Remember the original Phantasy Star Online? Repetitive and dull, with a water-thin story line and not very satisfying... at least, it was offline. However, plugging in your Dreamcast to a phone line and getting online was akin to perching yourself on top of some freezing mountain in the middle of nowhere with a Buddhist Monk for company and a ticket to nirvana, only warmer. The whole style of the game, with its fluorescent greens and pinks and blues was one that just begged to be played at night, curled up in a sleeping bag with a bag of munchies and a cold Coke to hand. It brought a whole new meaning to gaming and after a particularly long online stint, going back to a one-player game was not quite the same.

Think about it... since when in any of the Final Fantasy games could you be trapped in some tricky swordplay with a monster on your last hit points, only to be saved by a globule of pink plasma shooting from the other side of a hill, as a trusted comrade came sending up dust clouds as he hurriedly makes his way towards you? It was wonderful and close friendships were made. But after a while it all went wrong once people realised that you could do more than just play the game... after all, who'd want to do that eh?

Abuse Of The System

You see, the first couple of months were great. You would log on and meet with a few people, get through the pleasantries then beam down and kick some Ragol ass. With only four dungeons though, this soon got boring – it was just hack and slash all the way. The odd rare item was found, but the novelty of these was short-lived through the event of hackers, dupers (people duplicating items) and Action Replay users. As a result, the action moved onto conversation; people would just stand around yakking about cyber-sex with those cute little androids and doing all manner of activities... including having online weddings (and we should know, because we were witnesses at one... urgh). This was no bad thing... (well, maybe if you're the kind of gamer who never leaves their bedroom) but it wasn't what the game was designed for.

So enter Phantasy Star Online Ver.2; Sega's attempt to add some much-needed freshness to the proceedings. A lot of people have been looking forward to this as after all, Phantasy Star Online is one of the biggest online games ever and certainly the biggest console one at any rate. An

"In Battle mode, you can team up with somebody or maybe go for a one-on-one deathmatch with another team"

Magical Mags

Once you start playing Phantasy Star Online and have a mooch around to get used to the controls, you might wonder what the floating thing that hovers behind your shoulder is. Well, don't panic – it's the friendly Mag that all Rangers have. Mags are actually intelligent little creatures that help out their owners when they're in trouble by storing up Photon Energy; when it's fully charged, this energy can be unleashed in the form of either an attack or other power depending on how your Mag evolves.

the form of either an attack or other power depending on how your Mag evolves.

Of course, you've got to help your Mag evolve in the first place – although it starts out as a weak helpless creature, you can feed it various items that build up its stats and eventually change it into another form. What you feed it determines the outcome of what it becomes, so make sure you keep tabs on what you give it; the difference between an offensive or defensive Mag depends on it!

One of the things that makes Phantasy Star Online so great is going online and seeing hundreds of different characters and classes. It's a joy to sit down and fiddle around until you have the perfect reflection on how you truly want to look...

update to something of this magnitude is not an everyday occurrence... but you should note the keyword 'update' there. The problem here is that a lot of people will be disappointed with this disc because it's not a new game, it just adds to the Phantasy Star Online experience rather than revamping it totally.

All This And More

So what can you expect with this disc? Well, the first change you will notice is that the hidden costumes in the original game are now freely available, if you're starting a character from scratch. To be honest though, if you are not planning on going online, that's your lot. The original was notorious for being dull offline and sadly, the same applies here. There is a new difficulty mode (Ultimate), complete with a shiny new Dragon... err, and that's it. Those of you with no intention of going online might as well stop reading right now, because this game clearly isn't going to be for you. Of course, it's an entirely different matter altogether if you've got Much like an episode of Scooby-Doo, Ragol is literally littered with traps everything from exploding proximity mines and ambushes from tons of monsters, to giant slabs of rock waiting to fall on your head. Those of you with sharper senses might spot them coming, so you'll have to keep your eyes open at all times...

Give Me Options

For starters, when setting up team you have several more options. If you've got your original PSO save game handy, then this is the time to whip it out and load it up - you can use your old character to continue where you left off. Providing you are at or above level 80 with your original Ranger you can choose to play in Ultimate mode, which is a far harder difficulty setting that you have ever seen on this game before.

You can also set up a challenge, which is where you and some buddies to teleport back to Pioneer 2.

The excellent touch about this mode is the way that if one of the members of your team dies, then the mission is over - it adds a whole new element of teamwork to the game and, needless to say, having a varied set of character classes on your side is essential. On top of these rather minor changes though is the addition of two (yes, you read it right, two) totally new areas to explore on top of the usual Forest/Mines/ Caves/Ruins combination that we're all so used to. Strangely, these can only be explored by gamers willing and able to get themselves online – talk about alienating a portion of your target audience. Still, it is meant to be an online game...

"Those of you with no intention of going online might as well stop reading"

Added Incentives

Another nice little touch for those of you going online with PSO is that players who just want to hang out in the lobbies rather than go and kill some monsters can have a bit of a kickabout to keep themselves occupied. Check out the football game available in every lobby you'll have to get a bit of a team together (in fact, it's the perfect opportunity to start your own online league... hey, everyone's got to start somewhere) but once you've got several people involved, it's goal-scoring action all the way. It's especially cool because the ball often takes the form of things besides a football - there's nothing quite like kicking a giant Chu Chu or a large orange Kapu Kapu (both from Chu Chu Rocket,) around the pitch on a Sunday afternoon.

The other major addition to the world of Phantasy Star Online is something that before now was only available to those of you who used cheats and were totally unsporting... yes, you can now kill each other instead of helping out. Head into the new Battle mode and you can sort out all manner of deathmatch goodies – whether it's a basic one-onone fight or a massive team brawl where anything goes, you can go all out and kick some Ranger butt.

For beginners out there, there's even the option to reduce everyone else's levels right down to nothing; useful when you're only a newbie and everyone else has been slaying dragons left, right and centre. Of course, you'd think that this battle option might not be much cop thanks to the way that PSO works, but it's actually quite fun – the arenas available are well-designed and there is plenty opportunity for hiding and stealth, as well as all-out gunfights. Just remember that brute force isn't always the best option...

Unfortunately though (aside from a ton of new weapons and armour to collect) this is about all the new disc has to offer. In no way is this new release going to convert PSO-haters, but for

The Secret Society

> If you want to get anywhere down on Ragol, you'll need to become a member of the Hunter's Guild – the only place where you can actively sign up for various missions down on the planet surface. Once you've started a mission, it's your duty to finish it... unless you chicken out because it's too tough. Of course, that isn't the way to become a true hero now, is it?

- Before you can even think about leaving the Pioneer 2, you'll need an actual reason to do so that's why nipping in to collect a mission from the Hunter's Guild desk is essential. Have a chat with the lovely lady behind the desk and choose from the list to start your mission...
- Much of the time, accepting a mission will cause people to appear near the Hunter's Guild desk that will assist you along the way.
   Depending on what the mission involves, they may give you valuable information or even come with you... although you'll have to protect them if they do.
- Of course, completing a mission isn't as easy as you might think even the very early missions in the Forest area require you to fight your way through a horde of monsters after your blood. Usually, you'll have to clear an area of enemies before you can progress to the next...

everybody out there who found themselves victim to 'Phantasy Fatigue' (you know the symptoms - co-worker late every morning, red rings round the eyes, stumbling into things whilst muttering about monogrinders and agitos) this might be worth considering.

It renews the old excitement of logging on to the servers and before you know it a whole slew of memories will come washing back; old friends will be met and new ones will be made. The only problem here is that you'll need to own the new DreamKey 3.0 in order to get online and if you haven't already got one... well, you might be out of luck, unless you can get online from a regular PC and order one that way (you can't get online with your Dreamcast to order one without it... go figure). Still, those of you who are totally stuck will probably be able to pick a suitable replacement from a reputable import shop if you look hard enough... ത Gary Adams

Dream A Little DreamKey

As we've mentioned, Phantasy Star Online ver.2 is meant to be played online to get the full experience - naturally, that means you'll have to connect to the Internet before you can do so. Of course, you'll be reading this well after 28 February which means that Sega has stopped providing an online service... bugger, eh? So now, you'll just have to take your new DreamKey 3.0 and... what's that? You haven't got one? Oh dear – then you find yourself in a spot of bother then.

You see, all Dreamcast users had to sign up for a new DreamKey through DreamArena before the end of February in order to receive their discs - if you didn't do so, you can't order one through your Dreamcast. The only way to get hold of one now is to head for www.segaeurope.com via a regular internet-capable PC and order one by using your DreamArena e-mail and password as access. If you haven't got those to hand, you're well and truly buggered... looks like you'll have to stick to playing all those offline games instead, eh?

2ND OPINION

If you're a company planning to release the same game all over again, the genre is all-important – you can get away with it in some cases. Beat-'em-ups... yep, that's reasonably acceptable (as the StreetFighter series has shown). Puzzle games okay we'll take Puzzle games... okay, we'll take that as well (Bust-A-Move, anyone?). As a rule though, adventure games suck when done as carbon copies. Unless you've either got money to burn or a serious obsession about Phantasy Star – and plan to meet your 'soul mate'. mate' online... yeah, not sad – then don't bother with this rather obvious cash-in of a game. - In case you haven't been paying attention, M-SR was originally a launch title for the Dreamcast. Delayed?
- Normally, Mart absolutely hates 'realistic' racing games... but he loved M-SR. Don't you just hate it when that happens?
- > Racing games that Mart can't stand to be in the same room as include Gran Turismo, Ridge Racer V and (unfortunately) Sega GT.

Finally, after more months than we can count on our pudgy little fingers, Metropolis Street Racer really IS about to arrive. Are you excited yet? Well, you should be - despite being quite a bit different to all the other racing games out there at the moment. we can categorically tell you that M-SR is one of the finest games we have laid our hands on for a very, VERY long time. Of course, when we say games we mean games in general – we ain't just limiting ourselves to the racing genre here, people. Comprendez?

You Know You Want It

Right, so if you haven't just skipped ahead and checked out the final score before going off to make a cup of tea, you'll probably be interested to know exactly what it is that we love about M-SR so much. Not surprisingly, the answer is pretty much everything - from the moment you turn it on, you can tell that all the extra time and effort that the bods at Bizarre Creations put into producing the finest game they could muster really paid off. Hats off to them; they might have annoyed us constantly by putting the game back and back because they weren't happy with it but at the end of the day, you've got to love them for what they've finally come up with.

As you'd expect, M-SR is a driver's game; much in the same vein as Sega GT and Ferrari 355 Challenge, fans of the genre will be in absolute heaven while most of you who have a hatred against realistic racing games will probably be put off from the start. We only say 'most', though, because unlike the aforementioned racers, M-SR goes out of its way to try and win non-car loving types around by being the most accessible racing game out there. It works too - there's no ridiculous difficulty curve to contend with (Ferrari, that means YOU), you can get your hands on great cars from the go (cough, Sega GT, cough) and what's more... well, it's actually fun without losing the serious racing edge. Really, it is.

Chapter And Verse

Although there's everything on offer that you'd expect from your average racing game (Single Race and Practice modes, Time Trials and so on) you'll most likely be spending much of your time on the Street Racing section of the game simply because that's where all the action is. Think of it as a single-player mode taken to the extreme - there's more challenges, races and extra goodies here than you might have ever thought possible and believe us, you certainly won't be finishing it in a hurry...

Attention To Detail

> Ever wanted a game in which nearly every detail can be tweaked and changed depending on how you feel? Well, with M-SR (and as they keep telling us in all our favourite haunts... Burger King, the pub and the local VD clinic) 'You've got it!" Virtually everything in the game can be customised to suit your taste - the more time you put into it, the more things you can play around with and make your own. Examples? Well, the cars can be messed around with until they look exactly how you want them to; the colour, windows, whether you have a hard or soft top and even your licence plate can be personalised accordingly. The races can be made as hard as you like thanks to the adjustable target system – you'll get more Kudos for beating those tougher times as well. Heck, even the messages that appear on screen and the in-car entertainment system can be messed about with... what more do you

Fastest Lap

SLIDE IT BABY! MONKEY! 00005 2ND 80 in Tokyo and there isn't a LAPIOFE 45 MPH cloud in the sky. Ain't that

Around The World

As we've reported so many times in the past, M-SR features tracks set in three different locations from around the world - London, Tokyo and San Francisco. Rather than just coming up with a few random courses and chucking in local landmarks to make it look like these places though, Bizarre Creations has gone for ultra-realism and used real maps to create their courses. When you're racing past the Houses Of Parliament, zipping through Fisherman's Wharf and speeding down cramped alleys in Shibuya, just think that you could actually do that in real-life... if you could afford a top car and the plane tickets, that is. Even better, the game plays out in real-time according to the clock in your Dreamcast once you've set it up correctly you can take a trip round Tokyo in the early morning, dash around San Francisco after lunch and still be back at Buckingham Palace in time for tea with the Queen. Smart just typical?

"There's virtually nothing wrong with M-SR — in trying to deliver the best pure racing game on the Dreamcast, it's gone and done just that"

The premise is simple – split into 25 different chapters, there are ten races in each one for you to complete... yep, that's 250 separate races for those of you who aren't so hot at maths. Every time you successfully finish the challenges in a chapter, you'll receive a new car to add to your garage, although more can be earned through various 'special' races during each chapter... there are over 50 cars in total, so you'll be here for a while. Don't think for a second that you'll just be speeding round and beating other cars, though - there are a large number of tasks to perform ranging from basic Hot Laps (your average lap time has to be lower than the target) and Timed Runs (complete three laps in a set time) to One-On-One sprints and even full-blown Championship competitions. But even all this is just the tip of the iceberg...

Kudos To You, Fella

You see, being a success in M-SR is all about Kudos - by driving particularly well, performing hair-raising handbrake turns and avoiding collisions with obstacles and other cars, you'll be awarded valuable Kudos points. While you'll need a rather large amount of Kudos before being allowed to move onto the next chapter. it's not always easy to earn; pulling off handbrake turns through each corner in order to build up Style points often results in a reduction in Skill points and vice versa. Thankfully, you can earn Jokers that can be bet on each challenge - win and you'll double the number of points earned instantly but if you lose... well, your score won't be looking too healthy afterwards.

Still, with the whole game focused on customising everything to your own tastes (check out the 'Attention To Detail' section for more information on that) you'll be pleased to hear that you can up your Kudos level by tweaking the challenges to suit your abilities. Sure, the game offers basic goals that need to be met before each one is complete but usually, even a trained baboon (or Simon at a push) can make

This is possibly the best racing game ever made on any system. The visuals are nothing short of superb, with the cities perfectly designed from the biggest building down to the smallest waste bin. You can't help but be impressed by the attention to detail that applies as much to the realistic physics as the graphics. And if that wasn't enough, they've somehow managed to cram in a damn good game that's so deeply involving you'll end up squatting unshaved in front of your Dreamcast wondering where wondering where your life went. those with little trouble. To top up your Kudos, you'll need to make things a bit tougher for yourself and that's where the adjustable goals come into play. For example, while you might be set a basic limit of 35 seconds for a lap around St James' Park, your superior driving skills can easily shave a good 15 seconds off that. The answer? Lower the limit, sprint round the track in double quick time and earn yourself a whole bag of Kudos into the bargain. Like we said, a fantastic idea.

The Car's The Star

Quite shockingly (and after much extensive playing time) we're pretty sure that there's virtually nothing wrong with M-SR because in trying to deliver the best pure racing game on the Dreamcast, it's gone and done just that. It's easy enough for the casual gamer to get into without being discouraged and yet offers enough challenge and skill for hardcore driving nuts to love it to pieces. If there was one complaint, it would be that despite allowing you to customise your car how you like it, you can't actually fiddle with the car itself - however, if the difference between winning or losing was shortening your rear axles by half an inch, non-fanatics would switch off immediately so it can only be a good thing in the end. Face the fact; you might have had to wait ages for it to arrive and had all your PlayStation-loving friends point and laugh at you, but now it's time to turn the tables. Buy M-SR, sit them down in front of it and then tell them to go and shove Ridge Racer V up their arses. You know it makes sense.

good. In the past few months, the quality and quantity factor has been nigh on equal, with the sublime Chu Chu Rocket, and arcade-perfect Zombie Revenge being the two shiniest diamonds in the pre-Christmas software release rough. So, with its first international Christmas behind it, the Dreamcast can rest on its laurels until well into the spring, right? Not a chance.

Careening down a one-way street, mindlessly scattering the pedestrians in its path, comes Crazy Taxi. Another arcade-perfect conversion of a Naomiboard coin-op, with a welcome host of new additions to boot. This beauty wasn't expected to arrive in Japan until late-January, but nonetheless a fully reviewable copy for the UK market arrived in our surprised (but no less sweaty) palms at the beginning of December... and no work was done for a week... or maybe three. In fact, what happened to Christmas and New Year?

For those who haven't frequented their local arcade hall for a while - or who missed our Crazy Taxi feature last issue a brief explanation of the game's aim is perhaps called for. You choose a cabbie, you drive around the city, you pick up a passenger, you take them to their destination, and you perform tricks for extra tips. Repeat until you run out of time. There, is that brief enough?

As with all great ideas, Crazy Taxi's premise is a simple one, but in practice it is a turbo-charged, tan-yellowed beauty of epic proportions. It's a fullyleaded adrenalin rush experience to belt it full throttle over a hill, leaping over trams and cars in a ludicrous Streets Of San Francisco homage. Like Driver on PlayStation, pedestrians leap out of your path (no matter how hard you try and hit them) trash cans and newspaper booths bounce off of your bonnet, and fellow commuters honk and beep as you side-swipe them. The arcade game was pure fun squeezed into a plastic display cabinet, and the Dreamcast version is an exact carbon copy with the major plus points of two additional gaming modes: Original and Crazy Box.

"You Lookin' At Me?"

The Arcade mode does exactly what it says on the tin - it's no more, no less than a flawless arcade conversion. What else would you expect? If Sega isn't able to successfully port over one of its own Naomi-board games over to the Dreamcast then something is sorely amiss. After all, this was one of the main selling-points for Sega's überconsole in the first place. So, the quick-fix nature of the Arcade game is accounted for, but it

Three Degrees Of Crazy

It's not simply a matter of taking your prospective fare to their desired destination. Oh, no. Crazy Taxi positively encourages you to earn tips by performing the kind of saucy moves seen in the Dukes Of Hazzard. Here's the big three:

Crazy Jump

Well, those conveniently placed ramps on the back of some of the trucks aren't simply there for decoration. Cannonball over congested traffic, give your passenger a brown trouser moment and rake up some top-tippage in the process.

Crazy Drift

The successful execution of a Crazy Drift requires you to quickly shift into reverse whilst driving forwards before yanking it back into drive again and steering hard left or right. A tad fiddly at first, but the whoops and hollers of your passenger will let you know if you've done it right.

Crazy Through

"Hang on to your lugnuts!" The Crazy Through is sure to give you a nervous tick, as you need to drive suicidally close to other cars, trucks and trams. Pulling this one off will require you to suck other vehicles' backdraft, with your first few attempts probably resulting in a multi-car pile-up... never mind, eh?

"Crazy Taxi is a fully-leaded adrenalin rush experience – it's pure concentrated fun, stuffed onto one Sega-patented GD-ROM..."

is the extra features that really add weight to the Dreamcast version. The aforementioned Original mode is essentially the same game, but with shiny new hubcap extras, like completely new locations, and additional time to pick up fares and explore your surroundings.

The third gaming mode is Crazy Box: a cheeky arcadey take on Gran Turismo's Licence mode, where you need to perform a number of tasks within a time limit. These vary from the bog-standard dropping off of a fare, to bursting 20 balloons, and even knocking over seven sets of bowling pins. What's that, Billyserious-pants? You expected something a little more realistic?

In a true test of console might, Crazy Taxi was vying for attention with the PlayStation biggie Gran Turismo 2, which arrived in the DREAMCAST MAGAZINE Office at the same time. There could be no greater way of ascertaining the power or lack thereof - of Dreamcast. Whilst the initial crowds swarmed around our preliminary bashes of the Crazy one, some were tempted away by GT2 (bloody heathens!) but most soon came back. The consensus of opinion being that they were underwhelmed by the dull graphics and tired gameplay offered by Sony's driving effort, and were eager to try out as the office's top cabbie.

Which brings us along nicely to the fact that a modicum of skill is required when it comes to hitting the streets. The time limit means that you can't really afford to swan off on a sightseeing tour, so it pays to stop as close to a prospective passenger as possible (they have a coloured stop zone encircling them - aim for the middle and you can't go far wrong). Also, mastering the Crazy Drift (aka, a temporary speed boost) will allow you to reach your destination that much quicker, ensuring customer satisfaction and the resultant big tip. Whilst customers like a dash of excitement thrown in with [1] Gena's bumper is the kind we'd like to pull up to. [2] The overhead camera allows you to play the game in a Grand Theft Auto style... or something like that. [3] Whoa! Gena's no slowpoke, and she rakes up some major tippage as a result.

Opening The Crazy

The major addition to the Dreamcast version of Crazy Taxi is the thumbrottingly addictive Crazy Box mini-game mode. Initially, there are nine mini-games on offer, with a further seven being opened after you successfully complete some of the challenges.

Once it has got its hooks in you, the Crazy Box mode will take over from the main Arcade and Original gaming options. Primarily because the challenges can be so tough, so frustrating, and so God-damn compulsive! All played within tight time limits, the challenges can range from bursting a number of balloons; knocking down giant bowling pins, picking up and dropping members of a baseball team, and running a complete circuit of the Arcade course. Here's some of the more memorable buggers:

Crazy Bowling

Catapult your cab down a giant bowling alley, performing Crazy Drifts to knock down the seven sets of bowling pins. The corners are nasty in this nightmarish test of speed, dexterity and nerves

The designer of this one deserves to be shot. As hard as nails, Crazy Zigzag 2 can bring grown men to tears. You need to drop each one of your seven passengers off on a corner of the jetty. Bugger up your Crazy Drift and you'll find yourself on a one-way trip to Davey Jones's Locker.

Crazy Party

"Take me out to the ball game!" Planning is everything on this beauty, as each of the seven baseball players dotted around the game map need to be picked up in strict order if they are to reach the ball game in time. Feel free to use solid objects as emergency brakes... we did!

Crazy Attack

The final challenge is only accessed after all the other Crazy Boxes have been opened. and is currently the only one that the we have yet to master. It sounds simple: complete an entire circuit of the Arcade course. However, you are only given four minutes, and the roads are more congested than Marlon Brando with a particularly nasty head-cold Meaning that this one's as tight as a gnat's chuff. We will break

OTEN STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE

Crazy Cabbies

There are four eager cab drivers aiming to make the scene in Crazy Taxi. Each of them have their uniquely modelled yellow-toned mode of transport, as well as an individual style replete with witty catchphrases and comments. DREAMCAST MAGAZINE runs through the roll-call, as well as explaining exactly what their licence plates mean.

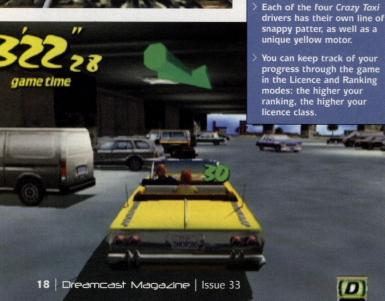

Age: 21

Licence Plate: 1NOM155 – 'I no miss' or 'I don't make mistakes'.

Background: Green-haired punk Axel became a 'crazee' cabbie because he reckoned it would be cool. Apparently, Axel excels in showing his customers a good time, but since Crazy Taxi is a family game, we can only assume that means he ensures they see all the sights. As well as driving a cab, Axel also plays in a punk band (explains the green hair, then) attempts to pull women (probably just as badly as we do) and meditates (presumably not when driving though).

[1] If you fail to reach their destination in time, the passenger will bail... even if they're on a busy dual-carriageway!
[2] If you were in any doubt that this game is crazy, how about picking up a fare underwater? Nice scuba gear, mate!

Age: 25
Licence Plate: 2HOP260 – 'Let's get wild and crazyl'

Background: All BD wants to do is make people happy, hence his reason for becoming a cabbie. BD doesn't just perform in his cab either, as he can often be found banging out tunes on a set of garbage can lids in the street. The man who considers being a cabbie as 'far too much fun' has also recently taken up card tricks.

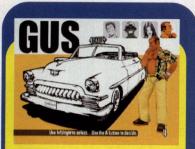

their cab ride, you can wave goodbye to a decent tip if you spend more time banging off of other vehicles and landmarks than sticking to the asphalt.

"Fare Enough, Ol' China!"

The code that DREAMCAST MAGAZINE was sent for review displayed a few disturbing glitches. For instance, the frame rate on the Dreamcast-exclusive Original mode was a tad choppy, speeding up and slowing down in an arbitrary manner. Also, extended play would occasionally result in the road and surrounding areas becoming either transparent or turning pitch black - this would make for a panicinducing cab ride as you slam straight into a temporarily invisible wall. However, this is the basic kind of stuff that gets kicked into touch during playtesting, so these should be distant memories by the time it hits the shelves.

A final mention should go to the different camera modes available for a test drive. Whilst the default 'behind the car' is the undisputed champ, you are also given the opportunity to view the action from above (a la Grand Theft Auto), from the side, from the front (only if you're completely barking, as you can't see what's coming), and even from a 'director's style' action camera. The latter

Licence Plate: ONLY777 - 'Only aim for Background: This veteran was the first driver to introduce the crazy style of driving. A trendsetter since he was a tearaway hooligan, Gus is fond of his 1955 jalopy cab. On his off-days, Gus is a master strategist on the card playing scene, which apparently taught him that losing was the key to personal enhancement. Which must make the DREAMCAST MAGAZINE team the most 'personally enhanced' monkeys on the block is not for those who take their Crazy driving seriously, but is a barrel of laughs, as it allows you to view the driving action as if it was from a Hollywood movie.

Crazy Taxi reminds you exactly why you play videogames: it's pure concentrated fun, stuffed onto one Segapatented GD-ROM. This is the perfect antidote for those race junkies who have become a tad jaded by the de rigeur 'real' driving sims currently jostling for shelf space. Crazy Taxi offers willing and open-minded gamers a wild and whacky rollercoaster ride, with quality extras that add depth to the admittedly limited Arcade mode. Ladies and gentlemen, we have another top-notch Dreamcast title to add to the burgeoning line-up. Nice one, Sega. "Hey! Get off the sidewalk, jerk-off! Cabbie coming through!"

Stuart Taylor

Licence Plate: 5EXY515 - 'Sexy sister!' Background: The lass with the sass has no overriding desire to make her customers happy, as Gena's work satisfaction comes from hacking her yellow motor down the busy streets at full whack. Any chap who falls for Gena's seductive image should be warned that she has not got time for men in her life... Gena's car is her one and only passion.

[3] Lucky for Axel, the game doesn't register vehicle damage... even if you wrap your front-end around a tree. [4] Gus slams on the brakes for a nigh on perfect drop off... the glowing green box indicates the passenger's destination.

- Probably one of the most famous cab drivers is Travis Bickle, the vigilante nutter portrayed by Robert De Niro in the film Taxi Driver.
- The best way to nark off a cabbie is to count out your exact fare very slowly, and not give them a tip (but we wouldn't recommend that, of course).

2ND OPINION

As far as I'm concerned this is the game of the year – and it's only January. It's nothing short of brilliant, purely by its virtue of being such fantastic fun to play. It really is crazy. Without any kind of Championship play you might think that it won't last long. Wrong. You will be coming back to Crazy Taxi time and time again, such is it's addictive nature. If you're only going to buy one game this year this has to be it, as your life can never be complete if you don't own this gem of a game. Now, if you'll excuse me, I've just got to go and get my hourly fix. Alex Warren

All sorts of weird obstacles.

Ubi Soft's first Dreamcast racer makes Sega Rally 2 look about as exciting as driving a supermarket shopping trolley!

Now we all know that gambling's bad. Yes, it may be legal, but it results in people losing their money, their partners and their homes... er, except the lucky few that win of course, but that doesn't make it right! Ubi Soft however is set to turn all Dreamcast owners into compulsive gamblers with its new racing game Speed Devils.

If you had to make comparisons, then Speed Devils is most like the Need For Speed games on the PlayStation and Beetle Adventure Racing on the N64. But it's a lot better. What it has in common with these games is the size and variety of the tracks. Each circuit that you race on is absolutely huge and packed with all sorts of crazy short-cuts, features and obstacles that turn this title from... well, from a great racing game into a really great racing game.

Crazy Track Antics

The tracks in Speed Devils aren't straightforward, oh no. With each lap that you take you encounter hazards such as rock falls, cranes, bulldozers, ramps, military vehicles, giant animatronic gorillas, alien spacecraft and tornadoes to name just a few. Each of these features can drastically affect the way the race runs. You might, for example, be running along quite happily in first place when suddenly a sign flashes a landslide warning and before you know it a positive avalanche of boulders has knocked your car for six!

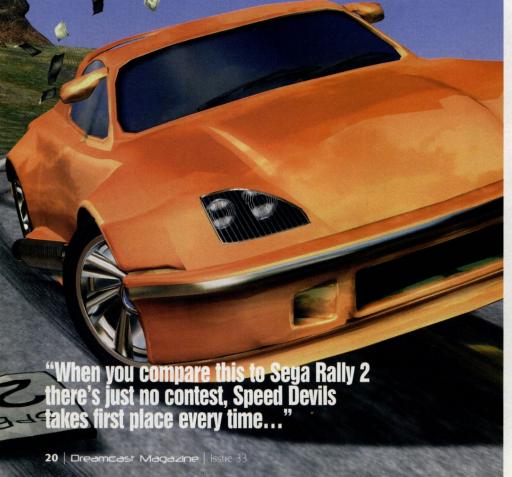

When you first begin a game in Championship mode you are given the cheapest.

[1] You've got to watch out for the UFO tractor beams — if they make contact with you they scoop you up and send you flying off course.

[2] Take a turn through Hollywood and you'll find all sorts of strange obstacles, including an animatronic ape and this T-Rex!

It's lap two on the Nevada track and one of the UFOs comes to grief.

most battered car you can imagine and thus your first race isn't necessarily the easiest because this car isn't exactly a performance model. So what you have to do is make a bit of money, because once you've earned some cash you can repair the damage, buy extra parts and also upgrade to a better model of car. Which brings us to the question: how do you

Money Makes the World Go Round!

Money is earned in a number of ways. The most obvious way to get some dosh is to win a race, but you also get cash bonuses for having the fastest lap time, the highest top speed and for 'busting' speed cameras which basically involves driving so fast that when the cops try to clock you, your speed goes off the scale. The other way to make cash is through betting.

Now unfortunately in Speed Devils - as in life - you need money to make money. This means that you've got to earn some cash the hard way before you can start gambling. Once you've got a bit of cash behind you though the other racers in the game start making bets with you and - assuming that you win - the cash comes rolling in. The more cash you get, the better you can enhance your car and the bigger the wagers become.

Speed Devils is a superbly addictive game which really gets your adrenaline flowing. A variety of different options are available after each race and the fact that rather than just Great game! That's about all I can say on the matter because I need another fix of the speedy action Ubi Soft have created here Okay, a few more words. Ever since I played an early version of Speed Devils over in Paris with Ubi Soft I have been in love with the game. Everything is really well put together: the cars look great, the cks are long and challenging and the animation as you race around is superb. Play back a lap on replay and you'll notice hundreds of things you missed when racing. All Dreamcast players should have this game!

∴ So Gran Turismo's the greatest ∴ racing game ever made, huh? Well, sorry to ruin the party Sony, but there's a new kid riding into town and quite frankly, it kicks some serious butt. So you still wanna fight? Make no mistake, Gran Turismo's reign as king of the console racers is about to come to an abrupt end. Why? Because Sega GT is here.

A Grand Day Out

Like Gran Turismo, Sega GT is one of those games that once you've settled down to play, you'll find infuriatingly hard to leave alone. If you think that it's the sort of game that you can sit down with for a quick spin you'd better think again, as there's no way that you'll be able to play this game for anything less than a month at a time. Be warned now - it will swallow your days whole without you even realising, such is the compulsive nature of the gameplay.

As with Gran Turismo, there's a whole series of licence tests which you must endure before you can graduate from of official and event races for you to get your teeth into, which are where the big bucks are sitting ready to be made. The more races you win, the more money you earn, giving you the funds for those allimportant upgrades when you head into the garage. New tyres, engine tuning, new brakes and suspension - you name it, you can tinker with it, thus transforming moderate cars into shadows of their former selves. More importantly though, it means new cars. And when we say new cars, what we really mean to say is a fleet of new cars. Over 100 enough for you?

Zone at 175mph blows

Do It Yourself

> So you've unlocked every car in the game, mastered them all and won every race with them all, leaving you just one challenge – make your own. Just head down the Carrozzeria and build your very own personalised gas-guzzling super car. But it's not as easy as it looks as you'll have to test it rigorously and tweak the set-up to perfection before you can stand a chance of winning races. Just make sure you've got enough money for those all-important upgrades.

First up you've got to choose what size engine you want.

It gets more technical as you decide your engine set-up.

With an impressive choice of bodies, it's a tough decision.

So where do you want the power of your car?

Finally, pick the colour and hey presto - you have your own car!

Highway To Heaven

Featuring 17 manufacturers with cars on show, including the likes of Honda, Peugeot, Toyota and Mazda, as well as the newly recruited Ford, Dodge and Fiat licences, to say that you're spoilt for choice would be something of an understatement. Even better, you can feel even the smallest of differences between the cars in terms of speed and handling, which creates a real affinity between driver and vehicle - a sure sign of a great racing game if ever there was one. The cars themselves handle like a dream for the most part, although you will get one or two which slip and slide about like a to handle. But then if you're not satisfied, you can just build your very own personalised dream car down the

But it's not just the massive range of cars and compulsive gameplay that Sega

[1] Graphically Sega GT is the perfect accompaniment to Ferrari 355 and MSR. [2] The car models might not be the greatest ever seen, but they're licensed, and they handle like a dream. [3] As with every racing game there's the obligatory snow-covered mountain stage, but you can hardly complain when it looks this good. [4] You're going to have to drive your socks off to complete all the licences and open all the expensive high-powered cars.

- European? We get more cars and manufacturers than the Japanese.

- In Japan the game was called Sega GT: Homogolation Special.
- Play this game for too long and you'll think that you can actually drive in real life, even if you haven't passed your driving test.

[1] Just check out the wealth of options available to you... now where do you start? [2] Aah... the Dodge Viper. If you want a really vast car then this is the beast for you. has deigned to spoil us rotten with. Hell no. Not content with providing us with garage-loads of cars and races galore, Sega has only gone and given us one of the best-looking, not to mention realistic, racing games that you're ever likely to see. Gran Turismo might have been the benchmark for racing games on the PlayStation in terms of numbers and depth, but let's face it, it was hardly the most attractive kid on the block.

In contrast, Sega GT not only plays the part - it looks the part too, with each car made up of over 1200 polygons, and the courses proving to be idealisticallyrealised backdrops. In other words, it looks gorgeous - at least for the most part. One or two of the courses, generally the city-based ones, do leave a little to be desired in their general appearance and lack of graphical panache on. As you speed along the twisting tracks of the countryside you can't help but take in the majestic views on offer, but here's a little tip - save it for the replay, as you'll need all your concentration for the road ahead.

No Tourists Please

However, as with most games, Sega GT does have one particularly vicious thorn in its otherwise unblemished side. The music. Quite why developers continue to punish our ears with some of the worst in-game music ever is one of life's little secrets, and looks to remain so. It's not that it's a problem that's exclusive to this game either - just look at the way the rock riffs of Van Halen ruined the otherwise delightful experience of that other Sega-driving gem, F355 Challenge the music off and listen to the purr of the engine and the screeching of the tyres, which is an altogether more appealing proposition.

In the end, there's no denying that as racing games go, Sega GT has got it all. It might not quite have the looks of F355 but the fact that it has over 100 cars and 22 tracks more than makes up for that. The addition of the first proper VM minigame (see boxout) is just another plus, making it an incredibly well-rounded package. Basically what we're saying is that if you're a driving fanatic and want a racing game that not only looks great but has the ability to keep you hooked for hours, Sega GT is undeniably the game to keep your every whim happily satiated. Accept no imitations. ⑥

EXCLUSIVE REVIEW!

New city, new taxi drivers... same old game? Well, maybe – but that doesn't stop us from loving it all over again...

• It's the nature of the beast – wherever • a popular movie, book or game reigns supreme, there lurks a hastily bashedtogether seguel on the horizon. The Mummy had The Mummy Returns (nowhere near as good, even if The Rock was in it), the Harry Potter series has the words 'flog' and 'horse' engraved on its arse and there are countless examples of games with one good idea being run into the ground for the sake of profit... Army Men, anyone? Mind you, every so often a sequel arrives that harbours all the traits of a cash cow – for those of you who didn't go to business school, that's a lowquality product that can be milked for profit... oh, the value of a college education - but turns out to be quite snazzy. And then there's Crazy Taxi 2...

Where To, Guv'nor?

In the true nature of sequels, Crazy Taxi 2 brings all your favourite features from the first game across (fast cars, rich passengers and... err... incredibly obvious advertising) and then slaps a whole bunch of new 'twists' and additions on top of it. Out go the rolling hills and sandy beaches of San Francisco; in come the enclosed back streets and tree-filled parkland of New York. The four familiar taxi drivers are replaced with another bunch of would-be misfits and mayhemmakers (although the originals are still hanging around if you look hard enough). Your car can now 'hop' at the press of a button... yep, these are the things that apparently pass for improvement in this day and age. Great...

However, while these various additions might not appear to add up to much, the good news is that the gameplay that made the first game oh-so-playable is back with a vengeance. Considering that Crazy Taxi was, to all intents and purposes, a pure arcade game with a

While the Small Apple stage is set in the heart of the city, the Around Apple takes you out into the suburbs as well.

The Secret Of The Pyramids

If you've read any of our previews of this rather splendid game in the past, you'll have seen that the Crazy Box has been replaced by the Crazy Pyramid... not that the shape makes much difference. The concept is still the same – play through the various mini-games on offer, unlocking more of them along the way until you make it to the end (or in this case, the top). The closer to the top you get, the harder the challenges become... if you can finish them all though, you might meet some familiar faces and even unlock some new modes of transport. Mmm, baby carriage...

3-2 - CRAZY DROP

The drop-off point might seem really close, but you'll have to negotiate some really horrible platforms to reach it in time..

2-2 - CRAZY ARCHES

Looks easy? Well, it isn't - time that Crazy Hop carefully or you'll drop off the arch and into the water below. Splash!

1-1 - CRAZY TOUR

Last time you only had one passenger to drop off after a tour of the city... now there are 29 of the buggers to deal with!

S-S - CRAZY SPECIAL

The toughest one of all. Visit ALL the drop-off points in the city, in any order, before the time runs out. If you work out the fastest route, it's totally possible..

"As much as we love the game to pieces, we can't shrug off the feeling that many of the changes are simply tacked on for the sake of the sequel"

Saaaf Ov The River

If there's one thing that should be pointed out from the start, though, it's that Crazy Taxi 2 isn't the walk in the park that the first game was. Although it's relatively easy to get to grips with, even the most seasoned taxi driver (so that's us then) will have trouble getting into double figures on their passenger count for the first few runs. It could be down to the complicated maze of back streets and alleys that the visually impressive New York setting offers (all with no slowdown, naturally), the increased distance between drop-offs or the surprising lack of passengers... we just don't know. However, Sega's decision to remove the time/traffic difficulty option - all in the name of online ranking fairness, we hasten to add – along with the heightened challenge gives the game an extra toughness that we applaud on one hand for longevity, but scorn on the other simply because it'll dissuade easily frustrated gamers from playing it.

Don't get us wrong - we're not suggesting for a second that this latest instalment in the Crazy Taxi series is reserved solely for those who've torn the first one to pieces. There are certainly enough differences to prevent fans from getting bored, but the game sticks to the original formula to give first-time players an idea of what they might have missed. Of course, there will always be people who find something to complain about - even with a game such as this. Okay, so it's not exactly much of an improvement over the first game as far as sheer mechanics go. It doesn't look much different, even though it's set in a totally different location, and the music - while head-bangingly enjoyable to our ears - sounds the same because... well, it's Offspring and all their songs pretty much sound the same. Certainly, the lack of a multiplayer game in any form (despite plenty of rumours saying that one was going to be included), as well as no chance to play the game online, puts a severe dent in our expectations of what Crazy Taxi 2 would offer. Even then, though, our enjoyment was barely phased.

Ferrari 355 Challenge

It's been hyped as the most realistic and best racing game to grace any console... but is it actually any good? Don't ask stupid questions.

Let's face it, you're never going to get to drive a real Ferrari 355, let alone see one, unless you've got yourself a small fortune tucked under your mattress - so get over it. And thank God for games. Even from the days of Pole Position and Out Run, computer games have served as the best and only way for so many gamers to fulfil their dreams. It might not be the real thing but it's near enough. However, even the modern day equivalents of Gran Turismo, Sega Rally 2 and Colin McRae fail in the end to recreate the true reality that makes driving fast cars at even faster speeds such an exhilarating and adrenalinepumping experience. But not anymore, because the release of Yu Suzuki's F355 Challenge is set to blur the edges of reality more than any other game before it. In other words, it's gaming perfection.

Reality Bites

Sure, F355 Challenge might well have been an arcade game at its genesis but this is no arcade racer – this is simulation at its highest and most pure level. In this respect the game is more F1 than arcade with precision driving being the nature of the beast – a double edged sword for many. On the one hand it offers the ultimate driving experience that will have hardcore drivers hooked for hours as they try to master the courses; work out all the best angles to take the corners and generally get obsessed with perfection. In contrast, some might find this all a little too serious, but then that's their problem, because you're not going to find a more impressive racing game this side of the galaxy. Yes it's tough, but then where would the challenge be otherwise? In any case, for those who fail to cope with the pace, there's always the Training mode to guide you around the tracks in one piece as well as a number of 'Driver Assists' to help soften the otherwise steep learning curve.

However, the realisation of Yu Suzuki's virtual reality not only relies on authentic gameplay but the visual experience of the game which, quite frankly, is awesome. With the two combined, the end result is mindblowing. Graphically, the game is of such an incredible standard that it takes it to an altogether different strata. Popup? Non-existent. Fogging? Nonexistent. Clipping? Non-existent. Get the picture? All you need do is look at the breath-taking views on offer in the game, the sunset skies, the surrounding scenery and the sleek cars to see just how photo-realistic and amazing it really is. The tracks themselves, of which there are 11, are as demanding as you'd expect, varied and exceptionally enjoyable to race, so no worries there.

Extra information

- If you wanted to buy a real F355 it would set you back £100.000.
- If you wanted to buy the arcade cabinet it would cost you £18,000.
- > Buy the game and the Ferrari Thrustmaster wheel for a near perfect ride for the bargain price of just £90.
- Yu Suzuki, the game's designer, also developed the legendary Out Run.

[1] The sunset skies are just one breathtaking aspect of the game. [2] Make sure you rev the engine up before the lights go green or you'll be left behind. [3] For beginners there's a Training mode to help you get to grips with the tracks. [4] Two players means twice the fun.

Skinned Alive

> There's a fair amount of choices to be made about exactly how you want to personalise your Ferrari, especially in regards to the number of paint jobs on offer. In the end, you can't go wrong with the good old scarlet red.

Le Mans

Have you got the stamina and the endurance to attempt the world's most gruelling race? Better crack open the Red Bull..

. The luge, what's all that about? . Some crazy berk dons a tight-fitting lycra suit, jumps on the sporting equivalent of a dinner tray and hurtles down an icy toboggan run at break-neck speeds, and this is all in the name of sport... why? It's just craziness, like polevaulting. Why is this necessary? When has anyone ever needed to use a pole to gain access to loftier climes? Surely we have stairs, lifts or escalators for that sort of thing? And don't even get us started on the 10,000 metres... get a bus!

When you think about it, a heck of a lot of the sporting events that ensure that certain satellite and cable channels can give you 24 hours of sport 365 days a year are a bit pants. In the world of motor racing, the wooden spoon must surely go to the Le Mans 24 Hours event. Le Mans started in 1923, when cars were not known for either their speed or endurance - back then it was really something rather special for any car not only to travel moderately fast but also be able to keep running day and night. Nowadays though, your average Reliant Robin could attain this feat so, again, what's the point? Well, none that we can see. However, this hasn't stopped Infogrames bringing the Le Mans series to as many different platforms as it can.

And day seamlessly becomes night... now ain't it pretty.

Foursomes

> Normally we don't like highlighting the bleedin' obvious. However, we reckon that this is one of the most enjoyable four-player games available on the Dreamcast and as such, it is worth noting. It looks great, it plays brilliantly and it never drops below 30fps. How good is that?

Hours

So what can this largely esoteric sporting event add to a genre of games that is rapidly becoming fatuous and bloated to grotesque proportions on the Dreamcast? The answer is, surprisingly, quite a lot actually...

Want A New Motor?

Weighing in on the Dreamcast are no less than 22 games in which racing or vehicular action are the main order of the day. Though this is not a number that is comparable to the glut of racing games on the PlayStation, it's still a heck of a lot and most follow a familiar tried and tested pattern, shying away from any kind of originality whatsoever. You know the score; here's some cars, some tracks, combined with a few different modes (Arcade, Time Trial... that sort of thing) and bingo, you've got a winning driving game on your hands. Well, maybe... obviously, M-SR has been the most recent revelation because not only is it a damn good driving game but it also dares to be different with tremendous success. With that in mind, Le Mans' lack of originality would initially seem to be its downfall. Not so, though, as the game is impressive in its own right and for our money, every bit as enjoyable because it doesn't try to add a new twist to the genre but focuses on good old-fashioned gameplay – and it does so to brilliant effect.

A Quiet Drive In The Countries

Le Mans doesn't rely on a popular licence or the appetite-whetting chance to drive some of the world's most desirable cars. Instead it takes a less well-known and largely unappreciated sporting event that is based upon skill and endurance and turns it into a blinding racing game. Remember how popular the Touring Car Championships were, or even how well known Colin McRae was, before Codemasters decided that Ricard Rydell and the flying Scotsman needed to be made popular in such stellar games as TOCA (and sequels) and those rather successful rally games? Exactly! Melbourne House has tried to emulate this success by utilising the 24 hour racing event as a backbone for its game. The developers have fleshed out a fine racing game with a wealth of options and ten tracks (though more would have been nice, as you get 17 in an F1 game) from around the globe that tirelessly challenge and effortlessly impress.

In many of the key aspects of the game, it is hard to fault. It looks awesome, it's certainly the fastest racing [1] Though you don't get full replays, they do look spectacular. [2] The streamlined Audi is rather sexy, but you shouldn't be looking behind you!

"Le Mans takes an established genre and polishes it to ultra-shiny button standards"

TIME 0809,600

[1] Hurtling down the straight as the light begins to fade. It sho' look perdy! [2] If you can't beat 'em you can al least try to slow 'em down! [3] You have to try to get past your opponents any which way you can, but taking a tighter line on corners is extremely effective!

game on the Dreamcast to date and the skill levels (Rookie, Intermediate and Expert) are so well balanced that there's plenty of challenge for even the hardiest driving fan, with enough left in the bag for added replay value. What's more, there is a genuine structure to the game offering you the chance not only to hone your driving skills but also unlock both tracks and a vast array of bonus cars (there are 40 vehicles for you to take for a spin). In fact, the atmosphere and attention to detail (see boxout) makes a lot of racing games that we've seen on the Dreamcast over the last year look somewhat amateurish - every other racing game that follows this will have a very tough job living up to the standards set by Le Mans.

Pit Marks

However, Le Mans isn't quite as finely tuned a game as we might hope. Sure, there are 40 vehicles for you to race but you occasionally get the impression that though the cosmetics of the car have been changed (sometimes drastically) the handling is a little too benign - surely racing cars at speeds in excess of 220kph should be a little more difficult and each vehicle ought to handle more obviously differently than they do. However, the biggest flaw in the game is that for all its attempts at a simulation-type approach (the realistic weather effects, the tyre wear and the atmospheric lighting effects) there's no crash physics - slam into a wall, rival racer or other obstruction and your car is unaffected. Strangely, this influences the way you drive. Without having any real reason to drive properly, other cars are barged out of the way or are used as an extra braking device which allows you to catch up to them, ram into them and eventually pass them with ease. This is not good, it's certainly not sporting and you won't find this sort of thing happening in real-life.

That said, the good clearly outweighs the bad. The graphical fripperies (glowing disc brakes, sparks, smoke, imitation reflections on the cars, weather effects, virtually no pop-up and those amazing lighting effects that transform day almost seamlessly into night) added to some superbly-realistic audio effects all blend with an easy-to-get-into game with plenty of longevity and an excellent four-player mode that is every bit as smooth as it is fast. It may not possess the originality of M-SR nor does it have the allure of a bright red car that makes your knees tremble. However, Le Mans takes an established genre and polishes it to ultra-shiny button standards and as such, is every bit as good a racing game. It really does deserve a place in your ever-growing racing game collection ahead of all other standard driving games that are currently available for your Dreamcast.

Snail Racing

If you are lucky a snail will travel 0.03mph, which by anyone's standards is a mite slow. However, this hasn't stopped people setting up a World Snail Racing Championship. If that doesn't scare you then nothing will...

Whilst we have no problem with people enjoying a nice game of chess, we do have something of a problem with the idea of this game becoming part of the Olympics. We kid you not, the powers that be are thinking about it. Imagine if it were televised live...

This has to be the sporting equivalent of watching paint dry. And yet, should you be unfortunate enough to live with someone who actually likes fishing you'll probably find him/her tuning in to watch berks catching fish on a Sunday on cable TV... WHY, WHY, WHY?

[1] Who needs brakes when you can slam into the back of opponents to slow you down? [2] Racing in the wet can be a treacherous experience. Remember not to attack the corners at high speeds. [3] Night racing looks absolutely stunning, though your headlights seem rubbish.

2ND OPINION

After M-SR, it's only to be expected that comparisons are going to be made between that and every other driving game. You might have expected that M-SR would have left Le Mans languishing in the pits, right? Well, you're wrong. Although it's true you're winig. Atthough it's not quite as much a pure racer as Le Mans and that's where Infogrames' title really shines. Offering as close to the real experience as you're going to get without being French, this is a driver's driving game and if that's your bag then you're going to love every minute of it. A visual and aural treat with plenty of challenge. A great game that leaves others lagging behind. After the original virtually sold the Saturn by itself, can the muchanticipated Sega Rally sequel repeat that startling performance as the world's best arcade racer goes 128-bit?

DEVELOPER IN-HOUSE RELEASE GENRE PLAYERS SAVE GAMES ARCADE STICK, MODEM STEERING WHEEL, JUMP PACK

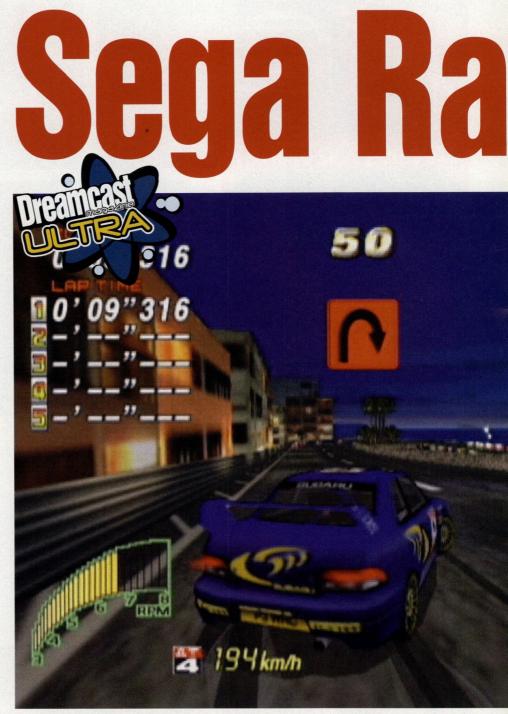

• The instant Sega Rally 2 • hit the arcades, fans of the original flocked from every crevice around the world to play what is now one of the greatest arcade hits of the decade. Gamers repeatedly pumped large handfuls of coins into the arcade machine, so why should the console conversion be any less popular?

After eagerly turning on the Dreamcast and patiently waiting as the new European blue logo pops up, the familiar Sega Rally title screen appears, and with the touch of a button you're presented with a number of options to choose from.

The arcade option is the first to catch your eye, as the temptation to jump straight in and thrash your supercharged rally car around a muddy track provides too great to pass up. With the choice of 'Championship' or 'Practice' appearing before you, the urge to jump straight in, front wheels first, is only natural - after all, there is no time to waste practising when there is a championship to be won!

Easy Left

After choosing one of the nine cars initially available - with bonus cars awaiting you - the quick loading times are a godsend, considering how much detail has been put into the graphics. The wonderful high resolution of the screen looks just fantastic on a large TV - and sounds superb if you have a surround sound set-up. Unlike the hurried Japanese release, us Europeans have the honour of playing the best version of the game (at last!) as improvements to the graphics

You're never going to win the race without a good race car, and there are some impressive machines in Sega's home version of this arcade classic. The game is packed full of statistics that all car buffs are going to go wild for, so lets see exactly what makes these rally cars tick-over!

Ford Escort WRC

A great car not only for the beginner, but for the more experienced driver too. High eds and great handling do the Ford badge justice.

Subaru Impreza

The speed of the game seems true to the arcade, however, the keener eye will spot the odd amount of slow-down as the programming struggles to maintain the striking visuals when large amounts of detail whisk there way onto the screen. Fortunately, your initial

The success of Sega Rally 2 is not solely down to its eyecatching visuals, great lighting and weather effects. With time on Sega's side, it's the little things that make it stand out amongst it competitors, both on the Dreamcast and off. Great course design, varied handling styles of cars (which actually makes driving each car a new challenge), inclusion of the original Sega Rally tracks and the odd spectator risking life and limb by dashing across the race track seconds before you come hurtling around.

There maybe a lack of car damage, CPU intelligence and the limitation of only two camera views, but this is not surprising when you remember that what we have here is a conversion and not an original console idea - still, it would be nice wouldn't it!

Getting used to a new joypad is rarely welcome, as we all have our old favourites, but the longer you spend thrashing your Lancia Delta

[1] The conditions are treacherous as the Celica switches up a gear and looks to mount a serious challenge on the 306. [2] The helicopter pops up out from the clouds once more as you thrash your brand spanking new Celica around the tarmac circuit. [3] By winning in each year of the 10 Year Championship you will unlock one of the many cars hidden within the game. [4] Perhaps the biggest attraction to the Dreamcast is the potential of network gameplay.

Dreamcast controller grows as the analogue throttle and brake introduce a greater feel of control. Sega Rally 2 may not be the best racing game to hit the console - Sony PlayStation's Gran Turismo still holds that honour – but the arcade action is unrivalled and is a must buy for anyone looking for a painless introduction into the racing genre.

A Sega console wouldn't be complete without another conversion of Sega Rally – many Saturns were sold on the strength of the original and I'm sure the same will be true of the Dreamcast. This is one impressive conversion too - turning the Model 3 arcade machine into a 128-bit console masterpiece must have been a tough task for Sega, but we must really take our hats off to them! It's all here - the graphics, the sounds and the addictive gameplay. It's even got a multi-player mode that allows you to play over the Net – great! Nick Roberts thoughts about an inanimate object. If you're stealing hours from the day just to be in its company, showering it in golden coins and climbing inside at every god forsaken opportunity you know you need help, because it's just not natural. Daytona in the arcades was different. It looked good, played even better and even the faint smell of greasy burgers and fries pumping from the nearby kiosk wasn't enough to keep ardent racing fans away from its undeniable charms. How can anything that feels this good possibly be bad? No reason at all, and you've nothing to be ashamed of. Unfortunately, by its very arcade nature, having a major 'thing' for the world's finest racing game has its price - on average a quid a go. But once it had its hook in you there wasn't much you could do. Say it slowly, Day-tone-ahh! Never beaten, never bettered. Never truly converted to a home system. Sure, the Saturn had a fair stab at the job but no matter how much you convinced yourself that you'd finally managed to get the game back to your place for an all-night session without anyone leering over your shoulder, you knew something was missing. It almost looked the same, almost played the same, but you just couldn't ignore the fact that you had ended up on a date with Daytona's uglier sister.

Go Speed Racer!

With this in mind, we come to the Dreamcast version, and it has to be said that first impressions were not good. Fair enough, what we had before us looked and sounded like our favourite coin-op and therefore already had one up on the Saturn. Rolling start? Check. Fiendishly upbeat yet occasionally irksome music and the so impossibly American announcer

(that he's got to be Japanese) shouting positive instructions at you every opportunity? Check. In every way possible, this was more Daytona than we'd thought possible. It seemed like the Holy Grail had finally been found. Then the controller was picked up and all hope was lost. In fact, to say that controlling Daytona on a Dreamcast pad is tricky doesn't really do it justice. It's sensitive to the point of just being plain reckless. If the player wants to turn left, by God, he's going to be turning left all the way to the corrugated barrier. But this is Daytona and no highly volatile control was going to stop us from having what we had been promised and what we knew we deserved.

Out came the pad, in went a Ferrari Wheel and things were never to be the same again. Bingo - solution found! But to say that this game is arcade perfect with a wheel is telling only half the story...

Steve McOueen

Daytona has existed in many incarnations and USA 2000 takes the best from each. We've got three from the original arcade Daytona, two from the Saturn's Champion Circuit Edition and a further two brand new bonus pieces of asphalt joy. Two classic sections and a brilliant newcomer, that's not bad. But when you consider that, amazingly enough, it actually looks better than anything you might find in Sega Park you know that something God-like is in progress.

Now this is when we'll start blinding you with science. If you've never played Daytona then the first thing you'll need to know is that it's arcade racing. Forget all that Vanishing Point will try and tell you about accurate weight shifting and three dimensional physics, because that is strictly for the birds. This is pure powersliding magnificence where cars, in a way only possible through the vehicular use of Velcro, can rip over a rise at speed without flying through the air like led zeppelins. If you smack your tail end into an object, stationary or in motion, you'll tumble through the air on every axis known to man, then land facing the right way. Sure, it makes no sense to anyone who's ever hit a patch of black ice in a Robin Reliant, but it works within the confines of the game. You can also have up to forty stock cars involved in a race, with a maximum of twenty on the screen at one time. And while all this is going on you'll never once feel the frame rate drop below a blistering sixty frames a second and you'll see no pop-up.

Along with the pure seat-of-yourpants sex that is the speed and mayhem of each lap comes the game's vibrant and tongue-in-cheek look. These are cars of many, many colours. Shiny power beasts that could only ever exist in the imaginary world found at the end of any pier thoughout the country. You can almost taste the glorious inheritance of ancient Sega classics seeping through every pore of this puppy. This baby didn't just appear by sheer chance, but is a direct result of the successes and failures of the pioneering racers that went before it. It is truly a game that

Reach Out And Touch Somebody...

Holy hot wheels! Will the miracles of the Internet never cease? Daytona allows you to play against four other players online with the minimum game lag and maximum speed. Still, it does make you wonder why you'd bother. If you want to race against many humans you're still better off playing down the local arcade. You might even meet a real person of the opposite sex and hit it off in a big way. Remember, nothing impresses more than a speed freak racer taking a tight corner while controlling a perfect power slide (pumping garage music optional). Go on, get down there and meet that special person. That special, real person made out of flesh and bits and things

- Daytona is the industry standard blueprint for an arcade racing game
- Daytona's soundtrack matches Aqua's Barbie Girl for being truly disgusting, yet quite pleasant really.
- Arcade wheels never have the same movement as those found in real cars so calling a game an accurate simulation is really absolute billiards.
- Daytona doesn't have this problem as it's not trying to be anything but pure arcade genius. Huzzah!

The traffic radar allows you to see approaching cars, giving you the opportunity to get out, or right in their way. Which is handy stands tall on the shoulder of giants and no mistake.

Automotive Addiction

So you're looking at the screenshots, glancing at the score and wondering what the fuss is about. You see a racing game that looks like it has more in common with the psychedelic ferocity of Teletubbie dodgems than the intricate delicacies offered by Ferrari F355. So you'll probably want to try this out in your local arcade before you reach in your pocket.

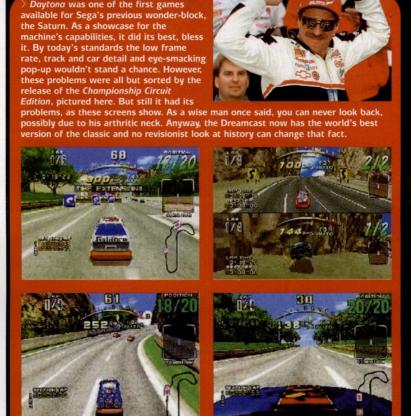

Racing fans are split into two groups. You have those who pretend that they're not looking at a flat screen and are pegging down the lanes of Brands Hatch, and those who have the imagination to enjoy a game without needing the reassurance of men in white coats, notepads and pen retainers. Fact is that the former will fall in love with the game while the latter are really only playing because they can't afford a car that costs the same as Belgium's gross national product. Decide which one you fit into, then forget all about that pretentious nonsense and buy Daytona anyway cos it's the mutt's. ൏

• The smell of burning rubber,
• ludicrous speed, driver rivalries and of course the cars. Let's face it, Formula One must rank as one of the most exciting sports on God's fair earth. Therefore, it came as little surprise when the coupling of the high-speed sport with the power of the Dreamcast produced one of the best interpretations of the sport to have ever graced a console.

Yes indeed, the original Formula 1 World Grand Prix was a racing tour de force. Its combination of great graphics, well-observed detail and downright adrenaline-soaked action ensured that it sold by the lorry-full. However, the game was not without its flaws (albeit small ones), its biggest shortcoming being the omission of a straight Arcade mode, which sadly put off the more casual members of the gaming fraternity.

Fortunately, Video Systems has produced a sequel that tears up the rulebook and improves on its illustrious predecessor in almost every respect. Indeed, F1 World Grand Prix 2 delivers the most comprehensive simulation of the sport yet seen on a console and should also appease critics of the first game, who felt it was too unforgiving.

Pole Position

All the usual trimmings are on offer: variable weather conditions, realistic pit crew (who offer in-race advice), the option to adjust your vehicle's set-up and, of course, the obligatory two-player mode, which suffers from none of the problems typically associated with splitscreen competition. The front end is also up to scratch with realistic engine noises and a notable increase in the graphical quality of the game. Make no mistake, this is a stunning piece of software.

In terms of play modes, this second instalment offers players the choice of Single Race, Time Attack and Championship modes. Single Race, as the title implies, allows wannabe Michael Schumachers to select any one of the game's gloriously realised 16 tracks (yes, that includes the new Sepang track in Malaysia) and then compete against some of the world's greatest drivers in a one-off pedal-to-the-metal competition. Time Attack mode is self explanatory, but for the benefit of you Daily Mail readers out there, it basically allows you to pit your skills against the clock in a bid to obtain the fastest times.

The game's Gallery mode is a fine inclusion. Here F1 fans can examine the cars in glorious detail well as being able to check up on the statistics of the various drivers. Fans of the sport will no doubt be in their element here.

Naturally, the most substantial challenge can be found within the game's comprehensive Championship mode. Here players can select from any of the 11 F1 Teams, as well as choosing from all 22 of last season's drivers. Unfortunately, the game features statistics from the 1999 season so don't expect to see Jenson Button on offer in the Williams camp (an option to change drivers around between teams would have been a nice addition).

Winners' Podium

Fortunately, such trivialities become academic when you enter the Championship and realise just how much the game has to offer. Three difficulty settings are available (Amateur, Pro and Expert), lending the game a beautifully graded learning curve, and even Grand Prix aficionados will find themselves tested by the impressively intelligent computer opponents.

However, at the end of the day, the most important factor in any racing game is the feel of the vehicles and how well they handle, particularly with Grand Prix games. We're glad to report that in this area, the game excels. Video Systems has provided both arcade and simulation set-ups so players can adjust their vehicle's setting to suit their specific needs. Hence, with realism turned down you're free to throw your McLaren around the torturous yet incredibly detailed hairpins of the famous Monaco track.

Whilst this is fun, the real pleasure of the game comes from mastering the intricacies of Simulation mode. The excellent car physics engine ensures that boy racers won't have a chance of just hammering their way round the tracks to victory. Many hours of play will be required before you can fully appreciate the sublime handling of the vehicles, but the reward for investing such time is immense. Indeed, the feeling of euphoria > that you get as you desperately hold off your nearest rival to take the chequered flag makes all those practice hours seem worthwhile. So the quality of the gameplay is assured, but what about presentation? Well, a

these pages should confirm the fact that the game is a visual wonder. Graphically, it stands as one of the finest looking games on the Dreamcast. Richly detailed and pop-up free tracks glide along at an implausibly quick rate and even with a screen full of cars, the silky smooth frame rate is rarely compromised.

Chequered Flag

The cars themselves also feature an incredible amount of detail, which can perhaps be best appreciated in the game's user-friendly Gallery mode. Here you can take an up-close look at any of the vehicles and unlike lesser titles, the closer you zoom in. In visual terms the jewel in the crown is the Replay mode, which allows you to not only select any car on the track, but also offers a plethora of camera perspectives from which to view the action.

Ultimately, what we have with F1 World Grand Prix 2 is an uncompromisingly realistic interpretation of a thrilling sport. F1 fans (even those who own the first game) must make this their next purchase. Likewise, those who found the first game too difficult should also consider giving this a go. You'll find yourself very pleasantly surprised.

> Sequels are usually hard to recommend, especially Formula One games. However, what we have here is a game that has been rigorously tweaked and has the latest team stats and courses. As such, it is one of the most complete F1 games to date - it is accessible enough for beginners to cut their teeth on some of the world's most demanding racing circuits and yet it is also difficult enough to It is also difficult enough to challenge even the hardiest racing game fans. # TRAINING

MISSION 1

The first training mission is about character control and interacting with the scenery. To pass the test, simply walk down the hall and then open the door at the far end of the corridor using the A button.

MISSION 2

This is all about using your weapon. Simply press the R button to ready your weapon, then press A several times to kill the enemy simulant in the centre of the room. Exit through the door on the far side to complete the test.

MISSION 3

Here you'll learn how to cope with multiple targets and learn how to switch between them. Press R to aim your gun, then X to target a different simulant. You can also hold X and then manually target the gun using the analog stick. Shoot only the simulant highlighted in green. When all the sims are dead, exit the room to pass the test.

MISSION 4

This explains how you can target objects. Start by pressing R to raise your gun, then X to target the barrel ahead. Now press A a few times to make the barrel explode, destroying the boxes behind. Continue along the corridor and blow up the second barrel to kill the grey simulant. You can now leave through the door at the end.

MISSION 5

This introduces you to the wall-hugging mode, which can help you to walk across thin ledges and sneak up on enemies. Walk forwards and get close to the wall on the left, then press Y to back up against it. You can now shuffle left and right without having to worry about falling. When you've got past the pit, press Y again to leave the wall, then opposite side. Sneak up to the corner, then press R to spin around the corner, then press A to fire at the simulant. When it's dead, exit through the door at the end of the corridor.

MISSION 6

This is all about stealth and avoiding enemy fire. The simulant at the end of the hall is on patrol and your task is to get past him without taking any damage. Press and hold L to crouch down, then press B and a direction to to the next one when the simulant turns away. When you reach the end of the passage, don't try to kill the sim just dash into the passage on the left complete your training.

Here are the items that you can find inside the buildings. Find THEM!

AREA 1 ESCAPE

After the cut-scene showing you escape from the lab, it's time to fight your way through the complex.

Move forwards and dash into the first alcove on the left, then press Y to back up to the wall. Approach the corner to get a view of the area ahead [01], then wait until you see the guard before popping your head around the corner to shoot him. A few short blasts should take him out, then run along the corridor and around the corner. Keep running forwards, then crouch and hide behind the crate on the left [02]. When you see the guard ahead, jump out and unload your weapon into his chest. Continue along the passage and turn the corner to the right. Seek cover behind the crate on the right and quickly kill the next guard who emerges from the end of the passage.

Move forwards again and around the corner to the left, then dash inside the next alcove and seek cover against the wall. Wait for the guard to unload his pistol into the crate, then pop out and fire several shots into his torso. Dash past the dead guard, then move over to the left side of the passage and crouch behind the crate. Kill the guard who jumps from the left alcove, then target the guard across the passage [03]. Once he's dead, dash past the bodies and along the corridor, then open the door at the end to escape the complex.

Quickly shoot the two guards and then dash to the door to escape.

AREA 2 Stern Mansion

After you recover in hospital, Angela Stern offers you £2 million to find her father's killer. So it's time to visit the Stern Mansion.

Start by moving towards the bar, then examine the documents on top of it [01]. The first is a report by Dr Zweiberg about the Criminal Control System. The second is Angela's father's LEILA certificate. After taking a look at both, wander over to the fireplace and examine Angela's graduation diploma. Now search the table to read the ACN

Bible and a book Angela's father wrote with the President while at Harvard [02]. Head into the corner opposite the bar and take a long look at the photo on the wall [03]. Angela will explain how her father helped Alan Sharpe through college and trained him to work in the ACN. After checking out all of these documents, Angela will hand over a Keycard that grants you access to the garage down the hall. Leave the room through the double doors [ Secret: Adrenaline], then use the Keycard to open the locked door on the right [04]. Before you leave, Angela gives you the keys to her Motorbike, so it's time to go for a ride.

WEAPONS

Stimulator Automatic

The standard issue ACN handgun is used by all Headhunters. The gun is light and portable and can fire a large number of rounds extremely quickly. You will use this gun a lot as you will never run out of ammunition.

Resonator Grenade

The Resonator Grenade explodes just like an ordinary explosive, but uses a special wave-form to ensure that buildings are not destroyed in the blast. Can be very effective against multiple enemies.

Neurostunner

This small silenced handgun fires special ammunition that will knock out enemies for a short period of time. Only use this weapon when facing the ACN cops or when you want to be extremely quiet.

Decoy Shells These shells will not cause

any damage to opponents and are designed to lure guards away from their posts. You will need to use these handy items when you need to be silent to avoid alerting whole armies of guards.

Regulator Shotgun

The Regulator Shotgun is one of the best weapons in the game as the firepower is heavy and the bullets can pierce body armour. Use at close range for the best and most explosive results.

Proximity Mine

These small mines are the very latest technology and are extremely difficult to spot. Luckily the enemy will not use them on you and instead like to leave them lying around for you to collect.

Sub Machine Gun

This fast firing weapon will unload all thirty bullets in a couple of seconds. As a result, Machine Gun Ammo is quite hard to find and runs out extremely quickly. Use this gun when you are faced by lots of enemies and need to put them down fast.

Missile Launcher

This weapon is the most deadly and fires a heat-seeking missile directly at the target. Once again the ammunition is extremely sparse so you will not use this high-powered weapon very often.

With a new motorbike under your sturdy frame, it's time to learn how to ride again. Gently accelerate up the hill to reach the main road, then turn right and let rip through the tunnel. Once your bike reaches a speed of over 170 mph, you'll start to earn skill points you need at least 250 before you can attempt the C Licence exams at the LEILA Offices. Keep riding back and forth along the tunnel until you have enough points, then drive through the barricades leading to the North District.

Drive forward to the light, then take a left and follow the road down to the corner. Turn right into the car park, then drive over to the far comer to find the LEILA offices. Press B to dismount, then go inside to speak to Hank Redwood. After a short conversation with your old colleague, you approach the desk and speak to the snooty receptionist. She tells you to use the VR Terminal to take the tests and also how to use the weapons dispenser after completing the challenges. Enter the room on the left and take a seat on the chair [ Licence: C Licence].

C LICENSE

Before you can accept Angela's offer of oloyment and start on the trail of a Fulci, you'll have to obtain your LEILA Licence. The exam tests your skills in a number of different areas.

In the next room, dash down the stairs on the right, then around the corner to sneak up behind one of the guards. Kill him as quickly as peccible, then you the Kill him as quickly as possible, then use the nearby pillar for cover while you blast away at the other two guards on the other side of the the other two guards on the other side of the room. Once they're dead, dash over to the opposite corner and into the vortex to complete the mission. Congratulations, you've passed your LEILA C Licence

After passing your licence, the lady behind the counter will issue you with your ID Card [01] and the Casio VM, which acts as a database and mobile phone. Before you can check out the functions, you'll get a call from Angela Stern congratulating you on your success, then another call from Chief Hawke. Before leaving the offices, check out the dispenser in the corner and you can grab some Decoy Shells, Scorpion Neurostunner and Smith & Easton Stimulater [02].

After the news bulletin you'll be back outside on your bike. You can gain some more skill points by tearing around the busy streets [03], but be careful not to crash, as you'll now lose a few points for damaging your bike. When you've reached the next goal of 500 points, check the objectives in your inventory. Now head to the far side of the North District and stop outside the closed-down gas station [04].

After collecting your ID Card you can then pick up your new weapons!

By riding your bike as fast as you can you will earn more skill points.

▲ Drive to the Gas Station and then park your bike outside!

AREA 6 GAS STATION

As soon as you arrive, Angela Stern calls on your VM with some information on the informers you're searching for. Head left and check the crates against the fence to collect an Adrenaline, then duck back behind the crates to avoid being spotted by the biker in the alley. Quickly stick your head around the corner and blast him when his back's turned [01], then head into the shop door opposite. Search the counter on the left to pick up a Grenade, then head over to the corner opposite and open the door on the right. Carefully sneak up behind the biker working in the corner, then blast him [02] and take the First-Aid Kit on the bench. Now use the switch on the pillar to lower the car on the ramps - but a fuse is blown and it'll stop. Search the rest of the garage to grab another Grenade and then return to the shop and back out through the front door.

Walk down the alley to the left of the shop and continue all the way to the end. Two bikers are practising their shooting skills on some defenceless tin cans; so sneak up behind them and show them how a Stimulater really should be used [03]. When they're dead, search the nearby crates for a Battery, then look around the pallets opposite to collect a Grenade. Return to the garage and examine the panel on the wall opposite the pit. Use the Battery to power the unit [04] and the engine will lift from the pit. Head down the steps to collect the car-wash Token on the floor, then activate the machine on the wall again to return the engine to the pit. Leave the garage and blast a pair of bikers who've just arrived, then follow the passage along the left side of the shop. Look out for a small machine for the car wash, then use the Token to open the door behind you. Quickly turn around and blast the biker inside [05], then enter and search the crates at the back for another Grenade.

Now enter the door on the right to find a small office and search the desk to grab the Locker Key [06]. Unlock the door leading to the shop, then return to the garage and use the Locker

Key to open the locker. Grab the Electric Cord inside, then return to the office and fit the Cord into the station's fuse

box. With the power restored, the car on the ramp will slowly lower to the floor and you can then grab the Fire Extinguisher from the back seat [07]. Run back to the car wash and through the door, then kill another biker. Return to the alley at the back and use the fire extinguisher to put out the burning wreck in the corner. Open the car door and the burned informer's body will fall to floor, dropping the Crowbar [08]. Pick up this handy tool, then head for the alley on the left, leading towards the entrance. Check the toilet door on the right, then use the Crowbar to remove the planks nailed across the door. Head inside and examine the dead informer in the corner and you'll find an AMCO Keycard on the floor. As you pick up this item and you'll hear a bike arrive outside. Head back to the alley to meet the biker gang's leader, Greywolf. Before answering any questions, he rides off. So get to your bike and prepare to give chase.

AREA 7 Wolfpack HQ

Angela calls to check on your progress [01], then you can exit the Gas Station and turn right onto the road. Ride along the main road and take the third left just before the beach. Now ride two blocks down and you'll find Wolfpack HQ on the left [02]. Dismount and arm yourself, then turn the corner to the right and kill the guy standing beside the door [03]. Now run to the left and use the AMCO Keycard on the door in the comer [04].

▲ Before you can leave the Gas Station, your boss will call for an update.

Ride your bike over to Wolfpack HQ and then park on the side of the road.

gap when the guards aren't looking. Move forwards slowly and wall-hug again to see around the next corner, then pop your head out and blast the guard [05]. Search the corner to collect a Proximity Mine, then dash back to the centre of the room and get ready for some more action. Turn the corner and blast the two bikers you heard talking [06], then walk towards their bodies and examine the crate behind them for a Walkie-Talkie and Padlock Key [07]. Climb the stairs and turn right to find an Adrenaline on the floor, then head back to the door and return outside. Dash over to the other door and use the Padlock Key to open the small cabinet on the wall on the left. Now turn on the power to the lift and head back inside the building and through the door at the top of the stairs to enter the lift.

Take the lift up to the second floor, then step out of the lift and search the shelves

Collect the First-Aid Kit and then examine the machine in the corner on the left to grab a First-Aid Kit [08]. Now examine the machine next to it and you'll discover that you need some sort of circular item before it can be used, so return to the lift and make your way up to the third floor.

Exit the lift and walk around the corner to find a long corridor. Head along it, then enter the first door on the right and search the last cubicle for a Proximity Mine. Leave the toilets and continue along the corridor, then check the small alley to the left of the lift to find a Grenade. Now head over to the large double doors and listen to the meeting going on inside. You decide it's not a good time to break up the party, so open the door opposite and search the desk for some Truth Serum and a Document explaining about the interrogation of the informants [09]. Leave the room and head back down the corridor, then blast the biker who falls through the door ahead [10]. Enter the demolished door, then search the small cupboard on the left for another Grenade. Go through the next door, into another long corridor. Quickly turn right and sneak up behind the biker to strangle him quietly [11]. Move to the end of the corridor and around the right corner to meet another biker. Use the crates for cover and pump him full of ammo, then run all the way to the far end of the corridor. Enter the last door on the left and search the floor for another Grenade, then enter the small room at the back to grab a First-Aid Kit. Leave the room and head back along the passage, then enter the next door to find a storeroom. Check the far corner to collect another Proximity Mine, then head back towards the door and pull the crate out from between the shelves. Push the crate across the floor so it's lined up with the third row of shelves, then climb on top of the crate and grab the Locker Key from the top shelf [12]. Now return to the room at the end of the hall and use the Key to open the locker; take the Emblem Half from inside.

As you go to leave the room, Greywolf will try to contact the dead guards over the Walkie-Talkie. Answer the call then return along the corridor to the junction. Search the small cupboard ahead for an Adrenaline, then start back towards the lift, opening the door on the right. Open the next door to find a disused storeroom. then approach the crate in the corner and pull it away from the wall. Check out the poster on the wall for a clue to an access code [13]. Leave the room and head back to the corridor, then turn right and walk all the way to the end, unlocking the door that leads back to the first hall. Use the crates on the left for a bit of cover, then shoot the two guards waiting outside Greywolf's boardroom. Now walk down towards the door and use the Walkie-Talkie to speak to Greywolf again. Operate the keypad next to the door and input the code 1993 to open the door. Once inside, Greywolf will introduce you to Bruce and then disappear extremely quickly while you battle [ Boss: Bruce].

After Bruce is dead, walk to the far end of the boardroom and search the locker at the back for a Wolfpack Symbol and another Document. Hit the switch on the desk to open the double doors leading back to the corridor, then head outside and slowly make your way back towards the lift. Kill the biker who emerges from the lift [14], then ride it back down to the second floor. Insert the Wolfpack Symbol into the stamping machine in the corner, then input the positions of the indentations [ Info: Stamping].

With your Symbol stamped and ready, return to the boardroom on the third floor and insert it into the door near the cabinet. Open the door and climb the stairs to the top, then prepare to face Greywolf himself [ Boss: Greywolf].

After quizzing Greywolf about Don Fulci, you cuff him and can then explore the rooftop. Check the wall near the stairs for a First-Aid Kit [15], then enter the door in the corner to find a small armoury. Grab a Grenade from the bench, then search the shelves for another First-Aid Kit if needed. You can now head back down the stairs and leave the Wolfpack HQ.

STAMPING

On the second floor of the Wolfpack HQ, there's a stamping machine in the corner. When you have collected a Wolfpack Symbol, return here and use this machine to stamp holes in the back. The positions of the holes should be as follows (O marks position of hole):

BRUCE

Bruce isn't too difficult to defeat, but you'll need to use the shelves around the room for a bit of cover. As soon as the battle starts, roll to the right and hide behind the shelving unit, then stick your head around the corner and unload your Pistol into him. Duck back behind the shelves while you reload you gun and keep an eye open for Bruce throwing a grenade in your direction. When you can see the target again, fire another volley of shots into Bruce and keep blasting until he falls.

GREYWOLF

He can be a real pain as he has a very powerful weapon that can take you out with just a few hits. Start by chasing him around the roof, unloading as many bullets as you can into his back. Then, when he runs away, move to the opposite side of the roof. Wait for Greywolf to reappear, then unload another full clip into him, moving slowly backwards to avoid the blast from his weapon - it's not as powerful over distance and will miss you most of the time. Keep going like this until Greywolf starts to run towards you, then dash around the roof again to appear behind him. Keep blasting and eventually he'll fall over the edge, clinging on by his fingertips.

As you leave the Wolfpack's HQ, Chief Hawke calls you on your VM to congratulate you on your first major capture [01]. He then invites you to take the next licence test. Jump onto your bike and ride back to the LEILA Office [02], making sure you've increased your skill points to 500, then climb into the VR chair [03] [ Licence: B Licence].

▲ Chief Hawke will call on your VM to tell you that you can upgrade your licence.

▲ Ride to the LEILA offices increasing your skill points to 500.

When you are ready, take a seat in the VR chair to start the test.

In order to continue in your employs you need to upgrade your Licence to the next level. This will teach you some new skills for use whilst headhunting and also ain you access to some new weapons from the dispenser.

the time limit

Target Time

TIPS: You should have got a lot better at riding your bike by now and this test is very similar to the C Licence test. Ride your bike as fast as possible along the course, making sure you pass through the centre of each vortex. Take a wide curve around the sharp corners to avoid crashing into the walls.

LEVEL B2 - TACTICAL STEALTH TEST

..Reach the goal without getting detected. Throw decoy shells to lure enemies away from their patrol path. .1:35

Target Time: .0:49

TIPS: This is a really tough challenge as the camera makes it difficult to see what lies around the corner. Start by moving over to the pillar in the centre, then throw a decoy shell into the corner you just came from.
Wait for the guard to come and investigate, then sneak up behind him and throttle him. then sheak up bening nim and throttle nim. Now wall-hug along the right, towards the corner, so you can see the second guard patrolling the corridor. Wait for him to turn around and walk away, then dash up behind and strangle him. Continue to the end of the passage, using the alcove on the left for cours these trails that the guardet walk in cover, then wait until the guards walk in opposite directions. Quickly sneak up behind the one on the left while the other guard's back is turned, then dash around the corner to the exit before getting spotted.

LEUEL B3 - WEAPON UTILIZATION TEST Objectives: ......Kill six guards on the other

Kill six guards on the other side of the abyss. Use the environment for protection Use quick equip to switch between weapons.

TIPS: This test is fairly simple, as all you need to do is kill the enemies on the platform opposite. Use the crates as cover, then jump out to fire when an enemy is in sight. Keep blasting until you need to reload, then duck back into cover to avoid getting killed. When all six guards have beer killed, an exit vortex appears in the corner.

LEUEL B4 - COMBRT TECHNIQUE TEST
Objectives: .......Use the techniques you've learnt to reach the goal.
Target Time: .....2.05

TIPS: The first room is tricky, as there's no way to get behind the glass wall. So pull the crate out into the middle of the room and target the barrel on the left. Fire shots to make it explode, then watch as the chain reaction takes out all the other barrels and the guard. Leave the room and dash around the corner, then use your Pistol to down the guard in the then use your Piston to down the guard in the corner. Use the wall-hug technique to spot two guards at the end of the passage and pop your head around the corner to unload your Pistol. Once they're dead, dash past the crates Pristor. Once they re dead, dash past the crates and head through the next door into the final room. Use the pillars for cover. You're likely to get caught by a guard sneaking behind you, so keep on the move and take these guys out quickly possible. Jump into the exit vortex to earn your B Licence

AREA 9 STERN MANSION

After the conversation with Chief Hawke, read the documents about Don Fulci's ships, then head over to the weapons dispenser to grab some new equipment. This time you can collect a Stimulator Automatic +, a Regulator Shotgun and an Action Belt [01]. Now leave the office and jump on board your bike. You'll get a message from Angela Stern, who invites you over to her mansion to make some plans for the ship's arrival. You should know better than to keep a woman waiting, so head on over there.

As you ride, you can further increase your skill points to 800, providing you don't keep crashing. Leave the North

District and return to Fortune Hill, then drive into the garage and park your bike in the corner [02]. Enter the mansion and walk through the double doors to the lounge. Angela isn't at home at the moment, but the TV is playing and you happen to catch the news. Someone has kidnapped Angela and is holding her in the Mall. Before you leave, Chief Hawke calls on the VM and tells you about getting in there through the sewers. Leave the mansion and head left along the road, then pass through the barriers to enter the South District [03]. Follow the road straight ahead, then keep going until your reach the business area. Turn right and ride past all the police cars outside the Mall, then turn left and park your bike behind a huge lorry [04].

AREA

Move through the hole in the fence and along the smelly passage to the corner. Keep walking and, as you approach the bridge, you'll overhear a pair of kidnappers talking in the passage around the corner. Walk across the bridge to the far side, then use the wall-hug technique to slide up to the corner and spot your targets. When a decent opportunity presents itself, jump out from your hiding place and fill them both with lead, then quickly turn around to blast another kidnapper creeping up behind you. Walk around the corner and take a look at the cabinet that the kidnappers were fiddling with, then cross the bridge opposite and climb the ladder to enter the Mall.

You are in the car park below the Palmera Mall and the sound of wailing sirens fills the air. Walk forwards and make your way over to the lift on the left, only to find it is out of order - surprised? Search the floor beside the bin to collect a Proximity Mine, then creep forwards slowly and wallhug against the pillar near the white car. The kidnapper ahead is looking in the wrong direction but there are more guards patrolling the car park around the corner. Check that these guards are not in sight, and then kill the nearby guard with a few shots from your Stimulator. If you lucky the guards ahead will not notice that their friend has been killed, but if you were too slow or noisy they will definitely come over to investigate and you will then have a battle on their hands. When the coast is clear, dash over to the other side of the car park and use the pillars for cover while you sneak up on the other kidnappers.

Carefully creep up behind the guy closest to you when he turns around, then strangle him from behind to ensure the other kidnapper doesn't hear you [01]. Now seek refuge behind another pillar and wait for a decent opportunity to kill the second guy silently. After strangling this guard head around the corner and run up the slope to the next level.

Everything is quiet and there are no kidnappers anywhere to be seen. Casually wander forwards and search around at the base of the pillar on the right to grab some more Shotgun Shells. As you approach the black limo the alarm will go off alerting the guards around the corner, so dash back and find some cover for the fight. Quickly blast the two kidnappers as they turn the corner, then dash past their lifeless bodies and around the corner. Search the ground opposite the stairs to collect a Grenade, then open the door and walk inside.

Dash up the stairs to the next floor, then head through the door onto the first floor. Walk to the end of the corridor, then turn to the right and search the small store cupboard opposite to collect an Adrenaline. Now head back to the corridor and walk past the burning photocopier and into the office on the right. Pick up some more Shotgun Shells from the desk, and then examine the vent on the wall. You discover that the vent leads to the maintenance area, so climb inside and walk along the passage to the left. At the end of the corridor you will overhear a conversation between Ramirez and one of his associates. Head back to the vent and climb back into the office, then guietly creep out of the door and wall-hug against the wall opposite. Select your Shotgun and creep up to the door then splatter the kidnapper inside the security control room. Search the desk on the left to collect a Security Control Card and a Letter to Ramirez from Don Fulci. Read the letter to find out more about project millennium, then head into the back office and grab a Proximity Mine from the desk in the corner [02]. Now leave the room and head back to the stairs blasting a couple more kidnappers armed with machine guns. Now head down the stairs to the bottom and Quickly blast the guard standing in the toilet directly in front of you, then search the floor to collect a First-Aid Kit. Leave the room and turn left, then follow the corridor around until you find the lift. Head down the passage opposite the lift and then enter the first room on the right and search the desk to collect a Proximity then enter the door to the basement.

Mine. Search the next room to find a Grenade in the corner and then enter the final office on the right and check by the bookcase to pick up some Neurostunner Bullets. Head back around the corridor to the toilet, then slowly make your way forwards to the room at the end. Quickly blast the two guards in the storeroom then open the door on the right and grab some more Shotgun Shells and another Grenade. Move through to the room at the back and then pull the crate in the corner to uncover a drain leading back down into the sewer. Climb down the ladder then cross the bridge and slowly make your way to the corner. Quickly dash around the corner and blast the guard tampering with the machine on the wall then drop down into the disgusting water and cross over to the other side. Examine the machine on the wall and insert the Security Control Card, then return to the ladder and climb back up into the storeroom. Dash back to the stairs and up to the first floor, then quickly splatter the two guards patrolling the area with your Shotgun. Return to the security control room and activate the switch to open the door to the shopping area, then enter the door marked Staff Only at the end of the corridor

Quickly hide behind the first pillar and wait for the guard to walk right past you. Collect the Grenade from the floor beside the pillar, then follow the kidnapper and use your Shotgun to blow him away. Quickly move forwards to take on another kidnapper and then make your way to the far end of the mall where another guard is waiting. When all three kidnappers have been killed, move over to the lift in the corner and pull the huge trolley out of the way. Head back to the far side of the mall and enter Recordworld, then kill the guard inside and collect a First-Aid Kit from behind the counter. Now take the escalator up to the second floor and walk straight ahead to find some more Neurostunner Bullets. Walk around the balcony and near the revolving door at the far end of the centre you will find another First-Aid Kit. Head back downstairs to the lift in the corner, where you removed the trolley earlier. Activate the button on the wall just inside the alcove and ride the lift up to the second floor. Walk forwards along the corridor and ignore the dead guard, then wall-hug to see some more kidnappers patrolling the corridor ahead. When the time is right, dash out and blast them both and then continue to the end of the corridor. Turn to the right and continue straight ahead and then enter the kitchen at the end to collect a Proximity Mine and a Grenade. Now leave the room and turn to the left and wander around the corner to find the lift. Open the door and you will find Angela, but she is trapped between floors. Quickly use the Fire Hose on the wall next to the lift and then dangle it down the lift shaft to pull Angela up to safety.

As you make your escape Angela will explain about Ramirez's plan to steal funds from the Millennium Bank. She heads home to work on a computer program to scramble the transfers and send you off to catch up with Ramirez. After the explosion you are unable to use the stairs, so head back to the corridor and walk through the double doors on the left to enter the shopping area [01]. The Police are also in the building now, so swap weapons to your Scorpion Neurostunner and make your way down the escalators to the floor below. Make your way over to the door on the left and use your Neurostunner to knock out the cops [02]. Return to the stairwell and make your way to the bottom, then open the door to the basement. Turn to the left to head to the storeroom, but stop before you enter and change weapons to your Shotgun. Walk inside and kill the kidnapper ahead [03], then use the ladder to drop down into the sewers again.

Walk across the bridge and around the corner, then drop down into the water and climb onto the platform on the other side. Make your way around to the machine where you killed the two kidnappers earlier and then cross the bridge and walk through the broken gate [04]. Make your way along the smelly passage, and then blast a guard as you turn the corner [05]. Keep moving along the passage, splattering another duo of guards waiting a little further on [06]. Climb out of the water onto the platform at the end of the tunnel, and then use the ladder on the left to climb up into the Millennium Bank [07].

Walk forwards and collect a First-Aid Kit from the floor beside the photocopier [01], then use your map in the top-right corner to check on the guard's positions in the next room. When you have an opportunity, quickly dive into the room and shoot the guard to your right [02], then head back to the corridor to get some cover. Shoot the guard through the window ahead from the safety of the corridor, then move back behind the counter and kill the last remaining guard [03]. Use the computer in the corner to take a look at the surveillance cameras Quickly shoot the guard behind the desk using the door for cover.

Return to the passage and enter the double doors, then search the table in the centre of the room to collect an Adrenaline. Climb the steps on the left to enter the public area of the bank and then examine the marble counter in the corner to pick up some Shotgun Shells and a Proximity Mine [05]. Now head back to the large room and examine the door at the back that leads to the mainframe room [06]. Press the button to open the door and Ramirez will appear and taunt you through the glass. Before running away he will send several little spiders after you so get yourself ready for a fight [ Boss: Ramirez].

After the fight Ramirez will refuse to talk [07], leaving you stuck outside the mainframe room. Use the Truth Serum you found in the Wolfpack HQ to loosen his lips [08] and then use his hand to open the door to the computer room. As soon as you are inside, Angela will contact you over the VM and explain that the security codes need to be entered before she can scramble the data. Head over to the Ramirez is the original Cyber Cowboy and is not very comfortable with a weapon in his hand. Instead of opening the door and fighting like a man he chooses instead to send several robotic spiders out to do his dirty work. Ramirez will send out three spiders at a time each armed with a heavily explosive charge. Stand way back from the door and shoot each spider twice to blow it up. When you are left with only one remaining spider, shoot it once to temporarily disable its circuits and then walk over to it and press the A button. You can now control the spider for a short while, so aim it towards the locked doors and then press the A button again to start the spider moving towards its new target. Finally press the A button again as the spider nears the door to make it jump into the air and blast the lock. Strike the lock three times and the explosion will hurt Ramirez and the doors will open.

If you haven't increased your skill level to 800, you should do so now while you cruise across town to the Leila Offices. Head back to Fortune Hills and drive past Stern Mansion and on to the North District where Chief Hawke will contact you on your VM. It appears that the ACN have a tape of you killing an agent in your attack on the mall and that you are now being hunted. There is nothing you can do about this now so continue through the gates and get to the Leila offices as quickly as possible. Once you arrive, head inside and walk over to the VR Chair to try for your LEILA A Licence.

[ Licence: A Licence]

▲ Chief Hawke calls to tell you that the ACN are trying to set you up.

A LICENSE

Unfortunately, you do not have the clearance to access government files at the moment so you need to upgrade your Licence again. There are more weapons on offer as well – so do your best!

LEVEL A1 - MOTORCYCLE CONTROL TEST

.Reach all checkpoints within the time limit.

TIPS: With basic bike control already mastered, you now have to try and find the best route through the course ensuring you hit all eight checkpoints before crossing the finish line. If you want to try for the record, then aim to follow the route suggested on the map.

LEVEL A2 - TACTICAL STEALTH TEST

.Kill off all enemy guards without getting detected Throw decoy shells to lure enemies away from their patrol path.

TIPS: Once again this test is really quite tough, as the guards can be quite difficult to see. Start by running straight down the corridor, then turn to the left and dash up the stairs in front of you. Now quickly strangle the guard at the top of the stairs before carefully making your way back to the corridor. Wall-hug against the wall on the right and creep nug against the waii on the right, and creep towards the alcove on the right, then when the guard is looking the opposite direction quickly move in behind him and put your hands around his neck. Leave the alcove and want-flug against the wan on the feet, then get to a position where you can see the guard at the end of the passage. As soon as the guard turns away, dash up the stairs and across the thin bridge then strangle him before he feels your breath on the back of his neck. Dash back to the corridor and around to the stairs where you downed the first guard, then walls. where you downed the first guard, then wall-hug against the wall on the right. Wait for the guard to start walking away from you, then run up behind him keeping as close to the wall as you can to avoid being spotted. When this guard has been dealt with, you can climb the stairs ahead and step into the vortex.

LEVEL A3 - WEAPON UTILIZATION TEST

..Kill off eight enemy guards on the other side of the abyss. Use the environment for protection. Use quick equip to switch between weapons

Target Time:

TIPS: This test is all about keeping your cool when faced with multiple enemies. Use the crates for cover and then quickly pop out to kill the guards on the platform opposite. Return to cover when you need to reload and the change positions to get a clearer shot at the guards on the other side of the platform. Keep blasting and when all the guards have fallen, a vortex will appear in the corner.

LEVEL A4 - COMBAT TECHNIQUE TEST

..Use the techniques you've Target Time:

TIPS: Start by positioning yourself next to the stairs on the left, and then quickly blast the two guards on the stairs to your left. The guard on top of the flight you are standing beside will the hear the noise and walk down the steps, so side-step to the left and shoot him as well. Now leave the area through the door and run across the glass floor to find some stairs. Head down the stairs and turn left and then follow down the starts and turn left and then rollow the corridor blasting the guard waiting around the corner. The other guards in this room will hear the commotion, so quickly turn to your left and unload the rest of you ammo into them. Now take the passage on the left to find another door. The final room is one big square area with three enemies against the walls. There is no cover, so dash towards the enemy ahead and keep blasting until he falls. Now quickly take down the remaining guards and step into the vortex in the far corner to complete the mission and grab your A Licence

AREA 15 WOLFPACK HO REVISITE

With your new security clearance, you can now access documents about government officials and gain some more info on Don Fulci. When you have finished reading, head over to the weapons dispenser and collect a Sub Machine Gun and a Code Breaker [01]. When you leave the office, Angela will call on the VM and explain that the visit to Wolfpack HQ is extremely urgent. Get on your bike and ride across town as fast as you can increasing your skill points to 1300 along the way. Upon arrival you discover that the ACN are guarding the building [02], so you must take precautions to avoid casualties. Start by selecting your Decoy Shells, and then wait until the guard starts walking away from you. Sneak up behind him and strangle him to kill him silently [03], then approach the door at the top of the stairs ahead where you found the power to the lift. Use your Code Breaker on the door to unlock it. then pull the lever inside to drop a ladder down from the roof. Walk down the stairs and around to base of the ladder, then climb quickly up to the roof where two more ACN cops are waiting for you.

Quickly dash forwards and wall-hug against the wall on the right, then creep to the edge to spot the cops patrolling the roof. Wait for the guard closest to you to turn around, then sneak up behind him and strangle him to put him down [04]. Run around the corner and wall-hug again to check the whereabouts of the second cop, then use the same technique to kill him silently. Enter the small storeroom on the left to collect a Grenade and some more Neurostunner Ammo [05], then open the other door and walk down the stairs to the boardroom. Head over to the door on the right and examine the lock, but as you try to use your Code Breaker you discover that you need to turn the power back on first. Head over to the double doors and watch your map carefully to they have their backs turned

When the guard in the passage turns his back, quickly dash along behind him and strangle him silently [06] and then seek cover behind the wall at the end of the passage. When the other cop notices his fallen friend quickly stick you head around the corner and knock him out using a shot from your Neurostunner [09]. Now head back along the passage to the lift that was out of order when you were last in the building and drop down onto the roof of the lift below. Open the hatch in the roof of the lift, then drop through onto the second floor.

▲ Drag the crate from the corridor into the small room and then climb on top.

Step out of the lift and suddenly the lift will drop to the floor below leaving you stranded in this new area. Turn to the right and grab the crate in the corridor, then pull it back a short way until it is lined up with the door. Move to the other side and drag the crate into the small office [07], then stand on top and operate the control panel on the wall to turn the power back on [08]. You can explore the rest of the floor if you wish but you will only find two ACN Cops, a Grenade and an

Adrenaline. When you are ready to continue, head to the small door just to the left of the lift and walk along the passage to find a switch. Activate the lever to lower the ladder, then climb the ladder down to the first floor. There are more cops in this area, so quickly take aim with your Neurostunner and knock out the guard closest to you [09]. Now climb the small flight of stairs and jump into the lift riding it back up to the third floor. Walk along the corridor to the boardroom, and then use your Code Breaker on the filing room door in the corner. Once inside search the the state of burne Ramto Mann Looky Fickoathe at indefineent [10].

The action is heating up; Don Fulci has armed a thermonuclear device in the centre of Los Angeles and is appealing to citizens to bolster the syndicate's bank account. You have managed to grab the locations of the devices that stop the blast, but the ACN are certainly not going to give you any help. Chief Hawke calls on the VM to clarify the situation and informs you that you are now on the top of the ACN's most wanted list. Nevermind, you have work to do and the timer is already running! Get on your bike and head straight ahead to the main road, then turn left and take the first turn on the right. Follow the road to the end and bear right at the junction, then take the first right again. Follow the road around the corner and then drive through the open fence on the left to find the first sewer entrance [01].

Head down into the sewers and climb the stairs, then turn to the left and follow the passage to the junction. Turn right and then head down the next flight of stairs killing the guard protecting the silver case. Now open the case and quickly input the correct keystrokes to disarm the bomb [02]. There are three levels of code to crack to stop the bomb but each should be fairly simple. Take your time and do not rush or you will have to start again from the beginning. As soon as the bomb has been deactivated dash back through the sewers to your bike, then ride like the wind to the South District and start hunting for the second bomb. Continue along the main road as fast as you can and then park your bike in the small roadside car park [03]. Descend into the sewers here and quickly shoot the guard to your right. Keep close to the wall on the right and run to the end of the passage to find the second bomb. Enter the three four digit codes to disarm the bomb and then dash back to your bike at top speed. Ride back towards the North District and then follow the slightly slanted road towards the mall. Drive straight past the mall and turn left into a tunnel, then park your bike near the sewer entrance on the right [04]. Walk down the stairs and across the bridge then head left following the passage. Take the second entrance on the right and then quickly shoot the guard protecting the case [05]. Enter the three five digit codes to de-activate the bomb and then as soon as you have finished return to your bike and get moving. Ride back up the tunnel and turn left to return to the North District.

The next case is particularly difficult to find, as the location appears to be off the map somewhere between North District and Fortune Hill. To find the sewer entrance head back to the Gas Station where you first ran into the Wolfpack and then drive to the end of the road to find an open gate [06]. Ride through the gate and along the aqueduct and then look over to the left to see a small opening. Park your bike and head inside, and then quickly shoot the two guards protecting the case [07]. When they are down dash forwards and enter the three six digit codes to disarm the device, then leave the sewer as fast as your legs can carry you. Head back to the Gas Station and follow the road straight ahead to reach the beach [08]. Continue to follow the road along the shore and then enter the car park of the warehouse on the left at the next corner. Drive through the crates to find the sewer entrance and then drop down below the city. Quickly run to the left and around the corner blasting a guard waiting to surprise you. Continue to follow the walkway to the left and then step across the bridge. Head left and cross another bridge and then continue to the end of the path killing another guard waiting nearby. Now open the case and enter the three seven-digit codes as quickly as possible to disarm the device. There is only one bomb remaining, so return to your bike and ride like the wind back to the LEILA offices. Park in the corner and descend into the sewers, then quickly turn to the right and take out both guards with a few well-placed shots of your Stimulator. Now dash to the end of the passage and enter the three eight-digit codes before the time expires to defuse the bomb and save the city [09]. As soon as the job is done Chief Hawke will call on the VM and thank Jack for all his effort. He will also mention that he will try to pull a few strings and have the case against him dropped. Unfortunately, before you can finish the conversation, Hank Redwood appears behind you and knocks you out with a single punch.

After being captured Jack is transferred to the legendary prison facility of the Aquadome. This top-security underwater prison is impossible to escape from, but you are given a chance to go free by competing in the Con-bat arena [01]. You arrive in the arena with Greywolf and the action starts immediately [02]. Unfortunately, Greywolf is no match for the creature in the centre of the arena and gets thrown to the ground in just a few seconds. It's time to get stuck into the battle [ Boss: Arena Gladiator].

After the fight, the arena will lower and gas is pumped into the room to knock out Jack. Luckily Greywolf is on hand armed with gas masks to beat the two guards and help you to make your escape [03]. When you reach the surface you notice a ship and then it becomes clear that it is, in fact, Don Fulci's ship the Queen of Hearts [04]. Jack speaks to Angela on the VM and asks her to meet him at the docks and then he and Greywolf try to sneak onboard the ship.

At first the gladiator seems almost impossible to hurt, as your weapons will have no effect whatsoever. Instead you must rely on your evasion skills to try and lure the creature onto the small glowing circles on the arena floor. Each time the creature steps into the circle, a bolt of electricity will come from above causing extreme damage to its circuits. Continue to move from circle to circle with the gladiator following you and then dash out of the way at the very last minute. After a couple of bolts have connected with

With Jack's whereabouts unknown, you now take control of Angela and must try to find your missing employee. Start by moving left along the line of crates, and then make your way over to the loading area in the corner. Search the ground to find a Proximity Mine, then carefully wander back to the crates and around the corner using the wall-hug technique against the truck to clearly see the two enemies guarding the gate. Step away from the lorry and blast the guard closest to your position with your Stimulator Mkll [01], then wait for the other guard to come over to investigate. Use your weapon to blow him away, then dash over to the gate ahead. Activate the switch in the corner and the gate will open, leading to the next area.

Walk forwards carefully and strangle the guard on the left [02] before he raises the alarm, then quickly blast the guard hiding behind the barrel beside the docks [03].

When both guards are down head forwards and wall-hug against the crate on the left, then turn the corner and shoot another guard a little further along the dock. Now dash to the right and search the crate in the comer to collect a Grenade. Now run all the way to the far end of the docks and search the ground to collect another Grenade and also an Adrenaline from the other side of the crates. Now carefully make your way back to the bridge in the centre and slowly make your way across towards the building on the far side. Open the gate at the end and step into the next area, then dash to the right. Wall-hug against the side of the building and creep forwards so you can see the guard around the corner, then step out and fire a few blasts to take him down [04]. Now dash across the concrete and wall-hug against the side of the building opposite. Wait until the guard has his back to you, then jump out and fire a volley of shots to finish him. Quickly dash down to the building ahead, then head left and take cover around the corner. Again pop your head around the corner and blast the guards with your Stimulator MkII, then dash over to the corner and wall-hug to get a good view of the area ahead. Kill another guard as he comes looking for his friends then dash down to the end and follow the path to the right to find another Grenade. Now walk around to the other side of the building and locate the door on the front of warehouse 12 [05].

Once inside you'll overhear a conversation between two guards talking about the shipment and also about your friend Jack Wade. When the conversation ends, dash to the left and take cover behind some crates, then quickly kill the two guards when they appear from inside the small office. Search the office to collect a Loading Keycard [06], then dash to the far end of the warehouse to pick up a First-Aid Kit. Leave the warehouse and head around the back to the container area, then open the gate [07] and carefully walk inside.

Run forwards to the huge stack of crates, and then use the wall-hug technique to get a good look at the guards around the corner. When they are separated pop out and blast the guard closest to you [08], then duck back into cover before his friend comes to investigate. Quickly shoot the other guard with your Stimulator MkII and then head over to the next gate and use the Loading Keycard to open it. Now just walk forwards and Angela will hide inside the crate ahead [09].

The crate is loaded onto the ship and then when the coast is clear Angela will sneak out and drop onto the crates below. Quickly run to the right and peer over the side of the container to spot a guard patrolling the deck below. Quickly blast him with your Stimulator [01] and then drop over the side and keep aiming your gun along the walkway between the crates to shoot the second guard at the far end. Head right to the side of the deck, and then carefully look to the left to spot another guard closing in on your position. Quickly kill him using the crates for cover whilst reloading, then turn around and run down the side of the ship to collect a Grenade on the floor opposite a locked entrance. Head back to the crates and dash left to the other side of the ship, then look to the right to spot another duo of guards. Use your Stimulator to put them down [02], then run all the way along the side of the ship to the far end. The entrance here is also locked, so collect the Proximity Mine from the floor and walk back past the first set of crates. Kill any more guards that appear and then make your way across to the other side of the ship again. Run left past the crates, then open the door on the left.

Once inside quickly turn to the right and

You are in a different area this time and the signal from Jack's VM is coming from just around the corner. Quickly unlock the door on your left, then head down the passage to the right and use the wall-hug technique to get a glimpse of the guards outside Jack's cell. Quickly kill the two guards using the wall for cover [06], then take a look inside the cell and Jack will hand you a Lockpick. You need to find some more equipment before you can release your friend, so continue to the end of the hall and open the door. Now dash back to the stairs on the other side and climb up to the fourth floor.

Walk along the corridor and into the small cupboard on the right, and then search the shelves to grab another Grenade. Open the door to the bridge and listen to the guards talking inside, then take out your Stimulator and blast them both. Search the table to find the Logbook, then activate the button on the end of the desk to reveal a hidden door. Use the Lockpick to open the secret door, then explore the room to collect a Master Disc, Gamma Chemical, and a Grenade

[07]. Return to the stairs and climb back down to the second floor, then enter the small office on the left and place the three chemicals into the machine. You now have to mix the chemicals together to produce a bomb, so mix four parts Alpha, with two parts Beta and two parts Gamma. Collect the Explosive and make your way back around to Jack's cell, then enter the room next door and use the explosive on the cracked wall. The explosion rips a hole in the wall and finally Jack is free.

Angela shows him all the weird stuff she has found whilst roaming the ship and then going to the bridge to try and decode the Master Disc.

Head back round to the stairs and climb down to the first floor, then kill the guard patrolling the corridor ahead. Examine the hatch at the end of the corridor and then take a step back to get Angela to unlock it for you. Climb the ladder down to the floor below, and then quickly kill the guard when he walks past your position. Head left along the corridor and open the door at the end, then collect the Machine Gun Bullets from the desk at the back. Return to the corridor and open the double doors at the other end. then quickly dash over to the right and wall-hug against the large containers. Make your way over to the far side, then sneak up behind the nearby guard and strangle him to avoid alerting the other guards in the area. Now use your map to locate the remaining guards and then use stealth techniques to sneak up behind them and squash their windpipes. When all the guards are dead, search the area to pick up some Shotgun Shells and then use one of the ladders around the edge of the room to climb up to the walkway above. Use the crane controls to move a container in the next room, then drop back down to the floor below and get ready to take on another load of guards. Try to use stealth tactics to take them out silently, but if you get spotted switch to your Machine Gun and spray the area until vou are alone.

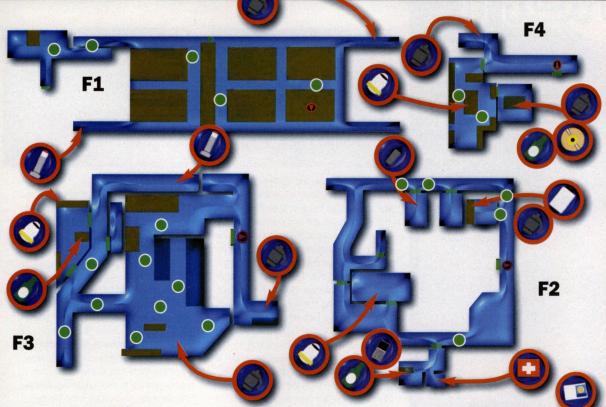

Enter the Cold Storage area in the comer of the hold and then search behind the crates on the left to pick up a First-Aid Kit. Use the machine on the other side of the crate to open one of the freezers and then search the body on the rack to find the Captain's ID Card. Return to the hold and climb the ladder in the far corner up to the walkway above. Now use the ID Card and the Dictaphone on the door panel beside the Bio Storage area.

Walk inside and then follow the ramp down to the floor below. As soon as you step on the floor an alarm will sound and all the guards in the area will come running to attack. Quickly find yourself a spot with a little cover and then keep blasting the guards with any weapon of your choice. All the time the alarm is ringing more guards will keep appearing so stay put and continue to shoot anything that moves. When the alarm stops, open the glass doors and grab the Ships Keycard from the terrified guard inside. Search the area to collect some Shotgun Shells and a First-Aid Kit, then check the container near the desk where you'll find Greywolf's dead body. He can't help you any more, so head back up the slope and into the hold. Climb down the ladder and then carefully make your way across the hold killing any guards that get in your way. When the guards are dead use the Ships Keycard to open the double doors leading to the rear of the ship.

A direct hit will result in a spotlight or two being destroyed, and you need to take down all the lights before you can begin to shoot at Ramirez. Keep an eye on your energy and use Adrenaline to raise your strength further when needed. Keep throwing Grenades until you can clearly see the platform, then switch to your Machine Gun or Stimulator and start attacking Ramirez. Watch out for Grenades being thrown in your direction and try to shoot them back at the Cyber Cowboy to cause massive damage. Stay alert and soon the tough guy will fall!

After the fight, Jack dashes back to the bridge and then watches as Angela finally discovers the identity of the mysterious

Don Fulci. Quickly the duo rushes to the escape boat and return to Stern Mansion to discuss their findings and try to decide what to do. Chief Hawke calls on the VM and asks you to meet him at the Biotech Labs, but you'll need to upgrade your licence first. Get on your bike and head over to the Leila Offices, then step into the VR Chair to take the next test [ ] Licence: AAA Licence]

After completing the test, head over to the weapon dispenser and grab a Missile Launcher, Night Goggles and a Combat Suit [01]. Leave the building and ride your bike across town to the beach. Ride along the beach road and then continue through the checkpoint onto Bio Valley. Drive straight up to the front gate, then turn left and weave through the lorries parked at the side. Ride down a small slope to the bottom, then turn to the right and park your bike over in the corner.

Once in the sewers continue along the passage to the end, then climb the stairs on the left and you'll meet your old friend Hank Redwood. It is time to see who really is the number-one Headhunter so get ready for a duel [ Boss: Hank Redwood]!

When the fight is over, head down the flight of stairs on the right and then continue to the end of the passage and climb the ladder in the corner. Dash past the first pile of crates, then take cover behind the next stack just ahead. Wait until the guard has his back to you, then stick your head around the corner and use your Stimulator to take him down [02]. Duck back behind the crate to reload, then take down another guard that has appeared to investigate the commotion. Now enter the building through the glass doors on the corner [03] and Chief Hawke will call you to warn of the laser security inside the building. Walk forwards and search the chair in the corner of the lobby to collect a Proximity Mine then climb the stairs up to the first floor. Enter the first door on the left and dash around the corner using your shotgun to take out the guard with a single shot [04]. Pick up a Grenade from the counter on the right and then head over to the door just to the right of the entrance. Quickly kill the two guards patrolling the area [05] and then head inside and pick up the Reception Key from the bench on the left. Search the rest of the room to find some Shotgun Shells then head back down the stairs and place a Proximity Mine just in front of the doors on the left. Use the Key to open the office next door and then examine the desk on the right [06]. Hit the switch to start the alarm and then quickly exit the room and watch as your mine blows the two guards into tiny pieces [07]. When the dust has settled, enter the lift and ride it down to the floor below.

Before stepping out of the lift, remember what Chief Hawke told you about the security lasers. Equip your Night Goggles [08] so you can clearly see the fast moving beams ahead and then step forward into the room. Carefully walk underneath the first beam as it rises to the top, then crouch down and guickly move underneath the next set of beams. Continue to crouch and edge forwards slowly, then wait for the next set of beams to present an opportunity to pass. Finally roll underneath the last set of beams and into the passage ahead. Quickly dash to the far end of the corridor and then use your Stimulator to take down the three guards emerging from the door on the left [09]. Enter the control room and search the far end of the desk to collect a Grenade, then activate the switch to shut off the laser security system [10]. Now leave the room and search the locker room opposite to pick up an Adrenaline and some Rockets. Open the double doors and then quickly dash forwards into a small alcove on the right. Wall-hug against the wall to get a good view of the guard in the passage, then quickly pop out and blast him with your Stimulator. Enter the door on the right, then search the room to grab some Shotgun Shells and Machine Gun Ammo. Return to the corridor and dash across to the other side, then wall-hug against the crate to get a good view of the corridor. Kill the guard beside the glass doors, then dash along the corridor and enter Dr Zweiberg's office.

Check the fireplace to pick up a Bronze Serpent Key [11], then head over to the bookcases and take a close look at the painting on the wall. Grab the Gold Serpent Key from the picture and then climb the stairs and search the desk to collect some Documents. Take a good look at the bookcase on the right and then move the book on the end to open a secret passage [12]. Enter the secret passage and then move to the right and climb down a flight of stairs to the bottom. Grab the Silver Serpent Key from the crate opposite the door, then open the box to collect Ammo for all of your weapons. Climb back up to the top of the stairs and then use the three Serpent Keys to open the door at the end of the secret passage [13]. Once inside the next room you finally catch up with Chief Hawke and Alan Sharpe. Dr Zweiberg finally enters the scene and takes you all prisoner and then explains about his big plans for the future and his creation known only as Adam.

Angela awakes in a strange room next to the dead body of Alan Sharpe. Quickly head through the doors into the corridor ahead, then take a good look at the red lights moving up and down the corridor security cameras attached, so if you step

Search the desk on the left to collect some Saline, then head into the small glass chamber and pick up a Document that contains the details of the Bloody Mary virus. Head back to the corridor and dodge the lights again to return to the central desk. Now follow the next passage on the left leading to the Chip Research department. Search the table to grab an Adrenaline [15], then use the Lockpick to open the cupboard on the right. Grab some more Ammo from the crate inside, then return to the control

You've been taken off the ACN's most-wanted list and can now set the record straight. Before you can take on Alan Sharpe, you mplete the AAA Licence, granting you access to more files and new weaponry.

When they turn again dash through the centre and quickly strangle the guard on the opposite side, then take cover and wait for the last two guards to return to the centre. When they turn around again, dash up behind either of them and squeeze his throat, then take out the last guard. When all guards are dead, a vortex will appear in the corner.

LEUEL ARA3 - WEAPON UTILIZATION TEST
Objectives:......Kill off ten enemy guards on the other side of the abyss.

Use the environment for protection. Use quick equip to switch between weapons.

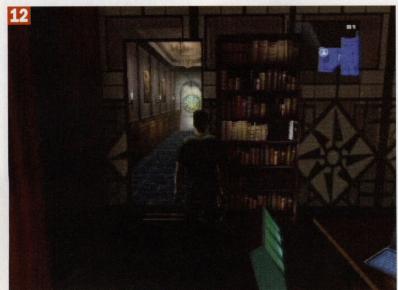

Target Time: ..1:10

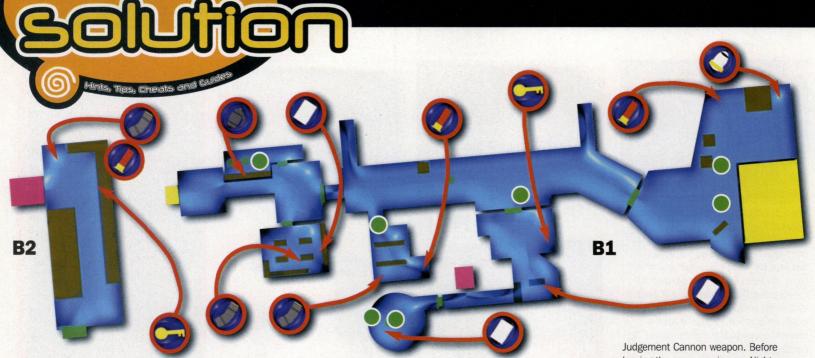

TIPS: This is slightly more difficult than before as there are more enemies on the other side of the abyss and they have the use of grenades. Again use the crates for a little cover and make sure you keep both eyes open for incoming grenades. Shoot them if you are quick enough, or simply run to the far side of the platform to escape the blast. Take down all ten enemies and a vortex will appear in the corner desk in the centre. Plant a Proximity Mine next to the security controls, then take a few steps back and blast the mine with your Stimulator. The explosion will take down all the security lights [16] as well as release a duo of guards from the end of the passage. Quickly use your Stimulator to kill them, and then walk through the door at the end into the Amphitheatre. Jack is still alive but has had a seizure from the virus given to him by Dr Zweiberg. Angela discovers that a vaccine could be created if she can obtain a sample of Adam's DNA, so that's your next objective.

Head back to Dr Zweiberg's office and use the Lockpick to open the small cabinet next to the desk. The desk opens to reveal the controls for a security camera positioned above the statue in the lobby and by using it you can obtain the code written onto the glowing heart [17]. Write down the symbols to help you to remember, then examine the pictures just inside the entrance to discover the input device. Enter the strange code and then collect the Eve Key from behind the picture. Take the secret passage and climb the stairs down to the floor below, then use the Eve Key on the laser-guarded door in the corner. Enter the lift and ride it down to the lowest level of the labs, then wall-hug to get a good view of the corridor ahead. Lean round the corner and blast the guards at the far end of the passage [18], then walk to the end and enter the door on the left. Walk forwards slowly and collect the First-Aid Kit on the floor [19]. then continue forwards to find Dr Zweiberg and his creation, Adam. As you try to take the DNA sample required to create the vaccine Dr Zweiberg wakes Adam up and is knocked to the floor by his creation. Guess you will have to defeat the creature first before the sample can be taken [187] Boss: Adam]. With the sample in hand, head back to the Amphitheatre and then return to the Genetic Research Lab at the end of the long corridor. Head into the glass room and use the Blood Sample and the Saline on the computer to produce a Vaccine for the Bloody Mary virus. Now head back to the Amphitheatre and use the vaccine on Jack to bring him around. With Jack on his feet, you can now try to save the world from Dr Zweiberg's deadly virus. Angela will try to reposition the satellites, but needs you to activate the uplink control in the underground lab. Quickly head back to Zweiberg's office, then follow the secret passage and enter the door with the three serpents. Use the computer at the back of the room to grab some Documents containing information on the superior race and also the new leaving the room, equip your Night Goggles and then take a look at the floor in the centre of the room. Write down the code and then return to Dr Zweiberg's office and examine the pictures on the wall. Input the code on the device hidden behind the painting on the right and then grab the Adam Key from the safe behind. Leave the office and dash along the corridor to the right, then use the Adam Key to deactivate the security lasers at the end of the corridor. Enter the room ahead then quickly shoot the two guards ahead using any weapon of your choice. Search the room to collect an Adrenaline and some Shotgun Shells, then step onto the platform and hit the switch to ride down to the bottom. As the platform moves, peer over the edge and use your Stimulator to blast all the guards standing on the platforms ahead [20]. When you reach the bottom, jump off the lift and then follow the passage on the right to the door at the end. Enter the door and use stealth tactics to kill the three guards silently [21], then activate the crane controls in the corner. Dash back to the lift and then follow the crate through the security laser and get ready for some action. Keep following the crate and then blast the guards along the corridor staying as close to the crate as possible [22]. Head through the double doors at the end of the passage, then activate the computer in the centre. Angela will complete her task, but the self-destruct sequence has already been activated and there is no way to turn it off. Quickly head back to Dr Zweiberg's office killing a duo of guards along the way and then make your way to the Amphitheatre to meet up with Angela. Angela has finished re-programming the satellite and you can now leave the building, but as you start to leave Adam will appear for the last time [ Boss: Adam 2].

HANK REDWOOD

This is probably the easiest boss fight so far, but you must react quickly to the action on screen. The two guys stand back to back and then start to walk away from each other slowly. As soon as you see an arrow appear on the screen press ← and then → to dodge the bullets. Now press (1) to duck and finally A to fire a bullet into Hank's torso.

ADAM

This guy is absolutely massive and carries a huge club. Start by running as far away as you can, then aim your Stimulator and fire a full clip into his stomach. Now Adam will get mad, and start to run after you again even faster. Luckily for you he can only keep up this burst of speed for a few seconds, so run away as fast as you can to avoid getting whacked by his club. Keep firing from a distance and then running away and eventually Adam will run out of steam and collapse on the floor. You can now grab the blood sample you need to create the vaccine.

ADAM 2

This battle is completely different as Adam is now equipped with the Judgement Cannon. Start by seeking cover behind one of the posts, then use your Stimulator to blast the creature in the centre. Watch carefully for the Judgement Cannon to charge then quickly duck back behind the pillar to avoid taking damage. Continue to fire your weapon until all the pillars are destroyed, then switch to your Machine Gun and continue to blast as you run. Eventually Adam will fall down and drop the Judgement Cannon, trying to use his extra energy to heal his wounds. When Adam is fully healed again he will start to chase after you beating you to the floor with his fists. Use your Machine Gun to cause a little damage to his huge frame, and lure him to the

Capcom Vs SNK

There are tons of secrets to unlock in Capcom's latest 2D beat-'em-up but they're not exactly self-explanatory... here's how to get them all!

Unlock Extra Costumes

To be able to choose from a selection of extra costumes for each fighter, just buy items 01 to 33 from the Secret Shop with the VS points you earn from playing the game - each item represents a different fighter, so you can buy the ones you want. To get them, press either A and B, B and Y, Y and X or X and A when choosing your character

Unlock EX Characters

To unlock the EX versions of each character (the same look but with slightly different moves) buy items 35 to 61 from the Secret Shop - to select them, just hold down Start when choosing your character.

Unlock Evil Ryu

To unlock Evil Ryu (the EX version of Ryu) as a playable character, purchase item 34 from the Secret Shop - you'll then have an extra ratio tier on the Character Select screen from which to choose him from.

Unlock Wild Iori

through the main

game again and reach the end of the third bout without losing, with over 60gps, to face either Morrigan or Nakoruru. To face Akuma, you need to reach the final stage with over 80gps... it's certainly not easy!

Unlock More Backgrounds

To be able to fight in one of five new locations, just beat the characters that each background represents in the main game (M Bison, Geese, Akuma, Nakoruru and Morrigan) and then buy each one as items 65 to 69 from the Secret Shop. To access the final Thailand stage, you have to play through the main game until you reach it randomly only then will you be able to buy item 70 from the Secret Shop.

Unlock Morrigan

To access Morrigan as a playable character, you need to have bought ALL the Capcom EX characters and also have beaten her in the main game by buying item 63 from the Secret Shop. When you've done that, item 74 will be available - she costs 8000 VS points.

Unlock Nakoruru Unlock Akuma Long

To access Akuma as a playable character, you need to have bought both Morrigan and Nakoruru from the Secret Shop. When you've done that, item 75 will be available - she costs a whopping 9500 VS points!

Power Stone

The World Of Power Stone

Finishing the game with each character opens up a different page in the World Of Power Stone book (found in the Collection menu on the title screen). Each page contains a new option or item that can be used either in the game or on your VMS and is usually selected by highlighting the page and pressing the A button. Here are a selection of the new goodies that you can access in this way...

Power Stone book. These contain new items that will appear at random in the fighting arenas if you turn them on in the Options screen. In order of appearance, the items are an Extending Kendo Stick, a Gatling Gun, an alien ray gun and a shield – while carrying the shield you will be invincible to attacks but will be unable to attack yourself.

Virtual Mode

Complete the game as Kraken and the Virtual mode appears on Page Five of the book. This is a normal one-player game with the exception that it turns the whole fight into a first-person perspective, making winning that much tougher!

Dual Virtual Mode

This option appears on Page Six of the book when you complete the game with Valgas. It is similar to the one-player Virtual mode only it allows two people to play in a split-screen, first-person perspective fight!

Play As Valgas B

Complete the game on any difficulty level but without using a continue. Now check Page Twelve of the Power Stone book to be able to play as the super-powerful Valgas B that appears at the end of the game. You can only use him in VS mode and even then only one of you can choose him per match!

Watch Endings

Each time you finish the game, a new character ending will be added to Page Fourteen of the Power Stone book. Choose this page in order to watch any of the endings for the characters that you have managed to finish the game as.

Extra VMS Games

You will open up a new game that can be downloaded into your VMS when you complete the game for the fifth, sixth and seventh time. You will need a totally empty VMS to download the game into - playing these games will earn you points which can then be used in order to get more pages of the Power Stone book! In order of opening, the games are Fokker's Plane Chase, Ayame's Ninja Star Throw and Gunrock's Slots.

Ouake III

Courses Desert SS1

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

The first Desert course is one for beginners and is a great place to practice your powersliding. There's a good long straight where you can reach a high speed, and two shorter ones which are sadly spoilt by the crests in the road – if you're good you can use these to overtake competitors by flying over their cars!

Choose the right car and you can drive most of this course by sliding from left to right – remember to watch out for the giraffes as you slide by! The other major factor to take into account here is water – avoid this when the co-driver warns you, it will slow you right down and you'll lose that high ranking!

Desert SS2

Best car: Peugeot 205 Turbo 16

This desert course is a bit tougher than the first, with long sweeping bends in the road and some rugged sections where you must avoid smashing the car into the rocks. This time the giraffes found on the sides of the road are joined (wouldn't you just know it!) by zebras!

Starting out in a small town area the desert sand is soon left behind and replaced by more of a muddy surface which will make your car slide more than usual. Avoid the sides of the road as water tends to collect here more than the centre – and always try to make jumps as fast as you can, you can then sail over many obstacles!

Desert SS3

Best car: Alpine Renault

With a five star difficulty rating things are already starting to toughen up. This doesn't have a single straight where you can overtake, you'll have to do all your passing as you slide by other drivers on the corners. The entire course is twists and turns, more of a snake than an 'S' shape!

The desert heat has evaporated all the water on this course, but it has also had the effect of making it very dusty, and dust can also slow your car down. Watch out for rows of barriers along the side of the road early on – hitting them will send them flying, and lose you speed. The 'K' turns and hairpin are the toughest manoeuvres you'll have to make here – hit the brake slightly just before the bend and keep your finger on the accelerator to power through them.

Mountain SS1

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

The rocks of the desert have been replaced by trees, but the handling is pretty much the same when the course breaks away from the tarmac and goes into the gravel. The first mountain course has a long section of easy lefts which give you a good overtaking opportunity, there are no really sharp turns either so you can keep the speed high. Make sure your car is kept perfectly straight when the co-driver shouts out 'Crest Jump' as the car will undoubtedly leave the ground and could crash if you take it on a slant.

Mountain SS2

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

These mountain roads are lined by stone walls and these are further narrowed by two bridges, so there isn't much room for making mistakes. This second course doesn't have much in the way of straights, it's very winding so again you'll have to overtake as you slide by your opponents.

The road surface is a mixture of gravel and tarmac. You will find that your car has good traction on the tarmac sections, but you'll have to watch for skidding when you burst into the gravel – the co-driver will warn you, so be ready! Just after the checkpoint be ready with the brakes too – you'll very soon be confronted with a hairpin right turn!

Mountain SS3

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

This course is much shorter than the other two, but with sharp turns all the way through it's a test for even the best drivers. The first thing to watch out for is the 'K Left' turn directly after the starting line. The course is blocked off, forcing you to go left and you'll need to slap the brakes on and slide the car into the corner to get maximum speed. There are two more corners like this

Another major problem on the mountain courses is the width of the road. There is little room for overtaking manoeuvres most of the way around - you'll have to take your chances when you see an opportunity.

Snowy SS1

Best car: Mitsubishi Lancer Evolution IV There are a couple of major problems facing you in the Snowy courses - the ice on the road and visibility. When you're about to enter a particularly nasty area of ice the co-driver will shout it out to you - make sure you don't make any erratic movements through this section. As for visibility, the fog is really thick in places, but all the other cars have to cope with it too!

This first course is very short compared to the ones raced already. Use this beginner's snow course to get used to the loss of traction as the cars slide around in the snow.

Snowy SS2

Best car: Mitsubishi Lancer Evolution IV

Part of this course is actually tunnelled underneath the mountain, but this doesn't make any difference to driving conditions except that it can't snow in a tunnel! Surprisingly stretches of road are completely snow free around this course too – the snow ploughs must have been out here!

There are a couple of good straights, one on either side of the course. If you can approach a competitor in a straight line, use these for overtaking - but watch out as they could be sliding around in the snow too! It's very easy to get stuck on the sides of the course in the snow. If you do, let go of the accelerator and get off the bank before trying to continue.

Snowy SS3

Best car: Peugeot 306 Maxi

This is by far the longest of all the Snowy tracks and it's packed to bursting with twists and turns. Make sure you take a look at your tyre set-up before tackling this one, and have tyres that will stand some serious punishment and give good grip in the snow! As you should know by now, the snow causes one major problem - if you drive your car onto the ridge at the side of the road you will get stuck, and seriously spoil your chance of a fast lap time. If this happens, let go of the accelerator until you're back on the main road, then let rip once more.

Riviera

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

The Riviera section of SEGA Rally 2 is unique for two reasons. One, it's the only course that is permanently set at night. Secondly it doesn't come in three parts - there's only the one course to master. It's got a five rating for difficulty though - and the tight twists and turns are certainly a challenge for even the most experienced drivers.

Your first horror comes at the end of the first straight - a sharp hairpin right-hand turn. Slam the brakes on to slow the car down and throw it around the corner, then put the power back on to drive out of the bend. The next section has a couple of twists, and then there's a second hairpin as you come back towards the checkpoint. There's only one checkpoint on this track, so in Arcade mode you will have to go around twice! Interestingly, there are two cones positioned just before the finish line. Knock them down in sequence when playing in Arcade mode and you open up a secret area of the track where you can knock over cones for points!

Muddy SS1

Best car: Peugeot 205 Turbo 16

The first track in the Muddy stage is a good mixture of bends and straights giving ample overtaking opportunities as you're racing around. It's not too tricky to drive around, only having a two star difficulty rating. Your main problem in this track (surprise, surprise!) is the mud! It acts in a similar way to snow, giving a slick surface under the wheels and causing your car to slide more than it would normally on each corner. Watch out for the handful of barriers that are placed in strategic places around the track too - knocking them over is fun, but will slow down the car.

Muddy SS2

Best car: Peugeot 205 Turbo 16

More slipping and sliding around in the second of the Muddy courses, and this one has some very nasty surprises in store for all boy racers out there! As you accelerate away from the starting line, you'll find the road ahead blocked, and a route through to the left. If you don't slow down in time your car will smash head-on into the barriers, and really spoil your chances of a high score. Also, keep a look out for the K-Left, K-Right bends in the road – these take a lot of practice to drive perfectly, you must slow down just before them and slide the car first one way the the other. Keep practicing!

SS3 Muddy

Best car: Peugeot 205 Turbo 16

All three Muddy courses are set around the same island, with new roads opening and old ones closing as you progress. This final Muddy course has similar perils to course two, with roads closed directly ahead of you, but after a couple of laps you will soon learn where these are and be able to anticipate them.

The Open Hairpins that you find towards the end of this course need even more skilled driving. Power on into the hairpin, then let go of the accelerator and touch the brakes slightly while turning the car. You should slide through the first part of the hairpin, then reverse the steering and power back on to take the next Open Hairpin going in the other direction. Again, practice makes perfect!

Isle

Best car: Peugeot 306 Maxi

Do you want the good news or bad news? The good news is that the Isle courses are all raced on nothing but tarmac, giving the cars much more grip and making sure they actually go in the direction you're pointing them in. The bad news is that the roads are so narrow one Sunday driver can destroy an entire race! This first attempt at the Isle has two long straights that go underneath bridges, the road doubles back on itself after the first to bring you back around for the second. These are your best overtaking opportunities, so make sure you make good use of them.

Because of the narrow nature of the roads here, you must be more precise with your powerslides. You don't have the luxury of the open plains in the Desert courses, so this track is most definitely for the experts.

SS2 Isle

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

The second Isle track is a bit of a cop out in our opinion! Again, the same roads are used again, as in the Muddy courses, but the new section that is opened up here is so small and insignificant, it's hardly worth bothering with! The one thing that has changed is the direction you race the course in - this time we start off in the town and head down over the bridge, then into the new section up on a hill. You can still use to two straights as good overtaking places, but watch out for the tunnels that lead off the hill, you can can hit the side of the tunnel as you go in, seriously damaging it and spoiling your race. The final stretch of the course is the most difficult to drive - you end up twisting and turning through the streets of the town, you'll have to lower your speed through here or you'll hit every wall!

Isle SS3

Best car: Lancia 037 Rally

Once again, the long straight sections of the island are put to good use, but the new section that is opened up is at the opposite side of the island from that in course two. This creates an even longer course with some serious twists and turns that will test your steering skills to the absolute max! You should already know how to drive through the majority of this course, instead of using up your ace cards on the same pieces of road, concentrate your efforts on the twisting mountain road. You will need to make creative use of the brakes, or even the handbrake, to get through the bends without losing places or slowing down too much. When you pass the finish line give yourself hearty congratulations! This is the last track of the game - try to beat your times!

Shenmue

Okay, so there might not be any cheats as such in this game and we're hardly going to do the whole walkthrough in this mag, but here are some hints and tips for you.

Fight In 70-Person Battle

Complete the game and save the Clear Data to unlock the 70 Person Battle option on the Options screen. NB: Disc 3 has to be in the machine for this

Get Extra Money

The best way to build up your finances is to take the 500 yen you're given each day and then leave the house as usual. Return to the house at any time and go into your room – when you leave it another 500 yen will be available. You can repeat this as many times as you like - hey, you can even become a millionaire

Against All Odds

To increase your chances of winning on the addictive slot machines, go to the Lapis fortune teller and choose Gamble. She will give you a lucky number and if you use the slot machine with the same number your chances of winning will improve significantly!

Silent Scope

Sonic Adventure

Chaos and your VM

One of the most interesting things about Sonic Adventure are the Chao, the little creatures you can breed, manipulate and download to your VM. The important thing to remember is that if you want a top-rating Chao, you'll need to nurture and love him. Are you ready for some hand-held fun? Then follow us as we take you through the basic ins and outs of Chao raising, VM style...

Put It In, Take It Out

The first thing you'll need to know is how to actually download your Chao into a VM. This is done through the Chao Gardens and if you follow these simple steps, you'll have a miniature version of the Chao in absolutely no time at all.

- 1. Make sure that you've got a VM inserted into the pad of your Dreamcast that has over 128 blocks of memory spare on it that's virtually the whole thing! If there isn't enough room, you won't be able to put a Chao onto the VM so you may have to delete some files to fit him in.
- 2. Choose the Chao you want to place inside the VM and pick him up with the Y button. Carry him over to the strange controller-shaped pedestal placed inside the Chao Garden and stand on the large red button at the front. Now place your Chao down so that it is sitting on the small trapdoor in front of you.
- 3. A screen will come up with the list of VM units that you can place the Chao into you will have a choice if more than one VM is inserted into any of the Dreamcast pads. Select the VM that you'd like to play with your Chao in and press the A button.

  4. After a brief period, the Chao will
- 4. After a brief period, the Chao will disappear into the controller and then reappear on your VM the controller pedestal will signal 'OK!' to show that the transfer worked. You can now take out the VM and play with your little Chao to your heart's content!
- 5. Removing a Chao is a similar process stand on the button of the pedestal without placing a Chao on the trapdoor and a list of removable Chao will appear if any exist. Simply choose the Chao you want to remove and then he will appear in front of you shortly. Remember that this is the only way to get rid of Chao information from a VM unit since it cannot be deleted by conventional means.

Work, Rest And Play

Once you've placed the Chao in your VMS, it's time to start them on their quest! The object of the game is to help your Chao develop its abilities as it makes its way along a route of quest stages – there are fifteen in total to choose from but only five are used in each quest. We will take you through exactly what ability each stage of the quest will end any sooner. Along some of the routes, he'll even get to meet one of Sonic's friends or maybe even the blue wonder himself!

Be My Guide

To start your Chao off on his quest, get your VM into Game Mode by pressing the Mode button until an 'Ace of Spades' appears and then hit the A button. Once the title screen appears, press the A and B buttons together and you're off on the adventure of a lifetime (for the Chao, anyway). Most of the time, you can pretty much leave him to his own devices as he walks along but at certain points you'll need to help him out of a situation – a noise will tell you that you have to do something. Here's a guide to what might happen to your little buddy...

- 1. If your Chao simply stops walking, sits on a beach ball, falls asleep or gets scared by something on his travels, he just needs a little encouragement to help him along.
- Press the A button to get him moving again.

  2. If he finds a chest along the way, you'll have to make a choice out of the three boxes to decide what he gets out of it. It could be good, it could be bad until you make the choice, you just won't know!
- 3. A message may appear on the screen telling you that your Chao is happy, has done well at something in particular or is developing properly. To get past this, just press the A button until it disappears.
- 4. A picture of a Chao standing at a signpost means that they have reached the end of their current quest stage and must now choose a direction to go in.

You can make the choice for yourself from the two options on the screen or let the Chao choose for itself... although it may sometimes make the wrong choice if you let it!

5. If a large '?!' symbol appears on the screen, it's time for a fight! When the fight begins, there will be a row of boxes along the bottom of the screen with the two fighting Chao above that as well as their relevant energy - your Chao is always on the right. The Chao swinging his fist is the one taking a turn to attack - if it's your man, you've got a chance to hit the other guy! All of the boxes will be blacked out with the exception of one - this number of clear boxes goes up according to the strength of the your Chao (if he has a strength of 200 or more then there will be two clear boxes, 400 makes three boxes clear and so on). To attack you must stop the moving cursor over the clear box; get it and you'll score a hit, but miss and you'll fall flat on your face. Chao take it in turns to attack and the last one who is standing is the winner!

Fancy A Game Of Cards?

One of the sure-fire ways of getting goodies that you can use to boost your Chao abilities is to play the Fruit Matching game in the Quest menu (brought up by pressing the A button). When you start the game, you'll get a brief glimpse of a screen containing six pairs of fruit in various positions. The screen will then go blank and you'll have three chances to try and match up the pairs by remembering where each of the different fruit were. It takes a bit of practice but if you can remember a couple of the fruits that look similar, you won't get confused between them. The fewer times you get it wrong, the better the prize you get, but mess up three times and you won't get anything except one very disappointed

Fruit And Veg

The main way to build up the abilities of your Chao inside the VM is to feed them different kinds of fruit, collected through playing the Fruit Matching game, winning fights or opening chests. Each fruit gives the Chao a boost in a particular field and the more fruit you feed them, the better they become! Even better, any fruit left over after a guest is carried onto the next adventure and if you remove the Chao from the VM while it still owns fruit, then the fruit will pop out with it and you can then feed it to other Chao besides the one that you had in the VM! To feed your Chao a fruit, bring up the quest menu with the A button and then select the Items menu - this will give a list of fruits available that you can give to your friend. Use our guide to the different fruits in the game to help work out exactly what you need to feed your babies to make up for the areas that they're lacking in! The stipulations tell you if you need to perform a special function to get the fruit - all the fruits can be found randomly in chests also.

Gold Title Screen

After obtaining all 338 pictures from the Art Gallery, a new black and white title screen appears. Beat every mission in Mission Battle and it will have a gold tint.

New Title Screen

Beat the game with Inferno to get a new title screen.

Play As Cervantes

The boss of Soul Edge returns but this time as a regular contender, he is no longer under the influence of the demon swords and he wants them back...badly. To play as Cervantes finish the arcade mode with every character, this includes all the new ones that are unlocked. Once you have done that Cervantes will become playable.

Play As Edge Master

You will first meet the Edge Master in the Mission Mode, to make him a playable character you must beat the game with all characters (including Cervantes). The Edge Master imitates other characters randomly, switching weapons every round. He also has his own version of everyone's weapon, though within a short time you will be able to tell immediately who he is. The Edge Master does have some exclusive moves of his own. If he's impersonating Kilik or Seung Mina the following move's available:

When Running: ☆ or ♦ + ☆,

Play As Inferno

In order to unlock Inferno you must first unlock all the other characters, stages, and bonuses. Select Xianghua and her third outfit. Play through and complete the game with her. Inferno will then be unlocked. Like the Edge Master, Inferno imitates other characters and switches moves every round. He does have some exclusive moves of his own however. Though the availability of these moves depend on the character he is impersonating..

Another way of verifying which moves are available is to pause the game mid-fight and check the characters move list. Inferno's moves will be added to the existing moves so search carefully.

Secret Dojo Mission

First finish all the missions, including all the extra missions (they appear after you finish the two Chaos stages). On the mission select screen, go to the eastern most map. Move your pointer over the Korea area. When you pass over the secret mission, you will hear the 'zip' noise you hear when you pass over any other mission; note that you will not be able to see it when you land on the location.

There are five missions in this location. Each stage has a random combination of conditions from the previous missions.

Secret Swamp Mission

First finish all the missions, including all the extra missions (they appear after you finish the two Chaos stages). On the mission select screen, go to the western most map. Move your pointer over the middle of the upper right area of the screen (somewhere around Poland). When you pass over the secret mission, you will hear the 'zip" noise you hear when you pass over any other mission; you will not be able to see it when you land on the location. There are two missions in this location. Each stage has a random combination of conditions from the previous missions

Welcome to the legendary DREAMCAST MAG directory, where you'll find every Dreamcast game listed. Don't go shopping without it...

• It's our job to know games, and as this is the only Dreamcast magazine out there, this is the only place you will find a complete • listing for all those Dreamcast games. So before you bother to even think about getting yourself a game you should read these seven pages very carefully. Doing so will prevent you from wasting money.

You can't buy every game, so to stop wasteful purchases, here are the games you have to own!

Action/Adventure

Resident Evil Code: Veronica

Certainly the definitive version of the timeless platform title and one that brings a smile to our faces whenever we give it just one more play...

Soul Calibur

This has got to be the most gorgeous-looking game ever. With so much depth and a wealth of characters, this has to be the fighter of choice. And then there's the twoplayer mode...

Driving/Racing

M-SR

This is the most comprehensive and original driving game on any console and the closest thing to driving perfection you are likely to ever see. So why haven't you bought it yet?

Party/Puzzle

Chu Chu Rocket!

A crazy game of cat and mouse, Chu Chu Rocket, is miles and miles better than most of the other puzzle games around. It's also one of the most addictive games that you'll ever play!

Shoot-'Em-Up

StarLancer

Walking away with the title of 'Best Shoot-'Em-Up' on the Dreamcast, StarLancer certainly deserves all the praise it gets. Top blasting action AND online play? It's amazing!

Sports

Tony Hawk's Pro Skater 2

Without a doubt, one of the finest achievements in gaming. You will never, EVER get bored of it, even when you've finished it. This game is pure genius.

Strategy/Simulation

Hidden And Dangerous

Being all stealthy and cunning is the name of the game in Hidden And Dangerous. Initially tricky to get to grips with, persevere and you'll fall in love with it.
