DreamWorks For MCA in 10-Year Alliance

DREAMWORKS SKG, THE MULTI-PRONGED entertainment company opened by three of Hollywood's most powerful movers, last week announced a groundbreaking 10-year strategic alliance with MCA, Inc., the company now in control of Seagram Company Ltd. The agreement, which became effective June 13, grants MCA key distribution rights to live action and animated DreamWorks motion pictures, worldwide home video and music distribution rights; and the right to utilize in MCA's theme parks characters and concepts created by DreamWorks.

In its first major move since coming under ownership by Seagram and the Bronfman family, MCA has effectively solidified a relationship with the influential troika of Jeffrey Katzenberg, Steven Spielberg and David Geffen

In a unique wrinkle in the alliance, Geffen will be reunited with his Geffen Records as DreamWork's music arm will be in a 50-50 co-venture. DreamWorks will bow the labels Dreamworks and SKG. George Michael is the first act signed under the deal. His product will be released in North America by DreamWorks and in other territories by Virgin. Both companies bought Michael out of his strained contractual relationship with Sony Music Entertainment. Uni Distribution will distribute all DreamWorks music titles domestically while MCA Music Entertainment International will handle overseas distribution.

Other artists for the new labels have not been set. The joint venture rather than straight distribution deal calls for DreamWorks and Geffen to split costs and profits. Geffen will handle daily operations until the DreamWorks label hires staff and gears up the promotion and marketing machinery.

On the film side, existing film projects being developed Spielberg's, Amblin Films, excluding sequels and remakes, become 50-50 joint ventures between DreamWorks and MCA/Universal. The two companies have entered into a foreign theatrical distribution pact, while DreamWorks will form its own domestic theatrical distribution and marketing divisions.

One report said that Seagram will buy two percent of DreamWorks for about $50 million.

Morris Heads WMG Worldwide

DOUG MORRIS IS A MOVER. With his third promotion in less than a year; from Atlantic Records co-chair to president/CEO of Warner Music U.S. to chairman/CEO and now has been named president/CEO of Warner Music Group Worldwide where he will report to chairman Michael Fuchs.

Reporting to Morris in his new position will be music publishing arm Warner Chappell, Warner Music International and Warner's portion of the Columbia House Record Club, an arm Morris has been critical of in the past.

Pearl & Ticketmaster Get Set To Jam

CAN'T WE ALL GET ALONG?: Seems to be what supergroup Pearl Jam wants to do. After a year and a half feud and anti-trust charges over the price of concert tickets, Pearl Jam seems to want to get back to making money, touring and playing for the fans again. Apparently they've discovered reality offstage in dealing with setting up concerts gets pretty real.

Executives of Ticketmaster, Inc., with whom the group had been legally fueding, claim to have always been available to work with the group in settling the differences. In the meantime the Justice Department suit, in federal hands, continues on no matter what happens between the band and the company.

Sort of like baseball, the usual losers are the fans. They've been without Pearl Jam concerts for a year and a half, and will anything change in the future from the past?

Elektra/EEG recording artists Better Than Ezra recently performed three nights in New York City at Brownies, CBGB's and the Mercury Lounge in support of their debut album Deluxe. "Good," the first single, has been radio active since its release. Pictured after one of the shows are (l-r): Michael Black, co-sales manager, ADA; Keith Woods, CFO, ADA; Jeffrey Levinson, manager; Tom Drummound of the group; Craig Lambert, exec. vp EEG; Alan Voss, sr. vp of sales, EEG; Paul Uterano, marketing coordinator, EEG; Cary Bonnezaze of the group; Steve Heldt, vp of sales, EEG; and (kneeling Kevin Griffin of the group.

INTO THE AM: Country rock just keeps on its locomotive-like progression of popularity as was seen by a trio of bands, each with their own take on the genre, last Friday night at Tramps. Chunk Records' Scud Mountain Boys sitting round their table with a lamp on it, which has become the group's signature, transported the crowd to a front room somewhere in Appalachia. With their quiet melodic songs they showed true craftsmanship on a number of instruments.

Coming from Mississippi, Blue Mountain was a quite different change of pace. The three-piece smashed out a quasi-Southern boogie that just appeared to be building up a head of steam when they stopped.

Wilco, on the other hand, had plenty of time to take it all the way home. Out supporting their debut album AM on Sire/Reprise, they played well into the morning. Drawing on material from the current LP as well as the back-catalog of Uncle Tupelo, which most of the members used to be in, Wilco slowly built up the pace. Not until halfway through their over 90-minute set did they really start to cook with their down-home hooks. It all appeared to be part of a grand scheme as they drew the onlookers in, before the audience knew it the group was going too fast to get off.

EMPIRE LIGHTING: Pink Floyd lit up the Empire State Building and the Tri-State area with a celebration of their live double-length live album *P*U*L*S*E*, out on Columbia. At 9 p.m. on June 5th the structure began to pulse with the glow of 400,000 watts of shimmering red lights. Half an hour later 20 watt laser canons shot beams over 3,000 feet into the sky, twice the height of the building itself, and requiring the approval of the FAA. While the spectacle was happening in the night air, WNEW 102.7 was simulcasting the live recording of The Dark Side Of The Moon, the third best-selling album ever, synchronized to light show.

DEAD C played their first show in New York to a packed house at the Mercury Lounge on Wednesday. With their fellow labelmates Hairy Pussy, both on the ultra-hip Silthreeze, the two noise merchants overpowered the listeners. Hairy Pussy, out of Miami, played for them what was an extended set of twenty minutes. The trio came on full force and slashed and burned with their oddly strung guitars and dervish-like drums. The Dead C are New Zealanders who are finally doing a tour of these shores. They created chunks of aural landscape that one could almost touch, and which the ears definitely felt. Their latest album should be out now.

FEEDING FRENZY: The sharks were seen circling the quartet out of the Washington, D.C. area, Tuscadero. While they were on and off stage Thursday at Brownies, a number of suits appeared to be very interested in the female fronted group, now currently on Teen Beat. This band with the buzz had at least enough blood to attract a great black limo to their gig. Who will bite first?

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROCK FANS must believe their efforts to see Pearl Jam in concert are snakebitten. The superstar Seattle band, who have not played in the Southern California area for some time, due to their much publicized dispute with Ticketmaster (see story on page 3), had shows scheduled for June 26 and 27 at the Del Mar Fairgrounds in San Diego.

However, due to concerns about safety at the general admission shows by the local sheriff's department the sold-out dates have been canceled. The band, and their representatives, first learned about the efforts of the sheriff's department in an article in the San Diego Union Tribune that ran June 9. According to the article, the sheriff's department asked officials of the Del Mar Fairgrounds to cancel the shows, which sold-out in a matter of moments. Pearl Jam's manager, Kelly Curtis had this to say of the article and the controversy about the authorities approaching the press first, "In my opinion, this was an unprofessional and unproductive approach, and it has left us with no alternative but to cancel the shows." Curtis added, "As with all of our shows, the safety of our fans is very important to us. We had taken all of the necessary steps to ensure a safe event."

Lead vocalist Eddie Vedder, who is a native of San Diego, had more to say on the subject. Vedder said, "We did our job, set up the show, sold tickets. It's a long process. We're obviously ready to play. Not to make enemies, but it seems the officials in San Diego have overreacted, creating an impossible situation. It's a shame, really. Have a little more faith, assholes."

Despite the efforts of the staid San Diego authorities the show will go on, just at a different venue. The band's shows have been rescheduled for the San Diego Sports Arena, with Bad Religion and Mudhoney opening both dates. All fans who ordered tickets for the Del Mar Fairgrounds shows will be receiving their tickets in the mail over the next two weeks.

HOLLYWOOD BOWL SEASON is upon us once more and on Friday night, June 9 the spacious open-air theater was filled to the brim with Tom Petty fans. While starting off mostly with songs from his current Warner Bros. album, Wildflowers, Petty came through for his older fans with classics like "Refugee," a couple of selections from his stint with the Traveling Wilburys and even a Little Richard cover, "Lueille," for good measure. Petty, ever the consummate showman, but always without a hint of flash, served a balanced meal for the audience, incorporating material from every phase of his nearly two-decade long career. A career that includes as impressive a catalog of hits as almost anyone currently in music, making it understandable why Petty already received the MTV Video Vanguard for lifetime achievement, though the accolades heaped upon Wildflowers make it clear Petty's run at the top of rock is still running strong.

It's easy to see why people of all ages were in attendance for the two-hour show—Petty's love of music is as genuine as his personality. He gives the impression he'd be just as happy in the stands with the rest of us, taking in a show under the stars and sucking in second-hand smoke from the guy with a doobie next to us. Petty, who is touring this time with his long-time band The Heartbreakers, has long been the everyman's rock star. Keep on trucking, Tom. Consummate world beat bluesman Taj Mahal opened the show with a solo set that covered the scope of his equally expansive career. (By Karen Allen)

Is Jim here? Probably not. The last place anyone would expect to see former Door, Jim Morrison (see last week's issue), was at the 8th Annual Nickelodeon Kids Choice Awards, the only awards show for kids. But one could find Whitney Houston there. The soul diva hosted the awards show, which was broadcast May 20 from the Santa Monica Air Center. Seen here (l-r): Albie Hecht, Executive Producer Kids' Choice Awards; Nickelodeon President Geraldine Laybourne; Houston and Tom Freston, Chairman and CEO MTV Networks.

Campaign for Batman Forever Soundtrack Goes On Forever

Steve Baltin

BATMAN FOREVER IS NOT JUST A MOVIE—it's an event. As such, it needs to have a soundtrack with the cachet to carry the Batman Forever title. The Atlantic Records album features Seal, Brandy, PJ Harvey, Mazzy Star, Method Man and Nick Cave among others. Though the world's first contact with the CD came from a brand-spanking new U2 song, the Irish supergroup's first in three years. Not surprisingly, the single, released as a joint venture between Atlantic and Island, the band's label, came out of the box as top five most added at pop, rock, college and Triple A. The Kevin Godley and Maurice Linnane co-directed animated video, which looks like a moving comic book, is already in heavy rotation on MTV.

A brigade of people involved in the "Low-Power Radio" with the Batmobile.

With the promotional onslaught behind the CD, the record debuted in the national top 20. A prime example of the blitz came in L.A. on the day of the album's release. The venerable Tower Records on Sunset declared June 6 "Batman Day" and held an eight-hour party with contest give-aways, appearances from KROQ's morning team of Kevin & Bean and the Batmobile. However the crux of the day was the "low-power radio," a new concept recently introduced by Atlantic at selected dates of the Page/Plant tour. Fans driving by the vicinity of Tower were able to tune in "Batman radio" on their AM dial. They were treated to snippets of the soundtrack, as well as the goings-on at Tower. What did the publicity stunt mean in terms of sales? According to Michael Krumper, vp of product development for Atlantic, the record didn't sell that many more units than at other outlets, but "it generated exposure on every local news broadcast." Hundreds of fans showed up throughout the day, making for lots of talk about the soundtrack.

Another place that's generating lots of conversation about the album is the Batman Forever website on the Internet (<http://batmanforever.co/>). According to Krumper, the site "had more hits than the Time Magazine site (traditionally one of the Web's most popular sites)." Another advantage to the site is that it's bringing many previously unindoctrinated fans into the world of Atlantic Records, as Krumper was quick to point out.

With an album like Batman Forever, and the wealth of artists and genres represented, Platinum status is basically guaranteed. But with an album like Batman Forever, Platinum status means very little. Thus, the label has to be able to reach fans who might not have previously been that into music. For example, comic book fans. Atlantic/Island have teamed up with DC Comics for a special limited-edition CD-single package. Separate from the single available at music retail outlets, this single package is available exclusively at Wal-Mart retail outlets nationwide and includes the single in a special cardboard baby jacket. Both the CD and sleeve feature DC Comics graphics unique to the Batman Forever set. The DC Comics Batman Forever movie adaption—Prestige Format—two SkyBox SkyCaps. One Fleer entertainment Batman Forever metal trading card. The package is designed to make sure fans of the movie, the millions, know the soundtrack is out there. With the array of places the soundtrack can be found it's not likely to go unnoticed.

Film Review

Warner's Batman Set To Fly High

By John Goff

IT'S A BATMAN MOVIE!

But is it good? Bad? What?

It's a Batman movie!

Will I like it?

Did you like the others?

Yeah, but this Batman has nicer lips.

Then you'll Really like this one. (Based on an actual conversation.)

Bottom line is—It's a Batman movie: Perhaps a bit more light-side humor, more romance, bordering on a sensual nature (well, this Batman does have nicer lips), and a youth-oriented partner. But all the rest is there: the stylistic Gotham, rubber suits (which come in for their own moments of recognitional humor), Batcave, Batmobile, Batplane, Batboat, Batwires and gadgets, lots of hand-to-hand combat action and fast, Fast, FAST editing accompanied by rumbling DIGITAL SOUND! that registers on the Richter Scale and in the bowels of your bone marrow. And those fans who have loved the former two Batman movies to the tune of over $700 million will love Batman Forever. Maybe even pick up some new fans who will identify with the youthful Rockin' Robin who possesses a partyin' streak, killer grin and crunchin' moves. It's a Batman movie.

Oh yeah, there're also the requisite over-the-TOP villains, vaulted by two actors more than capable of taking it outside what's left of the ozone layer without aid of trampolines: Tommy Lee Jones as Two-Face and Jim Carrey as The Riddler. Like "It's a Batman movie," need anymore be said about the quality of the villains?

The screenplay by Lee Batchler & Janet Scott Batchler and Akiva Goldsman from a story by the Batchlers with the entire scoop extracted from the characters created by Bob Kane, doesn't take itself seriously at all though it pretends to at selected moments. It has fun and skates on the darker pond of psychological elements—Why is Batman having flashbacks and drawing a parallel between Batman and Robin's pasts—but it also zeroes in a bit more on Gotham's location (it's near Metropolis—Holy Batwings, wouldn't that be a merger?!) and pays verbal homage to the old series while allowing Barbara Ling's production design and Stephen Goldblatt's photography to carry the darker stylistic elements which have helped make this franchise so popular. The Batmobile, Batplane and Batboat are all destroyed so we can look forward to new machines next time out while the new Bat-suit was unveiled here.

Joel Schumacher doesn't attempt to outdo his directorial predecessor Tim Burton but keeps everything in the successful groove with an eye to the boxoffice.

Val Kilmer does possess a sleeker, more appealing, leading man image for the Bruce Wayne host-body than did Michael Keaton and seems very comfortable in the role. Chris O'Donnell fits into the mold with ease. Now, if he can just keep that boyish charm for a couple more features. Nicole Kidman looks good as the psychologist in love with Batman but falls for Bruce and learns the secret through kissing them both. Ahhh, love, ain't it grand?

Tommy Lee Jones and Jim Carrey as comic book villains. What can one say? You just think Carrey couldn't carry a characterization like The Riddler too far. Think again... Drew Barrymore and Debi Mazar are attractive as Sugar and Spice, catering to the two-faced tastes of Two-Face Jones. Michael Gough returns as unflappable Wayne butler Alfred. Pat Hingle hangs in as the police commissioner.

Executive producers are Benjamin Melniker and Michael E. Uslan. Tim Burton and Peter MacGregor-Scott produced.

New birds in the belfry: Val Kilmer (l) in the bat wings and Chris O'Donnell (r) as Robin.

REVIEWS By Steve Baltin

■ SHERYL CROW: "Can't Cry Anymore" (A&M 8284 2)

The folks at A&M continue to mine Crow's Tuesday Night Music Club for every last single. And why not? So far the Grammy-winner has proved infallible as a singles artist. Her remarkable streak should continue with this uptempo pop flavored tune. Slightly less rock oriented than "Leaving Las Vegas," her first single, this one seems to be a perfect fit for top 40, as well as CHR. Modern Rock is a question mark, but top ten status for this kind of summer fun seems inevitable.

■ ST. JOHNNY: "Scuba Diving" (DGC 4736)

This is what "alternative" music used to sound like. Slightly hypnotic in its groove, "Scuba Diving" has a mid-'80s feel to it, coupled with a '90s sensibility. The result is a track with its own flavor. Taken from their Let It Come Down CD, the single gives a good sampling of the band's eclectic sound. It's sad to say, but Modern Rock might be slow to come aboard with this song, but college radio should get into it.

■ LITTLE FEAT: "Borderline Blues" (Zoo 14220-2)

Little Feat have seemingly been around since the beginning of time, but they've updated their sound by turning to drawing on the style of many of the younger bands they've helped influence—such as Blues Traveler and Hootie & The Blowfish. A very subdued track, it's hard to believe this is the same band that did "Dixie Chicken." Without former lead singer Lowell George, who passed away many years ago, it's not really the same band. But the name remains the same.

■ THE MANHATTAN TRANSFER: "Hot Fun In The Summertime" (Atlantic 6225)

The venerable jazz outfit, who've always had a huge impact in the pop world, have all the makings for a hit with this cover of the old Sly And The Family Stone anthem. The group's much different take, which features Chaka Kahn, comes from the soundtrack to Die Hard With A Vengeance. Typically Manhattan Transfer smooth, this could be a hit.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ PEARL JAM: "Immortality" (Epic 7113)

Coming with the same cool art work that heralded the release of "Spin The Black Circle," Vitalogy's first single, is the band's newest single. The results of their collaborations with Neil Young, which started before this album, are never more evident than they are on this track. The extremely moody ballad has a Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young feel to it on Eddie Vedder's vocals. Surprisingly though, the sound works well for them. Whereas the group's previous ballads had more of an alternative feel, this song is completely immersed in darkness. Brooding and sullen, everything about it screams of despair. And it's great. Leave it to Pearl Jam to release a single like this right at the beginning of summer. And you think radio won't play it? Didn't think so. Plus, you have to love a record that says "viva la vinyl" on the sleeve.

REVIEWS by Steve Baltin

(Ed. note: The Hum review that ran in issue 40, dated June 17 was courtesy of Karen Allen)

■ SOUL ASYLUM: Let Your Dim Light Shine (Columbia 57616)

The phenomenal radio support given to the opening track "Misery" prompted Columbia to push the record's release date up a week. That's not surprising given the success of the band's Grave Dancer's Union album, released in 1992. Yes, it's been that long. That kind of anticipation can create quite a buzz. As a result this will be a big seller this summer. Musically, the Minneapolis quartet have softened their once punk sound to a folk grass roots feel on the sweet "Promises Broken" and the Jayhawks' sounding "To My Own Devices." On the raucous "Shut Down" and "Bittersweetheart," the band show they can still rock, but not with the anger they once had. Soul Asylum are a band that clearly have grown up. Whether that's a good thing or not depends on your taste.

Coming off his rejuvenating Unplugged...And Seated, Stewart's new studio album is clearly expected to be one of the big guns of summer. However, everyone knows Stewart can sell records. The question is, can he approach his best moments artistically? With the first single, the Tom Petty-penned "Leave Virginia Alone," Stewart has a hit worthy of its commercial success. It's hard to accuse Stewart of jumping on the covers bandwagon, as he's always interpreted other people's work freely, but the inclusion of Dylan's "Sweetheart Like You" and Tom Waits' "Hang On St. Christopher" in this time of covermania is a risky endeavor. He does a nice job with the touching Dylan tune, but Waits' gravelly vocals, despite Stewart's previous hit with "Downtown Train," is out of his reach. He sounds in top form on the quiet "This," but the drum track in the middle kills the mood.

■ CATHERINE WHEEL: Happy Days (Fontana/Mercury 68502)

The English band who were literally discovered in the states by KROQ are back with their third album. Up to this point they have yet to produce another song close to their breakthrough hit, "Black Metallic," on either the remainder of their first album or their follow-up. The group's new record finds them exploring virgin territory on the hard-rocking "Waydown," but it's when they stick to the caressing melodies of "Love Tips Up" and "Shocking" that they achieve their best results. A strong collection throughout, Happy Days indicates Catherine Wheel did have more than one winning song in them. In fact, they had several.

■ TEENAGE FANCLUB: Grand Prix (DGC 24802)

If you can find a better record for summer, then hats off to you. Like last year's much underheralded Teenage Symphonies To God, from the Velvet Crush, this is pure pop magic. Incorporating a wide range of melodies from the soft and sweet Byrds-esque "Say No" to the uptempo, jangly "Sparky's Dream," this Glasgow band show a gift for pop hooks that makes them direct descendants of the greatest song crafters, starting with the pop gods, Big Star. There's nothing terribly innovative about Grand Prix, but when a band writes songs this good they don't need images or hooks to lure fans in. Teenage Fanclub have had radio support in the past, and with the Geffen promotional machine behind them this will likely be a strong seller. At least, if there's any justice it will. Other highlights on an album filled with them are the lovely "Going Places" and the crooning "Don't Look Back."

There aren't many soundtracks that can come out of the box with a new song by U2, but then this isn't any album, it's the soundtrack to Batman Forever. Featuring new music by the Offspring, Seal, PJ Harvey, Brandy and nine other acts, this is the star power soundtrack of the summer. With the massive promotional campaign being undertaken by Atlantic (See related story, pg. 5), the tremendous anticipation of the film's release and a U2 single as the lead track, this has to be considered a top contender for the blockbuster album of summer. However, the ironic thing is that it's the unknowns, at least relative to the biggest names on the album, that come through with most of the CD's top moments. Massive Attack with Tracey Thorn score with the mysterious "The Hunter Gets Captured By The Game," while The Devlins deliver "Crossing The River," a song reminiscent of early U2. Also of note is Sunny Day Real Estate's "8."

PICK OF THE WEEK

The record's opening single, "You Oughta Know," comes out of the box with the same scintillating sensuality that marked Sophie B. Hawkins' coming out song, "Damn, I Wish I Was Your Lover." When the 20-year old Morissette sings, "Are you thinking of me when you fuck her," ears can't help but stand up at attention. The brilliantly emotive song is sung with just the right blend of anger and passion. How about this for a line, "Everytime I scratch my nails down someone else's back, I hope you feel it." The song has emerged as one of the year's breakout singles, having picked up support from Modern Rock and MTV. The album is sure to follow suit. The Ottawa, Canada native proves herself immediately to be more than one-dimensional with the sweet ballad, "Perfect." The enticing "Hand In My Pocket" follows and includes a well-placed harmonica solo from Morissette herself. On the fiery "Forgiven" Morissette sounds at times like Maria McKee. However, other comparisons aside, what this record really brings to mind is the first Melissa Etheridge album. Not since Etheridge's 1988 debut has an artist showed so much promise in the field of rock. A superb voice, great lyrics and magnificent hooks, the 20 year-old Morissette has it all. Absolutely stunning.

REVIEWS By Gil L. Robertson IV

■ JASON WEAVER: Love Ambition (Motown 0322) Producers: Various

Add Jason Weaver to the list of teenage heart throbs who've ventured into recording. However, unlike most so called actor/singers, brother man can really deliver. On his debut disc, Weaver offers up a collection of musical tracks that will not only make the girls scream but showcases the birth of a gifted singing talent. The vocals on Love Ambition shimmer with a self assuredness that's remarkable for someone 16. This project's producers have wisely given Weaver the type of material that gets across his energetic personality rather than focusing on his sex appeal. After the success of fellow teen star Brandy, this release should have no problem receiving wide support from both radio and retail markets. It's attention that, on this disc, my young soul brother deserves. Standout tracks: "So In Love," "Ordinary Guy" and "Pretty Brown."

both radio and retail markets. It's attention that, on this disc, my young soul brother deserves. Standout tracks: "So In Love," "Ordinary Guy" and "Pretty Brown."

■ JC LODGE: Special Request (RAS 3188) Producers: Errol O'Meally, J.C. Lodge

With her latest disc Caribbean-based vocalist JC Lodge offers a collection of smooth mellow, raggae-flavored tracks that should broaden her profile in the states. Although not immediately accessible, Lodge's self-assured vocal execution should score well with selected urban and alternative markets. This is a good disc and a welcome introduction to a promising sister from the sea. Standout tracks: "One More Time," "Empty Words" and "Feel No Way."

■ PRINCE RAHIEM: On A Ride (Island 03333-2) Producers: Various

On this new collection of phat bass music from Prince Rahiem traditional rap and hip-hop converge under the umbrella of Florida bass "booty music" yielding results that will for certain add to the growing across-the-board acceptance of this rap sub-genre. Lyrical content takes a back seat with this music—so if your goal is to front and not party, then this is the wrong CD. This disc will surely enjoy out-of-the-box radio and retail support in the southern region and with selected urban formats, however, it has very strong potential to be an across-the-board winner. Standout tracks: "Rock With It," "Round & Round" and "Cry No More."

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ SEAN LEVERT: The Other Side (Atlantic 82663-2) Producers: Various

Brother Levert's debut disc overflows with the same old school soul feel that's responsible for making his family one of R&B's music dynasties. While Sean's music incorporates the same flavor, he does succeed in adding his own spin to the old school mix. It's a given that this record will receive attention across the board with urban radio, however, a few tracks have the potential to crossover into other markets as well. My question is: when will the Levert family give us a family reunion disc? Hopefully soon. Standout tracks: "Same One," "I'm In A Freaky Mood" and "Tasty Love."

THE RHYTHM

By Gil Robertson IV

"Scream," the first single from Michael Jackson's long awaited double CD set HIStory, is off to a great start. It debuted number 11 and 14 on Cash Box's top 100 Pop and Urban charts. Produced by Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis and featuring Janet Jackson, the single is the first of seven expected to be released from Jackson's highly anticipated Greatest Hits package which goes on sale June 20.

THE BUCK STOPS AT LAFACE: In one of the largest joint venture deals in music history, LaFace Records co-presidents Antonino Reid and Kenneth Edmonds have renewed their agreement with Clive Davis and Arista Records at an estimated value of $100 million. The terms of the new agreement expands the original agreement between the two labels. Under the deal, LaFace will significantly increase the number of records released per year. The agreement will also provide for the financing of new headquarters for the Atlanta-based company that will include pre-production facilities, photo studios, rehearsal spaces and other facilities for LaFace's extensive artist development programs. LaFace will also open satellite offices in New York and Los Angeles. Since its 1989 launch LaFace has become a major force in R&B/Pop with sales of nearly 20 million units. The label has a series of upcoming releases that will include Toni Braxton's sophomore effort, an Official 1996 Olympic Games disc and an L.A. & Babyface Hits Collection I, as well as debut recordings from A Few Good Men, Donell Jones, Mad Drama, Society of Soul, Nandi, Goodie Mob, Tony Rich, A.F.G.M. and Chico Debarge.

SOUL TRAIN'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY: Can you believe that it's been twenty-five years since the first dancer went down the Soul Train line? This season the show celebrates the 25 years that Don Cornelius and company first introduced the funky dance grooves that have influenced a nation. As a part of the celebration Cornelius, along with Tribune Entertainment, has announced the production of the first annual Soul Train Lady Of Soul Awards, a two-hour prime time special to be broadcast live from the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium on Sunday, August 6. Grammy Award winner Gladys Knight, super model Tyra Banks and singer/composer Brian McKnight are the co-hosts for the special which will honor the best female recording artists in the fields of R&B, Rap/Hip-Hop, Jazz and Gospel in 10 musical categories. Cornelius will produce the special along with supervising producer Giovanni Brewer. Soul Train Music Awards and Soul Train series director Ron DeMoraes will direct and George Duke will serve as musical director.

DIS N'DAT: Make sure you arrive early for MCA Records' Thursday night artist showcase concert series in celebration of Black Music Month at Universal City Walk. The pre-concert show features a fabulous dance show by the LA Gear Dancers choreographed by Julliard alumni and former Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre member Ms. Neshia Folks. Recording artist Vesta Williams will preview material from her upcoming debut MCA as yet untitled disc at the Founder's Dinner for the National Task Force On Aids Prevention, on Thursday, June 22, at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco. The event will raise funds for the organization's continued support for outreach programs related to AIDS education and research. The event is being produced by Kenneth Reynolds. THE RHYME

By Gil L. Robertson IV

Delicious Vinyl/Capitol Recording artist Master Ace recently celebrated the release of his new disc Sittin' On Chrome at Coney Island High in New York City's East Village. Joining him for the festivities was DJ Red Alert of New York's Hot 98. Pictured are: Master Ace, DJ Red Alert and Clint Works, Capitol's National Director of Rap Promotions.

POLITICOS GO AFTER RAP COMMUNITY: A major controversy is brewing between the entertainment community and D.C. politicians after Senate majority leader Bob Dole's recent attack on the ethics, merit and influence of the entertainment industry. Calling the industry irresponsible for glorifying entertainment content that many deem detrimental to the fabric of American life, Dole singled out the Time Warner conglomerate and rap music specifically in his attack. The response from Hollywood has been quick and complete with the industry's top executives coming out against the accusation that many perceive as slanderous and unjustified. However, a recent poll conducted does show that a majority of Americans do in some part agree with Dole's position. A rousing 77 percent said that they were very concerned or fairly concerned about the level of violence in the media. With the coming year being an election year the entertainment industry can expect to continue to feel the heat from members of both political parties who will most assuredly make the issue a part of their election platforms. Cash Box's look at the issues surrounding both sides of this controversy will continue in the following weeks, with a forum that will allow both sides of the issue to speak out. Readers are encouraged to take part as well by simply mailing your thoughts to our corporate headquarters at 6464 Sunset Blvd., Suite 605, Los Angeles, CA. 90028. More to follow!!!

DIS N' DAT: It's all going on for Steve Rifkin, the president of RCA-distributed Loud Records and owner/president of the Steve Rifkin Company (SRC), a marketing company that serves major recording, film and athletic gear companies. The fast growing company has made another big score by securing a deal with top LA radio station KPWR (Power 106). (Additional congratulations go out to Steve and his wife, Nicole on the birth of their son.) As a part of the label's continued commitment to the African American community, Deathrow Recording artists Tha Dogg Pound will take part in a celebrity basketball game to benefit the Gulf Coast Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation this weekend in Houston. The group is also expected to make a surprise appearance at this weekend's Black Radio Exclusive (BRE) conference in New Orleans. Perspective/P-Street recording artist Arrogance, along with I Smooth 7, Insane, Volume 10 and Digital Underground's Money-B, participated in the 1st Annual Southern Hospitality Celebration and SummerFest 95' Concert Jam on June 10 in San Diego. Sponsored by G&S Entertainment and Fat Kat Records, the event was designed to introduce the San Diego community to top flight entertainers who speak to today's youth. The event was a roaring success.

Rap Single Reviews

By Gil Robertson IV

■ NEMESIS: "Drop Tha Bottom" (Profile 7431-2d1)

Although this single sounds as if it were recorded in someone's garage it will succeed in getting folks to move on the dance floor. The track has a catchy chorus and phat hook, especially the Miami bass mix, which should be enough to garner it substantial regional attention.

■ TERRORIST: "I'm Better Than That" (N-terrogation 7094)

Finally, some gangsta-flavored rap that comes correct with a lyrical content that's both entertaining and positive. The music is hard but offers the right combination of riffs, shifts and heavy funk grooves to insure its success on multi-urban formats.

■ BLACK 9: "I'm An O.G." (Scotti Bros.75479)

Black 9's debut release is more of the same west coast flavored rap. Nothing about this single is inspiring, from the flat beat to the empty lyrics. The whole of this rapper's disc is actually not bad, it's just that this first single is.

Indie News: On The Cutting Edge

By Steve Baltin

World Domination recording artist Latimer provided rockin' entertainment for friends and recording industry honchos at the home of Frontier Booking's Ian Copeland deep in the Hollywood Hills. Guests were treated to barbecued vittles, an open bar and a 45-minute set of memorable loud music by the Philadelphia trio. See here (l-r): World Domination co-president & A&R director Dave Allen; Latimer bassist Dylan Cotton; Frontier Booking president Ian Copeland; Latimer manager Denise Luiso; FBI's Gabe Bloom and Latimer guitarist Geoff Doring. Not pictured is Latimer drummer Rob Sherman, who didn't want to lose his place in line for hot dogs.

BENEFIT NEWS: In the moral majority driven world of Newt Gingrich and Bob Dole there might be no good reason for legalizing marijuana, but the herb has been an important asset in the battle against cancer since long before America became so rigid and narrow-minded about what they don't understand.

A couple of L.A. organizations, Californians For Compassionate Use and LION'S Pride, are trying to get a "Medical Marijuana Initiative" placed on the November '96 general election ballot. The bill would make marijuana accessible to the terminally ill. To accomplish this goal they are undertaking a massive fundraising campaign, along with a promotional concert series. The festivities begin July 4 at L.A.'s House Of Blues with a show featuring Big Mountain, Toots and the Maytals, The Untouchables and Sky Cries Mary, in addition to the ubiquitous surprise guests.

As soon as the idea of legalizing marijuana is mentioned it's likely to scare people off, but Sky Cries Mary co-lead vocalist Anisa (it's what she likes to go by) can offer first-hand knowledge of why marijuana is so important to people going through cancer treatments. She used it, with her doctor's knowledge, when she suffered from cancer as an 18-year old a few years ago. For her purpose of using it was to fight the side effects of the chemotherapy. As she puts it, "It's the kind of thing where the treatment makes you worse than the sickness."

As someone with first-hand experience of the ravaging affects chemotherapy can have on the body—the nausea, the inability to eat, the exhaustion, to name but a few symptoms—Anisa was more than willing to get involved with the show when the opportunity presented itself. When asked if she believes there's a possibility a measure like this could pass, her response was a simple, "I hope so." You and me, both. The concert, once again, is July 4. Come out and show your support, as well as witness a great show.

IN FURTHER BENEFIT NEWS, a benefit will be held at The Derby to raise funds for My Friend's Place on July 18. M.F.P. is a federally-registered, non-profit volunteer resource center for homeless youth of Hollywood. REVIEWS By Steve Baltin & M.R. Martinez

■ FLOP: World Of Today (Frontier 31067)

Flop is a Seattle band that was supposed to hit the big time a couple of years ago. After releasing their debut effort on the Sun Valley-based indie, Frontier, they were snatched up by Epic. But, things didn't quite go as planned. As such, they are back with Frontier. Without the weight of major label/Seattle expectations on them the quartet have greatly expanded their college/alternative/rock sound. The '70s influences that marked their earlier efforts are still here including Blondie on "Waste Of Space" and the band's faves, Cheap Trick, on the opening "Act 1, Scene 1." In fact, there's a potpourri of influences on the 13-song collection, from the Smiths to the Beatles. The result is a fun filled game of "name that tune." (S.B.)

The opening "Poet's Lament" sums up the feel of this record with its wonderfully bittersweet arrangement. Highlighted by a mandolin, the song straddles the fence between country and folk, but could fit into the category of Irish music. A storyteller in the same way that Harry Chapin narrated his songs, Germino doesn't have a particularly mainstream talent, but he does have talent. (S.B.)

■ SKIRT: Crave (Phisst PHT-003)

This Atlanta-based group—comprised of lead vocalist Robin Wilson, Deena Smith on guitars/keyboards, Charlene Owen handling bass/keys/viola and John Speaks (the only male if you haven't guessed) on drums—sports a big rock sound, with just enough unbridled energy to appeal to an alternative or punky audience. Wilson's vocals can be quirky or straight ahead. Smith comes up with some respectable guitar riffs, while the rhythm section of Owen and Speaks keep the dynamics simple but unwavering. Tracks like "Wish," "Trailer," the funbky "Sprite" and the spooky "Slow" represent a varied sensibilities of this band. They've listened to R.E.M. and applied only what was relevant to their own sound. (M.R.M.)

The most notable thing about the new release from former New York cop turned rock star Eddie Money is that the record reintroduces Wolfgang Records, the label started by legendary concert promoter Bill Graham in the '70s. As for Money...he's had an impressive string of hits over his two-decade long career, the most notable of which, "Two Tickets To Paradise" and "Baby, Hold On," still generate airplay on classic rock stations and even AOR. The problem with this latest effort, as the first single, "After This Love Is Gone," indicates is that Money doesn't really know where he should be in the world of music anymore. A soft-spoken CD, this might be a find for A/C if they'll give him a chance. (S.B.)

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ GREN: Camp Grenada (IRS 31722)

Gren are an L.A. based trio with an indelible ear for seductive rock hooks. On their ten-song Tim O'Heir produced debut (O'Heir is an alum of the famed Fort Apache studios in Boston), the band ride a wave of styles from the infectious grooves of the first single "Pop Songs" to the hypnotic explosions of the CD's closing track "Beat On A Friend." What distinguishes Gren from the vast array of power-pop trios currently making the rounds is their superior musicianship. Drummer Possum provides the group with a consistently superior beat, be it on the rhythmic "And (It's Hard)" or the delightfully poppy "Ego." In addition, vocalist/guitarist Brett White and bassist Marcus Gonzalez supply equally tight licks throughout. While it's hard to classify Gren into one category, maybe the best way to describe their enticing sound is "controlled fury"—music that rocks with the energy and emotion of punk, but maintains its musical focus. That's exactly the kind of sound that connects with record buyers. (S.B.)

Speed Sweeps The MTV Movie Awards

By Karen Sidlow

YES, ANOTHER AWARDS SHOW. But this one was different. The simple fact that MTV is in the title suggested this would be anything but a stuffy, uptight event. This is the first award show that gave the action packed blockbuster Speed honors, making the film the big winner of the evening. Sandra Bullock, the female star and trusty bus driver from Speed won most desirable female, best female performance and shared the honor of best on-screen duo with her co-star Keanu Reeves.

In addition to the good guys in the film being honored, the best villain award went to Dennis Hopper for his portrayal of a psychotic, yet believable, madman and best action sequence was given to the film for the terrifying bus escape/airplane explosion footage.

Another star that won more than one award was the never dull Jim Carrey. Carrey walked away with the well-deserved best comedic performance award and shared a honor with his on and off screen love interest Lauren Holly for the best kiss—both for Dumb And Dumber.

Making the show flow smoothly was funny man, Jon Lovitz and equally amusing Friends star, Courtney Cox who hosted the event, which took place at a Warner Brothers sound stage June 10.

Immediately after movie snippets were viewed on the monitor screen, Lovitz and Cox greeted the rowdy crowd. In addition to a little humorous banter between the hosts, Lovitz and Cox performed a parody of Des'ree's hit "You Gotta Be" with Lovitz making a good attempt to sing and Cox playing the drums fairly well.

Presenters included Eric Stoltz and Alicia Silverstone who would have handed the best dance sequence award to John Travolta and Uma Thurman for their version of the twist in Pulp Fiction if they had attended the show. Jodie Foster presented the new filmmaker award to Steve James who received critical acclaim for his documentary Hoop Dreams, which was completely ignored by the Academy Awards this year. The most memorable presenter being the anything-but-shy Ice-T, who while giving the best action sequence award to Speed, also managed to relay a message to U.S. Senate majority leader Bob Dole, when he told the outspoken politician to put adress a part of his anatomy with his lips. The crowd seemed to enjoy the comment, but the censors may have different thoughts about it. Other presenters included Cindy Crawford, William Baldwin, Julianne Moore, Juliet Lewis, Val Kilmer, Robert Downey Jr. and Quentin Tarantino.

And never fear, because it was indeed an MTV event, there were a few live musical performances to add to the already entertaining evening. The trio, TLC performed their recent hit "Waterfalls" as several actors and actresses interpreted the lyrics of the song. Then the popular, Boyz II Men quartet, with the addition of a guitar player on stage, sang "Water Runs Dry." But the highlight of the live music performances was a medley of all five tunes nominated for best song presented by seminal punk outfit, The Ramones. This was slightly surpassed by Blues Traveler's rendition of their song "Run Around."

Throughout the evening, there was the MTV trademark of recreating scenes from each of the best movie nominees. This year's players included characters from such television shows as The Jeffersons, Welcome Back Kotter, The Partridge Family and Batman, who all put a unique spin on the movies in competition.

The winners for the 4th Annual MTV Movie Awards are listed below.

THE LATIN LOWDOWN

News From U.S. & Latin America

By Héctor Reséndez

RHINO GLAD IT WENT MAMBO-MAD! A recent interview with Laura Canellias and Alan Geik was made to follow-up on the May 6th Cash Box article concerning Rhino Records' brazen venture into the Latin market. Canellias, along with James Austin and Fred Schneider, produced the compilation release, The Best of Pérez Prado and His Orchestra: Mondo Mambo! (R2/R4 71889). She also collaborated with Geik on the compilation album, Mambo Mania! The Kings & Queens of Mambo (R2/R4 71881) with assistance by Jeff Loshinsky and Fred Schneider.

"The original concept for the compilation albums," said Canellias, "came from Fred (for the Pérez album) and Jeff (for Mambo Mania)." Both works were initially intended to piggy back off each other soon after the 1992 release of the motion picture Mambo Kings starring Armand Assante and Antonio Banderas. Instead, the albums were shelved. Canellias, who had transferred from Rhino's video division to A&R, gladly decided to revive the project. Subsequently, she contacted one of the leading Latin musicologists and Salsa radio broadcasters in the country, Alan Geik, in L.A. Geik recently worked as editor on Andy Garcia's critically acclaimed documentary concert film, Cachao...Como Su Ritmo No Hay Dos (Like His Rhythm There Is No Other). "That was a new area for Rhino back then," explained Canellias. "In addition, there were many technical difficulties to deal with including hard to locate material, licensing rights, where masters could be found, and approvals."

Rhino has traditionally been known for its "eclectic" productions. They have over 1,000 critically acclaimed albums to their credit. As for the response to Rhino's mambo romp, the results have been quite surprising. "The albums were well-received nationwide," beamed a proud Canellias. "Distributors who did call in with inquiries about the albums were those who were not normally expected to be heard from. Re-orders have been very good and have surpassed initial projections." Since its initial street release (May 24th), Mambo Mania came in at #11 on the charts with a bullet in its first week. In the second week, Pérez Prado showed at #15. The Soundscan figures, remarked Canellias, were comparable. Look for Mambo Mania, Vol. II to be released next year.

Canellias and Geik acknowledged that Rhino is very interested in the Latin market. It fully intends to get more involved in the tropical music category as well. A Salsa compilation album by Canellias and L.A.'s Super DJ Robby is slated for release this October. KXLU-FM's Nina Lenart of the reknowned Salsa program Alma del Barrio, will be writing the liner notes. "Rhino is ready to break new ground," said Canellias. "They have always been in rock n' roll, disco, jazz, folk, and now Latin." Just as Geik wrote of the "explosion of the mambo on the music and dance worlds of the 1950s," we may be witnessing a renaissance period of the music that did indeed "forever change popular Latin and U.S. music."

The two compilations—Mondo Mambo! The Best of Pérez Prado & His Orchestra and Mambo Mania! The Kings and Queens of Mambo—include detailed liner notes and a handy glossary. Both albums carry a suggested retail price of $15.98 per CD and $10.98 per cassette, and are available from Rhino Mail Order at 1-800-432-0020.

Legendary Brazilian jazz songstress Flora Purim returns to the recording scene with release of Speed Of Light, her latest collection on B&W Music. Purim is currently on tour in support of the album and is being joined by percussionist Airo Moreira, bassist Gary Brown, Jovino Santos Neto on keyboards and flute, Jose Neto on rhythm/psycedelia guitar and Puerto Rico master of the congas, Giovanni Hidalgo.

REVIEWS By Hector Resendez

■ REY RUIZ: En Cuerpo y Alma. (Sony Tropical, 81545) Producer: Tommy Villariny. TROPICAL.

This is Cuban singer Rey Ruiz' third album for the Sony Tropical label. The ultimate and most intriguing element about Ruiz' appeal is his raw, yet tender sensuality. He is an enchanting performer on stage, but he is better enjoyed through one's headphones. On this album, Ruiz offers some of his best work so far. The first single release, "Estamos Solos," a Jorge Luis Piloto composition, is simply perfect overall.

■ JERRY GALANTE: Todo un Exasis de Amor. (Geos Productions, 64224) Producer: Undetermined. TROPICAL.

One of Tropical Music's new recording artists, vocalist Jerry Galante reveals how young singers can overcome diversity if they are very fortunate and have the right management. This is the Colombian vocalist's debut album release. The album contains eight well-performed samples of Salsa music. Retailers will find Galante's style appealing to new listeners.

■ THE BEST OF PEREZ PRADO: Mambo! (Rhino Records, R2/R4-71889) Compilation Producers: James Austin, Laura Canellias, and Fred Schneider. TROPICAL.

He conquered the pop charts in early 1955 with "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White," the biggest-selling instrumental ever. So says the extensive liner notes on this excellent compilation album of Pérez Prado, the King of the Mambo. Sixteen selections are offered on this primo collection of all-time classics that date back to the 1950s. Distributors nation-wide have given the album a hearty thumbs up!

■ MAMBO MANIA! The Kings and Queens of Mambo (Rhino Records, R2/R4-71881) Compilation Producers: Laura Canellias and Alan Geik. TROPICAL.

One of the best compilations of Cuban music from the 1950s, aka Mambo, this incredibly well-produced album will answer any questions regarding this genre of Latin music that still lives among us.

The premier pop culture archival label Rhino Records honors the real stars behind the success of that smoldering dance craze with this new compilation, Mambo Mania! The Kings and Queens of Mambo, features the royal family of big band Latin beat, including other great masters of the genre like Tito Puente, Xavier Cugat, Celia Cruz, and Desi Amaz on tracks making their CD debut with this release. Included are detailed liner notes and a handy glossary by Alan Geik. The album is a must for the connoisseur of traditional Cuban folkloric, jazz and even contemporary salsa music.

R.E.M.: PARALLEL

R.E.M. ARE ON TOUR right now in North America through June, over to Europe and then back here in the fall. The boys need some pocket money for souvenirs. Good way to get that is how!? A compilation video album! "Yes!" (with the requisite arm snap, y'know).

You've seen 'em all before because they're sifted from their multi-platinum albums Automatic For The People and Monster. Maybe you haven't seen some of the precious, and ultimately, pretentious in-between footage bits (hope these aren't portents of what Michael Stipe's film company's about). Tunes included are: "Everybody Hurts," "Man On The Moon," "The Sidwinder Sleeps Tonight," "What's The Frequency, Kenneth?," one censored and one uncensored (frontal nudity) versions of the moody "Nightswimming," and "Crush With Eyeliner" among others—total of 11—and a vignette bit using footage from the Rough Cut documentary of the group's preparation for their Monster tour. If you liked 'em on MTV, you'll like 'em here. (Warner Reprise Video)

OUT OF IRELAND

THIS IS A MAJOR work tracing the roots of the Irish population of the United States, the reasons so many migrated Out Of Ireland, and their spiritual ties to the old country.

Originally broadcast on PBS with major funding by the National Endowment for the Humanities Out Of Ireland is the kind of project endangered by the current blustering winds on Capitol Hill who are looking to blow such funds into more needy pockets—like their own?

The Irish are shown as a proud, strong race of people, living under oppression from as far back as the 1600s—and the Emerald Isle remains in turmoil with the British even today—but they made their escapes and eventually their fortunes worldwide but perhaps nowhere as notably as in the United States where they were originally looked upon as scum. Indeed, it's even noted that when the Erie Canal was ready to be dug it was proposed that slaves be used whereupon the plantation owners refused, saying "slaves are too valuable, get the Irish." The Irish dug it and hence became the performers of the work no one else wanted to do; tunnellers, high steel bridge workers, they even stepped off the boats without citizenship to fight in the Civil War.

It's a fascinating look at a fascinating, hard-muscled, -willed and -fighting group of people who, underneath it all possessed a lyrical faith in themselves. The 111 minutes are interspersed with readings by Liam Neeson, Gabriel Byrne, Brenda Fricker and Aidan Quinn, of letters written by the wanderers back to family in the auld country. WANNABE: A Would-Be Player's Misadventures In Hollywood

By Everett Weinberger
(Birch Lane Press; Carol Publishing; $17.95)

IT TOOK EVERETT WEINBERGER three years in Hollywood to give up his dream of becoming a high rolling player in the Hollywood producer sweeps: but he had a few laughs and got enough material for a book out of it before taking his MBA and going into the field he had trained for—banking.

He writes in a breezy, sometimes bitter-brittle style that makes edgy reading for people within the industry who can totally relate to what he's talking about. And by "edgy" I mean that often these tales are totally subjective, inked out of author anger and humiliation, but sometimes humorous observation no matter how unquestionably true they are. Outsiders will look at all the excess and quirkiness as simply more stories, probably hyped up because "no one could behave like that." Out of Hollywood, maybe.

The one thread sewing all this together is overwhelming ego—and author Weinberger is not without his own—inherent in all the participants. It goes with the territory and without a healthy portion of it Weinberger would never have been compelled to attempt his foray into the jungle. While he admits to some of that, he softpedals his major portion of it, giving himself a smooth patina of human concern as a reason for not being able to do what is necessary to truly "make it": that being simply stepping on any back that gets in the way, sabotaging friends for the end result; doing whatever is necessary to achieve the goal. That he recognizes the fact that having that or not having that quality as the difference between big time success as a Hollywood producer and a human being, makes him inherently incapable of achieving the success to which he aspired, but gives him success as a person.

The title itself, Wannabe should appeal to everyone who's ever had a passing flirtation with Show Biz, and it's a viable guide-on to either how bitter or how grateful they are they didn't make it.

It's a fun, fast read. It would also be interesting to see Weinberger observe the banking business and turn a slightly jaundiced eye on that in the next few years.

Joan Crawford: The Last Word

By Fred Lawrence Guiles (Birch Lane Press; Carol Publishing Group. $19.95)

WHETHER YOU ASCRIBE TO the Mommie Dearest image of Joan Crawford or to the whitewashings she herself foisted onto her ever-adoring public through a pair of volumes or whether you listen to the whispers which have abounded around Hollywood for years you have to admit one thing: Joan Crawford was an original. And it was the originals who made the headlines, the splashes and the excitement. It was the originals who made "show business" Show Business, and Lucille LeSuer-Billie Cassin-Joan Crawford was undeniably an original.

Author Fred Lawrence Guiles, through repeated comparisons with Crawford's daughter Christina's hatchet tome, set out to refute the image presented of Crawford from that. He attempts that so much throughout his own—even from his title The Last Word—that he falls into pettiness; as if he's squabbling with Christina. And needlessly so because whoever chooses to believe Mommie Dearest will and whoever chooses to believe The Last Word (even if it isn't the last word or last work) will believe that.

Guiles attributes to Crawford a "...belief that sex is as natural as getting up in the morning." And that she freely practiced it all her life, with both men and women, but mostly men. He also records an ego—without which the actress never could have accomplished what she did—as well as a love and respect for the working class member of society. Crawford also comes off as a strange combination of both sensitivity and rock hard determination, as fascinating in her life and lifestyle as she could often be on screen.

Guiles the author largely comes off as more a white knight fan riding to the rescue of his fair damsel in distress than a subjective writer; sometimes as an apologist.

Ultimately it's a fast read, revealing nothing a student of Hollywood hasn't heard or read before and in the end Joan Crawford remains, Joan Crawford: Star.

By Christopher Pickard

BRAZIL HITS THE TOP TEN: The chart of the world's Top Ten record markets has a new entry and it is Brazil, up from 13th position in 1993 to seventh in 1994 behind the US, Japan, Germany, UK, France and Canada. The top ten markets, which also include Mexico, Holland and Australia, are estimated to be responsible for over 80 percent of the world's CD, cassette and record sales.

Brazil's rise into the Top Ten can be attributed to last June's economic package, the Plano Real, which brought stability to the Brazilian economy and market; slashing inflation from close to 50 percent a month to less than two percent and establishing a new currency, the Real, which despite being launched at parity with the U.S. dollar, has proved to be more popular than the American currency and has traded at around 85 Brazilian cents to the US dollar for most of the year.

The result in 1994 were sales of over U.S. $558 million in Brazil with estimates for 1995 of sales of around US $700 million. A figure which should bring a smile to the face of many US-based record industry executives.

The sales of CDs in Brazil were up from 21 million units in 1993 to 40.2 million units in 1994 while vinyl sales continued to decline with sales down from 16.4 million in 1993 to 14.5 million in 1994. Overall, over 63 million units were sold in Brazil in 1994 and after the first quarter of 1995, when sales were up 65 percent over the same period in 1994, analysts expect sales over the year to break the 75 million unit barrier close to the 76.9 million unit sales registered in 1989.

Brazil's stability and the market's expansion has not gone unnoticed. Tower Records is said to be looking for locations to open stores in Sao Paulo and Rio by the year end, while MCA-Geffen have announced that they will make the break from BMG-Ariola and set up its own Brazilian operation in January 1996 following in the steps of Virgin which has also gone solo in Brazil, splitting from EMI-Odeon. Other companies rumored to be taking a good hard look at business prospects in Brazil are the American distributors, Handieman, and CD manufacturing giants, America Disc-MPO.

ROCK'N RIO ON HOLD: An exhibition in Rio's Barra Shopping, Latin America's largest mall, to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the first Rock'n Rio, coincided with promoter, Robert Medina's decision to put Rock'n Rio 3, scheduled for January 1996, on hold.

Medina's explanation that he was cancelling the festival due to violence in the city, did not sit well with the Brazilian media who believe there is more behind Medina's decision than the promoter and owner of one of Brazil's largest advertising agencies was willing to admit. Rumors suggest that Medina did not have the sponsors in place for the multi-million dollar event, although Medina himself says a sponsorship package with Coca-Cola was already in place.

Those that doubted Medina's excuses, pointed to the success of other tours to Rio and Brazil this year, and in particular to the visit of the Rolling Stones who, at the Maracana Stadium in Rio in early February, played to the largest crowd to date on their Voodoo Lounge tour and have already expressed interest in coming back to Brazil and Argentina at the end of the year to close the tour.

Another artist scheduled to return to Brazil for shows is Eric Clapton who will headline one of the nights of the annual Free Jazz Festival which is scheduled for September. It is thought that the event will move from its home in the theater of the Hotel Nacional to the larger and more modern setting of the Metropolitan showhouse which can accommodate over 4,000 sitting at tables or 12,000 standing. The Metropolitan has already, in its first year, staged shows by Diana Ross, Pet Shop Boys, Roxette, America, Donna Summer, and two of the three tenors, Luciano Pavarotti and Placido Domingo.

The Midas Touch Of Gordan Chambers

By Gil L. Robertson IV

WITH AN IMPRESSIVE LIST of production credits with some of R&B's most prolific performers, producer/ singer/singerwriter and arranger Gordan Chambers has definitely got his hand on the vibe of contemporary music. He's the man with the midas touch proven by his recent chart topping success with Brownstone ("If You Love Me") and Anita Baker ("I Apologize"), which showcases a musical genius that shows little sign of slowing down. Listening to his work one is immediately struck by the powerful simplicity of the music and it's deeply personal lyrical content. "Gordan brought a basic sensibility to my project that enabled me to open up my heart", says Christopher Williams about their work together on three tracks from his current disc Not A Perfect Man.

The success that Gordan now enjoys has been in development for a long time. A New York native, he grew up in a family with a great love for music. "I've felt an affinity for good music for as long as I can remember, Chambers recently told Cash Box. "My dad was a D.J., so growing up I was exposed to a wide variety of music. My evolution as a musician has been deeply personal.

"Throughout all of the stages of my life, music has provided me with a consistent outlet to express myself about the politics, social attitudes, and relationship issues that effect our world," he continues. "It brings my life so much joy and it makes me feel better connected to humanity."

An accomplished keyboardist, trumpet player and vocalist, Gordan has formally studied music since grade school. In college at Brown University, he served as the musical directors for numerous college productions and performed with the choral group, Shades Of Brown. Following college he landed a job as the entertainment editor for Essence Magazine, a respected magazine catering to women of color, and also began to pursue his professional life as a musician. He says, "Essence has provided me with a perfect outlet to express myself creatively," he explains. "It's an idea environment that has been encouraging and beneficial to my creative growth."

Succeeding in the highly competitive world of New York's creative community is not easy but Gordan's perseverance, discipline and dedication to his art form, finally paid off with work credits from artist like Sweet & Low, Terri & Monica, Usher Raymond, Queen Latifah, Jade, Naughty By Nature, Phyllis Hyman and a host of others. It was while working with

NARM Bows '95-'96 Events & Online Info

NARM LOOKS AHEAD: The National Association of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) has announced its events schedule for 1995-96. The Wholesalers Conference will take place October 20-24, 1995, at the Arizona Biltmore in Phoenix, AZ. The Independent Manufacturers and Distributors Conference will be held Friday, Oct. 20 through Sunday the 24th. Following the Indies confab will be a combined One Stop/Rack Jobbers Conference Sunday (22) through Tuesday (24). There will be no Retailers Conference this year.

NARM's Annual Convention in 1996 will be held in Washington, DC Friday, March 22 through Monday, March 25 at the Sheraton Washington Hotel. With a new approach in planning the '96 Convention, instead of an overall Convention Committee, there will be programming and trade show sub-committees, as well as a congressional gala sub-committee to be chaired by Rick Bleiweiss of BMG Distribution and Curt Eddy, PGD.

In another announcement, NARM announced the introduction of NARM Online, a free electronic information service designed to enhance member communications. Initial data critical to buyers includes the catalog number, UPC number, artist, title, label, price, genre, and configuration. The full database standard will build on this initial data by adding remaining facts about album content such as tracks, producers, etc.

BMG Distribution recently became the first supplier to participate in the NARM test by providing product information for downloading to 22 of its accounts.

"This electronic bulletin board allows us to provide retailers with the most up-to-date and accurate information available," said Pete Jones, BMG Distribution president.

Jay Berman (l), chairman/CEO of the Recording Industry Assn. of America, recently presented honorary gold records to New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani (center) and NYPD Police Commissioner William Bratton for their efforts the past two years resulting in a 50 percent reduction in music piracy in the New York City metropolitan area. Pictured with the mayor and Berman are (from left) Louis Anemone, NYPD chief of the department; Sgt. John Kenna, of the Organized Crime Investigations Division and Katherine Timon, RIAA regional anti-piracy counsel.

Hyman that Gordan met superstar songwriter/producer Barry Eastman, who was so taken with Gordan's talent and work ethic that he asked him to contribute to Anita Baker's Rhythm Of Love release.

Today, after the chart-topping success of the Baker disc, not to mention the career making hit he crafted for Brownstone, Chambers is in great demand from those in the music industry who know that his creative gifts translates into success on the sales charts.

Fan Fair '95 Invades Nashville

By Wendy Newcomer

MORE THAN 24,000 COUNTRY MUSIC lovers from around the world braved the intense heat and celebrated the 24th Annual International Country Music Fan Fair last week at the Tennessee State Fairgrounds. Fans were treated to stage performances by more than 100 entertainers as well as autograph/photo sessions with over 400 more artists in the eight official Fan Fair exhibit halls.

Shania Twain, Daron Norwood, Archer/Park, Ricky Lynn Gregg, Kenny Chesney, Ty England, The Moffatts, Rhett Akins and Chely Wright made the most of the week, turning up in booths most every day. Patty Loveless turned the tables on her fans, as she carried a camera with her and took pictures of fans wanting her autograph.

While fans came across most of their favorite country singers, including Clint Black, Wynonna, Brooks & Dunn, Billy Ray Cyrus and John Michael Montgomery in the exhibit halls, they also found a few faces more familiar to TV viewers. Following the trend set by former TV star Rebecca Holden, now a popular independent artist, Maureen McCormick of "The Brady Bunch" fame, Randall Franks of "In The Heat Of The Night" and Branscombe Richmond of the hit syndicated series "Renegade" set up booths and met with fans to promote their recording careers.

Understanding and concern played a big part for the fans this year, as many rushed to send "get well" greetings to Travis Tritt. The Warner Bros. artist was forced to cancel his Fan Fair appearances after a lung infection sent him to the hospital for a quick stay and then home to Georgia to recuperate. Lorrie Morgan's fans, though disappointed that she too cancelled her Fan Fair plans, wished her good luck as she was called to Los Angeles for a television movie opportunity.

On the Fan Fair stage, the action was non-stop. Monday night's Bluegrass Show launched the five days of live concerts and featured Bill Monroe & The Bluegrass Boys, long a Fan Fair mainstay. Mac Wiseman, Jim & Jesse, the Nashville Bluegrass Band and a host of others.

During the Curb Records show, Hank Williams Jr. made his first Fan Fair appearance in over 20 years. He was joined by Tim McGraw and Junior Brown.

After a brief delay for a rain shower, MCA/Decca Records kicked off the Tuesday night show with Rhett Akins. For the MCA portion, George Jones and Tammy Wynette reunited for their first public performance in 17 years. Wynonna also returned to the stage for her first performance since the birth of her son Elijah last December. "I needed some work!" she joked as she took the stage.

The RCA/BNA Records show also experienced rain delay, but true blue fans found it was worth the wait when Alabama performed at Fan Fair for the first time since the 1980s.

Shania Twain was presented with a gold album for her latest effort, The Woman In Me, during the Mercury Nashville show, and John Berry graciously accepted a platinum lp for his self-titled debut album during the Capitol Nashville show.

Top Tejano star Emilio made his official Fan Fair debut during the Capitol show with a set that included his stunning rendition of "Have I Told You Lately That I Love You," written by Irish rocker Van Morrison and a huge pop hit for Scotsman Rod Stewart. Chris LeDoux also rocked the stage, performing his version of Bruce Springsteen's "Tougher Than The Rest."

During the Warner/Reprise show, Russ Taff tried to beat the heat by leading the audience in a distinctly out-of-season "White Christmas," exhorting the crowd with, "I hear those sleigh bells!" Giant's Doug Supernaw deserted the stage and wandered into the crowd to get a close-up look at his fans, while Asylum Records featured the Fan Fair debut of Mandy Barnett, known to fans as the star of "Always, Patsy Cline," in its second season at the Ryman Auditorium.

Brooks & Dunn made an impromptu appearance on the Arista Records show, treating fans to some of their most popular hits. Alan Jackson proved his Fan Fair appeal as throngs of fans scurried to the front of the stage to take his picture.

Naomi Judd hosted Friday afternoon's Multi-Label Show, which featured an eclectic assembly of performances by Sweethearts of the Rodeo, Tim O'Brien, Holly Dunn, Steve Kolander, Western Flyer, Riders In The Sky, and more. Platinum artist Alison Krauss closed the show, receiving a standing ovation. Friday evening's Country Gospel show closed the action with performances by Connie Smith, The Statesmen and others.

Career Records artist Lee Roy Parnell steamed up the stage with his brand of country blues.

Warner Brothers recording artist Faith Hill performed hits from her platinum album, Take Me As I Am and some songs from her upcoming second project.

Indie Spotlight

Jennifer LeClere: Unconditionally Country

MUSIC IS THE MAINSTAY in Jennifer LeClere's life. From Houston, Texas, 18-year-old LeClere has made a name for herself locally by opening for such major country acts as Doug Stone and Tracy Lawrence at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. Realizing she wanted a career in country music and knowing it would take a lot of persavance and tenacity, LeClere has been working on her career for years. That determination, talent and love for country music are proving to be the keys to her success and the driving force that will keep her focus.

Country music today covers a lot of stylistic terrain, which suits LeClere just fine. Her performances are versatile and professional, and her love for country music has laid the foundation for her to carve a distinctive niche for herself using strong songs delivered with heart-stopping vocal passion and instrumental fire.

LeClere divides her energy between high mileage performances and the preservation of her traditional country ideas. She knows how to work an audience and gives 100 percent of herself in every performance. Already a veteran entertainer, LeClere has worked everywhere from county fairs in her home state to the Cristy Lane Theater in Branson, Missouri. She has also performed at the Aladdin Hotel in Las Vegas and in musical revues at Opryland USA in Nashville.

Onstage, Jennifer projects the inner feeling and emotions each song deserves. "I don't try to pattern myself after anyone. I just want to be known for myself," she says. "If you can't feel the song you're singing, the audience can't feel it either."

One artist that LeClere counts as a major influence is Wynonna. "Whenever I see Wynonna on television, during a performance or on a talk show, she always says something that helps me when I'm going through difficult times. She makes a lot of sense," LeClere says.

LeClere's debut single is "I Would've Been There By Now," written, incidently, by Tanya Tucker. It is currently #74 with a bullet on the Cash Box Top 100 Country Singles chart.

"While I'm performing a song, I'm so caught up in it, it becomes just me and the song. I put everything I can into my performances," she says. With performances of this caliber, Jennifer LeClere is sure to leave her audiences yelling for more.

KBYE Station Robbed

OKLAHOMA CITY'S KBYE was recently robbed and virtually "cleaned out" of most of their positive country product. Dale Wicks, broadcaster at KBYE, reported that the following items were taken from the station: All compact disc and cassette players; computer; fax machine; typewriter; "boom box"; and roughly about 80 compact discs (specifically solo artists A through P).

Cash Box urges other positive country radio stations, Southern Gospel and/or Christian artists, and anyone else who is in a position to help KBYE to do so. Please send any items to the address below:

Album Review

■ STEVE LAWRENCE: Two Steppin' On The Devil

This is an exceptional positive country album. Lawrence's vocals have the earnestness of Ricky Skaggs, yet he retains the individuality of his own sound. Clever lyrics make this album a refreshingly different combination of country and christian music. Outstanding cuts include the title cut, "Throwin' Dirt, Losin' Ground," "Biscuit Song," and "Four More Quarters." Watch out for Steve Lawrence!

COIN MACHINE

Williams' No Fear: Dangerous Sports

CHICAGO—No Fear: Dangerous Sports, the latest pinball release from Williams Electronics Games, Inc., bears the signature of noted designer Steve Ritchie, whose creative genius over the past two decades has had a lasting impact in the pinball world.

Capturing the spirit of a generation that lives on the edge when it comes to their leisure time, No Fear... celebrates the improbable and the seemingly impossible of free climbing, bungee jumping, supercross, NASCAR racing, extreme skiing and much, much more. And most importantly, here is a pinball machine that pays homage to an international cultural phenomenon of No Fear, a distinctive apparel and accessories manufacturer that has taken the fashion industry over the edge.

Commenting on his newest creation, Steve Ritchie noted that "the theme is a natural for me and a stellar design team I've been able to assemble including Greg Freres, Matt Coriale, Dwight Sullivan, Dan Forden, Vince Pontarelli, Carl Biagi, Peter Piotrowski, Scott Slomiany, Lyman Sheats, Brian Morris and Adam Rhine. I love motorcycles," he continued, "and race them off-road as often as I can. I know what 'No Fear' means and have tried to incorporate the fun and excitement I personally experience into this pinball machine, while also expanding the entire scope of the game play to capture the extreme thrills of a variety of dangerous sports. Sports that take place in the air, on dirt and asphalt, as well as in the snow and water."

No Fear... features a dazzling line-up of such world-class champion athletes as supercross hero Jeremy McGrath, extreme skier Glen Plake, water ski jumper Sammy Duvall, driving daredevil Robby Gordon and free climber Dan Osman. The result is a non-stop, adrenaline pumping, heart-thumping, life-threatening extreme sports experience unlike any other, with a molded, fully articulated talking skull being an integral interactive playfield element.

As Steve Ritchie added, "the No Fear skull lives! His jaw moves. His eyes light up. Listen carefully to what he says and he'll tell you everything you need to beat the game. He definitely has an attitude, but he'll challenge players to stretch their limits to a level they may have never thought possible!"

Other features include a spectacular magnetic accelerator on an elevated ramp that can send a ball on a flying leap, mid-air jump. Also, an events-laden selection of Challenge Modes for increased scoring values and the opportunity to play 2, 3, and 4-ball Multiball action sequences. There are Jackpot and Super Jackpot rewards as players make their way to such frenetic levels as Over The Edge where ramp shots are the secret to success; No Limits with all major features starting at a phenomenal 20 million points and increasing in value with each succeeding shot; Fear Fest where multiple Jackpots are activated; and the ultimate Meet Your Maker when the entire playfield comes alive for the taking.

Further information about No Fear: Dangerous Sports may be obtained through factory distributors or by contacting Roger Sharpe at 312-961-1000.
