COVER STORY

Nine Inch Nails Driven Downward

If anything could possibly cheer up recording artist Trent Reznor—who for all intents and purposes is Nine Inch Nails—then it would be the success of his second full-length TVT/Interscope release The Downward Spiral. It comes five years after NIN's Pretty Hate Machine, the industrial rock genre's first breakthrough sales hit.

AIMP Music Award Noms

The Association of Independent Music Publishers (AIMP) has announced the nominees for its Second Annual AIMP Music Awards, presented to songwriters and publishers for two categories of works which "fall through the cracks" of eligibility for Oscars or Grammys: "Best Film Song From Another Source" and "Best Pop Cover Song."

Pesci Prowls Hollywood Blvd.

Joe Pesci is a wonderful choice for the starring role in Jimmy Hollywood, embodying the talent and self-confidence—though not necessarily the physical attributes—general audiences tend to think allow actors to "make it" no matter what. Christian Slater co-stars in this terrific Paramount Pictures release.

AIMP NAMES 2ND AWARDS NOMS: The Association of Independent Music Publishers (AIMP) has announced the nominees for its Second Annual AIMP Music Awards. The honors will be presented to songwriters and publishers in two categories, "Best Film Song From Another Source," and the newly added "Best Pop Cover Song." The awards were created to recognize outstanding musical works which "fall through the cracks" in meeting strictly-defined eligibility requirements for the Oscar and Grammy awards, respectively.

When the awards were instituted last year, Dolly Parton received the sole award for "I Will Always Love You," re-recorded by Whitney Houston for The Bodyguard. "Best Pop Cover Song" was added this year.

The nominees are: BEST FILM SONG FROM ANOTHER SOURCE: "Dude Looks Like A Lady" from Mrs. Doubtfire and Wayne's World II; Writers, Desmond Child, Steven Tyler, Joe Perry; Publishers, EMI April Music, Inc., Aero Dynamics Music, Desmobile Music.

"I Will Follow Him," Sister Act 2; Writers, J.W. Stolle, Del Roma, Jacque Plante, Norman Gimble, Arthur Altman; Publishers, Rytvoc, Inc., Better Half Music Co.

"That's Life," from A Bronx Tale; Writers Dean Kay, Kelly Gordon; Publisher, PolyGram International Publishing, Inc.

"Walk Like A Man" from Heart And Souls; Writers, Bob Gaudio, Bob Crewe; Publisher, Claridge Music.

"When I Fall In Love" from Sleepless In Seattle; Writers, Edward Heyman, Victor Young; Publisher, Chappell & Co., Inc.

BEST POP COVER SONG: "Because The Night" by 10,000 Maniacs; Writers Patti Smith, Bruce Springsteen; Publisher, Bruce Springsteen.

"Can't Help Falling In Love" by UB40; Writers George David Weiss, Hugo Peretti, Luigi Creatore; Publisher, Gladys Music.

"Cat's In The Cradle," by Ugly Kid Joe; Writers Harry Chapin, Sandra Chapin; Publisher Story Songs, Ltd.

"Have I Told You Lately," by Rod Stewart; Writer Van Morrison; Publisher, Caledonia Publishing, Ltd.

"To Love Somebody" by Michael Bolton; Writers, Barry Gibb, Robin Gibb; Publisher Gibb Bros. Music.

PGD IS NARM'S DISTRIBUTOR: PolyGram Group Distribution (PGD) was honored at the National Association of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) 1994 convention with the first ever "Distributor of the Year" award. This award is of special significance in that it is voted upon by PGD's customers—retailers and wholesalers.

"I know I speak on behalf of everyone within the PGD organization nationwide in re-stating our commitment to fulfilling the needs of our customers at the retail and wholesale level," said Jim Caparro PGD president and CEO. "Since we are the first recipient of this award, we are truly honored."

The award was presented by Steve Strome, president of Handleman Company and outgoing NARM president.

HILFIGER & ATLANTIC TO DO TV FASHION SHOW: Tommy Hilfiger and The Atlantic Group have announced the formation of a partnership to launch a television series to air on MTV and VH-1. Titled "The Tip," the project will bring together the creative energies of music and fashion. Among the musical artists slated to appear in the first segments are Tori Amos, Phil Collins, En Vogue, Evan Dando of The Lemonheads and Stevie Nicks. The announcement was made by Hilfiger and Atlantic Group co-chairman/co-CEO Doug Morris.

"The Tip" will feature Hilfiger as host and be taped in five-minute segments, each featuring a different artist. The concept is an impromptu "closet search" where Hilfiger will visit the closets of musical artists, speaking to them about their wardrobes and how they relate to their lifestyles. Hilfiger said there are future plans to delve into the closets of sports figures, film stars and even VJs.

Stoute has been an A&R

consultant for RCA Records for the past year. ■ Christian Ulf-Hansen has been promoted to director of United Kingdom writer/publisher relations at BMI, the American performing rights organization. Ulf-Hansen joined BMI's London staff in March 1993 as associate director after working at PRS, the U.K. performing rights society. ■ Levine/Schneider Public Relations has promoted former assistant Todd Brodgin to the position of publicist. Brodgin will continue to work closely in their music division with Tresa Redburn, who was recently upped to senior vice president.

INDUSTRY BUZZ

By Ted Williams

Cash Box EAST COAST

NuYo/Imago recording artist Maggie Estep's debut album No More Mr. Nice Girl will ship to retail on April 26 and marks the first release on the joint venture between the Imago Recording Company and the NuYo label. Estep recently gave a sold-out performance at NYC's Wetlands, one of the stops of the "MTV Spoken Wurd" tour, and she'll return to New York on April 21 for a headlining gig at The Grand. Helping celebrate after the Wetlands show are (l-r): Jim Coffman (NuYo), Terry Ellis (president, Imago), Maggie Estep, Ron Baldwin (v.p. A&R, Imago), Bob Holman (NuYo) and Bill Adler (NuYo).

ALL-4-ONE, if handled carefully, can become one of the standard-bearing vocal groups of the '90s. Their hit recording of the 1963 Tymes classic "So Much In Love" (Blitz/Atlantic) exposes only a corner of the wide-ranging vocal talents of this young group. The tight a cappella harmony pays homage to the '50s and '60s doo wop and R&B groups, but All-4-One also blends the best elements from the jazz, pop and hip-hop genres.

The four Southern Californians, while having no formal music training, passed through the basic training of their church choirs. Jamie Jones, Tony Borowiak and Alfred Navarez were the original members, and they were quickly joined by Delious Kennedy. Jamie, Tony, and Alfred were friends who got the idea to form the group while recording jingles for a local radio station. They then began to search for the fourth voice. They had met Delious earlier and then saw him again on Arsenio Hall's "Flavor Of The Future" show in November '93. Delious, born in NYC and living in Sherman Oaks, CA, was invited to join and All-4-One was born.

The group's debut album was produced by Blitz president Tim O'Brien and Cary St. Clair, and Grammy-winning producer and Atlantic VP David Foster. The album showcases the guys moving smoothly from the slick harmonizing of "So Much" and "A Better Man" to the hip-hop influenced "(She's Got) Skillz" and the all-elements-combined "Without You." Foster has also produced the group's next single, an All-4-One customized version of John Michael Montgomery's country hit "I Swear."

Make no mistake about it—All-4-One is not just another quartet of fine voices. These fellas are bright, articulate and personable. They have very strong views on not only the performing end but the business of music as well as wide-ranging social issues. They are musically and intellectually symbiotic. They are ready. They are here. Make way.

HOT ALTERNATIVE MUSIC NIGHT at NYC's Limelight club recently. After a 10 p.m. reception for the bands, the partying began! Sort Sol, a band that's been around in different musical settings from its punk origins to no-holds-barred rock, opened. Their music asks not to be defined...but it rocks. Sort Sol won three Grammy awards in Denmark in 1992, and four more in that country in 1993 for their Glamourpuss album (Sony Music Denmark).

Excess Bleeding Heart, also from Denmark, laid down a set with myriad musical elements shaped into a classic rock package. Their music seems somehow outrageous and, still, always accessible.

Maria Excommunicata has been called the "Best Unsigned Band" by NY radio station WDRE, and their self-released CD Ocean is receiving airplay on a number of area stations. Maria Ex, not a person but a band of five women, is a mixture of rock & roll, pop, jazz, opera, flair and charisma. and...well, you gotta be there. There is a groundswell of cult-like excitement surrounding this group on the street. Beware.

This year's South By Southwest convention, usually only attended by the cutting-edge crowd, drew all types, including country singers dressed in black. Seen here following a showcase by just such a performer is (l to r) Geffen Records staffers Mark Di Dia and Mark Kates, new American Recordings artist Johnny "Potato-head" Cash (this year's Tony Bennett?) and DGC folk rocker Beck. Cash was later voted the Confab's "Miss Congeniality."

THE MEMBERS OF HIP NEW Blue Note/Capitol band Us3 seemed genuinely excited to receive gold records for their slick Hand On The Torch album at a post-show party last week, thrown by the label at Camacho's at Citywalk, following the second of two performances at the Universal Amphitheatre, opening for UB40. The folks at Blue Note were also understandably happy, celebrating that label's first-ever gold record award. Also on hand was Herbie Hancock and the Counting Crows' Adam Durwitz.

A FAMILY FUN FAIR, organized to replenish the recently overworked funds of the American Red Cross, is being planned for the weekend of April 23 and 24. Co-sponsored by record companies Virgin, Kaper, A&M, Solar and Isis, the benefit will take place at the Red Cross' Inglewood chapter. Labels are encouraged to arrange for new artists to perform at the event, with space also available for merchandise sales and promotion. Interested parties should contact the Inglewood Red Cross.

RECENT LOS ANGELES-TO-NEW YORK transplant Danny Goldberg, now Atlantic Records' president, has been tapped as the keynote speaker at this year's New Music Seminar. The speech will be on July 20 at the Sheraton New York Hotel & Towers. Goldberg continues his fine work with SoCal's ACLU chapter.

WHAT BETTER WAY TO celebrate April Fool's Day than with Carol Channing? The theater legend did an ultra-rare in-store appearance last Friday at the Tower Records store in West Hollywood to promote her new Jazz Baby album, an 18-cut salute to show music of the '20s released by DRG Records. And don't miss the lovely Miss Channing this Wednesday when she rocks the house at Johnny Depp's Viper Room for an A.I.D.S. benefit.

Here's a fun game. Spot members of cool new Epic band The Grays, mixed into this pile of label staffers following the group's thrilling performance at last month's NARM convention in San Francisco.

TALENT REVIEWS

James

By Troy J. Augusto

THE PALACE, HOLLYWOOD, CA—For a band that prides itself on its connection to its fans, James was a surprisingly distant group at this sold-out show, the first of two at the Palace.

Since its inception 11 years ago the atmospheric six-piece Manchester, England group has fostered a reputation for grand live performances—dramatic affairs that captivated a mid-'80s British music scene hungry for dramatic substance following the previous decade's shallow punk callousness.

And now, just as James is beginning to develop a solid Stateside following, fueled by the recent radio success of the quirky sex tale "Laid," does the band give Los Angeles an inconsistent, uninspired performance. After exciting shows at last summer's W.O.M.A.D. festival and at the Roxy this past fall, this comparatively flat performance indicates that perhaps the band has been on the road too long.

Not to say that the 100-minute concert completely lacked appeal. Singer Tim Booth, one of pop music's most compelling frontmen, often casts a spooky, quasi-psychedelic spell over his listeners, at times elevating the band's songs of lust, frustration and guilt to an almost spiritual level. The dreamy "Lullaby" and new single "Sometimes," sporting a choral hook big enough to swing from, were two instances this evening that hit that mark.

James' current Fontana/Mercury album Laid was produced with exquisite, warm detail by Brian Eno and contains some of the band's most accomplished and compelling work. This show sampled much from that album but, unfortunately, rarely reached the record's lofty heights.

Tori Amos

By Troy J. Augusto

WADSWORTH THEATRE, LOS ANGELES, CA—In a music world littered with pained confessionals, angst-ridden tales of abuse and 12-step program graduates sits Tori Amos, under a single bright spotlight, singing—no, make that emoting—"Me And A Gun," a track from her 1991 Atlantic album Little Earthquakes.

This song, Amos' terrifying recollection of a sexual assault that she once suffered, remains her piece de résistance, the singular creative moment in her brief solo career that dramatically separates her from the rest of her contemporaries.

"Me and a gun, and a man on my back"...the words leave her lips as whispers yet scream their way into her listeners' souls as if fired from that same gun. A moment of silence at song's end, followed by stunned applause from the capacity crowd...not cheers for the song or the artist, but a heartfelt reaction meant simply to show love and support for someone still in obvious pain.

Then "Baker, Baker," from her new Atlantic release, Under The Pink... "Baker, baker, make me whole again," a sign of survival and escape. Amos' soul-baring cries, more prevalent on the first album, are in vain without the poems of resolution and recovery that make her new album, and its companion concert, the successes that they are.

And it's that sense of ultimate healing that makes Tori Amos the compelling artist that she is.

Another key is her sharp, perhaps surprising senses of wit and humor that keep her on a level that all in the audience can relate to. Teetering on heavy-handedness but never crossing that fatal line, Amos lessens the blows of these tales of neglect, paranoia, loneliness and lost dreams with light quips that serve as perfect set-ups to the songs, similar to the anecdotal stories that sci-fi writer Isaac Asimov used to precede his essays.

Elsewhere, "Icicle," an empowering tome of self-reliance, an updated version of her take on Nirvana's "Smells Like Teen Spirit," hit "Silent All These Years" and "Winter," a raw, emotional song of desired reconciliation softened by a bitter-sweet melody, were the best moments of a 95-minute show that simply lacked filler.

"Come along now little darlin', we'll see how brave you are," she sings on "Yes, Anastasia," the final song on the new album. We already, it seems, know how brave Tori Amos is.

COVER STORY

Nine Inch Nails Driven Downward

By Troy J. Augusto

The road version of Nine Inch Nails

NO ONE COULD possibly be as darkly bitter as Trent Reznor's music makes him appear to be, could they? Actually, like a latter-day, industrial Jim Morrison, Reznor, who, for all intents and purposes is Nine Inch Nails, is a rather mellow sort who uses his music as the perfect outlet to channel thoughts of outrage, disgust and frustration.

From "March of The Pigs," one of the more explosive songs on the Nails' current TVT/Interscope album, The Downward Spiral: "I want to break it up, I want to smash it up, I want to fuck it up, I want to watch it come down." If he's talking about pre-conceived barriers in the music industry to his methodical dismantlement of pop, well, he's certainly succeeded. Soon after its issue, the new album was at the top of every major sales chart, including Cashbox, where it peaked at No. 2 in its second week of release.

That success followed the platinum-plus sales of Pretty Hate Machine, Reznor's first album as Nine Inch Nails. That 1989 album, which included the alternative hits "Head Like A Hole," "Down In It" and "Terrible Lie," was the industrial rock genre's first breakthrough sales hit and paved the way for the band's participation in the first Lollapalooza tour, in 1991. After all but stealing that tour's thunder, anticipation began building for a follow-up to the debut—not to come, of course, until the current record, five years after the first.

In between, though, the Broken e.p. of 1992 served as a tasty, between-meal snack for Nails fans, as did Fixed, an extremely limited-edition re-mix recording of Broken, whose top-10 chart debut in the fall of '92 served notice that Trent's fans were tiring of waiting for new material.

Though industrial rock, played by such groups as Skinny Puppy, KMFDM and Ministry, has never been looked on as anything the mainstream would be interested in, radio and video outlets have been answering the call from rabid Nine Inch Nails fans clamoring for a fix.

As San Diego modern rock station MD Mike Halloran told Billboard magazine recently, "The word 'industrial' is pretty off-putting for some people. [But] what Trent does is make pop songs that sound industrial. He takes a great pop song and destroys it." As evidence of the genre's recent gains, "March Of The Pigs," the first single from The Downward Spiral, recently spent two weeks on the Billboard Hot 100 singles chart, an occurrence seemingly impossible even a year ago.

Nine Inch Nails recently played a series of surprise warm-up dates on the West Coast in preparation for a full U.S. tour, set to begin later this month. Those shows, including one at L.A.'s Probe Club, introduced the world to the new touring faces of the band, which features guitarist Robin Finck, drummer Chris Vrenna, keys player James Woolley and bassist/guitarist Danny Lohner.

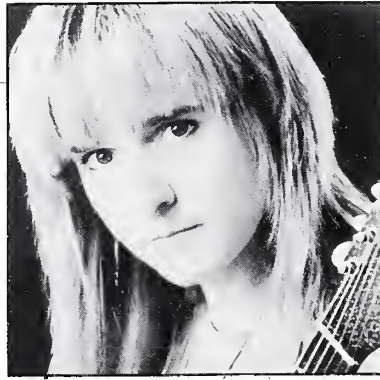

The tour proper will arrive in Los Angeles for multiple dates at the Palace Theater beginning April 26, as well as a possible show to follow at the Universal Amphitheatre.

REVIEWS By Troy J. Augusto

CELINE DION: "Misled" (550/Epic 77344)

Not that anyone yet appears sick of "The Power Of Love," Dion's most recent top-5, gold-certified smash ballad, but, alas, it's time for the next single from Celine's wonderful Colour Of My Love collection. This track is an upbeat, aggressive power dance number that serves nicely to keep the singer from being pigeonholed as just a sappy love songstress. The song's too catchy chorus and left-of-center edginess should open Dion up to a whole new world of fans.

BECK: "Pay No Mind (Snoozer)" (DGC 4639)

"Get out your lead pipe pipedreams." Words to live by from Beck Hansen, as unlikely a singer as you're ever going to find on top-40 radio. But, given the eye-opening success of "Loser," and the impressive sales already racked up by Beck's Mellow Gold album (top 20, last time we looked), it is likely that this, the nutty follow-up to that alt-rock hit, will also see its share of radio action. A slowpoke, slacker ditty/anthem and another twisted gem from a twisted mind.

THE SMITHEREENS: "Miles From Nowhere" (RCA 62820)

A nice, rockin' return to form for our favorite New Jerseyites. After losing their gig during the Capitol Records overhaul of last year, this always excellent alt-rock group was quickly snapped up by RCA. And Hollywood & Vine's loss is definitely Nipper's gain. The re-appearance of prodigal producer Don Dixon also signals a return to The Smithereens' more straight-ahead rock approach as evidenced by this hard-edged first single from A Date With The Smithereens alb.

HEART: "The Woman In Me" (Capitol 79298)

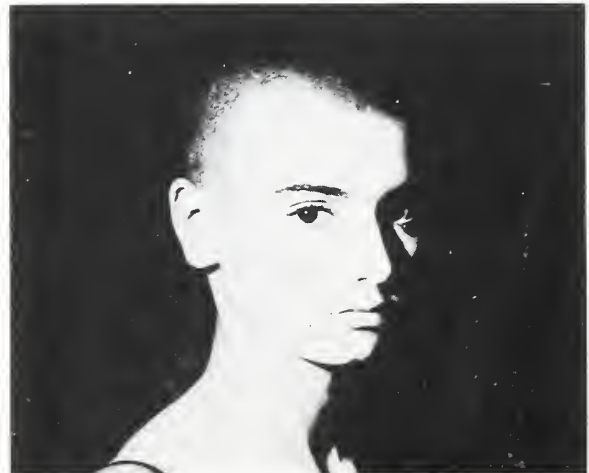

Another track from Heart's latest (but certainly not greatest) Desire Walks On set is this unlikely cover of the Donna Summer tune from 1982. Not a big hit for Summer (her fans didn't care much for full-blown ballads, it seems) but certainly a possible sleeper hit for Heart, who certainly need one. Singer Ann Wilson's powerhouse voice has rarely been so effective, giving this track not only a good shot at album rock play but lots o' top-40 action, as well.

PICK OF THE WEEK

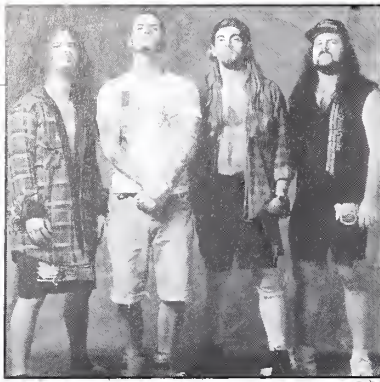

SINEAD O'CONNOR: "You Made Me The Thief Of Your Heart" (Island 6818)

From the In The Name Of The Father soundtrack comes this riveting performance from O'Connor, someone who could definitely use a hit. Well, look no further than this raw, spine-tingling track, written by U2's Bono and Gavin Friday. Sinéad opens all of the emotional floodgates for this one, hitting vocal peaks not heard since she covered Prince's "Nothing Compares 2 U." This brittle keyboard flourishes, spacy rhythmic patterns and dramatic production (from Friday and Tim Simenon) make for a single that should, in a fair world, make serious noise at all rock, pop and college outlets. Of course, who said we live in a fair world?

REVIEWS by Troy J. Augusto

■ TED HAWKINS: The Next Hundred Years (DGC 24627)

To say that Ted Hawkins has had a difficult and challenging life would be a gross understatement. To say that the singer/songwriter, this weather-worn yet somehow delicate storyteller, is long overdue for just a bit of respect from an American audience that has until now completely ignored him also goes without saying. This alb, Ted's first major U.S. issue, is rich with tales of Hawkin's colorful, often tragic life. Good, soulful music, but will it fly in Des Moines?

■ MATERIAL ISSUE: Freak City Soundtrack (Mercury 618-894)

Album No. 3 from Chicago's Material Issue is the one that finally got it right. Producer Mike Chapman scrapes away the all the fuss and bother that clouded the band's two previous efforts and simply lets Jim Ellison and pals tear it up. Shades of Beatles, Redd Kross, Cheap Trick (whose guitarist Rick Neilson adds some tasty licks to two songs) and even E.L.O. make for a sharp, confident-sounding record that should dramatically elevate the trio's standing.

■ MUZZA CHUNKA: Fishy Pants (Rowdy 37003)

Seems we missed this disc upon its initial release late last year, but better late, eh? This L.A.-based punk-speed-thrash band fishes off the same side of the bridge as Pantera, Rollins Band and Helmet, though doesn't really sound like any of those bands. What are they trying to be, original? Singer Dybdahl (just the one name, it seems) has a voice that nine out of ten mothers will hate, but fans of the aforementioned acts will love. Band plans a year-long tour.

■ YOTHU YINDI: Freedom (Hollywood 61451)

Second American release from this very appealing Aboriginal band is just as hypnotically rewarding and surprisingly accessible as the group's '91 release, Tribal Voice. Where the justice-seeking rally cry of "Treaty" was that record's high point, "Dots On The Shell" stands as one of Freedom's top moments and could actually turn into a crossover hit. With Crowded House's Neil Finn adding vocals, this song is dramatic evidence of Yothu Yindi's pure musical vision.

■ INSPIRAL CARPETS: Devil Hopping (Mute 61632)

Album No. 3 from this Manchester band shows a further shift away from that city's limited musical scene: a fuller, more realized sound and a variety of songwriting styles (thanks to the writing involvement of all the band's members) gives Devil Hopping a more satisfying atmosphere than most similar outfits. Modern rock radio can go track-hopping here, with trippy "Plutoman," first single "Party In The Sky" and catchy "Uniform" the best bets.

■ POOKA: Pooka (Elektra 61624)

This breezy folk-pop duo, comprised of 22-year old Brit singers Sharon Lewis and Natasha Jones, have been making many a friend in their native land with a fresh, alternately pleasant and depressing sound that, as one of their reviews claimed, is the perfect response to the riot grrrls of the world. Dreamy vocal harmonies, pretty, piano-driven melodies and oodles of attitude-free style and charm separate Pooka from most who dare venture into such musical terrain.

■ NEROS ROME: Togetherly (Lazy Bones 094)

The big buzz on this Portland, OR band actually started back in 1989 when the four-piece was a fixture in that city's scene, then grew with the release of the band's first full-length in '92, at the time a big style shift for Neros Rome. Alb #2 follows the same dynamic, head-of-steam approach as the debut but moves into uncharted areas (for the band) of intensity and sonic soul. Look no further than killer tracks "Sodium Light" and dramatic "Smoother."

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ YES: Talk (Victory 480-033) Producer: Trevor Rabin.

As hard to believe as this may be, Yes has been together now for nearly 26 years, and throughout, the art-rockers have almost always managed to find new, interesting ways to present their unique vision, one that marries classically-born arrangements, infectious melodies and accomplished, technical merit and—as is usually the case with Yes—doing so without falling into any of the self-indulgent traps that have snared many of its contemporaries. Talk bears the unmistakable mark of guitarist Trevor Rabin, who again serves as producer, and also features a number of Rabin/John Anderson collabs, a new twist for the band. Listen.

Albums

■ MARIA BETHANIA: Las Canciones Que Hiciste Para Mi (Philips/Polygram 314-518-787-2)

Romance can invade the heart when you least expect it. A silent conquest so hypnotic that most don't realize it or notice the symptoms. "Intoxicating" is the best description that comes to mind when listening to Maria Bethania. Her expressive delivery throughout this album will make you experience several different emotions. The integration of Spanish and Brazilian lyrics blends itself into a smooth seductive serum, which will put a smile on your face. I recommend you listen to this album with your romantic counterpart. The cuts to snuggle to are: "Las Canciones Que Hiciste Para Mi," "Olha," "Palabras," "Dethales," "Tu No Sabes," "Necesito De Tu Amor," "Tu" and "Emociones." Brilliantly arranged by Roberto Carlos and Erasmo Carlos. There has been a slew of good stuff coming out on Polygram Latin lately. This is definitely one of them.

■ ROBI: Frio (Sony Latin CDZ-81199/2-474729)

Robi Rosa, former & original member of Menudo, has the right stuff to blaze a successful solo career. Robi's newest album on Sony Latin is chest-deep with mid-tempo tunes, pop ballads and reggae-style riffs. This album demonstrates the deep talent which was evident even in the days of Menudo. Mr. Rosa has a unique and distinctive style that separates him from many of the pop singers today. The utilization of the Vocoder on a couple of his songs adds a creative element to this sensational production. By the way, production credits are shared by Ronnie Foster and Robi Rosa. No question that this album will be getting mucho airplay throughout the major markets. The cuts that should light up the airwaves are: "Cruzando Puertas," "Cuando Pasara," "Frio," "Mama," "Tu Tren Se Va," "Almas Diferentes" and "Mama Hue." Robi also has that bilingual crossover edge that makes him a real and viable commodity.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ MARIO BAUZA: 944 Columbus (Messidor 15828-2)

Mario Bauza, the man who created Afro-Cuban jazz, passed away on July 11, 1993, in the apartment at 944 Columbus Avenue just off 108th Street (NYC), on the upper westside of Manhattan, where he lived for half a century. Fittingly, 944 Columbus is also the title of his third Messidor album, recorded less than two months before his death. Mario Bauza had a special gift of taking traditional Latin musical passages and converting them into huge bouquets of sound...a panoramic screen of colors and shapes that meshed so perfectly in total harmony. His music is larger than life itself. That's why I will speak of him as if he never left us. Mario's music is here forever. Check out some of the participating cast members: Victor Paz (trumpet), Pablo Calogero (baritone sax & bass clarinet), Marcus Persiani (piano), Joe Santiago (acoustic bass), Bobby Sanabria (drums), Carlos "Patato" Valdes (congas) and the legendary Graciela with Rudy Calzado vamping the vocals. There are ten fabulous cuts on this album and all of them are strong. No weak line fillers here, buddy!!! Here are the kickers: "Cubauza," "Zambria," "La Clave De La Ya Ya," "Lourdes Lullaby," "Congratulations To Someone," "Heatwave," "Canto Lucumi," "Night In Tunisia," "Biri Bi Kum Bi" and "Chano." Take my word, you will treasure this album; it's a definite collector's item.

THE LATIN FLIP-SIDE

Debra Mercado

THE DARING DAMSEL OF LATIN MUSIC, Debra Mercado of RMM Records & Video Corp., can be found more times than not juggling a slew of phone calls, coordinating video productions, writing and co-producing scripts for television and radio commercials, coordinating concerts (i.e. Salsa Festivals at MSG), and directing all the publicity for no less than 32 artists and five separate companies within the RMM network. Not to mention delegating/managing a staff of six in the New York office and the responsibility of disseminating media information to all of forty (40) networking offices throughout the U.S. and abroad. Who said it was easy working for your dad? Work it, Girl!!!

"I know it's a lot of work, but I wouldn't have it any other way," says Ms. Mercado. "I love it! Even when I was a little girl I used to help my father out with his concert mailing list. It was like an assembly line in our living room, and I used to get a kick out of that." Debbie Mercado is simply more than a lady of the '90s; she's a "thirtysomething" fluently bilingual Latino female with a definite focus on the 21st century.

A graduate of Syracuse University with a double-major bachelor's degree in Telecommunication Management and Psychology, don't think for one second that Ms. Mercado snagged her current position (director of publicity) because she's the daughter of Ralph Mercado. If you think that, then you really don't know Debbie Mercado. Prior to joining RMM, Debbie was employed at the Hispanic division of J. Walter Thompson advertising firm and ABC Television, honing her marketing and public relations skills. Ms. Mercado even turned down an offer by her father in lieu of a position with the Miller Brewing Company.

"I felt inclined to take the position with the Miller Brewing company as their N.Y. regional merchandising manager because I knew that one day I would be working for my father, and this was a good opportunity to further prepare myself," explained Mercado. "Everything that I've learned and the sharpness of those skills would be crucial to my success." Her intensity and versatility are unparalleled, to say the least. With the remarkable growth of RMM and its subsidiary labels, that versatility will prove to be key in the overall success of the company.

Debbie Mercado is an original that hopefully will be duplicated by others through her motivating example. When we as a nation are witnessing the wholesale self-deterioration of an entire generation of youth, outstanding Latin American role models like Debra Mercado are living proof that you can still succeed in America. All you need are three important ingredients: an education, patience and the desire. Thanks to RMM and Ms. Mercado for sharing their time.

QUE PASA?: WSKQ-FM has named Carlos DeJesus as their newly appointed PD/MD. Mr. DeJesus comes to KQ97.9 with an extensive cadre of credits to his vitae. Formerly an on-air personality and music director of WNJR in New Jersey, Carlos has now taken over the reins at the number-one Latin American station in the Northeast. If you can remember when radio was really radio, Mr. DeJesus also posted air shifts at WBLS-FM with the likes of Frankie Crocker, Wanda Ramos, Ken "Spider" Webb, Lamar René, and Vaughan Harper. DeJesus was also part of the "sensational '70s" at WKTU-92FM, which boasted a memorable crew of Paco Navarro, Al Bandero, J.D. Holiday and Wanda Ramos. He also was one of the first vee-jays to host "Friday Night Videos," which can be considered one of the pioneers and predecessors to present-day video programming. We at Cash Box would like to extend our congratulations and well wishes. Welcome Home!!!

Melody/Fonovisa's singer extraordinaire, Cristian, leaves for greener pastures. I have learned from a very reliable source that Cristian has currently negotiated an exclusive and lucrative deal with PolyGram Latin.

Becks Beer to co-sponsor Latin tropical radio show...Joe Gaines, host DJ of "Saturday Night's Latin Show" on WNJR-AM, has informed us that Becks Beer has jumped on the bandwagon. Becks Beer realizes the wealth and validity of the Latin American market and has made an advertising commitment to WNJR and its popular Latin show, which airs every Saturday 8 to 10 p.m. "This is just the beginning...we're also negotiating with Goya Foods and Ron Rico Rum of Puerto Rico for additional sponsorship," Gaines elaborated.

UK

By Mick Green

Morrissey's Vauxhall And I is the UK's #1 album

THE DOOP...Suddenly, from out of nowhere a new/old dance craze has swept a Dutch group to the top of our singles charts; their name is Doop and the title of the single is "Doop." It sold 70,000 records in the first week of its release and made its debut at #3. For the past two weeks it has been at Number One.

Back in the Roaring Twenties they had the Charleston, and the song is a manic mix of sampled music from that era and tinny electronic beats from today, and the sleeve even carries a photograph of former world champion Charleston dancer Miss Bee Jackson, who was an international star in the 1920s and died in 1933.

The accompanying video features two girl singers in flapper dresses dancing their own version of the Charleston and a dancer in top hat and tails carrying an imaginary cane, twisting and sliding in a modern variation of the original steps. It has caused a dance sensation, and in clubs throughout the UK youngsters are copying or making up their own steps. They used to say "bop until you drop," now it appears to be "doop until you're pooped!"

The amazing thing is that pensioners, some of them old enough to remember the original popularity of the Charleston, have been shown on TV also doing the dance—albeit with slightly less energy.

It will be interesting to see when the royalties are distributed whether the lyricist will get any, because as far as I can tell the only words are "doop doop doopedly doop doop do!"

Its success is a fairy story come true because it was dreamed up by a pair of record producers, Ferry and Garnefski, in the living room of their flat in The Hague, Holland. The musicians, both classically trained guitarists, say they were inspired by similarities they saw between the rhythms of some of the house music and dance tunes of the Twenties. It was released on a small indie label, Citybeat, and became a cult hit at various dance clubs throughout Britain.

RIGHTS AND WRONGS...The attorneys are still making the headlines, and current court cases involve:

Hundreds of early Wailers tracks are at the center of a legal wrangle between former members of Bob Marley's famous reggae group, Island Records and the Bob Marley Foundation. At issue are songs recorded between the early Sixties and 1972.

Tring International had no less than five writs issued against them by Warner Music—most claiming a breach of copyright—but when Tring's new shares began trading at the beginning of March the company rose in value by about a sixth to $90 million.

The Charley Group is involved with a legal battle with Rondor Music over Aaron Neville's "House On The Hill" song. Charley claims it bought the rights to the song in 1986, but Rondor is disputing the claim.

The European Commission is launching a formal investigation into the activities of British rights collection agency VPL. The Commission has the power to investigate alleged restrictive practices.

Attorneys acting for MTV claim this indicates that the Commission considers VPL worthy of detailed scrutiny under Article 85 of the Treaty Of Rome—the same restraint-of-trade clause cited in the George Michael case. This announcement coincided with a hearing of lawsuits served by MTV last summer on BMG, EMI, PolyGram, Sony Music and Warner which claimed they "used VPL and IFPI to collude and fix prices."

The general implications of what could happen must be worrisome for all the other collection societies because broadly they all operate in a similar way to VPL and the decision could have ramifications right across Europe.

THE WONDER OF WOOLIES...Changes at Woolworths are likely to have a big effect on the multiples entertainment division with Saeed Hatteea taking over the newly-created title of merchandise director, responsible for buying, merchandising, logistics and technical services. Further staff changes in the entertainment division are expected soon.

SMITH'S BIGGEST RETAILER...Despite the fact that the takeover of Virgin Retail by W.H. Smith will take the group's share of the UK music sales market to nearly one-third—well above the monopoly threshold of 25%—the company confidently expects the Monopolies & Mergers Commission to approve the deal.

The merger would mean that Our Price and Virgin will be under one management board, and this has been welcomed by retail analysts as they claim it makes sound business sense for both sides.

TRADE WAR...One of the spin-offs of the Malaysian government's trade ban against UK companies is that plans for Malaysian TV to broadcast the Brit Awards have had the plug pulled on them.

LOCAL TALENT...PolyGram head Alain Levy claimed that the UK record industry is fighting back after being given a lesson in A&R by the U.S. "The UK has gone through a difficult period, but I think that is over," he said. "At the end of the '80s I felt that the UK had become too complacent. Looking at the Brit Awards and what we have in the can, I am a lot more optimistic."

He went on to cite the success of such UK acts as Dina Carroll, Stereo MCs and Bjork.

CHARTS...As stated, "Doop" is firm in the top spot but expect major challenges from Madonna and Take That in the next week or so. Currently the industry is still in a quandary about what to do, if anything, about the singles chart because it is so volatile. This week sees no less than 22 releases making their debut, but few actually moving up the chart, and this constant changing makes it difficult for the crossover singles to chart anymore.

Another European group, Ace Of Base, is in second place with "The Sign," with last week's #2 "Without You" by Mariah Carey dipping to #4. Bruce Springsteen's "Streets Of Philadelphia" has moved up two places to #3 and D-ream's "U R The Best Thing" makes its debut as the highest new entry at #5—11 months ago it peaked at #19—and their "Things Can Only Get Better," currently #26, has gone gold (400,000)—the only other single currently in the charts that has gone gold is "Without You."

In the album section the new Number One is Vauxhall And I by Morrissey, which knocks Mariah Carey and Music Box (total sales now getting close to a million) into the second spot. Happy Nation by Ace Of Base had originally peaked last summer at #21 but four new tracks have been added, including "The Sign," and it has now re-entered at #3. Other newcomers to the Top 20 are Forever Now by Level 42 at #8, U Got To Know by Capella at #10 and Motley Crue's same titled album at #17. EMI's Gregorian chant recording Canto Gregoriano by Monk's Chorus Silos is the first double-CD of core classical repertoire to ever enter our pop charts. This week it goes up nine places to #9 and has been in our charts for a month.

FILM REVIEWS

D2 The Mighty Ducks

By John Goff

Disney's Ducks cheering their teammates on. Quack! Quack!

THE FILM THAT INSPIRED a Mighty Ducks National Hockey League team has inspired a sequel. Surprising?...Nahhhhh. Hey, look, The Mighty Duck$ was tremendou$ly popular. Plenty of reason$ for Walt Disney Pictures to re-do it. But D2 The Mighty Ducks is not a re-do; it stands on its own as a complete entity, expanded and fleshed out, with something more to say, and look for it to do Strong box-office just like its predecessor.

Steven Brill is back as screenwriter and he's devised a story which sticks with the kids but also stretches the scope so that the action embraces more universal issues as well as targets the commercialization of sports (as if that needed pointing up). It does, however, address the condition that the bottom line of winning for money's sake begins working on the heads of the young, perhaps even before they have an appreciation of the game, with the help of their adult supervisors. Brill pulls it back at film's end to a more idealistic conclusion since this is, after all, supposed to be entertainment, but in the real world we know that's just a story maneuver—and if a story maneuver can influence any one kid to take a more idealistic rather than greed-based look at the future, then the maneuver is worth it.

Brill puts the teenaged hockey Ducks into international competition in the Junior Goodwill Games for global identification, using Team Iceland here as a dark heavy of the piece for the playoffs. Worthwhile, nicely balanced and satisfying piece of work by Brill, though it would have been good to see the combative nature of the sport. (One sequence, where a smaller youth is instructed—but by another youth—on how to get the better of a fight on ice, is soft-pedaled.) Still, those brawls on ice are what a lot of fans turn out to see. That's Re-a-li-sm, sung to the tune of "That's En-ter-tain-ment."

Sam Weisman makes his feature directorial debut with D2 and keeps it moving well, appearing to work very comfortably with the group of kids.

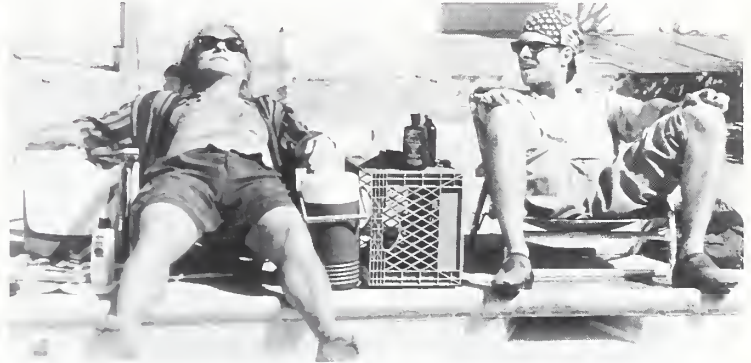

Mark Irwin's photography is a definite major character of the film. And while the action sequences are brutal for a youth-targeted movie, it is hockey after all, and the skating sequences take on all the action and power of pro action with skate camera operated by Bruce Benedict and some first-rate editing by Eric Sears and John F. Link.

Emilio Estevez returns as the Ducks' coach. He is convincing as an embittered, injured, wannabe player swung over to the big money of advertising endorsements, and uses an inherent niceness to support the swing back to ideals. Nice job. Kathryn Erbe shows up as a traveling teacher assigned to the Ducks as a balancing element. Not a lot for her to do. Michael Tucker turns in a wonderfully smarmy performance, perfectly stripping the pretentious big-business dude and revealing the smiling temptor/manipulator. Jan Rubes is comfortable as mentor and Carsten Norgaard draws a menacing portrait as the moused, evil, closer-to-realistic Icelanders coach. Of the kids, Shaun Weiss, Ty O'Neal, Mike Vitar, Colombe Jacobsen, Aaron Lohr and Vincent A. Larusso have stand-out moments.

Music is exciting, with original score by J.A.C. Redford supplemented by such diversity as Verdi's "Anvil Chorus" from "Il Trovatore" to Queen's "We Will Rock You" and "We Are The Champions" and Tag Team's "Whoomp! (There It Is)." Soundtrack album, being released on Hollywood Records, should perform lively.

Jimmy Hollywood

By J.G.

Ahhh, the life of Hollywood actor/vigilante Joe Pesci and his Sancho Panza, Christian Slater.

WHEN FILMMAKER BARRY LEVINSON put the words, "Look what they've done to my Hollywood," on that blank page for his hero Jimmy Hollywood, he undoubtedly knew he was speaking for a couple of generations of writers, actors, work lovers all over the world and especially those still in Hollywood. Levinson remembers when the place was a wonderful hangout for the creative community at the Marquis, Brasserie, Four Trees, Frascati's, and across town at the Coconut Grove, when weekends on Hollywood Blvd. was a walking moviegoer's delight. No more. "What a shithole!" is right.

Levinson, writer/co-producer/director of Jimmy Hollywood, is like a hummingbird working in a swarm of bees with this particular subject. A lot have frantically made movies about Hollywood—and there are more to come, undoubtedly—but the majority flock around the showy petals of the flower, the high profiles, life in the sun and the fast lane. Then here comes Levinson the hummingbird, who hangs in mid-air and expertly runs that rapier-like needle right down into the heart and soul of the flower to bring forth that sweet, hidden honey no one else is able to get to. The majority of Hollywood will be able to recognize and empathize with this project. Whether the majority of filmgoers outside the industry will be able to and ask, "Look what he's done to my Hollywood?" is another question. For that broader audience empathy, Levinson has given the story a reality programming twist and feel; AND, to placate everybody, including Hollywood's upper echelon, there's a H'wood happy, reality-twist, successful ending. But along the way Levinson deftly makes his points with his characters, situations and on-the-boulevard dialogue. This is good stuff, making you laugh, get angry, and ultimately recognize—if you have anything resembling a thought process anyway.

As director he utilizes Hollywood, the Boulevard, the town, its under-scale denizens and back-street shadows along with photographer Peter Sova. You can smell the fear and disappointment, angst and confidence, anger of auditioning actors clashing with the studied and misplaced superiority of apathetic casting people. Maybe Levinson and James Brooks will get together sometime in the future and combine the themes of Jimmy Hollywood and I'll Do Anything and come up with something that will truly blow the skull off this place.

Joe Pesci was a wonderful choice for Jimmy, embodying the talent and self-confidence but not necessarily the physical attributes general audiences tend to think allow actors to make it no matter what. He also has the brashness and anger that would make you believe he'd take to the streets as a vigilante. And his performance indicates he's not forgotten the dues he paid before it happened for himself. Another fine piece of work.

Christian Slater turns in a sharp performance as a spacy, forgetful pal of Jimmy Hollywood. He gets under the skin of the character nicely, down into the heart of a simple, caring and loyal person. Victoria Abril brings some life and balanced sensibilities to the proceedings, a voice of reason shouting into a vacuum for the most part. Not attractive but not unattractive either, Abril blends in nicely. Several local newscasters get in as themselves, as does Harrison Ford in an uncredited but wonderful cameo playing Jimmy Hollywood in a movie made of Jimmy's life. Terrific end!

Wonderful use is made of old TV Hollywood series "Hollywood And The Stars" and the original music by Robbie Robertson, augmented with a wide range of artists ranging from Tony Bennett doing "I've Got The World On A String" to Us3's "Cantaloup."

Mark Johnson co-produced with Levinson and Peter Giuliano exec-produced the Paramount Pictures release.

MAJOR LEAGUE II

By J.G.

Major League vets Tom Berenger and Charlie Sheen are back for another season of baseball bloopers and bellylaughs from the Bros. Warner.

NOBODY ATTEMPTS TO IMPROVE A FLOP, so we know going in that Major League was a major money-maker in its original incarnation. II will do the same. There's enough hot dogs in this park, on and off the field, to spread the wealth around.

Spreading the wealth gave writer R.J. Stewart a good hook with which to hang this hunk of baseball beef on for a good showcasing. Stewart did the script from his and Tom S. Parker & Jim Jennewein's story. He did a solid job with the bulk of it, only problem is the ending. It just seems to...well...end. But what's gone before is well worth the sitting. Not only do Stewart and director David S. Ward provide some good laughs, they also utilize the film to take aim—wonderfully deadly aim—at the over-inflated egos and salaries of the professional jock “stars.” Here the wealth—noted by one character in relationship to his new image as “seven figures”—has corrupted a couple of the team's last season “stars,” and Stewart makes the most of it to get the team in trouble and return it to its loveably losing ways in order to retrieve it once more to glory. This is as clean and creative “sequel” writing as you're going to find.

Ward as director knows the territory since he wrote and directed Major League. Only a couple places where FX briefly show but not a lot are going to notice, so that's pretty picky. He does a terrific job. Too bad he and Stewart couldn't have come up with a more solid ending, but leaving it where they did also makes it possible to pick up right there for a III, maybe for an off-season look at these dolts.

Charlie Sheen and Omar Epps have the brunt of showcasing as last season's “hot dog” off-beat “stars” and they are super at it. Sheen looks as porked up as a “seven figure” salary could make one, forgetting and denying his roots for his media-image success. His return to old scuzzy self is predictable but wonderfully aided by great musical set-up with X's “Wild Thing” (his character's nickname). Epps, picking up where Wesley Snipes left off in the showboat role of Willie Mays Hayes, off-season action film star, has a field of fun with this. Of course, both return to their “love of the game” to round it out.

David Keith comes closer to the present-day reality of the sports jock image with his supreme arrogance and doesn't let up on it for a moment. Tom Berenger is back and takes over as manager when his knees won't hold up and present manager James Gammon is stricken with life-threatening apoplexy. And it's always a treat to watch Gammon, one of the industry's best character men, work a character over. Randy Quaid is the spokesman for the man in the cheap seats, the loyal paying fan with the loudest mouth, and he is wonderful, riding the tides of winning and losing, having faith and losing faith.

Corbin Bernsen and Margaret Whitton return. Bernsen has a couple good moments but serves mostly as a device. So does Whitton, just a bit more colorful in her hatred of the team. Bob Uecker as the boozing pressbox babbling announcer is terrific. Eric Bruskotter as a rookie malaprop-spouting catcher who gives the team its “team spirit injection” provides some of the better laughs. Takaaki Ishibashi, a major Japanese comedian, makes a splashy debut in American films here. It's a terrifically well-written role and he gets the most out of it. Dennis Haysbert returns as a Gandhi-esque Buddha worshipper in place of his former voodooism. He gets good mileage out of the situation. Alison Doody is a sleek-looking media agent and Michelle Burke as Sheen's former girlfriend vie for his favors.

James G. Robinson produced for his own Morgan Creek Productions. Gary Barber exec-produced the Warner Bros. presentation.

By M.R. Martinez

Kyle-Lee Watson (Duane Martin, right) goes one-on-one and talks trash against high school rival Kip Montrose (Eric Nies).

BIG SCREEN DRAMAS INVOLVING SPORTS have become all the rage recently, and New Line Cinema Productions' presentation of Above The Rim combines some energetic on-court drama with inner city angst in an effort to bring a different level of depth to the story. Director Jeff Pollack and music industry mogul Benny Medina, co-creators of hit TV comedy “Fresh Prince of Bel-Air,” are credited with the original story, which was scripted by Pollack with Barry Michael Cooper (New Jack City and Sugar Hill). The story, if not the premise, was an ambitious undertaking which lost steam toward the climax and epilog, even though Pollack's direction salvaged the lulls and fine performances by Duane Martin, rap artist Tupac Shakur and Leon sustained some momentum.

Above The Rim essentially focuses on talented New York City high school senior basketball player Kyle-Lee Watson (Martin), whose dream is to play for John Thompson and Georgetown University. Because he is a high school star, he is also a celebrity among boys and girls in the 'hood. What develops is a battle for his integrity and allegiance by estranged brothers “Shep” (played stoically by Leon of Cool Running and Cliffhanger fame) and Birdie (a snarling performance by Shakur, who most recently starred in John Singleton's Poetic Justice). Shep is the ex-basketball prep star trying to exorcise demons that prevented him from fulfilling his potential. Birdie is the underbelly dope-dealing and gambling brother. While this Abel and Cain story offers promise, and while the interaction between Kyle and his just-outta-jail buddy Bugaloo (played with zeal by “In Living Color's” Marlon Wayans) provided some engaging light moments, there is an uneven delivery because of the undulating storyline.

While given some strong, jabbing lines, Tonya Pinkins, who plays Kyle's single-parent, hard-working mom, needed more to do. Her character seemed more a device and not fully realized. But Pinkins' energy in the role and the few moments she has on screen with love-interest Leon exude a slow-burn that could have been further developed.

Ultimately it is the basketball scenes, especially at the big Shoot-Out Tournament, that leave an impression. Martin, an ex-basketballer, and Leon (who claims some court savvy) bring some noise to these scenes. In fact, a scene featuring Martin and Leon playing one-on-one in the middle of the night on a playground has some friction and is probably the pivot upon which Kyle decides which path to take. Violence at the end of the film seems too gratuitous and merely a way to punctuate a story's beginning and middle that are already shaky. Cooper is a better writer, Pollack could be a better director, and this consequently could have been a better movie.

Music from the Death Row/Interscope Records soundtrack provided superlative atmosphere throughout.

Pollack and Medina produced the film with James D. Brubaker serving as executive producer for New Line Cinema.

Carlito's Way

By John Goff

PACINO'S FIRST AFTER taking Oscar home as 1992's Best Actor shows what a prodigious talent he is. Carlito's reunited Pacino with his Scarface director Brian De Palma, and the result is explosive if not always pretty. Sean Penn turns in a fine bit of character work as a coked-out attorney and Penelope Ann Miller holds her portion of the screen with confidence as Pacino's lover. Story of a drug lord coming out of prison and attempting to go straight in the mean streets of Spanish Harlem lends itself to some brutal violence. MCA Universal Home Video.

Flesh And Bone

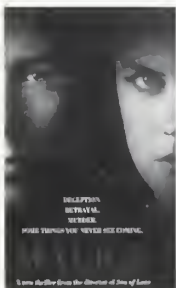

By J.G.

THE DARK SIDE OF LIFE and what growing up in that shadowy area can do to one is explored by writer/director Steve Kloves in what is both a compelling and repelling piece of work. A heavy character study with standout performances from all four principals: Dennis Quaid, Meg Ryan, James Caan and Gwyneth Paltrow. Philippe Rousselot's photography is a central character itself; moody sometimes, achingly beautiful at others, always revealing and insightful. Not one for a light evening at home but one you won't soon forget. Paramount Home Video.

Malice

By J.G.

THIS IS A DELICIOUS mystery-thriller with Alec Baldwin at his best as a God-complexed doctor and Nicole Kidman tearing the sheets up as his cold-hearted sting accomplice. Screenwriters Aaron Sorkin and Scott Frank have injected some neat turns in a fully satisfying plot, and director Harold Becker gets the most mileage out of cast and story. Team all that with some terrific noir cinematography by one of the best, Gordon Willis, and a delicious music score by the always-on-target Jerry Goldsmith, and you've got a full evening. Enjoy. New Line Home Video.

Look Who's Talking Now!

By J.G.

THIRD OUTING OF THE Look Who's franchise keeps things going with some good laughs out of the script by Tom Ropelewski & Leslie Dixon and steady pacing of Ropelewski's direction. Worthy successor to the other two with Kirstie Alley and John Travolta again working their light comedy wiles with finesse. The "Talkers" of this piece are the family dogs, expertly done by Danny DeVito and Diane Keaton. A good romp for the entire family, and a few touching moments also from a family with a semblance of values. Well worth the effort. Columbia TriStar Home Video.

VID BIZ

By John Goff

WHO'S CHASING WHO? Looks like the Disney classic The Fox And The Hound is running hot and heavy at the stands. In release less than a month it has chalked up consumer sales of more than 8.4 million copies, putting it in the lead as Number 1-selling videocassette of the year thus far. At its present rate of sales, according to the studio, it exceeds last spring's release of Pinocchio which ended the year among the industry's top-sellers ever. Ann Daly BV Home Vid president predicted "this title (will) end the year as one of the top five titles of 1994." Keep on runnin', boys!... Hemdale Communications, Inc. has formed Hemdale Music, record label to specialize in soundtracks and catalogue acquisitions. Robert Scharf has been named president of the new division. Scharf will oversee the launching of the new arm and coordinate all music for Hemdale's theatrical and home vid releases. Kick-off will be the just-released vid The Magic Voyage and Across The Moon. A summer release will be that of The Princess And The Goblin. Hemdale also will intro a new line of audio cassettes with read-along storybooks, putting them head-to-head with Disney for that kiddie market.

REVIEWS by M.R. Martinez

FOR REAL: It's A Natural Thang (A&M 31454 0156 2). Producers: Various.

These four lovely young females exude smooth vocals, forceful voice and downright soulful singing wherever appropriate. They are backed by some very market-conscious production. But the stable of producers are not derivative. The first single, "You Don't Wanna Miss," gives the listener an opportunity to sample their shiny harmonic blend. Other tracks of note are the slick funky "Li'l Bit," the swaying ballad "Don't Wanna Love You Now" (produced by hot Brian McKnight) and the majestically harmonic acapella track "You Don't Know Nothin'" (produced by former Take 6 member Mervyn Warren).

DFC: Things In The Hood (Assault/Big Beat/Atlantic 92320-2). Producers: Various.

DFC—that's D Funk Clan—covers a lot of stylistic ground musically, even though the lyrics remain hardcore. Take the first single for example, "Caps Get Peeled." The swooning midtempo ballad style belies the gritty mic flow delivered by DFC and guest MC Eihl of Compton's Most Wanted. Then there's "Put Your Loos On," produced by MC Breed, who imprints his distinctive groove and textures throughout the phat track. Other cuts of note include "Mo' Love," "Things In Tha Hood" and the blunt anthem "Pass The Hooter." You can roll with this clan.

GLENN JONES: Here I Am (Atlantic 82513-2). Producers: G. Jones, Craig King, Ray Watkins & others.

There's a lot of church in Glenn Jones' voice. And despite pop arrangements, this young man seems to come from an inspirational place, even on the plaintive plea to a young woman on the title track, "Here I Am." Jones excels on ballad work, like the slow-bumpin' "It's Gonna Be Alright," which features some smooth sax play by Ron Kerber, and the smoothly crafted "Love Song." Production throughout this album fits the singer's voice. The first single, "Round And Round," featuring some tasty guitar work by Randy Bowland, could attract the same people who supported Brian McKnight. Jones could break through large with this collection.

SALIF KEITA: The Mansa of Mali...A Retrospective (Mango 1662-539 937-2). Producers: Various.

Salif Keita is at once dramatic and earthy, a riveting and communicative performer (despite singing in his tribal dialect from Mali) and he has truly become a rising World Beat star. This compilation of the Grammy-nominated artist's previous works features a variety of rhythmic and textural styles, including work from his nominated LP Amen—featuring production by Josef Zawinul and Wayne Shorter and Carlos Santana. Four previously unreleased tracks include "Djembe," "Ignadjidje," "Dalimansa" (all from the L'enfant soundtrack) and the live track "Mandjou."

PICK OF THE WEEK

SOUNDTRACK: VARIOUS ARTISTS: Above The Rim (Death Row/Interscope 7 92359-2). Producers: Various.

H-Town and Al B. Sure's "Part Time Lover" as the first single leads the pack on this loaded soundtrack album from the New Line Cinema film release. The music provides much needed atmosphere for this inner-city sports coming-of-age story drama. The funky, slow-grinding first single is but one dimension of the mix on this 18-track package, which is also full of bumpin' beats and some hardcore attitude. Then, what would you expect from the album's supervising producer, the inimitable Dr. Dre? Some other acts featured on the album include SWV, Tha Dogg Pound, The Lady Of Rage, Thug Life, O.F.T.B., 2nd II None and Jewell & Aaron Hall. The mix of ballads with uptempo grooves is well sequenced.

THE RHYTHM

Hummin'Comin' Atcha, the debut album by So So Def/Columbia Records female quartet Xscape, has been certified platinum and the young women recently received a plaque for that accomplishment at a party thrown in New York by their svengali, Jermaine Dupris. The group's third single, "Love On My Mind," follows successful singles "Just Kickin' It" and "Understanding." Pictured at the presentation are (l-r): Jef Burroughs, Columbia product manager; Latocha Scott and Tamika Scott of the group; Michael Mauldin, ERI Management; Tameka Cottle of the group; Dupris; Kandi Burruss of the group; and Tony Anderson, sr. vp of black music Columbia.

CROUCH SHOWS NO MERCY: Perhaps an explanation for the eclectic musical ministry of songwriter/producer/singer Andraé Crouch is the fact that music is not necessarily the inspiration for his songwriting, especially on his Qwest/Warner Records debut Mercy, his first solo release in 10 years. "I don't think about my music in musical terms," Crouch recently told Cash Box during a phone interview. Aside from his well-known spiritual inspiration and accomplishments as a gospel musician, Crouch says that common experiences, dreams and the mantra beat of a drum machine can frequently be the source of a good song. Take "We Love It Here," for example. Crouch says, "This salsa song was inspired by a dream I had shortly after my mother passed. I dreamed she was in Heaven and that she had on this colorful dress. She kept saying she wanted to see Rachel (her sister)."

Although the music on Mercy ranges from salsa and reggae to R&B soul and jazz, Crouch says that he also tried to put one or two songs on the album that would be more accessible to the church. "If everything was crossover, then the record would be over when its (pop) life ran out. But if there are a couple of songs on it that can be performed by a church choir, then the record and the songs might have more life," he says. Crouch's production and songwriting have been heard on a number of projects by other artists in his absence as a solo recording artist, including projects by Quincy Jones, Madonna, Elton John, Diana Ross and Vanessa Williams. The son of a preacher, he claims he "never said he could lead people to the light. But I hope I inspire them to seek it."

SAMPLES: Tony! Toni! Tone!, Heavy D, Living Colour and Melissa Etheridge are among the artists that are involved in a national MTV public service announcement campaign created by LIFEbeat, the music industry organization set up to fight AIDS....The "Tom Joyner Morning Show" recently featured a tribute to the late great Marvin Gaye that featured talk and discussion on the singer's impact on contemporary music.

Superstars Patti LaBelle (l) and Gladys Knight (r) were joined by rising star Johnny Gill as hosts of the recent "Soul Train Music Awards" program, which was telecast live from the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, syndicated nationwide by Tribune Broadcasting and sponsored by Sprite, a beverage produced by Coca Cola. The trio also paid tribute to Barry White, who received Soul Train's Heritage Award.

Priority Records recently entered a pact with Soul Out Records, an offshoot of Total Trak Productions, founded by Courtney Branch and Tracy Kendrick. The first single release under the deal will be Margi Coleman's "Winnin' Ova You," produced by Branch and Kendrick. Pictured at the signing are (l-r) Branch, Priority president Bryan Turner, Coleman and Kendrick. (See story below.)

A SOUL OUT DEAL: Priority Records continues its expansion with the signing of newly-formed label Soul Out Records, the brainchild of Total Trak Productions bosses Courtney Branch and Tracy Kendrick. Under the new deal, Priority will distribute all Soul Out product and handle a sizeable portion of the company's daily administrative operations. "Winnin' Ova You" by singer Margi Coleman will be the first single under the pact and is due out in late spring. Branch will serve as CEO and Kendrick will hail as president of Soul Out, which they describe as a "full swing R&B, rap and jazz label, which to some degree reflects their experience and accomplishments in the music business as creative producers.

Launched in 1983, the pair have produced, managed and written for acts such as the Egyptian Lover and the L.A. Dream Team, two acts that helped launch West Coast rap on vinyl. But later the duo worked with hit acts like The Dazz Band, Shanice Wilson, Young M.C., DJ Quik, Lala Hathaway, B.B. King and others, including most recently Priority act Mad Flava. Soul Out's Branch says of the new partnership: "We wanted to do this a long time ago. (Priority president) Bryan Turner is real sensitive to the marketplace, only putting out records he believes in, and that's just where we're at." Kendrick adds, "We're very excited about this new step in our careers."

Turner says of the new deal: "Courtney and Tracy are old friends of mine, and have some (of) the sharpest musical instincts in the business. Their musical tastes run across the board, and I'm thrilled that I'll be working closely with them in the coming years."

SOUND NIBBLES: M.O.B.B. Records was recently launched by Ramef Harvey. The indie label will serve up a smorgasbord of musical styles, including hip-hop, reggae, R&B and dance. First up to the plate for the label is rap artist Big Yang, whose single "Licka-Licka" will be released from his EP Now It's Time...Mark Sparks, the 24-year-old North Carolina-born producer who is credited with helping to shape the chart-scorching single "Shoop" from Salt-N-Pepa's platinum-plus Very Necessary album, is going to be busy producing and/or remixing some 30-plus single projects by artists as diverse as Nice-N-Smooth to Terri & Monica...East-West Records has established a rap music hotline where fans can find out the latest info on the label's rap acts. Information on TV appearances, sneak previews of upcoming releases, brief artist profiles and other news are featured on the hotline. The number is (212) 275-2400...SoulShock & Karlin, a production-remixing duo hailing from Copenhagen, Denmark, have been busy with name acts such as Queen Latifah, Eric B. & Rakim, Tone Loc, De La Soul and others. They recently produced the hot dance track "I'm In The Mood" by A&M recording artist CeCe Peniston.

RAP SINGLE REVIEWS

By Dr. Bayyan

■ COOLIO: "Fantastic Voyage" (Tommy Boy TBXCD 617).

Phat, thumpin' bass, funky groove and Coolio's voice tellin' the story of gangin', slingin' and killin'. This song makes successful use of the old Lakeside hit of the same name. Unlike many artists, Coolio hasn't jumped on the jazz tip. He's just as funky as can be, especially on the Timber Mix and the QDIII Mix.

■ THE NEW 2 LIVE CREW: "Yeah, Yeah" (Luke GR 476-4).

Believe it: there's nothing new about this group. Luke's same annoying, raspy voice, same crude remarks, and the same rhythmless beats impossible to dance to are in full effect here. The geniuses behind the four featured remixes are Frank Ski, D.J. Laz, Felix Sama and D.J. Spin. The New 2 Live Crew is nastier than ever.

■ WORL-A-GIRL: "No Gunshot (Put The Gun Down)" (Chaos/Columbia OSK 77413).

These females must be commended for combining a politically correct message with a tantalizing hip-hop reggae track complete with swift rhythmic beats and tweaking horns in the background. It's quite refreshing to hear a song that not only has an anti-violence message, but brings good music to the party as well.

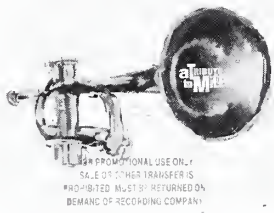

Jazz Notes

By M.R. Martinez

RIM SHOTS: Warner Music Enterprises and Jazziz magazine, the Florida-based bi-monthly consumer publication that covers the creative fortunes of jazz on an international basis, have entered an agreement calling for the launch of a music service in the United States and eventually in Canada, France and Australia. Jazziz, as of October of this year, will include a CD featuring recent jazz releases and a special section highlighting music on the CD, reviews of more than 100 jazz albums. There will also be the opportunity to order CDs reviewed directly from the service. The magazine's core will consist of its usual coverage of trends on the international jazz scene, artist interviews, features, and a calendar of jazz events...The Rippingtons featuring Russ Freeman, Aaron Neville and his Neville Brothers siblings, Bobby McFerrin, Cuban pianist Gonzalo Rubalcaba and others will be featured at the Fourth Annual Jazz Aspen Festival set for June 22-26 in the Colorado Rocky Mountain community of Snowmass. The five-day fest, held under a 2,000-seat circus tent and billed as "Le Cirque du Jazz," kicks off with "Hot Jazz Fete Francais," a nod to the festival's sister event, "Jazz in Marciac, France."

Herbie HANCOCK | Wayne SHORTER | Ron CARTER
Wallace RONEY | Tony WILLIAMS

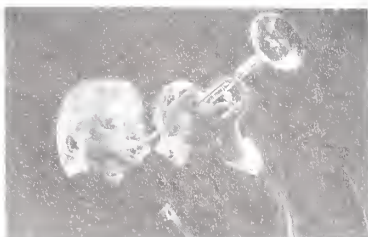

■ HANCOCK, SHORTER, CARTER, RONEY, WILLIAMS: A Tribute To Miles Davis (Qwest/Reprise 9 445059-2). Producers: Various.

This is as close as you can get to the legendary quintet assembled by the late icon Miles Davis during the early '60s. Wallace Roney, who played alongside the legend on the Miles At Montreaux sessions in his finale there, takes up the trumpeter's seat. This is a dream team with a player that can approximate some of the sonic dimension, if not the attitude, of Davis. Pianist Herbie Hancock, drummer Tony Williams and Ron Carter on bass make for a compelling rhythm section with which Roney and saxophonist Wayne Shorter weave their elongated melodic and modal excursions. A live "So What" dances like a fire; the Hancock-penned "Little One" is intense yet soothing; and "Pinocchio" and "Elegy" are rhythmically different, but like body shots.

■ LENI STERN: Like One (Lipstick LIP 8917 2). Producers: L. Stern & Joachim Becker.

Stern's facility as a guitarist has rarely been questioned. But her ability to navigate a group into diverse yet accessible territory has not always inspired pundits. Her playing remains intact and she keeps the cornucopia of musical expression at a high level on this collection. Stern rarely attempts to prove she can play, so much as she shows how well she can play with different musicians. Special guests like keyboardist Russell Ferrante, stellar drummer Dennis Chambers and violinist Didier Lockwood add a flavor to various tracks, including "Jessie's Song," "Leave Softly," the organ-driven "Lights Out" and the ethereal, slow-rolling "Blue Cloud." Bob Malach's tenor sax work is an apt foil to Stern's articulate fret work.

■ MAYNARD FERGUSON: Live From London (Avenue Jazz R2 71631). Producers: M.Ferguson, Jim Exon & Chip McNeill.

Ferguson is known for his big band bombast, and this live album, grippingly captured for the record, nearly makes the sonic connection to his live shows. There are some inspired moments musically, especially on the 14-minute-plus reading of Dizzy Gillespie's "A Night In Tunisia," where Ferguson, trombonist Keith Oshiro and soprano saxophonist Chip McNeill distinguish themselves on solos. The Canadian-based trumpeter's crew also pays tribute to Duke Ellington ("In A Mellow Tone") and Sonny Rollins ("St. Thomas") before moving into a composition by band member McNeill ("Rhythm Method") and pianist Christian Jacobs' arrangements on "My One And Only Love."

JOE HENDERSON

WARM VALLEY

■ SCHERR, CECIL, MARTUCCI: Warm Valley (What's In A Name CDJ 738). Producers: Louis Scherr and Tommy Cecil.

Pianist Scherr, bassist Cecil and drummer Martucci sculpt an intimate setting for some of their own compositions and for a pair of less-travelled gems by Duke Ellington ("Who Knows" and "Warm Valley"). The warm saxophone tone of Joe Henderson adds melodic contours to the proceedings, especially on the aforementioned "Warm Valley." Henderson provides alternately introspective and accessible conversation with his horn, and the other players seem to find simpatico in their playing. Other tracks of note include Scherr's easy-swing/bopping "Zsa Zsa," Cecil's groove-varied "Escapade" and his classical reading of "Sara-bande," which features cellist Susan Kelly. The set closes on "Perdido," a composition by Ellington and Juan Tizol.

Attorney Resigns Practice To Manage Wynonna

By Richard McVey

Wynonna

NASHVILLE—Nashville business and entertainment attorney John Unger will resign his position at Bass, Berry & Sims, effective April 15, to manage the career of MCA/Curb recording artist Wynonna.

Unger has served as Wynonna's interim manager since late January when she and Naomi Judd dissolved their business relationship with their manager of 12 years, Ken Stilts.

Wynonna said the decision was made last week, but the announcement was delayed until her key advisers and business associates were notified and to give Unger time to confer with his clients and partners. Unger isn't exactly a newcomer to the music industry—with expertise in corporate, securities, intellectual property and entertainment law, he has represented such clients as Sony Music, Starstruck Entertainment, BMG Music, Thomas Nelson Publishers and several other businesses and individuals in the music industry.

NEA Sets Dates For Music City Music '94

NASHVILLE—The Nashville Entertainment Association (NEA) has scheduled July 6-7 for Music City Music '94, its fourth annual showcase which gives unsigned country artists/groups the opportunity to perform for audiences filled with leading record industry executives, including major label A&R representatives.

"The NEA is conducting a national search that reaches into the small clubs and local hang-outs to find those popular country artists who have a large local following but haven't reached the ears of Nashville record producers," said NEA Executive Director Sherry Bond. "We can make sure they get a chance to be heard at Music City Music."

Paul Worley, Sony Music executive vice president, confirms the success of the annual country showcase. "I am presently working with two acts that performed on Music City Music. That speaks for itself!"

To be eligible for the showcase, the act must be unsigned and self-contained. Finalists will be selected by the NEA committee by June 3 and committee members are barred from voting for any entrants with whom they have a direct personal or business relationship.

Stars Added To Roster For Red Hot + Country

NASHVILLE—Country artists Johnny Cash, Sammy Kershaw, Patty Loveless, Nanci Griffith, Jimmie Dale Gilmore, Willie Nelson, Randy Scruggs, Earl Scruggs, Doc Watson, Vince Gill, Ricky Skaggs, Carl Perkins, Duane Eddy and the Mavericks have been added to the list of luminaries who will participate in Mercury Nashville's Red Hot + Country album project, which will benefit a variety of AIDS organizations.

Initially organized by Mercury's own Kathy Mattea for the Red Hot Organization, the leading group dedicated to raising AIDS funds and awareness through popular culture, the project includes previously announced participation from Mattea, Mary-Chapin Carpenter, Mark Chesnutt, Billy Ray Cyrus, Brooks and Dunn, Radney Foster, Dolly Parton and Marty Stuart.

According to label president Luke Lewis, contributing artists will pay a musical tribute to an individual who has influenced or inspired their music. In many cases, the honorees are also participating in the recording.

The album is scheduled for release in July, 1994. Previous Red Hot projects, Red Hot + Blue and Red Hot + Dance, have donated over $5 million.

Bowen Starts New Label

LIBERTY RECORDS PRESIDENT JIMMY BOWEN will serve as president and CEO for Patriot Records, a new label which has signed only one artist, Bryan Austin, and currently has no staff. Bowen plans to announce the new personnel within the next few weeks, including a vice president of promotion, several regional promotion executives, a publicity chief and the head of the production department. Bowen will oversee both Liberty and Patriot.

"I think this label will have half a dozen artists in the first year," said Bowen. "I realize that starting another label does not create any more slots on the country radio playlist, but this new young country is making country music so vital today. This gives us an opportunity to do a better job of developing young artists."

Patriot expects its first release to come sometime in late-April.

In Other News...

Dolly Parton is gearing up for the first record on her new label, Blue I, which will be recorded live during benefit concerts at her Dollywood park's grand opening, April 23-24. "I'm thrilled about the response to my first acoustic album," Dolly said, "and since the proceeds go to the Dollywood Foundation to help kids, that makes it extra special." Parton also decided that previously scheduled television production will not take place during any of the four concerts in order to allow fans maximum visibility during the shows.

The Canadian Country Music Association's "Country Music Week" will be held this year in Calgary, Alberta on September 16-19. During the week, CCMA conducts various panels, seminars, artist showcases and luncheons. The highlight is the "Annual Canadian Music Awards Show", which was televised and re-broadcast on TNN and CMT Europe for the first time last year.

If you're a big fan of country duo Brooks & Dunn, you should have headed to Tupelo, Miss. on March 26, where a radio station kicked off its switch to a new country format by playing a continuous 24-hour tape loop of "Rock My World (Little Country Girl)." The station, formerly WZLQ, is Tupelo's largest at 100,000 watts and will be known as Kicker 98.5. "Brooks & Dunn are very popular right now, especially with our target audience, which is 18- to 34-year-olds," said Sam Cousley, general manager of the station. "In addition, Brooks & Dunn will be appearing here soon and we thought it was a natural."

Tin Pan South readies for its second annual music festival, April 13-18, where 300 songwriters will perform over five evenings at 10 Nashville night spots. The event is sponsored by the Nashville Songwriters Association International (NSAI) in association with American Airlines.

CLEVE'S BACK IN THE STUDIO—Country artist Cleve Francis (right) and producer Robert Byrne are currently in the studio recording Cleve's new album for Liberty Records.

The Country Radio War In Shreveport

KWKH billboard.

SHREVEPORT, LA—Cash Box reporting station KWKH in Shreveport, LA has waged an all-in-good-fun war against a new competing country radio station, KITT, which changed from an adult contemporary station to a “20-in-a-row” country format.

KWKH Operations Manager Steve McDonald let his air staff have a little fun on the air. “The new station’s positioning statement is ‘Cat Country, 20-in-a-row,’ followed by a deep, panther-like growl. So the day they came on the air we ran a couple of on-air liners poking a little fun at them,” said McDonald. “Stuff like, ‘At KWKH, we play ’em the way you listen to them...one at a time.’ Then we followed that with a little kitten meow.” KWKH’s new country competitor began blitzing the market with TV, print and billboard advertising. The common theme was a neon-colored cat face on a solid black background with the Cat Country logo. KWKH answered with a strategically-placed billboard, pictured above.

TRAVIS TRITT Ten Feet Tall and Bullet Proof (Warner Bros. 45603)

Tritt sticks with what got him here—soulful ballads and fast-paced Southern outlaw-style music. In addition to Tritt's incredible vocals, which have no apparent boundaries, he either wrote or co-wrote six songs on this 10-track album. The album has commercial ability written all over it. The ballads will grab you and the faster stuff reeks of great hooks, starting with the title track "Ten Feet Tall and Bulletproof." Tritt is also joined for a fun one with guest singers—and obvious influences—Waylon Jennings and Hank Williams, Jr. on "Outlaws Like Us." In another week, this would easily be the "Pick Of The Week."

LINDA DAVIS Shooting For The Moon (Arista)

Hopefully for Davis, the third time is a charm as she embarks on the release of her third album (the first two were with Liberty Records). Davis fills the album with songs about lost love, being in love, and love in general. The most attention-grabbing songs are the uptempo cuts like "Shooting For The Moon," "Don't You Want My Love" and "Love Didn't Do It." Davis' Reba-like vocals are also right at home on ballads such as "In Pictures" and "If Promises Were Gold." Overall, the album is fairly laid-back and offers an even mix of uptempo tunes and ballads.

KIM HILL So Far, So Good (BNA)

So Far, So Good is more than just the title of the album; it gives a pretty fair description of it, too. This album is good. Hill's vocals seem, for lack of a better phrase, "held-back" on several of the cuts, something that becomes noticeable after hearing her belt out some serious vocals on "Did I Hear You Say" and especially "When We're Home." Hill can obviously sing and sing well, if given the right material. If she only had that kind of enthusiasm on the rest of the album... Nevertheless, if this is any indication of what's to come, she has bright future.

PICK OF THE WEEK

LORRIE MORGAN War Paint (BNA)

Morgan's fourth album War Paint will no doubt reach the platinum success of her three previous albums. Take away a couple of the hokier tracks and you're left with some incredibly heartfelt ballads and toe-tapping up-tempo tunes that will surely have the album flying up the charts. Whether it's the rockin' horns, piano and guitar on "1-800 Used To Be" or just Morgan's classy vocals on "Don't Touch Me," the album has something for almost every style of country listener.

INDIE SPOTLIGHT

Dennis Manning

Dennis Manning was born in Sunbury, PA, a small town along the Susquehanna River, as the youngest of four children. Manning says of his town, "It was a place where not much happened and not too much changed, but a place, too, where I grew in love and in life."

Dennis graduated with a BA in English and a BS in Marketing from King's College in Wilkes-Barre, PA in 1985. He has spent the last few years working outside the music field. "From that point until now, I have been running restaurants and Country Inns in Pennsylvania and New York to my current position with Ponderosa Steakhouse for the past three years in Connecticut," says Dennis. "I currently live in Rhode Island, in a town on the water where the ocean has been a source of inspiration for my heart and my life."

Dennis began singing and writing at 14 and now, nearly 32, finds that he writes them from the heart about things common to us all. "There are ballads, some folks to tell tales of, some music to swing to and some words that come easy...and some that can cut deep," concludes Dennis.

INDIE SINGLE REVIEW

■ LARRY HAMILTON — Someone Cares(JMC)

Larry Hamilton

Hamilton, who co-wrote this single with Joe Myers, sings this latest release off his Stars Get In Your Eyes album with a real heart-felt touch. Hamilton obviously put forth a good effort on this ballad and it shows, as he brings to light emotions of hope.

POSITIVE COUNTRY

ALIVE AND WELL: Hit Song for Steve Gatlin

by Gary Keplinger

Steve Gatlin, Recording Artist for Cheyenne, has his second hit on Cash Box's Positive Country.

The Artist

Steve Gatlin is not a newcomer to country music. Originally from Odessa, Texas, he moved to Nashville in the mid-'70s to sing background for Tammy Wynette. In 1976 he joined his two brothers to form the highly successful Gatlin Brothers and toured until the end of 1992. Not wanting to return to the road in hopes of spending more time with his wife and three daughters, Steve's Christian commitment brought him to the decision of releasing a solo album in the musical arena of Christian Country.

Gatlin spends about three or four days a month presenting his Christian music and message. He is also spending a lot of time in preparation for the opening of the new Gatlin Brothers theater, scheduled for August 16th in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. Gatlin says, "I'm happy for the success of those on tour, but I don't envy them. The road is a killer. It's tough on families. I'm ready to do things in a little different way." That different way looks like it's going to be very successful for this talented artist.

The Songwriter

The inspiration for Robert Sterling's "Alive And Well" was actually a response to the song "From A Distance." Sterling liked the song but felt the concept that God watching us from a distance wasn't accurate—the Spirit surrounds us and is right here with us. This isn't the first hit for Sterling. He has penned hit songs such as Sandi Patti's "Sing To The Lord" and Maia Amada's #1 song "Love Is For Always." Sterling is a writer for Word Record And Music Group in Nashville.

The Song

"Alive And Well" is from the album Love Can Carry on music label Cheyenne. The title song off the album climbed to a top-five position on Cash Box Positive Country charts. "Alive And Well" is the second single off the album. The producers were Steve Gatlin and Frank Breedon.

POWERFUL ON THE PLAYLIST

Topping the Cash Box Top 40 Positive Country Singles chart for the sixth straight week is the Ken Holloway song "Runs In the Blood." Steve Gatlin moved up to the second spot with "Alive and Well." Paula McCulla moves up three places to #3 with "Dying to Live." The Days maintain the #5 spot with "New Step" and Bruce Haynes, with his song "He Doesn't Live Here Anymore," grabs the #6 spot—up four spots. At #8, in a move from #11, is White River with "The Wrong Spot Lot."

Top Hits Songwriters: The #1 song "Runs in the Blood" was written by the team of Jeff Silvey and Jeff Jansen. "Alive and Well" was written by Robert Sterling and the #3 song, "Dying to Live," was written by the artist.

LOOKING AHEAD

Chalan with "We Take For Granted" is close to breaking into the chart, as is Lisa Daggs with "Walls."

"Give Me A Faithful Heart" continues to gain momentum for Tonya Goodman Sykes. Del Way with "The Lights Shining Bright" is also receiving considerable play time.

FEATURED PICK—"He's The One On The White Horse" by recording artist Terri Lynn seems destined to be the second hit off the Inside A Tear album. Where "Oklahoma Front Porch Band" was a fast-paced, upbeat song, "He's the One on the White Horse" is a slow Christian ballad with the emphasis on creating a picture in the listener's mind. It was co-written by the artist and Tom Stipe.

Terri Lynn

Positive Country News

Ronnie McDowell debuted his new single "What's It Gonna Take" March 23 on TNN's "Music City Tonight." Shown with McDowell(c) are co-hosts Lorianne Crook and Charlie Chase along with the 35 Tennessee youngsters who sang with McDowell on both the video and the new single on Curb Records. The song is about today's crime in America.

NASHVILLE—Warner Alliance Records president Neal Joseph announced the signing of Mid South, marking the labels entry into the Positive Country marketplace. The band will be paired with producer Al Perkins and plans to enter the studio this spring for a release later in the year.

POSITIVE COUNTRY ALBUM REVIEW

by Gary Keplinger

Vern Jackson Higher Than I've Ever Been (TBN Records)

Viewers of the Trinity Broadcasting Network are already familiar with the strong resonant vocals of Vern Jackson and the inspiration his songs deliver. The debut album for Jackson on TBN Records captures it all. Expertly produced by Bobby All and Walt Mills with executive producers Paul and Jan Crouch, Jackson grabs the listener with the title song "Higher Than I've Ever Been." It's pure Jackson—a tremendous song by Judy Pevehouse and Ronny Hinson that is an excellent fit for Jackson's voice. The remaining 10 songs include such all-time favorites as

"Consider The Lilies" and "Amazing Grace." Again, Jackson delivers. If you're looking for a lot of new songs, you won't find them here. But if you're wanting the best country sound of gospel classics, you need look no further.

■ TRAMAINE HAWKINS All My Best To You (Sparrow)

This compilation of the best from artist Tramaine Hawkins has been superbly produced. The selections demonstrate the vocal range and ability of the artist. From the upbeat tempo of "Praise The Name Of Jesus" to the touching ballad of "All Things Are Possible," Hawkins and strong back-up singers bring the words to life. If you weren't a Hawkins fan before, you should be after listening to this album.

■ KINGS ROAD Where Angels Walk (Broken Records)

The Kings Road album features the lead vocals of Eve Marie Sells. The vocals fit the style of music—even those that have almost a '60s protest sound to them. There are some strong songs with catchy lyrics. Most of the songs are co-written by Sells along with background vocalist Marc Intravala.

■ SCOTT SPRINGER Hello Forever (Pakad-erm/Word)

Scott Springer's music has a contemporary easy-rock sound that is somewhat similar to Rod Stewart in the secular music field. Springer brings to his music an enthusiasm that can be felt and heard in his voice. The title song was previously on the Cash Box chart. His second release "Behold The Lamb" is destined for equal success. If you like an upbeat tempo, you'll enjoy this album.

■ THE MULLINS All The Right Doors (Word)

The Mullins have taken strong lyrics, added great harmonizing abilities and ended up with a top-quality album. This is the first Contemporary Christian endeavor for these five young men from Georgia after spending the past four years in Southern Gospel. Their music has a flavor of the Gaither Vocal Band, but The Mullins have developed a sound all their own. All the songs were written by members of the group. The first single off the album, "Til Kingdom Comes," will be released this month. It should be a winner.

Seeburg's New Micro Music Wall-Mounted Jukebox

Seeburg's Micro Music.

CHICAGO—ACME '94 provided the setting for the introduction by Seeburg International of its unique, new Micro Music wall-mounted jukebox.

The unit, at only 120 pounds, occupies a minimum of wall space, is easy to hang and yet contains all of the ingredients of a "complete" jukebox, according to Seeburg's general manager Jack Kapala, which places it in a position of its own.

Features include: a powerful Technics 240-watt RMS amplifier with separately adjustable channels for primary and optional accessory speakers; superb sound quality with three optional sound distribution modes from Technics' state-of-the-art audio system; and short-circuit protection system, to name a few.

The "visible mechanism" and graphics are designed to attract location patrons. The easy-to-load automated title display shows six disc title cards and jewel box graphics at each display position. Load a desired number of discs and the title display will automatically program itself to display only those selected disc titles.

Programmable features include play stimulator, next-play priority, selection play time limit, background music with adjustable volume level, among others.

The 102-disc Micro Music unit offers such standard features as $1/$5 bill validator with 1000-bill stacker, coin handling equipment with cash box and an infrared wireless remote volume control plus a number of attractive optional features.

Further information may be obtained through factory distributors or by contacting Seeburg International, Inc. direct at 3129 W. 36th St., Chicago, IL 60632.

Kiddie Rides USA Opens New Mfg. Branch In Denver

CHICAGO—The sweet smell of success invariably leads to expansion and such is the case with Kiddie Rides USA.

With an inventory of over 1400 rides in stock, the firm classifies itself among the world's largest kiddie ride distributors.

In addition to its 25,000 sq. ft. plant in Davenport, Iowa, Kiddie Rides USA has more than doubled its size with the opening of a new 30,000 sq. ft. facility in Denver, Colorado.

Both locations operate as manufacturing and distributing centers. As stated by Mike Evans, vice president of operations, "This gives Kiddie Rides USA customers better service and lower shipping costs. With the growing demand for American-made products and the explosive worldwide market, we simply needed the additional manufacturing and warehousing capacity."

The Colorado facility is located at 3801 East 50th Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80216. The phone number is 303-399-7191.

NAME ME! This looks like a dinosaur, right? And that it is—but it needs a name. This new piece was highlighted in the Kiddie Rides USA exhibit at ACME '94. If you can come up with a name for it, contact Brian Carasik at 1-800-448-6888.

Cash Box Tours ACME '94

CHICAGO—This year's ACME convention, March 17-19 at the Rosemont/O'Hare Convention Center in Rosemont, Illinois, saw a splendid array of coin-op equipment in all categories, with the expected emphasis on redemption machines and quite a bit more kiddie rides than this reporter anticipated would be on display. Total attendance figures will not be released for another week or so, but suffice to say the exhibit area was impressively crowded on the day of our tour.
