Nashville Songwriter Uprising

There was a time when it was just "Music City" for those who created the music called Country. But Nashville, TN is becoming a Mecca for songwriters and musicians of all ilks, something evident at the recent Tin Pan South songwriters' showcase which attracted a broad range of artists and sensibilities across the musical spectrum. And it has become the hip and creatively nurturing home for artists like Michael McDonald, Steve Winwood and Janis Ian. Enterprising Cash Box Nashville editor Wendy Newcomer talked with a bunch of folks in Music City about what has attracted fresh talent from all genres.

Grammy Changes Highlight NARAS Meet

THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF RECORDING ARTS & SCIENCES (NARAS), at its annual week-long trustees meeting during May, tackled several issues aimed at broadening the Grammy process, launching Latin American expansion and strengthening arts advocacy efforts.

"Representing more than 10,000 members in ten chapters and branches across the country, our Trustees are committed to keeping the Recording Academy at the forefront of our music community's important issues and developments," said NARAS president/CEO Michael Greene. "Toward that end, we are increasing professional and community service, broadening outreach efforts, and ensuring that the Grammy process remains both inclusive and relevant."

Highlights of the meeting included:

Establishment of a category in the Classical Field for Best Small Ensemble performance (with or without conductor).

Opening the Record of the Year Category to allow album tracks (from a current year's album), in addition to commercially released singles.

Changing the name of the category "Best Mexican-American Performance" to "Best Mexican-American/Tejano Music Performance."

Changing the recording time frame for "newly recorded" Classical product from the present three years to "product which has been recorded within five years of the eligibility year."

Initiatives addressed during the meeting included Latin American Expansion which sees NARAS taking the first steps toward launching a Latin Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences; a domestic Branch Expansion into the Pacific Northwest and Washington D.C., and a National Directory of Master Recordings development.

ASCAP, BMI Fete Writers, Publishers

EMI Music Publishing wins ASCAP and BMI honors.

IN SEPARATE GALA EVENTS, performing rights organizations ASCAP and BMI honored the top writers and publishers that belong to their respective organizations.

The ASCAP's honors were given out at the Beverly Hilton Hotel during a dinner, were long-time rocker Tom Petty received the Golden Note Award for his outstanding career songwriting achievements and his service to industry and community. Melissa Etheridge shared Songwriter of the Year honors with the members of mega-selling act Hootie And The Blowfish. "On Bended Knee," recorded by Boyz II Men earned Song Of The Year honors for the song's authors, Jimmy "Jam" Harris and Terry Lewis. Publisher of the Year kudos went to Martin Bandier's EMI Music Publishing

ASCAP's first College Radio Award went to Bjork and David Priner and Dan Murphy of Soul Asylum. More than 52 songs earned ASCAP honors in the Most Plays category.

BMI last week held a pair of events, its Pop Music Awards and for Film and Television Writers and Composers, held on successive days at the Regent Beverly Wilshire Hotel.

On the power of eight hit songs, Kenneth "Babyface" Edmunds was named BMI Songwriter of the Year for the fifth time (joining Paul McCartney as the only songwriter to do so) and EMI Music Publishing

■ Tad Smith has been named vp of corporate development for BMG Entertainment North America. Previously a management consultant at McKinsey & Company, Inc., Smith's new post calls for him to assist in the general management of BMG's North American business units and to pursue strategic alliances and acquisitions in an effort to further develop and expand company business. BMG also has named Harry Palmer vp/gm of BMG Classic, U.S.. The post calls for Palmer to oversee all activities in the United States, which includes labels such as RCA Victor, RCA Victor Red Seal, Catalyst, deutsche harmonia mundi, Conifer, Melodiya and ECM. Palmer comes to BMG from Relativity Records where from 1993 he was exec. vp/gm. Prior to that he was co-president at ATCO/East West Records, having joined ATCO in 1989 as gm. He also spent 10 years at PolyGram Records where he rose to sr. vp of marketing & A&R. ■ J. David Waldman has been promoted to vp of business affairs for Sony Music Special Products, where he will be responsible for the negotiation of various deals and the coordination of future business affairs related to such deals. Waldman had recently served as director of business affairs for the division since 1994. He joined Sony Entertainment in 1991 as a general counsel in the law department. Chris Poppe has been upped to sr. dir. of marketing for Sony's Epic Records, where she will be responsible for marketing and product management and will also work with the head of marketing to manage the department's daily activity. Poppe has served as director of marketing since 1993, first joining the company in 1985 as a secretary before being appointed to marketing manager in 1988. And Sony's Atlanta, GA-based 57 Records has named William F. Marion national director of promotion and special projects. Marion will serve in the dual capacities of overseeing the promotional and marketing activities of the label while directing and coordinating the efforts of Shotput Records promotion department. Since 1995 he has served as national director of promotion for Vernon Yard Recordings. ■ EMI Music Distribution has promoted Jerry Brackenridge to vp of major accounts, and from his Atlanta, GA base he will be in charge of EMD's sales and marketing efforts for major accounts in the Eastern section of the U.S. Brackenridge most recently was regional director of the Southern Region for CEMA, and prior to that was district sales manager for Capitol Records out of Miami. ■ A&M Records has announced a trio of appointments. Scott Carter has been named director of product development, and now will be charged with overseeing marketing activities for various artists at the company. He joined A&M in 1991 in the label's promotion department and most recently was national director of college promotion. Terry Dry has been appointed director of artist development and artist relations, a job calling for Dry to oversee tour-related activity and work closely with artists, agents and management to strategize artist development. Formerly manager of artist development, Dry interned at A&M while in college and joined the staff in 1993 as national college/metal promotion coordinator. And Jay Hughen has been named national director of college radio promotion. He now will be responsible for promotion and development of all A&M artists at the college level.

EAST COAST

Spongebath Records/Zoo Entertainment recording act Self hung out with label execs and a special fan at a pre-show party at New York's Cake, prior to their NYC debut at Brownies. Self is on tour in support of its first album release Subliminal Plastic Motives featuring the single "So Low." Pictured are (front row, l-r): Special guest Zoo Dog; Doug Ingold, Zoo; and Rory Daigle, Spongebath; (middle row) Mike and Matt Mahaffey of Self; Lou Maglia, head of Zoo Entertainment; Timm Nobles, Zoo; and Mike Boyle, FMQB; (back row) Miles Baker, Zoo; Jason Rawlings and Chris James of Self; and David Ross, Zoo.

EXPERIMENTAL TO POPULAR AND BACK: It is a clear sign of the state of music today that the English/French/Aussie group Stereolab can play before packed houses all across the country. At the group's origins there is a resurrection of the Moog and other odds and ends of early musical electronics to create a new take on what had faded into the landscape of current popular music. Taking a cue from early '70's krautrock acts including, Can, Kraftwerk and Faust to name a few, Stereolab mixes ear-laden hooks with a rhythmic drone. With an exponential popularity the band is now able to sell out three shows in the New York area.

Tuesday the 21st at Irving Plaza was the second show of the trio, which highlighted its new ability to play bigger venues without being overwhelmed. Using a lightshow that was a perfect complement to the set, the group exuded an optimism that is almost all but extinct with the "alternative" scene. Stereolab mixed its set up between the pop favorites and the more mantra sounding pieces that were able to keep the crowd silent for a few moments after they ended. This was especially notable when the group went into a couple of what can only be called space-jams, that had instruments heading in different directions but kept themselves in harmony with each other. The truest compliment that can be said of the concert was that the group made the time pass effortlessly with hardly a foot heading for the exit until the last note faded. A taste of Stereolab's oeuvre can be found on its latest album Emperor Tomato Ketchup on the Elektra label.

A SPECIAL BLEND: It is rare to be able to sit through a whole four-band night without wanting to skip some part of the evening. On Friday the 17th this strange phenomenon occurred at The Cooler as a trio of D.C. talent and a lone North Carolinian entertained. The first group out was The Delta 72 and the band's set the stage ablaze. The group's Mississippi slide guitar attack coupled with a Woolly Bully organ sound provided a punch like a heavyweight. The Delta 72 never came into retro/garage territory because the band was able to take these elements and merge them into something new. This can be heard on the new Touch And Go single "Triple Crown." The next group, Spatula, was the sole NC fare for the evening. This group went into a more sedated but not drowsy set. The group has slowly evolved from more standard lyric-oriented works to a more instrumental stage. A trio consisting of cello, drums and guitar that play off each other in an appealing effect. Spatula's latest offering is Medium Planers and Matches out on Jesus Christ.

The Warmers are another trio that plays a whole different ball game. The members try and bring an urgency to their playing that overcomes the lack of dynamics. The artsy playing of the drummer and her facial expressions were the highlight of this Discord band's set. The final group was the irrepressible Chisel which exudes bristling energy. The group's songs are very reminiscent of The Jam, with plenty of hummable parts and loads of verve. With all of the jumping and bouncing, the band provided a punctuation to the evening that was worth the wait.

SPREAD SUNBLOCK ON YOUR TV: The MTV Beach House was in full swing for Memorial Day, broadcasting 12 hours of non-stop live programming from California beaches, including a live performance by Coolio. (Didn't we just mention him?)... In the meantime, Los Lobos was honored on May 23rd at the Broadoaks Children's School of Whittier College. The band has performed a number of benefits for the non-profit child development center, which will dedicate a building as The Los Lobos Learning Center...

LIKE HE REALLY REALLY NEEDS ANOTHER AWARD, but he probably appreciated it anyway: Michael Jordan (Favorite Male Athlete), along with Brandy (Favorite Singer) TLC (Favorite Group) and Coolio's "Gangsta's Paradise" (Favorite Song) (he's taking over the world...) were the big winners at Nickelodeon's 9th annual Kids' Choice Awards, held May 11 at Universal Studios. Whitney Houston sang "I'm Every Woman" and co-hosted the event with Rosie O'Donnell; to prevent a Serious Awards Show vibe, performers and honorees made their entrances on rollerblades, mountain bikes, skateboards. Oh, and the whale from Free Willy 2 won Favorite Animal Star...

THERE'S GARBAGE ON LINE: iMusic, the Seattle-based interactive music broadcast company, are presenting soon-to-be-stars Garbage in a live broadcast recorded during their current tour. Internet users can tune in world-wide through June 30th at: <http://imusic.com>. There's also a contest to win a band-autographed Fender Stratocaster and limited-edition CD singles. In the meantime, Garbage made a triumphant, sold-out return to the L.A. area with its May 11 show at The Palace. Elsewhere around town, Me'Shell Ndege'ocello was the special guest at Luna Park for the Launch Magazine party during Electronic Entertainment Expo, while Ministry and the Jesus Lizard rocked the Palladium. May 18th saw James Brown at the Greek Theatre with special guest, oh, um, just guess, okay? Give up? Ok. That's cool (hint, hint).

Vic Chesnutt and friends take a break at Rancho De La Luna studios in Joshua Tree, CA, to listen to a playback of "God is Good," his duet with Victoria Williams for Sweet Relief II, benefitting the organization's Musicians' Fund. The soon-to-be-released disc will also feature

Nashville Earning Title Of Music City USA

By Wendy Newcomer

Randy Bachman jams with his band at Nashville's Ace of Clubs as part of Tin Pan South.

RANDY BACHMAN REMINISCES ABOUT HIS FIRST VISIT TO NASHVILLE with an air of wonder. Bachman, the "B" in '70s supergroup Bachman Turner Overdrive (and a founding member of The Guess Who), had secured an appointment to see Arista Nashville's president, Tim DuBois. "I walked into his office. He said 'Welcome. You're royalty.' I looked to see who was behind me. There was nobody there. He meant me!" Bachman says. "I said, 'What do you mean?' He said, 'You're a king, man. You've written these songs. For years, we've all known your songs. Welcome to Nashville. We've been waiting for you to come. We've been waiting for John Fogerty and Bob Seger, for you guys to come and bring your influence to country music. We need you.'"

Bachman's experience is not unusual. These days, the city best known as the humble abode of Garth, Reba, and the Grand Ole Opry is fast becoming home sweet home for artists, composers, and writers of all musical genres. "It all begins with a song"—a phrase synonymous with Nashville and familiar to country songwriters for years—has expanded its meaning to include songwriters whose first love is more likely to be Chuck Berry or The Beatles instead of Hank Williams or Patsy Cline.

Cynics who remember Nashville mainly for gingham dresses and bales of hay may be surprised to know that it has become the land of creative opportunity to musical heavyweights such as Michael McDonald and Steve Winwood. Why the attraction? The answer, of course, lies in the song and the songwriter.

"You go to L.A. or New York, it's hard to get your phone call returned. Everybody's doing lunch. Here, everybody's doing songs," Bachman says. "I find that when I go to an office here, I immediately have the respect of the person I'm speaking to. And when you walk into their office, you see something on the wall that knocks you out. It's a hit song—written by them! And so when they sit there and say, 'You know, your chorus is a little weak in the middle of your song,' you're not talking to accountants...you're talking to a guy who's written songs. There's a guitar in the corner. He still writes songs. Earlier this morning, he's writing a song. That's why it's Music City. It's run by people who write and play music."

It only takes a second to peruse the local paper and see that, on any given night, one can witness performances by legends of blues, rock, jazz, and country in the intimate setting of clubs once occupied by strictly country writers. The explosion of "non-country" songwriters and artists curiously checking out the Nashville scene has earned the city the nickname of "Tin Pan South." In fact, an annual event of the same name has become a showcase for writers who get inspiration from Tin Pan South's Northern namesake.

Randy Van Warmer, writer of the '70s pop hit "Just When I Needed You Most," has lived in Nashville for 10 years. "It's the most song-oriented town in the world. There was Tin Pan Alley in New York years and years ago, where they were writing very melodic songs. We look back on it now and a lot of classic songs were written back then," he says. "And it was a kind of community like Nashville is now. There's no place where lyrics are more important than in country music, so [Nashville] just seems like a very natural place for people who write words to come."

This year's Tin Pan South, sponsored by the Nashville Songwriters Association International, concluded with a legendary songwriters night held at the mother church of country music, the Ryman Auditorium. That concert offered the works of artists including John Phillips (Mamas and the Papas), John Sebastian (The Lovin' Spoonful), Allen Toussaint (writer of "Mother-In-Law" and "Southern Nights"), and Janis Ian, who wrote such '70s classics as "Jesse" and "At Seventeen."

Janis Ian performs at the Legendary Songwriters concert held at Nashville's historic Ryman Auditorium.

Ian, who moved to Nashville 10 years ago from New Jersey, foresees doing business in Nashville vs. New York or L.A. as a necessity for any artist. "People have to. I mean, you can get fed in Nashville," she explains. "You can't get fed in those other places. Nashville supports you being an artist. They like that. Those other places tolerate it."

Allegiance to Nashville used to be a foreign concept to Ian. "It's become very respectable to live in Nashville. When I came here in '86, everybody told me not to say I lived here because it would destroy my career as a pop artist or as an international artist," Ian says. "And yet these last three or four years, people are just fascinated. Our profile has changed."

Feelings of support and general comradery seem to be a drawing card for artists who may or may not have ties to the country music industry. Writer Steve Seskin (Little Big Town Music) is a San Francisco native who has been visiting and writing in Nashville for a decade. Seskin has noticed a steady stream of writers coming to the city within the last few years who might have, in the past, dismissed it. "I think they have to have a reverence and respect for what Nashville was, what it is and what it's becoming," Seskin says of the newcomers. "I don't think someone should come here and try and change it... 'Cause that's the other thing about people that are here that have been here a long time—if you show them that level of respect and you treat them with the reverence that they deserve, they'll welcome you."

Seskin, in addition to composing country hits, has also written with Peter Frampton, Paul Young and Olivia Newton-John of late. He gives the recent broadening of country music as a primary reason for Nashville's appeal and explains that the growing acceptance of different musical styles makes writers feel a sense of belonging. But he says that fitting in isn't always the reason for choosing Nashville. "Some people, like Peter Frampton, for instance, are just choosing Nashville as a neat place to live and be around. I don't think he has any aspirations of getting into the fold of country music. I don't think you're gonna hear a Peter Frampton record on the country charts soon. Or ever," Seskin smiles. "Same thing with Michael McDonald. So why are they

SINGLES REVIEWS By Daina Darzin

■ MAGNAPOP: "Open The Door" (Priority P253992)

Magnapop is perfectly poised to be a hit with the new, slightly more melodic climate of alternative rock. Much of the band's new Rubbing Doesn't Help disc is more heavily-rocking and raw, so this gently lilting, ironically somber tune might be just the thing. It's already an add at L.A.'s KROQ and San Francisco's Live 105, among other stations. "Everything is good these days but all of my friends are dying," sings Linda Hopper in a high, pure voice, as the ensemble backs her with mellifluous little riffs. Magnapop toured extensively with its previous Hot Boxing disc, and is set to work the States this summer with Ass Ponys and Tripl3fastaction.

■ THE SPECIALS: "A Little Bit Me, A Little Bit You" (Virgin 41689)

Yes, it's the Monkees song. Eighties ska pioneers The Specials are back with a disc of covers, Today's Specials, which includes the Clash's "Somebody Got Murdered," Toots and the Maytall's "Pressure Drop" and Dave Brubeck's "Take Five." The Specials' exuberant, lushly percolating version of the first single is just the kind of lighthearted fun track that people like to play at a beach party.

■ FUN LOVIN' CRIMINALS: "Scooby Snacks" (EMI DPRO-10491)

This is a witty and inventive rap/rock/jazz/alternative/whatever that metamorphoses out of the sampled beginning of Pulp Fiction ("Everybody be cool, this is a robbery..."). The track is off Fun Lovin' Criminals' EMI debut, Come Find Yourself and deftly mixes a dark, undulating groove, hip hop beats and twangy, reverberating guitar with slightly tongue-in-cheek lyrics concerning a drug-induced robbery. "Scooby Snacks" is available in a "clean" radio edit and could work on either alternative or urban stations.

■ SPACEHOG: "Cruel To Be Kind" (Sire PRCD 9570-2)

Spacehog loves pop music, and it shows on this eminently catchy, syncopated, fun track that can hardly wait to be played on any radio format. "Cruel To Be Kind" sorta sounds like Bruce Springsteen jamming with Thin Lizzy and the Brit-pop outfit of your choice, and is an excellent follow-up to "In The Meantime," the #2 alternative and #1 AOR track from the band's briskly-selling Resident Alien debut.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ FLUFFY: "Husband" (Tim Kerr Records/The Enclave TK96CD135)

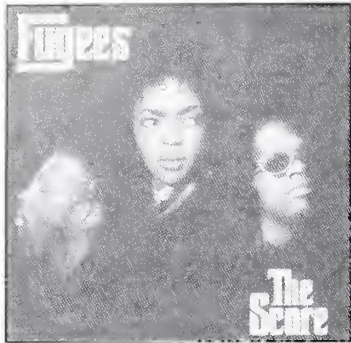

Pissed off vocals and nasty punk guitars will surely get Fluffy compared to Hole, but the British outfit actually draws its inspirations from the genre's originals—'70s punkers and rockers like the Sex Pistols, Dead Boys and MC5. The track's biting Alanis Morissette-esque lyrics about a disintegrating relationship ("You do what he says but you hate him inside...he doesn't have to wear a ring/your girlfriends know you better than him") and cool, driving rhythms make it a perfect modern rock add. One of the first projects of the new EMI subsidiary, the Enclave.

ALBUM REVIEWS by Daina Darzin

■ HARVESTER: Me Climbing Mountain (Geffen DGCD-24959)

If R.E.M., the Doors, Johnny Cash and Green Day got together to write some tunes, the result might be this striking, quietly brilliant album.

Thoughtful, literate lyrics wrap around subtle musical passages that range from jaunty, semi-acoustic irony ("My Buffalo Song") to the hazy, mystically pulsing "Great Springwaters of America" to spare, plaintive beauty ("Wander"). A special record that deserves to be one of those slow-building sleeper hits.

While many '80s heavy metallers died quickly with the advent of the Seattle Sound, and while others linger on increasingly crummier labels, the Scorpions have parlayed a huge European fan base (the band enjoys superstar status to this day in Russia and their native Germany, among many other countries) into a career that has spanned several decades and is still going strong. Pure Instinct is, well, another swell Scorpions record: big, melodic hooks, a mass of power chord bombast, and some variety in the form of a mid-tempo groove ("But The Best of You") and a pretty, thoughtful ballad with vaguely political lyrics ("Does Anyone Know") that clearly hopes to duplicate the success of the Scorpions' monster international hit, "Winds of Change." Might just work, too.

■ CHARM FARM: Pervert (Mercury 314 532 142-2AD)

Seventies glitter/punk is back in a big new way with bands like Imperial Drag and Spacehog, and Charm Farm is of that school. But not exactly. This spectacularly inventive Detroit outfit mixes Brit-pop and goth, funk and Motown, rave-all-night dance beats along with Stooges-like dark, amphetamine-laced glamour. "With You Forever" features a sinister, guitar-power rush of sound that almost reminds one of Prince, while "Sick" has an ominous, James-Bond-theme vibe.

■ SOLUTION A.D.: Solution A.D. (TAG 92708-2P)

If you love Dishwalla's "Counting Blue Cars," you'll like Solution A.D.'s "Atypical Day," which sports a similar just-slightly-quirky edge on top of a big, turbo-powered groove. Layers of sound glide into place with an instinctively perfect grace, the result of killer songwriting replete with impeccably crafted hooks. "Fearless," the first single, mixes a jangly, sparkling beat with malevolent, blazing guitar. "Comfortable" is gently syncopated, undulating to a hypnotic beat. A band that was born to be on alterna-radio, Solution A.D. have a great future in front of them.

Though the Cure had its greatest commercial success with driving Brit-pop songs like "Let's Go To Bed," its true forte is intensely emotional, dark, heart-breaking sounds from the gothic pits of hell (perhaps best exemplified by classic, gloom-and-doom Pomography disc) Wild Mood Swings, the veteran band's 10th disc and first studio album since 1992's Wish, has something to satisfy both pale black-clad fans and radio programmers. Wild Mood Swings is a consistently strong and varied disc from a band that's always been inventive and cool: Cuts like "Want" and "This is a Lie" are replete in soaring, complex orchestration, complete with strings and a soundtrack-ish grandeur, while "Mint Car" is a loopy, jangly, joyful thing with a buoyant, tropical break.

ALBUM REVIEWS By Peter Miro

MAGICAL SOL BROTHERS: The Beginning (Knappy Head/Ichiban KHE-4503-2) Producers: George H. Smith, Howard Daniel, Trent Daniel, Suga Sh*t Productions.

Audible sorcery is at play on a rap CD served on a melodic R&B platter. "Less is more" in the design and execution of this debut. T-Rob, Lil' Leg Ced, mr. boogie and King reveal the fertility of the Houston music scene as they blend urban flavor, with real instrumentation recalling the seminal output of Roy Ayers and Jimmy Smith during the '70s. Long, strong chants, hypnotic keyboards and easygoing conversations are the grist of this LP.

RICHIE RICH: Half Thang (Shot/45110 Records SR 8000) Producers: D.J. Daryl, Richie Rich, Lev Berlak.

Basically an audio movieola about the Oakland drug game as experienced by Richie Rich, complete with a recap of his arrest for possession of a half kilo (1/2 Thang) of crack cocaine, and subsequent incarceration. The jams are interludes with minimal accompaniment, a backdrop to Richie's illuminating monologues. "Cheap Thrill," "Half Thang" and "Busta Phree" should set the record straight for followers of Richie's fate.

POPPA DOO Da Final Hour (Avex-Critique 01624 15453-2) Producers: Duane "Big Du" Martin, Pop aka Tony C, Swift C, Shah T, Shah Skills.

More player-oriented wolf tickets compliments of Pop and his fellas. Guzzles down easy on a diet of intermittent guitar and keyboard colorings. Roll call for a loyal clique that doesn't stretch convention much. Cult material with an under-ground flavor.

PICK OF THE WEEK

ANN NESBY: I'm Here For You (Perspective 31454 9022) Producers: Jimmy Jam & Terry Lewis

Jam & Lewis, producers extraordinaire, harness the elemental lung power of Sounds Of Blackness lead vocalist Ann Nesby into a homemade storm front of raw seductive force. Nesby's wide-ranging, lilting notes permeate the ear as part of a well-engineered assault on the senses. Opening cut "Let The Rain Fall" serves notice that a bonafide twister is coming down the pike with solid drum support. Her instrument yields great beauty on ballads "I'm Still Wearing Your Name," "(What A) Lovely Evening," "I'll Do Anything For You," (generous with well-orchestrated strings) midtempo cut "Thrill Me," tearjerker anthem "I'm Here For You," with Gerald Albright's dramatic sax punctuations, and "I'll Be Your Everything," which works choral magic. Nothing lukewarm on this classy project, with its arsenal of enticing production values.

THE RHYTHM

By Peter Miro

Singer/songwriter Bruce Fisher ruminates over his "Wet Dream" of love on his new single for Ed Townsend's Underdog Records. Fisher emerges from his modest profile of penning successful tunes to a more-active role as a solo artist.

"OLD SCHOOL" IS A CRYPTIC TERM, a frequent applique—slapped onto urban music considered to be dated faster than the half-life of shattered atomic particles. But the term also represents an era of elegance and classic simplicity once again being embraced by both the industry and consumer alike. This extends from the multiplicity of "Oldies" radio formats nationwide, to material being penned not just as a counterbalance to "hard" bump & grind lyricism but for its own intrinsic beauty as art. Bruce Fisher is rooted in the latter tradition. One is not to be fooled by the title of his Underdog Records' single "Wet Dream." Upon closer inspection, what's "wet" about his dream turns out to be his own sentimental tears. Fisher has previously capitalized off emotions in tunes he's authored or performed over the years, the most lingering example being "You Are So Beautiful (To Me)," a song he penned which transcended categorical boundaries, to be recorded by numerous pop and country artists. Fisher once stimulated listeners with his lead vocal on the title track to Quincy Jones' Body Heat LP, and was the song's co-writer. His lead part on the Donald Byrd million seller "Walking In Rhythm" wafted across radio airwaves in the '70s, establishing his signature with the public for posterity. With "Wet Dream" and its companion track "Just Let Me Go," Fisher hopes to renew audience familiarity with his soloist skills in the '90s. If people are diggin' on it, the "Old School" tag is at best a quibble, because some creations never go out of style.

IAAAM OBSERVES BLACK MUSIC MONTH: The International Association of African-American Music (IAAAM), founded by Sheila Eldridge and Dyana Williams, will commemorate the 17th anniversary of African-American Music Month, June 14-16 in Washington, DC. Workshops and symposiums focusing on a variety of musical issues, artist showcases, tributes to music legends and a prayer breakfast are on this year's calendar. The 6th IAAAM Celebration will attract music industry professionals, recording artists, radio disc jockeys, retailers, executives, music aspirants and music lovers. Honorary chairpersons are congressman Chaka Fattah of Philadelphia, Tonight Show music director, Kevin Eubanks, and recording artists Yolanda Adams, Jean Carne and Lenny Kravitz. Voter registration will be emphasized this year. The Diamond Award for Excellence concert, June 15, will honor Earth Wind & Fire, New Edition, Gladys Knight, Chuck D., Dee Dee Bridgewater, James Mtume, International Sweethearts of Rhythm, The Isley Brothers and Hugh Masekela. Industry trend setters will be recognized at the Contributor Awards luncheon, prior to the evening concert. Among the slated categories, music journalist/critic Nelson George will receive the James Jones Award, a further testament to the legacy of the late USA Today columnist. Byron Lewis, CEO/chairman of the UniWorld Group will be presented the 1996 Founders Award. The White House is currently making plans to welcome IAAAM with a special music industry reception hosted by President Clinton. Says IAAAM co-founder Williams, "Our goal is to bring corporate America together with consumer and creative entities to recognize and celebrate the beauty, diversity and economic strength of this viable music." THE RHYME

Violence befalls promising debut artist Young Lay (Lathan Williams) of Young Black Brotha Records. The stabbed body of his fiancée was found tied to a chair after a house fire in Vallejo, CA last week. Their one-month-old son was kidnapped from the scene, and his whereabouts remain unknown.

WAS IT JEALOUSY or gang retaliation? Speculations continue over motives for the suspected murder of Daphne Boyden, 17, fiancée of Oaktown-area rapper "Young Lay" (Lathan Williams) May 17 in Vallejo, CA. Ms. Boyden's charred, stabbed body was found tied to a chair after a reported fire at her home. Her newborn son, one-month-old Le-Zhan De-Mariae Williams, remains missing from the scene, presumably kidnapped. The tragedy mars the pending release of Young Lay's Black Brotha Records debut LP, Black & Dangerous reviewed in Cash Box last issue. Previews reveal a gripping project with money-earning potential. Death Row artist Tupac Shakur guests on "I Gotta Survive." Young Lay has been a previous target of violence, surviving a gunshot wound to the head and ensuing coma in August, 1995. He emerged from that ordeal with a newfound appreciation for life, determined to complete his stalled album, and persevere despite the attack, which he attributed to being "at the wrong place at the wrong time." East Bay-area press sources state that witnesses to the fire reported seeing two women enter the house and "carry out a small bundle." A woman requesting anonymity says, "I think it was done by fools who think he's famous and they're jealous. It's ridiculous." She also said Boyden had received several threatening phone calls recently. Vallejo police questioned and released two suspects, but have not established a motive for the crimes. A spokesperson at Young Lay's publicity company, New York-based Double XXposure, remarked that only (Williams) can answer whether he has any lingering enemies capable of the deplorable acts, as prospects for the infant's survival diminish. Young Lay, distraught since the incident, is thought to be in seclusion.

BOOM SHAKA LEVELS TROUBADOUR: Reggae fans of many persuasions milled in force at West Hollywood's Troubadour to catch L.A. scions Boom Shaka perform selections from their new Stone Mountain/Knitting Factory Works' CD Freedom Now!. Comely ladies and jaunty men stepped and swayed to inundating waves of bass-fueled pleasure compliments of lead singer Trevy Felix and crew. The SRO-packed dance floor below the bandstand was the best spot to be for the 11:00 p.m. celebration. Stag dancing fans in shades of black, white, brown, and yellow head-nodded their ringing endorsement of the island artform.

GETO BOYS REUNION TOUR: Houston's notorious bad boys of rap, Virgin/Noo Trybe's Geto Boys kick off their reunion tour Friday May 31, at Houston's Aragon Ballroom. Joining the resurrected group will be Shyheim, The 5th Ward Boyz, Menace Clan and Face Mob. Bookings have been set throughout June '96 in Nashville, TN (6/2), Louisville, KY (6/7), Birmingham, AL (6/8), Atlanta, GA (6/9), Jackson, MS (6/14), Dallas, TX (6/15), Kankakee, IL (6/21), Chicago, IL (6/21), and Cincinnati, OH (6/23)

ADDRHYME: Oakland-based rapper Richie Rich drops his first ever solo LP, Half Thang on the 41510 label. The project chronicles his 1990 drug bust when he was arrested with a half a kilo of crack cocaine. Universal recording artists The Lost Boyz release their debut LP Legal Drug Money June 4. Dangerous Music artist Too Short, rap's original pimpster, had a retirement bash at the Constellation Club in Century City last week. Redirecting his energies from performing, he will continue to operate the Jive-distributed label from its new Atlanta headquarters. WC of The Maad Circle said, "Too Short is too essential to the game. He won't stay retired." With apologies to Sir Laurence Olivier and Dalton Trumbo of Spartacus... "Time will solve that mystery."

Rap Single Reviews

By Peter Miro

BODYSNATCHAZ: "On A Sunday" (Hood Rat/Priority DPRO-30044)

Loose Ends and Funkadelic grooves inspire this cut about the weekend itinerary of cruising partners Crow (aka MC Scattabrain) and Psycho Mic (aka the Microphone Psycho). It's a storyline spun with humor, misadventure, and West Coast flavor. From their debut LP The Autopsy, there's enough rhythmic layers to pace a party crowd, but it's laid back enough to relax to. An added remix incorporates the bottom to En Vogue's "Hold On" with a tad of scratching. It's jungle rough, straight up Cali tasty.

THE LARGE PROFESSOR: "The Mad Scientist" (Geffen PRO-CD-4858)

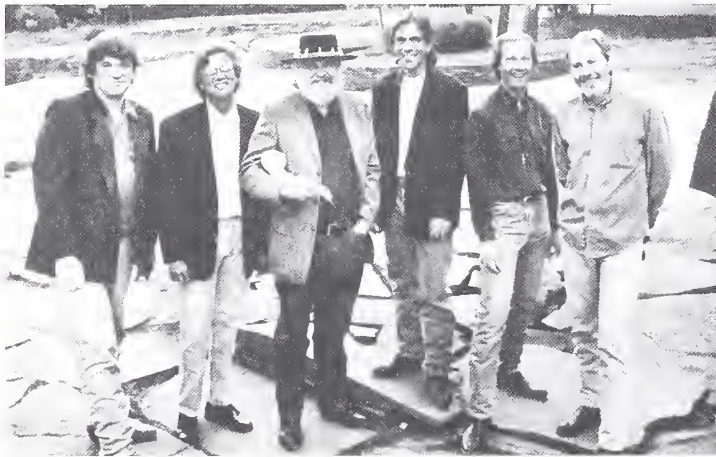

"Dropping Science" is the credo of this echoplexed narrative, commencing with the haunting laughter of Vincent Price from Michael Jackson's Thriller video, set to a booming beat. Vocal flows resonate as if recorded in a cavernous space, making for an ultra-clear rap to background ratio. Three mixes ensure radio worthiness. Bonus tracks "Spacey" is a fusion of jazz elements, most notably cymbals, with hip-hop pulsations. "Listen" continues the hybrid sensation with free form trumpet blended with sci-fi machine sounds, and chants. A true lab experiment.

Blues Notes & News

By John Rhys

SHE CAME ON LIKE A DOUBLE-BARRELED SHOTGUN: Female sensitivity sheathed in steel. One could not help but notice some anger in her lyrics and performance but there was also a warm beauty and wonderful depth as well. Obviously a woman with absolute control of her surroundings. Now soft and tender, but around the bend in the set, pure thunder. She's spellbinding!

Rory Block performed a two hour set May 16th at B.B.King's Universal City. Sponsored by Rounder Records with Glenn Dicker as host to promote Ms. Block's new CD release, Tornado. A change from her previous CDs which were more on the acoustic side, this reviewer heard some of the same remarks made about Bob Dylan's initial change to electricity during the performance. Undaunted, Ms. Block attacked the set with a marvelous positive energy that left the audience yelling for more. One could hear a pin drop during her acapella delivery of "The Leviathan" which was written by Andy Barnes and is the only song on the CD not written by the artist. A road tested warrior, Rory Block and her band should be seen and heard for best results. "Beauty is about your heart." Mama was right.

THE WORLD STOPPED FOR ONE HOUR AND THIRTY SEVEN MINUTES Saturday night at the House Of Blues when possibly the finest and tightest group of musicians in the States took the stage. The second sold out night saw a cross section of people from all age groups and all walks of life paying rapt attention as members of The Band managed to weave magic only they can create. In the audience was Harry Dean Stanton, Luke Perry, and Michael Pollard plus Mr. and Mrs. Sam and Eiko Nishiguchi from the Fujita Corporation, USA, all of whom came to pay homage to the players from Big Pink. Opening with "Goin' Back To Memphis" from the new CD High On The Hog, Levon Helm was in fine form and grinning from ear to ear. Rick Danko then took over the singing doing "Stage Fright," which brought the audience to its collective feet. The sound of the original members is carved in musical history and the addition of Randy Ciarlante on drums, Jim Weider on guitar and Richard Bell on piano has brought a marvelous new energy to the group's unique style and has allowed expansion on stage for the original members multitude of talents. The audience roared as Garth Hudson opened "The Weight," and they sang along all through the song. "Stand Up," from the new CD and the last song of the set, had everyone on the main floor rockin' as The Band gained multitudes of new fans. After about three minutes of resounding applause Hudson came out alone to open the encore, dazzling the audience with his keyboard wizardry. They closed with "Free Your Mind," the new single, then left the stage to a standing ovation. Guests who sat in were Ritchie Hayward and Blondie Chaplin. Once again, the members of The Band gave new meaning to the words musical pleasure and Cash Box was glad to be there to share an evening of unparalleled musicianship and pure joy.

Around L.A.

THERE'S A COUPLE of ladies to look out for in the city of stars. Debbie Kay and her band The Southside Shuffle are dealing out some very fine blues locally and Miss Taryn, a 14-year-old whiz kid on boogie piano currently playing about with blues harpist Johnny Dyer. Catch these ladies if you want to treat yourself to a great evening of blues entertainment.

World famous actor Harry Dean Stanton has put together a band and is playing about town. Word is he's pretty damn good and well worth the price of admission. Cash Box has heard him and will vouch for it.

We'd like to thank Saul Davis manager of B.B.King's in Universal City and his wife, Carla Olson (formerly of the Textones) for their courtesy and hospitality last week.

Congratulations are in order for Joe Lala (actor/musician) and Ginny McSwain (voice over director) on their recent marriage May 11th at the home of Mark and Judy Taylor. Jeff Daniss of ICM was best man.

FAREWELL TO THE GANGSTER OF LOVE: Cash Box was sad to hear of the unexpected death of Johnny "Guitar" Watson recently. A showman to the very end, Johnny died on stage of an apparent heart attack during a performance in Japan.

Born in Houston, Texas, Watson grew up in Los Angeles and had been fronting bands since 1953. His "Space Guitar," cut for the Federal label in 1954, was probably the first record to take full advantage of the very limited arsenal of amp and studio trickery available at the time. Probably the most remembered record of Watson's is "Gangster Of Love" which was recorded under the direction of Johnny Otis for King Records in 1962. Since that time Johnny "Guitar" Watson continued to make great records and has received numerous accolades for his many contributions to blues and R&B and will be sorely missed by his many friends and compatriots. Farewell JGW.

NAVARRA CORP. (Nasdaq: NAVR) last week announced a 2 for 1 stock split in the form of a 100% dividend. The distribution will be made on June 1, 1996 to all holders of record. The stock distribution was authorized by the Minneapolis-based company's directors May 21 based on the belief that it will broaden ownership of the company and enhance liquidity of the company's marketplace shares. The action will not increase or decrease ownership for the shareholders. Navarre independently publishes and distributes music, computer software and interactive CD-ROM product.

SOUTHWEST WHOLESALE is an aggressive one-stop that believes in giving clients a taste of the pie before they buy a slice. Through the dealer's May 13, 1996 edition of Informant (a catalog featuring new releases and the one-stop's sales rankings). Southwest has given up another double CD package, Select Trax, Vols. 5 & 6, that provides singles from various artists on labels major and independent. Selections of pop on one disc and alternative rock another are offered on the two discs. The nine-track pop disc has material ranging from Epic Records' from Down Under R&B/dance diva Tina Arena to alterna-gospel trio de Talk (Forefront Entertainment), and lots of dance, techno, rock and R&B/hip-hop sounds in between. Imperial Drag, the WORK/Sony group featured on the cover of the May 13 Informant, leads off the 14-cut alternative disc, which also features fare primarily released from major labels that are being highly-touted or have a history of doing well through Southwest's sales base. Samplers like these can help build that kind of history.

Nina Easton

EASTON EXPANDS ENTERPRISES: Industry veteran Nina K. Easton, co-founder of the Ichiban Music Family, has opened NMC Records, an artist development driven indie label, and Music & Media, Inc., a music/entertainment public relations firm. NMC will be shipped domestically by MS Distributing Co.

Twenty year veteran Easton, who garnered her first successes as an executive while with CBS Finland, and later helped Ichiban nudge into the upper echelons of sales for indie labels, hopes to shape NMC as a boutique label which develops artists. For the first signing she returned to her professional roots and tapped Finnish pop dance artist Miisha, whose second single, "Set Me Free," is already gaining chart attention. Miisha will debut for NMC in late May. The label also has signed Swedish alternative rockers Carpe Wade, and there is a series titled Clubland with production by Cris Owens.

Music & Media has been set up by Easton to help clients obtain maximum exposure in all forms of media to create an increase in sales, credibility and name awareness. The Cash Box Retail Guide wishes the best to Easton and staff.

RELEASES AND PROMOTIONS: Teknowhore will be unleashed on the public June 11. The first full-length album by New York City's experimental industrial-influenced aggregation Bile will be put on the retail stroll by Energy Records. College radio and national metal stations, many of which played music from the band's previous EP, Suckpump, are picking up Teknowhore's first single, "No I Don't No." The group plans to tour throughout the U.S. and Europe later this summer...While on the subject of energy, be forewarned: the label is also issuing Contents Under Pressure, the debut band from NYC thrashers Pro-Pain. Also due out June 11, the album's first single is "State Of Mnd," which has been serviced to metal and college radio. The album marks the return of Pro-Pain guitarist Tim Klimchuck, who left the band three years ago due to illness, and introduces former MOD guitarist Rob Mischetti. The band has been on tour since early May and will continue a performance trek that includes stops at radio and retail...

Members of Washington D.C. band Everything are mixing an album of live performances from a pair of sold out shows at the capital's The Bayou. Featuring live versions of past hits and new material, the Trumpter Records release is slated for a mid-summer release. But prior to official release a 1,000 copy limited edition CD, hand numbered, and signed by the band can be ordered through the label's website (<http://trumpter.com/active/ecolon/>) or at the one of the numerous shows during the band's tour in the Northeastern and Southern part of the U.S. during June...The Dashboard Prophets just released their debut album, Burning Out The Inside, for No Name Records, and will finish a trio of shows in Los Angeles at the Spaceland on May 28. The band has plans to hit the road in support of its album. To show how retail-intensive the tour will be, the band did a live in-store performance at the flagship Tower Sunset in West Hollywood when the album was released May 21...Jars Of Clay is hitting the road in support of its self-titled debut album for Silvertone Records. The band, which in the five months since the album's release has earned Gold status from the RIAA, hopes to use a May through July road trip to build on the success powered by the single "Flood," which attracted alternative rock and AAA radio airplay. The club headlining trek includes key stops in Los Angeles, New York, San Francisco, Atlanta, Dallas and Houston...

Angela Bowie, the former wife and manager of rock royalty's David Bowie, kicked off a tour May 26 at West Hollywood's The Viper Room in support of her Cheetah Records album The Outer Limits Of Audio Fidelity and its first single "The World Is Changing," both due out in June...Discovery Records' recording act Doc Powell is taking a discussion of his largely rootsy contempo-jazz into the wide-open cyberspaces of America Online (AOL). The June 4 live chat about his Discovery Records album Laid Back can be keyed by stroking "Net Noir." The album features bassists Stanley Clarke and Marcus Miller, percussionist Shelia E., reedmen Najee, Boney James, Gerald Albright and Kirk Whalum, and keyboardists Patrice Rushen and Bobby Lyle. How did Powell rate such a staggering list of heavyweights? His session and arranging work for artists like Luther Vandross, Aretha Franklin, Quincy Jones, George Benson, Dionne Warwick, Al Jarreau, Teddy Pendergrass, Vanessa Williams and the late Phyllis Hyman could explain it. More information about Powell can be obtained on his Internet web page at <http://www.discoveryrec.com>.

Another great effort from veteran bluesman Coco Montoya, this new CD is chock full of choice tunes and expert production thanks to Jim Gaines. Riding on the tail of his substantial seller "Gotta Mind To Travel," it looks as though the folks at Blind Pig have another winner. Coco's playing is all the way live and tasty as ever. One listening to this record and you'll know he's lyin' when he says he can't get his ass in gear. Shuffles, twelve bar blues and everything in between are all covered on this new CD that has an extraordinarily happy feel. Check out "Fool In Love" and "Can't Get My Ass In Gear" and you'll hear what we mean. Montoya's vocals are strong and confident on "You Think I'd Know Better By Now" and the slide solo work by Lee Roy Parnell is clean and well-executed. This will certainly do very well on blues radio and, combined with in-store play, sales should keep Coco on the road for another year. (JR)

■ BOOM SHAKA: Freedom Now! (Stone Mountain/Knitting Factory Works KFWSM501) Producers: Trevy Felix, Fabian Cook

Reggae band Boom Shaka possess the endurance of Ben Hur, having weathered the vagaries of "the biz" since 1985 on their sojourn to keep original, consciousness-raising roots music alive and pulsating from their L. A. base of operations. Once a literal bride abandoned by flaky label dealings, Boom Shaka retains a hefty dowry of material for its new, on-the-level consort. Freedom Now packs the charismatic utterings of frontman Trevor Felix, with a double load of righteous island riddims supplied by bassist Ray "Bassie" Felix, lead guitarist Lester "Lesterfari" Johnson, keyboardist Binghi Cornwall, and Watson "Drummic" Duverney keeping dem beats. Choice track "Chains" infectious loosens both mental and physical shackles, with an irresistible body-seizing mandate. "Western Town" is a harmonious dancehall ode, trailed by closer "Who Knows Better," a funky sharkbite cocktail that advocates enlightenment. Spirits will sprout tall off this radio-friendly seed corn. (PM)

News From The United Kingdom, Ireland & Europe

By Hal Levy

TOP UK SINGLES: Pushing her way to the top Number One position is Gina G's "Ooh Aah...Just A Little Bit" dropping George Michael's "Fastlove" to Second place. Mark Morrison is at Three with "Return Of The Mack", and JK's "There's Nothing I Won't Do" lands on Four. Tony Rich Project's "Nobody Knows" comes to Five pushing Suggs & Louchie Lou's "Cecilia" to Six. Smashing Pumpkins' "Tonight, Tonight" is found at Seven and 1996 Man Utd Fa Cup Squad's "Move Move Move" isn't making a goal on Eight. Newcomer John Alford's "Blue Moon/Only You" comes in at Nine and another newcomer, Black Grape's "Fat Neck" hits Ten.

The UK's Top Album is George Michael's Older with Top Video sales Timon & Pumbaa and Top Vid rental Crimson Tide competing for the £ with Top Music Video Live Cast Recording—Les Miserables. Top Mega Drive rental is Toy Story competing against Super Nintendo's rental Donkey Kong Country 2.

Top European single is Michael Jackson's "They Don't Care" which heads the charts in Germany, Europe's biggest market and is in second place in most other European countries. Robert Miles' "Children" heads the list in Switzerland, Austria, Finland, France, Sweden and Norway while Take That's "How Deep Is Your Love?" shines in Lithuania and Macedonia. George Michael's "Fastlove" is loving it up in Italy, Spain and Yugoslavia while Gina G is going "Ooh Aah...Just A Little Bit" in Israel. Again in the European Album chart, there is no clear winner but The Cranberries' To The Faithful Departed is leading in France, Italy and Sweden while Take That's Greatest Hits hits in Spain and Austria. The Backstreet Boys' Backstreet Boys comes in strong in Germany and Switzerland while Alanis Morissette's Jagged Little Pill is being dropped still in Denmark and Ireland.

TO MARKET WE GO as Thorn EMI at £18.43 is up 0.2% while Rank Organization's £5.35 is down 0.7%. Also down is PolyGram at NLf102 (£39.49), 2.1%.

DEAR MICHAEL JACKSON, IT'S SO TAXING: Michael Jackson said he was going to cancel his German tour because, under new German tax laws, his tax bill would have been bigger than his gross. Under the new laws, foreign artists are taxed on their entire German income and are not allowed to take deductions for production costs. Jackson's European tour requires three jumbo jets and 30 trucks. However, in spite of all the economic problems facing Germany and the rest of Europe, the German finance minister, Theo Waigel wrote a "Dear Michael" letter asking him not to cancel and promising that the section of the law Jackson was protesting would be changed and made retroactive to January 1, and therefore Jackson would be able to deduct all costs.

SHE AIN'T GOT NO CULTURE and we're talking about Spain's new conservative minister for education and culture, Esperanza Aguirre. Aguirre says that state subsidies to music, stage and cinema would soon be reviewed by the government and warned that cuts could be anticipated.

WHO'S GOT THE MONEY?: Well, the richest media company in Europe is probably Reed Elsevier, a Dutch/English conglomerate. It's followed by Berlusconi's Fininvest of Italy, Bertelsmann of Germany, Havas in France and CLT in Luxembourg.

A 'RECORD' YEAR is expected in the UK if 1996's first quarter figures carry on throughout the year. Album sales were at £194 million, up more than 13% and singles were being pushed out of the stores some 9% higher than 1995's first quarter.

STOP VIBRATING when playing your stereo. Wood speaker casings are affected by external vibrations. The newest casings on the market, said to eliminate these vibrations are made of Welsh slate. Speakers using the 500 million-year old material sell for about £3,000 a pair, give or take a couple of £s. Check the University of Wales if interested.

AND WHILE LISTENING TO THE MUSIC sip some delicious Kopi Luwak coffee. It costs only $660 a kilogram and comes from Sumatra where each bean has been eaten and then excreted by a tropical fox.

BANK ON IT: The Left Bank, that is, like in Paris. While French radio and television is stuck with the 40% French language sounds, there are no such restrictions on the club scene, which is coming back to life after almost dying out in the 1980s, when the government even banned any record that had the word 'acid' in it. But the 1990s saw the club culture slowly coming back to life and today there are many new bars, clubs, raves and concerts. Helping the young French catch up are the many Brits who, with Eurostar trains at hand, are flocking into Paris where many of them say the action is better than in the UK.

CHECK YOUR FRENCH CLOSET as the clubwear look is taking over the dress scene. Before, when you went out to a club, you had to dress like opening night at the opera. Now the rage is clubwear as seen in U.S. and UK videos.

G'DAY: Not for Kerry Packer, top Australian media tycoon who has taken Rupert Murdoch's News Corporation to court in Australia. Packer says his network has the rights to TV programs and movies from Murdoch's 20th Century Fox. Murdoch, in turn, is taking Packer to court in an attempt to take Rugby League match tv rights away from him. The two media giants and their companies have been fighting each other for more than fifty years.

HOOKED? That's going to be the problem for many people in the UK when the new Channel 5 goes on the air in January. Since the signal put out by C5B interferes with video and camcorder playback, all VCRs are going to have to be retuned to wipe out the interferences as well as receive the station, and we're talking some six million homes here. And C5B has to pay for it, as that was one of the conditions imposed on those who bid for the channel. Thus far manual tuning seems to be the only way and C5B is lining up more than 6,000 people and allocating $70 million for the job. However, Pace Micro Technology reportedly has come up with an instrument that would automatically retune a VCR and thus eliminate the hand tuning. Pace says their product should retail from £10 to £20 and C5B is investigating to see if the product works and then, if it would be cheaper to give each of the six million homes the instrument than to proceed with the hand tuning.

SEGA SAGA: In the first third of the year, Sega reported it sold some 600,000 Sega Saturn 32-bit units, 2.5 million in Japan and 300,000 in the rest of the world, including Europe. However, the company's profits dropped last year some 33% from the previous year due to the fact they were left with large inventories of their 16-bit units. They hadn't expected the more expensive 32-bit units to catch on so fast and had expected to sell off the slower models.

COLOR BLIND: Not CDs. Sony's research center in Yokohama reports that they have come up with a blue-green laser. Tiny lasers are used in CD-ROM drives and CD players to pick up digital information and the amount of information that can be put on a CD depends on the color light used to pick it up. Blue-green lasers hold more than twice as much information as the infra-red lasers currently in use. But the blue-green lasers, until now, have had a very short life. The new blue-green lasers operate at room temperature and have lasted more than 100 hours, ten times longer than the existing ones. Sony is working to improve the time.

MEANWHILE back in the UK market, the best-selling album during 1996's first quarter was Oasis' (What's The Story) Morning Glory, which has sold, since its release in the UK last autumn, more than 2.5 million copies. Top-selling single in the quarter was Babylon Zoo's Spaceman.

LONG HAIR-ED music sales are up in Ireland, Denmark and Holland where classical music holds onto about 11% of CD sales. However, in other European markets sales are down. In the UK, figures suggest the market was down 6.8%, in France, some 10.6%. While there are no figures from Germany, reports are that the signs are not bright. One way of fighting the trend seems to be the increasing number of compilation albums which are considered less taxing on newcomers to the music.

LET'S GET IT TOGETHER and the European Union is proposing a review of national and EU laws regarding advertising. Since every country has different laws regarding advertising, it is not easy to come up with an ad that can be used throughout Europe. Hopefully the review will come up with rules and regulations which would permit pan-European commercials.

PLACE YOUR BETS in Ireland, maybe. While the jury is still out on the casino to be built in Dublin, Atlantic City's U.S. Gaming Development, Inc. is still working on a floating casino in Ireland's second city, Cork. Plans call for 800 slot machines, 24 gaming tables, racehorse simulcast and keno. Troubling some people is the claim that the casino will be like Las Vegas, in that it will never close. According to the builders, Smith-Barney investment bankers say that Ireland is the best location for a casino in all of Europe. The conservative element of course, isn't looking at the money and jobs promised, but at their fear of prostitutes and drugs.

Paramount's Mission: Impossible A Rush

By John Goff

That wall and ceiling of water behind Tom Cruise used to be a restaurant...Impossible? Nothing is that in Mission: Impossible.

ALRIGHT, GOVERNMENT SPIES are out of work. There is no more Cold War. They're dinosaurs, you say. There's no reality from which the cinema can echo. Impossible!

So what?, say Paramount Pictures and Cruise/Wagner Productions. Besides, it's not like Mission: Impossible is out there looking for a virgin audience. Chances are if you never saw the Bruce Geller-created TV show you at least heard Lalo Schiffrin's theme through the walls of the womb. And if you did that 'sense memory' will jump the IMF right back into your consciousness with the same split second timing that band of hi-tech dare-devils worked with. If you liked the series you're gonna like the movie.

The hook for Tom Cruise's debuting-producer production is not that the IMF is saving the world from some sinister government, it's that various countries' spies are just spying on others' spies—old habits never die, they just go hi-tech.

This is Entertainment, folks: Blood is at a minimum (and the bulk of it, fake), there are a couple explosions, wonderful tension during a security break-in (one of the staples of the series, remember?), and a couple over-the-top stunt/action sequences (one that even people in their wrong mind wouldn't attempt to re-create) that effectively bring you to the edge of your seat. Nod to anything resembling reality and the '90s is that government officials are corrupt, will turn on their own like sharks and have even bred out the honor-among-thieves strain of DNA. The character of Jim Phelps (Peter Graves' series role and Jon Voight here), the only one to make the big screen transition, is, here, crookeder'n a dog's hind leg. But he's up against his protégé Ethan Hunt, Cruise, who ultimately outwits him—would you have it any other way?

Mission: Impossible is poised for some big bucks at the boxoffice. AND—believe it or not—left open for a Cruise returning sequel...Nah, I didn't think you'd believe that. Just wanted to see if you were paying attention.

Go. Have fun. Brian De Palma doesn't let David Koepp and Steven Zaillian's minimal story get in the way and Koepp and Robert Towne's script keeps the flavor of what made Mission: Impossible possible in the first place: the fast paced 'what-are-they-doing-now-and-how-are-they-going-to-get-out-of-it?' tang. Cruise offers up that patented Cruise charm. The settings are real and the action intense when necessary. Lots of hi-tech atmosphere, and that final stunt of European speeding train and helicopter is fun and imaginative.

One great aspect of Mission: Impossible is that music of Lalo Schiffrin's. If there has ever been music which better defined a piece of entertainment—be it book, movie, series, anything!...even music—I'm not aware of it, and it fills the movie screen also with anticipation, excitement and promise of things to come. Musician Danny Elfman has wisely chosen to just build on to Schiffrin's foundation, supplementing scenes when needed.

The Cruise role of Hunt has been finely crafted to incorporate the mysterious flavor of the spy theme while giving the actor the space to bring in all the elements necessary—master of disguise, remember that?—to allow him to be 'Tom Cruise.' Jon Voight has fun with the Phelps character. Emmanuelle Beart is attractive as Voight's wife and co-spy. Filling out the H'wood Pix Spy Hard, End Of Era?

By John Goff

Nicollette Sheridan and Leslie Nielsen spoof spies.

THERE ARE SOME GOOD GAGS in Hollywood Pictures' Spy Hard, some fine have-fun performances from the cast and a good sense of fun without the filmmakers resorting to sleaze or low comedy—well, a couple flatulence gags, one visual in the 007-staple opening credits and one audio; both are laugh-provoking and required in this type film.

The screenplay by Rick Friedberg (producer/director/father) & Dick Chudnow and Jason Friedberg (son) and Aaron Seltzer from story by the latter duo hinges all its action on the spy ilk while setting up other set balloons within the action and puncturing them. Technically it's solid for the genre (certainly more so than what's come out the last few years), but there are no really solid, get-down-on-the-floor-and-roll laughs like the first Naked Gun, Police Academy, Airplane or, going back to the great breakout piece, Blazing Saddles. It's understood that, in this farce milieu you fire both barrels, loaded with as much scatter shot as you can cram in that barrel, and hope as many as possible hit, but knowing some won't. A lot hit here, but for the most part they're just birdshot, not buckshot. Just maybe this genre has run its course for the '90s. Hub?

Director Friedberg keeps it coming fast and furious, leaving little time for thought as he pushes his cast through the samples of Bond, Home Alone, Pulp Fiction, Speed, Sister Act, a Michael Jackson commercial (with a flaming haired MJ) and any number of other recognizable flicks. It's a good diversionary, fun film with an already good word-of-mouth about it which certainly won't hurt any careers connected with it.

The cast is terrific. Leslie Nielsen is Dick Steele, Agent WD-40. He's got a lock on these roles and no one does them better. He certainly seems to have more fun here than he did in the title role of last year's Dracula: Dead And Loving It. As his femme spy partner, Nicollette Sheridan, while spoofing her own slinky femme roles displays some fine comedy maneuvering and shows that no one wears a stocking mini-dress like her. Charles Durning, spy director known only as "The Director," with a penchant for hiding from and spying on his own operatives goes beyond terrific. "Miss Cheevus" is Marcia Gay Harden, the 'Moneypenny' of the opus. Barry Bostwick is a Kennedy-esque, lusting-for-power, assistant spy director while Andy Griffith takes it over the top as an armless villain, General Rancor, and has a ball with it.

Fun scene bits—credited as 'Friends Who Stopped By'—are offered by Ray Charles as the Bus Driver in the Speed take off; Pat Morita as a fey waiter; a karate kicking Dr. Joyce Brothers, Hulk Hogan, Roger Clinton, Robert Culp, Fabio, Robert Guillaume, Alexandra Paul, Mr. T and the voice of Alex Trebek. Weird Al Yankovic wrote, produced and performed the "Spy Hard Theme," knock off of the Bond-ers.

TV Review

By John Goff

HBO's Norma Jean And Marilyn

The two-in-one, Ashley Judd and Mira Sorvino as Norma Jean And Marilyn.

ACCORDING TO HBO PICTURES' Norma Jean And Marilyn, when filmmakers hired Marilyn Monroe they were actually getting two actresses for the price of one. Well, that depends on who you talk to in town, some thought they were getting more than two.

The lore that has long swirled around the Hollywood sex goddess-actress-legend is the stuff myths—and movies—are made of. Marilyn's life has been chronicled for over 40 years in magazines, books, on TV in documentaries and films. I don't know everything on the Internet but I'll bet you something about her is traveling those waves also, right now. Monroe, Presley and Dean are probably perched on a satellite waaayyy out there somewhere, monitoring, sipping champagne and Dr. Pepper, giggling and asking each other: What else can they come up with?

Good question. The only thing new about Norma Jean And Marilyn is the structure utilized by writer Jill Isaacs which puts both the unknown NJ on screen with MM which allows the writer-imagined internal arguments of the two-in-one to be broadcast. The rest of it is merely known facts, lore and oft-told tales rehashed and somewhat chronologically strung together. In answer to the question: There's nothing left to come up with.

But this is a cable TV presentation so there's the freedom not allowed on network and/or free channels, meaning the makers can re-create the nude calendar snapshots of the youthful NJ and explore the person's much-discussed penchant for nude freedom and her early realization that sex was her ticket to Hollywood stardom. The Hollywood power structure and superficial masculinity of the town in general come in for a bashing—well, bashing$. It's all in the correct venue since the presentation isn't big enough to nail down a theatrical, big screen release and network TV...well, why go into that.

Director Tim Fywell seems to have envisioned the piece as two separate arenas and jazzes up the Isaacs-imagined docu-drama portions with cocked camera angles and washed out colors while presenting the known areas almost as a run-on mosaic comprised of tableaux taken from MM's still photographs and films.

Ashley Judd as Norma Jean displays the growing talent promised in her Ruby In Paradise feature debut. The young lady gets better with each performance. She has the most actor-freedom for invention and speculation with NJ while Mira Sorvino as Marilyn is given pretty much—except for the pair's scenes together which sometimes crackle with intensity—material locked-down by known history. Hers is the public persona and in that any actress will fight a losing battle. To her credit Sorvino doesn't work terribly hard at imitation but attempts an inner essence while allowing a suggestion of whisper, wigs and costumes to set the visual tone.

Josh Charles is a 'constant' male in NJ&MM's life, Eddie Jordan, serves the role nicely. Re-creations run from the unrecognizable and tacky to comically credible.

Marvin Worth executive produced; Guy Riedel produced. Runs on HBO Channel the month of May.

■ RAY BARRETTO & NEW WORLD SPIRIT: *My Summertime (Blue Note-Owl Records, 35830) Producer: Jean-Jacques Pussiau. AFRO-CUBAN JAZZ.

World-acclaimed conga player, Ray Barretto, caps his forty years plus as a musician's musician with this latest release, My Summertime. Mr. "Hard Hands" himself offers the best description: "What we were are trying to do is to create a music containing all the joyousness of our Latin rhythms, at the same time introducing lots of variations and breaking with the dance tradition, but respecting the jazz idiom at all times." Barretto is indeed one of the most prolific and influential of Latin percussionists in the history of modern jazz. All ten tracks exemplify his artistic versatility. From gems like Dave Brubeck's "In Your Own Sweet Way," Theolonious Monk's "Off Minor," "Autumn Leaves," to Duke Jordan's "No Hay Problema," each number sounds as uniquely fresh as the day it was born.

Twister meets Jesse Cook's Tempest. No contest. The rumba flamenco-flavored storm version can incite as well as seduce any mortal soul. Cook has filled most of his waking life with the passion of his music. The composer, producer and performer, who began at age 3 strumming a toy guitar to his mother's flamenco records, is simply inspiring. His music has been played in over twenty countries and in every medium imaginable. This debut recording by Cook is another incredible must-have production from the insightful minds at Narada.

■ VOODOO GLOW SKULLS: *Firme (Epitaph, 86465) Producer: Gggarth. PUNK-SKA-ROCK.

Punk powerhouse, Epitaph Records, unleashes the Voodoo Glow Skulls, aka Los Craneos Fosforescentes del Voodoo, on an unsuspecting world. At least, outside of Riverside County (home of the group). Their first album, Firme, was first released in English. With their Spanish-language version, the band, headed by the Casillas brothers, Frank, Eddie and Jorge, can't help but blast off in the surging "Rock en Espanol" movement. In either language, or rhythm for that matter, the group will come to appeal heavily in the emerging multi-cultural village of today's generation. Just ask any rockero in Europe, Japan or Riverside.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ LUIS "PERICO" ORTIZ: *Café Con Leche Y Dos De Azúcar (RMM, 82023) Producer: Luis "Perico" Ortiz. TROPICAL-SALSA.

Hard-core Salsa fans knew of him during the 70's and 80's. Luis Perico Ortiz has not only produced albums for many of the Latin superstars at that time, but had several hit albums of his own. On Café Con Leche y Dos de Azúcar, the multi-talented Ortiz makes a fine re-appearance on center-stage.

The album, released this past week, features his trademark traditional sound, yet reflects that sharp innovative edge. The album's title track is a swinging dance song written by the prolific Ramon Rodriguez. Watch for other upcoming hits like "Coffee Break," "En Esa Manana," "Tesoro Divino," "Quizas Si, Quizas No," and "Inevitablemente." Perico is back! Catch him at a salsa menagerie near you!

News From U.S. & Latin America

JOSE BEHAR: THE MAKING OF AN OLYMPIC TRIBUTE:

It began with his creative vision and a passionate inspiration of enormous magnitude. Jose Behar, president of EMI Latin, was the individual who carried the torch in creating one of Latin music's most monumental and ambitious efforts ever. His inspiration is Voces Unidas, the first tribute to the Olympic Games by a variety of stellar artists and renowned producers in the Latin music industry. The immensity of this incredible collaboration is enough to stagger the mind. It's also colossal enough to break the back of any record executive. Yet, Behar persevered in his quest to realize his vision. "I wanted to do something along the lines of 'We Are The World,' but with a smaller cast," remarked Behar. "This was not to be about sports, but rather about universal concepts that unite us (like) world peace and striving to be one's best. In 'Puedes Llegar,' one can find relevance in its theme about aspiring to achieve. That applies to a waiter at Denny's, or Jose Behar who started in '77 working in the mailroom, and to the swimmer who yearns to win a Gold medallion. We are very different, yet very similar. The (Olympic) five rings speak to that."

This enormous undertaking began over two years ago when Louis Wayne Cunningham, vice president of the Atlanta Centennial Olympic Properties (ACOP), the joint marketing venture of the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games (ACOG) and the United States Olympic Committee (USOC), spoke with Behar. He told Cunningham about his ideas. From that point on, enthusiasm by others about the "Voces Unidas" project began to soar to the sky. Behar described his conversation with Emilio Estefan, Jr. "We were backstage at one of Jon Secada's shows. I was talking to Jon's manager, Emilio about the project and the possibility of his coming on board." Estefan's response was an immediate and emphatic "Yes!" Estefan's involvement brought a vital element of credibility to recording the project. Soon Behar and Estefan were working together making calls to various artists. "I would call Placido (Domingo) and Emilio would call Julio (Iglesias)," related Behar. "Artists from around the world were returning calls. The response was tremendously enthusiastic!"

Soon Cunningham and Behar were enroute to Estefan's recording studios in Miami. "Puedes Llegar," co-written by Gloria Estefan and Diane Warren, was the first single to be released by EMI Latin in May of this year as part of the Latin artist's tribute to the Olympics. A who's who of artists were included in the song: Roberto Carlos, Placido Domingo, Julio Iglesias, Ricky Martin, Alejandro Fernandez, Jose Luis, Jose Luis Rodriguez, Jon Secada, Patricia Sosa, and Carlos Vives. The lyrics were done in Spanish by Estefan with both ladies performing the tune. The special Olympic production was co-produced by Emilio Estefan, Jr., and Lawrence Dermer. According to Behar, Emilio played a key role in the project.

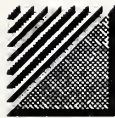

The arduous assignment of choosing the right combination of talent and producers proved to be a task of Herculean proportions. Behar remarked about the intricacies involved. "Record companies are instinctively possessive of their artists," he said. "We don't find it easy to share our artists, especially when it comes to participating in such a great project. Yet, we found a mutual goal, a common ground that put aside all territorial feelings. We had a lot of people who wanted to be a part of our project. Maybe next time, someone else will pick up the challenge."

If so, they will need to match Behar's achievements. "Blockbuster called me," recalled Behar, "and they said that not since Luis Miguel (En Concierto) has an album moved so quickly. It all boils down," he noted, "as to how an album does in retail."

The EMI Latin executive expects to have 5 to 6 singles by the time all the fanfare of this coming July 19th fades away. The single by Selena is in 13th place with a bullet on the national charts in its second week. The Barrio Boyzz' live cut is in 4th place. An aggressive radio and TV campaign continues to run as strong as the 15,000 mile torch relay.

Challenge is also an integral part of Behar's executive career. He has helped mastermind the meteoric rise of the late Tejano star Selena. If it were not for her tragic fate, the idol of millions could have easily achieved cross-over success under Behar's guidance. (The Selena movie soundtrack will be released on Warner Bros.) Other EMI Latin artists, such as Jon Secada and Emilio, have flourished in their mainstream efforts due to Behar's expertise in marketing and talent development.

What's next on this executive's agenda? "In August," said Behar. "We will be presenting a 'Mexican Overture' featuring the late Lola Beltran, Juan Gabriel, Vicente Fernandez, Lucha Villa, and Amalia Mendoza." This was Lola's last recording before her passing away. Beltran's daughter, said Behar, will also be on tour. The performance will also be aired as part of the "Fiestas Patrias" celebration on the immensely popular TV show, Siempre en Domingo. As Behar so aptly said, "We plan to go all out."

Single Reviews By Wendy Newcomer

Ducas holds down the retro fort and comes out with a gangbuster single from his upcoming second album, Where I Stand. The song's full, tremolo guitar sound and Ducas' vintage, vocals make one nostalgic for late '50s/early '60s tunes.

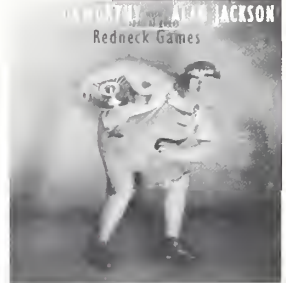

■ PATRICIA CONROY: "What Else Can I Do" (Intersound 9319B)

■ PATRICIA CONROY: "What Else Can I Do" (Intersound 9319B)

Already a star in her native Canada, Conroy's American debut seems to be a slow but sure thing. Her solid voice is the kind that sneaks up on you—before you know it, you're a fan. "What Else Can I Do" is one signal radio should pick up on.

How many different ways can you tell a joke? Here's one version: take a successful redneck comic, play his schtick regarding the Summer Olympics over generic background music, and oh yeah—throw in a few lines sung by a popular country superstar (Alan Jackson). The material is undeniably funny—problem is, who hasn't already heard every joke about a thousand times? Yee haw.

■ PAM TILLIS: "It's Lonely Out There" (Arista ASCD-0505)

A heavenly voice that soars to the nth degree supported by a contemporary pop-ish production (courtesy of Tillis herself)—this is what country lineage and years of dues-paying creates. Each time Tillis pleads with her lover to stay, she converts yet another listener to her heart-tugging, distinctive style of music.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ RICK TREVINO: "Learning As You Go" (Columbia CSK-78329)

Owing more than just a little bit to the steady musical pace and inflections of George Strait, the title cut from Trevino's next album is his most listenable offering in a long time. In fact, it's downright wonderful. Trevino flexes his vocal chords in a most impressive fashion. It's nice to hear Trevino really nail an excellent country song.

ICME Holds Third Annual Workshop

By Wendy Newcomer

NASHVILLE'S MUSIC INDUSTRY EXECS, HOPEFUL ARTISTS and future execs will come together to share ideas and dreams at the third annual International Country Music Expo (ICME) August 29 through September 1 at the Opryland Hotel. This year, the four-day seminar has adopted a new name, created a charitable relief fund and settled on a long-term location.

The ICME educates and directs people on careers in recording, songwriting, publishing, artist management and other aspects of country music. For 1996 and subsequent years, the organization formed a charitable relief fund called "MER-C," which stands for Music Emergency Relief Contributions. MER-C is for members of the country music industry and their families.

"Our primary goal is to help people with career education, but through MER-C, we want the International Country Music Expo to play a special, beneficial role in the lives of people in times of need," said ICME board member John Sturdivant.

Sturdivant added that the 1996 ICME will donate $10,000 to establish MER-C, and beginning in 1997, an annual celebrity golf tournament at Opryland's Springhouse Golf Club will raise money for the charity.

Past participants in the ICME include songwriter Dean Dillon, singers Paulette Carlson and Billy Dean, talent exec Jim Halsey, performance rights exec Roger Sovine, and former label head Jim Foglesong.

ever," Seskin smiles. "Same thing with Michael McDonald. So why are they moving here? I don't know. It's a very exhilarating place to be around when you're a creative person."

"This is a publishing mecca," states Stewart Harris, co-writer of several Travis Tritt hits and the theme to America's Funniest Home Videos. "It is the publishing mecca, because you can still get songs cut. You can still write a song, demo the song and get the song cut." Harris, also the owner of publishing company Edisto Sounds International, says Nashville is a hotbed of activity. "And I frankly think that there are already little pockets here and there of pop, R&B, and rock and roll. I think it won't be too long before you'll see record labels—at least successful independents—cutting other kinds of music out of Nashville."

It won't be long at all. In fact, it's happening right now. When British rock band Bad Company decided to record their latest album in America, they chose Nashville as the location. The album is a mixture of new songs and "unplugged" versions of their greatest hits, and features guest musicians such as Vince Gill and Alison Krauss. The experience was quite different than previous stints in the studio. "Everybody I've met here, they have a time schedule," marvels lead singer Robert Hart. "They start at 10 in the morning and they finish at seven o'clock at night, where we would be used to, say, working 'til four o'clock in the morning, doing it in a rock and roll way. We've gotten more disciplined because of it."

The band enjoyed its time in Nashville so much that it plans on returning to rehearse for an upcoming tour. "I think between five or 10 years' time, this will be the music center of America," predicts drummer and founding member Simon Kirke.

Producer Josh Leo had another reason for recording the group's first American album in Nashville. "Creatively, I think the studios are much better here," Leo says. "I know, because I work in L.A. as a producer, I work in New York as a producer, and these studios are every bit as good as both of those places. It's a little bit cheaper to record here—now. I don't know how much longer it's gonna be (that way). And the players are 10 times better here than they are anywhere else. And you can print that."

Beth Nielsen Chapman, a contemporary pop singer/songwriter who has made Nashville her home since 1985, echoes Leo's sentiments regarding Nashville studios. She recently recorded her third album entirely in Nashville—a first for Chapman. "Some people have said that Nashville's not as cutting edge—technically, in the studios. But I think all that's past history now. There's a big resurgence of analog recording. There's also a lot of first-rate digital recording facilities here now. It's a boomtown, really."

Some Nashvillians who remember the popularity of country music in the '80s are tempted to write off the "in-ness" of Nashville as another trend. But today's songwriters tend to think that the city's prosperity is here to stay. "I think it's for real now," counters Harris. "I think Nashville is a full-blown music power. And I think that the people I know, from producers, writers, publishers, studio owners—everybody is really shooting to keep that excellence going. 'Cause I know there were a lot of us who went through the Urban Cowboy syndrome and all that, but what they didn't have during that period [was] the record sales. This time...sales are great. And that's what the influx of that money is able to support—widespread experimentation and support of the industry."

To paraphrase the slogan of one of the city's premiere clubs, the Bluebird Cafe, you never know who you're going to see in Nashville. Steve Seskin tells of meeting an unlikely fan at a gig three years ago: "Who'd ever expect Jon Bon Jovi to walk into the Bluebird Cafe and hear me in the round doin' like, a quiet story song, and come up and say 'Hey, I love that song'?" But I think that's part of the interesting comment of what's going on in Nashville. People like that are coming here, even if they're not living here, to check it out. They know something's happening that they want to be a part of. 'cause it's cool."

Songwriters from around the U.S. recently performed in Nashville as part of the fourth annual Tin Pan South, sponsored by the Nashville Songwriters Association International. Pictured are (l-r): Randy Goodrum ("You Needed Me"); Roger Cook ("I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing"); John D. Loudermilk ("Then You Can Tell Me Goodbye"); Janis Ian ("At Seventeen"); Michael Masser ("Saving All My Love For You"); Pat Alger, pres., NSAI; Allen Toussaint ("Southern Nights"); "Papa" John Phillips ("California Dreamin'"); and Carol Fox, exec. dir., NSAI.

Midway Intros New Pin In New Product Category

Midway's Safecracker

CHICAGO—Midway Manufacturing Company announced a brand new coin-op product category, the Token-Pin pin game. The first model representing this new category is called Safecracker and it features a combination of pinball game and electronic board game. It was designed by the same team that created the smash hit, The Addams Family.

"Market conditions demonstrate that the time is right for this new category of game," stated Joe Dillon, vice president of sales for Midway. "Token-Pin games are in some ways similar to the European fun games that are collection gold mines overseas. Token-Pin games have incredible collections potential at all locations, especially taverns."

Token-Pin games feature a game within a game. Play begins on the pinball playfield. All the elements of traditional pinball are included—flippers, bumpers, ramps and drop targets. By hitting the correct shots, players can activate an electronic board game within the backbox. Players with enough skill to make it through the board game are rewarded with a "Magic" token, which actually rolls down the top of the playfield glass right into the hands of the player!

"The token dispenser is a major innovation in that it gives players a tangible reward to try to obtain," said Dillon. "Players have something to play for besides points. They can either keep the token as a trophy demonstrating their skill or put it back into the game to activate special features."

Midway is introducing the Token-Pin with Safecracker, a multi-player Bally game that challenges players to hit shots on the pinball playfield that will allow them access to the Bank, which switches play to the board game. The pinball area is not centered around the traditional 3-ball play, but on time. When a player buys a game he or she buys a guaranteed amount of time. All shots add a small amount of time to the game. Losing a ball doesn't mean losing a turn. Once the time is up, it is up to the player's skill to keep going. If the player loses the ball after the time has expired, the game is over.

There are three series of shots that will allow players access to the bank in Safecracker. The first is a 3-bank drop target that guards the main entrance to the bank. Players that hit these three targets will then be able to lock their ball in the bank and enter through the Main Entrance. Once the bank is lit, players can also hit other 3-bank targets that will allow access through the Roof or Cellar. Any of these options provides access to the bank, and play switches to the electronic board game.

Once inside the bank, players track their progress on the electronic board in the backbox. The challenge is to move the correct number of spaces to the Safe. The number of spaces players advance is determined by a rapidly spinning safe dial animated in the dot matrix display. Players control when to stop the dial, hoping for a number that will move them closer to the safe and keep them away from hazardous spots on the board. Certain spots are occupied by Guards and Alarms that will confiscate points and send players back to the pinball game. Each successful move forward results in additional points. Players also have the option after each successful move forward to quit with their points (and return to the pinball game) or to continue, risking their winnings in an attempt to get to the safe.

If a player is able to reach the safe, he or she will be rewarded with a "Magic" token. There is the additional chance to hit the Jackpot! of multiple tokens by entering the correct safe combination. Players must obtain the combination while playing the pinball game. The Jackpot! is progressive and competition builds as players race to get a chance to crack the code and hit the Jackpot! in the safe.

Midway's Safecracker backbox close-up.

While the token concept is expected to add significantly to collections, it is an operator-controlled option. The operator chooses how the tokens are used—for a free play or as a trophy. Operators can also set the game to function without tokens.

Further information may be obtained through factory distributors or by contacting Patrick Fitzgerald at 312-961-1826.

BullShooter Finale Held Memorial Day Weekend

CHICAGO—Arachnid's highly successful $250,000 BullShooter Tour came to an exciting climax on Memorial Day Weekend (May 24-27) at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare in Chicago. The tour itself began in September of last year with 17 qualifying regionals in the U.S. plus several international qualifiers held throughout the world.

Cash prizes, trophies and gifts totaling over $100,000 were offered in ten main events including: Men's Doubles, Women's Doubles, Mixed Cricket, Doubles Cricket, Men's Singles 501, Women's Singles 301, Mixed Triples 701, Pro Singles 501, Pro Doubles Cricket and Pro Men's Doubles.

The Top Gun Shootout on Friday afternoon featured dart players who had pre-qualified throughout the season, either at their locations or at the various regional shoot-outs. Men's champion received a $5,000 first prize with the women's champion taking home $2,000.

The crowning of Miss BullShooter, Friday night, saw twelve swimsuit clad beauties competing in a 301 match for prizes of $500, $250 and $100, respectively. This event always attracts a standing room only crowd.

Throughout the four-day period there were numerous contests, prize drawings and a full range of social activities on the agenda.

John Tesh Skedded For Rosemont Theatre

CHICAGO—Emmy Award-winning composer John Tesh will appear in concert for one performance only on Wednesday, June 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Rosemont Theatre. Tesh's GMC Undiscovered America Tour will benefit struggling grade school music programs in each of the 60 cities it will visit this summer.

John Tesh has received numerous tributes and awards including Emmy Awards for "Best Opening Music" for the NBC Sports' World Track and Field Championships, "Best Musical Composition" for the "Tour de France Bike Race" and "Best Musical Composition" for the "Pan American Games Theme." In 1994, the album John Tesh: Live At Red Rock went Gold, the video went Double Platinum and the televised concert became the most successful fundraiser for PBS to date.

Tesh has composed and produced music for Wimbledon, NBA Basketball, NBA Football, the World Gymnastics Championships and the Ironman Triathlon.
