson is the one artist to have a selection of songs included. The album includes three to give it some continuity for the consumer and for retailers. "Harry came in last and did three tracks for us, and he actually did a number of others which will probably come out on a 'Harry Does Yoko' album next year," said Havadtov. There will also be three videos culled from the album with Nilsson's "Loneliness" already gaining play on MTV and other video programs as well as videos of Sean Lennon — Ono's cut and of Lennon's title track.

While "Every Man Has A Woman Who Loves Him" has only been in the stores two weeks, response so far has been good just from the buzz put out with the Yoko Ono name associated with the project. Yet Mintz notes, "So often in the past, anything having to do with John and Yoko was met with a great to-do. It was always something of an event. This release has a different feel to it. It has more depth to it and we hope that there will be more of an organic acceptance of this album and Yoko's music from the album and its variety."

Bar-Kays' Price Dies

LOS ANGELES — Bar-Kays guitarist Marcus Price was shot and killed in a robbery attempt on September 21 in Memphis, Tennessee. Price was 19 years old. Price was leaving a rehearsal with the band when he was held up, shot and killed.

INTERNATIONAL DATELINE

Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — The local Chamber of Phonographic Producers played host last week to the Latin American meeting, attended by record companies from all Latin American countries and Spain. The gathering was held at the Plaza Hotel and the most important points of discussion were home taping, record rental policy, piracy, covers, relations with the societies collecting rights for authors and composers and governments, and design of jackets and sleeves. Nestor Selasco, president of the Argentinian chamber, termed the congress "a success," stating that nearly 45 delegates from other countries were present and that interesting decisions were blueprinted with regards to talking against piracy and the collection of performing rights in the countries where no such legislation exists.

Interdisc topper Ruben Aprile reports that Alejandro Lerner is starting to record his long awaited new album, to be released in about a month. Lerner hit the charts twice last year, and has been busy travelling and performing during recent months. The label is currently promoting some of the tunes of his second effort on radio.

Microfon Argentina will be celebrating its 25th anniversary this month. The company was founded by Mario and Norberto Kaminsky, and Mario Lopez (now marketing director of RCA) in 1959 and has been one of the leading indie companies for the past 10 years. During the 70s, the company opened branches in other Latin Markets (mainly Mexico and Miami) but the recession strongly affected record sales in Spain and forced that operation to fold.

CBS promotion manager Norberto Tejero reports very good sales for "Off the Wall," the Michael Jackson album that has been relaunched after the success of the "Thriller" LP, which surpassed the half million mark in this country. CBS is now working on the development of its end-of-year campaign, which will begin with a sales & promotion convention in the second half of this month.

Speaking of conventions, RCA and PolyGram are holding company gatherings at the Bisonte Hotel in the city of Mar del Plata. The product unveiled at the meeting includes the new album by Valeria Lynch, recently inked by the diskery headed by Jorge Schutt; the new LP by rock star Litto Nebbia, tagged "1992," and the latest recording by folk artist Miguel Angel Robles. The company recently hosted a party to unveil the first LP by chanteuse Magdalena Leon, with good attendance by the press, radio and TV people.

PolyGram promotion manager Leo Bentivoglio reports that his company has rereleased an album recorded by the late poet and composer Jaime Davalos, with songs devoted to historic hero Martin Miguel de Guemes. In addition there is a new album by Elton John, which is being promoted with videos on television, and another one by local chanteuse Julia Zenko, a star on the rise. The company received a visit by John Lear, currently managing director in Mexico, who came to Buenos Aires to attend the FLAPP convention.

Francisco Vidal of Tonodisc reports that his company will release 12 soundtracks under the Disney logo. The Catalog was contracted recently.

Two important local artists have renewed contracts with PolyGram: pop singer and composer Sergio Denis and folk chanteuse Mercedes Sosa have inked new agreements with the diskery headed by Alberto Dieguez. The company is now releasing a double album recorded live by Valeria Lynch, a new LP by Julia Zenko and a new album by pop-rock group Los Helicopteros, produced by Ricardo Kleinman. Promotional efforts are being geared toward the release of the new LP by Cuarteto Zupay, with contemporary repertoire penned by composers like Maria Elena Walsh, Leon Geico and Litto Nebbia, among others.

The company invited reporters and dealers (retailers for records, electronics and cameras) to these conventions. The company has 500 stores representing video outlets throughout the country now. But an executive of the company said that K.K. Pony will have 1,000 video outlets by the end of this year and 1,200 by March 1985 and 2,000 by the end of next year.

Warner's LiPuma Relocates To New York City

LOS ANGELES — In a move that signifies a shift in Warner Bros. A&R focus, vice president of A&R and progressive music Tony LiPuma will relocate from the label's Burbank headquarters to its New York offices.

Most recently, LiPuma was involved in producing the debut album from multi-instrumentalist/composer Michael Ruff. Currently, Li Puma is producing the third LP for jazz-fusion artists The Yellowjackets. With past producing credits including albums by George Benson, Michael Frank and Al Jarreau, the move to New York points to more jazz/progressive music signings and projects coming from the east coast.

Optimism Reigns At Conference

plus those who fall in between. That was a major accomplishment that we had not had before," commented Granberg.

A primary topic of discussion was found in the question of video in record stores. In a platform headed at intervals by Stan Goman of Tower Records, Alan Schwartz of Show Industries and Lee Cohen of Licorice Pizza, the status of video music and movies in regards to sales and means of promotion were explored in-depth. The platform was directed at the manufacturers, and dealt mostly with music video. The retailers acknowledged music video as a major force in the sales of record and tapes, accrediting it with much of the upswing seen in the industry in recent years. Establishing this retail-level view, problems in the promotion and marketing of the cassettes were addressed. Tighter editing of tapes was one of the first requests, with Tower Records' Gorman asking manufacturers for less air on certain compilations, especially in the space just after the album cover appears. More Beta tapes were also asked for, along with a request that compilations (which generally include as many as 20 songs) be reduced to three or four, due to what Goman described as a consumer "fatigue factor" involved with tapes that are too lengthy. Laser videodiscs were presented as a promising sales item.

A major complaint heard from the retailers in regards to video music product was the timeliness of it. Many of the retail reps felt that product was too long in making their shelves and that by the time many of these releases are available, they are well beyond their initial consumer demand. Retailers pointed out that video and records have in fact become the same business, and that manufacturers must make a much firmer commitment to it on the retail level. That commitment was highlighted as the "bottom line" in retailer's quest for fresh catalog, though further situations similar to the MTV exclusivity deals were also cited as creating delays in retailers receipt of timely video music.

Universal Product Code bar coding was a topic of particular concern to retailers, who stressed the importance of this system. A multimedia presentation of the RIM Computer System and its uses for bar-coded product was made, with various points listed as benefits to both retailer and manufacturer, including increased sales, expansion of catalog product, reduced returns, decreased processing costs, faster distribution of product and refinement of industry marketing programs. Retailers urged manufacturers to be more consistent in the bar coding of product. A major accomplishment was WEA's Henry Droz statement of "embarrassment" over his company's lassitude in bar coding, and his subsequent promise to see the situation changed.

"The Continuing Havoc: White Label and Promo Copies" was the title of one of the most distressing and yet continuous issues presented before the two committees, addressing the problem of the infiltration of test pressings and promotional copies in the marketplace. Though culprits of this leak of merchandise are thought to vary from shipping clerks to high-ranking industry personnel, aside from the numbering of product, little has been done to trace these outlets. Efforts made to pull the illegal merchandise from record stores have been met with legal recourse by store managers in respect to private property. Suggested action against offenders ranged from increased retailer-manufacturer communication on the matter to complaints to local authorities. An attitude of "constant pressure" on store managers was encouraged. The discussion was led by John Farr of Target Stores, who requested that manufacturers speak with their legal counsels and report back.

Other topics touched upon were the packaging and in-store placement of compact discs, the success of the "Gift of Music" campaign and the expense of the returns of 45s.

"Optional" Clause Struck Down

the contract would meet the provisions of California law enabling the label to be granted a court-issued injunction.

In rendering its decision the court overturned a lower court's injunction against the singer saying that the existence of such an option is unlawful. Judge J. Johnson wrote, "In this manner the company hedges its bets on the success of its artists. If the artist is not selling, the company does not exercise its option. If the artist catches on with the public and begins to make a substantial sum of money for the company, the company plays its 'option' card to keep the artist from jumping to another label . . . as the case at bar indicates, the company may wait until the last possible moment to exercise its option."

The judge surmised, "thus the companies purchased an insurance policy worth a considerable sum for a minimal premium just prior to the time they could be fairly certain a loss would occur. If the option clause meets the statutory requirement of minimum compensation ($6,000), the company can buy its insurance policy on the courthouse steps on its way to seek an injunction."

The appellate court ruled the "option" clause, "would allow a record company to bind the entire student body of 'Rydell High' to personal services contracts (and pay nothing) on the off chance one of them turns out to be Olivia Newton-John."

"It is no answer to say," the court document continued, "that by the time Motown and Jobete sought injunctive relief to enforce the exclusivity clauses Teena Marie had become a star. Motown and Jobete did not contract with a star. By their own admission they contracted with a 'virtual unknown.'"

The judge added, "allowing the companies, once they judge the artist to have achieved star quality, to enforce the exclusivity clause would violate the concept of fundamental fairness which is also embodied in section 3423."

The judge concluded, "The option clause gives the company the coercive power of a credible threat of injunctive relief without it having to guarantee or pay the artist anything. The threat of prohibitory injunction may be just as effective as the injunction itself in discouraging the artist from seeking more lucrative employment."

roots for master recording to compact discs.

Larry Rosen, co-president and co-founder of GRP Records along with Dave Grusin, summed up his company's objectives in the coming months: "Our goal is to gain further penetration in the marketplace by raising the consciousness level of the retailer concerning GRP and its product and by doing so create a greater consumer awareness for the kind of music we are producing. We believe our "GRP is Jazz" campaign will accomplish these goals."

AROUND THE ROUTE

The Hamilton Hotel in Itasca, Illinois provided the setting for the annual Rowe distributors meeting and new product presentation, September 20-21, which drew a packed house of distributors to view the factory's new line of music and vending equipment. The opening segment of the two-day conclave focused on vending, including the 448 food machine, 406 drink machine along with the coffee and snack vending equipment, all completely redesigned for "not only a new look but a new architectural standard," as noted by Ed Wiler, vice president-marketing, in his introductory remarks. The unveiling drew vigorous applause from the distributor assemblage! Coffee Mat is now a division of Rowe and Rowe prexy Merrill Krakauer advised attending distributors that the first models (to be produced at the Whippany, NJ facility) will be released next month and will reflect a new design. In addressing the meeting, Krakauer concentrated on distribution, focusing on the change in market conditions and the necessity for distributors to adjust accordingly and deal with the realities of the marketplace. Mylstar Electronics Closes CHICAGO — Mylstar Electronics, Inc. (formerly D. Gottlieb & Co.) closed its doors as of Sept. 30. Cash Box learned, at press time, that the prominent amusement games manufacturer was discontinuing operations at its Northlake, Illinois facility but was unable to reach company officials for further specifics.

As disclosed in the Chicago Sun-Times, the parent company, Columbia Pictures Industries (a unit of Coca Cola Co.) opted to close down Mylstar because of "adverse market conditions and the persistent deterioration of the market" for the company's product. No mention was made as to whether or not there would be any negotiations regarding the sale of the name or the rights to Mylstar products.

News of the closure was not so much surprising as it was disheartening to the coin machine trade. Rumors of problems at Mylstar have persisted for quite some time but the reality of a once-so-vital member of the ranks closing down its operations is painful and difficult to fathom.

Industry Enthusiastic About Compact Discs

by Ron Rosenthal

LOS ANGELES — Many music industry people are talking about compact discs (CDs) and compact disc players. Now that all of the major labels are putting out their artists on CD, from classical to jazz to rock, many are wondering what the future will bring. Retailers are reporting that they are experiencing steadily increasing sales.

A good way to see why compact discs are so revolutionary is to compare them to today's standards — records and tapes. With records, you have a stylus that picks the signal off of the record by friction. As the stylus hits the record it produces lead-in noise. As it continues through the grooves of the record the distortion from this process continues. Other nuisances are the occasional pop or click if there is dust or dirt on the record, not to mention scratches and skips. Records are rather fragile and they require proper cleaning before each use. And of course if a record is left in the hot sun it will warp.

Tapes aren't much better. As the tape moves over the playback head of the tape deck, distortion is created and with it the inherent hiss. Adding to this distortion are all of the moving parts within a tape deck, which are also the cause of fluctuations in speed or "wow" and "flutter." Tapes, like records, are susceptible to damage by direct sunlight or extreme cold and like records lose their sound quality as the number of uses increases.

The compact disc is revolutionary because it solves all of these problems. A compact disc is made out of plastic that is immune to extreme heat or cold. An outer shell of acrylic protects the recording underneath, which will last forever at its original sound quality. There is no wear as nothing ever touches the disc. The information is read off of the disc by a finely tuned laser beam, which penetrates the acrylic covering and reads the information underneath. The music begins out of nowhere, meaning no lead-in noise, and plays without annoying clicks and pops. Distortion is less than 1/100 of a conventional record or tape. Dynamic range, which is a large part of life-like sound reproduction, is 90 decibels, compared to 60 db for conventional records. This means being able to listen to Bruce Springsteen hammer away with no overload, or being able to listen to a flute solo with no hiss. Compact discs do not pop or click because the laser reads the disc through any surface dust or dirt. Wow and flutter are so low that they can't even be measured. Other problems that are solved: No special cleanings are required, there are no skips caused by vibration, and with the elimination of the stylus you have a laser that will last about 10 times as long as a good quality diamond stylus with the same replacement cost, about $80.

The way a compact disc produces sound is much more accurate than the way a record produces sound. Analog sound (i.e. conventional records and tapes) is severely limited. It attempts to reproduce an exact duplicate of the musical waveform, but the picture it tries to draw can never be complete because records and tapes are not capable of capturing information of such complexity.

Digital sound and compact discs are the answer to this problem. Rather than trying to duplicate something as complex as an audio waveform, the music is first converted into a binary digital code. Binary systems are quite simple. They consist of just two forms of data, yes or no, or in this case, pit or no pit. A compact disc stores music using a series of over 13 billion bumps called "pits." And as the laser scans these pits it samples the musical waveform, quantizes it into a code of 16 binary digits and upon playback, reconverts the data back into its original form. Of course this is a simplified explanation, but let it suffice to say that this process produces a far more accurate sound than conventional methods.

Another problem that is solved by compact disc technology is that of a scratched disc. A compact disc is almost impossible to scratch because the outer acrylic coating can not be scratched even by a sharp fingernail. If someone purposefully chiselled a scratch through the surface and damaged the pits below, the compact disc player, using three separate error correction systems, would actually reconstruct the data lost by the scratches. Using a computer-industry technique called "interleaving," the data is recorded in a shuffled form and the correct order is restored upon playback. This means that continuous data does not exist side-by-side on the disc. So a scratch doesn't destroy consecutive signals and any data lost due to scratches is accurately replaced.

Price has been one of the barriers to public acceptance of this new technology but many sources indicate that the price of compact discs and compact disc players will continue to fall. Compact disc maintain a structure that depends largely on game sales," he said. "The days of taking orders by telephone are over; you must set your mind to selling aggressively and exploit all of the opportunities available to you." Rowe holds an enviable position in the marketplace, as Wiler pointed out. "We are first in sales in the product lines we market and this year we will produce an all time record-breaking sales volume with national accounts," he said, adding that "our music sales are ahead of last year." Distribs attending this year's conclave were most enthusiastic about what they heard and what they saw — "new" being a key element in design and structure of the products revealed. "We made a decision to completely redesign the R-89 jukebox, from a styling standpoint," observed Krakauer. "We felt that in order to maintain the strong market position we have with the jukebox, this was a necessary and desirable step to take. We will also have a new R-89 video jukebox," he added, which is similar in format to the R-88 and compatible with it. Krakauer also advised distribs that Rowe has made modifications in the pricing structure of the video jukebox "to make it even more attractive." Since the meeting was still in session at deadline and this reporter had to get back to the office to complete this column, please keep tuned to next week's issue for further coverage and photos.

Moving. Singer One Stop For Ops has relocated its first branch office in Michigan to new facilities at 1066 Burton St. S.W., Wyoming, Michigan 49509. The phone number out there is 616-241-1732, with John Batka continuing as manager and Singer co-owner Gus Tartol coming in frequently from Chicago headquarters to help settle the new digs. When we spoke with Gus this past week he asked us to make note of a single that's made-to-order jukebox hit; namely, Frank Sinatra's "L.A. Is My Lady" (WB), which should go the way of his famous "My Kind Of Town (Chicago Is)" and "New York, New York" city hits! The flip side is "Until The Real Thing Comes Along," which features such greats in the band as George Benson, Lionel Hampton, Bob James, Urbie Green and others. Gus calls it a two-sided hit!

Business is picking up at Mondial-Springfield, as we learned from general manager Tony Yula. Data East's "Karate Champ" has been "fantastic" on test and "looks like a number one game." Mondial has heavy orders for this piece. "Punch Out" is still holding its own; Mylstar's "The Games" is doing well and initial reaction to "Touchdown" is very encouraging, according to Tony. Atari's "Return Of The Jedi" is a new arrival, so it's too soon to tell and Mondial is anxiously awaiting the new VS system kit on golf and pinball combination. A current deterring factor to business in this market is the new government alcoholic beverage law for clamping down on drunken drivers. Unfortunately, it's also taking a bite out of operator earnings, since this law calls for reduced hours at bars, resulting in reduced purchases of drinks and, naturally, a reduced number of patrons to play games.

Cash Box has learned that AVMDA (the distrib organization) is in the process of closing down its Chicago headquarters office and negotiating for its absorption into AGMA. This would bring into one organization the industry's two major manufacturer and distributor associations, who jointly sponsor the annual ASI trade convention. No further details were available at presstime.

Bally Dist. Expands Into Florida Names Harry Devlin To Sales Post

CHICAGO — Charles H. Farmer, president of Bally Distributing Corporation, announced the expansion of the distributor organization into the Florida market where a full line distribution facility for music, games, vending, parts and service will be established. This new branch will become the responsibility of Bally Banner under the direction of Al Rodstein and Alan Bruck.

"The Florida market has shown a need for a full line distributor," stated Farmer. "Bally Distributing will fill that void and at the same time demonstrate our belief in the music and games business."

Industry veteran Henry "Harry" A. Devlin, Jr. has been named the account executive for the Florida market. Devlin began his career in the industry with Bally's Aladdin's Castle in 1976 and recently served as branch manager for Monroe Distributing in Orlando, Florida. He attended the University of Florida.

"I enjoyed working with the operators in Florida," said Devlin, "and cannot wait to get going again. Being part of the Bally Distributing team will make my work that much easier."

Carrara Promoted

In a subsequent announcement, Farmer advised that Ron Carrara has been promoted to operations manager for Bally Advance in South San Francisco, California. "Carrara will assist Will Laurie as operations manager, overseeing all areas of music, games and vending sales," stated Farmer. "Ron brings to this position over 20 years experience in the coin industry."

Carrara has been with Bally Advance for only two months, starting as a vending salesman. His dedication, drive, personality and ability to manage are but a few of the reasons for his promotion, as Farmer pointed out.

A graduate of San Francisco State University, Carrara initially came to Bally Advance after leaving his position as national sales manager with Sean Coin.

players are now available to the general public for less than $400, and the retail price of the discs, according to Marc Finer, product communications manager of Sony Corporation, should drop to $9.99 by the end of 1984. Two U.S. factories are scheduled to start production of compact discs this year, which will add to those being imported from overseas. A rising supply should create a falling of prices.

Besides lower prices, the future will bring many exciting developments. Soon to arrive will be compact disc players for the car. One model, the CDX-R7, will soon be available from Sony and it will include an AM/FM radio and some of the same features found on the home CD units now available. Other projects in the works are walkman-type compact disc players and CD portables of larger size. Also a possibility in the future are CD "screen output players." Keep in mind that a compact disc can hold much more than musical information. In the future a compact disc may include lyrics and liner notes, usually found on an album, which would be read from a monitor. And as previously reported by Cash Box, the new Seeburg Phonogram Corporation is planning to ultimately develop a coin-operated phonograph that will utilize the CD. Look for these and many more developments in the future.

'Olympic Fever' Open House At Betson

CHICAGO — A Pre-Olympic Games open house was recently hosted by Betson Pacific Distg. Co., Los Angeles, and attended by a full gathering of southern operators.

Appropriately enough, Mylstar's "The Games" pinball, was among the featured products shown, along with "Q*bert's Qubes," "Alien Star," "Three Stooges" and "Us vs Them." Lenore Sayers, who represented Mylstar at the event, noted the "especially good response" to the factory's "Us vs Them" laser conversion for "MACH 3." "The earnings of the converted games are bringing in excellent profits on location," she advised. Betson Pacific president Peter Betti added, "We're proud to be the exclusive Mylstar/Gottlieb distributor in California and Hawaii. These new games illustrate the commitment Mylstar is making to this industry and the top quality of their products."

Among the new products previewed at the event was Exidy's "Cheyenne" gun game, which was scheduled for September release, as noted by the firm's Mirelle Chevalier, who was also present at the open house. "We are looking forward to a strong showing of 'Cheyenne' and are pleased to have introduced this new Exidy game to the southern California operators." Peter Betti commented that "The prototype 'Cheyenne' game looks like a strong follow-up to the 'Crossbow,' which has earned very well," adding that he was most pleased to have this game showcased at this function.

John Lotz, Betson Pacific director of marketing, observed that the market seems to be gaining strength from the new products being introduced and noted that pinballs are showing positive response. "The Games' new playfield design shows Mylstar's superiority in developing a product that earns on location," he said. "Cheyenne" is certain to be a winning shooting game. And "Q*bert's Qubes" attracted new enthusiasm for the follow-up video," he continued. "It seems that the variety of games available makes a good mix in the marketplace."

Bally Names Huss

CHICAGO — William G. Malloy, vice president, announced the appointment of Frank Huss to the position of assistant director of credit management for Bally Distributing Corporation. "Frank will become a valuable addition to the staff of G.L.A.C., will work directly for Nat Fredman and be an asset to the continuation of solid credit programs," said Malloy, in making the announcement.
