Now that you have Play Meter's Annual Directory in your hands, never let it go! This issue has a tendency to “walk away” or be carried off by fellow staff members because it is such a valuable resource.

Countless hours, phone calls, faxes, e-mails, cross-referencing, verifications, and sweat and tears went into this issue. It's a monumental task, and I'm not exaggerating. Every effort was made to present a comprehensive, up-to-date guide to all things coin-op.

We take pride in delivering the most accurate listings and contact information on the industry's manufacturers, distributors, and support and supply companies to your desk. (Note: Any company changes made after press time will not be reflected here.)

There is a double bonus in this issue: 1) the Index of Articles that makes it easy to find that game review, feature, favorite column, show coverage, major news event, association meetings, or special issue (like our Annual Family Fun Edition) that you want to read again; and 2) our popular wall calendar that lists all the major trade events coming up in 2013.

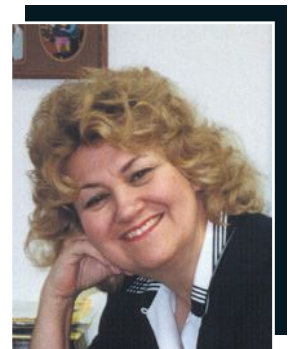

We are starting fresh with a New Year. What kind of year will we make it? Some circumstances are beyond our control, but what we do with what's available, or what we can adapt to suit our needs, will determine the path of the year ahead.

I'm not a big proponent of declared New Year's resolutions because they so easily go by the wayside. But an earnest effort to foster a positive outlook seems achievable. A good outlook can make a difference, whether it's recovering from a health problem or lessening the toll of the bobbing and weaving that comes with a normal business day.

I have good reason to be optimistic after attending the International Association of Amusement Parks and Attractions (IAAPA) Expo in November 2012. It's truly a mega event with more and more coin-op products on display. Splashy new games sure to attract the attention of players were in abundance.

As Mark Struhs of Raw Thrills put it: “We almost have to shock the player with innovation and excitement where the game practically says, ‘Come over and play me!’” If the coin-op products at that show were any indication, I say, “Mission accomplished.”

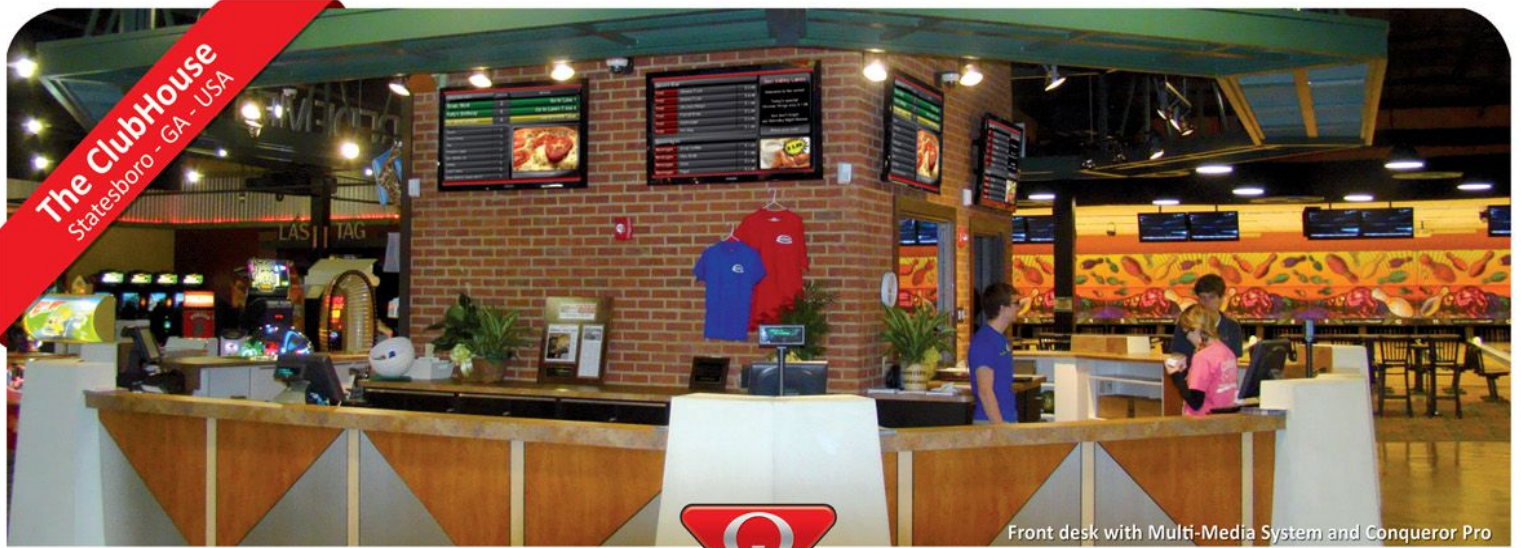

All this innovation and excitement is coming to the Amusement Expo, March 20-22 in Las Vegas. Every category of equipment has multiple new offerings for 2013. This is OUR SHOW and I hope all industry members mark it on their Play Meter wall calendars as a MUST DO in 2013. ▲

"Sebastian and his team at SACOA couldn't do more in terms of service , support , and consultation . They are prompt responsive and genuinely interested and invested in making our F.E.C. completely successful . As for the system itself ; it's deep , multi-faceted , and now two years later has proved to be very stable . Simply put if you want the very best in a playcard system ; you couldn't possibly do better than SACOA".
