EDITORIAL The Man In Black

We at Cash Box are proud to be able to present this special issue on the occasion of Johnny Cash's 25th Anniversary in the music business. Twenty-five years in any business is a respectable milestone, but in music it is phenomenal. John's artistic abilities and audience appeal have withstood the test of time in a business that can often ultimately lead to instant stardom and equally quick obscurity.

It is a great honor to have been selected to do this special tribute to such an artist, not only because of our close relationship with him over the years, but also for the opportunity to return a little to a man who has given so much to so many.

From his humble beginnings to his current superstardom, John has paid his dues. A man in touch with his destiny, John has been on top, to the bottom and everywhere in between in the last 25 years — and he has emerged one of the greatest talents ever spawned in the cauldron of American Country Music.

Still, his impact has spread far beyond the con-finer of a performing artist over the years. In touch with the realities of life, he has also made a myriad of contributions to his fellow man. His work in such areas as drug abuse and addiction, prison reform and spreading the gospel are well known. It is a true measure of the man — acknowledged by his peers as one of the greatest country music performers and composers — that he would take the time to involve himself in such tasks when he didn't have to.

I, together with the entire staff at Cash Box, congratulate John on reaching the milestone that this 25th Anniversary represents. It has been a great privilege to know and work with John over the years, and we look forward to continuing that relationship in the years to come. It is with great pleasure that we at Cash Box present this special issue in honor of the "Man In Black."

UNCLE JAM TO CBS — CBS Records has signed a worldwide distribution agreement with George Clinton's Uncle Jam Records. Under the arrangement, Clinton will produce new artists for the CBS Associated label, which is based in Detroit but will soon open offices in New York and Los Angeles. The label's first release will include albums by Phillippe Wynn and the Sweat Band. Shown at the signing are (l-r): Dick Asher, deputy president and chief operating officer of the CBS Records Group; Clinton; and Walter Yetnikoff, president of the CBS Records Group.

MGM, CBS Link For Video; Plan New Distribution Web

by Richard Gold

NEW YORK — The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Co. (MGM) and CBS Inc. last week formed a joint venture to market videocassettes and videodiscs through a newly created company to be called MGM/CBS Home Video. The CBS Records Group, through its CBS Video Enterprises Division (CVE), will manufacture the videodiscs and distribute both the discs and the cassettes in the U.S. and abroad.

Cy Leslie, president of CVE, told Cash Box that CBS' existing branch distribution network and major rackjobbers would be bypassed in the initial domestic distribution of the new software in favor of "a newly created force of specialists." Leslie said that the first release of cassettes from MGM/CBS Home Video was expected "sometime in the fall", and would be distributed by "working heavily with brown goods (hardware) dealers who are specialists in the audio/visual areas." Leslie added that certain "record outlets" would be considered for inclusion in the video software distribution network, and said that Columbia Records International (CRI), CBS Records' overseas distribution arm, would be involved in the new venture's international marketing plans.

CVE will manufacture videodiscs that are compatible with the RCA Selectavision capacitance contact hardware configuration, in accordance with an agreement reached by CBS and RCA earlier this year (Cash Box, Jan. 19). Leslie said that "a section" of the new CBS pressing plant in Carollton, Ga. "is being specifically planned for the manufacture of the capacitance disc, and will be brought onstream sometime at the end of 1981." The Carollton plant has thus far not been utilized because of a diminished demand for record pressing facilities.

Although CBS' agreement with RCA is non-exclusive, Leslie said that CVE has no immediate plans to manufacture software for laser-based systems such as the Magnavox Discovision configuration. However, Leslie left the door open for possible future production of laser-read video discs. "It would depend on whether we deem it to be economically viable," he said, "and at that point we would certainly have to take a look at it positively."

For the present, CVE will not manufacture the videocassettes marketed by the new company. "We believe it's too early in the campaign to commit ourselves to

FCC Rules RKO Must Dispose Of Its TV Licenses

By Mark Albert

LOS ANGELES — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) issued its final decision June 4 refusing RKO General the right to renew its television licenses in Boston, New York and Los Angeles. The Commission also put off a decision on the future of RKO's 12 radio licenses, whose status has been questioned.

RKO has until July 4 to appeal the latest decision. If an appeal is made and lost, RKO would have a period of 30 days following the court decision to dispose of the stations. If no appeal is filed, the Commission would most likely appoint a committee to operate the stations until they were legally disposed.

In January, the Commission voted 4-3 that RKO was not qualified to hold broadcast licenses due to misconduct between it and its parent company, General Tire & Rubber (Cash Box, Feb. 2). At last week's hearing, citing numerous examples, the Commission said that "evidence is clear and convincing that RKO engaged in a variety of misconduct which rendered it unfit" to hold the license of WNAC-TV/Boston.

The ruling was then applied to WOR-TV/New York and KHJ-TV/Los Angeles, the two other RKO television stations.

In addition, the Commission has asked for comments over the next 30 days from the public regarding arguments pro or con on what the status should be for RKO's remaining 12 radio stations. Three of the chain's stations in California, KHJ and KRTH in Los Angeles and KFRC in San Francisco, were due for license renewal Aug. 1. However, in light of the latest ruling, the renewal dates were changed to Oct. 1.

Retailers Shoulder Burden Of Black Music Month Promotion

by Michael Martinez

LOS ANGELES — Record retailers are developing their own Black Music Month promotion and ad programs this month due to the relative absence of special promotion, advertising or merchandising campaigns in conjunction with the event being offered by the record labels.

A Cash Box poll of 13 record chains, one-stops and small retailers showed that to date, the labels have not made a significant, coordinated attempt to capitalize on the event, which many feel could be a viable tool to boost record sales during the June month. They also agreed that there should be a more aggressive effort by manufacturers, the Black Music Association (BMA) and the retail community at large to increase public awareness of Black Music Month and to build the significance of the event.

Additionally, some black retailers contacted by Cash Box suggested Black Music Month was of no value when support from labels to smaller retailers of black product is so sparse anyway.

"This year we are really trying to educate the public about Black Music Month, to develop an awareness for the years to come," said Bruce Webb, owner of Webb's Department Store in Philadelphia.

Webb, who is also on the BMA's marketing and merchandising panel, said that the organization could be more aggressive in pursuing the labels to become increasingly involved in building the significance of the month.

Viable Programs

"We must challenge the record companies to plan viable programs which encourage the community to participate," he said.

"We will try to increase consumer awareness of Black Music Month," added John Grandoni, head buyer for the 16-store Cavages chain based in Cheekotowaga, N.Y. "But for us, it's a day-in-day-out thing."

Morris Stresses Commitment To The Entire Atlantic Family

by Aaron Fuchs

NEW YORK — Doug Morris, the new president of Atlantic Records, is a man who perceives his strength in the areas of promotion and A&R. Moreover, he envisions Atlantic as a company whose associated labels will figure prominently in the growth of the organization.

These were two of the salient points that emerged last week during an exclusive Cash Box interview with Morris, who assumed the Atlantic presidency on June 1 following the resignation of Jerry Greenberg (Cash Box, May 17).

Morris vehemently dismissed a recent report that speculated that Atco Records might become inactive in the wake of his resignation as the label's president. "That's definitely not the case," he said. "Atco will be strengthened under the direction of Reen Nalli, who has been its mainstay since 1978." Nalli, currently vice president and general manager, "has been essential to the label's development" since its reactivation two years ago, according to Morris.

The Atlantic president also assailed reports that Atco's roster would move to Atlantic. "Once again, this is definitely not so. Atco is basically a rock-oriented label, and I suspect that is how it will stay. Atlantic, on the other hand, features a potpourri of talent, and I expect to maintain that tradition."

Addressing the label's new executive structure, Morris said that Sheldon Vogel, the vice chairman of the company, and Dave Glew, the executive vice president and general manager, both of whom report to Morris, would assume expanded roles in their new positions. "Dave will oversee the daily operations of the company," Morris said, adding that "the more we can throw on him, the better it is." In Vogel's case, Morris noted that "Sheldon will help us to negotiate many of our deals. He'll be right in the middle of the action."

"People who work for a company which does well should be recognized for their achievements," he continued. "I don't want to be singled out as the man who made Atco, since Reen was often responsible for making me look good. Similarly, I'm the new man at Atlantic, but there are people like Sheldon and Dave who have put their sweat and blood into creating a team organization. And I want them to have that respect."

Product Mix Stressed

During his tenure as president of Atco, Morris signed such artists as Humble Pie, Gary Numan and Roxy Music, in addition to Peter Townshend and Stevie Nicks (through Modern Records). However, he disagreed with reports that he would "cherry pick" talent at the expense of new and developing groups.

"The key to consistency is providing a

Leber-Krebs Form New Record Label For Northeast Area Distribution Only

By Aaron Fuchs

NEW YORK — Contemporary Communications Corp. (CCC) has formed Word of Mouth Records, according to Steve Leber and David Krebs, CCC's co-owners. The label, which is bowing with an album called "American Glue," by the Mix, has a unique concept. Word of Mouth Records will be distributed only in the Northeast United States. Distribution will be handled by Rounder. In addition, the LP carries a list price of $4.98.

According to Cliff Burnstein, head of marketing and promotion for CCC, "because of current economic conditions in the country, if you want to break a group, you can no longer do so by touring them all around the country. You have to concentrate. We are applying the same principles to Word of Mouth that we have to the rest of the organization. CCC only maintains offices in New York because we feel that here is where our strength is. Similarly, the Mix is a New York based group, and by setting up the kind of distribution that we have not only are we able to closely monitor the progress of the record, but we will also be able to have the group perform wherever a buzz is generated."

Burnstein consistently stressed the flexible nature of the Word of Mouth operation. "At the moment we have no other acts set to record. We do not exist to adhere to a release timetable or fill a pipeline. Basically, the company exists to fill the needs of the specific situation, and not vice versa."

$4.98 List

Burnstein pointed to the album's $4.98 list as an example. "If it were our intention to exist as a normal manufacturing operation, a $4.98 list would not be conducive to immediate, high profits. But we manage the Mix as well, and while there is short-term money to be made from gigs we see this primarily as a long-term investment. It's a needed, if slower, way to create a buzz in today's climate."

Burnstein also noted that arrangements had been made with Rounder so that, "if the group does generate the kind of enthusiasm that would translate into an agreement with a major label, that Rounder would be appropriately remunerated."

Epic Embarks On Big Radio, Retail Promo Campaign For Nu Disk Line

by Marc Cetner

LOS ANGELES — In an attempt to familiarize the public with its 10" EP Nu Disk series, Epic Records has launched a radio-retail promotion in support of the first four releases on the new line (Cash Box, March 15). The Nu Disk awareness campaign promotion involves more than 50 radio stations and 60 retail outlets in the east, south and midwest regions of the country.

The promotion calls for 50 Nu Disk sampler EPs (containing tracks by Cheap Trick, The Continentals, Propaganda and New Musik) and 50 Cheap Trick "Found All The Parts" EPs to be given away via coupon by radio outlets. The coupons, disseminated to listeners anyway a station chooses, are redeemable at a local retail record store.

"It's Epic's hope that the coupon will draw the customer into the store and, therefore, make him become aware of the Nu Disk display and what the new line is all about," said Bob Feineigle, director of national album promotion for E/P/A and coordinator of the new promotion.

The various Epic branches involved in the promotion have also urged on-air personalities to explain the configuration (10" 4-song EPs) and lower price ($4.98 for the Cheap Trick record and $3.98 for the other waxings with variable pricing) of the Nu Disks.

"We've been on the streets for a couple of weeks with the new line," said Feineigle, "but it only hit retail this week. So, we're right on top of it. Most of the radio stations will be going with the promotion over the next three weekends."

Feineigle went on to say that many stations in the midwest and northeast will be sending out the Nu Disk sampler LP with the coupon in order to preload the consumer and acquaint him with the music and configuration before he goes into the stores.

While the coupon promotion will tie in major AOR stations throughout the country

Minor To Replace Moinet At A&M Label

LOS ANGELES — Although there has been no official announcement, it appears that EMI/UA vice president of promotion Charlie Minor will rejoin his former company and replace Al Moinet as vice president of promotion at A&M Records.

Industry speculation also has Minor taking along Steve Resnik and other members of the EMI/UA promotion staff to A&M.

with such national retail chains as Peaches, National Record Mart and Record Bar, the Epic west coast branches will not be involved with the campaign. "I took the idea to all the branches and laid it out to them," said Feineigle. "But I left the commitment totally open ended. We let them use the product as they saw fit and the salesmen in the west coast branches opted not to use retail although they will distribute the product through radio."

Feineigle also mentioned that the first four releases of the Nu Disk Line — "Found All The Parts" by Cheap Trick, "Straight Lines" by New Musik, "Moscow" by Propaganda and "Fizz-Pop" by the Continentals — would be followed by another release later this summer that will include collector-oriented EPs by The Dave Clark Five, The Hollies and The Yardbirds.

"The line is primarily designed for new artists, but the added lure of the Cheap Trick record or the occasional spice of a collectors item like The Yardbirds EP will draw customers into the stores," explained Feineigle. "There was a lot of radio interest when we released 'Straight Lines' by New Musik as a single last December. However, new artists usually need more than a single to keep them going, and now that there is a package out there, we feel it is going to happen."

Andy Wickham, Bob Kirsch and Frank Jones

Jones Named To Top Level Country Post At Warners

LOS ANGELES — Frank Jones has been named to the post of director of Nashville operations for Warner Bros. Records. Effective immediately, Jones will be involved in all facets of the Warner Bros. country operations and will work closely with Stan Byrd, the label's Nashville-based director of country sales and promotion.

A longtime industry veteran, Jones started in the music business with Spartan Records in his native Canada. He moved to Columbia Records, where he eventually wound up at the Nashville office run by Don Law. Under Law's guidance, Jones became involved as a producer with such acts as Ray Price, Johnny Cash, Marty Robbins, Lefty Frizzell, Carl Smith, Stonewall Jackson and many others. He eventually reached the position of director of country marketing for Columbia.

Following his stint with Columbia, Jones joined Capitol as vice president and general manager of the label's country division, a post he held for five years. He has also served for several years as a director of the Country Music Assn. (CMA) and is currently chairman of the board of the Country Music Foundation.

Commenting on the appointment, Andy Wickham, Warner Bros. vice president and director of country music, said, "With one of the most distinguished and impressive records of personal achievements in our business, Frank Jones adds a new dimension

Lovely Emmylou Harris is the consummate country artist who can render so many of the forms of the genre — rock, bluegrass, mainstream and traditional — so well. Her new bluegrass-oriented "Roses In The Snow" LP picks up where her gold selling "Blue Kentucky Girl" album left off — classic American grassroots music.

While country is becoming more and more pop-oriented and homogenized each day, Harris, maintaining her position as a genre leader rather than follower, has gone the other way and opted for the sound of days gone by. The choice of direction seems to be working for the brown-eyed girl, as her new LP is already at #10 bullet on the Cash Box Country Album chart only a month after its release.

Even from the start of her recording career Harris was always a renegade. The Alabama-born singer-guitarist was 25 years old when the Flying Burrito Bros. discovered her at the Cellar Door in Washington D.C. She took up with country rock pioneer Gram Parsons and helped him define the genre and she accompanied him on his final two LPs, "GP" and Grievous Angel," before his untimely death.

Impressed by her singing on the Parsons LP, Warner Bros. signed Harris in mid-1974 and assigned Brian Ahern (Anne Murray's producer) to produce and members of Elvis Presley's band (Glen D. Hardin, James Burton and Ronnie Tutt), as well as top flight studio musicians The Hot Band to play on her first LP. The result of that marriage, "Pieces Of Sky," grew to be recognized as a masterpiece of the country rock genre. "Elite Hotel" and "Luxury Liner," in the style of their predecessor, followed. Harris' fourth LP, "Quarter Moon In A Ten Cent Town," was proof that Harris could handle traditional country stylings as well as anyone in the business, and her last two waxings "Blue Kentucky Girl" and "Roses In The Snow" are the subsequent refinements of that fact.

The new album should not only add to her list of golds and yield more #1 country hits, but reinforce the truism that from "Boulder To Birmingham" Emmylou Harris is one of the premier performers in her field.

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Leon Haywood

Leon Haywood may be new to the pop charts, but he's certainly no stranger to the R&B world. The 20th Century-Fox recording artist, whose current single, "If You're Looking For A Night Of Fun," is the follow-up to the crossover hit, "Don't Push It, Don't Force It" (from the "Naturally" LP), has long been recognized as a potent sales force in the R&B marketplace. In 1962, he cut his first hit single called "Without A Love" for the Swinging label. The tune was an instrumental that featured Big Jay McNeely, the celebrated tenor saxophonist, whom Haywood had met when he moved to Los Angeles from Houston in 1960.

Haywood began his musical career playing "beer joints" around the Houston area. "The musical scene was blues and gospel wherever you went," he recalls. "When you listened to people like B.B. King, T-Bone Walker, Gatemouth Brown, Little Willie John, The Coasters, The Royals, and James Brown over stations like KYOK and KCOH, you weren't hearing nothing but the blues." At the same time, he says that he was drawn to other forms of music, such as zydeco, which he played in his first group at age 14, classical, easy listening, and jazz. He recalls that a favorite pastime of his was to "drive around in my car listening to melodies by composers like Horace Silver and Oscar Peterson." When it came to the vocalists of the day, Haywood said he was a fan of such crooners as Nat Cole and Jessie Belvin. "I never would holler or raise my voice." In fact, he jokes that he moved to Los Angeles "to take Jessie's place" upon the singer's death in 1960. "Houston was a dead end street, and it seemed like there was a better career to pursue in L.A."

After a week of washing cars, Haywood moved on to a fender and body shop before landing his first gig with Sam Mason. But, "he fired me pretty quick because I got a little too jazzy. Back then, if you weren't playing a lot of boogie woogie blues, you were considered too jazzy." His association with McNeely's group (including Jay's brother and wife on bass and vocals, respectively) lasted a little longer. "Jay could honk, but he could also play. He had a beautiful tone and he knew how to improvise, a real good knowledge of music." During his stay with McNeely, Haywood had the opportunity to work with Sam Cooke for several weeks.

Shortly after the release of "Without A Love" in 1962, Haywood left McNeely in Philadelphia ("the money got kind of funny") and hitchhiked back to Houston, where he began experimenting with the organ. "When I moved back to L.A., Jimmy Smith was hot at the time, so I jumped on the bandwagon and got pretty good at it." He cut his first record as a vocalist for Fantasy in 1963 with "You're All For Yourself," and followed it with "She's With Her Other Love" for Imperial two years later. His prominence in the R&B field continued throughout the '60s with a variety of albums and singles for such labels as Fat Fish, Decca, Capitol, and 20th Century-Fox, for whom he recorded the memorable "Keep It In The Family" in 1972. Haywood recorded three albums for the label before departing for Columbia in 1977. Following the release of the "Intimate" LP, he moved to MCA, where he recorded "Double My Pleasure." Now, he says, "it's good to be back" with 20th.

Angel City

Epic recording group Angel City is one of the most successful members of the recently revitalized heavy metal movement that is shattering ear drums around the world. The Australian five-piece's "Face To Face" is currently at #116 bullet on the Cash Box Pop LP chart, and, along with AC/DC, the band is holding up Down Under's part of the new high decibel guard that also includes England's Judas Priest and Def Leppard, Germany's Scorpions and Canada's Rush and Triumph.

However, unlike its thunder rock cronies, Angel City has spurned the dry ice and flash pot stage approach, and considers itself a club band. "Like a lot of the new wave bands, we have a sound that's got the kids up and dancing again," said softspoken Angel City lead singer Doc Neeson. "There was a whole stage for awhile where live bands delivered the music like it was hi-fi, but now everyone jumps and sweats, and it's so much better."

Angel City founders Neeson and brothers John and Rick Brewster had already earned a reputation as exciting club performers before the present band was a reality. The three rockers were originally members of a popular Adelaide-based jug band called The Moonshine Jug And String Band while in college. Although the eccentric little ensemble became a favorite on the Adelaide pub circuit, the members felt that their songs could be better expressed electrically.

That yearning was transformed into Keystone Angels, a '50s-style rock band, and by 1976 a hard rocking unit had developed and was calling itself The Angels. The urban rockers ultimately changed their name to Angel City to avoid legal confusion with Casablanca's Angel.

When famed Aussie producers George Young and Harry Vanda (Flash In The Pan) took The Angels into the studio for its first self-titled LP in 1977, the band had evolved into a five-piece — Neeson (vocals), Rick Brewster (rhythm guitar), John Brewster (lead guitar), Chris Bailey (bass) and Graham "Buzz" Bidstrup (drums).

Following the album, the group embarked on a heavy touring schedule that earned them a reputation as one of the finest live acts on the Adelaide-Melbourne-Canberra-Sydney-Brisbane circuit. The group's next Australian LP, '78's "Face To Face," was the result of what Neeson calls the "live-demo" approach.

"What we do as much as we possibly can is record a demo of a song as soon as we come up with it and then work it out on the road," said Neeson. In Australia we can usually get into the studio for a day or two while on the road. Then we take it onto the stage and bounce it around."

Neeson went on to say that because much of 1979's "No Exit" LP was composed in the studio, it was a frustrating experience to see many of the songs get better once the band was on the road.

However, a compilation of the best material from Angel City's last two albums is what the band's new Epic release is all about. Such show stopping, big beat numbers as "Take A Long Line," "After The Rain," "Take Me Away To Marseilles" and "Shadow Boxer" have a new wave-like energy, yet they are rooted in heavy metal.

mix of albums by established artists, in addition to groups on the come, such as AC/DC, Gary Numan, and Blackfoot. I think we've done quite well in sustaining and in achieving new sales heights for the bread and butter acts we've had for years, such as Bette Midler, Foreigner, The Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin, Bad Company, The Spinners, and Roxy Music. At the same time, the groups that we sign have got to be the very best we can find."

Morris said that in the case of the Townsend signing, "I worked very hard to bring Peter to Atco, because as a solo artist, his moment is here. As far as the acquisition of Stevie Nicks goes, she is perhaps one of the top vocalists in the world. However, Modern is also run by two extremely good record people in Paul Fishkin and Danny Goldberg. These are two individuals for whom I have a great deal of respect. If that had not been the case, I certainly would not have wanted to get involved because it would have created trouble. In that situation, the stature of the artist would have been irrelevant."

But Morris emphasized that the need to break new artists is as important to him as signing proven talent. "Working to break artists like Blackfoot and Gary Numan at Atco gave us a sense of credibility. It showed people that when we believe in something, we stick with it. And I'm very interested in applying that same tenacious philosophy to the Atlantic label.

"It pleased me very much to break Blackfoot. It took us almost a full year to establish them, and the payoff was a gold LP. It was a constant effort, the equivalent of grabbing a bulldog and never letting go. The same was true of Gary Numan. Initially, his record sold on the strength of his visual image. Once we realized that and brought him to America, people got a chance to see what he was all about. The album has sold about 400,000 copies, and when he comes back to the U.S. to tour with a second album in October, we're sure that he'll break as a major artist. Once you get a sales feel and know where to take it, there's no reason every record can't be intelligently promoted."

Morris, 41 years old, has had a long and varied career in the music business. Following his graduation from Columbia

Kessler Establishes Little Bear Enterprises

LOS ANGELES — Danny Kessler has acquired full interests in Little Bear Enterprises, which includes Inphasion Records, artist management, Little Bear Productions, Lynn-Al Music and Jarak Music.

Kessler purchased former partner Clancy Grass' half interest, and at the same time, named Jay Kessler vice president of foreign and domestic operations for all publishing and recording affiliates.

Jay Kessler will also be the head of A&R for Inphasion Records which is about to release product by the Chi-Lites and L.A. rock group The Show. In addition, there will be a new single coming from Daddy Dewdrop and an album by Mary Love set for mid-summer release.

"Even though the record industry has experienced some troubled waters in the last few months," Kessler said, "I feel that 1980 will be the year of the independent and Inphasion intends to get its share." Inphasion will be distributed by TK Records.

Bunetta Signs Dupree

LOS ANGELES — Elektra/Asylum recording artist Robbie Dupree has signed an exclusive long-term agreement with Al Bunetta Management effective immediately.

Doug Morris

University in 1960, he spent two years in the military in France. Upon his return to New York, he joined the publishing firm of Robert Mellin Inc. ("I used to bring Bert Berns' paycheck over to him when he worked out of Atlantic's studios in Columbus Circle," he recalled fondly.) In 1965, Morris joined Laurie Records, where he became vice president and general manager. He left Laurie in 1970 to launch Big Tree Records, which joined Atlantic as an Associated label in 1974. Big Tree was later purchased by Atlantic in 1978. That same year, Morris was named president of Atco Records and Custom Labels.

Difficult Economic Times

"Our financial status in the face of difficult economic times points to the fact that we have been the best-run company in the trade," Morris concluded. "Jerry did a great job, and I don't intend to miss a step, either. Today's kids are intelligent — they know what they want. The bottom line will always be the quality and dynamism of our product. The image of the label is already very special to many people because we're tough and aggressive when it comes to marketing and promotion. If being 'street' means that we're recognized for ramming our records home, then yes, we're not about to let anything escape us. We want our share of the action, too."

RCA Dividend Posted For Quarter

NEW YORK — The directors of RCA last week declared a quarterly dividend of 45 cents per share on RCA common stock payable Aug. 1 to holders of record on June 16.

All of these dividends are for the period from July 1 to Sept. 30, and are payable Oct. 1 to holders of record on Sept. 12.

"I have no new definite plans right now," said Thagard. "I'm wide open for discussion." He went on to say that while his background is in promotion, he is open to other positions within the industry.

Thagard's leaving comes in the wake of an RCA west coast reshuffling that has left Danny Owen as the company's west coast regional promotion manager and Marc Nathan as its local promotional manager in Los Angeles.

"RCA is basically an east coast company and I don't foresee any more changes on the west coast for a while," said an east coast spokesman for RCA.

Formerly senior vice president, finance, for WCI, Wasserman joined the corporation in 1966 and has been an officer since 1970. He was appointed senior vice president, finance, in 1976. Wasserman is a graduate of the Baruch School of the College of the City of New York.

Gormley Named Communications VP For A&M Label

LOS ANGELES — Mike Gormley has been named to the post of vice president of communications at A&M Records. Gormley, whose appointment was effective June 4, will also retain his current position as assistant to A&M chairman Jerry Moss.

In his new post, Gormley will be in charge of publicity for the label, including responsibility for press and TV coverage. In addition, he will oversee use of videos for cable and network TV.

Gormley joined A&M in April 1978 as director of communications. He previously headed the publicity departments at Polygram Corp. and Phonogram.

Commenting on the appointment, A&M president Gil Friesen said, "Mike has distinguished himself under fire and established our publicity department as an important marketing force. But a vice presidential appointment is not only a recognition of past accomplishments, it carries with it new duties of participating in A&M's future with greater responsibility."

Garland Named Atlantic Records' West Coast GM

LOS ANGELES — As exclusively reported last week in Cash Box, Les Garland has been named to replace Bob Greenberg as west coast general manager for Atlantic Records. Garland's appointment, officially announced last week by Atlantic executive vice president/general manager Dave Glew, will take effect June 9.

Formerly a national program director for the RKO radio chain and PD for KFRC/San Francisco, Garland was appointed in the wake of Greenberg's resignation, which took effect June 1. Greenberg left to join his brother, former Atlantic president Jerry Greenberg, to form a new label that will be distributed by Atlantic (Cash Box, May 17).

A 15-year veteran in radio, Garland held his RKO and KFRC posts simultaneously prior to his appointment, the latter for the last three years. Before that, Garland had served as PD at WRKO/Boston, CKLW/Detroit and KIQQ/Los Angeles. He also worked with Bill Drake (the originator of the "Boss Radio" Drake Method for radio programming) for three years, programming stations in Fresno and Los Angeles.

Numerous Honors

In addition, he earned numerous honors during his radio career, including RKO's "Program Director of the Year" in 1978.

"To leave radio after 15 years is quite a step," said Garland of his new job. "I have a long association with many of the people at Atlantic/Atco Records, and the new challenge that they have offered gives me an opportunity that is truly exciting."

Commenting on the appointment, Glew said, Les Garland's name has always been associated with quality — quality radio, quality music and quality business. His diverse background in music and radio, including his knowledge of our business from both sides of the radio dial, is unique. We are all very happy to have him with us."

Harris Named A&R VP/Manager At A&M Records

LOS ANGELES — Jordan Harris has been named vice president/manager of A&R at A&M Records. The appointment was effective June 4.

As vice president/manager, Harris will report to A&R vice president David Kershenbaum. He will be responsible for coordinating all daily activities, directing the A&R staff and generally handle the administrative functions of the department.

Harris joined A&M in 1975 as a product manager and was named director of product management in 1979, when that function was merged with the A&R department.

Commenting on the appointment, A&M president Gil Friesen said, "Jordan has worked closely with David in bringing some excellent new music to A&M. His role in the company's future calls for a vice presidential title. He is the right man for A&M in this vital position."

ON JAZZ

CHIC, CHIC CHICO — Drummer Chico Hamilton has been one of the leading percussionists and band-leaders in jazz for four decades. Like flute player Herbie Mann, Chico has always had one of the most finely tuned ears for pop/jazz crossover; and like Mann, he's always had a pipeline to the best musicians. Among the many jazz stars Chico has discovered or helped to develop are cellist Fred Katz, reedmen Buddy Collette, Eric Dolphy, Charles Lloyd, Arnie Lawrence and Arthur Blythe and guitarists Jim Hall, Gabor Szabo and Larry Coryell. After a dry spell without a record company (but still maintaining one of the most active performance bands in jazz), Chico Hamilton has become an Elektra recording artist with a new album — "Nomad" — and a progressive sound that has been garnering airplay on adult contemporary, jazz, and black contemporary stations. Charting in at #22 on the Cash Box Jazz Top 40.

Produced by ex-Crusader Wayne Henderson, "Nomad" combines light, airy percussion, subtle, insinuating rhythms and crystalline guitar & keyboard work into a synthesis that is ideally suited for inclusion on contemporary playlists. "Talent will win out eventually," Chico observed. "If a record is good it'll get played eventually. I have to believe that, otherwise, that knocks out everything I've been working on for 20 years. Unfortunately the current market is hung up with divisions of all sorts — good music is good music, but there are some stations that play nothing but MOR, or Black Contemporary, or pop or R&B. Only occasionally will a station play out-and-out jazz; people in the business don't find that suitable for radio play. So I made an album that would be played on the radio. It's got a lot of production values to it, but there's a lot of me in it, too. Like the way I play R&B is pretty unique ("Magic Fingers"), and I'll get as many sounds from one drum as some cats get from a whole kit full of tom-toms; as a matter of fact, I was the first person to ever play single headed drums back during World War II; you get a longer tone and a fatter sound that way. On tunes like 'Nomad' and 'Alekasam' there are a lot of different ethnic colors in addition to electronic ones. I'm deeply rooted in those Moorish and Near Eastern sounds. People who think funk and disco are something new need to listen to that type of music, because there's a deep groove in all folk rhythms that's universal. Eventually you'll start hearing a lot more of those sounds in popular music, because what else are they going to be able to turn to that's different. People are looking for something else. That's what I was trying to get to on 'Nomad,' an uncommon sound in the melody and feeling, even though the basic structure might be familiar."

'SPECIAL THINGS' — Nathaniel Phillips (I), bassist for Fantasy recording group Pleasure, visited the recent Berkeley Jazz Festival, where he chatted with fellow bassist Ron Carter who performed during the festival. Phillips recently completed work on Pleasure's upcoming LP "Special Things," which is set for mid-June release.

COMING AND GOING — We heard a rising new star in the jazz firmament at Alley's Bar, a cozy little room down in Manhattan's Soho on 77 Greene St. His name is Tim Berne, he plays a fantastic brand of alto saxophone and writes sinuous, provocative melodies. As documented on his excellent new album "7 X" (available from Rounder Records or from Berne's Empire Productions, 136 Lawrence St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11201, 212-855-1124), Berne is developing a unique modal music that features powerful, surging backbeats (as played by drummer Alex Cline) with loping linear lines on top. While the album features a definite rock flavor, his live group at Alley's Bar drew heavily from the jazz tradition. Saxophonist J.D. Parran played tenor sax and alto clarinet with the broad inflections and considered attack of a Coleman Hawkins, Julius Hemphill, extended the Sonny Rollins tradition on tenor, playing broken, sardonic figures that went against the grain of the rhythm and tonal center, and Tim Berne revealed a fat, pliant alto tone, heavy in the middle register.

SILVER 'N' STRINGS PLAY THE MUSIC OF THE SPHERES — Horace Silver — Blue Note/UA LWB-1033 — Producer: Horace Silver — List: 14.98

Completing the final album in his Silver 'N' series, the legendary pianist offers his normal dose of funky-jazz progressions, spirited soloing and sometimes cerebral music ponderings. With Ron Carter and Al Foster handling the rhythm chores, Silver stretches out into some old and new directions on "The Search For Direction," "Direction Discovered," "Self Portrait No. 1" and "Friends." Fine horn work by Tom Harrell on flugelhorn and saxophonist Larry Schneider are an added treat and make this LP a bargain at any price.

FREEDOM NOW SUITE — Max Roach — Columbia JC 36390 — Producer: Max Roach — List: $7.98

Recorded in 1960, and re-issued again after all these years, this is one of the great achievements in the history of jazz. Indignant, impatient and resolute, the "Freedom Now Suite" chronicles the continuing struggles of black peoples from the plantation fields, to inner city streets and all the way back to Africa. Abbey Lincoln's free vocalizing, the macho stylings of Coleman Hawkins, the crackling trumpet of Booker Little and the celebratory dances of African percussionist add to the excitement of Roach's fine writing, ominous, lyrical drumming and perfect use of 5/4 meters. Primo.

DO THEY HURT? — Brand X — Passport PB 9845 — Producers: Brand X and Neil Kernon — List: 7.98

Multi-funk rhythm changes and time signatures, spacey chord textures and modified instrument configurations best describe the sixth offering from this outfit of English fusionists. The tongue and cheek funk of "Noddy Goes To Sweden," the heavenly musings of "Voidarama," and the atmospheric drama of "Fragile" and "Triumphant Limp" shine as the best pieces on this textural jazz/rock LP.

HORACE SILVER

LIVE AT THE PUBLIC THEATRE — Bennie Wallace — Inner City IC 3034 — Producers: Horst Weber & Matthias Winkelmann — List: 7.98

Wallace is a powerful new voice on tenor saxophone who combines the thick vibrato and inflections of the great '30s reedmen with the frenetic emotions and oblique strategies of the post-Ornette Coleman generation. In tandem with Eddie Gomez's quicksilver bass and Dannie Richmond's punctilious, dynamic drumming, Wallace atomizes the tenor's range while still maintaining a sense of sentiment and romance on originals and classics like "In A Sentimental Mood" by Ellington and "Blue Monk" by Monk.

AMTRAK BLUES — Alberta Hunter — Columbia JC 36430 — Producer: John Hammond — List: 7.98

Alberta Hunter wings with the power and grace of an era when jazz was still young; brassy, sassy and full of the joy of living. Alberta Hunter is a strong, beautiful woman at 85, singing better than ever as this excellent John Hammond production demonstrates. Recreating the ambience of the '20s and '30s, the world-wise diva digs into the lyrics of "My Handy Man Ain't Handy No More" and "A Good Man Is Hard To Find" with the magicsterial power of a great actress. Every cut's a gem and the album's a joy.

RUSH HOUR — Jerry Rush — Inner City IC 1076 — Producer: Jerry Rush — List: 7.98

Employing a variety of mid-tempo, multi-rhythmic grooves, Jerry Rush's debut LP coalesces into a tasteful blend. Lyrical trumpet by Rush is constantly enhanced by the subtle stylings of his illustrious sidemen. In fact, subtlety is at the root of this LP's strength. The embellishments on this album are provided by Joe Henderson (tenor), John Heard (bass), Billy Higgins (drums) and Kirk Lightsey (piano) among others.

Relief Sought By FCC To Process New AM Filings

by Mark Albert

LOS ANGELES — The Broadcast Bureau of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has recommended that the Commission seek financial aid from Congress to help process more than 2,000 applications expected to be filed for approximately 125 AM stations opened up by the recent ruling to reduce clear channel stations (Cash Box, June 7).

The financial aid would be used to hire additional staff to process the applications. The additional funds and staff would enable the Bureau to begin processing the expected applications as early as Aug. 1, according to spokesperson Molly Parker. The applicants would be processed independently of and concurrently with those applicants now waiting.

Without the additional help, Parker added, applicants would have to be put on a waiting list behind those already processed. In that case, it could take up to a year before the processing is completed.

On May 29, the FCC voted to drop a special class of clear channel stations, which opened up room for approximately 125 new AM stations. While it is expected that preference will be given to applications from organizations that are at least 50% minority-owned, daytimers and those who plan non-commercial operations; the Broadcast Bureau expects approximately 2,000 applications for the 125 stations.

In its clear channel decision, the FCC was acting in conjunction with the Region 2 (western hemisphere) Administrative Board. In order to maintain protection from interference by clear channels in neighboring countries, Region 2 members were asked to designate certain areas within their boundaries to be protected. Once the lists were compiled by the member nations, adjustments to clear channels were made to best enhance protection from interference.

In the case of the U.S., the action meant that certain clear channels were restricted to reduce interference with domestic stations in neighboring countries. It also opened up approximately 125 AM stations in 37 cities near the Mexican and Canadian borders, the Caribbean Sea and Alaska that would now be free from interference by both foreign and domestic clear channels.

The 37 areas designated by the FCC for protection included areas in the states of Alaska, California, Arizona, Georgia, New Mexico, Texas, New York, Oregon, Alabama, Florida, Arkansas, Virginia, Mississippi, Washington, Louisiana, Maine, South Dakota, Pennsylvania and Wyoming.

While the protected list will have priority in the allocation of licenses, it is not exclusive.

sion to our Nashville operation. We are confident that he will be an enormous asset to our company, as he has been to our industry and the Nashville community over the years."

In another development, Norro Wilson left Warner Bros., where he has been the country division's A&R staff producer. Wilson, who had just completed work on the debut LP by John Anderson, will resume his career as an independent producer/writer.

"Our four-year experience with Norro has been a very positive one," Wickham stated. "We are truly grateful for his many contributions to our success and look forward to continuing our relationship with him."

New Bill To Limit Festival Seating In N.Y. Assembly

NEW YORK — Edward H. Lehner, a Democratic Assemblyman from Manhattan, last week introduced a bill into the New York State Assembly that would provide for the establishment of local laws and ordinances regarding public safety at mass entertainment events. The bill, which will be referred to the Assembly's Cities Committee later this month, would amend New York State's general municipal law. A similar bill introduced by Lehner earlier this year was put on hold by the Assembly's Health Committee, to which it had been assigned (Cash Box, May 10).

Under the provisions of the new bill, local governing bodies in municipalities which contain a 5,000 seat indoor arena (there are approximately 20 in New York State) would be empowered to create local laws and ordinances to protect the safety of concertgoers at large events. Ken Kwartler, an assistant to Lehner, said that unless a local governing body has acted otherwise, no event could be held in such an arena (where admission is sold exclusively on a reserved seating basis) after July 1, 1981 unless 70% of all doors and entrances are available for entry no later than 60 minutes before the announced starting time, and a minimum of six security officers per 1,000 people are provided by the arena or concert promoter.

For events where admission is sold on a festival seating basis, the bill would require 70% of all doors and entrances be made available for entry at least 90 minutes before the announced starting time. In addition, a minimum of seven security officers per 1,000 people would have to be in attendance. Finally, the number of persons admitted to the event could not exceed more than five percent the number that could be admitted if the event were sold on a reserved seating basis.

Korvettes' Lowballing Sparks NY Price War

NEW YORK — Korvettes, the financially-troubled 36-unit department store chain, last week continued its lowballing policy (Cash Box, June 7) by advertising selected $7.98 and $8.98 list product for $3.96 and $4.66 respectively. Advertisements in the Sunday and Thursday editions of The New York Times, The Daily News and Newsday, featured new albums by The Pretenders, The Joe Perry Project, Tommy Tutone, Dave Mason, Christopher Cross, Change, 10cc, and Humble Pie, for $3.96. The $4.66 price tag was affixed to new LPs by Paul McCartney, Sister Sledge, Billy Joel, Boz Scaggs, The Isley Brothers, Genesis, Bette Midler, Pete Townshend, The Temptations, Ted Nugent, Ray Parker Jr. and Raydio, The Grateful Dead, Gordon Lightfoot, and Roberta Flack (featuring Donny Hathaway).

At the same time, Jimmy's Music World, which operates three stores in Manhattan, Flushing and Brooklyn, went down to $3.99 on Skyy's "Skyway"; Led Zeppelin's "In Through The Out Door"; The Beatles' "Rarities"; and Kenny Rogers' "Gideon." Also George Benson's "In Flight" was priced at $2.99, while the soundtrack to the "Sgt. Pepper" film was advertised for $1.99. Other specials included the Commodores' "Natural High" and Stevie Wonder's "Looking Back" for $1.99.

Jimmy's lowballing tactics did not stop there. While Korvette was advertising "The Wall" by Pink Floyd for $8.87, Jimmy's was offering the same $15.98 list LP for $6.99. However, Korvettes did manage to undercut Mays, which operates eight stores in the New York area. Korvettes priced the "Urban Cowboy" soundtrack at $8.87 and Frank Sinatra's "Trilogy" LP at $12.88. Mays offered "Urban Cowboy" for $8.97 and "Trilogy" for $12.97.

FORTIFIED WITH IRON — If you can't wait for the new Springsteen album to help you through your work-day, and you miss the raunch "n" roll of early J. Geils, Southside Johnny and Van Morrison, then I strongly urge you to give a serious listen to the new album by the Iron City Houserockers, "Have A Good Time But Get Out Alive." Though the production team of Mick Ronson and the Slimmer Twins (Marty Mooney and Cleveland Int'l. boss Steve Popovich) puts the group through the AOR mixmaster, the album still emerges a potent representation of the Houserockers' unique brand of barb and rock and roll with a social consciousness. With tune after tune, like "Don't Let Them Push You Around," "Pumping Iron" and "We're Not Dead Yet," the group takes its place commandingly among America's most heroic rock and rollers (like Bob Seger and Bruce Springsteen) with its hard-nosed yet eloquent belief that rock and roll can beautify the mind-numbing experience of life in the working class.

THE REVOLVING DOOR — Things continue to move fast in the Metropolitan area's dance-oriented rock club scene. The best news has been the opening of the Danceteria at 252 West 37. Headed up by Jim Fouratt, who initiated rock booking at Hurrah's, Danceteria is unique in providing the clubgoer with an experience that is at once larger-than-life than most others (with its attraction of the very trendy) while simultaneously imitating life most effectively. Unlike most clubs, which provide one with a single, monotonous experience — you sit down and watch music, or you stand up and dance to it — the Danceteria has three floors, which provide you with both a variety of experience and above all, lots of breathing room. In other DOR related news, we're happy to report that the Ritz's Jerry Brandt has proven to be quite sensitive to the criticism that accompanied the club's opening. Our sources tell us that all employees have been paid, and advertisements indicate both a focused commitment to new wave, and a reduction in admission from $15. to $6; The Ritz has also instituted a Monday night, "Rock and Roll Against Depression," with a $1 cover charge, featuring guest DJs Joe Piasek and Meg Griffin. Finally, we hear that Howard Stein will in late June bow his DOR club, now called The Rock Palace.

E.C.'s BULLETIN BOARD — Congratulations to Capitol's east coast publicity head Doreen D'Agostino on her marriage to Rick Nappi...

MORE NEWS — Kiss, whose next single will be "Shannon," is auditioning drummers to replace the departed Peter Criss. The replacement will have a new identity... It'll be a rock and roll summer at the movies this year, with flicks like Roadie, Carney, and The Blues Brothers Movie set for imminent release. Carney has already had a preview which drew the likes of Paul Simon and Carrie Fisher, Robby Robertson, Candice Bergen, Gary Busey and Lorne Michaels, formerly of Saturday Night Live... Stiff has picked up the 12" EP by Blotto.

NARM Information Committee Holds First Meeting In Florida

NEW YORK — The National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) Operations and Information Processing Committee recently held its first meeting in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The committee consisted of David Borgendale of Lieberman Enterprises; Sandra Rutledge of The Record Bar; Richard Schneider of Western Merchandisers; and William Teston of Pickwick International. Also in attendance were Joseph A. Cohen, executive vice president of NARM and Charles Ruttenberg, legal counsel for NARM.

Following the two day series of meetings, the committee issued the following statement of objectives:

"The purpose of this committee is to research, develop and encourage the implementation of operational procedures and information processed in order to promote the simplification and improvement of communication within the recording industry."

Five Tasks

The committee's statement enumerated five immediate tasks: First, "To prepare an industry glossary defining terms used within the communication process (which will be circulated to all members). Second, "To promote uniform product identification by manufacturers including the adoption of UPC/bar code systems. Third, "To develop and propose uniformity of content on trade forms and documents such as invoices and return authorizations." Fourth, "To recommend the improvement of product flow by means of standard carton counts and uniform placement of carton labels." Fifth, "To provide educational programs directed toward the unique information processing and operational needs of the recording industry."

Commenting on the meeting, Cohen said, "If we can successfully achieve even a measure of the objectives outlined, by employing efficient operating procedures and by the facilitation of the transfer of information from one industry entity to the other, we can save untold millions of dollars to the companies in our business at every level."

In addition to its own meetings, the NARM Operations and Information Processing Committee also met with the RIAA Data Processing Committee, which is chaired by Art Whitmore, vice president of media information services for the Polygram Corp. According to NARM, the focus of the discussion between the members of the parallel committees was on the creation of a realistic vehicle by which merchandisers could present marketing information to manufacturers.

Arista Blasts LP Play, Blank Tape Advertising

NEW YORK — Arista Records last week issued a policy statement expressing strong opposition to the promotion of blank tape sales at the retail level and the radio practice of promoting full airplay of new releases.

In a letter to all of its independent distributors, signed by Elliot Goldman, executive vice president and general manager of Arista Records, the company said that it will not pay for or contribute to any print advertising which includes blank tape within the ad or any radio or TV advertising promoting blank tape sales or containing copy pertaining to such sales.

Goldman called the current move against blank tape advertising a "minimal first step" which will be followed up by other actions. His letter did not, however, spell out what measures were being contemplated by Arista to punish radio stations that promote full album airplay. "We will also advise you of steps we will be taking to discourage the practice and exploitation of complete album play of new albums by radio," Goldman's letter said.

The letter calls on Arista distributors to aggressively enforce the new approach to blank tape advertising and warns that the policy will be strictly enforced.

LOOKIN' FOR LOVE IN ALL THE WRONG PLACES — It's overly long at 135 minutes, and it suffers from a simplistic plot and underdeveloped character portrayals, but Paramount Picture's Urban Cowboy is sure to be one of the summer's biggest box office attractions. Critics will probably grill the movie for its lack of substance, but teenagers from all over the country will flock to see John Travolta star in this modern day love story set amidst the oil rig filled days and Lone Star beer nights of modern day Houston. The film, based on a short story that Aaron Latham wrote for Esquire magazine, was co-scripted by Latham and James (China Syndrome) Bridges, whose shallow, but technically perfect directing is perfectly suited to this Dallas-like movie. Although it is flawed, the film does somewhat explore the mechanics of macho pride, competition, infidelity and the battle of the sexes. The story's plot concerns young Bud Davis (Travolta), a country boy who moves to the city, gets a job at a petrochemical plant, falls for a tail shakin' fillie (Debra Winger) and marries. He just as quickly loses her to the villain (Scott Glenn, who plays a man so mean that he loves to chew the worm at the bottom of the Tequila bottle), takes up with a lusty Houston debutante (Madolyn Smith), becomes a hero by winning a contest in which urban cowboys pretend they are rodeo riders on a mechanical bull. He ends up punching out the villain and winning back his wife. While strong, albeit one dimensional, acting performances are rendered by the principals, the story's setting and the musical score are the real reasons why the film succeeds. Most of the movie takes place in Gilley's Bar, the worlds largest honkytonk, in which thousands of people at a time can drink, dance the cotton-eyed joe, ride the mechanical bull, punch the punching bag and forget their jobs as peons in the oil industry. The whiskey-soaked Disneyland has to be one of the great film backdrops of the past ten years. And yet even more important to the plot is the movie's score. Top flight songs by the elite of country and rock document the film beautifully.

LAKERS BOOSTER CLUB — Richard Perry, president of Planet Records; Joe Smith, president of Elektra/Asylum Records and Larry Solters, vice president of Front Line Management are the principals of the newly formed L.A. Lakers Booster club and were present when The Lakers won the 1980 NBA championship in Philadelphia. Pictured after the glorious event are (l-r): Perry; Magic Johnson, NBA Playoff Most Valuable Player; Smith and Solters.

Even the film's incidental music is winning, as songs by Joe Walsh, Bob Seger and Dan Fogelberg are dying to be turned up. Strong live performances by Mickey Gilley, Charlie Daniels and Bonnie Raitt also represent highlights of the film. However, J.D. Souther and Linda Ronstadt's traditional country rendition of "Hearts Against The Wind" and Johnny Lee's apt "Lookin' For Love . . . In All The Wrong Places" stand as the celluloid excursion's true classics. Soundtracks do not usually a movie make, but in the case of Urban Cowboy, it comes close. The album is currently at #34 bullet on the Cash Box Pop LP chart, and the film will probably take the two-record, multi-genre album into the Top 10. Special mention goes to the Irving Azoff/Bob Evans-produced film's musical coordinator, Becky Shargo, and score adaptor Ralph Burns, who helped set a precedent that other score-oriented films must live up to in the future.

ODES TO MINNIE AND MAMA CASS — Singer/songwriter Leah Kunkel will produce, through her Middlefield Music banner, a film based on the life of her late sister, Cass Elliot. Elliot, whose breezy sensual vocals were an integral part of pioneering harmony pop group The Mamas And The Papas, helped define the California sound of the 1960s. Carl Gottlieb, whose credits include Jaws and The Jerk, will direct . . . Artists such as Michael Jackson, Stevie Wonder, Tom Scott, Michael Boddiker, Lee Ritenour and Harvey Mason are currently working on a tribute album dedicated to the late Minnie Ripperton. Johnny Pate and Dick Rudolph (Ripperton's husband) are producing the album (which features the multi-talented Ripperton's vocal tracks and new accompaniment) at Hollywood Sound studios.

BAD BREAKS — Van Halen lead singer David Lee Roth will know better than to go leaping around in the darkness after he broke his nose doing just that in Italy two weeks ago. It seems that the heavy metal quartet had just finished doing a song for Italian television, when Roth did one of his acrobatic jumps on the darkened stage. Unfortunately, he hit the lighting rig that was coming down for the next song and broke his probiscus in two places. Since Roth's pretty face was at stake, and he didn't feel Italian medical assistance was up to snuff with American standards, Roth caught a quick jet back to the states. L.A. specialists X-rayed the rock'n'roller, but felt the nose would heal correctly without being set. Roth rejoined Van Halen in Paris, where, after a gig at the Palais Du Sports, the band was honored with a Dom Perignon champagne fete hosted by Warner Bros. president Mo Ostin and famed photographer Helmut Newton. . . An artist of a different sort, Walter Becker of reclusive jazz rock duo Steely Dan, recently broke his leg in four places in a car accident outside his Manhattan apartment. The mishap is the latest wrinkle in a project that probably won't see a release until some time in the fall. On the MCA label the Dan is currently doing it with the Fez on at an L.A. studio with producer Gary Katz.

ON THE BEAT — Elektra/Asylum has dropped Dirk Hamilton from the label after two fine but unnoticed albums . . . Sire Records has signed The English Beat, the ska band that is not to be confused with Columbia's rockers . . . Nick Lowe has just finished producing wife Carlene Carter's latest album, "Physical Shapes." The album, which features backing from Rockpile, will be out on the F-Beat label in England and Warner Bros. in the U.S. . . Bootsy Collins is stepping out from behind his space bass to produce new Warner Bros. funk act Zapp . . . Rock'n'roll mistress Bebe Buell is looking for a label. The former fashion model's demo features tracks produced by Rick Ocasek and Rick Derringer. She also plans on calling her re-make filled debut LP "Covers Girl."

METRO MADNESS — San Francisco's new MUNI subway system was christened May 31 at the Van Ness and Market underground terminal with a benefit disco party for the Harvey Milk United Fund. More than 2,500 caballeros attended the $20 per person event. Howie Klein for the City disco and Larry LaRue from The Stud were the evening's spinners, but the event clearly belonged to Sylvester, who was resplendent in a gold lame jump suit and his hair, which was put up in a bun. The zoffig disco performer tore through a 30-minute performance that featured a riotous lip synch routine.

THE TIES THAT BIND — Cash Box sends its best wishes to Dave Mason and his new wife Dana, who were married at Dave's house in Malibu on June 1, and to lyricist/recording artist Bernie Taupin, who married model Tina Russo in San Francisco May 30.

MINNESOTA HONORS ITS OWN FOR GRAMMY WINNING LP — Minnesota governor Albert Quie recently honored three state-based organizations involved in the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra's recording of Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring." The LP won the Grammy Award for Best Chamber Music Performance of 1979. Pictured at the commendation ceremonies are (l-r): Lewis Lehr, 3M Co. chairman of the board and chief executive officer; Herb Pilhofer, Sound 80 Studio (Minneapolis) president; Governor Quie; Dennis Russell Davies, conductor of the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra on the LP; and Marshall Hatfield, 3M Mincom division vice president, supplier of the prototype of the firm's digital mastering system to Sound 80 for the recording.

148 Orchestras To Receive Grants For 1980-81 Season

MCA/Westminster Issues 5 In June

WASHINGTON — A record number of National Endowment for the Arts orchestra grants, 148, will be issued to symphonic and chamber orchestras in 45 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands for 1980-81. The orchestras will divide a total sum of $9,190,750 between them.

LOS ANGELES — "Organ Works, Vol. 1" by Johann Sebastian Bach, featuring organist Carl Weinrich, is one of the highlights of MCA/Westminster album release schedule for June. The label will also put out "Ruggiero Ricci Plays Sarasate," featuring violinist Ricci and pianist Brooks Smith; Faure's "Requiem, Op. 48," conducted by Frederic Waldman, with the Musica Aeterna Orchestra and Chorus and soloists Martina Arroyo and Herman Frey; Anton Bruckner's "Symphony No. 7 In E Major," with Max Rudolph conducting the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra and "Knappebusch Conducts Wagner," featuring the Munich Philharmonic Orchestra.

While in years past grant recipients have been required to operate under a fixed budget for a set period of time, this year the requirement was lifted, allowing many smaller organizations to qualify for the first time.

The new releases, each with a $4.98 list price, will be supported by a comprehensive marketing campaign aimed at two key buying audiences, the 30-54+ age group and the college market. The campaign, which will feature ads in the major trade publications, will be centered in 20 key metropolitan areas in the U.S. National consumer print advertising will be targeted toward respected classical publications.

Grants range from the minimum of $1,000 to the maximum of $3,000, and the latter sum went to the Boston Symphony, Chicago Symphony, Cleveland Orchestra, Los Angeles Philharmonic, New York Philharmonic, and the Philadelphia Orchestra. Grant increases went to 47 orchestras.

Additionally, local print will be tied into all major marketing areas, while radio promotion for the five releases will be aired on more than 175 stations.

Endowment grants must be matched dollar for dollar with funds from other sources.

Red Seal Releases Live Sydney Orchestra Set

LOS ANGELES — RCA Records' Red Seal label has released a rare live recording of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra with guest conductor Jose Serebrier directing a performance of Dvorak's Symphony No. 8 at the Sydney Opera House.

A MAN OF ALL ARTS — Actor Sir John Gielgud (r) is pictured above receiving a Grammy Award for his Caedmon recording, "Ages of Man (Readings From Shakespeare)," voted best in the category of spoken word, documentary or drama. Carol Haubert, president of Caedmon presented Sir John with the award.

Thomas Z. Shepard, division vice president, Red Seal Artists and Repertoire, said the performance was taped by RCA's Australian subsidiary and is being released there and in the U.S. RCA also has release rights on the album for Latin America.

Nonesuch Readies 3

LOS ANGELES — "Concerto In D For Violin And Orchestra" by Beethoven, featuring violinist Erich Gruenberg with the new Philharmonic Orchestra and conducted by the late Jasha Horenstein, highlights Nonesuch Records' release schedule for the month of June. Other albums scheduled for release in June include "Sonata In C Major" by Franz Schubert and "Drei Klavierstucke," performed by pianist Gilbert Kalish, as well as "Music Of The Chinese Pipa," performed by Lui Pui-Yuen.

FEATURE PICKS

KENNY ROGERS (United Artists UA-X1359-Y)
Love The World Away (3:11) (Southern Nights Music — ASCAP) (B. Morrison, J. Wilson)

Rogers' rich, expressive vocal style, imbued with a tender earthiness, comes through loud and clear on this string-laden single from the Urban Cowboy soundtrack. Soaring with the vibrantly optimistic lyrical and musical crescendos, the Gambler has drawn another winning hand for country, A/C and pop programmers.

PETE TOWNSHEND (Atco 7217)

Let My Love Open The Door (2:42) (Eel Pie Publishing Ltd., admin. in the U.S. and Canada by Towser Tunes, Inc. — BMI) (P. Townshend)

One of the most requested FM tracks from The Who guitarist's Top 15 solo LP, "Empty Glass," this joyous, blissful tune features a stirring keyboard-synthesizer melody and multi-tracked high harmonies that should immediately turn on Top 40 programmers and audiences alike. An out-of-the-box pick to click.

ALI THOMSON (A&M 2243)

Take A Little Rhythm (3:26) (Rondor Music (London), admin. in the U.S. and Canada by Almo Music Corp. — ASCAP) (A. Thomson)

Thomson has obviously assimilated many different musical stylings, from lush, tropical island rhythms to jazz-inflected sax work to slick R&B bass, and put them all together on the light, sunny title track from his debut LP. Full-bodied acoustic guitar strumming carries this out-of-the-box winner from the young Glaswegian.

THE DIRT BAND (United Artists UA-X1356-Y)

Make A Little Magic (3:40) (De-Bone-Aire Music/Vicious Circle — ASCAP) (J. Hanna, R. Hathaway, R. Carpenter)

Glowing harmonies, including high, sweet female backup, and a serene, mid-paced instrumental featuring high plains harmonica, low organ swells and twangy lead guitar line mark the country-flavored title track from The Dirt Band's new LP. Already receiving numerous pop adds, this upbeat tune is a perfect crossover selection.

CHARLIE DORE (Island IS 49252)

Fear Of Flying (3:26) (Ackee Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (C. Dore)

Dore's wistful country/pop leanings are more apparent here than on her last surprise Top 15 outing, "Pilot Of The Airwaves," but her sweet, penetrating vocals and keen melodic sense are no less apparent. Inviting Caribbean accents give the acoustic guitar work a lingering tropical feel, which puts this in the ballpark for country as well as pop play.

HERB ALPERT (A&M 2246)

Beyond (4:14) (Chappell Music — ASCAP) (R. Hewson)

Sequenced synthesizer patterns and robotic rhythms pulsate throughout the title track from trumpet maestro Alpert's forthcoming LP with machine-like efficiency, creating an intentionally futuristic setting for the anthemic brass melody. An impressive aural soundscape for a metropolis of the imagination, this is a bold instrumental stroke for B/C, pop and AOR.

FIREFALL (Atlantic 3670)

Love That Got Away (3:22) (Warner-Tamerlane Publishing Corp./El Sueno Music — BMI) (R. Roberts)

No strangers to Top 40, Firefall has created a unique blend of country-flavored pop and rock stylings that have worked best for the group when applied to the light, easy and uptempo melodies of "You Are The Woman" and "Just Remember I Love You." Much in the same mold as the latter tracks, this may well be a pop sleeper.

THE SILENCERS (Precision ZS9 9800)

Shiver and Shake (3:22) (Cactus Industries, Inc. — ASCAP) (W. King, C. Capiola)

The latest entrants into the power pop/rock sweepstakes, The Silencers seem to be well-versed in '60s stylings judging from the initial single from the "Rock 'n' Roll Enforcers" LP. British Invasion influences abound on the rousing hook, and the simple teenage joy of the lyrics will score points with the Top 40 crowd. Highly recommended for AOR, too.

SINGLES TO WATCH

SQUEEZE (A&M 2247)

Pulling Mussels (From The Shell) (3:57) (Deptford Songs, admin. in the U.S. and Canada by Almo Music Corp. — ASCAP) (G. Tillbrook, C. Difford)

Although the lyrical meaning of the song may appear a bit obtuse to some, the new single from the "Argybargy" LP is one of the most refreshing pop tunes to come out in some time. The Beatles would be proud of this AOR fave.

SISTER SLEDGE (Cotillion 45020)

Let's Go On Vacation (3:16) (Chic Music, Inc. — BMI) (B. Edwards, N. Rodgers)

The lyrical theme alone of the third single from the "Love Somebody Today" LP would qualify this as a timely cut for the summer season. However, with the stylish, sophisticated R&B arrangements of Chic at work, and the Sisters' bright vocals, this is a pop, B/C contender.

MECO (RSO RS 1038)

Empire Strikes Back (Medley) (3:02) (Fox Fanfare Music, Inc./Bantha Music — BMI) (J. Williams)

Meco did it before with the original Star Wars film and he's doing it again. Riddled with flashy sound effects from the new box office killer, this barreling contemporary medley of the Williams score is already a Top 40 knockout.

ERIC CLAPTON (RSO RS 1039)

Tulsa Time (3:12) (Bibo Music Publishers — ASCAP) (D. Flowers)

Old Slow Hand is back with his slide guitar work in fine form and his band cooking up a storm on this boogie from the live "Just One Night" LP. Classic barroom piano and crack rhythm support inject the fuel into this country/blues number. Gaining pop momentum.

EDDIE RABBITT (Elektra E-46656)

Drivin' My Life Away (3:13) (DebDave Music, Inc./Briarpatch Music — BMI) (E. Rabbitt, E. Stevens, D. Malloy)

White line fever and truckstop life are the lyrical themes found on this jauntily rolling track from Rabbitt. Doing double duty as the first single from the singer's forthcoming LP, "Horizon," as well as a cut off of the Roadie soundtrack, this should put the hammer down on country, pop lists.

GARLAND JEFFREYS (A&M 2244)

Matador (3:45) (Garland Jeffreys Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (G. Jeffreys)

Jeffreys enjoyed a healthy dose of overseas pop success with this stirring allegory of an urban bullfighter from his "American Boy And Girl" LP. Mix of languid Latin horns and reggae beat make this a distinctive contender for pop, AOR.

BOBBI WALKER (Casablanca NB 2274)

Something About You (3:49) (ATV Music Corp./Irving Music Inc./Charleville Music/Patmos Music — BMI) (J.L. Parker, A. Willis, R. Wright)

Vocally, Walker bears comparison to Randy Crawford, but where Crawford concentrates on jazzy blues, Walker works out on upbeat, pop/R&B, more akin to The Three Degrees. This is a light dancer in that vein with a jumpy beat for B/C, pop.

TERI DeSARIO with KC (Casablanca NB 2278)

Dancin' In The Streets (3:10) (Jobete Music Co., Inc. — ASCAP) (W. Stevenson, M. Gaye, I. Hunter)

The hit duo of "Yes, I'm Ready" fame reunite on this faithful cover of the old Martha and The Vandellas classic. The Sunshine brass lend plenty of punch, and with some fine vocal backup and rockin' piano, the result is a summer pop smoker.

THE HUES CORPORATION (Polydor/Curb PD 2092)

Something In Return (3:38) (Ensign Music Corp. — BMI/Famous Music Corp. — ASCAP) (M. Lloyd, G. Moroder)

The Hues Corporation might well "Rock The Boat" again with this vocal cover (lyrics courtesy of Michael Lloyd) of "The Seduction-Love Theme" from the American Gigolo soundtrack. Sensuous female lead vocal gets plenty of mileage on this B/C, pop sleeper.

DEF LEPPARD (Mercury 76064)

Rock Brigade (3:07) (Def Lepp/Marksman Music Ltd.) (Savage, Clark, Elliott)

Right on the cutting edge of the current heavy metal resurgence, Def Leppard calls the rockers of the world to arms with this marching anthem. Galloping drums and machine gun guitar spearhead the musical crusade for pop, AOR play.

THE BRAINS (Mercury 76065)

Money Changes Everything (3:29) (ATV/Gray Matter — BMI) (T. Gray)

Cascading keyboard-synthesizer work and a hard, sharp drum beat underscore the unbridled tension of this cut by The Brains, who undeniably live up to their moniker. Forceful vocals belt the message home for adventuresome pop and AOR.

THE B-52's (Warner Bros. WBS 49212)

Planet Claire (3:06) (Boo-fant Tunes, Inc. — BMI) (F. Schneider, K. Strickland)

Surf's up in the twilight zone, and that lovably looney quintet from Athens, Georgia are once again riding the crest of an intergalactic new wave. Bongos, Ventures-influenced guitar work and morse code blips are calling all pop, AOR audiences to dance to this humorous followup to "Rock Lobster."

707 (Casablanca NB 2280)

I Could Be Good For You (3:45) (Good For You Music — ASCAP) (McFadden, McClarty)

707 welcomes you to the jet age with some sonic lead guitar licks here on the brooding, boiling first single from its self-titled debut LP. Rumbling keyboard-guitar interplay and first class lead vocals should soar on AOR and pop lists. Check it out.

THE ROMANTICS (Nemperor ZS9 7530)

When I Look In Your Eyes (3:00) (Forever Endeavor Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (Palmar, Marinos, Skill)

The Detroit power pop combo's first single, "What I Like About You," went Top 30, and this new selection from the band's debut LP is cut pretty much in the same rhythmic mold, with '60s flavored guitar and vocal snap. Crack drum work propels this pop contender.

GLASS MOON (Radio RR420A)

(I Like) The Way You Play (3:17) (Moon Tunes Music/Diode Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (N. Nunez, D. Adams)

Barreling power pop/rock combo of bass, guitar, drums and piano unfurl like sweet thunder on this highly charged single from Glass Moon's self-titled debut LP. A tasty AOR, pop treat, the record features the added bonus of "Killer At 25" on the B side.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE — The Wallace & Washburn research organization conducted a study recently to determine who was everybody's favorite artist or group of all time. The study also probed into favorite current artists, songs, albums, and even least liked artists. Apparently, it really is Strawberry Fields Forever as the Beatles came in a solid #1 as the favorite group of all time. The amazing test is that while the group has not been together for ten years, they ranked #1 for all persons 12 years old and up, especially women 18 and over. Twelve years old! Some of these people were nothing more than a pleasant thought when the Beatles were making music. F105/Boston took a look at the results of the study and has incorporated it into its programming mainstream. "Based on this research, and supported by the fact that Beatles catalog still sells very consistently," said Tom Connelly, music director, "we started playing Beatles songs at the top of every hour and built little promotions around the songs." Connelly mentioned that the idea came about as a means of building quarter hour maintenance for the recent ARBs. However, he said that response from listeners has been so favorable that F105 plans to continue the program. Let It Be.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION — Don't let anybody tell you that Frank Sinatra's "Theme From New York, New York" is not selling, because it is in fact selling quite well in every region of the country except the southeast. Sales action prompted a bulleted move from #47 to #43 on the Cash Box Top 100. Of course the add on WABC/New York this week didn't hurt . . . Making its debut on the Cash Box Top 100 based exclusively on sales, primarily from the west coast, is Frank Zappa's "I Don't Wanna Get Drafted" at #99. . . Bulleted on at #87, due mostly to sales is "Sweet Sensation" by Stephanie Mills. FORBES MAGAZINE REPORT — L.A.-based radio syndication firm Radio Works is set to produce and distribute The Forbes Magazine Report, a daily 2½ minute program featuring business and financial commentary from Forbes Magazine. Forbes is the nation's oldest business commentary magazine. The Forbes Magazine Report makes its official debut on June 16 and will be available for barter in selected markets. A few of the stations participating thus far include KING/Seattle; WWJ/Detroit; WRR/Dallas; KDAN/Minneapolis; WROW/Albany and WWBA/Tampa. tore the roof off of the Bell Telephone building located ¾ of a mile away from the station. Water soaked through the phone circuits that handle the telephone exchange used by five radio stations and three TV stations. Besides lacking telephone lines for a week, the station was also without ABC and AP network feeds and AP and weather wire services. Adding insult to injury was the fact that KOFM is the primary emergency broadcast outlet for the city. For that reason one temporary line was installed from a neighboring exchange. Morgan did, however, keep his commitments to the trades and the record industry by making his calls from home.

Advisory Council Probes Rate Hike

LOS ANGELES — A planned hike in rates scheduled for next year dominated much of the attention at the Arbitron Radio Advisory Council meeting May 21-23 in El Paso, Tex. Radio Aid, new dates for this year's Fall survey and other topics relevant to the broadcast industry were also discussed at the meeting.

Arbitron's planned rate hikes drew concerned resistance from broadcasters and the Advisory Council has called for an all industry committee to be formed to negotiate the matter with Arbitron. Anti-trust laws prohibit the Council from actually forming the committee.

Proposed Renewal Form Awaits FCC Approval

LOS ANGELES — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) is expected to approve a Broadcast Bureau proposal in the near future calling for a new and abbreviated license renewal form for radio stations.

"Dates have not been set for comments, but we don't anticipate a long procedure," said Israel Teitelbaum of the Bureau.

The Bureau's proposal would shorten the lengthy form to that of the size of a postcard containing five "yes or no" questions with no exhibits attached, according to Teitelbaum. He also estimated that 65% of the paperwork now associated with renewal filing would be eliminated by the new form.

In order to maintain a strong incentive for broadcasters to comply with FCC rules and regulations, the Commission will set up an auditing branch similar to the approach of the IRS, and will select applicants at random for further investigation.

The rate hikes, according to Arbitron's Connie Anthes, are necessary to finance the additional services that broadcasters have requested, including Quarterly Measurement and increased sample plans.

With regard to Radio Aid, a tool that stations can use to pinpoint certain ethnic groups and demographics, the Council resolved that while Radio Aid was potentially effective, it had severe limitations in its present form.

The Radio Advisory Council also recommended to Arbitron that the dates of the 1980 Fall Survey be changed to correspond with the Fall 1981 dates. Arbitron has done so and moved the 12-week fall survey starting date to Sept 25 from Sept. 4. The last survey day will now be Dec. 17.

Franks Broadcasting Buys WKSS/Hartford

LOS ANGELES — The Franks Broadcasting Co. is set to purchase WKSS-FM/Hartford, Conn. from Broad Street Communications for a price of $2.1 million. The sale proposal will now go before the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) for final approval.

The purchase proposal is part of a two-pronged move by Franks to expand its services. The Providence, R.I.-based broadcaster already owns WHIM and WHJY in its home city, but, pending FCC approval, will acquire WJAR/Providence and sell WHIM.

Broad Street Communications is a diversified media corporation that owns and operates seven radio stations in addition to WKSS (WELI/New Haven, Conn.); WGSO and WQUE/New Orleans; KTOK and KZUE/Oklahoma City; and WVCG and WYOR/Coral Gables, Fla.

videotape duplication." Leslie said, adding that the company is now taking bids from several "outside vendors" for the manufacture of the cassettes.

MGM Film, which recently became a separate publicly held company (assigning management of its hotel and casino operations to MGM Grand Hotels Inc.) will make its library of more than 1600 films, including The Wizard of Oz, 2001: A Space Odyssey, and Dr. Zhivago, available to the joint operation. The MGM vault material will be augmented by future MGM feature films and by CBS' existing and future library of film and taped entertainment.

Although performances by CBS recording artists figure to play a prominent role in the creation of new video software, Leslie could not reveal which CBS recording artists would provide material for the initial cassette release this year. Leslie explained that "clearance problems," including the unresolved issue of video royalties for musical performances (Cash Box, March 29), prevented him from making an announcement now. He did say, however, that the initial musical performance software would be drawn from "existing properties." Leslie said that CVE was "also working on the creation of new properties," and was currently negotiating with independent video producers towards that end.

MGM/CBS Home Video will be 50% owned by MGM and 50% owned by CVE, Leslie said. According to Leslie, executives of the new company will be "independent" and "probably" hired from outside the two parent companies. However, the new executives will report to a board composed equally of CBS and MGM board members, including Walter R. Yetnikoff, president of the CBS Records Group, Frank Rosenfelt, chairman and chief executive of MGM, and Leslie.

Leslie said that the two parent companies would "pay jointly" for the "overhead and the operation of the marketing structure," but that MGM would pay for the production of its product, and CBS would pay for the production of its properties. Under this arrangement CVE will bill MGM for the manufacturing costs of transferring its properties to the videodisc medium, Leslie said. Each parent company will derive its profits in the joint venture from the profit on their respective products.

Record retailers had mixed reactions to the projected initial distribution network for the new venture's software. Harold Okinow, president of Lieberman Enterprises, a major rackjobber, said that the exclusion of racks "doesn't bother me a bit." Recalling

G.E. Plans To Enter U.S. Video Market

NEW YORK — The General Electric Company last week confirmed that it was holding discussions with Matsushita Electric Industrial Company Ltd., the Victor Company of Japan and Thorn-EMI Ltd. of the U.K. on the feasibility of establishing three jointly-owned companies to manufacture and market videodisc players in the U.S.

A General Electric spokesman said that plans called for the introduction of the new system, which was developed by Victor, by the end of 1981. He noted that the first company would involve General Electric, Matsushita, and Victor, which would manufacture the players. Initially, equipment would be purchased from Matsushita and Victor until a production plant could be readied in the U.S. The other two ventures would be owned by all four participants. One would acquire and develop entertainment properties for the videodisc; the other would make the early history of eight-track tape marketing, Okinow pointed out that the audio tapes were initially sold through automobile dealers because they also sold the compatible hardware. "As the eight-track industry developed and more units came into place, the software moved into the more traditional outlets," Okinow said. Okinow predicted a similar diffusion of video software "if the business grows sufficiently. If eventually there are millions of units in place then people will buy software in the outlets that we service."

Berrie Bergman, president of The Record Bar retail chain, was more critical, expressing "astonishment" at Leslie's emphasis on hardware specialists in MGM/CBS Home Video's distribution strategy. "Our feeling is that the people who are going to successfully market video software are going to be record dealers. I think that hardware dealers for the most part do a very fine job on hardware and a very bad job on software. It has been that way in the record business and I don't think it's going to be very different in the video business."

Joseph A. Cohen, executive vice president of NARM, which has recently been stressing the importance of video software to the future of the record merchandising business, said that for the present MGM/CBS Home Video's distribution plans made sense. "With the number of video playback units now available it's very difficult to sell the software anywhere but near the hardware," Cohen remarked. Cohen expressed confidence that the home video market would expand during the decade (CBS projects a "multi-billion dollar" market by 1990), necessitating the participation of record retailers. "The increasing availability of video software will spur hardware sales tremendously," Cohen said. "I think the record and tape merchandisers will be involved extensively once it's a mass-marketed product."

RCA, Viacom Pact For Worldwide Distribution

NEW YORK — RCA and Viacom Enterprises, a division of Viacom International, have entered into an agreement under which RCA will be given a worldwide license to use 13 movies and a package of Terrytoon cartoons for the RCA SelectaVision video disc system, according to Herbert S. Schlosser, executive vice president of RCA.

Among the films licensed are The African Queen, starring Humphrey Bogart and Katherine Hepburn, and seven Elvis Presley features: Roustabout, Blue Hawaii, Fun In Acapulco, Girls, Girls, Girls, G.I. Blues, Paradise Hawaiian Style and King Creole.

the videodiscs at a plant in the U.S. The spokesman added that while marketing plans were still in the formative stages, they would definitely include dealers of General Electric consumer products.

Meanwhile, in a related development, The U.S. Pioneer Electronics Corporation last week said that it would begin marketing its videodisc system (jointly developed by N.V. Philips of the Netherlands and MCA Inc.) in Dallas; Madison, Wis.; Minneapolis; and Syracuse, N.Y., by July 1 (Cash Box, April 5).

Greenspan To Speak At ITA Video Meet

NEW YORK — Dr. Alan Greenspan, the renowned economist, will be the keynote speaker at the International Tape Assn.'s (ITA) Home Video Tape and Disc Conference, October 21-23 at the New York Sheraton Hotel.

SOUND VIEWS

UTOPIA SERVES MUSICAL MENU TO QUBE 'SONGWRITERS' — Bearsville recording group Utopia, headed by music/video producer Todd Rundgren, became musical chefs June 5 during a concert at Veterans Auditorium on Columbus, Ohio. As part of a live "experimental" cable TV broadcast on Columbus' two-way interactive QUBE system, the Utopian quartet offered the home QUBE audience what was termed a "musical menu of modules" of a song, including bass, drum and guitar "possibilities," and a choice of accompanying visuals from which to choose to construct an original music/video piece. Through QUBE home terminals, viewers voted on the possibilities, or song parts, presented to them and the band put together a finished song and video based on the results of an instantaneous vote tally via QUBE's central computer. The 60-minute creative process kicked off Utopia's four-hour television broadcast on QUBE, which included a full-scale concert integrated with the group's extensive video show. According to Utopian sources, the program will be edited down into a two-hour special, which will be aired on Warner Amex's Nickelodeon satellite cable network at an as-yet-undetermined future date, and Utopia itself will be distributing the special to other TV networks throughout the world for similar airing.

VIDEO HEROES — Arista recording group The Kinks, led by Ray Davies, are featured in a commercially available 60-minute in-concert video entitled "One For The Road." The video is being marketed by Time-Life (see accompanying story).

WEA SETS JUNE WCI HOME VIDEO RELEASES — Warner/Elektra/Atlantic Corp. has set nine new feature length films for release in June via WCI Home Video. Titles include A Star Is Born, featuring Barbra Streisand and Kris Kristofferson; Main Event; The Candidate; Exorcist II: Executive Action; Bonnie & Clyde; Bullitt; Going In Style; and Monty Python's Life Of Brian. Most of the titles will carry a suggested list price of $55, with the exception of Main Event, Exorcist II and Going In Style, which are expected to retail for $60. The highest priced title in the release, A Star Is Born, is set to sell for $75, due to higher duplicating costs for the lengthy (150-minute) film. All releases will be available in both Beta and VHS formats. . . . In other video software news, MEDA/Media Home Entertainment will be introducing two new titles this summer, including the popular French film Cousin, Cousine and (barring any legal complications) Mustang Ranch. Also due for release by MEDA are Alice Cooper And Friends, Dracula Sucks and Man From Clover Grove, all of which are expected to be available by the time of the Consumer Electronics Show (CES) in Chicago. . . . Video Tape Network of N.Y. reports that it has received more than 2,500 orders for its Steve Martin videocassette special, The Funnier Side Of Eastern Canada, which has also been booked for rental by more than 300 colleges via VTN's closed circuit television campus network.

KINKS CONCERT, KAREE CAPTURED ON VIDEO — Time-Life Video, in conjunction with Arista Records, is presently releasing an hour-long video featuring British rockers The Kinks in concert on their 1979 tour of Europe and America, including additional rare, vintage footage from the band's early career. Available through both video retailers and mail order directly from Time-Life, the videocassette, which is entitled One For The Road, is being billed as "the first concert to be recorded and released simultaneously on record album and video tape." The cassette features the cover art of the LP of the same name and is priced at $39.95, in either Beta or VHS configurations. For further information call Time-Life Video toll free at (800) 523-7600 or (800) 662-5180 in Pennsylvania. The video, according to Arista, will be heavily cross-merchandised with the double-pocket LP set.

VIDEO CLIPS — The video tape of selections from Columbia recording group Toto's "Hydra" LP won three Monitor Awards, including Best Production in the Home Entertainment category, at the Video Tape Production Association's award presentation ceremony in New York May 30. Johnny Cash: The First 25 Years

by Don Cusic

Perhaps the most distinguished career in country music began on June 21, 1955. That was the day Sun Records released "Hey, Porter" b/w "Cry, Cry, Cry" by Johnny Cash and the Tennessee Two. Over the next 25 years Cash would become country music's best selling artist, capturing many major awards for songwriting and performing.

In 1969 he made history while becoming the only person to win five Country Music Assn. awards in one year. His recording that year of "A Boy Named Sue" led to an unprecedented sweep of the CMA awards, including the prestigious Entertainer of the Year title. Cash also won two Grammy Awards that year — one for the liner notes to Bob Dylan's "Nashville Skyline" and another for best country male performance for "A Boy Named Sue." He again won Grammys in 1970 and 1971.

Over the years Cash has had a profound impact on both the style and substance of county music. He was the original "outlaw," continually thumbing his nose at tradition and helping pave the way for such modern day heroes as Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson. With his early recordings on Sun Records he was part of the first wave of rock performers that also included Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Roy Orbison and Carl Perkins. And later on through his weekly television show and association with rock stars such as Bob Dylan, he introduced a whole new audience to the sounds emanating from Nashville.

Although he is a prolific recording artist, usually issuing at least two albums a year, Cash devotes a tremendous amount of time and energy to humanitarian causes. A tireless champion of prison reform, he has recorded albums in two of this country's most infamous maximum security facilities — Folsom and San Quentin. In addition, the United Nations Assn., United States last year presented Cash with a special plaque commending him for his "humanitarian contributions to children all over the world." Cash also is a devout Christian who spreads the word with conviction both in song and in deed.

Born J.R. Cash in Kingland, Ark. on Feb. 26, 1932, Cash moved to Dyess, Ark. in 1935, where he grew up on a 40-acre farm with his three brothers and three sisters. During the Depression the family raised cotton as sharecroppers on a government project.

After high school, Cash went to Detroit briefly to work in an automobile factory before joining the Air Force in 1950 and serving most of his stint in Germany. It was in the Air Force that J.R. became "Johnny" because the armed services refused to accept initials as a substitute for a first name. It was in Germany that the young Cash bought his first guitar and learned to play, singing old country and gospel songs with some other Air Force buddies as they sat around in the barracks.

Returning home in 1953, Cash married a girl from San Antonio, Tex. whom he had met while in the service and within two years they had two young daughters. He tried his hand at a number of jobs, including radio announcer and door to door appliance salesman, while his desire to play music continued to gnaw at him.

Johnny's older brother, Roy, introduced him to Luther Perkins and Marshal Grant, two mechanics who also wanted to play music. Roy was the first Cash to play music, having had a country band before World War II. When Johnny met Perkins and Grant all three were playing acoustic guitars. They began to practice together and Luther Perkins began playing electric lead guitar while Grant turned to the bass.

At the time Cash was living in Memphis, home of the legendary producer Sam Phillips. Phillips had begun a recording studio in 1950 and Sun Records in 1952. Familiar with the initial success of Elvis Presley in 1954, Cash approached Phillips about recording. At that time, Cash and his group (which included a steel guitar player in addition to Luther Perkins and Marshal Grant, the Tennessee Two), were playing gospel songs he had written. He sang these for his audition with Phillips, who informed Cash he wasn't interested in recording any religious material and turned him away.

What followed is an example of Cash's strong will and determination to succeed. Although Phillips was evasive, Cash pursued him, armed with his dream and vision of himself as an entertainer, until Phillips agreed to another audition. Cash returned with "Hey, Porter," written in Germany originally as a poem, and "Cry, Cry, Cry." This time, Phillips recorded him (it was mid-May, 1955) and released Sun Record no.

221 with "Hey, Porter" on the "A" side and "Cry, Cry, Cry" on the "B" side. The "B" side turned out to be a regional hit and "Cry, Cry, Cry" launched the career of Johnny Cash, who, with the Tennessee Two, began playing dates around Memphis and down into Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas with Elvis Presley and Carl Perkins.

Cash's musical roots come from two different, but related directions — country and gospel. In 1936 the Cash family bought a battery radio and young J.R. spent many hours listening to the Grand Ole Opry on WSM in Nashville; the Barn Dance in Chicago on WLS; the Wheeling Jamboree on WWVA as well as stations in Cincinnati and Del Rio, Tex., each bringing forth the sound of country music.

Meanwhile, Cash and his family attended small Baptist churches where they learned the old hymns; from this experience he developed a deep love, appreciation and allegiance to gospel music. The two forms of music proved to be compatible for the young Cash, who grew up loving and singing both country and gospel.

Enter the Carter Family from Del Rio, Tex. in the late 1930s. Singing both country and gospel, giving the gospel songs a strong country interpretation — they made a lasting impression on Cash. Indeed, the influence of the Carter Sisters and Mother Maybelle is still evident in Cash's music after all these years. In the early '60s, the Carter Sisters and Mother Maybelle became a part of the Johnny Cash touring show, and in 1968 he married June, one of the Carter Sisters.

The biggest record from Cash's Sun Record days was "I Walk The Line," recorded and released in 1956. It sold over two million copies and provided him with exposure in the pop market as well as appearances on network TV.

Bucks Tradition

In July, 1956, Johnny Cash became a regular member of the Grand Ole Opry despite the fact that the Nashville establishment did not particularly care for the raw, rough-edged sound from Memphis. Although Cash was always accepted on country radio, the small, close knit country music community there often was intimidated by the birth of rockabilly, fattered by Sam Phillips and Sun Records. The new directions being charted for rock, pop and country music made the country music community in Nashville feel threatened at first, although the Memphis/Sun sound eventually influenced and changed country music in Nashville to the degree that rockabilly is now considered part of the country music heritage and many current country artists often strive to attain the rockabilly "feel" so prevalent on the old Sun Records.

Hits on the Sun label, in addition to "Cry, Cry, Cry" and "I Walk The Line," included "Guess Things Happen That Way," "Ballad Of The Teenage Queen," "Ways Of A Woman In Love," "Home of the Blues," and "Johnny Cash With His Hot And Blue Guitar."

On Aug. 1, 1958 Johnny Cash was signed to Columbia Records by producer Don Law, who also signed Carl Perkins at the same time. Cash's first hits on Columbia were "Don't Take Your Guns To Town" and "I Still Miss Someone." An album, "The Fabulous Johnny Cash," followed. After this came a gospel album, "Hymns By Johnny Cash," followed by "Songs Of Our Soil" and "Ride This Train," one of the first "concept" albums in country music and a superb effort that stands strong today.

The year 1958 was a year of major change and metamorphosis for Cash as he resigned from the Grand Ole Opry and moved to Hollywood, Calif. At that time, membership in the Grand Ole Opry was considered the pinnacle of success in country music as well as sacrosanct to the Nashville establishment. The resignation was contrary to all the rules of success in country music, and it marked the beginning in a series of actions which traditionalists regarded as a slap in the face.

Tough Years

Personally, the next 10 years (1958-1968) would take their toll on Cash to the point his health was shot and he was near death. Artistically, however, during this period he laid the groundwork with a series of outstanding singles and albums that would eventually catapult him to the status of country music superstar.

Albums released by Cash on Columbia during this period include "Blood, Sweat And Tears," "Bitter Tears," "Ballads Of The True West," "Mean As Hell," "Everybody Loves A Nut" and "From Sea To Shining Sea."

Recession? Yes. They come around every so often — lay-offs, unemployment, food stamps, welfare, a drop in the sales of consumer products, and on top of that, burglaries and robberies. But I can't see today as a time to put on the Jeremiah bit and sit in sackcloth on the ashes crying WHOA! WHOA! WHOA! It's a time for optimism, a time to expand, explore and to succeed. It's a time to try to keep sales up.

With the record business off twenty to fifty per cent, you're probably wondering, "Does Johnny Cash know what's really going on?" Yes, I really know what's going on. Some of us are sitting on our ashes crying WHOA! WHOA! WHOA!

America isn't crossing the Atlantic this summer like it did last year. Well, at least not in the same numbers. For several reasons, America is staying at home.

1. Trouble overseas. We are rallying around the flag and staying out of several countries.
2. Air fares are higher and even though fuel is also, it still doesn't cost as much to take the family to the beach or the mountains or to the nearest national park or campground.
3. America's internal attractions have been televised to the extent that Americans want to see these celebrated places. We're going to the fair, to the rodeo, to the park, to the wildlife areas, to gorges, beaches, rivers and volcanoes.

Consequently, it seems to me that audio cassette sales should soar right along with thermometers this summer. And like me, a lot of people are playing their favorite music on cassettes.

'Ballad Of A Teenage Queen'

by John Cash

What the record business needs is a good swift kick, and then tireless prodding and pushing by artists, record companies, publishing, promoters (men and women), plus the involvement and interest of the general public, the song buyers themselves.

I was involved in a promotion machine in the winter of 1957-1958 that was everybody's dream come true. The machine was called "Ballad Of A Teenage Queen."

Before that, in 1956, Elvis was gone from Sun Records, but with Carl Perkins, Jerry Lee Lewis, Roy Orbison, Warren Smith and myself showing signs of life, Sun's distribution was expanded. "I Walk The Line" was a big seller for me in the United States. Then I recorded "Ballad Of A Teenage Queen" and the record was released by Quality Records in Canada. I began receiving a lot of mail from Canada. A promoter named Marlin Payne booked the tour and the DJs laid heavily on "Ballad Of A Teenage Queen." The tour was expected to be a success. I asked Sam Phillips of Sun Records how many records could I expect to sell in Canada with a big hit. The answer was twelve to fifteen thousand.

The fifteen-day tour took us from Charlottetown, Prince Edward Islands, to Vancouver. We filled every hall in every major city, but more than that, we sold over one hundred thousand copies of "Teenage Queen," setting an all-time record for a single's sale.

Dan Bass, promo man for Quality, with his lady assistant, set up a Teenage Queen contest in every city. It was a tour of one night stands and I flew into a new city each morning and did radio and television interviews. Then in the afternoon I signed records ("Ballad Of A Teenage Queen" only) at record shops. My last promo appearance for the day, before the arrival of the Teenage Queen contestants that evening, was to draw a name out of a box at a large department store's record counter, and name the Teenage Queen and the first runner-up in that city. In one town, we had as many as twenty-five hundred entries. One requirement to enter the contest was to prove the purchase of the record. I autographed hundreds, and at times thousands, of copies of the record in every city. During my concert that evening, I crowned the queen and announced the first runner-up on stage.

We had a lot of things going for us on that promotion. The record company was on the ball, with total support behind the promo man and his lady. I was young (25) and energetic, loving every minute of the excitement that the record and my appearance generated. The jukebox operators, the one-stops, and the disc jockeys were a vital part of it, but mainly the general public was directly involved. It made them feel like they were something special, which they were.

(There's another very interesting thing I would like to note, looking back on that Canadian tour. In the city of Saskatoon, the Teenage Queen died tragically, leaving the runner-up to be enthroned. That runner-up was a beautiful blonde girl who was already writing songs and singing. She was a talented lady who was going to have a big career. Her name was Joni Mitchell.)

I have not been involved in such a

Johnny Cash On Life, Music And His Devotion To Family

In 1980, Johnny Cash celebrates 25 years in the music business. During that time, he went from a struggling hopeful with big dreams to a star whose achievements reached far beyond those original dreams. Along the way, his music changed from strictly gospel to rockabilly and the Sun sound from Memphis, and then on to traditional songs about issues and people, as well as original songs that brought messages, lessons and stories to his listeners and watchers.

Through all of this, he helped alter the sound and look of country music, paving the way for the rockabilly, folk and 'outlaw' artists that penetrated country music and caused it to expand its boundaries and grow to its present proportions.

In the following interview, conducted by Cash Box Nashville editor Don Cusic while on tour with the Johnny Cash Show, Cash talks about his music today and the influences he is feeling, in addition to the changes he is observing within his own life and music. The interview took place on a bus trip between Great Gorge, New Jersey and Salisbury, Maryland.

When you were starting out on Sun Records, some of the people went to rockabilly and some people went more country. You went country. Was that because country chose you or did you choose country?

I just stayed what I always was. I didn't go off into another direction when I left Sun, I just continued to be what I was. I'm still recording things like I had on Sun. One of the songs on my next album is called "She's A Goer" — it's exactly the same sound I had on Sun in 1957.

That is one thing I've always done, keeping the same sound and my identity no matter what. Even though I do have an eight-piece band that is capable of doing practically anything in any area of country music, I still keep my identification. If it doesn't feel right, I won't do it. I can feel right singing a bluegrass song with Marty Stewart or singing "Bullrider" with Jerry Hensley. I just got that feeling about it. But I will always have my own identifying sound. A lot of people have pointed out rockabilly's influence on today's New Wave. Have you been influenced in turn by today's young musicians, especially Carlene, Nick Lowe or Rodney Crowell?

Yes, as a matter of fact I have, to the point

I'm recording their songs. I have just recorded "Without Love," which was written by Nick Lowe. I did it in their studio in London. We stopped over for a couple days visit with Nick and Carlene in London, and I brought two songs, Nick's "Without Love" and a brand new song by George Jones "We Ought To Be Ashamed." Nick Lowe, Dave Edmunds, Elvis Costello and Milton Belmont were there. Nick's song "Without Love" came off just natural.

Are your versions of the songs country flavored or pop?

More country flavored. "Without Love" is like something I would have recorded anytime during my career. Dave Edmunds played a Scotty Moore style guitar, then he put down a looser guitar as well. Nick Lowe played bass on it. It is going to be on my next album.

The song that George Jones gave me, "We Ought To Be Ashamed," I'm not sure if we are going to use because it's the kind of song that calls for a full band, and there were only the three of us. But Elvis Costello sang on it, so we're going to try and salvage the session.

How do you see your Americana material? Is it a statement of your political beliefs?

No, definitely not political. I recorded "The Ragged Old Flag" when Richard Nixon was in office. I did an album called "Johnny Cash America" before that, when Johnson was President. It has nothing to do with politics. They are my patriotic songs. I was singing them when I was a little boy, and I don't even remember who was President.

What album are you most proud of?

"Ride This Train" in 1959. Merle Travis had an album back in the '40s called "Merle Travis — Back Home." He said when I recorded "Ride This Train" it would be one of those timeless things like "Back Home" had been for him. He had stories and songs of the Kentucky coal country, songs like "Sixteen Tons," "Over By Number 9," "Nine Pound Hammer," and so on, some of those classic coal mining songs that everybody says that are PD now. Anyway, he said, "This album will be one of those timeless things." I didn't see it that way at the time, but last show I did a song from "Ride This Train," and if it wasn't that song I'd be doing another one from it like "Lumberjack" or "Loading Coal," which Merle Travis wrote for me. Tex Ritter wrote a song for that album, and I also used one of Red Foley's. Then I wrote four of them myself. That is my favorite album, except maybe for the "Precious Memories" album.

Why did you decide to go back with CBS?

I never did leave CBS. My contract expired, and I felt a sense of obligation or a load lifted from my shoulders. For the last nine or ten months I've been doing what I want to do. I've recorded with Lester Flatt's band, with Emmylou, Nick Lowe and Elvis Costello. I felt so free just doing those things that I wanted to do. But when I got to thinking practical, I realized that on the whole, maybe CBS needs me, but I also need a record company to spearhead my career for me. I'm a businessman, but I don't want to be a businessman. I hate to take care of business. I never sit behind a desk. I don't want to have to worry about it. I felt better when I had decided in my own mind to go back with the record company. Just to record the songs and let them release them.

Do you write many songs for other people?

Yeah, and a lot of times I don't let them hear them. I've written songs for Frank Sinatra, Elvis, Barbra Streisand, Neil Diamond and all those people. Of course I didn't let them hear them, but I wrote them for them.

Sometimes I love another artist's work so much that I'll sit down and write a song for them. Like Flatt & Scruggs. I think I've written more songs with Flatt & Scruggs in mind than anybody else. I wrote "Papa Played The Dobro" for Lester and Earl in "Ride This Train" album. They recorded it, too. I used to write for Ernest Tubb, and he recorded two of my songs. He recorded "This Is My First Big Dream Come True." I thought I was doing alright when I started out with doing shows with Elvis, but my biggest thrill in those first couple of years came when Ernest Tubb recorded a song of mine called "My Treasure." That was really a dream come true for me.

Could that early attainment of your ambitions have been one of the reasons you've had so many producers?

I don't know. I've always been the kind of artist that in the studio the producer knows before hand I'm going to do what I feel like doing. Very rarely does producer really take full control of my sessions, because I have never worked that way. My first three years with Sun, I never had a producer except Sam Phillips or Jack Clement, and they were always in the control room running the tape machines. Back then there wasn't any such thing as a producer. My first few years it was all up to me what I wanted to record. Sam always said, "Sing it the way you feel it. I can't tell you what to sing or how to sing it."

There have been some really good minds to come along in production, like Larry Butler for instance. He said, "Let me produce you and I'll get you a hit." Well, as a matter of fact, he had three #2 hits in a row with me. We never really had a #1 record. Larry didn't give up and neither did I. We may work again together someday. I think he is probably the finest co-producer I have ever met.

Right now I'm working with Earl Ball, who is the pianist in my band. He is a very good arranger. Earl found himself in the role of a producer before any of us realized it and he is doing a great job with it. The thing about it is he's got a whole lot of energy and I have a way of using the talents, every talent, of anybody who works with me. I just kind of turned it over to him. There is a lot of running and detail work and a lot more unpleasantness connected with being a producer, but he has had a lot of past production experience with Capitol Records and some of the independent things he has done. I feel very comfortable with Earl Ball.

I'm not locked in to Earl. I may do another sometime with Brian Ahern, who produced my "Johnny Cash Silver" album. The company suggested it, but I'm not locked into anything. I've always kept it that way. I've got to have freedom in that area, as well as musical freedom in the studio.

You seem to be a newborn man musically. You have a whole new awareness and seem to really be in touch with music and everything today. Does that come from your kids?

Yes. It's like a whole new awakening for me the last two or three years. You see, I wrote a book, produced a movie, and then I did a couple of other movies. You've only got so much time and energy, but those were important to me at the time. A lot of music slipped by me, a lot of good songs, but I have no regrets because I was doing what I wanted to do. But now, I'm totally involved in music, in my songs. There are songs to sing and messages to bring. Whatever they are, as they come along I do my best to be there.

While some people can feel comfortable around someone who is famous, in many cases it can be an intimidating experience. Do you find this getting in the way you're dealing with new songwriters?

No, that doesn't hurt me relating to them. I understand where they are at. They sit there trembling while I listen to their songs. I try to put them at ease. It doesn't take long into a song to know if it is any good or not. I hope and pray I'll say the right thing as I quietly and diplomatically reject the song. I'm at ease with new songwriters because I think back to the time I was in their shoes. My memory is very long. I know exactly what it is like to be hungry and want to get some songs published.

You've got to be true to yourself, too. If the song's not there, you can't tell somebody, "I really like that, but I don't know if I can do anything with it right now." That's no answer. You can say you think the writer has potential, but you can't use that one. Just keep trying. Then you give them a straight answer and don't leave them hanging on a cliff. You don't keep them hoping that you will cut that song. You've got to tell them yes or no. Then you have established an honest relationship, and they trust you and appreciate that trust. That way you can get off to a good start with a new writer.

Cash On Stage: Combination Of Styles, Moods And Subjects

by Don Cusic

Although he is known as the "man in black," musically Johnny Cash is a man of many colors. He does his old hits, songs of love both lost and gained, train songs, cowboy songs, songs of the working man, bluegrass, gospel, old folk and mountain songs and contemporary songs. In an era when many performers are in love with themselves, Cash remains in love with his music. And while most other performers search for songs that will be hits no matter what they say, Cash continues to search for songs that say something, songs with a message and a meaning beyond the vinyl they're pressed on.

On stage, Cash is a bundle of restless energy and raw magnetic presence in the form of a musical troubador. He is an entertainer — moving about the stage and breathing life into his show and the songs he sings. He is a troubador as he does a number of songs, bringing messages with each of them. Sometimes that message is fun, sometimes about love, sometimes poetry and sometimes the gospel message.

A typical performance covers the music of Cash yesterday, today and tomorrow. His roots run deep, and he never forgets them as they provide the sustenance for his musical tree. He is a man firmly rooted in traditional music, singing songs that relate to audiences and life today.

Today, the Johnny Cash Show includes a number of others. June Carter Cash and son John Carter are an integral part, as are guitar players Bob Wootten and Jerry Hensley, bass player Joe Allen, mandolin and fiddle player Marty Stewart and piano player Earl Ball, who all perform individually during the show. But the show centers around Cash and his presence is always felt. He is aware that people come and pay to see him so he gives them their money's worth. He is also very aware of the talents of his band members and strives to always have them share their talents with the audiences.

Recent Road Trip

On a recent road trip, Cash performed at the Playboy Club in New Jersey and the civic auditorium in Salisbury, Maryland. Cash Box attended both and was treated to a well-rounded view of Cash's multiple talents.

At the Playboy Club, the show was introduced by a guitar medley of "I Walk The Line" and "Ring Of Fire" as Cash strode on stage to thunderous applause. Wearing black pants and coat outfit with a white shirt and black bow tie, a sort of western-styled tux. He picked up his guitar as Bob Wootten, his lead guitar player and band leader, immediately kicked off "Folsom Prison Blues," one of the most famous Cash numbers. As he sang, a screen came down behind him and a movie of life inside Folsom Prison was shown.

Right after "Folsom Prison," Cash went into "Sunday Morning Coming Down" and "A Boy Named Sue" before stopping to talk a little. "This is a heck of a place for a southern Baptist Christian," he laughed and went into "Old Chunk Of Coal," a gospel flavored number written by Billy Joe Shaver that said "I'm just an old chunk of coal, but I'm going to be a diamond someday."

Rockabilly

The next number was "Ring Of Fire," and it was here that his two horn players, Jack Hale, Jr. and Bob Lewin, appeared to play the introduction as the audience once again cheered wildly. Another gospel song, "Why Me, Lord," followed as somebody in the audience kept screaming for some rockabilly. Cash, after hearing him a few times, launched into "Hound Dog" and "Blue Suede Shoes," doing credible, though abbreviated, versions of both. He followed with "Wild Bull Rider," a song written by son-in-law Rodney Crowell, on which he was joined by guitar player Jerry Hensley, who played lead and sang harmony.

After that, Cash stepped back and introduced brother-in-law Bob Wootten (who is married to Anita Carter, June's sister) who sang the old Gene Autry hit, "Be Nobody's Darlin' But Mine."

After Wootten finished, Cash came back to the microphone and did "Slow Rider," a song from his 1959 "Ride This Train" album, segueing into "Streets Of Laredo," then on to "Ghost Riders In The Sky" as he presented a nice selection of cowboy songs.

Taking another break, Cash introduced Earl Ball who did an incredible job performing the instrumental "Music Box Dancer." As Ball performed, Cash moved about the stage, pretending he was winding the piano player up as the music "ran down" to the delight of the audience.

Cash Discusses Christianity And The Gospel Message

by Don Cusic

There's an old saying that if you want to find out who is a real Christian, hide and watch. You can hide and watch Johnny Cash and you will find out that he is a real Christian.

The prevailing definition of a Christian is one who not only talks about Jesus and the importance of him in their life, but who also lives in a way that shows Christ shining through them. In addition, it means being an example, being strong among men but humble before God and constantly seeking to make themselves pure and pleasing to God. Johnny Cash does all of these things in his daily life.

When Cash first entered the music business in 1955 and began traveling and performing, he was still a strong Christian, determined to remain that way. However, during his first ten years in the business, the traveling took its toll and Cash backslid to the point that he was heavy into drugs and living a very un-Christian life. "My policy of aloneness and severed fellowship from other committed Christians weakened me spiritually. Not that missing church necessarily meant missing God. It was just that Jesus never meant for us to try and make it on our own. There is something so important in worshipping together with other believers. And missing it left me vulnerable and easy prey for all the temptations and destructive vices that the backstage of the entertainment world has to offer," Cash stated in Man In Black, his spiritual autobiography.

Still, although Cash to an extent turned his back on God, God never left Johnny Cash. Throughout his drug years, Cash continued to record gospel albums and sing gospel songs on his shows, knowing all the while that he was not living as God would have him live. Finally, through the help of June Carter, Johnny Cash resolved to kick his drug habit and called on God for help and strength. It was there.

Since that time, Cash has continued to record gospel albums and sing gospel songs during his performances, but now he is living the Christian life. In 1971 at Evangel Temple in Nashville, twenty-seven years after his first public commitment, Johnny Cash at the age of 39 once again committed himself to live a Christian life. He has not broken from that path.

Along the way, Johnny Cash took a troupe to Israel and filmed the movie, Gospel Road, which is still being shown through World Wide Films, the organization headed by Johnny Graham. It remains a major achievement and monument in the life of Johnny Cash.

Johnny Cash has continued to stand strong against "the hounds of hell" in living his Christian commitment. He is planning to film another movie, Gospel Ship, about the life of Paul, proving that the Christian life can be lived and fulfilling for a man who makes that commitment. In the following interview, Cash discusses his Christianity and gives some insights into Johnny Cash the Christian, as he lives and works today — 10 years after his public commitment. The interview took place the day after he had performed at the Playboy Club in New Jersey, on his bus headed for an engagement the next night.

Did you feel that you had to get the gospel message across to the Playboy audience?

I didn't feel any sense of urgency about it. Like I told them, I'll be myself wherever I am and surely the man who booked this date knew that Johnny Cash sings gospel songs. I just feel a need to be myself wherever I am and not be afraid to do anything, I feel good about doing anywhere. I was completely comfortable doing gospel songs at the Playboy Club. All they got to do is say, Don't do gospel and they won't have me. Or don't do "Folsom Prison Blues" and they won't have me. See I do what I do no matter where I am. I'll be what I am and if it turns people off, they can get somebody else. I'm working more than I want to work anyway.

Do you have any plans for evangelism?

Well the movie Gospel Ship is about evangelistic enough for us. I just hope I sow the proper seed wherever I go. I'm not a gleaner. I'm not so much of a gleaner because if you really want to get into religion I believe that if people sow the proper seed, the Holy Spirit will do some work as time goes by. Those people who have a need, if we touch them and show them how that need can be fulfilled, then the Holy Spirit will do his work. It's up to Him to do the gleaning anyway, not me. I don't think that a human being should take credit for the Holy Spirit's work. I can't see where a preacher should boast saying, I've had 71 converted in my church last week. He is giving himself and the church credit. I think the credit should go to the Holy Spirit. Because there is no conversion without the Holy Spirit's work.

In your dark days with drugs and everything, did you know the truth and turn your back on it?

I didn't really turn my back on it, inside personally. So far as the world was concerned it looked like I had. But, I never turned my back on it and I was always susceptible to the blackening of God. Like I said in Man In Black, the time when I talked about Nickajack Cave. I was in there alone and I had laid down and said, Go ahead and take me. I'd just as soon die than be like this. I felt a warm, sweet presence and that silent inner voice said, You're not going yet Cash. I got work for you to do. You can't die yet. I then felt a complete peace about. Because, I knew I was not abandoned by God. He hadn't abandoned Him. It was just I was struggling with human temptations and problems. I felt Him waiting. If it was going to be 3 months or 3 years, I felt His patience waiting for me, and smiling at me and human weaknesses, and waiting 'til a time of strength and renewal came from Him. Do you feel an obligation with your fame to present an image as well as carry this message?

Yes, I do have an obligation with that fame. That fame has its price. It has a lot of pride and a lot of fees that have to be paid. Fame has its price for sure. You have a lot

June Carter Cash: The Lady Behind The Man In Black

by Don Cusic

I resolved to be a good wife for John... I would try God's order, written in His Word, and would make an honest effort to be a dependent wife. I would look to John as the head of our home. I would be his helpmate. He would make the decisions and I would throw away all that old independence I'd known for years. If we were poor, we'd be poor together. If God blessed us, we'd be blessed together.

The above quote was taken from Among My Klediments, the autobiography of June Carter Cash and reflects June Carter Cash today. A fiercely independent woman who came from a legendary country music family and had a successful career before she ever met Johnny Cash, June Carter made the decision to be first of all a wife and mother when she married Cash. That decision has been the major reason for the solid and successful marriage of Johnny and June Cash.

Growing up as part of the Carter Family, June sang with her sisters, Helen and Anita, and their mother, Mother Maybelle Carter, on radio and at shows all over the country. She admitted to a lot of ambition to be "funny" and became the comedy element in the Carter Family shows. In the mid '50s the Carters split, and June worked as a solo act, joining the Grand Ole Opry and working road shows, usually on "packages" with other artists.

June Carter first met Cash backstage at the Grand Ole Opry in the late '50s. Since they were both members of the country music community, a tightly knit group, it was not hard for them to meet, although they both were pursuing separate careers at the time.

In the mid-'60s, June was hired by Cash to be part of his road show, the "girl singer and comedienne" of the group who would perform a segment each night. It was here that she and Cash grew closer as they appeared together for several years. It was also here that June became fully aware of Cash's problem with drugs and resolved to do something about it. In her autobiography, June states that Cash's band, the Tennessee Three, "had so much respect for Johnny that they would never challenge anything he said or did. I had respect for him, too, but as I began to see the pills hitting him harder and harder every day, I began to fight dirty. At times his life seemed so hopeless that I wanted to back away and run. But something I could not explain held me tighter than glue, and I could not let go."

'Never Afraid'

In Cash's autobiography, Man In Black,

'The Man In Black is loved for his talent and his charisma that can be felt by everyone when he enters the room. He is Johnny Cash — one of my special friends.'

— Dottie West

he stated "The one person who could get to me and talk to me when no one else could was June Carter, and everybody knew it. And when the pill habit got really bad, she started fighting it because she could see what it was doing to me... In the name of God she claimed my recovery which she began fighting to bring about... June was never afraid of me, and she was serious about the battle she was waging against the pills. 'I'm just trying to help,' she'd say. 'God has His hand on you, and I'm going to try to help you become what you are whether you want me to or not.'"

The battle with drugs for Cash's life was a big one, but by November 1967, he was off drugs, thanks to June and God. He has suffered only one brief relapse since, in 1969 on a tour of Vietnam. Shortly after the victory, at the beginning of 1968 in a concert in London, Ontario, Cash proposed to June on stage before 5,000 people. She accepted, and they were married on March 1, 1968 in Franklin, Kentucky. Two years later almost to the day they had a son, John Carter Cash.

Since June had two daughters, Carlene and Rosey, by two previous marriages, and John had four daughters, Rosanne, Kathy, Cindy and Tara by a previous marriage, the newly married couple already had an instant family. June set her priorities then — God first, her family second and her career third. "I've seen so many marriages ruined by ambitious women who just wanted a career," she said in an exclusive Cash Box interview. "I used to be that way. Lord, I

Family Life Inspires Cash Musically And Emotionally

The most important part of Johnny Cash's personal life is his family. His wife, June, son John Carter, daughters Rosanne, Kathy, Cindy and Tara, June's daughters Carlene and Rosey; his grandchildren

John Carter

Thomas, Jessica and Caitlin; his step-grandchildren Tiffany, Jackson and Hannah; his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cash; his brothers and sisters and various in-laws and other relatives provide a core and family base that supports him in all his endeavors and remains a constant source of encouragement and love.

In his book Man in Black, Cash, in discussing the birth of his son, John Carter, stated "The birth of the baby had a way of resealing the bond of our marriage, and I was reminded again by this event just how much I really needed June. I was never really whole without her, never really felt like a concert was complete without her. I had always had the greatest respect for her as a performer, but until I'd had to do a few concerts without her during her pregnancy, I suppose I didn't realize just how much she meant to me as a fellow performer... But more than that, she and I talked about the price we had paid, the fight we had fought, the ups and downs, the good times and the bad, the heartbreak and the victories, so that we might be together."

Raising John Carter is something that is often discussed between Johnny and June and one of their prime concerns. "I don't expect him to really have a 'normal life,'" said Cash. "We are protecting him and programming him to get an education and enjoy it and to look forward to getting his eighth grade diploma and then his high school diploma and be the best he can be in his class."

As a father to his four daughters, Cash often fell short, something he admitted in his autobiography when he said "Little children forgive and forget, but I'd never forget the things I missed sharing in their young lives — the million little precious things that happened while 'daddy was on the road' — Tara losing her first tooth, Cindy's piano recital; first communion, Rosanne in the senior play, Kathy's birthday party, Cindy and Tara's birthday party, an Easter egg hunt." Discussing raising John Carter in a Cash Box interview, Cash stated "You've got to profit from your mistakes and I made mistakes with my four daughters. I didn't spend the time I should have as a father with them. It's not that I'm trying to make up with John Carter, but I'm going to see that it doesn't happen again. I spend every minute with him I possibly can. I also spend every minute with my daughters I possibly can."

Today, Cash's daughters Rosanne, Kathy, Cindy and Tara and June's daughters Carlene and Rosey are a constant source of inspiration to him as a father and musically. It is his children who often expose Johnny Cash to the newest forms of music and keep him in touch with the youth of today, their thoughts and feelings.

Rosanne's husband, Rodney Crowell, is a well-known songwriter and producer, and has written songs for Emmylou Harris, Waylon Jennings, the Oak Ridge Boys and Cash himself. He provides another musical input. Carlene's husband, Nick Lowe, is one of the major producers of New Wave music, and has exposed Johnny Cash to that form of music. In fact, the British producer/artist wrote a song that Cash recorded when he and June visited London recently. "Without

Rosey Lawhead

Love." In addition to being surrounded by young people showing and influencing him the most current music, Cash's family also includes the Carter sisters — June, Helen and Anita, who make him aware of his roots and traditional country music that they brought to the forefront in the 1930's.

Johnny Cash's family is more than just people who are related by birth, they are the source of personal and musical inspiration.

Cash's Future Plans Aimed At Building Multi-Media Career

Johnny Cash could replace John Wayne as a major western movie star and symbol of Americana if the career advisors closest to Cash have their way. Those advisors include Lou Robin of Creative Artists, who is responsible for booking Cash, and Marty Klein of APA, who handles Cash's television and movie appearances. There is a demand, they say, for the "hero-type," manly character in the movies and Cash could easily fit into those shoes.

That is not to say that Cash will be a big movie star in the near future. His priorities lie with his music and recording career with movies interesting him only if the script is "right." He moved to Hollywood in the late '50s to get into the movies, and though he lived there about eight years, could never get a movie career generated. That's changed though as movie producers and directors are now after Cash to be in the movies.

There was one western movie, The Gunfighter, that Cash filmed in 1970 with Kirk Douglas where he played a western hero. Since that time, he has not appeared in any Hollywood westerns.

Cash's main interest in movies is with Gospel Ship, a movie about the apostle Paul that will be the follow-up to Gospel Road. The movie, which will be filmed in the middle east, is scheduled to be filmed "in the '80s" according to Cash, although no definite dates have been set. The story will illustrate how a man can successfully follow the Christian life, like Paul did, and "make it work" by putting his faith into his everyday life.

Looking at the future of Cash the recording artist, both Robin and Klein see the international market — where approximately half of Cash's records are sold, expanding even broader. Now, it is the markets of Canada, England and Germany which are the biggest for Cash, followed closely by Australia, New Zealand, Switzerland, and Scandinavia. There is also strong hope that the Japanese market will open up for him the near future.

There is also discussion of Cash signing with a gospel label for the gospel product he releases, although there is nothing definite yet and the project and plan will depend heavily on CBS's desire and capability to market gospel product — an area where no major secular label has ever really been successful.

The re-signing with Columbia Records this year by Cash, where he has been since 1958, ended a several month period of time when Cash's contract had expired and he, in essence, had no label. He used that time to record a double gospel album for Cachet Records, record some tracks with Emmylou Harris, Lester Flatt's bluegrass group and Nick Lowe. The decision to resign with Columbia was made after consultations with his top career advisors and close friends as well as with a number of other labels who had made serious offers.

'I've known Johnny Cash from the day he started his musical career, and he has proven to be one of the most talented, dramatic, caring, strong and gentle men I have ever met.'

— Mae Boren Axton

'It's impossible to measure the impact Johnny Cash has registered on America and the world in his quarter century in our business. I've known him during his entire career and hope the next 25 years will be just as rewarding.'

— Arthur Smith

Lou Robbins

Marty Klein

It is not definite what specific marketing plans Columbia will institute to mark Cash's 25 years in the music business, aside from the "Silver Anniversary" album, although a number of re-packaging plans are being discussed as well as a number of projects involving new product.

In the near future, Cash has a role in the series Alice as well as commitments to do two specials for CBS, a spring special and one at Christmas. There is also a movie role for Cash being discussed seriously by his agents.

Cash has also taped a radio program for the Mutual Broadcasting Network for broadcast July 4. It is a two hour Johnny Cash Silver Anniversary Special that consists of Cash telling stories behind songs he has written and recorded during his 25 years. The narrative of the program is by Cash. The show was produced by Ed Salamon of WHN in New York.

"The reason Johnny Cash has stayed on top for so long is because he enjoys change," said Lou Robin of Creative Artists. "He is not a creature of habit with his music. He is constantly experimenting and listening to what's going on around him."

Robin continued, commenting that, "Johnny Cash is a young 48. He's very enthusiastic and is never going to be old. His music reflects that. It's never been fresher."

Marty Klein with APA stated "Johnny Cash is the patriarch of country music. His career in television and the movies is getting even bigger. I believe in the next ten years this will be the major area of growth in his career."

Cash Expands Horizons To Include Many TV Appearances

Johnny Cash is no stranger to television. In addition to his network show on ABC-TV from 1969-1971, he has hosted the nationally televised Country Music Association Award's Show several times, made dramatic appearances on Columbo and Little House On The Prairie, as well as numerous appearances on specials — his own as well as those of other performers. Additionally, Cash has appeared on a number of talk shows.

In 1977, Cash and his wife, June Carter, starred in a made-for-TV movie, Thaddeus Rose and Eddie. This year, they will film another TV movie, Hard Words, that deals with an illiterate coal miner who must learn to read and write at the age of 48. Additionally, Cash has signed a television contract with CBS that calls for him doing several specials in the future, including a Christmas Special at the end of the year, as well as more dramatic roles as they come along.

Johnny Cash has no plans or ambitions to do another network television series although he is interested in becoming involved in more television movies. Hard Words is the first of what he hopes to be several fine, top quality dramatic shows.

In February, 1980, Johnny Cash's Silver Anniversary television special was filmed in Nashville. It was aired in May and featured a number of his friends who have played an important part of his career and his life of making music. Film clips of other highlights in his life were shown too.

During the Silver Anniversary television special, Cash probably smiled more often than on any other TV appearance. It was obvious he enjoyed the honors and friends that were part of this special.

The special began, appropriately enough, with Cash walking out to the microphone and saying "Hello, I'm Johnny Cash," then singing his song, "Man In Black." The show was taped at the Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville where his network series had also been taped as well as the numerous specials he has been involved with in the past years.

After his opening number, Cash spoke about his first record, "Hey Porter," recorded in 1955, and introduced Bob Neal, the disc jockey in Memphis who first played it on the air. Neal was also the first manager of Cash in addition to managing Elvis Presley and Carl Perkins.

After a performance of "Hey Porter" with the Tennessee Three, an old film clip from the Ed Sullivan Show of Cash performing "Don't Take Your Guns To Town" was shown, as well as a clip from the film "The Gunfighter" that Cash starred with Kirk Douglas in 1970. This was followed by a film clip of Cash in his dramatic role in Columbo with Peter Falk and then another clip, this one from Gospel Road, the film Cash made in Israel about the life of Christ in the early '70s.

Kris Kristofferson came out on stage after the film clips to join Cash and tell the

What kind of material do you usually read?

Well, I read the New York Times this morning. I got a book that ex-president Nixon sent called The Real War that I am starting to read. Also in my bookcase is the History of Tennessee, the History of Sumner County and another called Civil War Battles in Sumner County. I've really gotten into the history of my state. One reason is because John Carter is so excited about it he loves the state and its history so much. I just saw a play called Nashville, Century III that was the history of Nashville's last 200 years. It got me more interested so I got my books out and brought them on the road to brush up on my own history.

How about your acting career?

I have a new contract with CBS-TV for an '80-'81 Christmas special and, next spring, another special. The contract also calls for a movie of the week. The one they want me to do is called Hard Words. It will be produced by Frank Conningsberg, the guy who produced the biggest TV show yet this year, Guyana. It is a story of a Kentucky dog holer, a guy who mines coal by hand. He has done it the same way for 25-30 years.

He also has a 15-year-old son and a little daughter with a twisted spine. To pay for an operation for her, he has to sell his farm and get out of coal mining in Kentucky and move to Cincinnati. He can't read or write, and he can't get a good job. He can't even pass the driver's license test. All kinds of problems come up. Finally, he enrolls in night school and learns fourth grade reading and writing. Since he's 48 and does know his ABCs, reading and writing comes easy. He finally passes eighth grade. The point the story makes is that anybody can learn to read and write at any age if they are fairly intelligent.

As a matter of fact, it is a very fine dramatic film. At the end of the thing I will audibly invite people to call up a telephone number in each city to learn to read and write like I did. It's that kind of thing. CBS is very excited about it. They are calling it their "illiteracy project." I think it really is worthwhile. I think it is really important that we do it. We should do it some time this year, in October.

How about full-length movies? Do you have any on the drawing board?

After this one, they want to get into feature films with me. I have turned down more scripts. I usually read a third or fourth of them, and then I throw them in the wastebasket because they are like unsolicited songs. You can really use and in Jamaica, three in Bon Aqua, Tennessee at the farm there, and about 12 at my home and farm around the Hendersonville area. Plus the security guards, I guess that's around 42 or 45 people. That covers my publishing company, public relations, promotion, finances, which I am proud to say are in good shape.

For the past six or seven years, we have used a very good accounting firm and I don't owe anybody anything. I do owe the people who have helped me along the way over the years — the House of Cash Museum, which we believe is the finest one in Nashville, and those who help with the mailings that sell various things that people ask for: belt buckles, T-shirts, books and so forth. My mother works at the House of Cash. She is the pillar.

You have always been good about looking out for your family. You've got your parents there and sisters and brothers. Have you seen your family as a primary responsibility that you have taken on throughout the years?

I found it to be a pleasure. A lot of people have frowned at the way I do business. I'm always hiring my family or June's family to work for me, but so long as I can afford any of them and things still run fairly smoothly, I intend to do that because I love my family and I love June's family. If there are any of them we can use in any area we will. There are three others that we have employed in Madison, her aunt and uncle. Then we have a couple of June's old friends working for us, Honey Dickens and Mildred Joyner, and at my office we have my brother Roy, who is the curator of the museum, and my brother-in-law Joe Garrett, who is a swing shift security guard. He also raises cows on the pastures. My sister Reba is general manager of the House Of Cash June's cousin Sue Hensley runs the travel department and souvenirs. My mother is the boss of everybody there. She is the grand boss. I have no second thoughts about hiring the family on either side, mine or June's, whenever I can. I am always comfortable when I know the family is around. I have their support and I trust everybody.

Most superstars surround themselves with a world of their own. Have you done this?

No, I haven't closed the world out. I do have my place of refuge for my quiet time, to be alone. That is calculated. I know that when I'm at home, two or three hours in the afternoon I am going to be totally alone. I'm going to be locked up in my compound relate to only about one out of 500 because it is somebody else's dream. It really has to be exceptional for me to get into somebody else's dreams, but that is what this Hard Words did. It is that exceptional. There is not one word or line in that script that I am not comfortable with. I don't think I've seen a script that good, that right for me.

What does the Cash Organization include?

I think there are 42 people in my employment, something like that, and two buffalo. There are 18 people on the road and 12 people employed in the House of Cash, five where the wild animals are. I have a cabin hidden out in the woods and that is where I'm going to be. I may watch a movie on video-cassette, take a nap or sit on the front porch and feed the deer and peacocks — but that is just when I close the world out. I put it into my schedule days or months ahead if it's a vacation. I think everybody in this business has got to realize they are, to a certain extent, public property, and until you close that door at night and go to bed or have a meal and watch TV, you have to insist on privacy. You are public property the rest of the time.

Johnny Cash: The First 25 Years

Cash developed a strong interest in traditional material and recorded many standards in his own style during this time, often researching the material in depth for his albums. Another important factor in his career development was his ability to record commercial hit singles within these concept albums, and thus assuring himself radio airplay and mass acceptance. At the same time he was forging an identity and image that went beyond that of just another singer with a hit record, to encompass a man who had a message and meaning behind his songs.

This restless thirst for truth and knowledge, on top of a desire to carry his heritage wherever he went, made Cash a cult figure, as popular with the '60s youth as he was with country music fans.

Cash's lifestyle during this period can best be described as rebellious, as he railed against the country music establishment, and increased his drug consumption. Nevertheless his attitude appealed to the disillusioned youth of the early '60s, who generally disregarded country music until Cash came along. The net result was that country music grew in influence and popularity because of Cash. As John Kennedy said, "A rising tide lifts all boats."

After joining Columbia, Cash recorded a number of major hits including "Understand Your Man," "I Got Stripes," "Ring of Fire," "The Ballad of Ira Hayes," "It Ain't Me, Babe," "Orange Blossom Special," "Jackson," "Folsom Prison Blues," "If I Were A Carpenter," "A Boy Named Sue," "Daddy Sang Bass," "One Piece At A Time" and "Ghost Riders In The Sky." Also during this time he has continued to record prison songs, train songs, work songs, songs of unrequited love and populist songs filled with social commentary.

In 1960 the Tennessee Two became the Tennessee Three with the addition of drummer W.S. Holland. In 1968, guitar player Luther Perkins, who provided the trademark guitar sound for Cash, died and was replaced by Bob Wootten. Throughout the '70s, this basic line-up remained until 1980 when bass player Marshal Grant retired.

The Johnny Cash road show, developed in the early '60s, provided country music with one of the best of its shows. Through the management of Saul Holiff, Cash's road show developed to the point that in 1968, when he conquered his drug habit and became a new man, it was one of the top attractions in country music and provided the basic format for his successful television series.

Today, that road show consists of the "Great '80s Eight" consisting of drummer W.S. Holland, guitar players Bob Wootten and Jerry Hensley, bass player Joe Allen, mandolin and fiddle player Marty Stewart, pianist Earl Ball and horn players Bob Lewis and Jack Hale, Jr.

1968 was a landmark year for Cash; he conquered his drug problem, married June Carter, made a commitment to live a Christian life. He was determined to rectify the mistakes of his past and become not only a great recording artist, but a great man as well.

In 1969 Cash began his network television show on ABC. It continued until 1971, encompassing 60 one-hour shows that made Johnny Cash a household name. The show ended after Cash decided that the network executives were interfering too much with his format, robbing it of the very elements that made it successful and intersecting elements that fit their preconceptions of what a variety show should be.

But the show's cancellation was not a let-down for Cash, whose personal life was being enriched even further. His son, John Carter, was born in March, 1970; it was a symbol of a complete rebirth of Cash's life. Also, after the TV show Cash began making plans to travel to Israel for a long-time dream — a movie, Gospel Road, that would tell the story of Jesus in song and drama.

The '70s also saw Cash write his spiritual autobiography, Man In Black, which was published by the Zondervan Corp., making Cash a best-selling author and a giant in the Christian world at the same time he was becoming a living legend in the country music field.

During the 1970s, the single most important part of Johnny Cash's life has been his family. His parents have moved to Nashville, along with most of his brothers and sisters, and they play an integral part in the House of Cash business operation. His four daughters — Rosanne, Kathy, Cindy and Tara — have received more of his time, attention, love and understanding than ever before and he has been a model father for John Carter, who now travels with his dad and sings in the Cash show.

But the most important person in Cash's life is his wife, June Carter Cash, who helped him overcome his drug habit, stood beside him when he was near death, gave him a son and provided a healthy and happy home environment — not to mention the fact that she is a featured performer in his show. It is because of the stable home life June has provided that Johnny Cash has been able to further expand his musical boundaries while keeping his personal life on an even keel — something he was unable to do before she came along. Although Johnny Cash is still an outlaw of sorts, he is a reformed outlaw who has a good woman helping him live the Christian life while he remains a leader in his field — musically, morally, spiritually and personally.

Museum And Gift Shop Offer Rich History Of Artist's Life

by Jennifer Bohler

Not many entertainers can truthfully claim to have their own museum. Not many entertainers have enough memorabilia to fill a museum. Johnny Cash does. After 25 years in the music business, the man in black has accrued enough awards, photographs and personal odds and ends to fill a museum. He also married into one of the first families of country music — the Carter family, whose own memorabilia figures prominently in the museum as well.

Located in Hendersonville, Tennessee, about 20 miles from downtown Nashville, the Johnny Cash Museum opened only one year ago and has already witnessed 25,000 fans pass through its doors. Sue Hensley, manager of the gift shop located just outside the museum, predicts that figure will double this year, with peak season for the museum running from May through September or October.

The Cash museum is operated by a staff of nine and includes the souvenir gift shop run by Hensley; an antique gift shop managed by Mildred Joyner (who, by the way, made many of the items for sale in the gift shop) and her assistant Peggy Knight;

"This was a dream come true for John and June," said Hensley. "And they spent a lot of time making sure it was done right. Everything in the museum is so special to him. He wanted a place to display it all and share it with people."

A Johnny Cash aficionado would be quite pleased with the results of the artist's efforts. Housed in the museum, one will find personal memorabilia from a career that has spanned 25 years. Better still, the items are arranged in such a fashion as to take one on a walk down memory lane with Cash — from his childhood to the fabulously rich Sun era through his highly lucrative recording years with Columbia Records, his life with June and their combined families, concluding with some of the interesting collections he has acquired through the years.

Museum Tour

Perhaps the best way to highlight some of the items found in the museum is to take a second person guided tour.

As one enters the museum, the first item that catches the eye is a beautiful, mint condition '31 Chrysler, painted bright red. The car was a gift to Cash, significant in that it

'Johnny has added immeasurable excitement to our business. I'm proud and happy to have him and June as friends of mine and Henry's.'

and a jewelry department, managed by Connie Chapman.

Cash's Mother

The smiling, effervescent ambassadress of the museum/gift shop is Johnny Cash's mother, Mrs. Ray Cash, who makes a point of greeting each visitor and welcomes them as if into her own home. Mrs. Cash is assisted by Rowdy Twomey, a congenial young woman who has been with the Cash organization for just over a year.

The curator of the museum is Cash's brother, Roy, who recently retired from Chrysler after 25 years of service. Fans are guided through the museum by Pat Parker and Sandy Minor, each well versed in the Cash saga, having been personally coached by June and Johnny.

June Carter Cash and Johnny Cash opened their museum March 31, 1979, after years of dreaming of such a place. Prior to becoming a museum, the large room was Cash's recording studio, and before that, the primary room of a dinner theatre. When the Cash organization purchased the building in 1971, Cash opted to convert the spacious room with the high ceilings into a recording studio. (The rest of the building houses the previously mentioned gift shop area, as well as the Cash publishing interests and other business offices.)

When Cash lost interest in the studio about six years later, the opportunity to create a museum loomed ever nearer. Never one to let opportunities slip by, Cash and family began work immediately. "John was very excited about the idea," recalled Hensley. "We talked about having a professional coordinator come in and put the bits and pieces together, but June decided she wanted the personal touch."

Personal Touch

The personal touch meant many late nights putting a book here, an award there and a trademark black suit in just the right spot. As a matter of fact, Cash and crew worked until 4:00 a.m. March 31 to meet the 9:00 a.m. opening. As Hensley recalls, it was a labor of love.

was made the year Cash was born.

The first section of the museum is dedicated to Cash's childhood. One of the most prized possessions in that area is a photograph of John's brother Jack, who was killed in an accident when he was a young boy. This section also boasts an iron bed and quilt from the Cash home, a painting of the Dyess, Arkansas

House Of Cash Managed By A Vast Organization Of Dedicated Workers

It takes a vast network of people to make the Johnny Cash organization work. Aside from the obvious — Johnny and June Carter Cash — there are many behind-the-scenes people necessary to the working order of the Cash hierarchy.

There is the road crew and the band, the tailor and wardrobe lady, the book-keeper/accountant and publishing personnel. There is a tour of the Holy Land to coordinate. There is a mail order business to run. And then there's Reba Cash Hancock, Johnny's sister and the prime mover in this network of workers.

Hancock joined the organization in 1969, initially to handle the abundance of fan mail Cash received. Her responsibilities with the organization grew as the business interests within the Cash organization expanded. Today, her official title is general manager of homeplace, and two paintings that graced the Cash home during Johnny's youth, among several other things.

The next section displays memorabilia from Cash's Sun recording days, and includes Sun albums, a pair of Cash's boots, Marshal Grant's bass guitar, Luther Perkins' guitar and amp, a variety of posters and photographs circa Sun days, a variety of gold and platinum singles and albums and a photograph of the million dollar quartet: Cash, Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis and Carl Perkins.

A large wall is filled to the brim with mounted awards, certificates and recognitions Cash has received through the years. According to Roy Cash, the representation here isn't nearly complete. There are still many awards that would not fit in the space allotted.

Meditation Room

Cash's meditation room, which is one of his personal favorites, houses memorabilia from the set of the film "Gospel Roads," as well as other awe-inspiring bits of religious artifacts that the Cash's picked up on their many excursions to the Holy Land. Perhaps the most interesting item on display is the large cross actor Bob Elfstrom (who portrayed Jesus Christ in the film) carried. The robe worn by June Carter Cash when she portrayed Mary Magdalene; a beautiful Jim Abeita painting of Christ, a Moses seat and a large mosaic depicting biblical scenes are among the other treasures stored in this room.

The next area of the museum is dedicated to the family — Carter and Cash. Among the hundreds of items are photographs of Mother Maybelle Carter and the original Carter Family, a massive hand carved Handelaar sideboard from Brussels, Belgium, various family photos and achievement awards, June's zither, Maybelle's Gibson guitar, Carter family albums, and a roll of tickets to the Carter Family show — 25¢ each.

Cash's collections which are also on display include a Bi-Centennial plate collection from Edith Cothren, various prison and railroad artifacts, a collection of guns, Remington bronzes and sketches and American Indian relics and gifts. Cash also owns a chair that once belonged to Al Capone. Legend has it that Capone carried the folding chair with him wherever he went.

Located in the recessed floor area directly across from the Chrysler is a collection of furniture that was once in the Cash home, including a 1640 Elizabethan bed, Maybelle's Tiffany lamp, a mother-of-pearl Israel tray and jewelry box, two Oriental mother-of-pearl inlaid recliners and a piano covered with a hand-crocheted spread.

Gift Shop

Bits and pieces of the Cash saga are not limited to the museum. In the lobby, just around the corner from the gift shop/souvenir area is a picture gallery, featuring a number of pictures relevant to Cash and his family. Just outside the building is the famous "one piece at a time" car, given to Johnny by Bill Patch of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The courtyard of the grounds also displays a bit of Cash the train buff via his very own, authentic railway station — the Amqui Station. The station, which was no longer in use, was discovered by Dyann Rivkin of Webster-Rivkin Productions (they produced the "Riding the Rails" TV special for Cash).

Rivkin called the railroad company in Nashville and offered to buy the station, but they said no, adding that the only person they would give it to would be Johnny Cash. Rivkin contacted Cash; he was delighted and the rest is history. The station is completely renovated and provided visitors with a glimpse into American history.

Museum And Gift Shop

Located on the lower level of the Cash building in Hendersonville is the museum and gift shop. The staff of nine includes Roy Cash, curator of the museum; Pat Parker and Sandy Minor, tour guides; Sue Hensley, manager of the souvenir/gift shop; Mrs. Ray Cash, who handles a bit of everything; Rowdy Twomey, assistant to Mrs. Cash; Mildred Joyner, manager of the antique gift shop; her assistant Peggy Knight; and Connie Chapman, manager of the jewelry department.

The people who keep Cash's show on the road are also integral parts of the overall Cash organization. They include W.S. Holland, road manager and member of the

by Jennifer Bohler

The Cash publishing interests, like the museum, gift shop and business offices, are located in the House of Cash building in Hendersonville, Tenn. Currently the Cash organization is umbrella company to three publishing interests: House of Cash (BMI), formed in 1968; Song of Cash (ASCAP), formed in 1970; and Family of Man (ASCAP), formed in 1972.

The three companies are administered worldwide by Jury Krytiuk, who is president of Morning Music Ltd. and Boot Records in Mississauga, Ontario, Canada. All of the actual work — such as listening to songs, pitching material and handling the vast amount of paperwork — is handled by the staff in Hendersonville, which includes Cash's daughter Kathy Brimm, Harlan Sanders, who was once an exclusive writer for the Cash publishing outfit and Irene Gibb, who is responsible for the bulk of the paperwork. Both Brimm and Sanders pitch the vast catalog of titles within the three publishing interests.

3,000 Titles

Brimm estimated the 12-year-old catalog contains roughly 3,000 titles ranging from classic Cash to vintage Statler Brothers and Glen Sherley compositions. (Pre-1968 Cash material may be found in three other publishing companies: Hi Lo Music, Johnny Cash Music and Southwind Music.) Songs written by various members of the Cash clan, including Johnny, June Carter Cash, Rosanne Cash, Carlene Carter and Rosey Carter are also represented by the Cash publishing interests.

The oldest of the three organizations is the House of Cash, which claims Johnny Cash, June Carter Cash and Billy Joe Shaver as three of its primary writers. Before the House of Cash offices were siders expansion.

The vast repertoire represented by Cash publishing includes such Statler Brothers greats as "Do You Remember These," "Class of 57" and "Bed of Roses." Glen Sherley songs include "Portrait Of My Woman," "Flower out of Place" and "Greystone Chapel." Some of the Cash staples include "Man In Black," "Let There Be Country," "I'll Say It's True" and "Mountain Lady."

"Daddy feels that we have an excellent catalog," noted Brimm. "In the past year the publishing company has become one of his main priorities, aside from his recording, and he is dedicated to making it work, primarily by pitching the material contained within the catalog. We feel that we have a great publishing company and great songs, and we want to do something with them before expanding and signing other writers."

Brimm added that besides the stockpile

'It is great being the musical director on his shows. It's been fun and a privilege the past 12 years.'

— Bill Walker

moved to Hendersonville in 1969, it was headquartered in Charlotte, N.C. and run by Arthur Smith. When the Song of Cash was formed in 1970, it became Cash's first ASCAP affiliate, and represented writer Jack Routh. The Family of Man was formed as a joint venture between Cash and Billy Edd Wheeler.

Brimm pointed out that there is not a large number of staff writers signed to the interests because much of the outside material is accepted on a per song basis. She added that both she and her father feel that the existing material within the catalog should be worked before the company con-of classic tunes mentioned earlier, the catalog also boasts a solid listing of gospel material written by Cash.

Though Brimm and Sanders are responsible for listening to tapes submitted to the organization, Brimm said final say-so rests with Cash. According to Brimm, Cash tries to set aside time when he is in town to listen to tapes they have selected. If he is in town only a short while, he will take a batch with him and listen to them while on the road.

Thus far this system seems to have worked very well. Cash and company have established a healthy publishing wing with a solid catalog of tunes.

promotion since then, but I could have been. How about a "sexy girl" contest to promote "Ring Of Fire"? The women would have loved it. How about a "mean and ugly" contest to promote "Boy Named Sue"? Even as big as that record was, sales could have been doubled by such a venture where all were involved, and all stood to gain. Such promotions not only give the record business a shot in the arm, but the concert business, the jukebox business, and a lot of related businesses as well. It can get the employees of a radio station very excited about their work.

In 1969, Simon and Garfunkel had a record called "Mrs. Robinson." As a concert promotion aid, the radio station plugging the show ran a Mrs. Robinson look-alike contest. The two stars personally met the contestants, choosing a winner. She was given a free limo ride and passes to the show, plus a dinner afterwards with Simon and Garfunkel. Every hall was packed and record sales were great.

Back to the winter of 1957-1958, did you know that we were in the middle of a great recession then. We were. During that time, a record called "Ballad Of A Teenage Queen," with fifteen thousand sales potential, went over one hundred thousand, and everyone had a good time making it happen.

If we're going to sell records in this recession, we are going to have to get out of our sackcloth and get off of our ashes.

Cash's Views On Christianity

of obligations. I wrote a song called "Sit On The Porch And Pick On My Old Guitar." One day I was up at my farm in Bon Aqua and I was so tired from touring and everything. I just couldn't see where I'd ever want to do anything the rest of my life but sit on my porch and pick my guitar. It doesn't take but a few hours of that for me to get bored and then I want to get back where the action is. I enjoy the obligation and the responsibility. He said, "To whom much is given, much will be required." I'm all set to try to fulfill those requirements. I got my head on straight and I still have a lot of strength left in this body. I don't feel any ebbing of energy or strength, so far as it is required to do my job. Of course, I'm not saying I feel 25. I don't, I feel 48. My daddy is 83 years old and probably has more energy than I do. I think I inherited it a lot from him. I feel like I have a little staying power. I've been told that I do. I never lose interest in my work, never. I think about it all the time, about my work and what I'm going to do here and there, this and that move. I do pray for guidance and I get it.

Billy Graham once said he is always afraid that one day he is going to do something that will embarrass God. Have you ever felt that?

No. I'm not afraid. The only thing I do fear is God. I'm concerned. In that area Billy has responsibility and more burden to carry than I do. People expect him to be Mr. Clean, totally. They expect it. They look for a mistake in him, where they expect it from me I think. They expect me to goof up. I don't expect me to goof up anymore. I plan not to. I won't be disappointed in myself if I do, because I am just as human as you are.

Are you involved in a church in Nashville?

No. I go to church in Hendersonville. I'm more involved than the average member. I sing a song in church every few weeks. I speak for about 5 minutes when I feel I have something I need to talk about. Other than that I'm not involved in any particular church. I still believe like George Fox said. He said the church is within and a place for those to meet. It is important to meet with a Christian group and to share the things of the gospel. It is for me. It is important to me every so often to take communion. No matter what the church doctrine on communion really. I don't know my church's doctrine on it. I only know what I feel about it. It is important to me so far as the way I feel as a person. I take communion every so often but, some churches take it every week and some once a month. I feel the need for that.

Your records don't reach the Christian market, The Christian bookstores. Do you want to reach these people?

June Carter Cash as Mary Magdalene in Gospel Road.

Not especially. I'd rather perform for people who are like the audience at the Playboy Club. The people who are well established in the church are not the ones who really appreciate it the most or enjoy it the most, because that is their whole world, the gospel. It is hard to come up with something new for them. But if you can get through on a song like "I'm Just An Old Chunk Of Coal" that Billy Joe Shaver wrote you can sing that to an audience like at the Playboy Club. It carries the meat of the gospel in it. It carries the substance of the new life. It carries the message of a new life in the song to a few down and outers at the Playboy Club. Then I feel like that is a much better mission accomplished than singing and testifying in Sunday School. I personally feel that way. I always have. Jesus had no qualms about dining with Simon the Pharisee no matter what they said. He enjoyed the luxury of leaning back on a couch and having somebody to feed him and anoint his head with oil and wash his feet. That is the one thing that I love about Him. His enjoying the creature comforts. I really appreciate that about the Lord. He became all human to us in order that everybody could relate. Some people turned off to him because of that beautiful white sepulchre of a church. That was their only way to relate to Jesus but, He was a man who walked the road and wore out his sandals. Somebody needed to anoint His feet and head with oil when He finally got to rest after walking 70 miles in 100 heat, burning His feet.

Christianity has traditionally been against the newer forms of music. They were against rock 'n roll and the rockabilly sound. How do you feel about that? How do you fit in with all that?

Well, new wave and rockabilly and rock 'n roll or rockabilly or new wave as ple in the past generations to vent their energy. It is a thing that is haunting. There is a lot to be said for that too. We sing a gospel song and we do a rockabilly song and we laugh and scream and have a ball. We show a great deal of joy in our performance. We don't necessarily have to show all the joy in that gospel song we just sung. When we do show a lot of fun and joy in what we just sung then that just proves that what we just sung is right in our lives. Not that we use the Rock 'n Roll or Rockabilly or "New Wave" as any kind of a vehicle for evangelization. No, we don't, we don't say that that is any way connected. But, when we get into it, it is a lot of fun. All forms are connected in that they all spring from the Godhead. They are evidence of God, musical evidence.

How about Paul Harvey's comment about country music being today pornography? Or Bob Larson? He is a minister and was really against rock 'n roll for a long time.

I don't think that is fair at all. I just don't think that it is fair to the people who love music. You can take any kind of music you want and use it as a vehicle for obscenity. I don't care what kind or what you want to call it. To say that country music is decadent or rock 'n roll music or rockabilly is decadent is just a ridiculous statement. I really think it is what the people make it in their own minds and their own lives. I don't make it rotten or a vehicle of sexual expression or thought. I know a lot of people who do but that is their thing. I love it for the music's sake, for the beat, the sound, the feel. It has nothing really to do with sex, except the fact that I feel very verile. I really get into the music and the beat. I just don't think it is fair to say any kind of music is obscene. There is no way it could be.

Once you've stripped off the hype and exaggerations,
Once you've toned down the bold type and exclamations,
Once you've whispered to yourself who will stay for generations,
You're down to one name . . . Johnny Cash.
John, we're proud to be associated with you.

CBS Records Salutes Its Star

We at CBS Records are proud to be associated with and to have this opportunity to salute such a legendary American figure as Johnny Cash.

Not many labels, if any, could boast of a relationship through the years with an artist who has not merely endured, but triumphed for two and a half decades as a major recording leader in the music industry.

And, significantly, there are few artists of our time who have received such vast universal acclaim in such a variety of artistic genre as film, television and recording, lending testimonial to one of the greatest expansions of music in contemporary history.

His personal triumphs throughout the years have also inspired not only us, but the American public as well, and has come to exemplify the strength of moral character, persistence and faith we all shared. Emerging from the Memphis rockabilly region, Johnny Cash has and will always be moving to a different drummer. His voice interprets music with a stylization that has become unique to American recording.

He has on many occasions given the used to be so ambitious."

Since reestablishing her priorities, June noted, "I've had so many of my ambitions fulfilled since I put my family in first priority. I can do as much as I want to, as much as I choose to. John actually pushes me to do a little more than I would usually do, but when you have seven children and then the grandchildren, you keep pretty busy."

With her dedication to her husband and family, June now feels "truly liberated" and has no identity crisis. "I will never have John's personality. He is so good to me in one way — if I can knock him out once a month with something I do or say or write or a party I pull off for him, that does a lot for me as a person. I'll never become what he is, I'm too much of a person myself to ever become that. We get along beautifully. We've been married over 12 years with less problems than most married people I know of."

Still, June does have a career, being a vital part of the Johnny Cash Show, singing duets with him and performing in a solo spot herself. "I may write more this year," she said. "I've chosen to. John wants me to do a few more television shows this year. I may do some more dramatic parts on TV. I studied acting in New York. I'll be singing on two songs on John's new album. I intend to record an album pretty soon myself. I have country a shot in the arm, and for twenty-five years has boosted his incredible following with some fifty albums and hit singles too numerous to mention.

With the release of "Cry, Cry, Cry", (with Marshall Grant and Luther Perkins) Johnny Cash began his rise to fame. Classics including "I Walk The Line," "Ring Of Fire," and "Folsom Prison Blues" have long since become trademarks of the man, the voice and the struggle. By the mid-sixties he had reached superstardom.

But the list continued with such familiar favorites as "A Boy Named Sue," "What Is Truth," "Ragged Old Flag," "One Piece At A Time," "Ain't No Good Chain Gang" (with Waylon), to "Ghost Riders" and his more contemporary tunes.

With respect and gratitude in being able to share in this amazing success, we at CBS offer our congratulations to Johnny Cash. This Silver Anniversary marks a milestone in the history of American music that will not be soon forgotten.

And in twenty-five more years we look forward to celebrating another one of Johnny Cash's anniversaries.

enough tunes for it already. My two son-in-laws, Rodney Crowell and Nick Lowe, are talking about producing it, but they're pretty expensive!"

Avid Collector

At home, June is an avid collector of antiques and has her home full of antique furniture, some of it 200-300 years old, dating back to the Jacobean and Elizabethan periods in England. She also collects old cut glass, china and silver, including a number of early American silver plates.

Discussing her career and her children, June says "I don't think old, even though I've got grandchildren. "We run and play like the younger generation, and they never think we're old. I found my first grey hair several weeks ago, and I've looked for it since and can't find it!"

But when discussing her plans for the future and her ambitions, June always comes back to her strong religious belief. "I would like to be more like Jesus," she stated. "That's a daily prayer — make me more like You. I'd like to strive to be Jesus Christ in the June Carter form. As I grow older, I've grown closer to Him, and if I have a problem now, I take it to Him. He always works it out for me."

And that's June Carter Cash — mother, grandmother, performer, wife, writer, recording artist and the woman behind the man in black.

Cash On Stage: Combination Of Styles, Moods, Subjects

At the mike again, Cash performed "One Piece At A Time," as the movie screen showed a movie of John and wife June and the special Cadillac given to him that contained parts of a number of different models — a real life car to match the one in the song. The song and the movie were both humorous, providing a light touch to the show.

Instrumental Solos

With June first appearing before the audience on screen, Cash took the opportunity to introduce her to the audience as she came out and sang with him on "If I Were A Carpenter," "You're A Part Of Me" and "I'll Be Waiting For You On The Banks Of Jordan." Cash then stepped back and June performed solo.

First, she performed an instrumental, "San Antonio Rose," on autoharp before she picked up the banjo for a bluegrass humor number called "There's A Rabbit In The Log." She then played the harmonica, performing "Oh, Susanna." In between the numbers, she cracked funny one liners that loosened the audience and had them laughing. After these solos, Cash came back and together they did "Jackson," a song that has become their most popular duet.

Guitar player Jerry Hensley took center stage next as he performed "Tulsa Time," a song that has been recorded by both Don Williams and Eric Clapton. Cash followed with a performance of "John Henry" another movie, this one simulating the story of John Henry

With a heckler in the audience yelling for "Teenage Queen," Cash obliged, performing it perfectly in spite of the fact that it had been a number of years since it had been included in his regular show. He followed this with a John Prine song, "Paradise," that will be featured in his upcoming CBS-TV movie, Hard Words. He then introduced mandolin player Marty Stewart, who had been with Lester Flatt a number of years, and the two did "Rollin' In My Sweet Baby's Arms," a trademark Flatt number.

Introducing "The Patriot Song," Cash stated it was written by Marty Robbins and was due out shortly (it had not been released at that time) and that he felt strongly about the song and the timeliness of it. After this number, a large portion of the audience gave him a standing ovation, obviously feeling the same as he did about the song, which is very pro-American.

Bringing up bass player Joe Allen, Cash introduced him as a fine songwriter and invited him to do one of his own songs, "Should I Come Home (Or Should I Go Crazy)," that was a hit for Gene Watson. After that, June rejoined the band on stage as the whole group did "Angel Band," finishing the song a capella as the gospel feel permeated the supper club.

Cash finished his Playboy Club show with two train songs, "Casey Jones" and "Orange Blossom Special," playing an excellent harmonica break on "Orange Blossom Special" as the movie screen behind him showed two trains crashing into each other as the music reached a crescendo. Cash then immediately left the stage, returning with June to take another bow and accept roses from two Bunnies before hurrying off stage and out the back door, never to appear again while the applause lingered on.

Maryland Date

The next night, at the local civic auditorium in Salisbury, Maryland, it was a much different audience from the Playboy Club. In addition, Cash's show here was similar but different — divided into two parts with each lasting over an hour. The people got their money's worth, and walked away satisfied after seeing and hearing Johnny Cash for two-and-a-half hours.

The show began like the one the night before with "How Great Thou Art" and a special "Happy Birthday" to someone in the audience, which was added before taking a break.

After the 15 minute break, Cash's band, the Great Eighties Eight, returned with Jerry Hensley doing "Lay Down Sally" and "Tulsa Time" before Cash appeared again, going into "John Henry" with the movie showing behind him. He added the bluegrass "What's Good For You (Should Be Alright For Me)" to his segment with Marty Stewart, as well as his old hits, "Big River," "I Still Miss Someone," "I Will Rock 'n' Roll With You" and "When The Saints Go Marching In." Another old hit, "A Thing Called Love," followed, before his train songs/movie and the closing "I Walk The Line."

As the applause for the last song was ringing, Cash went out the back door and onto his bus, where he would be taken immediately to the airport to return to Nashville that night so the next morning he could put the finishing touches on "The Patriot Song"

Kris Kristofferson, Johnny Cash, Waylon Jennings and Larry Gatlin.

Kelley, who occasionally assists Bisciglia.

Marty Kline with the Association of Performing Artists and Lou Robin, with Artist Consultants of Los Angeles, are also important parts of the Cash organization. Cash began his fruitful association with these men in the mid-'70s. Kline coordinates television and movie appearances while Robin handles the road dates.

Great '80s Eight

One certainly cannot write about the Cash organization and not mention the band, the Great '80s Eight, which originated in 1955 as the Tennessee Two. The original Johnny and June's son, John Carter Cash has also become an important part of the Cash show, adding a light touch of humor, as well as a budding voice to the concert performance.

Vast Network

The vast network of Cash businesses also includes a mail order firm, which boasts a mailing list of some 8,000-plus names. The list was compiled over the past few months and consists of people who have visited the museum, attended Cash concerts and written fan letters. Through the mail order service, one can order anything for sale in the Cash gift shop.

One of the most recent developments in the Cash business is a tour of the Holy Land, scheduled for September of this year. Roy Cash will be in charge of the 14-day excursion into Israel, with Cash's sister Louise acting as hostess. Plans call for a group of no more than 50 to leave New York and make a stop in one other foreign country before continuing to Israel, where Joe Jahshan will take over as tour guide.

band members were Luther Perkins and Marshal Grant, who retired from the show this year. In 1960, the Tennessee Two became the Tennessee Three with the addition of W.S. Holland. And this year, the Three became the Great '80s Eight. The current line-up is Bob Wooten, W.S. Holland, Jerry Hensley, Marty Stewart, Joe Allen, Earl Ball, Jack Hale, Jr. and Bob Lewin.

According to Irene Gibbs, Cash's secretary, the tour will feature first class accommodations, and will be structured so that anyone can go, even the elderly, who might feel that the trip would be too strenuous. The organization will be working with Atraz Travel Agency of Toronto, Canada in coordinating the tour, and will utilize its large mailing list in advertising the excursion.

story of landing a helicopter in his yard to pitch Cash a song. The duo then sang the song, "Sunday Mornin' Comin' Down" followed by Tom T. Hall coming out to sing a song he wrote about Johnny Cash titled "Cash."

A film clip of Johnny and June Cash's dramatic appearance on Little House On The Prairie introduced June Carter Cash, who then came out and sang "You're A Part Of Me" with her husband.

A series of film clips showing Cash singing with Anne Murray and Kate Smith and a short skit with Dolly Parton from a CMA Awards show preceded Dottie West, who came out to present Cash with a special citation from BMI for his songwriting achievements. After this came Johnny Cash and Mother Maybelle Carter performing "Pick The Wildwood Flower."

The next segment showed Cash on stage dressed in black singing "Folsom Prison Blues" and it was followed by a duet with Waylon Jennings on "Ain't No Good Chain Gang." Chet Atkins then appeared to present a special plaque to Cash from the musicians union in Nashville.

Following this presentation, came another film clip, this one showing Cash performing "Ragged Ole Flag" in the old Ryman Auditorium, which used to be the home of the Grand Ole Opry.

A comedy skit with Steve Martin and Johnny Cash had the audience laughing before Kristofferson came out and introduced film clips showing Cash at the 1969 Country Music Association Awards. Cash walked away with five top honors at that event — the only time a performer has ever received five CMA Awards in one year. Kristofferson then presented Cash with a special plaque from the CMA.

Cash introduced his former bass player, Marshall Grant, who was one of the original Tennessee Two and the two chatted on stage about the old days before Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers band was introduced to perform "Help Me." Carl Perkins then performed "Blue Suede Shoes" followed by Jack Clement singing "When I Dream."

The Statler Brothers, who toured with Cash for eight years, then sang a self-penned novelty number reminiscing about their days working with Cash entitled "Paid By Cash." They concluded the song by saying that though they'd been paid by Cash, the experience was so rich they would have gladly done it all for free.

A performance of "I Walk The Line" and "Ring Of Fire" by Cash, Kris Kristofferson, Waylon Jennings and Larry Gatlin featured each of these singers singing solo as well as with each other. This was followed by Cash alone performing "The 20th Century Is Almost Over."

The television special closed with the cast on stage singing "Will The Circle Be Unbroken." Included in this performance was a film clip of Mother Maybelle Carter singing the song to start off the gospel show closer.

As the show ended and the credits rolled, a number of friends of Cash who did not perform musically on the show were seen getting up from their seats and walking towards the stage. These included Bobby Bare, Billy Joe Shaver, Brenda Lee, the Oak Ridge Boys, Roy Acuff, Tennessee Governor Lamar Alexander, Danny Davis, David Allan Coe, Grandpa Jones, George Jones, Minnie Pearl, Sonny James, Johnny Paycheck, and Bill Anderson.

Happy 25th,

Joe Cates

HOW DO YOU SAY CONGRATULATIONS TO A BOY NAMED SUE?

It's impossible to list all the times and all the ways that Johnny Cash has enriched our lives through his music — time and again he's made us laugh, he's caused us to think, and he's deepened our faith in ourselves as people.

Although the entire world looks up to Johnny Cash, he has never once looked down on his fellow man. He's an independent shaper of some of the proudest traditions of Country Music. It is easier for all of us to walk the line now that we have his footsteps. So, how do you say congratulations to a boy named Sue? Very carefully, and with a lot of respect.

Congratulations, Johnny—and thanks. From the WSM Family of Companies: WSM-AM/FM Radio, Grand Ole Opry,[®] WSM-TV, Opryland U.S.A.,[®] Opryland Productions, Opryland Hotel.

WHAT'S IN-STORE

MOTOWN ANNIVERSARY — Several of the largest chains in the nation have announced promotions geared to Motown Record's 20th anniversary: The Record Bar, also celebrating its own 20th anniversary, is holding a joint promotion to commemorate both events. The campaign, running under the theme "Record Bar and Motown: Twenty Hit Years Together," will feature $3,600 in prizes to be awarded at Record Bar's annual convention. In addition to a display contest, to be judged on a district basis, the Bar will award four additional prizes in chainwide competition. Product in this promotion includes LPs by Smokey Robinson, Jermaine Jackson, Grover Washington, Diana Ross, Temptations, Commodores, Switch, Teena Marie and Syreeta. . . . Another massive promotional effort is being undertaken by the Camelot chain. This effort, taking place from June 15 - July 12, will also spotlight current product, on sale at $4.99, $5.99 and $6.99. There will be competition between stores in the chain, with each manager setting up displays on the large wall plaques in each outlet. The grand prize in this contest will be a $500 shopping spree in one of the major department stores in the North Canton area. The albums on sale will be the same as those listed for the Record Bar promotion, as well as the latest Billy Preston effort.

ROADIE PUSH — Macey Lipman Marketing of Los Angeles has set into motion a major retail promotional push in support of the new Roadie soundtrack album on Elektra Records. The effort, dubbed the "Cold Cash Giveaway," will operate as follows: Four "Roadies" from the organization will "hit the road" from June 13 - June 30, visiting outlets in 29 markets. If a particular retailer is playing the LP when a "roadie" arrives, he or she will receive $50. If there is a display for the album in evidence, a prize of $50 will be awarded. If both conditions exist, the store will receive $150. For more information on this promotional contact Macey Lipman Marketing at (213) 652-0818/659-9820 or the local WEA distributor.

CBS NEWS — The CBS office in New York reports the creation of some new marketing tools: Twelve different logos have been developed for leading artists featured in the $5.98 midline series. (The artists include Billy Joel, Blue Oyster Cult, Charlie Daniels Band, Englebert, Barbra Streisand, Dan Fogelberg, Cheap Trick, Chicago, Kris Kristofferson, Loggins and Messina, Santana and REO Speedwagon). All midline albums will carry "Nice Price" stickers (the theme for the advertising campaign). Die-cut backer cards bearing the "Nice Price" slogan will also be available for bins. . . . In addition to the midline campaign, the CBS office announced release of a new 33x48 Paul McCartney poster. Flats of albums in the McCartney catalog, recently unavailable, have now been put into circulation. The albums involved here include "Ram," "Wild Life," "Wings," "Red Rose Speedwagon" and "Band On The Run."

SOUNDS UNLIMITED — Some new promotions have been reported out of the Chicago-based Sounds Unlimited office: As part of the NARM "Give the Gift of Music" theme, the ten nearby Sound Warehouse stores are conducting a special Father's Day push. With the purchase of any two jazz albums from the Columbia "Best Of" series (on sale for $4.99 per disc), the customer will receive a free T-shirt for a penny. Each shirt will bear the inscription "To the Best of Father's — The Best of Jazz Series from CBS Records". . . . Another promotion, set to take place from June 16 - July 16, is a Tommy Tutone contest. This effort, to be held at the Chicago Sound Warehouse stores, will see the awarding of a 1957 "Two-tone" Chevy. The vehicle will be displayed at each of the ten outlets, as well as the upcoming Tommy Tutone concert.

CAMELOT ACTION — The Camelot-Stark office in Canton, Ohio reveals several new retail events: The month of June will see a chain-wide cut-out promotion. Albums will be featured at 59 cents, $1.99 (three for five dollars), and $3.99 (three for $10). Tapes will be on sale for $1.99 (three for five dollars) and $3.99 (three for $10). The campaign will be kicked off with print ads in areas with high concentrations of stores. . . . Plans for the annual convention are now firming up. The conclave will take place from July 10-12 at the Sheraton Hotel in Belden Village (near Canton). Managers will be flown in for the event, which will be highlighted by appearances by La Flavour and Fayrewether. . . . The newest Camelot outlet, located at Lion's Head Village, Nashville, will celebrate its grand opening on June 14. This will be the third outlet to open in the Nashville area. The manager will be Ken Gaar, who joined Camelot in October 1977 as manager of the Courtyard at the Hickory Hollow Nashville store.

CUSTOMER QUOTE OF THE WEEK — "Are you sure you couldn't use me for summer work? I don't know much about music, I never worked in a record store and I don't play an instrument, but I am a good worker!"

REGIONAL ACTION — New Dave Mason breaking out of the south. . . Southside Johnny and the Asbury Jukes breaking out of the west. . . Robbie Dupree and Sammy Hagar with best sales in the midwest and west.

TOP SINGLE BREAKOUT OF THE WEEK

GIMME SOME LOVIN' — BLUES BROTHERS — ATLANTIC

TOP ALBUM BREAKOUT OF THE WEEK

McCARTNEY II — PAUL McCARTNEY — COLUMBIA

LOVE TRIPPIN' — Spinners — Atlantic SD 19270 — Producer: Michael Zager — List: 7.98

"Love Trippin'" represents the Spinners' finest effort since Phillippe Wynn left the band. The five-piece has always had the ability to wed old R&B stylings with the modern black contemporary sound, and noted producer Michael Zager gives the sound the perfect commercial sheen. Each song on the album features sensitive vocal arrangements and bright harmonies. The fivesome's version of Sam Cooke's old "Medley-Cupid" should be another hit for the prestigious vocal outfit.

UNMASKED — Kiss — Casablanca NBLP-7225 — Producer: Vinyl Poncia — List: 8.98

Songs such as "Is That You," "What Makes The World Go 'Round" and "She's So European" sound like the "Hotter Than Hell" raisers that the world came to know and love on albums like "Destroyer" and "Alive." However, on the rest of the album, power chords or not, the group has become a slicker than slick pop act, and songs such as "Two Sides Of The Coin" and the Top 40 sounding "Talk To Me" are testaments to that fact. For AOR and Top 40.

DON'T LOOK BACK — Natalie Cole — Capitol ST-12079 — Producers: Marvin Yancy and Gene Barge — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

This tightly arranged, heavily orchestrated LP is probably Cole's classiest effort yet. Writer/arranger Marvin Yancy puts Cole in subdued settings for most of the LP, and the new approach is wildly successful. While the uplifting, uptempo "Don't Look Back" is destined to be a hit, Cole's version of the old Nelson Riddle/Ella Fitzgerald song, "Stairway To The Stars," proves she is, indeed, a singer for all generations. For B/C and pop.

TAKE WHAT YOU FIND — Helen Reddy — Capitol SOO-12068 — Producer: Ron Haffkine — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Reddy's showing of a little thigh on the cover of this LP makes a nice visual metaphor for the new sensual direction that her music has taken. Provocative songs like "Take What You Find" and "A Way With The Ladies" show that the Australian songstress is willing to widen her horizons. The rest of the LP is chocked full of the familiar ballads, uptempo A/C numbers and light country tunes that have made her a platinum selling artist. Top tracks are "Last Of The Lovers" and "Midnight Sunshine."

ROCKS, PEBBLES AND SAND — Stanley Clarke — Epic JE 36506 — Producer: Stanley Clarke — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Ever since Clarke teamed with Jeff Beck on "Rock 'n' Roll Jelly" a few years back, he has had power chord fever. On "Rocks, Pebbles And Sand," the bassist extraordinaire definitely puts on his rock 'n' roll shoes. Backed by a superb three-piece unit, Clarke journeys into some elegant jazz and funk fare, but his dueting with flaming guitarist Charles "Icarus" Johnson is the highlight on this LP. AOR will love the title cut.

THE GAME'S UP — Sniff 'n' the Tears — Atlantic SD 19272 — Producer: Steve Lipson — List: 7.98

Sniff was successful the first time around with the haunting "Driver Seat," and along with fellow Britishers Dire Straits, was responsible for keeping the old southern blues rock style of Dylan's "Blonde On Blonde" era alive. The band's memorable, loping blues style reaches its peak on its latest effort with "If I Knew Then," the title track and "Poison Pen Mail." This is perfect, top down, summer evening music.

HAVE A GOOD TIME BUT ... GET OUT ALIVE — Iron City Houserockers — MCA MCA-5111 — List: 7.98

This group of Pittsburgh bad boys may have just come up with one of the classic rock songs of the '80s with "Have A Good Time (But Get Out Alive)." The band's hard-edged rockin' blues style has matured a hundredfold since last year's debut LP. While many people will compare the band with J. Geils, the sextet shows it has its own distinct loud and boozey barroom style with this second effort. This full throttle rock LP is a must for AOR and house parties.

TWO BIT MONSTERS — John Hiatt — MCA-5123 — Producers: Denny Bruce and John Hiatt — List: 7.98

John Hiatt records will confuse and alienate your kid sister as she skates out the door, and your older brother will want to have a heart-to-heart with you about music as he wails Springsteen on the cassette deck in his Porsche. But you know you're cool because John Hiatt's cool. He does it all with tight, stripped-down instrumentation and a vocal/lyrical conviction that totally belies his noteworthy cult status.

ACT OF LOVE — Voyager — RCA AFL1-3632 — Producer: Gus Dudgeon — List: 7.98

"Act Of Love" is the first effort on RCA for this Newbury, England-based quartet. The band rolls jazz, pop and rock into a slick, distinct Top 40 style music. While they are all superb players, Paul French's Elton John-like vocals remain the stand-out feature of Voyager. The album was produced by John's producer, Gus Dudgeon and he gives songs like "Sing Out-Love Is Easy" that pop magic that John's early work had.

PETER GABRIEL — Mercury SRM 1-348 — Producer: Steve Lillywhite — List: 7.98

The third self-titled album by the enigmatic ex-leader of Genesis is an artistic tour de force. Gabriel's insightful observations of the social and political maladies that plague modern man are offset by a heady musical amalgam of primal African rhythms and future-oriented progressive rock. The austere, haunting work is highlighted by "Games Without Frontiers" and "Biko" and represents a quantum leap for rock music as an art form. A classic.

ONE FOR THE ROAD — The Kinks — Arista A2L 8401 — Producer: Ray Davies — List: 13.98

Ask any Kinks fan (and there are many) and he'll tell you that the proof of the rockin' is in the killer live shows that these venerable crown jewels of England put on. He'll also further tell you that anyone who doesn't seek out the, literally, pure entertainment value of a Kinks concert is to be shunned. "One For The Road" is a true blue vinyl rendering of this shamelessly, albeit justified, chauvinistic attitude. This long-awaited double release quite simply contains 19 giddy reasons why The Kinks have endured so well since 1964.

NAUGHTY — Chaka Khan — Warner Bros. BSK 3385 — Producer: Arif Mardin — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

The unpredictable Khan simmers in a contained atmosphere on "Naughty." The album is paced by mellow classics such as "Move Me No Mountain," and while there isn't a lot of that wild, improvisational shouting that characterizes her work with Rufus on this subdued gem of an LP, there are a lot of potential pop and B/C smashes. Top tracks on the slickly produced affair are "Clouds," "So Naughty" and "Our Love Is Danger."

TIGHT SHOES — Foghat — Bearsville BHS 6999 — Producers: Tony Outeda, Dan Berman and Foghat — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Foghat is fast becoming rock's comfy chair, a cozy corner of the music scene where loving care and attention are still being paid to the production of quality English, electric R&B, where it's still okay to rock out without fear of either intimidation or boredom. And where guitars really mean it and rhythms hold you like that girlfriend who surely must be out there somewhere (hanging out with Lonesome Dave, most likely).

GO NUTZ — Herman Brood And His Wild Romance — Arista OL 1500 — List: 7.98

On-stage, Dutch rocker Herman Brood looks to be the classic example of rock 'n' roll excess. The lanky, red-eyed singer appears to be a man on the last leg of a two-week drinking binge, and his gruff whiskey soaked vocals add to the whole effect. The image is hardly what one expects from a man who is quickly becoming one of rock's top front men. However, the persona is oddly appealing and so is this excellent R&B/rock-oriented second LP. A must for AOR.

WARM LEATHERETTE — Grace Jones — Island ILPS 9592 — Producer: Chris Blackwell — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Be alarmed by the cover photo on Grace Jones' new LP. "Warm Leatherette" The former fashion model's alien presence is indicative of yet another musical metamorphosis. This time out the bizarre Jones has eschewed her disco stylings for synthesized new wave rhythms and reggae-influenced rock. Top flight musicians such as Sly Dunbar and bassist Robbie Shakespeare, as well as rock keyboardist Wally Bardonou, help power Jones through an eclectic set that includes songs by Chrissie Hynde and Roxy Music.

NO HEROES — Jamie Sheriff — Polydor PD-1-6280 — Producer: Ken Scott — List: 7.98

He is still a little rough around the edges yet, but in another LP's time, Jamie Sheriff could become the classic example of the '80s pop/rock star. Sheriff writes strong piano melodies, interesting and eclectic lyrics and catchy hooks. And although he borrows from a few too many styles still — Ian Hunter, Bowie and Elton John to name a few — he has the raw talent to become a major artist. Top tracks on this diamond in the rough are "No Heroes" and "Coming Attractions."

EASY MONEY — Frankie Miller — Chrysalis CHR 1268 — Producers: Hitmen and Frankie Miller — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Frankie Miller is to Britain's pub circuit what Southside Johnny is to east coast bars. The Scotch blue-eyed soul singer can wail with the best of 'em, and "Easy Money" is his most exciting album in years. Bright horn arrangements are still very much a part of his R&B rock sound, but dramatic acoustic guitar-oriented ballads such as "Tears," "Why Don't You Spend The Night" and "Forget About Me" highlight the Glaswegian's latest effort. For AOR.

NAKED BUT NOT DEAD — Mitch Ryder — Seeds & Stems SSH 7804 — Producers: Tom Conner and Mitch Ryder — List: 7.98

Some of today's greatest rockers, most notably Bruce Springsteen and Graham Parker, have been influenced by this legendary rocker, and Ryder's comeback LP is powerful proof that he can still create a little frenzy in the studio. A fine slide guitar-oriented backing band helps Ryder through such barnburners as "War" and "I Got Mine," and mellower uptempo ballads like the lovely "Hometown" and the subdued "Future Look Brite." For AOR, pop.

A Classic.

From RAMBLIN' MAN to LUCKENBACH, TEXAS to GOOD HEARTED WOMAN, Waylon's songs are classics!

His new MUSIC MAN album is no exception. THEME FROM THE DUKES OF HAZZARD, the hit single CLYDE, Steely Dan's DO IT AGAIN and Jessi Colter's STORMS NEVER LAST all stack up to a classic Waylon.

Waylon—everyone's MUSIC MAN.

Lowery Group Releases Special LP For Radio And Television Use

by Jennifer Bohler

ATLANTA — The Lowery Group of Music Publishing Companies here has released a special promotional album designed for radio and television broadcasters. Titled "25 Golden Years In Lowery Country," the limited edition, two-record set features a mixture of 23 traditional and contemporary country music songs in the Lowery catalog.

The songs are the original versions recorded between 1953-1978, and are representative of such writers as Joe South, Jerry Reed, Ray Stevens, Razy Bailey, Dan Welch, Kendall Hayes, Jim Wilson, Gene Vincent, Tex Davis, Eddie Smith, Buddy Buie, J.R. Cobb and Emory Gordy.

Songs included on the album are: "Young Love" by Sonny James; "Spanish Fireball" by Hank Snow; "Be-Bop-A-Lula" by Gene Vincent; "No One But You" by Red Foley and Kitty Wells; "Go Away With Me" by the Wilburn Brothers; "The Farmer and The Lord" by Jimmy Dean; "I Have But One Goal" by Bill Lowery and the Smith Brothers, which was significant in that this tune initially launched the Lowery Group into the field of country music.

Side Two of the album features "Walk On By" by Leroy Van Dyke; "Ahab The Arab" by Ray Stevens; "That's All You Gotta Do" by Brenda Lee; "If The Good Lord's Willin' and the Creek Don't Rise" by Johnny Cash; "Misery Loves Company" by Porter

Waggoner; and "Don't It Make You Wanna Go Home" by Joe South.

Side Three includes "Games People Play" by Freddie Weller; "Down in the Boondocks" by Billy Joe Royal; "How Can I Unlove You" by Lynn Anderson; "Children" by Johnny Cash; "Walk A Mile In My Shoes" by Elvis Presley; and "These Are Not My People" by Freddie Weller.

And finally, side four features "I Never Promised You A Rose Garden" by Lynn Anderson; "Traces" by Sonny James; "I Take It Back" by Sandy Posey; "All My Hard Times" by Roy Drusky; "Fool Me" by Lynn Anderson and "999,999,999 Tears" by Dickie Lee.

Five of the cuts on the album are in mono (the way they were originally recorded). They are "Ahab The Arab," "Be-Bop-A-Lula," "Go Away With Me," "No One But You" and "That's All You Gotta Do." The two record set is packaged in a black and white jacket, with thorough documentation of each song on the album labels as well as the inside package.

The release of this album follows the successful pop version released in 1977, when a double record set featuring famous Lowery pop tunes was sent to pop radio stations across the country. Approximately 2,000 copies of the country version have been pressed and are being mailed to country radio stations this week. These albums will not be available to the general public.

CMA Reports Country Music Sales Surpassed Pop During Last Year

NASHVILLE — Country music became the second largest selling category of recorded music in 1979, according to a report from the Country Music Assn. (CMA), which used figures compiled by the National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM). The NARM figures were drawn from total sales figures compiled by the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), coupled with a survey of NARM's membership nationwide.

The CMA report said that country music has become second in sales of recorded material only to rock, surpassed pop music for the first time, and continues to outsell soul, disco, MOR, jazz and classical music.

According to the NARM figures, which reflect the type of product sold in 1979, rock comprised 37.4% of all product sold, compared to 41.7% in 1978. Country music jumped from 10.2% in 1978 to 11.9% last year to overtake pop product sales, which dropped from 13.1% in 1979 to 11.3% last year. Soul overtook disco in 1979 with 10.2% of total industry sales compared to 8.5% the previous year. Disco went from 9% in 1978 to 9.2% in 1979.

Walker Comments

CMA executive director Jo Walker commented, "We have been anticipating the increased sales figures for country music, as documented by NARM. A leading record merchandiser recently told me that country sales were up at his outlets by over 30%.

"With release of country-oriented movies such as Coal Miner's Daughter, Urban Cowboy and all the others, we look for country to continue its surge for the next few years to come. Many people, including market analysts and syndicated columnists have predicted country will become the music of the '80s," Walker stated.

MERCURY SIGNS KEMP — Singer/songwriter Wayne Kemp has been signed to Mercury Records, according to an announcement by Bob Sherwood, president of the label. Kemp has written hits such as "Only Hell My Momma Ever Raised," "That's When She Started To Stop Loving Me" and "Darling, You Know I Wouldn't Lie." Pictured are (l-r): Danny Walls, Kemp's manager; Frank Leffel, national country promotion manager for Phonogram, and Kemp.

CASH BOX DONATES MAGAZINE — Cash Box recently donated a number of past issues of the magazine to the Country Music Foundation in Nashville to be used in its library. The issues feature in-depth coverage of country music during 1978 and 1979. Pictured accepting the magazines for the foundation is Danny Hatcher (l), head of the foundation's library. Jim Sharp, director of the Cash Box Nashville office, is shown with Hatcher.

Axton's Product To Be Distributed By Young Blood

NASHVILLE — Young Blood, headed by Jim Olofsson, has finalized an agreement with Jeremiah Records to distribute Hoyt Axton's product in the United Kingdom. The agreement includes options for other European territories for all of Axton's Jeremiah Records product and does not include Axton's previous efforts with other labels.

Axton's previous 15 albums were all released in Europe by major labels although no single ever made the charts there.

First Product

The first product to be released under the new agreement will be the single "Della And The Dealer" and the album "Rusty Old Halo." According to Dave Williams, marketing director of Young Blood, a major campaign will be organized around the "Rusty Old Halo" album with national advertising, special radio promotion which will feature a gold badge saying "Jeremiah the Bull Frog," and bonus incentives to 20 sales representatives for the organization. An independent radio promotion person has been hired, as well as a company for press promotion.

The deal for Jeremiah Records was concluded between Olofsson and Mae Boren Axton, Hoyt's mother and head of Jeremiah Records.

Acuff Receives Governor's Award

NASHVILLE — The Nashville Chapter of NARAS presented Roy Acuff with the Governor's Award at a surprise cocktail party at the Opryland Hotel on May 31. The award was presented by Don Butler, Chapter vice president and National vice president of NARAS.

Introductory remarks were made by Bud Wendell, president of WSM, Inc. before Butler took the stage. Butler made the presentation in place of Chapter president Bill Justis, who was unable to attend.

The award to Acuff, only the third Governor's Award presented by the Nashville Chapter of NARAS and the first since 1974, was inscribed "With deep admiration and appreciation as one of the most consistent and inspiring contributors to the world of music recording."

Acuff, who was obviously surprised by the presentation, accepted the award with gratitude, expressing a humble thanks for the honor.

The two previous Governor's Award winners were Bill Williams and Wesley Rose.

'Hee Haw' Moves To Opryland

NASHVILLE — The syndicated television series Hee Haw will move to a new filming location beginning in June. The move to the facilities at Opryland Studios was announced by Sam Lovullo, Youngstreet Productions, producer.

The popular country music show will begin its 12th season on national television June 5. In addition to the new studio, Hee Haw will also have new feature spots and a new look.

Some of the new features include "Consumer Testing," with Misty Rowe and Junior Samples, as well as a fishing feature with Junior and various members of the cast. Buck Owens and Roy Clark will continue to star in the series that is seen weekly on over 200 stations in the U.S. and Canada.

Guest stars set for the June tapings include Glen Campbell, Ethel Merman, Merle Haggard, Norm Crosby, Henny Youngman, Dennis Weaver, Hoyt Axton and Foster Brookes.

Creators and executive producers for the show are Frank Peppiatt and John Aylesworth. Bob Boatman is the director.

THE COUNTRY COLUMN

Columbia recording artists Janie Fricke and Johnny Duncan will soon be teaming up to do a duet album, scheduled for release in October. The duo was in Nashville recording June 4-5.

BLUE SUEDE CLEATS — When Carl Perkins played Gilley's club in Texas a few weeks ago, who should be in the audience but the newly acquired Houston Oilers quarterback, Ken "Snake" Stabler. Stabler just happens to be Perkins' all-time favorite quarterback, so it was only appropriate that Stabler join Perkins on stage for a sizzling rendition of "Blue Suede Shoes." Perkins is set to return to the club Sept. 27. How 'bout in it Kenny?

Lacy J. Dalton has been a busy little lady lately. . . Following the taping of Dinah! in Los Angeles, she played Meadowlands (New York Giants Stadium). June 3 found her performing on NBC's Today Show. Later that evening she made her New York City debut headlining The Other End, and June 4 she taped the "Live From the Lone Star Cafe" syndicated radio show.

Comic Jerry Clower was the celebrity guest May 30 at Tennessee Governor Lamar Alexander's party for Tennessee Olympic Athletes. The gathering was to honor the athletes for their achievements and their commitment to President Carter's decision to boycott the Moscow Olympics. Besides top notch entertainment from Clower, who drew from the material from his upcoming MCA LP, "Ledbetter Olympics," the athletes were given gold medals and commendations.

JUST IN TIME FOR FATHER'S DAY — Brent Burns latest single on Wolfhound Records hit the streets just in time for Father's Day, which is a good thing because it is a tribute to fathers. Titled "A Hero (Ain't Nothin' But A Sandwich Anymore)" the single examines the unique relationship between father and son. You may remember Burns from last year's "Cheaper Crude Or No More Food," the novelty song that reflected the general state of the union last summer.

Don King is playing various show clubs, including the Agoura in Atlanta and in Cleveland, to promote his recently released LP, "Lonely Hotel."

Look for a Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers Band TV special later this year. No details yet.

TV's Wonderwoman, Lynda Carter, has recorded a Larry Henley song, "What's A Little Love Between Friends," which may also be the title of her upcoming TV special.

Billy Burnette, son of the late Dorsey and cousin of EMI's Rocky, has just signed with Columbia Records — reportedly a very lucrative deal for both parties. His debut album for the label will contain several selections Burnette co-wrote with Larry Henley.

Ronnie Prophet's recent benefit weekend for the Boy's Club in Morristown, Tenn. raised $5,500. An additional amount of $500 was turned over to the Girl's Club for its efforts in the tournament.

The new Jones-Hawkins Agency is now managing and booking Grandpa Jones and the Jones Family, as well as setting fair dates for various artists. The agency is located in the United Artists Tower in Nashville.

The Marshall Tucker Band announced a few weeks ago that they will continue as a recording and performing unit. The announcement came three weeks after the death of founding member Tommy Caldwell. The band kicked off their summer tour May 26 at the Summit Pavilion in Houston with Franklin Wilkie, a long time friend of the band, serving as temporary replacement for Caldwell on bass.

At the most recent meeting of the Atlanta Songwriters Assn., the year old organization made Georgia's Lt. Governor Zell Miller a lifetime member. Miller, himself an aspiring songwriter, was bestowed the honor for his continuing support of the ASA, as well as for his efforts to boost the city of Atlanta and the state of Georgia as a music and recording center.

Eddie Rabbitt and Kim Carnes are set to co-host an upcoming segment of Midnight Special. The show tapes June 10. Ten days later Rabbitt will join the Oak Ridge Boys for their Stars For Children benefit at Reunion Arena.

Congratulations to Billie Jo Spears, married May 27 to Doug Walton. The ceremony took place at Bellvue Christian Church in Nashville with producer Larry Butler providing the organ music and Ralph Emery acting as surrogate father (in other words, he gave away the bride).

GIVE THIS BOY WHAT HE WANTS — Pat Garrett's latest single on the Golddust label, "(I Want A) Sexy Ole Lady," should provide some sporting fun for radio contests. Just imagine the phones lighting up when the announcer asks for all the sexy ole ladies out there in radioland to call up and take Garrett up on his offer.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT WINNERS — Dave Rowland (center) of Dave & Sugar and his partner, Gene Morris (l), accept trophies as winners in the Music Open Sharps category in the annual Music City Tennis Invitational Tournament held recently in Nashville. Presenting the trophies was Wesley Rose (r), while a member of the Piggys, which provided the entertainment for the awards dinner, looked on in the background.

SINGLES REVIEWS

ROY ORBISON & EMMYLOU HARRIS (Warner Bros. WBS 49262)

That Lovin' You Feelin' Again (4:08) (Acuff-Rose, BMI) (R. Orbison-C. Price)

A beautiful duet from Orbison and Emmylou taken from the Roadie soundtrack album. This ballad has a nice flowing feel in which voices blend together perfectly. Excellent for all formats.

BARBARA MANDRELL (MCA MCA-41263)

Crackers (2:30) (Pi-Gem, BMI) (K.Fleming-D.Morgan)

Mandrell takes the old phrase "You can eat crackers in my bed any anytime you want to" and turns it into the hook for a hit song. Bright, bouncy and full of energy, it's got all the elements of a hit.

RONNIE MILSAP (RCA JH-12006)

Cowboys and Clowns (3:25) (Peso/Warner-Tamerlane/Bronco, BMI/Senor/WB/Billy, ASCAP) (S. Dorff-G. Harju-L.Herbstritt-S.Garrett)

A beautiful ballad about the lovable but lonely clowns and cowboys that Milsap sings with tons of emotion. Taken from the Bronco Billy soundtrack, listeners will light up the switchboards for this one.

KENNY ROGERS (United Artists UA-X1359-Y)

Love The World Away (3:11) (Southern Nights, ASCAP) (B.Morrison-J.Wilson)

Taken from the Urban Cowboy soundtrack, this ballad delivers a positive message of love. Superb production by Larry Butler lets this number build to the strong chorus as Rogers delivers the goods vocally.

JEANNE PRUETT (IBC IBC 00010A)

It's Too Late (3:21) (Chappell, ASCAP) (Bourke-Dobbins-Wilson)

The trademark strong chorus with Pruett's voice double-tracked is once again on this song — a sure sign of success. Solid country with the story of broken love, perfect for country fans everywhere.

PORTER WAGONER AND DOLLY PARTON (RCA JH-11983)

Making Plans (2:09) (Sure-Fire, BMI) (J.Russell-V.Morrison)

It's been a long, long time since Porter and Dolly had a single out and this will surely titillate and interest country fans. The old country ballad never sounded better.

EDDIE RABBITT (Elektra E-46656-A)

Drivin' My Life Away (3:13) (DebDave/Briarpatch, BMI) (E.Rabbitt-E.Stevens-D.Malloy)

An up tempo number about truck driving that'll drive through to the listeners. Fast lyrics and a solid beat will make this popular.

GAIL DAVIES (Warner Bros. WBS 49263)

Good Lovin' Man (3:21) (Dickerson/Beechwood/Sister John, BMI) (G.Davies)

This smooth sound has a country/pop feel about it that should appeal to a wide variety of listeners. Nice up tempo feel will make listeners want to hear this over and over again.

ALBUM REVIEWS

ONLY LONELY SOMETIMES — Tammy Wynette — Epic JE 36485 — Producer: Billy Sherrill — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

The First Lady of country music comes forth with a collection of songs centered on love. Singing with a teardrop on each note, she pulls emotion out of every number. Best cuts include "Starting Over," "When You Love Me," "I'll Be Thinking Of You," "Come With Me" and "Ozark Mountain Lullaby." The first lady continues to reign.

AFTER HOURS — Joe Stampley — Epic JE 36484 — Producer: Ray Baker — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Joe Stampley is probably one of the most underestimated singers in country music. His distinctive vocals always carry the message of the song packed with emotion — whether it's cheatin', hurtin' or lovin' songs. Stampley sings them all convincingly. Best cuts here include the title cut, "This Should Go On Forever," "Come As You Were" and "There's Another Woman."

LIGHT SINGIN' & HEAVY PICKIN' — Merle Travis — CMH CMH-6245 — Producer: Merle Travis & John Wagner — List: 7.98

This collection by the legendary Merle Travis is just what the title says — some light hearted vocals with some serious pickin'. Travis wrote all the tunes here and they reflect his excellent sense of humor. Best cuts include "Me And The Doggone Blues," "There Ain't A Cow In Texas," "Don't Make Love To Mary (With Mabel On Your Mind)" and "It's Kinda Wonderful."

NASHVILLE — The sale of WVOL/Nashville from the Rounsaville chain to Phoenix of Nashville, Inc. for an undisclosed amount has been finalized. The transaction, which featured the transfer of ownership to a minority-owned corporation, has already been approved by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The Rounsaville chain, based in Atlanta and headed by Robert W. Rounsaville, owns and operates three AM and three FM stations in Florida. Rounsaville stations include WSNY/Jacksonville, WAIV-FM/Jacksonville, WLOF/Orlando, WBJW-FM/Orlando, WDAE/Tampa and WJYW-FM/Tampa.

Anderson and Alabama join a talent line-up that includes Loretta Lynn, Tammy Wynette, Ray Stevens, Mel Tillis, Larry Gatlin and Jerry Lee Lewis. Buck Owens, cancelled because of a conflict with a motion picture filming schedule.

Other artists set to appear include Hoyt Axton, Moe Bandy, Donna Fargo, Beverly Heckel, Con Hunley, Cristy Lane, May Nutter, Johnny Russell, Joe Stampley, Mary Lou Turner, Kelli Warren, Clarence "Gatemouth" Brown, Billy "Crash" Craddock, Janie Fricke and the Thrasher Brothers.

WHN BROADCASTS ALL STAR CONCERT — WHN's morning air personality, Del De Montreux, and Tony Randell co-emceed a live concert broadcast from Madison Square Garden. The show was a benefit for the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation and featured the Charlie Daniels Band, Bobby Bare, Johnny Duncan, Jerry Jeff Walker, New Riders of the Purple Sage, Robert Gordon and others. Charlie Daniels marked the event by premiering his new song, "In America." Between music segments Montreux and Randell did skits with Zsa Zsa Gabor and Chita Rivera. The evening ended with a jam until midnight. In conjunction with the concert, WHN also broadcast a telethon to raise money for the foundation.

PROGRAM DIRECTOR PROFILE — Steve Cantrell is currently program director at WMNI in Columbus, Ohio. He started in radio right out of high school at WJEH in Gallipolis, Ohio, his home town. In 1968 Cantrell entered the Air Force, but continued his interest in radio. While stationed in Goldsboro, N.C. he worked a 40-hour week at WGBR in addition to his Air Force duties. In 1973, Cantrell moved to Columbus and was hired by WMNI-AM to serve as morning DJ. He worked the morning shift for five years during which time he became program director for WMNI-FM, which is now WRMZ. Later Cantrell became PD of WMNI-AM. He spends many an hour either promoting the Cincinnati Reds baseball team on WMNI or watching them every opportunity. (WMNI broadcasts all the games.)

Steve Cantrell

Dana Webb is the new music director at WIRE radio in Indianapolis. Webb was previously general manager of a high school broadcasting program. He also was a part time announcer for WIRE for the past six years. The station also hired Karon Kay as the new night time DJ.

Chris McGuire, MD at KFTN/Provo, reports that the station recently held its Third Annual Listener Appreciation Day, which featured a free concert with Bill Anderson, The Statler Brothers and Stephanie Winslow.

WBAM HOT AIR BALOON RACE — Radio station WBAM in Montgomery, Ala. recently sponsored its first invitational hot air balloon race, which attracted 20,000 people. The race was broadcast live, and featured 20 balloons with racers from throughout the country. The Hall brothers from Montgomery were the winners and received $5,000 in prize money.

WQYK-FM announcers were invited to try their luck on a new scorpion roller coaster ride at Busch Gardens amusement park. They tried to ride the machine 99 times, which is the station's dial number. Tim Harper was the only one to accomplish the feat. MD Bill Pyne joined Harper on his 41st ride and finished with him. PD Joe Patrick only lasted through the 20th ride, and Dave Banks' stomach gave in after 12 rides.

WFAI/Fayetteville hosted a celebrity tennis tournament recently and Dave Rowland of Dave and Sugar was the winner, besting some good local talent. Mike Kirchen, general manager of the station, was particularly upset over his loss to Rowland.

Any artists interested in participating in a listener appreciation show sponsored by WPNX/Columbus, Ga. on July 4th weekend should contact Jim Bell, MD at the station.

KJJJ in Phoenix recently sponsored a Roy Clark concert. Rodney Lay and the Wild West Band and Jimmy Henley were the opening performers.

THE RHYTHM SECTION

WDIA, WWRL TO FOLLOW KDIA LEAD — KDIA in Oakland was the nation's first black formatted MOR station catering to the 25-49 demographics, but according to Bill Figenshu, national program director for Viacom, it will not be the last. "We are going after an audience in the black community that has virtually been untapped," said Figenshu. "KDIA recently made the most radical change, becoming the first black station to carry major league baseball, with changes in music also following suit. WDIA in Memphis and WWRL in New York have been gradually making adjustments in their formats, coming toward Black MOR, where the stations will no longer be all things to all people. The audience we are aiming for wants to hear more than music, so we are in the process of organizing an entire sports and news department for the stations. These are top priority with our company at the moment."

THE RETURN OF LINDA CREED — Linda Creed, long-time writing partner with Thom Bell (who had basically taken a hiatus for about five years), is back on the scene and stronger than ever. Creed is presently in the studio producing the next Eloise Laws album for United Artists. Creed will once again be working with Bell, who will be writing songs with Deneice Williams for her next album, which he will also produce. Also listen for the exciting vocals of WDAS air personality Carl Helm on the Laws albums.

MICHAEL STOKES PACTS DEAL WITH ARISTA — Producer Michael Stokes has a two artist production deal with Arista Records where he will be releasing a group called Magic Lady, which includes his wife Linda, and a group called Federal Reserve.

DAVE CLARK BACK ON THE PRODUCING TRAIL — Veteran record person Dave Clark, who is presently working with Malaco Records, is also producing gospel acts again. Clark previously produced several gospel acts for Peacock Records, which was formerly distributed by MCA. He is now producing The Nightengales for a gospel label to be distributed by Malaco.

BMA ENTERTAINMENT — The upcoming Black Music Association (BMA) convention will include entertainment by Cameo, Etta James and Lou Rawls.

HAVE YOU HEARD EDMUND SYLVERS? — From the popular Sylvers Family, Edmund Sylvers has stepped out on his own with his first solo album, "Have You Heard," being released on Casablanca Records in a few weeks. The single, "That Burning Love," is being released this week. The album was arranged by Benjamin Wright, who most recently arranged the material on Michael Jackson's album.

OPENINGS — WGIV in Charlotte is seeking an air personality. Send tapes and resumes to Chris Turner at P.O. Box 3856, Charlotte, North Carolina 28203. . . Les Norman has joined the WOKB/Orlando staff from WSOK. The station is also seeking an additional air personality for afternoons. Send tapes and resumes to Brett Lewb, 111 S. Division Avenue, Orlando, Florida 32805. No calls please.

COMMODORES' "HEROES" — The Commodores tenth album for Motown Records, "Heroes," is out this week. The single, "Old Fashioned Love," written by keyboard player Milan Williams, is being met with a great deal of excitement. The single and the album are being released simultaneously. Another cut getting a great deal of attention is a gospel song with a contemporary flair written by Lionel Ritchie Jr. called "Jesus Is Love."

ISLEYS GET GOLD TICKET — The Isley Brothers performed to a very excited crowd at Madison Square Garden this past Friday, where the group was the recipient of The Garden's Gold Ticket Award. This award goes to entertainers that have attracted more than 100,000 people to concerts at The Garden. The group was the first in 1980 to receive the award and the 20th recipient overall.

EARTH, WIND AND FIRE DUE — Earth, Wind & Fire has completed its tenth album for Columbia Records. The album is titled "Faces" and is scheduled for release later in the summer.

CHUBBY CHECKER IN THE STUDIO — Veteran recording artist Chubby Checker is in the recording studio in Los Angeles. In the studio with Checker is Dallas television star Charlene Tilton, who will be backing him up in his recording efforts.

McLemore's interest in photography started at a very early age, which garnered him expertise to have had photos published by Vogue, Harpers Bazaar, Ebony and several others.

AMPA Calls For Stiffer Copyright Law In Australia

by Allan Webster

MELBOURNE — The Australian Music Publishers Assn. (AMPA) called on the federal government to impose stiffer penalties for copyright infringement in the wake of a court case whose outcome AMPA legal counsel Bob Lollback termed "ludicrous."

O'Halloran, 28, pleaded guilty to 59 charges of copyright infringement and was fined $200 — the maximum permissible under the Copyright Act. The court was told that O'Halloran, operating as Toad Hall Rare Records, sold unauthorized recordings of concerts and studio performances around the world by mail order. Local record industry sources estimated gross annual revenues of more than one million dollars for the business.

"As it stands, it (the Copyright Act) is detrimental to the local industry — everyone from record companies to writers and publishers," Lollback said. "The government must act quickly to make amendments."

O'Halloran was fined three dollars each on 36 of the charges against him and two dollars each on the other 23 charges, making a total of $200, after he pleaded guilty of not paying royalties to performers or composers.

O'Halloran, who did not appear in court, reportedly decided to plead guilty after realizing that the maximum fine was $200, as opposed to possible court costs of up to $15-20,000.

The AMPA cooperated with the Commonwealth Police in preparing the case against O'Halloran, collecting documents locally and abroad to ensure prosecution. The association also flew seven of its publisher members to Perth.

In a report submitted to Parliament in 1976, the Frankie Commission recommended radical changes in the Copyright Act, including increased penalties and greater powers for the court. The amendments were tabled by the Parliament on June 4, 1978, and still haven't been implemented. No further action is expected until 1981.

RVC Revenues Jump 25.7% During 1979-80

TOKYO — RVC registered a 25.7% increase in total revenues for the fiscal year ended March 20, according to company president Ichiro Okuno. Revenues of 8.1 billion yen ($37 million) easily surpassed the 1978-79 figure of 6.4 billion yen ($29.6 million).

Record revenues totalled 6.1 billion yen ($28 million), while tape revenues reached 2 billion yen ($9 million).

WEA Canada Bows New $6.29 Catalog Midline

by Kirk LaPointe

TORONTO — Retailers and rack jobbers this week expressed favorable response to the introduction of WEA Music of Canada's new mid-price line of recordings featuring discounts of 21-32% from suggested list prices.

As with its American counterpart, WEA reduced the list prices on 131 titles, including works by the Eagles, ABBA, Genesis, Emerson, Lake and Palmer, the Doobie Brothers, Rod Stewart and others, effective May 26.

In doing so, a company statement told retailers and rack jobbers it will absorb much of the cost in preserving dealer margin costs and discount rates. WEA president Ken Middleton called the move a reaction to tough economic times. Although Canada had last year been one market not adversely affected by the troubled economy, he said such an effort was required this year, when much of the residual effects from American economic troubles have materialized north of the border.

Although the U.S. discounting reduced the suggested list price to $5.98 on all but one title (the two-disc set by George Benson, "Livin' Inside Your Love"), the Canadian suggested list price for the 131 albums will be $6.29. Many such recordings had been $8.98 or $9.29 earlier.

Representatives of Sam The Record Man, A&A's, and such rack jobbers as Taylor's and Pindoffs, all praised the company's move as essential to curtailing the current sales slump. No word was forthcoming from other companies as to respective plans for mid-pricing.

WEA's executive vice president Ross Reynolds, said in a recent interview the firm had experienced its finest year in 1979, in spite of the gloomy economy, due largely to proportionately-higher sales of certain so-called new wave artists, like the B-52's, Gary Numan and others.

BUENOS AIRES — Bhaskar Menon, head of the EMI record group, is arriving this week in Buenos Aires for talks with Luis Aguado, managing director of the affiliated company, and other executives of the local branch. Menon has been also in Brazil, meeting Hans Beugger, regional manager, and Rolf Dillman, head of the Brazilian company.

Microfon is working hard on the promotion of the visit of Mexican singer Jose Jose, who came to Buenos Aires for promotional appearances and to shoot scenes for the upcoming movie La Discoteca del Amor, the fourth in a row of co-productions between Microfon and Aries, the leading local movie studios. At the end of June, another important artist is expected by the Kaminsky brothers. Camilo Sesto, one of the leaders in the melodic-pop field, will be here for a week of performances.

Miguel Angel Tellechea of CBS reports that strong action in the local music field will be taken during the rest of the year, according to the policy of the company of reducing the number of releases as a way to offer more exposure to those in whom the label believes most. One of the first efforts is the newly-released recording by Leo Dan and Los Manseros Santiaguenses, which has already Top 50 status in this country and may become a strong seller.

RCA's co-produced film Locos por la musica has resulted in good promotion for several artists, and particularly for teen chanter Mathias, whose single appeared among the Top 20 during several weeks. Mathias and his manager Carlos Ricco are now preparing an album, which will be released in several other Latin American countries after the presentation made at the recent convention held by the group in Buenos Aires.

Sicamericana is strengthening its position in the local rock field through performances by several of the artists of its Sazam label cast. The dates are useful to promote their latest waxings, since air time for rock music is scarce and the customers are concentrated in the 18-34 middle-class bracket. Leon Gieco, Charlie Garcia, Nito Mestre and David Lebon are among the most popular names.

MELBOURNE — The Village People, Valerie Perrine, the Ritchie Family and Hollywood producer Alan Carr arrive in Australia later this month for the world premiere sneak preview of Carr's latest film, Can't Stop The Music. Carr has arranged for an extravagant Hollywood-style launch of the movie, including a big post-preview party. While they're in the country, the Village People will perform concerts in major centers.

The Australian production of Evita opened in Adelaide to rave reviews. Writers Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice, and RSO chief Robert Stigwood (who was born and raised in Adelaide) came to Australia for the premiere.

At the same time, Stigwood has announced a deal with newspaper magnate Rupert Murdoch to invest in the Australian film industry. The pair will sink $10 million a year into Australian films. Announcing the deal, Stigwood and Murdoch said the one thing holding back the local film biz was a lack of risk capital.

Jon English is engrossed in a legal battle with his former manager over publishing royalties. English, whose last album for Polygram, "English History" (a best of compilation), sold 180,000 copies, is contesting a publishing agreement and all funds have been frozen until it's sorted out.

English producer Pete Solley, who worked on the chart-topping "Screaming Targets" album by Jo Jo Zep and the Falcons, has produced a single from Melbourne band Paul Kelly and the Dots, titled "Seeing Is Believing." Kelly is a talented songwriter who contributed one song to the Falcons current album, and has another on the next Falcons album, which Solley recently completed.

And speaking of Jo Jo Zep and the Falcons, the band leaves Australia on June 29 for its first European and U.S. tour. The group is released in America on Irv Azoff and Michael Klefner's Full Moon label, through CBS... Mushroom recording group TMG has just released its new album, titled "Locked In." The album was produced by American Eddie Leonetti.

Another new Mushroom release is the debut album of promising pop band The Aliens. The album, "Translator," was produced by David Tickle, who did the honors on Split Enz' national #1 album "True Colours."

The B-52's arrive soon for an Australian tour on the strength of the success of their debut self-titled album, which after months of alternative radio airplay, has finally broken through on the national charts.

TORONTO — At least four rock shows have been cancelled in the wake of a violent outbreak at the provincial government's recreation-entertainment facility, Ontario Place, after a June 2 concert by locals Teenage Head and Bob Segarini. More than 12,000 jammed the undersized, covered outdoor Forum site for the show, which saw several hundred rush the stage and later grapple with police. At least 30 arrests were made, and Ontario Place reported damage in excess of $25,000. The rioting was the second related incident in two weeks. Earlier, fans returning home from Ontario Place damaged public transit vehicles. The incidents prompted remarks in the provincial Legislature the next day, and cabinet minister Larry Grossman (responsible for Industry and Tourism, under which Ontario Place operates) announced the cancellation of concerts by Jefferson Starship, Devo, FM and Rough Trade, and possibly more, until an investigation can reveal what caused the problem. The facility is a general admission showcase, free of charge with the $2.50 entrance fee to the man-made islands in the Toronto harbor. Undoubtedly, the province will have to look at the access routes to the Forum, the informal security arrangements among its own staff, and perhaps restricting access to the Forum on a reserved seating basis. Whatever the case, the Teenage Head incident was far from representative of the traditionally well-behaved Toronto audience. The band itself was on its best behavior, as well, and did nothing to incite the tumult.

Speaking of crazies, a man was sent to jail for 60 days and put on probation for two years June 2 for breaching a court order that he stop pestering Anne Murray. Robert Charles Kieling, a 43-year-old farm owner from Saskatchewan, has been following the singing star across the country, has shown up at her high school reunion in Nova Scotia, has jumped onstage to hug her, and has shown up at her management offices with airline tickets for two to his hometown. The Provincial Court judge said Kieling was suffering from a "singular delusion," and ordered him to seek psychiatric help in Saskatchewan, where he was ordered to reside during his probationary period. He had appeared in court twice earlier to face a similar charge, and had been fined and put on probation.

WEA Music of Canada Ltd. announced June 5 it has signed The Teddy Boys to an album deal. No word yet on recording plans.

First releases, scheduled for the end of May, include LPs and singles by Chris Rea, Matchbox, Bad Manners and Darts.

A new classical LP series, Replica, has been announced by Armando Sciascia, president of the Editoriale Sciascia group. On this label live recordings of the '50s — in opera and symphonic lines — will be presented, with a selection of the greatest names in the classical market (Giacomo Lauri Volpi, Leyla Gencer, Arturo Benedetti Michelangeli, Herbert von Karajan and many others).

A new record company was born in Milan called Drogueria Di Drugolo. First releases are an album by American musician Gary Mielke ("Man Of The Sound"), and a single by singer/songwriter Giancarlo Colonnello ("A fil di logica"). Another single by Mexican showgirl Martina is expected in June. D.D.D. has signed a distribution agreement with RCA.

Vittorio Somalvico, head of the Edizioni G. Ricordi & C. Musica Leggera, announced the signing of many agreements with foreign music publishers for licensing their catalogs in Italy. Among them are Eaton Music, Status Quo, Sparta Florida, Bob Crewe, Emanuel Music, Prince, Journey and many others.

Zoom Records star act Simple Minds, which achieves constant acclaim in U.K. and Europe, is currently writing and rehearsing new material for its forthcoming LP, to be recorded once more with John Leckie in July.

Beggars Banquet recently signed Wire singer/guitarist Colin Newman for three solo album projects, the first being titled "A-Z," scheduled for October release. . . While Logo Records have signed heavy metal band Vardis to worldwide longterm recording deal. . . Video LP Set To Debut Commercial Aussie Videocassette

by Allan Webster

MELBOURNE — Mushroom Records recording group Split Enz will be featured on Australia's first commercially available rock videocassette. Video LP, a new company formed in conjunction with Mushroom, will release the product in early-June.

The Split Enz videocassette will feature 12 songs, including "I Got You" (the #1 single in Australia) and the rest of the cuts from the "True Colors" LP, currently topping the national LP charts (see separate story, International section).

Video LP, which hopes to fill the demand for modern music videocassettes, also plans to expand into videodiscs, as well as increase its rock music cassette catalog.

To date, 50,000 videocassette players have been sold in Australia, with manufacturers still promoting sales of their machines in the domestic market. Many major movies are available, but music alternatives have been slim.

"Video is an obvious area that is as yet untapped," said Michael Gudinski, chief of Mushroom Records. "Split Enz is the obvious choice to launch this medium, as the group has always been one of the most visually exciting in the world."

Split Enz Top Singles, LP Charts In Australia

MELBOURNE — Mushroom Recording artists Split Enz have become the first Australian group in four years to top the national singles and album charts simultaneously. The group's single, "I Got You," and the album, "True Colors," coincided at the top spot on the respected Kent Report chart. The last time this happened was in 1976, when Sherbet had the single, "Howzat," and the album of the same name to score the double.

WEA, Heath-Levy, RKM To Form Edge Label In U.K.

LONDON — WEA Records recently announced the formation of the Edge label, a new company founded by Heath-Levy in collaboration with Roland Kluger's RKM Records of Belgium. The new deal is for the U.K. market only, with Edge utilizing all WEA's marketing, promotion, sales and distribution resources.

First single on the new label will be "Breaking Up With Crying Girls," by the Belgium band Rick Tubbs and The Taxis, scheduled for release on June 20. A second single will follow by South London band The Producers, titled "On The Shelf." The new deal will also allow for future album product, though nothing is scheduled at present.

MIDEM Deal

The Edge agreement was formulated earlier this year at MIDEM and is seen by all parties as "a long-term relationship, creatively pooling resources in the search for new future talent."

RKM has been successful in the past with such artists as Plastique Bertrand and Telex, both now licensed to Sire Records in the U.K. Robin Godfrey-Cass of Heath-Levy will handle co-ordination and liaison between the three companies.

LRB's Wheatley Forms New Label In America

MELBOURNE — Little River Band (LRB) manager Glenn Wheatley has launched WBE Records, a new independent. The label will be distributed here by EMI, which also handles LRB locally.

The first release on the label will be by Mark Gillespie, a Melbourne-based singer/songwriter. Other acts signed to the label include singers Johnny Farnham and Broderick Smith. Smith, former lead singer of The Dingoes, and Farnham are managed by the Wheatley Brothers Entertainment company.

Wheatley said the label will be artist-oriented, with a small roster to facilitate personal contact within the organization.

WBE is Wheatley's second bid to establish an independent label. Several years ago, he formed Oz Records, which was later sold to EMI and eventually folded.

Browning, Murphy Join To Form DeLuxe Label

MELBOURNE — Michael Browning, former manager of AC/DC, and booking agency boss Chris Murphy have joined forces to launch a new record label, DeLuxe Records, to be distributed by RCA. DeLuxe has four bands on its roster — In-X-S, New Zealand band Toy Love, The Dugites (from Perth) and The Numbers.

Records Tumble At OMAA's 1980 Expo And Convention

by William A. Pillar

COLUMBUS — Weeks before the Ohio Music and Amusement Assn. (OMAA) staged its annual Exposition of Music and Games, chairman Tommy Thompson (Tora Music-Columbus) informed the media, the membership and others of the electronic games industry that OMAA's statewide convention was going to be the biggest and best in the nation.

Since past conventions held by the Ohio group have been held up to praise as "the best and biggest" trade show of its kind, it was no idle boast and Thompson's prediction proved true.

When May 16-17 arrived, the fun began and it was a slam-bang meeting, the Columbus Hilton Inn literally bulging with operators, manufacturers and distributors representatives and particularly the men and women behind the television and press cameras and reporters poised with their pencils.

Before it was over, it turned out to be the biggest and the best show OMAA has held in its six years, with record-breaking numbers of exhibitors (42 booths), operators (81), technicians, manufacturers representatives, suppliers and guests (226) coming to join in the fun and seriousness as well, with their notebooks out to see why OMAA's annual soiree has been so successful.

International Event

By a little stretch of the imagination, this annual Exposition could be termed an international affair.

There were operators attending the convention representing at least five states plus two surprise visitors from Japan, namely Shigeo Sudo, president of Denyo Co., Ltd., located in Tokyo and Masayoshi Akutsu of Sunritsu Electric Co., Ltd., manufacturers of electronic games in Japan.

Sudo and Akutsu were in San Francisco earlier the week of the convention when they read about the Ohio meeting in a trade publication. Since they had business in Chicago, they continued on to Columbus and arrived for Friday's opening.

As is traditional with the Japanese, they kept modestly in the background and few conventioners even knew they were there.

"It has been a great, great show, the finest I've ever attended and I'm impressed by the work of the Ohio group," said Robert F. Nims (of New Orleans), who is president of the Amusement and Music Operators Assn. (AMOA).

Frederick M. Granger, AMOA executive vice president for the past 17 years, who shared the speaker's dais with Nims at the President's Luncheon May 17 (Saturday), was equally impressed. Granger singled out Paul A. Corey, convention coordinator, with this accolade: "I'm impressed by your executive vice president, Paul Corey, who has accomplished, many things, namely getting this convention the great attention it deserves. Your convention booklet is also a standout that tells us what you've planned for us. I'm also intrigued by any organization that has a 'Guardian Angel' committee, — I've never heard of any one else having such a unique group."

What is the "Guardian Angel" committee? Corey explained that it's a "catch all" for whatever questions/problems members might want to bring before a select number of Ohio's foremost experienced operators. "When you want to get our attention, bring it to the 'Guardians'," Corey said. The initial appointees to this committee are: Roy George (Roy George Music-Painesville), Harold Hayes (Gem Music-Dayton), Clarence B. Neargarder (Celina Music-Celina), and August Van Brackel (A. Van Brackel & Sons-Defiance). Others will be added from time to time at future events.

Education Stressed

Prime attention was focused on the educational aspects of this two-day affair — seminars to inform the operators how to increase their business, explanation of OMAA's new two-day "mini-service" schools and expansion of the education committee co-chaired by Larry Van Brackel and Clarence Neargarder, two of the OMAA directors who have long been associated with OMAA's successes.

When OMAA president James Hayes (Gem Music-Dayton) took the dais as newly elected president, he announced the education committee was being expanded as that would place priorities on education in the years ahead.

Hayes was elected president for the first time although he had been "standing in" for the past month for Dennis R. Hilligan (Pioneer Service-Cincinnati) who was president for the past two years, only to have to resign because of pressing family and business concerns.

Before the convention began, it was evident that important decisions were to be made when Hayes and Corey presided over an informal meeting of operators

Stern Gives 15 Pins In Hire's Sweepstakes

CHICAGO — Stern Electronics, Inc. gave away 15 new "Big Game" widebody pinball machines as part of the grand prize package in Hire's Root Beer "Catch A Draft" Sweepstakes. Sponsored by Crush International, Inc., the nation's seventh largest soft drink manufacturer, the sweepstakes campaign began April 1 and continued through June 1.

In support of the campaign, full page sweepstakes advertisements appeared throughout the months of May and June in national magazines such as Us, Seventeen, People, Sport, Teen, Boys' Life and Self.

The 15 sweepstakes winners will each be awarded a machine by Stern distributors in their areas. Among the thousands of other sweepstakes prizes are stereo equipment, 10-speed bicycles, running shoes, fishing equipment, sunglasses and T-shirts.

representing state associations from Texas, Michigan, Minnesota, West Virginia, Tennessee, New Jersey and New York. (Last minute emergencies detained North Carolina, Oregon and Wisconsin from attending). They met at the convention site May 15 (Thursday).

All were in agreement that state associations, for one thing, should share newsletters. "It's the best way to get information to others on what you are doing," Hayes said. Briefly, other recommendations were: state associations should form regional associations and meet periodically; exchange information on fund raising events; exchange legislative information; develop a national tournament mechanism to benefit a national charitable health foundation (e.g., Heart Assn., Cancer Fund); encourage members to participate in AMOA's Legal Action Fund; and that AMOA should act as a clearinghouse to disperse important information from various state associations.

In a nutshell, much of the talk concerned better ways of communicating.

OMAA also sponsored its Annual Pre-Expo golf tourney on Thursday (May 15) at the long, water-crossed Thorn Apple Country Club course.

When the convention officially began the following day (Friday), May 16, it was evident that OMAA operators, their guests and others were to be well informed, regally wined and dined, and generally treated like visiting royalty.

Stern Bows New 'Cheetah' Pinball

CHICAGO — Stern Electronics, Inc. has introduced its second entry in the wide-body pinball field, a model called "Cheetah." The new solid state 4-player is scheduled for international distribution in mid-June.

Cheetah is enhanced by dramatic design and artwork depicting jungle environs and inhabitants in bold, colorful illustrations. Additionally, the game has Stern's noted seven-digit display which allows scoring into the millions.

Among other play features are four drop target banks equaling 14 total drop targets; options for both resettable drop targets as well as the remote spotting of drop targets.

Three flippers, kickers, spinning targets and bumpers add to the play excitement and Cheetah's innovative scoring features allow for three ways to collect an extra ball and two ways to score the "special" play.

The new model will be available through Stern's distributor network. Further information may be obtained by contacting the factory at 1725 W. Diversey, Chicago, Ill. 60614.

SAD NEWS. George A. Miller, one of the founders of AMOA and the association's first president, died recently in Sacramento at the age of 83. Noted also for establishing the California state organization, Miller headed the national association from its inception as Music Operators of America in 1951, to 1963 and also served as managing director until a staff was hired. He is widely known for his efforts in opposing copyright legislation, dating back to the late '40s through the early '60s. By unanimous vote he was made President Emeritus of MOA in 1964.

SCHOOL IN SESSION: Midway's service manager Andy Ducay has scheduled a lineup of factory service schools as follows: June 12-13 (United Dist.-Wichita); June 16-17 (Don's Vending-Edmonton, Canada); July 9-10 (Royal Dist.-Cinn.); July 17-18 (Northwest Sales-Anchorage, Alaska); July 24-25 (Mountain Coin-Denver); and Aug. 28-29 (tentative, Northwest Sales-Seattle). Arrangements for attendance may be made direct with the respective distributors. During the week of Aug. 11 Andy will be participating in the Bally/Midway service seminar being held at Howard Johnson's in suburban Schiller Park.

PRELIMINARIES ARE PROCEEDING on schedule for the proposed opening of an IAAPA (Int'l. Assn. of Amusement Parks & Attractions) office in Washington, D.C., as announced by association president Truman B. Woodworth. IAAPA's Government Relations Committee is currently interviewing candidates for the position of Director of Government Relations, and as soon as a final decision is made, the association will begin "setting up shop" in the nation's capital. IAAPA maintains its headquarters office at 7222 W. Cermak Road in North Riverside, Ill.

EASTERN FLASHES

Betson Enterprises of Moonachie, N.J. recorded an attendance of more than 100 ops and service people at its recently held Bally service school. The classes ran for two days, at the Chateau Renaissance in No. Bergen and were open to students from the tri-state area of New Jersey-New York-Connecticut. Bally's Arnie Aarstadt conducted the school with an assist from Betson's service manager Vincent Severino. Response was so great several people had to be turned away to avoid overcrowding the classes, so Betson is planning another Bally school in the near future. Distrib also sponsored a Rock-Ola school, at the same location, on May 6. Presentation dealt with the solid state phono system and about 83 attended the daylong class. Betson technician Larry Bunn along with Vince Severino assisted the Rock-Ola instructor. . . Joe Migueles recently joined the Betson organization in the position of export manager.

PAT BILOTTA of Bilotta Dist. in Newark is enjoying the rewards of a seasonal upswing in business and the additional boost created by the video games explosion. Sales of Wurlitzer phonos are holding steady, he told us, and Dynamo pool tables are among his consistent sellers. Pat said a good percentage of these tables are utilizing 35 cent play pricing.

NICE CHATTING WITH Claudia Redwine at Royal Dist.-Cinn. Top sellers out there include Midway's "Galaxian" and the Bally "Space Invaders" pin. The newly arrived "Extra Bases" by Midway is looking good and Claudia said the Gottlieb "Circus" pin is on test and should be a big seller. In discussing 50 cent play pricing on pinballs, she noted that it seems to be going over in transient locations such as hotels, camp grounds, resort areas as well as large game rooms and some bowling alleys. The transition is more difficult, however, in street locations — 50 cents is not as yet being widely accepted in neighborhood bars and taverns. It's a little too soon to tell, though, she added.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

"With summer fast approaching we're in a unique position, said Ira Bettelman of C.A. Robinson. "Demand for top notch video games is at a peak that has never been reached before. And, uniquely enough, the demand is being met by the product. There are six top games on the market at once. Operators are purchasing Exidy's "Targ," Midway's "Galaxian," Cinematronics' "Rip Off," Taito's "Lunar Rescue," Atari's "Asteroids," and Gremlin's "Astrofighter." That's a very healthy sign in the industry because all of those games are from different manufacturers." Bettelman also said that he was looking forward to seeing a new video and a new pinball at Gameplan's showing, which took place June 6-8 in Las Vegas and Gremlin's upcoming distributors meeting at the end of June. In addition, C.A. Robinson was anticipating delivery of Bally's new "Rolling Stones" and Allied's new cocktail table.

CASH BOX SENDS ITS BEST WISHES to Cinematronics vice president Tom A. Stroud and customer service manager Debbie Spear, who are set to be married June 12 in Lake Tahoe. While the couple will postpone their honeymoon until later, they have the comfort of knowing they can return to El Cajon, where "Rip Off" is enjoying great sales and a smooth production run.

ICMOA POOL TOURNAMENT — The Championship finals in the fifth annual 8-ball Pool Tournament, under the sponsorship of the Illinois Coin Machine Operators Association, were recently held at the Hilton Hotel in Peoria, Ill. Representatives from 116 locations competed for a total prize purse worth more than $5,600. Ward P. Brown coordinated the tournament, and members of the Men's Division (competing for the $1,000 first prize

That would start with Ohio's most "regal" consumer authority, Ohio Attorney General William J. Brown, whom many Ohioans consider "the people's attorney" for his efforts to protect consumers and the businesses which serve them.

Keynote Address

"Billy Joe", the name he answers to of those who know him closely, startled the convention luncheon attendees by delivering a message on energy — not consumer regulations as they may apply to the electronic games industry.

"It's an important subject to me and it should be for you as it will continue to be in the years ahead," he said. "As industry goes in Ohio, so goes your business." Brown then elaborated on why Ohio and other states must loosen federal controls to enable Ohio to burn its own coal.

Brown explained he talked about energy because of its importance but also alluded to his assistants knowing more about regulations on matters related to the electronic games industry. Before he departed, Brown stepped onto the exhibit floor next door to play some of the games. "This is exciting and it's a lot more fun than working," he said as he whirled from one machine to another. "Besides, I was a pinball wizard during my college days."

At 3 p.m., Friday, the exhibits officially opened. It was the setting for another run of "Star Wars" . . . The explosions echoed as players shot down enemy ships in the various video games on exhibit. Even some of the pinball machines had space themes.

Apart from the excitement and bedlam on the convention display floor, and jukeboxes blaring the latest rock 'n' roll tunes, convention delegates closed out the first day's meeting at an overflow banquet where officers were installed. Entertainment was provided by Opus Zero, a talented musical troupe from Otterbein College. The group presented a medley of tunes from Broadway hits. In addition, they performed during the pre-dinner cocktail hour.

Seminars

Importantly to Ohio operators, there were two seminars held the following morning (Saturday) May 17, dealing with OMAA's two-day "miniservice" schools. Heading separate sections were Greg Sabin (Elum Music) and John Silverneil (Hilltop Vending & Distg.).

The new schools were structured, they said, as a practical means to make it easier for operators to send their employees to the two-day courses for servicing machines as opposed to OMAA's previously sponsored ten-day schools. (Five of these were held last year). Now OMAA, in addition to sponsoring another ten-day school, is prepared to initiate many of the mini-schools in the last half of 1980. They will deal in fundamentals of electronics, pinball troubleshooting, digital electronics and phonograph installation and maintenance.

tioners how he increased profits of a vending route company he purchased in 1979, which had grossed $410,000 in 1974 under what he called "dynamic leadership" but then had declined.

His belt-tightening decisions lopped off six employees, eliminated gasoline consuming 60-mile "milk runs" and put authority in the hands of three persons answerable to him. In the first year, under his direction, the company grossed $550,000, a 24% increase in net profits.

Estridge said he did it by cutting expenses that included cutting vehicle repair and maintenance costs, service calls, pensions, insurance and taxes while increasing pay to those remaining and increasing their responsibilities as well.

Don R. Krauss, SOHIO's sales technical division field engineer, discussed vehicle maintenance. He admitted that what he was about to relate might be "old hat" to members but preventive maintenance is important. "You can't afford it when breakdowns occur," he said. He advised delegates at this seminar to use multi-grade oils and to change oil before it becomes contaminated. Plan also for regular maintenance; and buying additives for engine performance was a waste of money.

KIMCO's Roy Cederlund held the rapt attention of an over-flow room of technicians for over two hours while he discoursed on the topic "High Reliability Component Removal and Board Repair (PCIO & PC20A)".

AMOA Presentation

AMOA executives, Nims and Granger, told anxious delegates about "AMOA's Blueprint for the Future" as it was billed in the OMAA program booklet. "The only thing I can tell you about that is it lies ahead," Granger said, adding that AMOA would continue to fight copyright laws, build its membership, develop an "international" exposition and increase its emphasis on education.

"Attitudes have changed. We will do all we can to help you build your businesses," he said. Granger noted that he could foresee AMOA's membership of 1,500 doubling in the next ten years. He hoped it would be possible to open a contract office in Europe and a district office other than in Chicago, AMOA headquarters.

Nims outlined major problem areas AMOA is facing, headed by court expenses that he said would reach $250,000. Nims said contributions to AMOA have reached $110,000. "We've spent that. We're still $140,000 short," he said. The money is needed to continue fighting court action to extend the $8 royalty fee on jukeboxes.

While the President's Luncheon ended the convention's formal program, conventioners remained on the exhibition floor until it officially closed. It seemed that no one wanted the weekend to end. In fact, many were observed writing down the dates for the 1981 Expo — May 8-9, 1981.

We don't have to wait until the industry tells us it's Black Music Month to highlight our black product and to develop sales programs."

Calvin Simpson, president of the Detroit-based Simpson Wholesalers, Inc./Bad Records, commented that programs developed in conjunction with Black Music Month should be "educational as well as entertainment oriented," and that the month "should be more than just a selling tool."

Simpson, who is also vice president of the BMA's marketing and merchandising division, said that community events highlighting Black Music Month were as important as any sales programs developed by the manufacturers or retailers.

But for some retailers, Black Music Month was called a "waste" because of the dearth of full programs being offered retailers.

"I don't understand why there is a Black Music Month because the labels are not supporting the small retailer who specializes in black product," said Sylvia Williams, owner of the Washington D.C.-based Sylvia's Records. "They look at us as small stores because we don't spend $20-30,000 a month, but we are selling lots of black product."

"If the small black retailer is not included in the label's programs, then what's the value?" Williams asked.

Simpson, however, said that it was the role of the one-stop, which normally distributes product to smaller retailers, to work with various labels to develop promotion and advertising programs that viably meet the demands of the particular market.

"One-stops must become more aggressive in setting up campaigns with manufacturers that the smaller retailers one-stops serve can take advantage of," he said.

Armed with in-store display and other merchandising support provided by various labels, Joe Pagano, director of marketing projects for Lieberman's, the Minneapolis-based one-stop, said that the outlet has designed a Black Music Month marker that can be attached to record bin dividers, which would be offered to the one-stop's 400 black oriented retail accounts.

Pagano also said that three LPs — one each from Natalie Cole, Peabo Bryson and Stephanie Mills — will be offered at two to three dollars off list price. But he added that during the month of June, retailers would be given enough flexibility to select items they believe would do best in their own market.

Pagano said that Capitol, RCA, Atlantic and Polygram have been cooperative in providing display material, although none of the material specifically highlighted Black Music Month.

While many of those contacted explained plans to tie Black Music Month into their normal print and radio advertisement, Webb's Department Store, according to Webb, plans to run ads in local newspapers and on radio which feature product offered in connection with Black Music Month. He said the titles would highlight the history of black music.

Webb also said he would additionally highlight product offered by Capitol and RCA, which has developed a Black Music Month display campaign (Cash Box, June 7).

Among other more creative promotions planned by retailers is a special video skating party, which will be sponsored by Hudson's Records, a six-store chain based in St. Louis. Keith Hudson, vice president and general manager of the company, said that video cassettes from WEA, CBS and possibly RCA and Polygram would be used at the party.

Hudson also explained that while he hoped that the promotion, which he said would be tied to Black Music Month through print and radio advertisement, would enhance sale of product, "it's a good way for the consumer community to preview the artists anyway."

He additionally reported that CBS Records has provided the chain with fliers that call attention to Black Music Month, which would be given to the consumer with each purchase.

Another creative promotion was developed by Atlanta's Music Scene, which plans to tie Black Music Month to a new store opening. Gerald Richardson, owner of R&R Records, Inc., which operates Atlanta Music Scene I, said that Atlanta's Music Scene II would be located in the foyer of a popular local nightclub. In conjunction with the store opening and celebration of Black Music Month, Hudson said that the stores will offer free product with purchases of three or more titles from a selection of cut-outs consisting of older black product catalog, which was chosen to reflect on the historical value of Black Music Month.

Historical Significance

Richardson said that rather than offer a series of promotion copies of current product, "we can offer music that highlights the significance of Black Music Month."

He said that another special promotion planned is for June 21 is an in-store, on-air radio promotion, in which Atlanta's Music Scene will play old jazz and R&B titles.
